El Paso Man Enters Race For Congress

Dan M. Jackson, Attorney, For Resubmission Of Prohibition

EL PASO (UP)—Dan M. Jackson, 54, today announced he will be a candidate for United States representative from the 15th district on a platform of submitting prohibition to a vote of the people and returning control of liquor traffic to the states.

Jim Ferguson told a crowd at Tyler that if his wife were elected governor they would see that oil production would not be cut too much or too little—just a happy medium.

Means like old age might be sort of dulling Jim's characteristic shrewdness in politics. Also some exactly like Jim knows so little about the oil industry and the problems confronting it at this time that he just had to make a meaningless statement like that in a feeble effort to play up to the people at Tyler who naturally are more interested right now in the oil business than in anything else.

It is to be feared, a politician trying to smooth over such a tremendous complex problem as controlling oil production with such a flimsy campaign crack.

A lot of people for a long time have been trying to figure out how to keep the oil industry in a state under which all those engaged in it might be able to make some money. Jim may know how to control the legislation, how to keep his personal political business on a profitable basis and all that. But when it comes to the oil business few Texans will go for such a weak little outburst as that "happy medium" hoax.

Sixty days ago we wouldn't have given much for the chances of keeping Fergusonism out of the governor's office next term. The political situation is changing now, though. The fact that has held good ever since Mrs. Ferguson's term—that a majority of the people of Texas will not vote for the Ferguson—is showing up once more. They'll run a very strong race, as usual, but they won't be able to make it.

Yeah, that's what we're all looking for, this "happy medium." Wonder how Jim would make it a reality? He didn't say.

Well, boys, perhaps this new fit of screwiness that's down on oil production out here is just the final spell before the oil tariff will force the domestic production up some.

It is apparent that the larger producers—those companies with their own pipe lines, refineries and sales organizations—are determined to take no more oil than they have to from Texas wells so long as they can throw plenty into the country from abroad. They know the import duty will be put into effect soon. That will make importations unprofitable, provided they do not figure out some way of getting by—boycotting—the crude into the United States.

They are taking as much as they can from East Texas but as little as possible from West Texas.

Perhaps actual demand for crude is governing production in this country. But there is no denying that demand is decreased by importations of crude.

We have gone longer this time without discovering a new flush pool than in many years. Yet West Texas fields are being cut lower, lower, lower. There is no stopping place, it appears. Keep on and you'll have to pay a tax for keeping a well shut plumb down.

Seriously, however, it appears not only the price but the demand for West Texas crude will improve in the next six months. If the import duty effectively curbs importation of oil then you'll begin to see large companies buying acreage, drilling wells, developing the hundreds of leases on or near which production has existed for one to three years.

The pipe line companies control the production of oil under existing statutes in this state. The law provides that pipe lines be common carriers. There also is a common purchaser law.

BROOKHART TRAILS IN IOWA

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Returns from sixty-five per cent of precincts Monday in the senatorial primary gave Field a lead of thirty-one thousand over Brookhart, incumbent, in a four-cornered race. Field lacks a majority over all.

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Upsetting North Carolina's proverbial dryness, Robert R. Reynolds Tuesday led Senator Cameron Morrison 8,366 votes with a few precincts unreported, in the senatorial primary.

Reynolds campaigned for repeal of the prohibition laws, Morrison is a life-long dry. Five candidates ran and a run-off primary is required.

Outstanding Entertainers In Cast At High School

One of the finest shows of its type ever presented in West Texas is the Knights of Pythias minstrel to be given Friday evening beginning at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

The local appearance of this large, talented cast, following three successful performances in Abilene, will be under auspices of the local Knights of Pythias lodge with proceeds to be devoted to the K. of P. home for aged people near Weatherford.

Among performers who are known to local people as outstanding entertainers are Irene Jay, dancer; Bob Allen, singer and dancer; George Oscar (Lark) Parker, dancer, singer and impersonator.

Mrs. Holmes Sullivan of Abilene will appear as "Shoutin' Mamie Smith." She is a great blues singer.

Dance Tonight At Crawford Hotel

Gerald Liberty and his Famed Orchestra, popular local orchestra, will play for a dance tonight at the Crawford Hotel. It was announced today.

The dance will begin at 9:00 o'clock and will last until 12:30. An admission of one dollar script will be charged.

Liberty has added a banjo player and a tenor guitar to his orchestra, now one of the largest bands in West Texas. Rubens Choate, a recent acquisition, will be featured in several novelty numbers.

Jimmy Miller is in Longview, visiting Paul, for several days and enjoying the sights of East Texas.

KIRBY RUNS PIPE IN BAKER

Kirby Petroleum Corporation's No. 1 Baker in the Phillips-Coffee pool in Glasscock county has obtained no pay in deepening 100 feet from 2,285 feet and is running 6 5/8 inch casing to shut off the upper production. Lion Oil Refining Co.'s No. 1 Coffee, offsetting Kirby No. 1 Baker on the west, is rigging up to deepen from 2,240. Meanwhile the California Co. has staked a location for No. 1 O'Byrne three-quarters of a mile southeast of the Kirby well and 2,310 feet from the south line and 1,650 feet from the east line of section 23, block 33, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey.

Kirby No. 1 Baker has an elevation of 2,611 feet, topped the line at 2,045 feet, topped the pay at 2,090 and was completed at 2,285 feet for initial production of 876 barrels of oil in 24 hours on the pump. It is 330 feet from the north and west lines of section 23, block 33, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey.

Lion No. 1 Coffee, 330 feet from the north and east line of section 22, block 33, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey initially pumped 540 barrels of oil in 24 hours at 2,240 feet. It has an elevation of 2,807 feet and topped the pay at 2,155. Production of both wells has dropped far below the initial rates.

Humble No. 2 Arrington, about one mile west and a half mile south of Kirby No. 1 Baker and Lion No. 1 Coffee, is being completed on the pump at 2,258 feet, 10 feet in the main pay. Recently it pumped at the rate of 442 barrels daily. It is 1,330 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the east line of the lease, which is the west half of the northwest quarter of section 22, block 33, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey.

Summer Term Opened Here

Summer session of the Big Spring public schools opened Monday morning under the direction of Frank Etter. Enrollment was somewhat lower than in past years.

One and a half credits may be made in ten weeks in high school grades, said Etter, and one-half grade may be made by elementary students. Only courses from the fifth grade up are being offered, however.

"Those who expect to gain maximum credit for the summer's work should enroll this week," said Etter. He mentioned greatly reduced rates now in effect as compared to former years.

Crude Import Duty Will Be In Force Soon

Upper House Sanctions Compromise Measure, 46 To 35

WASHINGTON (AP)—The $1,118,500,000 tax increase bill was signed into law late today by President Hoover while congress dug into the economy and relief disputes with but a forlorn prospect of winding up its task before the republican national convention meets Monday.

Believing the higher levies should take effect as soon as possible, to benefit the stricken treasury, the president attached his signature within an hour after the bill reached his desk.

Dawes Resigns
Word of his action was made known by one of the White House secretaries simultaneously with another formal announcement, that Charles G. Dawes had resigned as president of the reconstruction finance corporation.

In signing the tax bill, President Hoover gave out the following statement:

"The willingness of our people to accept this added burden during these times, in order imperatively to establish the credit of the federal government, is a great tribute to their wisdom and courage. While many of the taxes are not as I desired, the bill will effect the great major purpose of assurance to the country and the world of the determination of the American people to maintain their finances and their currency on a sound basis."

