NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam landed at Newark airport at 10:28 a. m. eastern standard time today, completing the first transcontinental non-stop flight made by woman.

The unofficial time of the flight was nineteen hours and two minutes.

The west-east nonstop record by men held by Frank Hawk is seventeen hours thirty-nine minutes and forty-nine seconds.

At request of several citizens, who had heard a rumor supposed to have been started by certain supporters of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, The Herald wired the State penitentiary at Huntsville Wednesday evening asking whether any kind of clemency—furlough, parole or pardon had been granted to T. J. Nabors, sent up from Howard county more than two years ago.

The rumor spread here was that Nabors had been freed and was somewhere in West Texas. He was convicted of a statutory charge.

Wednesday morning the following telegram was received: "Huntsville, Texas, Aug. 25, 9:05 a. m. "Wendell Bedicheck, editor of Herald,

"T. J. Nabors is now located at Wynne's state farm. No clemency has been granted him."

"W. M. Thompson, "Chief of bureau of records and identification, Texas Prison System."

WOODWARD—

6. Improvement of operation of the prison system until it will turn back at the end of this year more than $600,000 appropriated for operating it.

7. Support of fair bus and truck legislation, a subject which occupied almost 20 days of one special session.

8. Declaration of martial law in East Texas and support of oil and gas conservation laws which would give the railroad commission weapons strong enough to regulate flow of that field without being stopped by injunctions.

Declaration of martial law in East Texas was the great constructive act that Governor Sterling has taken, he declared.

Major oil companies did not seek, but on the other hand, asked that martial law not be declared, said Woodward.

Pink Bollworm The speaker devoted several minutes to discussion of the bill to remunerate farmers in the West Texas pink bollworm regulated area, including most of Howard, and a number of neighboring counties.

On this matter he said: "Two years ago I was in Big Spring with Governor Sterling. The governor told you then that he looked with sympathy on an appropriation to repay you for losses incurred because of pink bollworm regulations. I said that Governor Sterling looked with favor upon such an appropriation. When we stopped in Lamesa, the governor said the same thing, and declared he would approve any such measure fairly made.

"The governor of Texas tonight entertains the same view on that question. Do you know why he vetoed the bill containing $300,000 appropriation for pink bollworm relief?"

"I was there and I know what happened. The bill prepared by Carl Roundtree of Lamesa, with whom I talked on the matter today, was passed by the house. It called for $300,000 for pink bollworm relief only. When it came to the senate Senator Parrish and I took charge of it. The senate was about to pass it when Senator Joe Moore of Greenville and Senator Jake Loy of Sherman submitted two amendments, calling for a total of $700,000 for payment of tick quarantine costs they said had been incurred in some northeast and southeast Texas counties. The amendments were introduced solely for the purpose of killing the bill.

"We of the west fought all evening against those amendments. But there were too many senators from east and north Texas and with aid of some from south Texas the amendments were adopted. My recollection is that they passed by a margin of two votes.

Was Unfair "The governor knew it was unfair to tack those amendments on the bill. He sent a message to the legislature along with his veto of the bill in its final form, totaling $1,000,000, saying that he was willing to approve a bill for repayment of losses caused out here by the pink bollworm regulations but as the bill was written he had to veto it all.

"I am told some people have said that he could have approved the part of the bill calling for pink bollworm relief and disapproved or vetoed only the $700,000 for tick eradication losses. Those who have said that either have willfully misrepresented the facts or they don't know the constitution, and opinions of the courts on this point.

"This was not a general appropriation. I believe many good people have been unintentionally misled and assure you that the governor still looks with favor on this appropriation.

Another point which Mr. Woodward reviewed in detail was the charge that Ross Sterling, as governor of Texas, took $400,000 from the Humble Oil and Refining company.

