Hauptmann Denies Lindbergh Kidnaping Forty - Six Are Missing After Liner Rammed

German Gives Alibi For Day Of Abduction

Says He Was Never In Hopewell, Did Not Know Box Contained Money

FLEMINGTON, N. J. (AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann Friday denied connection with the kidnaping and murder of Baby Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

He declared the dead Isador Fisch gave him a box, the $14,600 Lindbergh ransom money discovered in his garage in December, 1933, and not discovered by him to be money until August, 1934.

Testifying in the trial for his life, Hauptmann categorically denied each and every detail of the crime. He denied building the ladder, that he stole the Lindbergh baby, wrote any of the ransom notes or collected any ransom.

"Was you ever in Hopewell on your life?" Edward J. Reilly, chief defense attorney asked.

"I was not."

"On the night of March 1st, 1932 were you on the grounds of Colonel Lindbergh's estate in Hopewell?"

"I was not."

"On the night of March 1st, 1932, did you enter the nursery of Colonel Lindbergh?"

"I did not."

Hauptmann said on March 1st, 1932, day of the kidnaping, he awoke at 8 a. m., "took my wife to the bakery," went home, then to the Majestic apartments intending to work.

He said the superintendent told him there was no job that day.

He went to employment agencies and to Radio City in a futile effort to get a job.

He returned home around 5 p. m. Hauptmann said he called for his wife at the bakery, her place of employment, at 7 p. m.

PEIPING—New Japanese air bombing raids into the Chahar province, killing 44 Chinese was reported Friday by Chinese sources, indicating apparently a renewal of Japanese attack.

Hiese military authorities stated Japanese fliers dropped three bombs into Tungchetsu and eight into Tuhiskow. The dead included five civilians. The others were militiamen and police.

Kenamer Case Is Transferred

TULSA, Okla., (AP)—In a ruling based on the evidence given by more than two score witnesses, District Judge Thurman Hurst Thursday night ordered the trial of the Phil Kenamer murder case transferred from Tulsa to Pawnee county.

He will set the date for the trial Friday, but counsel for the State and for Kenamer indicated it will begin Feb. 18.

The ruling came after a day-long hearing, made monotonous at times by the repetition of questions and answers.

In obtaining the venue change the defense won its first open clash with the State attorneys.

However, in a brief outburst of legal fireworks, the Kenamer attorneys failed to bring into the open the allegations of attempted bribery of a state investigator.

Judge Hurst refused to permit Police Commissioner O. W. Hoop and Detective Sergeant H. B. Maddux to produce documents relating to the alleged bribe or to answer questions of counsel.

In contrast to the lengthy case made by A. Flint Moss, chief defense attorney and his associates, P. E. Stuart and C. A. Conkley, the State took only an hour to question a half dozen witnesses and rest.

There was less than a half hour of argument by attorneys. Stuart pleaded that Kenamer, confessed slaying of John Gorrell, 29-year-old student dentist, not be placed under the "hazard of finding a jury in a county where the feeling has been so intense and where dozens of reputable citizens have declared they believe it impossible to obtain a fair and impartial trial."

County Attorney Holly Anderson responded briefly for the State, asserting "there's no inflammatory opinion in Tulsa County such as would preclude a fair trial."

Moss closed with an impassioned plea, citing the opinion of the Criminal Court of Appeals in the Earl Quinn murder case that was transferred from Kay to Garfield counties in Oklahoma after the murder of the Griffith sisters near Tonkawa.

AUSTIN, (AP)—Governor Allred's chief recovery measure, establishment of a state board to plan Texas recovery in cooperation with the federal government, passed the House Friday 117 to 15.

It was dispatched to the senate.

Administration Work Measures Passed By House

County Report Shows Healthy Cash Balance

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The administration's $4,880,000,000 job-for-all was passed by the House late Thursday after the powerful minority had defeated every attempt to restrict President Roosevelt's authority under the measure.

The bill carries the largest lump sum appropriation in the world's history.

Passage of the bill in virtually the same form as drafted by the administration was assured 48 hours ago when party leaders yielded to demands of rebellious Democrats and opened minor sections to amendments.

Mergers Authorized

As finally approved the measure authorizes:

1. President Roosevelt to spend $4,000,000,000 as he sees fit to provide jobs for 3,500,000 employables now on relief rolls.

2. Expenditure of $880,000,000 of unexpended funds for direct relief until the new work program is in full swing.

3. Consolidation, abolishment or transfer of functions and duties of an emergency agency.

4. Acquisition by purchase or by power of eminent domain any real property to effectuate the new project.

5. Mr. Roosevelt to prescribe rules and regulations necessary to carry out the new act.

6. Fines for willful violations not to exceed $5000.

Poultry Culling Demonstration To Be Given At Vincent

A poultry culling demonstration was held Monday morning from the J. H. Appleton farm 2 miles west of Vincent, County Agent O. P. Griffin said Friday.

Monday afternoon will be spent in running contour lines on farms in that vicinity.

It is probable that next week will be given over to running of contour and terrace lines.

Application For Paving Project Is Sent To State Relief Administration

C. E. Talbot, and County Administrator Homer McNew, was forwarded to Austin several days ago for consideration.

If the project is approved in Austin, and work gets underway here it will be the means of Big Spring securing better streets at a local cost to its citizens, Mr. Spence said. "I do not want the people to think however, that they are going to get a lot of paved streets as a result of this project. We are going to do the best we can in improving local thoroughfares in bad need of repair at the present time. The plan calls for crushing approximately 6000 cubic yards of three different size rock. This work is to begin immediately as soon as the project is approved in Austin. The project will go a long way in utilizing local relief labor, and will aid in giving employment to the unemployed."

The following letter addressed to the city commission and which was read at last Tuesday night's session, is reproduced herewith in order to acquaint the people with the project:

City of Big Spring, January 22, 1935. Hon. Mayor and City Commission, City of Big Spring, Big Spring, Texas. Gentlemen:

On August 15, 1934 I submitted by letter a recommendation to the effect that the City purchase equipment for future use in connection with a plan to improve streets, by water proofing same at such time as the finances of the City would permit, and at the same time help the unemployed and relief situation.

The following equipment has been purchased: Rock Crusher, Asphalt Distributor and truck, Air Compressor and Road Broom. There remains to be purchased a five ton roller to complete the required equipment necessary for the project.