While the increased income taxes carried in the bill will not be felt until the new fiscal year begins July 1, the excise levies including the oil import tax go into force June 21, 15 days after signing.

From the noon meeting hour until 3:15 p. m., the senate argued before sanctioning by a 46 to 35 vote the compromise tax bill agreed upon by conferees of the two branches. Previously, 41 to 33, it had refused to repudiate the conference decision to transfer the 2 per cent electricity tax from the power companies to the consumer.

A Couple Of Engineers
FRANCE, whose godfather and model in the brotherhood of republics was our own United States of America, has imitated us in still another political gesture. It has picked an engineer for its president.

a born, trained and skillful politician. A great deal of Hoover's troubles as president have been due to the fact that he was not a politician. There are signs that he is learning the game, but he is still an amateur. The office of president of the United States demands a man schooled in the artifices and devices of politics. On the contrary, the French president needs to know next to nothing of politics. He is largely a figurehead. Theoretically he picks his own prime minister, who in turn picks the cabinet. Actually the French president is helpless. Millerand was so in 1924, and was forced to resign because every time he proposed anything the senate voted him down.

The president of the United States is vested with extraordinary powers. He must know men and the ins and outs of politics. In his administration is to be successful. He picks his own cabinet and names thousands of lesser officials, from postmasters to members of the supreme court. Only occasionally is his choice of a man rejected by the senate. It is the irony of fate, perhaps, that France, whose president is a stuffed shirt and needs to know nothing of politics, has a skillful politician as its chief; while in this country, where a working knowledge of politics is indispensable in a president, we have a skillful engineer possessing only the rudiments of political knowledge.

Airplane Load Of Alcohol Seized

SAN ANTONIO (UP)—Federal authorities here today announced the seizure of an airplane loaded with alcohol in McMullen county, 60 miles south of here, after an aerial pursuit from the border. The Federal plane smashed its wings in landing but no one was injured. The ship was described as a six-engine ship to the one in which W. T. Funder, Fort Worth, famous war ace, was arrested at San Antonio recently and the seizure was made by customs agent D. S. Conner, who arrested Ponder.

A pilot who gave his name as Glen Walters was arrested and also a man giving his name as James Howard, when he arrived at the landing field with gasoline.

Exemption Of Homesteads Of $3,000 Assessed Value Among Propositions To Be Considered In Coming Election

BY RAYMOND BROOKS
AUSTIN.—Exemption of $3,000 assessed value of homesteads from state taxation will be voted on as one of nine proposed constitutional amendments, at the general election next November 8. This will be the ratification of the first legislative step in response to a modern demand that state taxes must be shifted from the land and homes and ranches of dwindling value, and placed upon other sources of wealth.

For the first time in a decade that constitutional amendments have been submitted, none this time propose to raise any official salaries. The homestead amendment is limited to "residence homesteads." Another amendment will consolidate the offices of county tax assessor and tax collector. A third will limit voting in bond elections to actual property taxpayers, destroying the fiction that if one has a "watch or a dog" subject to rendition for taxes, he is eligible to vote bonds. All nine of the amendments are to be included on a single ballot that will be handed to each general election voter in November.

The proposed constitutional changes are: Prohibit future issuance of bonds against the university permanent fund; asked by the university regents. S. J. R. 26. Appropriation for proclamation and election expenses, $2,500. To permit redemption of tax sale lands. H. J. R. 24. Appropriation, $5,000.

Limit legislature's power to extinguish or release indebtedness, liability or obligation of any corporation or individual, except delinquent taxes due 10 years or more—in practical effect to permit liquidation of uncollectible delinquent taxes and restoration of clear titles. H. J. R. 12. Appropriation $10,000.

To permit military officers and men to vote and hold office. H. J. R. 1. Appropriation, $6,000. To allow counties and cities on coast to levy taxes for seawalls. H. J. R. 5. Appropriation, $5,000.

Votees owning property which has been rendered for taxation, may vote in bond elections. H. J. R. 26. Appropriation, $5,000. Exempting residence, homesteads to assessed value of $3,000 from all state taxes. H. J. R. 6. Appropriation, $5,000.

Combine offices of tax assessor and collector. H. J. R. 21. Appropriation, $5,000. Permit the state to participate in Texas Centennial. S. J. R. 28. Appropriation, $5,000.

NOMINATION APPROVED
WASHINGTON (UP)—The senate judiciary committee approved the nomination of Sterling D. Bennett, Beaumont, for federal attorney of the Eastern District of Texas. Approval is subject to agreement of Senator Ashhurst of Arizona, who was not present when the committee acted.

Enforcement - Not Repeal

WE CHALLENGE
From the South Come These Challenges Voiced by S. F. Conrad, Charlotte, North Carolina

We challenge the advocates for a return of the legalized liquor traffic to prove that the manufacture and sale of beer and distilled liquors, with the licensed saloons as they existed before they were abolished, were not a source of moral degradation, corruption and ruin to the whole nation.

We challenge the liquor forces to prove that under the changed conditions of the present time, of hard-surfaced roads and the use of automobiles, buses for travel and great trucks for business, would not make the open, licensed sale of alcoholic liquors a menace to public safety.

We challenge the liquor forces to prove that the open, public, licensed sale of alcoholic liquors has not always been a foe of progress, to morality, good citizenship, to the home, to the scores of millions a source of impaired health, a depleted family purse, and discord in the home.

We challenge the liquor forces to prove that if it is right to tax liquor drinking for revenue for the government that it would not be equally right to tax the sale of hope for revenue for the government.

There was a time when gambling halls were licensed, when houses of prostitution were licensed and under city control.

We challenge the liquor advocates who want to put a tax on beer and licensed saloons for government revenue, to prove that it would not be equally right to put a tax on adulterous, houses of prostitution, racketeering and the lottery for revenue to the government.

We challenge the liquor forces who are seeking the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to prove that if it were right to abolish slavery by constitutional law that it is not equally right to abolish the liquor traffic by law.

From the book of the Prophet Isaiah, chapter 4:11-14, we are told "from the drinking of wine heil was enlarged and opened wide her mouth without measure, and multitudes descended into hell" and as a result the whole nation was carried into captivity.

We challenge the liquor forces to prove that if heil was enlarged by drinking wine that it was not more enlarged by the drinking of beer, wine and the distilled liquors of the days of license in our country.

We challenge the advocates of the state control of liquor business to prove that state control will not bring back the same conditions that existed before the liquor business was outlawed by the national government.

We challenge the liquor forces to prove that lying, vulgarity, profanity, drunkenness, deception, demoralization, debauchery, moral degradation, poverty, profligacy, worthlessness and the damnation of

Holder Out Of R. R. Race

Lancaster Publisher, Member Of Legislature, In Statement

DALLAS—Ray Holder, Lancaster publisher and state legislator from Dallas county, who announced for a place on the railroad commission two months ago, today gave out a statement that he was withdrawing from that race. In his statement Holder said, "I have received much encouragement and firmly believe that I would be elected to a place on the railroad commission, but personal business affairs would prevent me leaving Dallas county if I were elected. I believe that a man elected to an office like the railroad commission should be able to give all of his time and efforts to it, but for the next two years my personal business will require me to live in Dallas and at home."

"I want to thank my many friends for their support," said Holder, "and say to them that I shall be ever mindful of the many friendships I have formed and the many services rendered me in the past."