"The $400,000 On this point he said: "In 1925 Ross Sterling—then a private citizen, he had not even become chairman of the highway commission—with two other men bought 1,500 acres of land. They wanted to lease it for oil development, on competitive bids. The Humble entered the best bid, offering a five-year commercial lease and $175,000 in oil, the lease calling for one-sixth royalty. The papers in the deal were entered on the deed records of Chambers and neighboring counties. Nothing was hidden. There was nothing to hide in 1930, before Ross Sterling announced for governor the Humble brought in a 1,000-barrel well. The Humble came to Mr. Sterling and told him it did not need the great amount of oil it believed, and Mr. Sterling believed was under the property. Humble officials said 'we know and you know the oil is there. We don't want to develop it further at this time. That would call for heavy drilling costs, construction of pipe lines and storage tanks. We want to make an agreement with you, Mr. Private Citizen, not Mr. Governor, that will free us from necessity under the lease contract of developing the property now.' Mr. Sterling said that if 'you don't develop my land I want you to pay me the amount of royalty I could reasonably expect during the period in which development will not occur! The two parties reached an agreement whereby Humble paid Mr. Sterling $225,000 estimated royalty and the $175,000 bonus called for in the original contract—a total of $400,000. Still there are people who are telling now that Sterling, while governor, borrowed $400,000 from the Humble. It is obviously wholly untrue."

No Sympathy The senator listed the following as "reasons why I am not in sympathy with Mrs. Ferguson in this campaign":

1. "In the period in which Jim Ferguson was governor, eliminating in 1917 there arose a condition that required the legislature to make an investigation of his official acts. As a result of evidence thus uncovered the house of representatives filed, as a grand jury, articles of impeachment, with the senate of Texas, in which Ferguson was charged with violations of law and good morals. The senate tried and convicted him and rendered judgment that he be forever barred from holding any office of trust in Texas. I don't want to quarrel with you if you have been misinformed, but any claim that his conviction was 'framed' is wholly untrue.

"Why? We find among those who because of the preponderance of evidence against him had to vote to impeach such personal and political friends of Ferguson as Carlos Bee of San Antonio, Senator Nienast of Dallas, a senator from Waco whose name I can not recall, Senator Paul Page of Bastrop, Senator Hudspeth of El Paso—all his personal and political friends.

2. "When Jim Ferguson announced for governor after his impeachment and against W. P. Hobby, who had become governor when Ferguson was impeached, he was defeated by several hundred thousand votes. Then he came out with his American party. He denounced Democrats and the Democratic party, declaring it was nothing and stood for nothing. It was then that he said Democrats didn't have the pride of a jackass or the decency of a skunk and that he wanted the electoral vote of Texas to go to the Democrats so that Harding could be made president.

3. "I would not intentionally vote for any man who would take an oath and deliberately swear a lie. When he appeared as a sworn witness before the investigating committee of the house and was asked the source of $150,000 he had received James E. Ferguson, then governor, who now seeks to return to control your government said that

3. "I would not intentionally vote for any man who would take an oath and deliberately swear a lie. When he appeared as a sworn witness before the investigating committee of the house and was asked the source of $150,000 he had received James E. Ferguson, then governor, who now seeks to return to control your government said that two red-blooded Texans who had no interest in any legislation gave it to him. The committee adjourned. It did not find out where the $150,000 came from. Jim went to Tyler a few nights later and made a speech in which he said if the legislature thought the brewers gave him the money it was wrong, and that, furthermore, it was none of the legislature's business anyway about how, from whom or why he got the money. Sometime later the United States government filed a suit against certain brewers of Texas on their internal revenue returns. In the trial it was shown, and Ferguson doesn't deny himself, that he got that $150,000 from six Texas brewers, who gave $25,000 each. It was reported as expense account. I have given you the fact, and they show that Jim Ferguson swore a deliberate lie.

"I say that $150,000 was a bribe given a governor of Texas by brewers at a time when the prohibition amendment was about to be submitted.

4. "In 1924 an unfortunate condition arose in Texas; a condition that divided families and communities and as a result of the Klan situation, Mrs. Ferguson became a Democratic nominee for governor. She said she wanted election to vindicate the family name and the people, many of whom believe no man could keep from feeling that he ought to make the best of such an opportunity after having been impeached, believed the Ferguson would give us a good administration. I was elected to the state senate the same year Mrs. Ferguson went in. The legislature, wanting to do what was right and believing the people by a majority vote had handed down a mandate that anything possible to clear the Ferguson name ought to be offered, passed the amnesty bill. That bill did all the legislature could to wipe off the blot. I was one who believed Jim Ferguson would appreciate the honor accorded his wife enough to help her have a good administration. Ink had hardly dried on the amnesty bill before this man Ferguson began his pilgrimage of irregularities, began leaving his shiny trail in government departments. Mrs. Ferguson says she will give us the same kind of administration she gave before. What kind is that? What did Jim Ferguson do when his wife went in office? He sat in with the highway commission and he let contracts to the American Road company and the Hoffman Construction company at such outrageous prices that when a courageous attorney general made an investigation he was able to get judgments by jury verdicts compelling the two concerns to turn back to the state a total of nearly a million dollars.

