diagnostician here, and Mrs. F. A. C. Petrin, wife of a professor in Texas university, were found today in a room of the Texan hotel.

The faces of both victims were so contorted that identification was difficult. They had been dead for probably twelve hours.

Peace Justice T. E. Johnson said he believed they died from overdoses of morphine sulphate.

The woman's husband is a professor of psychology and chairman of the department and had been a faculty member since 1917. Dr. Mattingly was married and had practiced medicine here for only a few years, specializing in the care of babies. He was the father of two children.

Klapproth Decides Case at Big Spring

BIG SPRING.—After counsel for plaintiff and defendants had agreed to a dismissal of a jury Wednesday and to let Judge Charles Klappoth, 70th district court presiding judge, decide on matters of fact and aw, a verdict was returned in favor law, a verdlet was returned in lavor of the defendants in the case of D. A. Rhoton, et ux vs. Texas Land and Mortgage, et al, suit to cancel

Suit was brought by Rhoton to cancel a quit claim dee, agreed judgment, and a trustees deed all executed on February 2, 1933, by Rhoton to the Texas Land and Rhoton to the Texas Land and Mortgage company.

They were an outgrowth of a deed dated December 6, 1926, given by Rhoton and wife to the same company for $36,000.

Judge Klapproth sustained the defendants in the case, ruling that the transactions were legal.

Lands involved were egal.

Lands involved were once ranching property of Rhoton. In the past year oil development has been made on the disputed property.

Cattle Bought Three Times Before Moving

ALPINE (P)—The booming days of speculative activity in cattle were revived here recently.

When 500 Kokernot calves, weights 485 pounds, were shipped if from here for western points they had changed hands three times at the stock pens before moving out.

First one man bought them, then another and finally they went to Julius Wolf of Denver at a reported price of between 4 1-2 and 4 3-4

One coincidence is not anything to write home about, but when there are two related coincidences, that is

B. H. Blakeney bought a new car, the price of which is $740 and in a trade-in deal, the cash difference was $551. He bought his license plates the next day, taking his regular turn in the line at the tax collector's window, he was handed license plates reading: "740-551," identically the same numbers as the money involved in the deal.

MASONS ASSIST McCAMEY RITES

Midland Masons put on chapter degree work at McCamey Tuesday night. The team was headed by Bum Cowden and John P. Butler, officers of the Midland lodge, and Marvin C. Ulmer, district deputy grand visitor, made an address. Meet Friday at 10 grand visitor, made an address.

Others on the Midland team were: Percy J. Mims, Louis Mims, Roy McKee, Dr. David M. Ellis and M. D. Johnson.

The Midlanders were highly praised not only by the McCamey brethren, but it happened that C. O. Gilley of Sul Ross college, who is a member on the state committee on work, was present and he too lauded the visitors. He said the Midland team work was as good as he had seen in a long while and declared Ulmer's speech was the best at a degree meeting he ever heard. H. G. Secrest of the Rankin lodge and president of the Rankin Lions club invited Ulmer to make the same speech at the Rankin Lions ladies night meeting next Thursday and asked him to bring another speaker with him.

California Cattlemen Buying Texas Calves ICE BELIEVED

are fair with little loco weed to bother.

A stroll of two hours through a hotel lobby here gives a picture of the cow business in this section.

There is John Molesworth from Sierra Blanca who sold his calves early for 4 cents for the steers and 3 cents for the heifers. He says there has been a shrinkage of weights in the last few weeks.

Joe Mitchell, collegiate-looking cattleman of the firm of W. B. Mitchell and sons, says the Mitchells handled 12,000 head of calves through the auction rings of the North this season, netting 4 cents for heifers and 5 cents for steers.

W. B. Mitchell predicts a fat cattle market of $8 in 30 days, and says the California buyers gave the country its market this year.

Dad Oliphant from Sierra Blanca walks up. For many years a cattle buyer, he went into the sheep business.

Glad Son Is Unhurt

Law Moves to Punish Vicious Dillinger Gang Fettered Outlaws Glare at Cameraman in Tucson Court

"Thank God, he was not killed," said John Dillinger, Sr., as news was brought to him that his bandit son, John, Jr., had been captured in Tucson, Ariz. The father, shown here at his farm near Mooresville, Ind., had lived in fear for months that the outlaw would fight to the death rather than surrender.