In commenting on his probable place in politics for the future, Holder said, "I shall always be interested in public affairs. I feel that by my service in the state legislature I have served my state and my county. I have been especially interested in the public schools; and the welfare of the school children is very near and dear to my heart."

"There is a movement on foot to draft me to again offer for the legislature from Dallas county. I have many letters and telephone calls asking me to run again. What I shall do about running for the legislature I do not know. I could spare the time from my personal affairs, but unless I am convinced that my services are urgently needed, I shall stay in private life. However, some of the best business men in Dallas are urging me to run again saying, 'the times demand a man like you with experience and whose record is one of economy as you proved when you lowered the license fees on automobiles. We need some of the same kind of energy and ability on other forms of taxation now and we know Holder has both.'" souls are not the legitimate fruits of the legalized liquor business. The laws of this country make one who aids and abets another in crime a partner of the criminal.

We challenge you, Mr. Citizen, to prove that if you vote with the organized liquor forces for a return of the legalized liquor traffic that you are not an abettor with it in the evils of the liquor business.

We challenge anyone to prove that an officer who takes an oath to enforce the law and does not do it, is not criminally responsible with the man who violates the law. Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt has publicly declared for a repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and for state control.

We challenge him to prove that state control of the liquor business does not put us back where we were before the liquor business was outlawed by the Eighteenth Amendment.

We challenge him to deny that he is basing his hope of election on support of the liquor forces.

78 Veterans Of Confederacy To Attend Reunion

AUSTIN — Seventy-eight Gray-clad veterans of the Confederate army, and 16 widows and wives of veterans will go from Austin June 15 to the all-Southern reunion of Confederate veterans and allied organizations, to gather about the historic old capitol of the Confederacy at Richmond, and beneath the Stars and Bars to answer back the dim reveille of memory across the 67 years since Gettysburg.

This slender brigade, nearly a third of the veterans remaining at the Confederate home, will be accompanied by Supt. R. R. Patterson and a staff of attendants and nurses. Some of the widows will be from the Confederate Woman's home.

The trip will be made in two tourist sleepers and a chair car, furnished by the railroad without charge to the veterans. The group will leave here June 15, over the Missouri Pacific lines, reaching Richmond at noon of June 20. Special trains will be run from Dallas and Houston, in which other veterans will accompany members of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and other associated organizations. C. E. Gilbert, commander of the Texas division, S.C.V., has appointed members of his staff for the reunion. These include R. R. Dobbins, San Marcos, commander of the Austin brigade; J. E. Winfree, Houston, adjutant and chief of staff; Mrs. Winfree, matron of honor; Mrs. Young Yates, Fort Worth, chaplain; Mrs. J. Bryan Peal, Houston, sponsor; and Mrs. Neta V. Taylor, Houston and Mrs. F. M. O. Fenn, Richmond, maids of honor.

Mary Jack Smith, twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Smith of Odessa, is improving following an illness of nearly three weeks.

Arguments On Exceptions In Oil Suits Progress

AUSTIN (UP)—Arguments on exceptions taken by defendant companies to Attorney General James V. Allred's amended petition in his $17,850,000 anti-trust penalty suit were resumed here today in 98th district court.

A procedure was determined upon by which the Humble Oil & Refining Company, which already had begun arguments on its exceptions, will be heard first on each section of the petition it wishes to attack. The other defendant companies will then be heard on the same section before the Humble argument begins on a different section.

It is expected several weeks of argument will be heard.

Thurman Gets Shutout Over Tyler—Exports Beat Cats

LONGVIEW—The Longview Cambials defeated the Houston Buffs 1 to 0 Monday afternoon in the opening game of a short series.

Forrest Pressnell held the slugging Buffs to four hits and was in trouble only on three occasions, pitching out of each expertly.

Longview scored the only run in the first inning when Moss was touched for singles by Bejma, Garms and Fust.

The game was played in one hour and fifteen minutes.

It was the first shutout here this season.

The Buss gained headway for their victory in the third when McGee banged out a homer with Governor and Allen aboard.

Steingrabe started slab duty for Tyler, but was relieved by Lefty Willis after one down in the fifth. Three runs already had been scored in that inning and one was on base.

The teams will play a double header tomorrow, which will be "George Washington" day celebrating the slugging centerfielder's return to the lineup.

FORT WORTH—Beaumont increased its lead over the Texas League field to three and one half games by defeating Fort Worth 5-2 here Monday night. Houston, its nearest rival, had previously lost of Longview.

Buck Marrow held the Panthers in hand in all but one inning, the sixth, when a wild streak plus an error helped them to their two runs. The Exporters treated Tom Estell, the starting Cat hurler, roughly and were not much easier on Clarence Pickrel, his successor, collecting a total of 14 hits.

DALLAS—Pitcher George Murray failed to collect his tenth victory of the season tonight when his own fielding misplay gave the San Antonio Indians a 3-1 victory over Dallas.

Murray's failure properly to handle Fitzgerald's grounder in the sixth left him open for a single by Baker that scored two runs with two men out.

New Cast To Tangle Ticklish Problems In G.O.P. Convention

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Ticklish problems confronting the Republican national convention at Chicago will be handled by practically a complete change of cast from that which conducted the 1928 convention.

Relatively new figures have been selected to steer the proceedings through the party's first real fight over prohibition in years. The depression also has raised new problems. Republicans particularly will devote considerable attention to shaping explanations which will take into consideration the promise of continued prosperity, conspicuous in the 1928 campaign.

The expected renomination of President Hoover and Vice-President Curtis only leaves the delegates more time to become excited over issues.

Among the persons who will be assembling at Chicago a week from today will be these ranking members of the cast:

First Role

Senator L. J. Dickinson, Iowa, the probable temporary chairman and keynoter. This is his first major convention role. Bone dry, long a leader in the farm bloc in congress, he will attempt in one composite oratorical effort to represent what he believes to be Mr. Hoover's views, the general party views, and his own.

Rep. Bertrand H. Snell, New York, the probable permanent chairman. Long chairman of the house rules committee, he was one of the famous triumvirate which under the late Speaker Nicholas Longworth ran the house with an iron hand. He is a parliamentary expert.

Joseph L. Scott, Los Angeles attorney who will place President Hoover in nomination, is unknown in national politics although he did some campaign speaking for Mr. Hoover four years ago. It will be his job to present a glowing picture of Hoover the man, and the statesman.

Nominate Curtis

Charles L. Scott of Kansas, who will nominate Vice-President Curtis. He has been a newspaper editor for years, formerly was a member of congress and is now attached to headquarters of the Republican national committee here. He is a veteran in Kansas and national politics, but has not appeared in a prominent way before any recent national conventions.

Political celebrities and important figures of former conventions will be on hand in large numbers. Charles G. Dawes, president of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois will be delegates from Illinois.

William S. Vare of Pennsylvania, who started the break to Mr. Hoover at Kansas City four years ago, will be present again as chief of the Pennsylvania delegation.

The most prominent women in the convention will be Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, the dry Joan of Arc in 1928, but since then the attorney for grape concentrate manufacturers. She is a delegate from California along with Louis B. Mayer, the motion picture producer.

Efficiency Expert Confers with Group From Legislature

AUSTIN (UP)—E. G. Griffiths, head of the firm of efficiency experts employed by a legislative economy committee, was here today for a two day conference with Representatives Harry Graves and Phil Sanders of the legislative committee.