NEW YORK (AP)—A coast guard patrol boat radioed the coast guard station here it picked up nine bodies about 10 miles south of the Mohawk wreck.

NEW YORK (AP)—The freighter Tallman, which rammed the liner Mohawk off Seagirt Thursday night, reached port without signs of survivors. On that basis, one of the last hopes for safety of forty-six persons missing were dashed.

SEAGIRT, New Jersey (AP)—Two seamen are known to have perished and forty-four persons were unaccounted for Friday after a collision at 9:30 p. m. Thursday between the chartered Ward Liner Mohawk and the freighter Tallman off the Jersey coast.

The Mohawk, making its first southern trip for the Ward Line, sank rapidly. A vanguard of 117 survivors, many in a serious condition, were taken to New York by the coast guard cutter Champlain.

Coast guardsmen reported one of the Mohawk's lifeboats was missing. Whether it held fourteen passengers or thirty members of crew unaccounted for, was undetermined.

Robert Barnett, Houston, Texas, ordinary seaman, on the Mohawk bridge at time of the accident, said automatic steering gear went "haywire."

The collision occurred before a hand steering wheel could be connected.

Cause of the collision was mysterious as the freighter, a slower ship, sailed an hour after the Mohawk.

The liner Algonquin reached New York Friday with thirty-seven passengers, fifty-seven members of the crew, rescued from lifeboats.

Captain J. E. Wood, master of the Mohawk, among the missing.

Committeemen Cotton Parity To Be Chosen Checks Being Distributed

Number Narrowed Down To Three For Each Of Two Districts In County

Three committeemen and three alternates for each of the western and eastern districts of the county will be chosen here Saturday by cotton producers of Howard county.

The western district, which embraces the Lomax, Hartwells, Moore, Fairview, Highway, Blisco, Knott, South and Vealmoor school districts, will convene at 11:30 a. m. to name its three committeemen and alternates.

The eastern district will meet at 1:30 p. m. for the same purpose. It comprises the Chalk, Coahoma, Midway, Center Point, R-Bar, Morgan, Highland, Green Valley, Morgan, Gay Hill, and Vincent school districts.

It is likely that the two districts will choose three men from the six community committeemen now representing that area and will use the remaining three as alternates. This, however, is not certain.

At 3 p. m. the newly elected community committeemen will convene to approve or elect the new county committee.

A recent ruling of the AAA holds that community committeemen may be elected only three in number from 500 producer units.

Community Chorus Not To Meet This Evening

Due to illness of C. A. Bulot, director, the community chorus will not meet tonight, but will meet at Hotel Settles Monday evening at 7:30.

Mrs. Scharbauer Succumbs Friday In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, (AP)—Mrs. John Scharbauer, 79, wife of Midland county rancher, banker, died here Friday.

Mrs. John Scharbauer, wife of a wealthy West Texas cattlemen, was practically unknown in Midland except through her husband. She spent most of her time in Fort Worth and rarely ever accompanied him to Midland on his trips.

Scharbauer came to Midland in 1884 and acquired vast holdings. Together with his nephew, Clarence Scharbauer, he built up a cattle empire that grew to be the largest in this part of the state and New Mexico. He owned huge ranches in more than 12 counties at one time, though recently he has disposed of many tracts.

He owns land in the Penwell pool and reaped a fortune from oil. Scharbauer is vice-president of the Midland First National bank.

Mrs. Scharbauer will be buried in Fort Worth, it is thought.

News Behind The News THE NATIONAL Whirligig

Written by a group of the best informed newspapermen of Washington and New York. Opinions expressed are those of the writers and should not be interpreted as reflecting the editorial policy of this newspaper.

WASHINGTON Power

Congress has now been back in session long enough to indicate clearly that President Roosevelt is going to continue that old adage you can't eat your cake and have it too.

A legislative strategy has been evolved whereby it is practically certain the administration will get just about everything it wants—and get it according to prescribed formula.

The house will be played against the senate on all major items in the presidential program. On the bonus issue the senate will be played against the house. If things work out as the leaders expect, FDR will come through with flying colors as the wielder of greater power than any other president ever dreamed of possessing.

Pat

The manner in which the four-billion dollar work relief bill is being handled points the way.

Jammed through the house under strictest gag rule, and so worded that Mr. Roosevelt is given unparalleled powers, the measure will stir up plenty of debate in the senate. It won't be so easy to get the upper body to give him unbridled authority to spend 4 billions, exercise the power of eminent domain and reorganize or abolish all government agencies at will.

But even should the senate tuck on amendments designed to keep a few things in legislative hands, inside word is that the house will stand pat in conference. Thus, eventually the senate will have to capitulate or take the blame for killing the legislation. The house will be gagged like a kidnap victim and well under the control of its leaders.

Bonus

House Democrats who ordinarily would be shouting to high heaven against the steam-roller tactics aren't saying a word. The answer is they have been promised a vote on the bonus. Exact date of this vote clearly is put off as emergency "guilt" legislation comes down from the White House but eventually it will be had.

ILLINOIS WOMAN OWNS

JEFF DAVIS' WATCH CHARM

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., (UP)—A watch charm, said to have been worn by Jefferson Davis when he fled from the Confederate capital in 1865, is the coveted heirloom of Mrs. D. S. Condit, here.

Kept in a safety deposit vault, the jewel is a rare memento piece in itself and is a unique memento of the Civil War. It was inherited by Mrs. Condit from her father, the late Dr. Henry Conkling of Bloomington, a Union surgeon during the war.

According to the history of the charm Dr. Conkling purchased it from a soldier who had taken it from the deceased Southern leader. Dr. Conkling saw the soldier fastening the stone to his horse's bridle and gave a gold coin for it. The charm is made of English gold, heavily chased with oak leaf, rose and acorn design, and set with a large topaz. Value of the piece has been estimated at $10,000.

PURPOSE OF THE PRESIDENT'S BIRTHDAY BALL
 The purpose of the Birthday Ball for the President is to create through the direct help of the citizens of our country, funds with which to help victims of Infantile Paralysis and support research efforts to wipe out the disease itself. This year no part of the funds raised will go to the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation. This is in accord with President Roosevelt's own suggestion, in approving a recommendation of the Trustees of the Foundation.