Permanent Reduction Of Auto Fees Is Proposed'

AUSTIN, Feb. 1. (U.P.)-A clash over additional relief bonds occurred in the house today on a proposal for a joint session of the house and senate to hear Administrator Westbrook and J. F. Reed, acting relief director.

"Isn't this propaganda for $10,-000,000 more relief bonds?" Representative George Moffett of Chillicothe asked.

Representative Bob Long, sponsor of the proposed joint session, replied that it was not for propaganda but to gain information. Two bills for permanent reduction of auto license fees were offered in the house, one proposing a cut of one third in existing fees and the other a flat $3.00 fee for passenger automobiles and motorcycles.

ADJOURNMENT RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY SENATE

The Texas senate today adopted a resolution for sine die adjournment of the legislature at noon Feb. 10.

The resolution is subject to approval of the house.

The legislature Wednesday afternoon refused to give owners of motor vehicles more time in which to pay their registration fees for 1934. The senate defeated a house bill which would have extended the time-limit for payment from February 1 to March 31.

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, in her message to this special session, convened by her to pass laws to aid the financially depressed, suggested that the automobile license fee payment time limit be extended.

The house, soon after listening to the governor's suggestions, pass-

WHAT QUAINT BELIEFS HAS THIS WORLD!

It gives an American a pleasant feeling of superiority to learn that the people of Nepal, that mysterious Himalayan kingdom north of India, believe that the recent Indian earthquake was caused by the flight of three British aviators over Mount Everest last spring.

The gods of this mountain, according to the people of Nepal, are jealous of their peak's isolation, and get angry whenever presumptuous men try to climb it.

When the British airplane went sailing over the summit, the gods decided things had gone far enough; so they jarred India with an earthquake that took 15,000

This quaint tale is believed devoutly by the superstitious and unlettered people of the Himalayas, and it all sounds very childish and ignorant to enlightened folk like curselves.

Yet we have our own troubles in straightening out matters of cause and effect, especially where great national disasters are concerned, and in some ways we don't seem to be much better at it than the skin-clad tribesmen

We had our own earthquake, a matter of four years ago, in the form of a depression, and it jarred us clear back to our eye teeth. And if there ever was a land in which people did more frantic running around in circles trying to figure out the cause of an earthquake, the history books don't mention it.

Some of us blamed the tariff and some of us blamed the war; some of us blamed the foreign debts and some of us blamed Wall Street; some of us blamed our lack of faith in God and some of us blamed the sun spots; some of us blamed Stalin and some of us blamed Andy Mellon. And we are so far from being agreed on the cause, even now, that we can't agree on how to handle our domestic economy, our foreign trade, our currency, or our international relations, to keep it from happening again.

And there is something rather frightening in all this

. It suggests, somehow, that we are, all of us, enlightened and unenlightened, at the mercy of forces which we can comprehend little better than the Himalayan peasants comprehend an earthquake. Perhaps, indeed, we shall have to accept the Himalayan explanation. We flew over a high mountain and the gods were vexed.

CHILD LABOR, STILL!

The three days from Jan. 27 to 29, inclusive, have been set aside by the American Humane Education Society as national child labor days, and, while the occasion may not get a very wide observance, it ought to be celebrated all across the country.

The NRA codes have done much to set our children worthwhile but it seems to me that they have not done everything; furthermore, they are only temporary in their effect. The society points are dead, then win the case. out that there are still 240,000 children under 16 years of age who are not covered by the codes, and whose protecage who are not covered by the codes, and whose protectorives a car, take a look at the way tion from exploitation is only the uncertain legislation of a man makes up a bed. individual states.

It still is possible to pass the child labor amendment. Substantially more than half of the required number of states have ratified it. It is high time we got busy, ratified doesn't really make a lot of differthe amendment, and gave to exploited childhood the protection of the federal constitution.

Many a professional actor in these hard days would feel he had achieved fortune, if not fame, were he to go through his performance each evening knowing that a taxi was waiting for him outside the stage door, and that he would be able to meet the charges at the end of his ride. A mere amateur in New York already has this luxurious sense of security. Having played his part, he leaves the theatre in a cab that has been awaiting him all evening. And he is not worried even about the fare. He is Morse was released by Dallas lasseason, not because of his lack of managerial ability but on account of strained relations with the business office. Happ wanted players and didn't get them. After he was released players were bought and Fred Brainard, the new manager, succeeded in putting the Steers into the Shaughnessy play-off.

Morse still is the most popular sports figure in Dallas. He has a knack of developing young players. He was always on the up and up with sports writers and fans.