Preliminary reports on the investigations that have been conducted by Griffiths' employees in connection with the state auditor's forces, will be sent to each member of the legislative committee, Sanders said.

After they have had time to consider the data a meeting of the whole committee likely will be called to consider findings and recommendations to be made to the next state legislature.

The committee was appointed to work out a plan of saving in state expenditures. Greater efficiency, elimination of duplicated state agencies and combination of departments to keep down overhead are among the objects of the committee.

A part of the work has been gathering detailed information on the duties, hours and efficiency of 14,000 state employees and a report on their relationship to state officials and other state employees.

With the convening of a new Travis county grand jury today, further investigation of fee accounts collected by sheriffs in the state was due.

T. B. Markham, assistant state auditor, who has been in charge of much of this investigation, is in his office again after having undergone an operation at a local hospital.

Phillies Beat Dodgers 15-7

Hack Wilson Hits Ninth And Tenth Homers Of Season

PHILADELPHIA—Back at their home park, the Phillies Tuesday plastered a 15-7 defeat on the Brooklyn Dodgers in the only game played in either major league.

Joe Shauts, Babe Phelps and Lefty Heimach all felt the wrath of the Phillies bats, which manufactured 21 hits, including Chuck Klein's 14th home run, and piled up 14 runs in the first five frames.

Phil Collins, meantime, had the visitors baffled until the sixth inning, when the first of Hack Wilson's two home runs brought in a pair of tallies. The next inning saw the Dodgers score five more runs as Wright, O'Doul and Wilson hit for the circuit and also saw the last of Collins' fiery rage but scoreless ball from there on.

Hack Wilson's two four-baggers were his ninth and tenth of the season and gave further indication the pudgy slugger is regaining his 1930 form.

Don Hurst, big first baseman, led the Phillies assault with four singles and a walk in five trips and scored four runs. Mallon, Klein, Whitney and George Davis contributed three hits apiece, Whitney driving across four runs.

Score by innings:
Brooklyn 000 002 500—7
Philadelphia 402 440 015—18

A FRANK CONFESSION

—A STATEMENT BY THE GILLETTE SAFETY RAZOR COMPANY

THE Gillette Safety Razor Company feels called upon to make a confession and a statement that are undoubtedly unique in the annals of American business. It is with deep regret and no little embarrassment that we do this in order to tell you frankly what actually happened when we introduced a new Gillette razor and blade.

Soon after this was done, we found that, although the great majority was pleased, some users complained quality was not up to standard. We learned why. Our equipment had not been equal to the task of producing millions of blades at high speed without a certain variation in quality that affected a small portion of our output. As a result some blades that left the factory were not as good as you had a right to expect. Immediately we directed our principal effort toward the achievement of uniformity. Everything within our power was done to end variation. More than this—impossible as it seemed of accomplishment at the time—we set out to develop or find a better production process, having as a major requirement the elimination of varying quality.

We discovered and purchased for our exclusive use and at the cost of millions of dollars a manufacturing process that was amazingly superior to our own.

By this method, modern and automatic, millions of blades can be made at top speed without variation in quality.

We incorporated refinements of our own invention and installed the new machinery, throwing out all of our old equipment.

Now we announce today's Gillette blades, made by the new management. The usual superlatives have no place in this sincere statement of ours, so we will let the quality of the blades speak for itself. The green Gillette package remains unchanged, but the blades are new in every respect, quality, performance, and method of manufacture.

The Gillette Blue Super-Blade

The $2 Kroman De Luxe blade has been withdrawn from production. We offer the Blue Super-Blade as its successor. This sensational blade is far superior to the Kroman and costs considerably less. You pay only a few cents more than for the regular blade and get unmatched shaving comfort. Its extraordinary shaving performance will convince you that the Blue Blade is the sharpest ever produced. A blue color has been applied to the blade for easy identification. It is contained in a blue package, Cellophane wrapped.

You can try today's Gillette blades without risking a cent. If you don't agree they are superior, return the package and your dealer will refund your money. Our reputation depends upon the proof of these claims. Being absolutely certain of the quality of these Gillette blades, we do not hesitate to make this statement over our signature.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

By Laurel Fox BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
CHERRY DIXON, 19 and pretty, tells her mother she is going to a club meeting but instead meets DAN PHILLIPS, newspaper reporter with whom she is in love. Her wealthy parents do not know she is acquainted with Dan. Cherry goes with him to interview a bank robber's sweetheart. She blunders into underworld headquarters and a bullet strikes her arm. Dan takes her to a doctor's office and then home. He is trying to explain what has happened when MR. DIXON appears. He is very angry and brandishes a newspaper containing Cherry's picture and an account of the shooting. Mr. Dixon orders Dan from the house.

Days pass and SARAH, Cherry's maid, discovers Dan has telephoned and been told the girl is out of town. Cherry steals out of the house, meets Dan and explains. He tells her he loves her. When Cherry arrives home her father is waiting and accuses her of leaving her father and her job. She says, "I'll go" and leaves. She finds Dan and tells him what happened. He offers to take her to a friend's home but Cherry says, "Let's get married tonight!"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IX

They were married a little before 10:30 that night by a justice of the peace in a dining room of the court house. Bill Pringle, who covered court house news and a man never before the witness stand, had been appealed to Pringle to help locate the clerk of courts to issue the license. It was a ceremony entirely without ostentation or any element of the sacred. A few words mumbled in a wheezing, half-audible monotone. Cherry, rather pale, still wearing the pale coat and her small brown hat, Dan's "I do" ringing clear and loud in the stillness. Except for the small group in the clerk's office and two old men scrubbing the floor of the central corridor the court house seemed deserted.

"There you are, you man and wife" sang out the justice. "That was all there was to it. They were married. Dan places a folded bill in the official's hand. He drew Cherry toward him and kissed her. There was some joking that the bride scarcely heard. Then she and Dan were outside in the night. Bill Pringle stood beside them on the steps. "Well," he said gaily, "now for the honeymoon. You two want a cab, don't you?" He held up two fingers, whistled shrilly and a cab that had been cruising down the opposite side of the street swerved to the curb. Dan and Cherry got into the cab. Pringle waved and disappeared down the street. "The Bismark hotel," Dan instructed the cab driver. He said to Cherry, "It's all right, isn't it? We'll find some place you'll like better in a day or two." "It's all right, Dan. Of course." The Bismark was less than a dozen blocks away. The streets seemed singularly quiet, for it was still early. In the darkness of the cab Cherry's face was barely visible. A misty blur of whiteness, Dan's arm gathered her close. "You darling!" he whispered. She raised her lips for the kiss but at that moment the glaring rays of a street lamp shined them with yellow electricity. The cab halted for a traffic signal. Happily the girl smiled up at him. "My husband!" she said the words as though they were a Hany. Dan's arm tightened. "You're going to be happy?" he said almost sternly. "We're going to make a fine of it, Cherry. I know I don't deserve anyone half so sweet and fine as you are but I'm going to make you happy! Oh, you're so wonderful!"

The ecstasy was interrupted abruptly as the cab halted at a stop. Cherry, stepping to the sidewalk, could scarcely believe that she was the same girl who hours earlier had left the hotel, frightened and miserable. She glanced at Dan and thought how handsome and delectable he looked. "And he is your husband!" "Cap" Graham was still on duty at the hotel desk and Dan led Cherry forward. "I'd like to introduce an old friend," he said. "This is Mr. Graham. Generally known as 'Cap.' I want you to know my wife."