The senator, calling attention to Ferguson's boast he will 'kick out the present highway commission as well as the board of control and the state auditor said that 'he says that's what he will do but I'm here to tell you he won't do it. He wants to appoint men of his own choosing, men like the ones he controlled when his wife was governor. He wants to get rid of the sheriff of state affairs—the auditor.

"He says there is $100,000,000 shortage in the highway department. He knows that is a $100,000,000 lie. He says the state auditor's report does not contradict that statement. I have the report here and on page three it says 'there is no evidence of shortage on the part of officials or employees of the department shown by the audit.' "His statement of this reflection is a reflection upon the integrity of Jimmy Alfred, our attorney general. If that shortage exists why hasn't Jim gone to Jimmy Alfred and shown it to him? Alfred would, you know and I know, do something about it if he believed any such thing. But, on the other hand, Bruce Bryant, Alfred's first assistant only the other day issued a statement in which he said that the attorney general's department had no evidence of any shortage in the highway department. Jim is telling that lie in an effort to get votes—his policy is now as ever to make incorrect statement such as that."

The speaker was cheered when he said "no more honorable men ever served Texas than W. R. Ely, who was a great district judge; D. K. Martin, an outstanding business man, and the venerable Cone Johnson, whose life and record for 50 years in public life is an open book."

"The highway commission has handled $168,000,000 in five and one-half years and there has never been any shortage at all," he declared. Attention was called to Mrs. Ferguson's promise when she first ran for governor that if elected she would serve but the one term and not seek re-election. However, she ran for a second term and was defeated badly by Dan Moody. Woodward also called attention to her challenge to Moody during the campaign between them in which she said, through her husband, that if Moody led her one vote in the first primary she would quit the race provided Moody would resign as attorney general if she led him as many as 25,000.

"She didn't keep her word in either case," shouted Woodward. Findings of federal authorities showing income of Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson while she was governor was many times the amount of her salary, in spite of income tax returns by them which showed very small incomes, were reviewed.

"Evasion of income tax put Al Capone in the pen and receipt of money from questionable sources has Jimmy Walker in the frying pan now. When you put up a proxy government in Texas you will help wreck, ruin and damn a free people. It ought not to be done whether the Ferguson or any other couple seek to do such a thing.

"In every crisis the women are first to come to the rescue of our state, and the ministers are next. They are with us in this fight. In our army there is no place for one who will turn his back to the ene-

CHAPTER XXVI

Spring turned to summer. Mona after a week at the Ritz with Lottie, moved into the newly decorated suite of the Townsend house on 63rd street. Dad left the hospital and returned to the Third avenue flat. Finally as June ended Mona packed her father, mother and Kitty off to Atlantic City.

In July she and Lottie set off to Matine for a vacation. "It will be dull," Mona warned. "Remember I have the Townsend dignity to uphold. No flirtations, no gay parties. Not even dancing!"

"I'm not so interested in parties," Lottie confessed. In a lower tone she touched upon a forbidden subject. "Have you heard from the boys?"

It was early evening and they were in Mona's sitting room. Lottie, lovely and ingenious looking as always, was seated on a chaise longue. Mona, in a fragile, white gown and wearing Steve's diamonds, moved about aimlessly, considering what baggage to take on the trip.

"Mother hears from Bud. He's well and says the others are. You know a boy's letters!" Mona sighed. "The new machinery is installed and the mine is booming."

"Does Bud write home?" asked Lottie curiously. "You know if that gang finds out they might even follow him to South America. Aren't you afraid they may tap the mail box?"

"Bud writes through the Garretson office and they send the letters by messenger. Steve thought of that."

"He thinks of everything," Lottie said—"except me!"

She arose and examined an evening frock Mona had taken from the closet. "Thought you said we wouldn't bother much about clothes?"

"I got that out for you. It's never been worn."

"It's lovely! Where did you get it?"

"Mrs. Faxon cabled to a friend in Paris. She sent several. I'll give you this if you like it and (transacting the closet) this and this—"

Mona was not yet accustomed to having a maid wait on her. She was busily looking over lingerie, smoothing gloves, examining hose. Lottie watched silently, knowing it was useless to remind her friend that the maid could do all this tomorrow in a trice.

After a while Lottie said, "Has Mr. Townsend shown you the Townsend jewels yet?"