JACK GRAY SETS MARK FOR ASPIRING YOUNGSTERS

Texas Looper Tosses 'Em Thru

REMEMBER, THE PUBLIC DEBT IS YOUR DEBT

You owe $35. You don't? Oh, yes, you do! That's your share of the $48,000,000,000 debt of the federal, state, and local governments of the country.

Treasury figures reducing these debts to terms of the individual citizen are fortunate, because they bring home a thing that people are apt to forget about public debts. Really, there isn't any such thing as a public debt. A public debt is simply a collective debt of all of us, and as long as it exists, no man is debt-free.

AUKER AND COCHRANE TEE UP

club, is one of Coach Karow's favorite expressions.

Has A Keen Eye
 Far from being an uncommonly tall man or one of great speed, Gray has developed such a mastery of offense and such a keen eye that at no time during his college career has he been completely "shadowed" by even the best guards who have been assigned the sole task of checking the sharpshooter's scoring streak. He has been held to six or seven points by a few of the Southwest's best defensive men, but only once or twice each season. Many of the coaches in the conference have concentrated on stopping the Texas "push-shot" artist, believing that victory would come to them by that route. For the greater part, their efforts have gone unrewarded. In the past few cases that Gray has been kept under cover, Texas has won as a result of just the type of offense advocated by Coach Karow.

In spite of the close guarding he has always had to contend with, Gray has maintained his record by making good on exceptionally high percentage of his shots. He does not shoot from long distances. On the contrary, he specializes in a one-handed "push-shot" and uses it with deadly precision from any angle inside the goal zone. Two-handed shots are rare. Whenever he receives a pass within shooting distance he pivots, stretches himself upward and goalward gracefully, and arches the one-handed shot over his head. His accuracy with either hand and from any angle is uncanny, and it is a most difficult shot to defend against.

The backboard plays only a minor role in his battle for shots; flat shots, aimed directly at the hoop are his specialty. Only when he shoots a running "crip" shot does he bank the ball into the basket. "It's a most unorthodox shot," comments Coach Karow, "but he has perfected it to such a degree that it would be foolish to attempt to change his style."

Gray is aided in the execution of this peculiar type of shot by his height and superb floor work. He stands 6 feet 2 inches, and weighs 185. Big hands and powerful wrists permit him accurate handling of the ball. Pivoting, faking, and fast breaking come natural; long hours of practice and many years of experience have developed all of these qualities to the highest degree.

Besides being one of the high scorers and outstanding offensive men ever produced in Southwest-ern basket ball, Gray is a defensive performer of exceptional ability. He has unbowed stamina—a prime requisite in America's most strenuous indoor sport. He delights in taking the ball off the board after the opposition has missed a shot, dribbling slowly to about the middle of the court, and then passing backward to one of his guards. While the two guards pass the ball around, he trots slowly to his corner, gives the signal, and starts the offense breaking.

The smooth manner in which he directs the work of the team on the floor has drawn the comment of many of the Southwest's leading coaches and basket ball authorities. Ed Oile, business manager of athletics at Texas and basket ball coach during the first two years of Gray's career, says: "Jack is the best all-around basket ball man I have ever seen, and I am convinced he is of All-American caliber. It was as a member of Coach Oile's Southwest conference championship team in 1933 that Gray set several of his records. Coach Karow, who has been con-don't ever want to be shifted back to center."

The hardest game of his career, he recalls, was against Texas Christian university in 1933. Meyers, a rangy guard who held him to seven points, gets Gray's vote as one of the toughest men to get away from in all his years in the game. The best game of his career, he thinks, was the 1933 game against Texas A & M when he scored 32 points for his most enviable record.

A perusal of Jack's all-time record as a member of the Varsity reveals that he has maintained about the same high average against all competition—small colleges, independent teams, and southwest conference teams.

Local Teams Enter Meet

Diltz To Clash With Eldorado, Oilers To Play Angelus

The Couden Oilers and Diltz Bakers are among twenty teams entered in the Christoval invitation basketball tournament which starts Saturday morning.

Both clubs have bolstered their line-ups and expect to make a strong bid for the championship. One of the biggest turnout of fans in West Texas is expected for the tournament, since most of the independent teams which are entered are capable of playing a good brand of basketball.

Christoval, host to the tournament, drew one of the toughest clubs in the lineup when officials matched McCamey, composed of former college and high school stars, against the Bats.

Ellis Parts, San Angelo, and Fort Clark, of Bracketville, start the tournament at nine o'clock Saturday morning. The second game will find Zocahs No. 2 pitted against the Talpa team, while Coleman Army meets Banner of San Angelo in the third game. Christoval and McCamey meet in the fourth game with the rest of the first round being played in this manner: Eldorado vs. Diltz Bakers of Big Spring; Weeks Drug of San Angelo vs. Water Valley; Cottonwood vs. Firestone of San Angelo; Veribest vs. Zocah No. 1; Norton vs. Sea Scouts of San Angelo; and Couden Oilers of Big Spring vs. Angelus Pharmacy.

Winners of game number one will play the winner of game number two and the tournament will proceed in like manner, with the exception of the winners of the Couden-Angelus Pharmacy game and the winner of the Norton-Sea Scout game in the lower bracket and the winner of the Ellis Parts-Ft. Clark game with the winners of the Talpa-Zocahs No. 2 game. These four winners meet in the second round so as to eliminate two teams to form the bracket for the quarter-finals.

Edgar Hennig Is Reelected

Mustang Spring Football Grind To Start Monday

SWEETWATER—Coach Ed Hennig, head football mentor at Newman high school for the last five seasons, and director of physical education, has been reelected for the ensuing two years.

Despite the fact only four lettermen are returning for play next fall, from a 1934 eleven which suffered its most disastrous season in years, a flock of Junior high school players are graduating into higher company and are expected to fill a lot of gaps.

Too, players who saw experience on the Mustangs squad last season, but not enough to letter, are also returning.

The 1935 team, therefore, appears weak on paper, though followers of the team predict a much better aggregation than was gathered together last year.

Spring training is to start at the high school Monday when Coach Hennig will get a line on what he will have for the coming season.

Schedule arrangements are being worked out now, with indications that there will be a radical departure from the past years. It is probable that between 15 and 20 games will be matched, it has been indicated. No player is permitted under interscholastic League rules, to take part in more than 10 games.