"What? Say—Pia glad to meet you, Ma'am. But this is a surprise. Why, why for mercy sake! Ain't you the one who was here a while ago? I mean—say—"

Phillips grinned. "Take it easy, Cap. And aren't you going to congratulate me? You're the first one to hear the news." "You mean you've just been married?" "Well, say! Is it really true?" "Certainly it's true." "Well, I declare! She's a pretty one, she is, though. And you've picked a good husband, too. Ma'am, the old man assured Cherry. "One of the finest! I want to congratulate both of you. Yes, sir, indeed, I do."

The outer door opened and Dan turned. At his half-smothered exclamation Cherry whirled about. "A dozen men and women laughing and calling out gaily, crowded into the hotel. They swarmed about Dan and Cherry. Bill Pringle appeared to be in the lead. "Here they are!" the court house reporter cried. "Here's the bride and bridegroom! Look at 'em blushing, fellas! Who's going to be first to kiss the bride?" Dan stepped out, smiling. "Just a minute," he protested. "Say, what is this anyhow?" "We've come to help you celebrate," put in a small girl wearing a green hat. "We're all going out to Casey's and we're going to take you with us. For goodness sake, Dan, introduce us, can't you?" Phillips turned to Cherry. "Hello, wife," he said, grinning, "but they're harmless. My confidants of the well-known News."

"Well, gang," he faced the newcomers. "This is certainly a surprise. How about the surprise you pulled a bass voice called out. Others chorused, "Speech! Speech!" "Nobody wants speeches, though," the girl in the green hat protested. "This is supposed to be a party—"

Dan raised a hand. "Ladies and Gentlemen," he began, "allow me to present the one and only Mrs. Diana Phillips, who has so graciously consented to bear the name and share the ancestral fortune of the house of Phillips—'39-12." He pulled out a trouser pocket, turning it inside. "Give 'em a bow, Cherry. That's the girl!" There were cheers and applause. In a few moments all of them were back to the Bismark I gave them a call. Pronto—that's all there was to it!"

The young man at the piano had been persuaded to abandon Laburn to provide accompaniment for a quartette. The fingers' views had more to recommend them in the way of volume than in tone. The quartette attempted "Oh, Promise Me," but gave it up abruptly for "Call Me Sweetheart." They liked this so well that they sang it twice.

There were four young women in the crowd besides Dixie Shannon. Two were the wives of reporters. A slim girl with red hair cut short and wearing a tailored tweed suit was introduced as Doris Ware. Shannon told Cherry that Doris covered news assignments on an equal footing with the men and was considered one of the best future writers in Wellington. Cherry was not sure she liked her. She thought Miss Ware rather received. The fourth girl was Connie Randolph from the society department, a tall, slender student whose black satin frock outlined her figure frankly. She had barely shaken hands with Cherry and then drifted away.

Suddenly Cherry saw that rug had been pulled back in the next room and that couples were dancing. She looked about again, raised anxiously for Dan. There he was sitting in the far corner beside Connie Randolph. They seemed to be in earnest conversation. Dixie Shannon's gaze followed Cherry's. "Don't mind Connie," Dixie said in an undertone. "She's the office vamp but nobody takes her seriously. Connie was missing when they passed out the brides—and she's been missing ever since!" Louder she said, "Bill, will you tell Dan we want him over here. Tell him to make it pronto." The words were casual but Cherry thought that beneath this assumed air Dixie was displeased. Casey appeared bearing a tray with glasses and a plate of sandwiches. There was an instant chorus of applause. Bill Pringle complied with Dixie's instructions, and a moment later Dan reached Cherry's side. "Getting acquainted?" he asked, smiling. "They're a great bunch, Cherry. You'll be crazy about them all. Would it be too much of a favor to ask my wife if she'd have the next dance with me?" Cherry flushed with pleasure as she across. All activities halt way across the continent was playing a maddic German waltz. The notes floated out sweet and clear from the radio. Dan and Cherry had never danced together before but their steps matched perfectly. Dan whispered, "The most time we pass that door slip through it. We're going to make a getaway. Mrs. Casey will help us." Five minutes later they were lurching down a rear stairway. Another five minutes and Dan was helping Cherry into a taxicab. As the cab rolled along through the darkness Cherry thought, "This can't really be me! I can't believe so much could happen in 24 hours." Fortunate for her that she could not foresee the next 24 hours. (To Be Continued)

Settle Plans For Guest Day To Be Held On June Twenty-Seventh

Mrs. J. R. Manion presided over the business meeting of the First Methodist Women's Missionary Society Monday afternoon when many matters of important business were dispatched.

Mrs. W. D. McDonald, superintendent of Social Service Relations, announced that in the first five months of this year, ending with May 31, the committee has given away $114 in clothing; $188 in groceries; made 45 visits to tourists; and given away 93 meals to the undernourished.

Plans were perfected for guest day to be held at the church the last Monday in June at which the three Methodist missionary societies of the town will be guests.

The following committees were appointed to serve with committees from the Birdie Bailey Missionary Society; refreshment, Mrs. F. Wilson and Mrs. C. E. Shive; program, Mrs. W. A. Miller and Mrs. Chas. Morris.

The pipe lines, being common carriers, can be forced to run your production - transport it. But they cannot be forced to buy it.

They can, however, be forced, if they buy any oil from a pool, to buy it equitably as between producers, their number of wells, or acreage, or both, taken into consideration in figuring the amount each purchaser can force the pipe line company to buy.

Forcing a pipe line company to buy more oil than it declares it needs would be much like forcing a railroad to buy freight it hauls over its line.

The question, therefore, is whether you can pass a law and make it stand up in face of the constitution, that would force a pipe line not only to run but also to buy crude. Chances are you couldn't do that at all.

So, if you have 6,000 barrels of production per day with only one pipe line connecting with the leases, and that pipe line company says it can use only 4,000 barrels you must either find another buyer or force the pipe line company to deliver your oil through its line, or else store your oil or leave it in the ground while your neighbors drain the reservoir.

A case in point rose here Monday. The Col-Tex Refining company, operating its own pipeline, notified producers in the Istan-Westbrook area, including the Denman, Dodge, etc. production in eastern Howard county that, due to reductions of runs to its stills at Colorado, it would henceforth only further notice by only five-sevenths of the actual potential production.

The West Texas tournament, you will read elsewhere if you don't lose patience, will open here July 7 and will close July 9. The best tennis players of this portion of the state probably will be here. Dan Stankley, the swaggering, former Simmon player, possibly by the above paragraph, might possibly be on hand. Henry Whitten, the genial left-handed Sweetwater player, is sure to be an entry, and from Abilene will probably come another motored with such players as E. M. Ballard, smiling Elmo Lowe, black-haired Willard Foster, Leslie McClure, possibly the brilliant Roy Moody, and others such as Andy Moore, Thurman Melton, and Max Chenoweth. Abilene's entry last year was larger than Big Spring's.

The Midland Invitational tournament, also as big an event as the West Texas, will be held July 3 and 4th, and will attract a large field. Leo Brady is the defending champion, but Brady has probably graduated from West Texas tournament play.

Another feature of the July 7, 8, and 9 'Carnival of Values' as far as athletics are concerned, will be an exhibition match between Shirley Robbins, Charles Qualls of Post, Bob Scott of Colorado, and Frank Rose of Lamona. The identity of the players has not been definitely established, but the four players mentioned will have first choice.

