The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

girls you used to know have bigger waists used.

This may be a coincidence, but I heard of a man who was sent to the pen for stealing a pair of pants and now he is making pants in the penitentiary.

That ought to be more pleasant than making big ones out of little ones.

A local man said he may have done a lot of foolish things but he has never rolled over Niagara Falls in a barrel. Yes, but he fell in love there and got married. Now you add the rest.

Here's an old story we older folks used to hear before everybody owned a car:

A car scared a farmer's team, and the team ran away, dumping the farmer and smashing the wagon.

After the excitement subsided, the motorist said to the farmer, "It's queer that your horses get scared at autos."

And the farmer said, "I don't think it so queer. If you should see my pants coming down the street without me in the pants, wouldn't you get scared, too?"

better." And after the most hilarious and most astonishing war in history, the Mad Marxmen triumph.

High spots in the picture include Groucho's "grand entrance" into his office as dictator, Chico's trial as a spy, the Prædonian army marching to war to the strains of "She'll Be Coming Round the Mountain," and the scene in which Harpo breaks a mirror, and then attempts to be Groucho's image.

Edwin Maxwell, Edmund Breese, Leona Kinsky and Edward Kennedy are excellent in their roles. Leo McCarey, making his first picture for Paramount, did a grand job of directing. Writing honors go to Bert Kalmar, Harry Ruby, Arthur Sheekman and Nat Perrin.

A DOUBLE BOON

Relief for unemployed musicians, coupled with a boon for music-lovers—this, apparently, will be one of the fruits of the CWA work in Pittsburgh.

Plans are being made in that city for a municipal symphony orchestra, to be supported by CWA funds which have been allotted for employment of idle musicians.

If the plans go through, nearly 100 musicians will get full-time employment, and concerts will be given throughout Pennsylvania as well as in Pittsburgh.

Here is a cultural gain worth copying elsewhere, and it is the sort of scheme that kills two birds with one stone. It would make the best kind of music available to people who have not been able to hear such music before.

Furthermore such an orchestra, once launched, might easily be made self-supporting, if the right kind of handling were available. In any case, the project is a praiseworthy one.

Side Glances by Clark

"My wife is gonna be plenty mad. You should have heard her when we was up all night on that warehouse fire."

You'll Laugh in High Falsetto at 4 Marx Brothers

Madder, nuttier, more colossal insanity than ever, the Four Marx Brothers swooped down on Midland yesterday, and sent home in hysterics the customers who jammed the Ritz theatre all day long.

This latest outburst of hilarious comedy is entitled "Duck Soup" and continues its showing at the Ritz through tomorrow. As is customary with Marxian pictures, the title has nothing whatever to do with the film, but it is indicative of the content. Insanity is "duck soup" to the mad Marxmen, and their present opus is by far the best they ever have produced.

Through the efforts of the wealthy Margaret Dumont, Groucho Marx is made dictator of Freedonia, with Zeppo, as his secretary, Louis Calhern, ambassador from the neighboring republic of Sylvania, with the aid of his three spies, Harpo, Chico and Raquel Torres, Falling, he decides to gain control of the country by marrying Miss Dumont.

Groucho continually insults Calhern, and war becomes a reality. Chico and Harpo decided to join Groucho's side because the "food is