A large squad, however, will permit more boys to play in the various games and still keep any one youth from playing in more than 10 games.

Games with Abilene, Lubbock, Cisco and Ranger are tentatively booked as part of the "big time" schedule. Only Big Spring and San Angelo are to be played within the conference, and they are to be the last two games of the year.

Other games probably will be scheduled with Roscoe, Hamlin, Rhotan, Roby, Anson, Simsford, Snyder, and other class B eleven, while other class A teams may yet be matched.

Advertisements are a guide to value

EXPERTS can roughly estimate the value of a product by looking at it. More accurately, by handling and examining it. Its appearance, its texture, the "feel" and the balance of it all mean something to their trained eyes and fingers.

But no one person can be an expert on steel, brass, wood, leather, foodstuffs, fabrics, and all of the materials that make up a list of personal purchases. And even experts are fooled, sometimes, by concealed flaws and imperfections.

There is a surer index value than the senses of sight and touch . . . knowledge of the maker's name and for what it stands. Here is the most certain method, except that of actual use, for judging the value of any manufactured goods. Here is the only guarantee against careless workmanship, or the use of shoddy materials.

This is one important reason why it pays to read advertisements and to buy advertised goods. The product that is advertised is worthy of your confidence.

WILMER ALLISON HAS NAME IN HEADLINES

By The Associated Press
It must be particularly gratifying to Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Texas, to see his name heading the list of tennis players in the national ranking for 1934.

In the most hectic year of his tennis career, spotted with defeats and triumphs, he rose to new heights. Out of the disappointment following his hurried and futile trip abroad to join the Davis Cup team, was born a new urge to prove his worth. The second place he occupied in the rankings for the past two years would not do; he set his goal at the top.

Starting the year poorly, the Texans suffered two successive defeats at the hands of Lester Stoecken in the Bermuda and River Oaks (Houston, Texas) singles. Frank Shields defeated him for the North and South title.

Allison came back to win the Mason-Dixon doubles with George Lott as his partner and put Shields out of the running for the Virginia State title in the semi-final round.

Early in May he suffered a badly sprained ankle at the Chevy Chase club and was forced to abandon tennis for a month.

Returning to form again he defeated Gilbert Hall in the New England title matches; John Van Ryn to win the Middle Atlantic States singles; and Berkeley Bell for the Delaware championship.

Confident that he was in condition for the international matches, he hurried by request to Wimbledon to join the other members of the United States Davis Cup team preparing to meet Australia.

Allison was keenly disappointed when R. Norris (Dick) Williams, captain of the Davis Cup team, named George Lott and Lester Stoecken for the doubles. Without even waiting to help in the practice matches, he packed his bags and returned home.

He did not publicly criticize Williams' choice for the doubles—and wisely so in view of the fact that the combination defeated both the Australian and English teams in the Davis Cup matches—but it was natural that he should seek to revenge. He felt he had been slighted and a little satisfaction in the form of a victory over the men chosen would at least make him feel better.

Without time to practice or even rid himself of the sea legs, as hastened from the boat to enter the tournament at Seabright, N. J. He reached the semi-final round before he was eliminated by Berkeley Bell.

He avenged that Seabright defeat by turning the tables on Bell and taking the historic Longwood Bowl. He triumphed over Frankie Parker in winning the Newport Casino tennis title.

Teaming up with John Van Ryn, he had the satisfaction of beating the Davis Cup doubles team, fresh from their international triumphs, in the Newport Casino doubles.

Allison again paired with Van Ryn in the national championships at Forest Hills and defeated Lott and Stoecken in the final round to take away their title.

As an extra measure of revenge, Allison had the pleasure of eliminating Stoecken in the quarter-finals of the national singles championship matches.

In the finals of the national singles he went down to defeat before Fred Perry, of England, in a stirring struggle.

Two spots in the 1934 ranking list also hold more than a little of Allison's interest. Those are No. 3 and No. 6, occupied by Lester Stoecken and George Lott, respectively.

U. S. Civil Service Commission Issues Warning Against Misleading Information

WASHINGTON — The United States Civil Service Commission says that numerous letters received at its office from different parts of the country indicate that misleading information is being given to the public by agents of some of the correspondence schools which give instruction in preparation for civil-service examinations.

To guard against the loss of money paid for tuition of this kind the Civil Service Commission informs the public as follows:

No one can promise appointment to positions for which the United States Civil Service Commission holds examinations. The claim that such assurance can be given brands the person making it as a fraud.

Information regarding examinations for the United States Civil Service may be obtained from the boards of United States Civil Service Examiners. There is such a board in each community which has a post office of the first or the second class. In nearly all cities the civil service board is located at the post office.

Before paying money for tuition, or signing a contract, it is advisable to make inquiry concerning the prospect of examinations. There is reason to believe that agents of some schools deceive the public as to the probability of early examinations.

No school has advance information regarding the need for employees or the probability of examinations.

LEES BAPTIST CHURCH
I wish to say a word about our church at Lees, out in the oil field. We started our work at Lees the latter part of July, 1934, with a revival meeting, which resulted in organization of the church. Since that time we have built a new church building, and have now completed organization of the Sunday school. About October 1, 1934, we met all the requirements for a standard school and sent in our application to be recognized as a standard Sunday school. We have 70 members altogether added to our church. The Lord has led us in a great work. We are doing our best to carry out his commission in making our church a soul-winning station.

We invite all to come and be with us in all our services. We have Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, and preaching at 11 o'clock. We want to thank every one who has or is now helping us to carry out our work. We appreciate you and your services, and we want to thank all who donated anything to help us to build the church. Your love and your gift and your friendship shall never be forgotten, and may God bless you all is our prayer.

When in need call the pastor. May I share your sorrows as well as your joys and I want to be your friend and pastor.

KEEP ON

TOP O' THE WORLD

When you're feeling well, you're usually happy. Life is at its best. But when you're sick and blue, days lose their zest. You lack enthusiasm.

Common constipation, due to insufficient "bulk" in meals, is an enemy of happy living. It frequently causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy. Correct it by eating a delicious cereal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a natural food for normal persons. It furnishes generous "bulk" to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN also provides vitamin B and iron.