West Texas Tennis Association Tournament To Be Held Here As 'Carnival Of Values' Feature in July

The West Texas Tennis tournament, official championship test of the West Texas Tennis Association, will be held on the local courts July 7, 8 and 9, in the "Carnival of Values," sponsored by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

The three-day tournament last year attracted fifty odd entries, only six of them registered from Big Spring, and was the largest tournament staged in Texas by an independent club. Tom McCarty of Wichita Falls won the title over Theo Ferguson of Midland in the finals.

Invitations will be sent to Wichita Falls, Midland, Denton, Carlsbad, New Mexico, Colorado, Sweetwater, Abilene, Lubbock, Amarillo, Panhandle, Brady, Lamona, Alton and Roby, cities represented here last year. Entries from San Angelo, Fort Worth, Eastland and Miles are expected to be on hand.

It will be the sixth annual West Texas tournament held on the local courts. No player from Big Spring has ever been able to capture the championship, and only one representative, Rayborn Brown in 1920, reached the final round. The singles title has never been captured twice by the same player. O. E. Mallory of Sweetwater, Roscoe Etter of Lubbock, Leo Brady of Abilene, M. M. Ballard of Abilene, and McCarty have all won legs on the championship cup, which must be won three years in succession. A small, duplicate trophy is given permanent each year to the winning player.

Last year M. M. Ballard and Elmo Lowe of Abilene won the doubles title over Charles Cook and Raymond McPhail of Wichita Falls. As defending champions are expected to be on hand to defend their championship laurels this year.

SPORTS ON PARADE

By CURTIS BISHOP

Sweetwater's golfing legion moved closer and closer toward Sunday when they left the sand belt Sunday morning for the 24 to 26 mile which is, after all, not a very bad score. Shirley Robbins, a notice was successful in turning back Charlie Nix, the ranking star of the Nolan county team, shooting a very nice 78. Mr. Robbins has defeated the three top-notchers of the association, Bob Scott of Colorado, E. C. Nix of Lamona (playing temporarily No. 1 over Frank Rose) and C. E. Nix of Sweetwater on their home courses.

He opened the season by beating Bob Scott's flag down in the first match. Figuratively speaking of course, for Mr. Robbins is too much of a gentleman to even touch one of Mr. Scott's eggs, much less beat one down. For does the writer intend to cast a reflection upon the Colorado ranchman's personal appearance. Oh, well, he won over Bob Scott 2 up and 1 to play. Then he beat E. C. Nix 4 up and 3 to play and C. E. Nix 1 up.

The Mexican Tigers defeated Ackerly 7 to 1 Sunday afternoon, old rubber-armed Payne hurling his seventh straight victory. The losing moundman was Floyd Rose, one time a member of the West Texas League.

Payne and Babe were two veterans of the T.A.P. Railway team here that were begged to enter professional baseball but refused. The latter, whom Bobby Campbell nick-named "Ratner-walk-than-run" and which title we accept because we cannot think of a better one, made one brief appearance with the Cowboys, turned in a creditable performance, and strode off disgruntled with something. Perhaps it was the league, maybe it was the diamond, or it is possible that it might have been the output of energy necessary.

We think, however, that both Payne and Babe were wise enough to retain permanent jobs with their railroad rather than risk the fickle fortunes of a Class D League.

Dan Stankley, Sweetwater, newly-crowned Sand Belt champion, was defeated in the State amateur play by Claire Hudson of Rio Grande City 14-15, 14-15. His brother, Zollie, lost to Hal Surface of Kansas City 6-1, 6-0.

The West Texas tournament, you will read elsewhere if you don't lose patience, will open here July 7 and will close July 9. The best tennis players of this portion of the state probably will be here.

Another feature of the July 7, 8, and 9 'Carnival of Values' as far as athletics are concerned, will be an exhibition match between Shirley Robbins, Charles Qualls of Post, Bob Scott of Colorado, and Frank Rose of Lamona. The identity of the players has not been definitely established, but the four players mentioned will have first choice.

Rural School Aid Must Be Applied For

County Superintendent Issues Notice To Trustees

Presidents, secretaries, and one member of board of trustees in rural school districts applying to the state department of education for special aid are to meet with Mrs. Pauline Cantrell Brigham, county superintendent on or before Saturday.

Schools seeking special aid are Hiway, Couble, Moore, Morgan, Fairview, Richland, Vealmoor, and Soab. Special help is given by the state department of education to rural school districts in paying tuition of transfers to any independent school district in the county, provided high school grades are not offered in the particular rural zone.

"It is very necessary that those who wish to transact business do so this week," said Mrs. Brigham. "For applications must be mailed on June 11."

Morrow Urged For Governor

Friends Announce Plan to 'Draft' Houston Attorney

DALLAS - A group of friends announced here Saturday night they would "draft" Wright Morrow of Houston, former assistant Attorney General, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

After a conference of about 40 men from 25 counties, Charles I. Francis of Wichita Falls, said Morrow's name would be filed with the chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee by "legal number" of friends asking him to run.

While declining to commit himself definitely, Morrow, who attended the conference, indicated he probably would accept the invitation to run under certain conditions.

"I am not a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor," he said. "If my friends file my name as a candidate and if there is a demand that I make this race for Governor on the issue of Texas first, and not on the demerits of Fergusonism or the shortcomings of Sterlingism, I probably shall accept."

The move to get the Houston attorney into the Governor's race was stimulated by provision of a state law that all candidates for state offices must file by Monday midnight. Twenty-five signers of a petition for a place on the ballot required, and Francis said many more than that number would endorse the Morrow candidacy.

Francis announced another conference would be held in Dallas Monday and friends of Morrow as well as those interested in seeing a man of Wright Morrow's type run for Governor" were invited to be present.

Attending today's conference, in addition to Francis, were Roger Gillis and County Judge Roger Thurmond, both of Del Rio; Charles Duncan, Mount Pleasant; Ernest May, Fort Worth, former assistant Attorney General; D. A. Simmons, Houston; Gus Wortham, Houston; State Senator George Purl, Dallas; Judge C. M. Smith, Hillsboro, and others.

Morrow is a son of Chief Justice W. C. Morrow of the Court of Criminal Appeals. He is a graduate of the University of Texas and has been active in former student affairs. Since serving as assistant Attorney General during the administration of Dan Moody, Morrow has practiced law in Houston.

Francis has about 800 manufacturers of agricultural implements, just about twice as many as before the world war.

County Court Sets Trial Of Four Suits

Judge H. R. Debenport, county judge, Tuesday morning reviewed the docket of his court and fixed a calendar calling for four cases to be tried this month. Two will be non-jury trials.

Jurors will be summoned June 22 to hear two cases. The first will be T. M. Collins vs First National Bank suit on contract of sale and the second, State National Bank vs J. M. Wilson for suit on note. W. J. June 16 the court will hear the case of Ray Wilcox vs All Weather Tire company, June 21 the case of State National Bank vs C. F. Bauer comes before the court.

County Superintendent To Attend Conference

Mrs. Pauline Cantrell Brigham, county superintendent, will attend the ninth annual state conference of county superintendents and rural school superintendents at A. and M. College July 25-29. It was announced Tuesday. Superintendent E. S. Erwin of Cherokee county heads the organization.

Programs running five days have been arranged. Nature of the meet resembles a short course or institute. The program is divided into three parts, supervision, administration, and state department of education. Activities open each morning at nine and adjourn at four in the afternoons.