Mona looked up from the stocking box. Her hand strayed to the diamond chain about her throat. "I have these but of course they're not Townsend jewels. I have my emerald. Mrs. Faxon says he selected an emerald necklace for my birthday but he's saving it for me until the opera opens. She says he wants to see me go down the aisle in a black velvet gown and emeralds."

There was a movement at the window. Both girls seemed to turn at the sound. They were alone in the house except for the servants on the top floor. Mona, as always, had dismissed her maid because it owned for years, and then the thin diamond chain. "If you wanted to hide it why didn't you do a better job?" he asked. "Have you got the Empress?"

The words were like a bomb. Mona stared back at him.

"Steve sold the Empress!" she said quickly. "You must know that if you follow the market."

"Sure," he said. "Don't you know who bought it?"

Lottie and Mona looked at him blankly. The man seemed delighted with the effect of his words.

"Well," he said, "your husband bought it. He bought it for you, to show how kind-hearted he is and to make his nephew sore. The deal went through yesterday and we thought you'd be playing with the sparkler."

He turned toward the window. "Don't move, don't move," he said smoothly as the girls started toward him. "I'll let myself out through the back. No trouble! And thank you for these little trinkets. They'll be a help. You won't miss them with the Empress to play with."

As his head disappeared through the curtains he grinned again. "I'll be seeing you!"

Instantly he was gone.

"Mona," Lottie whispered, "he can't be a real crook! Why didn't you stall him? You didn't have to give him those diamonds!"

"The other girl put a finger to her lips and shook her head mysteriously. "What's the difference if I am to have the Empress?" she asked. "I'm tired now. I'm going to bed."

Half trembling, the girls undressed swiftly, loath to put out the lights.

"You didn't need to give him Steve's diamonds, Min." Lottie repeated a little later.

Mona squeezed her hand. "You goose!" She kissed Lottie affectionately. "I didn't! But I'm going to give them to you. When that burglar came in I dropped the chain and rolled it up with a pair of stockings. He went away with the paste chain I had made last week."

At Townsends next morning Mr.

Terrell Defends Proration Orders As Strong Force

TEXARKANA—Just and fair proration orders issued by the railroad commission were the salvation of the independent oil operators. C. V. Terrell, candidate for re-election as railroad commissioner, six year term, said here.

"Proration raised the price of oil from ten cents to nearly a dollar a barrel. More than ninety per cent of the oil is now being recovered from the ground, compared to 25 per cent before," he asserted.

Terrell said he based his candidacy on the part taken in this proration administration.

Miss Hilda Marsh of Odessa was a visitor in town this week. She is planning to teach school this winter at Marfa.

Was Federal Aid Ever Denied Texas?

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
 BUREAU OF PUBLIC ROADS
 DISTRICT NO. 6
 January 3, 1929.

CONFIDENTIAL

Mr. Eugene T. Smith, Chairman, State Highway Commission, Austin, Texas.

Dear Mr. Smith:

Upon instructions received from the Chief, Bureau of Public Roads, I must advise you that approval on all Federal Aid Projects in Texas which are not now under actual contract is hereby withdrawn. The Chief of Bureau advises me that this has become necessary due to the financial situation and our withdrawal of these projects will be effective until it has been satisfactorily shown that contractors on Federal Aid Projects are receiving all payments due them promptly and further that funds are available and will be available, free from other obligations, to do the necessary reconditioning of completed Federal Aid Projects and the maintenance of projects already completed. Further than this, we are restrained from approving any additional contracts until it has been shown that funds are available for the proposed new contracts.

It is my understanding that your Commission will meet Monday, January 10th, and at that time I will be very glad to discuss this and other matters with you. I need not add that this matter is considered confidential in this office.

We have advised our Mr. Everett by telephone regarding this matter and requested that he inform you accordingly; also, asking that he advise you that this letter is being mailed today.

Very truly yours,
 A. R. Losh,
 District Engineer.

COPY
 Furnished at the request of Act. State Highway Eng. Raising Projects Jan 31-1929

James E. Ferguson, campaigning for election of "two governors," has sought to raise a question whether federal aid ever was withdrawn from Texas by the federal government, by simply stating at Coleman, so the Associated Press reports, that charges the "federal government had withdrawn highway aid during Mrs. Ferguson's administration were untrue."

Above is a letter from the files of A. R. Losh, district engineer for the U. S. government, which TELLS THE TRUTH.