Isn't this gentle food safer than rickety patent medicines? Unlike cathartics, it remains effective with continued use. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. Sold by all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Keep on the Sunny Side of Life

SON-IN-LAW WINS WINGS TO GET IN LINE WITH REST OF MUSSOLINI'S MEN FOLK

ROME, (UP)—To be up to date in the Mussolini family it is necessary to earn your wings, and Count Galeazzo Ciano, the duke's son-in-law, has just filled that requirement.

The 31-year-old undersecretary for the press and propaganda passed his tests after only a short period of training. His instructors said he showed exceptional ability.

It's Flying Family
He now is a licensed pilot, as are Mussolini, the duke's 17-year-old son Vittorio and his 22-year-old nephew Vito Mussolini. Another son of the premier, Bruno, is studying for a license.

The premier learned to pilot a plane before the 1922 march on Rome. He was painfully injured once, when his machine crashed in North Italy.

Lately he has been getting in a great deal of practice. On several occasions he has flown his chief lieutenants to points outside of Rome where their presence was required.

Duce Undaunted By Fog
Recently he was prevented by fog from landing his big tri-motored plane at Florence but undaunted, flew on to Pisa. From there his party drove to their destination by automobile.

Count Ciano has been successively secretary to the Italian embassy to the Holy See, secretary of embassy at Buenos Aires and Rio Janeiro, consul general at Shanghai, a delegate to the London economic conference, chief of the official press bureau and undersecretary.

He married Mussolini's daughter Edda in 1929. They have two children.

The duke witnessed his son Vittorio's final tests at Centocelle airport, just outside Rome, last May and personally pinned a pilot's badge on the boy's jacket.

Vito Mussolini, son of the premier's brother Arnaldo, won his pilot's license in June. He is director of Mussolini's Milan newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia.

Bear Enemy No. 1
SYLVA, N. C. (UP)—"Honest John," 700-pound black bear and last of the "stock-killers" in the Southern Appalachians, has gone on another rampage. During his reign in the Caney Fork Babine Mountains, "Honest John" has killed hundreds of hogs, mountaineers say. He is 50 or 60 years old, perhaps older. His killings this season have caused mountaineers to list him as "Public Enemy No. 1."

A Family Habit

Count Galeazzo Ciano, son-in-law of Mussolini, smiles because he's passed his tests for a pilot's license. He, Duce, his son and nephew also are qualified fliers.

Want Thieves To Identify Gas Tank

MIDLAND—Former District Attorney R. W. (Bob) Hamilton wants somebody to identify a five-gallon gas can and a rubber tube that were left close to his car Thursday night when he suddenly went out of the house to surprise the would-be "alphoners."

The fact of the business is that Bob didn't have any idea that somebody was about to relieve him of the gasoline. He just had a wild notion to go to town and that's what scared the prowlers away.

Anyhow, Bob is generous enough to return the can and hose if they are properly identified.

AMERICAN STUDENT LIFE
AMAZED ENGLISH VISITORS
KENT, Conn. (UP)—English schoolboy visitors at Kent School expressed surprise their American brothers were so democratic, un-restrained and hospitable.

"Why, they don't even mind wearing a black tie with a white waistcoat," observed J. C. Philpot, captain of the crew at Radley College, near Oxford, in commenting on American college evening dress.

The visitors found a closer bond between students and faculty members, American school sports faster and more fascinating and the students "amazingly cordial."

Tries Nail Suicide

NANAIMO, B. C. (UP)—An unnamed elderly Nanaimo man was saved from an unusual suicide by police intervention. The man revealed. Constable Chris Johnson found the man seated before a mirror, attempting to drive a nail into his skull. He wounded himself seriously in the temple, but will recover.

Fox Breeding Increases

OTTAWA, Ont. (UP)—More than 5,000 new farms for breeding of fur-bearing animals, particularly foxes, have been established in Canada during the last three years, the Department of Agriculture reports. The number of fur farms operating now total 6,000. Animals growing on them are valued at nearly $7,000,000.

Six Brides Wore Same Dress

FORREST CITY, Ark. (UP)—Six brides have worn an embroidered dress owned by Mrs. H. E. Wenger, of Forrest City. The dress was made by Mrs. James Proctor in 1858 for her wedding in 1860 at Hope county, Mo. Two sisters and an aunt of Mrs. Wenger were married in the dress.

Chapter 47
GOOD NEWS

"Something they wanted to keep out of the newspapers?" I interrupted. "That strikes me as singularly considerate of them, but a little belated."

"You mean?" said Mr. Cresswell. "I mean that when I was in the middle of my particularly disgusting mess, nobody, least of all the government, was worried about what got into the news."

"I know how you feel," said Jerry. "Nevertheless, you'll agree that the less re-hauling that's done, the better for everybody. Anyway, they do want to keep this quiet."

"In order to do that it was necessary to obtain our agreement and since you, as the principal party concerned, were laid up with a cracked shoulder, Mr. Cresswell and I had been invited to represent the three of us."

"Why didn't they ask me?" demanded Molly.

"It was a little awkward," explained Mr. Cresswell soothingly. "Since you are a naturalized American citizen the position was a distinctly delicate one. It was felt that you would have to be approached in a more indirect form."

Molly laughed. "That makes me feel rightfully important. Go ahead, Jerry, I won't interrupt again."

"It seems," continued Jerry fully, "that without exactly meaning to, we've rendered a vastly important service to our King and country. As soon as Mr. Cresswell fired in that statement of ours to the police, the first thing they did was to raid Orloff's flat and office."

"I don't know precisely what they found—Beckenham didn't tell us that—but, anyhow, it was quite enough to prove that for the last two years he'd been getting hold of all sorts of valuable information and passing it on to his pals at Moscow."

"I can tell you they aren't half pleased at having him out of the way, especially if it can be fixed up without any fuss or scandal. What seems to have put the crown on the whole business is this blessed formula of Molly's. Beckenham says that if the Soviet leaders had once laid their hands on that there'd probably have been another European war."

"Have they any objection to our selling it to Avon?" I asked.

"Not under certain conditions. They're in touch with him, of course, I gather that the negotiations are getting along nicely."

"What about the rest of the gang—apart from Orloff?"