The conference, drawing county school heads from all of Texas, is held while the farmer's short course is in session at College Station.

Steam Pressure Cooking Draws Out Many Cooks

The steam pressure cooking demonstration now being put on at Montgomery Ward and Co., by H. D. Devitt, a factory representative, by attracting bigger crowds everyday as women come to learn how to cook a good meal in fifteen minutes.

The demonstration Monday afternoon was with six different kinds of food cooked at one in 15 minutes without sharing odors. The menu included pork chops, an inch thick, potatoes, apple sauce, onions and mustard.

The menu today was large Hamburger balls with barbecue sauce, mashed potatoes, and egg custard. The meal was cooked in 15 minutes. Wednesday afternoon Mr. Devitt will demonstrate the cooking of the housewife's chief summer trouble, green beans, which usually require two to three hours and a thick Swiss steak, potatoes, bacon and prunes will complete this meal.

The popularity of the cooker for canning is well known. The government sponsors it and home demonstration agents throughout the country have proclaimed its merits until most women, both city and rural, have learned that it is both the surest and easiest way to can all forms of vegetables, fruits and meats.

Not many women, said Mr. Devitt, know how good it is for everyday meals or that so much can be cooked at one time. For this reason he is specializing in the tougher cuts of meats, the long-cooking vegetables and other combinations of food, which are necessary to well balanced meals.

The Thursday and Friday menus will be announced tomorrow.

209 Candidates For Law Licenses To Go Before Examiners

AUSTIN - Over 200 candidates for license to practice law are to appear before the board of legal examiners June 13, for the last examination before more severe admission requirements go into effect July 1.

After this month, no person will be admitted to take the examination of Texas law school will appear June 6, to be sworn in. They are given license without examination, in showing that they graduated from the law school, as are graduates of other accredited law schools in the state.

All graduates of this year's University of Texas law school will appear before supreme court Monday, June 6, to be sworn in. They are given license without examination, in showing that they graduated from the law school, as are graduates of other accredited law schools in the state.

'Pusher' Type Plane Stops At Airport Here

Piloting a Curtiss-Wright "pusher" type ship, Ross Butterfield, proprietor of a flying school at Long Beach, Calif., stopped at Big Spring airport Tuesday morning for fuel and an engine check-up.

He is enroute from Oklahoma City to Long Beach. He left Oklahoma City Monday morning and spent the night in Sweetwater.

The "pusher" plane is an odd-looking craft. The engine and propeller are just behind the broad wing of the monoplane. It is capable of about 80 miles per hour air speed under favorable conditions and consumes about four gallons of gasoline per hour.

A dozen large army bomber ships flew over Big Spring Tuesday morning, landing at the army weather and servicing station at the Midland airport.

Government Deficit Is Over Two Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) - With only 37 days of the 1932 fiscal year left the government's deficit June 3 was $2,707,732,673.

Receipts were approximately $9,000,000 less and expenditures $700,000,000 more than for the previous year.

History Of Big Spring

Section No. Two Of Paper Read Before West Texas Historical Society

By JOHN R. HUTTO

The history of Big Spring is inseparably linked with that of the Texas and Pacific railroad. The city has been a division point on the road from the beginning, and some of her most substantial citizens have been railroad men.

The first train, a construction crew, came into Big Spring, March 16, 1881. It was some time later before freight and passenger services were offered to the public. The first rails laid were 56 lb. Camber iron with a three-eighths inch steel chilled cap. These steel strips often separated from the iron base and gave much trouble. Forty-ton engines were used.

There are but few men in Big Spring today who witnessed the important event of the coming of the first train, among them L. F. McKay, who was born on Prince Edward Island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, came to Big Spring on Jan. 3, 1881. He was connected with the water service department of the Texas and Pacific railway and constructed the first water works at the Big Spring to furnish water for the T&P engines. The townsmen were allowed to use the same water supply. Mr. McKay later became a locomotive engineer and served in that capacity for more than forty years when he was retired.

I. D. Eddins came in with the construction crews. He was foreman of a floating gang whose business was to repair cars. He, too, was honorably retired after his allotted years of service.

B. F. Willis spent 41 years in the service of the road, twenty-two of which were spent in the local office as freight and ticket agent and telegraph operator.

C. D. Read was one of the first ticket agents. He is now engaged in ranching, owns a 32 section ranch near Coahoma.

H. Clay Read came to Big Spring in 1893. He served as time keeper at the round house. Mr. Read has been retired from the railway service and is now engaged in real estate, farming and ranching. He raised the first alfalfa grown in West Texas.

Mr. Read furnishes the following complete list of master mechanics of the Texas and Pacific round house of this city covering the years of 1881-1922: George Miller, Dan White, George Emerson, Patrick Riley, Thomas Fielding, William Foley, A. H. Watts, L. B. Saulberry, J. C. Lape, G. W. Deets, A. M. Oakes, A. J. Keller, Mr. Boss, Mr. Delaney, William Maxfield, A. S. Douglass, Joseph Patton and J. N. Blue.

First Merchants

The Texas and Pacific construction men were served by grocers established in Big Spring. The first was owned by Lawson and Smith. The first grocery store was established by Bill Howerton, and the first general-merchandise store was established by Bressle Brothers, later known as Bressle and Denmark.

Joe Fisher established a general mercantile business in 1882. Ike Grunsky was one of the early grocers. He later went into the sheep business and became wealthy. The cattleman being bitterly opposed to the introduction of the sheep business on their ranges, Mr. Grunsky had considerable difficulty finding pasturage for his flocks. At times he had personal difficulty.

KEEP YOUR HUSBAND'S LOVE

The pain that women suffer every month is bad enough. But the trouble it causes at home is worse. Men soon tire of irritable wives. What is a woman to do? Generation after generation has found the answer in this Vegetable Compound. As Mrs. June says, "There is nothing better for that tired feeling we all know so well. It helped my nervousness and built me up."

Try Lydia E. Pinkham's VEGETABLE COMPOUND

with the cattlemen, but he considered himself over the fact that while he was fighting the cattlemen his sheep was eating his grass.

The first beef market in the town was operated by Joe Barnett. His business was in a well-kept tent. It was in this market that Ike Eddins held the first court in Big Springs. The case was a fight between Barnett and a railway brakeman.

The first hardware store in town was established by B. G. Kirk and Son.

The first saloon was opened by George Bauer and Cal Williams. During those days saloons outnumbered all other places of business put together. Most of them were places of the most degraded vice, but some were run in a clean businesslike way. Among these was the Christal saloon run by J. M. Walker.

Mr. Walker was the second county and district clerk of Howard county. He had good breaks in the cattle business and engaged in the saloon business for a short time as the best means of making a livelihood. His place of business had no place for lounging and no drinkiness was allowed about the premises.

The first lumber house constructed in Big Spring still stands on Gregg street, house number 109. The first stone brick building was constructed on Main St. by that colorful character, The Earl of Aylesford, for a beef market. The Earl engaged in the ranching industry for a short time and built the Cosmopolitan Hotel on Third street.

The coming of the Earl to Big Spring seemed to have been one of those unsolved mysteries. Previous to his coming to America he had fitted out a hunting expedition for the Prince of Wales, later King Edward VII, to India. On his return from that expedition it is stated that domestic relations issued which resulted in his migration to the United States.

The Earl was lavish in the expenditure of his money and had many friends in Big Spring. He died here and his body was sent to England for burial.