Dodgers Lose First Game Of Chicago Series

Cubs Lengthen Lead To 4 1-2 Games; Phillies Winners

CHICAGO—The Cubs again in their might as league leaders Wednesday and turned back the first bid of the upstart Brooklyn Dodgers, 7-4, as the "crucial series" between the National League's leading pennant contenders opened.

The triumph increased their lead over Brooklyn to 4 1-2 games. Root pitched steadily from the first inning to the seventh, when he hit a streak of wildness. Then Bob Smith took over the job and finished it expertly.

After Fay Thomas replaced Van Mungo in the seventh, the Cubs scored their other two runs.

PHILLIES 9, PIRATES 6

PITTSBURGH—The Pirates scored six runs in the first two innings Wednesday and then surrendered to the Phillies 9-6 in the first game of their four game series.

Swift, Spencer, Chagnon and Brame paraded to the mound and back for Pittsburgh while the Phillies called Elliott, Laska and Collins.

CARDINALS 6, GIANTS 2

ST. LOUIS—Dizzy Dean and Pepper Martin confounded the New York Giants with their pitching and batting feats Wednesday and left them the easy victims of a 6-2 Cardinal victory.

Dean drove in four runs with two hits, one of them a homer. Martin hit four for three, including a brace of two baggers.

BRAVES 5-1, CUBS 3-2

CINCINNATI—Boston swamped the Cincinnati Reds with a four run rally in the fifth inning of a first contest Wednesday to win 5-2 but then lost its punch and dropped the second game 3-1.

Benton virtually won his own game in the second inning, his double after Durocher's single putting the Reds ahead. Berger a homer was the invaders only run.

First Game: Boston 100 040 000—2 5 10 0 Cincinnati 100 000 010—2 9 9 0 Seibold and Spohrer; Johnson, Frey, Klop and Lombardi.

McGinty-Rich Match At Top For Tonight

Homecoming For Joe Features Thursday Program At Casino

"Red" McGinty, the swaggering, two-fisted Irishman from Amherst, will have a match on his hands this evening when he crawls into the ring against Joe "Kid" Rich, a seasoned veteran of the cauliflower racket who made his headquarters in Big Spring several years ago.

A big crowd is expected to be on hand for Rich's home-coming, and that gentleman himself is confident that he can take the hard-hitting youngster in an eight round match. McGinty will toss away from eight to years of experience and four pounds in weight, but has the advantage in ambition and power.

In a four-round semi-final another McGinty, Shade, will tackle Sailor of Big Spring, a 155 pound slugger who boxed in Dallas amateur circles for several years. Kid Smith, the high school football player who won his bout on last week's card, tackles a running mate on the Steer forward wall, Orville Hildreth, and will have his hands full taking a decision.

Girl Scout Leaders From Camp White On Trip To Cave

Led by Daddy Elza White, pioneer New Mexico cattleman a party of Girl Scout leaders left Roswell, N. M. August 30th on a two-hundred mile pack trip through the Guadalupe mountains to the Carlsbad Caves. Professionally the trip is under the direction of the Misses Mary White and Ann Roos, members of the Girl Scout national staff, and is part of the leadership training given in the Girl Scout "cactus region, which includes Arizona, Oklahoma and Texas as well as New Mexico.

The girls are making the journey on sure-footed cow ponies that can be trusted to take them safely up and down old trails, many of them untraveled by man since the days of the Spanish Conquistadores and by woman at any time in known history.

Being all experienced campers, the Girl Scout leaders are prepared to sleep at night in their bedrolls on the hard ground and to pitch poncho shelters, should rain at any time threaten. Each is responsible for the feeding, hobbling and saddling of her own mount and for the care of her saddle, bridle, blanket and bed-roll. The hauling of duffel and food is done by a chuck wagon which sticks to the more distinct trails and meets the adventurous riders at meal times and at night. An emergency ration of one orange and a can of tomato juice is distributed each morning.

Locations Made For Two Big Lake Tests

ODESSA—Locations for two additional deep wells were announced in the Big Lake Pool of Reagan county. These tests, Big Lake Oil Co.'s No. 8-C and 9-C are in the field with the other world famous wells.

Mrs. E. L. Morrison Honoree At Shower Given In Abilene

Mrs. Eugene Morrison, who before her marriage was Miss Eva Mae House, was the honoree at a party and miscellaneous shower given in Abilene at Hotel Wooten by Miss Irma Harrison, assisted by her mother, Mrs. W. I. Harrison.