"There were only three others down at Hambridge; two of them

MOTHER OF $500,000 BABY GIRL

The newborn baby girl of Mrs. Virginia George Donnelly (above) widow of Paul E. Donnelly, wealthy Kansas City garment manufacturer, becomes heiress to one-half of an estate estimated at nearly $1,000,000, under terms of an agreement between Mrs. Donnelly and relatives of her late husband. The child was born in New York City. The remaining half of Donnelly's estate will be divided among his widow and eight of his relatives. Donnelly's first wife, victim of a kidnaping a few years ago, is the present wife of James A. Reed, former United States senator from Missouri. (Associated Press Photo.)

"Splendid," I said. "I shall have it cut out and framed. It will look very fine hanging up in the studio!" I bent over the paper again. "By the way, where is this precious announcement? I haven't seen it yet."

"Oh, it's there—on the front page. Just a short statement that the authorities are now satisfied that Gowland was the murderer and that no one else had anything to do with it."

"Yes, that's all very fine and nice," Molly looked up indignantly. "But..."

"Wait," Jerry said impressively. "The vital part of our message has yet to be delivered." He turned to me. "I have a letter for you here, Nick. Beckenham thought it would be a pretty and appropriate touch if I were to hand it to you myself."

He produced a large square official-looking envelope from his pocket and passed it across. "You can read it, too, Molly," he added. Tearing open the flap I drew out its contents, which consisted of a single sheet of typewritten paper, headed with the address of the Board of Works.

Dear Sir:

I am instructed to inform you that the designs submitted by you for the projected Hyde Park Memorial has been definitely selected by the Committee on the terms set out in their original statement. The Committee regret to learn that you are temporarily indisposed. They hope, however, to have the pleasure of meeting you personally and discussing further details as soon as you have sufficiently recovered to arrange an appointment.

Your obedient servant,
HENRY DAVIS,
Secretary.

Molly gave a little cry and looked up with sparkling eyes. "Isn't that too lovely. I wonder what all the chattering fools who thought you were guilty will have to say now?"

I stared at the letter a trifle doubtfully. "It's a big compliment," I admitted, "but I should feel just a shade more enthusiastic if I were quite sure that I'd won it on my merits. It looks rather like a cheap get-out on the part of the Home Secretary."

Jerry laughed. "You needn't worry about that, old man. Beckenham told me that as a matter of fact the Committee had decided to accept your design the very day before you were arrested. They couldn't give it to you then, of course, and the whole question had to be reconsidered. That's why they've been such a terribly long time in making the award. You've no call to be unpleas."

construction of the contemplated street improvement and the utilization of relief labor.

With a view of utilizing relief labor on the project which will be of a permanent nature and of benefit to the entire community, I have had prepared a Street Improvement Project to extend over a year's period and subject to extension without any change in organization, if funds are available. The State is to furnish the majority of labor through the local relief office, with the understanding that 10 per cent of the total labor cost will be followed by the State for truck hire and cost of material. The City will have to furnish the balance of the cost of material and truck hire.

This proposed project was tentatively approved by the relief authorities in Austin when I appeared before them on January 3, 1935, at which time I was told it was an exceptionally well planned project and would be approved when presented in proper form.

The plan calls for crushing approximately 6,000 cu. yds. of three different size rock. This work to begin immediately as soon as the project is approved and as Spring approaches the base on these streets to be improved will be prepared and as summer temperature rises it will permit the application of asphalt. The cost of the streets to be improved will be those approved by the City Council.

mission and where the adjacent property owner wishes to avail themselves of this improvement by paying part of the cost of the improvement.

There will be two types of street improvement, depending upon the amount of traffic. Both types of street paving will be 22' wide of which 20' will be constructed of inverted penetration asphalt and rock, with a 12" by 8" deep concrete curb, or protector, on each side to prevent raveling of the surface. Heavy traffic streets will call for a three course construction and light traffic streets will call for a two course construction. The three course construction meaning three separate courses of asphalt and rock, and the two course construction meaning only two separate courses of rock and asphalt.

The cost to the property owner of three course construction will be approximately sixty cents, per running foot of property, and the cost of the two course construction will be approximately fifty cents, per running foot.

If the property owner wishes to widen the pavement in front of his property, or driveway, in addition to the above mentioned twenty feet, same can be done at the prevailing cost per square yard of the other pavement in the center of the street.

If the State changes their policies effecting labor furnished and amount allowed for material, the City reserves the right to change the unit price per running foot of pavement, but it will not effect that portion already under construction.

The City's share of the cost of this project will be obtained from funds received from water revenues, and not from a tax on property. The project is so arranged as to operate under the "Pay As You Go" plan, and not to increase debt, but to put in circulation all available funds to help the unemployment situation in this community.

I have attempted, in a brief manner, to explain the proposed project, and while it will increase down to meet foreign competition would bring a crisis at home. The informed public, if this happening will face a major political reckoning. So the New Deal has the terrific job of fortifying the American position in such a way as to compel a rise in the world wage level instead.

The bonus will go through the house with a whoop—although administration leaders on the floor are going to try to compromise the issue when the time comes. Mr. Roosevelt is dead set against general cash payment now.

Those who have been sounding out sentiment in the senate on the bonus find no genuine enthusiasm about it. Senator Pat Harrison and others are understood to have advised their house colleagues to tone the bill down and if possible provide payment only for needy veterans.

Veto—Veteran observers are now predicting the senate will rewrite any bonus bill the house sends over—assuming it comes to a final vote. Then there will be a battle royal in conference and it is safe to assume the gag rule will be off in the house.

As a final weapon Mr. Roosevelt has the veto power and will not hesitate to use it. The Chief Executive, in fact, is opposed even to the proposal that interest on bonus loans to date be cancelled, which is one of the suggested compromises.

It isn't so certain now that two-thirds of the senate could be mustered to override a veto.

Scoped—

The saddest blow of all fell on a newspaper reporter recently arrived in Washington on the day Anna Roosevelt Dall and John Boettiger were married.

This newsmen had come to the capital and got a job because his sweetheart had come here earlier and was doing part-time work for the president's daughter. About a month ago they were married.

When the flash came in that the Boettigers had been married, the reporter called up his own bride and said: "Well, dear, your boss got married in New York today."

"Yes," she replied sweetly, "I was told last night they were going to be."

The startled words that poured back to her over the phone were of a voltage that had no honeymoon aspects as the news hound realized the scoop he had missed.