The first child born in a tent for Big Spring whose birth was registered, was Earle A. Read, born December 19, 1887. He is in business with his father, H. Clay Read.

The first regular postmaster of the town was John Snoddy.

The first reading places in town were tents. Later ready-to-put-up houses were brought in. The four walls were separate and were made to fasten together at the corners.

The first drug store was established by Dr. D. W. McIntyre. This store was later bought by B. Reagan and is now one of the chain of Cunningham and Phillips stores. The second drug store was the Clark Drug Co. It was later sold to Burt Turner and is now the Fox Drug Co. The third drug store was opened by Mitchell and Clark and is now owned by J. D. Biles.

The First Doctors Railroad construction crews had their physicians who came and went as the work progressed. The first regular local physician who practiced his profession in Big Spring was Dr. John Anglin. Dr. Anglin had an ugly scar on his lip where he had been shot by an Indian arrow during a battle with the Indians before he came west. Dr. D. W. McIntyre, a Scotch-Canadian who was educated in New York and Chicago, was one of the earliest physicians. He was the father of Miss Gertrude Mc-Intyre who lives in the old home on Barry street.

Dr. J. W. Barnett came to Big Spring from Weatherford in the early 80's where he had practiced medicine with Dr. John R. McKinista. Dr. Barnett was physician and surgeon for the Texas and Pacific railway and was succeeded in that position by Dr. J. M. Prince. Dr. J. H. Hurt, a Kentuckian who had practiced medicine in his native state several years, came to Big Spring in 1887. For more than forty years he has been physician and surgeon for the Texas and Pacific Railway Co.

The field of practice of these doctors covered a scope of territory from Baird to Sierra Blanca east and west and several counties wide. Dr. W. C. Barnett, who came to Big Spring with his father, received his education in the public schools and has been practicing medicine here for most forty years.

Oldest Citizen

The coming of the railroad brought new business to the country. W. S. Veck of San Angelo sent an outfit to the Big Spring to graze their buffalo bones. G. B. Barrett, the husband of Mrs. M. E. Barrett of Big Spring, came to the spring with the Veck outfit on January 28, 1881. The Barretts came from the little town of Ben Ficklin which, before it was washed away, was the county seat of Tom Green county. The railroad had not yet been built into the town, and the only stores in the country were at the spring proper. Hillburn and Meeks ran a store at the spring and John Birdwell had a saloon which was operated by Joe Cascadan.

Mrs. Barrett is free in her commendations of Joe, says he was honest, honorable and did not drink. She relates an incident in which Joe gave out of red whiskey and came to her tent in great distress. He complained that the Irishmen would not buy his clear whiskey. He overcame the difficulty by bringing a good quantity of sugar real brown and mixing it with the whiskey. After adding several plugs of strong tobacco he had a combination which made his liquor readily salable. Mrs. Barrett lived in a tent for three years. When Big Spring was yet a village of tents she moved into town. After residing in a tent for a short time a house was built on Fourth and Bell streets where she still resides.

The coming of the Fisher Brothers, Joe first in 1882, and Will two years later, brought to Big Spring, in the words of Mrs. Barrett, "two honest and good merchants." Except for a short stay when their sons were in school, they have stayed by the country through droughts and panics and their sons are among the leading merchants in this part of the state.

Their first location was on what was in those days called "Front Street," now South First. The Fishers came before the days of banks and telephones; when water was bought by the barrel hauled from the Big Spring or from wells, in the days of the kerosene lamp, when there were no wire fences, saws those built around the residences to keep out the cattle.

Mr. Will Fisher (Joe has been dead several years) states that the country was full of cattle, but there were no butter and milk to be had in the country. Poultry products were shipped in, mainly from Weatherford. Ice could be obtained only when the saloons shipped in a car load of beer, and then for only a few days. Goods were sold to railroad men on thirty days time. Cattlemen bought on six and twelve month's time.

Those were the days in which man trusted his fellow man. Mr. Fisher relates an instance which took place during the great drift of 1886 in which an outfit from Amarillo came into his store and bought a full supply for their trip down on the Pecos where they were gathering cattle. On their return they duplicated the order which each time ran around $400. This included a considerable amount of cash which was advanced for emergencies. Checks were issued and received on a Fort Worth bank without question.

A cowpuncher who came into his store drunk and ordered six fancy ostrich feathers with which to decorate his sombrero. When he sobered up he had lost his decorations, but promptly drew out a twenty dollar gold piece and was returned $14.00 in change.

W. T. Roberts relates an instance in which he received by express a bag of gold which contained about $11,000. Mr. Fisher accompanied him to the express office to get the money which was in $20.00 gold pieces. Mr. Roberts put the money in his saddle pockets and returned to the ranch unarmed where the money was distributed among the neighbors that were interested in the sale.

Officers Elected By 1st Christian Missionary Soc. Mrs. J. R. Parks was elected president of the First Christian Missionary Society at the election of officers held Monday afternoon. Serving with her will be Mrs. W. C. Farris, vice president; Mrs. J. J. Green, secretary - treasurer and Mrs. W. M. Taylor, reporter. Mrs. Farris presided over the business session and Mrs. Green conducted the program on the subject, "Even as You and I."

The program was opened with a devotion by Mrs. H. C. Reagan and a talk by Mrs. J. D. Wallace, "Jesus' Teaching of Use of Money." Different members had charge of the hidden answers. Mrs. Ruth Barnes was a visitor. Due to the absence of many members on vacation trips, the attendance was smaller than usual.

Circles Formed By E. 4th St. Baptist Women Workers

The Adelle Lane Circle of the East Fourth Baptist W.M.S. met at the church Monday afternoon with a devotional by the leader, Mrs. Mel Thurman.

Mrs. Tom Jones was elected reporter during the business session. Those present were Mrs. Thurman, O. R. Phillips, W. B. Landers, Hart Phillips, Lula Murrah, John R. Hull, D. B. Alexander and Tom Jones.

The next meeting will be held at the church next Monday at 3 o'clock.

Blanche Simpson Circle The members of the Blanche Simpson Circle met at the home of Mrs. F. A. McCullough Monday afternoon.

Mrs. W. D. Thompson conducted the devotional on "First Peter." The members voted to take up a mission book for study and to donate to the society each month a pie which they would sell, or its amount in cash; also to send money to Miss Adele Lane, missionary from this church. The rest of the time was spent in quilting.

Those present were Mrs. Thompson, L. Q. Low, Les Knuck-

Are you handi-capped at the office?

To put in a full day's work, you need a full man's strength. A man, half-sick from constipation, has less chance to succeed in today's keen competition.

This insidious condition often causes headaches, loss of energy, sleeplessness. It takes the edge from your working hours.

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also has iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it becomes a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than using pills and drugs — so often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Do you inhale?

"We're not asking you —we're telling you!"

7 out of 10 smokers inhale knowingly —the other 3 inhale unknowingly!

DO you inhale? Lucky Strike can meet the issue fairly and squarely. For it has solved the problem. Luckies' famous purifying process removes certain impurities that are concealed in even the choicest, mildest tobacco leaves. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Of course you do. Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

And since you do inhale, make sure—make absolutely sure—your cigarette smoke is pure—is clean—that certain impurities have been removed, protect those delicate membranes!

"It's toasted"

Your Protection—against irritation—against cough

L. E. AMERICA TURNS ON LUCKY STRIKE—60 modern minutes with the world's best daily tobacco, and Lucky Strike was inhaled, every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evening 1932 N.C.C. members.