SPORTS ON PARADE

By CURTIS BISHOP

A summary of the Olympic games shows that the United States won 35% of the total points, or 302 out of 870, that local athletes captured 36% of the first places, or 39 out of 107, 33 1-3% of the second places, or 32 out of 96, and 21% of the third places, or 21 out of 97.

MICKY MOUSE CORNER

Claire Lou Nummy, formerly yief leader, and Jim, formerly chief Mickey Mouse, have moved to Ft. Worth.

An election of officers for the Mickey Mouse Club will be held a week from next Saturday. Any child who wants to be an officer should apply to the committee in the lobby of the Ritz theater Saturday morning.

Last Saturday's out of town visitors were Randall Cook, San Angelo, Louise Green, Wink, Angie Lee Davis, San Antonio; Kathleen Hamblin, Foran.

New band members are Lon Thompson, Jr., and Dora Ann Hayward.

At the tea hour a program of numbers appropriate to the occasion was given. Bernard Richards gave both violin and vocal numbers with Miss Lillian Bacon as the accompanist.

An ice course was served to the honoree and the guests who were a group of her friends when she made her home in Abilene.

conditions for the supremacy of the world. The rivalry has, however, become very intense, and we understand that something is going to be done about it.

Monday the Abilene Eagles hold their first practice session of the season. Out of last year's championship team six veterans will be on hand, two of them of all-state caliber.

Pete Barber, tackle, Verly Hughes and Pug Cox, guards, and Lennon Blackman, another all-state man, will round out the list of lettermen. Bud Dryden is still crippled from injuries sustained in an automobile accident in July.

"Kid" Rich seems to be the long-armed, cool ringman that he was here in 1925 and '26. He is decorated generously with the insignias of his craft, meaning cauliflower ears, broken nose, and etc. There will be quite a contrast this evening when he makes his debut before 1932 local boxing audiences against Red McGinty, a clean-cut Irish youth whose chief asset is the love of fighting and a reckless, slugging attack.

The championship of the Sand Belt Golf Association will be practically settled this week-end, that is barring further upsets. Sweetwater is at present on top of the league, but the withdrawal of Texon at the halfway mark has left Colorado a match behind, and since the point system is used to figure the standings Bob Scott and Co. have not at present received all that is coming to them. Big Spring is in third place, and needs a clean sweep of the season's schedule to come out on top, with a landslide or two thrown in the list of victories.

METHODIST DINNER

The Susannah Wesley Class of the First Methodist church will sell a good fried chicken dinner Saturday at noon in the building south of Wacker's store.

NEW YORK—Business failures this week increased less than the normal seasonal amount, Bradstreet reported.

ABERDEEN, Wash.—After a shut down of more than a year, the Hulbert Mill, one of the largest lumbering plants opened today.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Big Spring Hospital

LaFerne Deblinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm Deblinger of 703 Alford St, underwent an operation for removal of tonsils and adenoids Wednesday.

W. M. Peterson of Knott, who has been in a weakened condition for some weeks, underwent a blood transfusion Wednesday and was much improved Thursday.

Charles Campbell, a gin employee, was treated for a serious crushing wound of his hand, sustained in setting a boiler at Farmers Co-operative Gin.

Martha Atkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Atkins, of Garden City, underwent an operation for removal of tonsils and adenoids Thursday morning.

Ruby Helen Russell, daughter of Mrs. Jewel Russell of Coahoma, underwent an operation for removal of tonsils and adenoids Thursday morning.

Mrs. S. L. Harmes, who sustained a fracture of the left forearm in a fall, had first aid at the hospital Thursday morning and was dismissed.

Lynn Abell, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Abell of Midland, underwent an operation for removal of tonsils and adenoids Tuesday.

Fat Man Reduces 53 Pounds—Oh Boy!

Don't be stubborn, you big fat men—throw off your fat before your fat throws you into the discard. Do as Mr. S. A. Lanier of Sawtelle, Calif., did—read his letter:

"I have used two reducing belts to no benefit but since using Kruschen Salts each morning in my coffee I have taken off 7 lbs. in a week and eat most anything I like. I weighed 343 lbs. 6 months ago and now I weigh 190 lbs."

Take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning—cut down on fatty meats, potatoes and sweets—now you know the safe way to lose unsightly fat.

For a trifling sum you can get a jar of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks at Collins Bros. Drugs—but be sure and get Kruschen—your health comes first—adv.