President—

Chairman Sumners of the house judiciary committee is trying to cure a defect in the presidential electoral system by a bill advancing the presidential election from November to October. Under the 20th amendment and laws adjusted thereto only 41 days elapse between election and the casting of the electoral vote, which Sumners says is too short a time in which to

Under the new system the only lame duck is a president not re-elected. It would serve from November 1st January 20, and would send up a message to the new congress which would go into the waste-basket. Under Sumners' plan a president not re-elected would be a lame duck from the October election until Jan. 20 following.

Fog—

Governor Louis J. Brann of Maine was in Washington the other day to bring up the matter of having Uncle Sam harness the tides of Passamaquoddy for a huge power project. Alas, he discovered that now the election returns of last November are safely in there isn't half the old interest around town about 'Quoddy.'

One official observed rather aptly to friends that it also might be a good idea "to harness the fog of Passamaquoddy."

Reporters for Maine newspapers nevertheless are kept busy "covering" Governor Brann's visits to Washington. They complain he hops a train and comes here at the drop of a hat.

Notes—

Huey Long's radical progress makes Democratic politicians wince if their party is to be split. U. S. supreme court is said to be "all pepped up" because of popular acclaim of its hot-oil decision. Plans for reshaping NRA are in abeyance pending court decision on codes. Railroad consolidations are brought nearer by the new bill scheduled to pass.

NEW YORK

By JAMES McMULLIN

Score—

The Iron & Steel Institute's broadside against the 30-hour week had a double objective. Apart from furthering the campaign against one of industry's pet bugaboos it was designed to stir up labor discontent on the ground that this "will-o'-the-wisp" remedy would leave the workers worse off in terms of real earnings.

Michael Tiche's prompt disclaimer of steel labor opposition to the Federation of Labor's goal fitted nicely into the institute's maneuver. The latter said: "Steel mill employes are reported generally against the measure." If the Amalgamated denies it doesn't imply that the union is minor element among the workers? There's no point the institute would rather score.

Target—

Expert opinion holds that the hour problem hinges on readjustment of world wages to an equitable level. Forcing U. S. wages down to meet foreign competition would bring a crisis at home. The informed public, if this happening will face a major political reckoning. So the New Deal has the terrific job of fortifying the American position in such a way as to compel a rise in the world wage level instead.

Insiders say the current excitement about the 30-hour week is a trifle premature. Labor started pushing for the eight-hour day back in the 1880's—but it didn't gain national recognition until 1915. This doesn't imply the 30-hour week is 30 years away—but it unquestionably has a long pull ahead.

Meanwhile it gives labor leaders a conspicuous target to shoot at and lots of publicity. That comes in handy when you need to convince restless followers that you're on the job.

Deadlock—

There's plenty brewing behind the scenes in the motor industry as the zero hour for code extension—February 1st—approaches. The Federation of Labor hasn't yet said so publicly, but it's preparing to cancel its agreement to deal with the Auto Labor board. The possibility of a strike to enforce majority rule lurks behind this move. The board's alleged favoritism for the industrial viewpoint has ruined its usefulness.

On the other side note Donald Richberg's significant statement that the industry should take steps to eliminate seasonal unemployment and Chrysler's announcement of a new production policy to that end. The industry is anxious to avoid the role of guinea pig for the "annual wage" experiment and Richberg's advice to step on the gas is taken seriously.

The auto makers are determined that their new code, if any, shall protect minority employe representation and confirm the merit clause. The Federation of Labor is equally determined to the contrary. Both sides are ready for a showdown. It looks as if a bitter deadlock will be tossed in FDR's lap.

Temporary—

The American Liberty League's "warning" to congress against permanent NRA legislation is another phase of industry's campaign to check labor. Clay Williams and most of his NRA board agree with the league and insiders understand that Richberg is lending strenuous support on the principle of "meeting business' wishes as far as possible."

Beneath the high-sounding verbiage about a time limit on emergency legislation is the idea that labor's New Deal gains can be morally nullified when "prosperity" returns if they are kept on a temporary basis. Labor knows this too—hence its strenuous fight for permanent enactment of Section 7A in a stronger form.

FDR wants to reassure business but don't make any bets that he'll hamstring labor to make a liberty league holiday.

Bonus—

New York learns that the administration has scored a quiet but notable triumph on the bonus. The hope is that the method of payment will not be specified by congress but left to FDR. This means borrowing or perhaps special taxes—the printing-press money desired by the Putnam crowd. Conservatives are del. grateful.

Symbol—

No January since 1930 has shown steel operations at such a high level. The best part of the expansion is the improvement it reflects in other industries. Experts believe the high rate of activity will continue at least until April unless interrupted by strikes.

Current production at 59% of capacity is actually closer to 58% if obsolete plants are counted out. No wonder steel leaders feel chertier than they have in years. Old-time Wall Streeters will rate the depression really over when U. S. Steel restores its full preferred dividend. This miracle is in sight and may happen in April if current gains are held. Observers doubt that FDR will be satisfied with so simple a symbol unless re-employment in the industry keeps pace.

Hara-Kiri—

Rigid regulation isn't the only grief in store for the holding companies. Insiders hear they will also be socked with a thumping tax on the dividends paid them by their operating subsidiaries. Comment runs that the government is certainly doing its best to make hara-kiri attractive.

Remedy—

The Association of American Railroads is supposed to be concentrating profusely on the vital problems of the carriers. So you can imagine the sensations of hard-pressed executives who received a serious official request from the Association to print or insert a notice about the President's birthday ball in their dining-car menus.

One rail man remarks: "So that's how they spend their time and our money. I suppose next they'll recommend white carnations for engine crews as a remedy for our troubles."

MR. MICAWBER and the beautiful budget

"MY OTHER piece of advice, Copperfield," said Mr. Micawber, "you know. Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditures nineteen six, result happiness. Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure twenty pounds, aught and six, result misery. The blossom is blighted, the leaf is withered, the God of days goes down upon the dreary scene, and—and in short you are for ever floored. As I am!"

Take it from Mr. Micawber, or from any one of thousands who know it for the truth, there's no friend like cash! And there's no way to be so certain of cash as to spend within your budget.

Begin today! Say to yourself—so much will go for food, so much for rent, so much for fuel, so much for charity. Stick within your budget and you'll find it bountiful enough to leave you something over!

One of the very best ways to budget as you go is to read the advertisements in this newspaper. Daily, as in a parade, the good values of the good stores march before you. Roast beef or chops for Sunday dinners, a special style in men's shirts, new drapes for the living room... the advertisements will help you choose them all, and often at a saving!

TIPS on Contract

SUICIDE SQUEEZE
By TOM O'NEIL

Most squeezes are executed by the play of all the cards of a long suit in one hand of the contracting partnership.

There are cases where an adversary, after due development of the play, is left with only one suit and squeezes his partner when forced into the lead. Henry Enoch of Bridge House, New York, has sent me this hand, played by the clever Mrs. Marlowe, in illustration.

of clubs showed West void, with the clubs bunching East.

Now came the time to deduce what West's original holdings were and Mrs. Marlowe did a pretty piece of card reading which enabled her to make the hand.

West obviously had three spades and one club originally. The question remained how many diamonds he had. On the lead of the diamond ace East played the nine. It now was obvious that the opening lead was from a doubleton. If it had been fourth best, East would have had only one card higher than the four-spot by the rule of eleven, and he already had played the eight.

West, therefore, was counted for original possession of three spades, two diamonds, one club and seven hearts.

On South's lead to the king of diamonds West played another heart. Mrs. Marlowe finessed the queen of hearts. West took with the king and had nothing left to lead but hearts. This was the squeeze trick. Being won by South's ace, it squeezed East so that he had to unguard the protected queen of clubs or give up a high diamond.

Here was the squeeze situation:

NORTH (DEALER)		WEST		EAST
♠AQ108	♠43	♠J95	♠K109752	♠73	♠86
♠K72	♠A642	♠43	♠43	♠J1098	♠Q10985
SOUTH		WEST		EAST
♠K642	♠AQ	♠K109752	♠43	♠73	♠86
♠A9	♠A65	♠43	♠43	♠J1098	♠Q10985
♠KJ7

The bidding was short and sweet: one spade by North and six no trump by South. Mrs. Marlowe reasoned that there was no reason to dilly dally, in view of a vulnerable opening North in first position, her fit with North's suit and stappers in the other suit.

Possibly had the bidding gone, one club, one diamond with a heart bid West before the six no trump was reached, the declarer's problem would have been easier.

West opened the top of his diamond doubleton and East's eight-spot was won by South queen. Four rounds of spades were played, East discarding a heart and a club and West signaling on the fourth spade with the seven of hearts.

The last spade was taken in the North hand and then the club jack was finessed. The lead of the king

Liner Gives 500 Work

NEW YORK (UP)—More than 500 officers and men will be given employment as a result of the change of registry of the former Red Star liner Beigenland and the entry of this ship into cruise service of the Panama Pacific Line under the American flag as the Columbia. This was revealed by A. J. McCarthy, general manager of the line, in announcing the staff of the liner.

The Columbia, when she begins her service in February with a cruise to Hawaii, Miami and Havana will be in command of Capt. John Jensen, who will be relieved of command of the President Roosevelt of the United States Lines. Captain Jensen has been at sea 45 years and has been in command for 18 years in ships of the Red Star, American Line, Baltimore Mail and United States Lines, all associated companies of the International Mercantile Marine-Roosevelt Steamship company. This is his first command under the house flag of the Panama Pacific Line, another subsidiary of the company.

In the winter of 1925 Captain Jensen commanded the Kroonland of the American Line when that steamer was operated in a weekly service to Miami and he has a large circle of friends in the Florida port.

The chief officer of the Columbia will be Fred A. Dear, former chief officer of the Panama Pacific liner Virginia, in the New York-California service. Patrick J. Quinn, chief engineer of the Pennsylvania since 1932, will go to the Columbia in the same position, and Charles H. Heidorn, chief steward of the President Roosevelt, will head the steward's department of the big cruise liner.

Other appointments announced by McCarthy are those of P. E. Slawson, purser of the President Roosevelt, to the post of purser of the Columbia and Raymond S. Mechem, assistant purser of the United States liner Washington, as staff purser of the Columbia.

Bureau Of Air Commerce Paves Way For Title Transfer To Byrd Plane By Radiogram To Little America

Little America, on the ice barrier in the Antarctic, has applied to the Bureau of Air Commerce, Department of Commerce, by radio for information which will enable the Byrd expedition to transfer title on one of its airplanes.

A message from Lieutenant Commander Isaac Schiossback, a member of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's party, asked for the exact name of the owner of the expedition's Fairchild airplane, as shown in the Bureau of Air Commerce records, so that the necessary papers could be executed for transfer of the title. The airplane formerly held an experimental license, which lapsed and could not be renewed because the craft has not been available for inspection since it was taken to Little America in 1928.

The Bureau informed Commander Schiossback that the recorded owner of Fairchild airplane model number FC2W2, former license number X5006, is Richard E. Byrd, and that the record of title would be amended upon receipt of a copy of the bill of sale.

Records of ownership of civilian aircraft are maintained by the Bureau as a service to the aeronautics industry in connection with licensing and registration. The Bureau does not undertake to guarantee titles, but merely makes a record of the owner's name and address as furnished in appropriate legal form.

Members of the Texas legislature who voted $4,500,000 for cooperation with the PWA in completing the Hamilton power dam on the Colorado river, will have an opportunity to see the partly completed dam next Saturday. Residents of Llano county, where the dam is situated, have invited them to a barbecue. The invitations refer to the project as the Buchanan dam. The change of name is complimentary to congressman James P. Buchanan who has been active in its behalf.

There is a popular little puzzle in Austin consisting of a number of blocks in a box and one empty space the size of a block. The trick is to move the blocks around in a way to bring a particular block to a designated place, still leaving room for the other blocks.

Gov. Allred, house speaker Coke Stevenson, the state board of control, the state railroad commission and the state tax commissioner R. W. Anderson helped Capitol correspondents work out a similar puzzle on a large scale. Together they solved it with the result that the press now occupies adequate office space in the state capitol.

PHILADELPHIA, (UP)—Experiments are being conducted here which may mean the saving of eyesight of thousands of infants each year.

The disease—Ophthalmia neonatorum—commonly called "babies' sore eyes," is contracted on an average by two out of every 100 infant, and unless promptly checked, frequently results in blindness.

Dr. Louis Lehrfeld, of Philadelphia General Hospital, who is conducting experiments expressed the theory of checking the disease by protection against infection at the source—the mother. He said the theory will revolutionize existing methods.
