DEMobilization OF NRA IS SET AT 400,000 PER WEEK

No One to Go Hungry Is Promise of the Administrator

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (U.P.)—Civil Works Administrator Hopkins proceeded today with arrangements to demobilize the entire CWA at the rate of about 400,000 weekly, beginning Friday.

Formal announcement that 4,000,000 would be dropped from the CWA payrolls was accompanied by pledges from the president and from Administrator Hopkins that the government would permit no one to go hungry.

It was indicated that those in need will be provided for in the new $500,000,000 fund congress made available for relief grants to the states.

FATE OF N. R. A UP TO ACTION OF COURT

DALLAS, Feb. 17. (U.P.)—Continuing operation of the collapse of the entire NRA hinged today upon a court case to be presented to the United States supreme court within ten days. Laverne Guinn, special assistant United States attorney, declared today.

The test will grow out of a ruling of Federal Judge Atwell when in he quashed charges against four alleged violators of the wage and hour provisions of marketing under the federal oil code.

DISTRICT COURT TO OPEN MONDAY

Seventieth judicial district court opens a four-week session here Monday.

Pending action of the grand jury, only two criminal cases are scheduled. States vs. Arch Morgan, charged with murder of P. N. Dawson, and State vs. L. G. Spires et al., charged with felony theft and burglary. The case against Morgan was continued from the last term of court, due to enforced absence of a state witness. The case against Spires et al. was transferred from Ector county.

The number of divorce cases set for trial is unprecedented here, 19. There are numerous suits on debts, foreclosures, etc., one on bond forfeiture, one partition and two damage cases.

District Judge Charles L. Klapproth concluded a seven-week term at Big Spring last week, requiring only 28 full working days to exhaust the docket. On the criminal docket, 22 cases were dismissed by district attorney Bob Hamilton, four cases were continued and 15 were tried; on the civil docket, 19 cases were dismissed, 34 passed for service and pending settlement, 20 continued and 48 judgments rendered.

Cases continued, in most instances, resulted from being filed during the term of court, thus allowing of insufficient time for service.

Says Rain in June Will Make Crops

BIG SPRING.—W. B. (Bill) Currie says he has no fears for the coming of rain in this section. "We have always gotten it through we didn't receive it quite in time last year to make a good crop. If we get rain as late as April, May or June of this year, we will be sitting pretty. Rainfall by that date will be soon enough for the ground to get plenty of seasoning, so that the crops may grow. All this stuff you hear about rain not coming in time is all the bunk and there is no reason to get alarmed, as we have nearly always got it," said Currie.

Well Known Race Horse Dies When He Licks Poison

Billy B, equine racer whose name requires no qualification, died Thursday night.

Winner of numerous races at meets over West Texas, Billy B, pride of L. E. Cook and his son, Curtis, licked arsenic that had been put out for prairie dogs several months ago. With him died Fanny Bell, bay pony belonging to Cook, and a pony Curtis Cook was breaking for Sheriff Andy Francis.

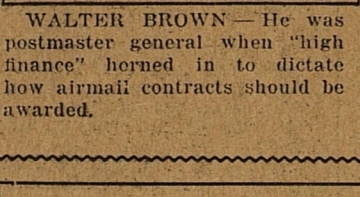

Cook, who had expected to race Billy B this spring and summer, is still in the "running," as Clara Bow, well known racing mare, was in another section of the pasture when the poison was discovered in a dump pile.

Brown Jug was the other Cook horse that was poisoned and died. Negro Baby, Francis mount, was discovered in time to be saved.

'Big Money' Gets Grip on Airmail; Independents Ousted

CHARLES A. LINDBERGH—His protest against airmail cancellations was labeled a "discounting publicity move."

WALTER BROWN—He was postmaster general when "high finance" horned in to dictate how airmail contracts should be awarded.

HUGO L. BLACK—Chairman of the Senate airmail probe committee, he is applauded for the thoroughness of the contract probe.

E. L. CORD—He's a big man in aviation, and American Airways controlled by him, held contracts on 11 airmail routes.

Is President Wrong or Right on Airmail Stand? Whole Country Wonders

RIGHT OR WRONG?

Was President Roosevelt right or wrong in his sweeping cancellation of every airmail contract in the United States?

Has he dealt a mortal blow to America's world-leading air transport system, or has he cleaned it so that a new and better system will be the outcome?

Was it necessary to order the "grounding" of the entire air transport industry, including some 5000 innocent employees, just to get the "merchants" and the scoundrels out of aviation?

Many factors enter into the battle that is raging and the contentions of both sides are given in this story.

FRENCH POLITICAL REFORM

Long before the latest outbreaks in France all competent observers had recognized that a real reform of French political life was overdue. Quite apart from the recent financial scandals there was a clear appreciation that the muddling methods accepted under the French parliamentary regime must sooner or later produce a popular revolt.

Men of experience and integrity have endeavored to show the need of constitutional changes if the present Republic is to survive. M. Andre Tardieu, several times Prime Minister, has capably analyzed the French practices and pointed to their defects. The President of the Republic is little more than a figurehead. He chooses—in the advice of prominent members of the Senate and Chamber—the Prime Minister; and there his effective functions end.

He possesses very little power. He has no time to carry out any task of importance. He knows he will be fortunate if he is allowed to head the Government for more than a month or two. The accepted rules of the game almost oblige the groups to overthrow him at an early date in order to give a chance to the host of aspirants to ministerial posts.

In the meantime his political life is rendered intolerable. There are outside Parliament political bodies and influences which have come to have decisive weight—party congresses for whose approval the groups inside the Chamber must wait, trade unions which dictate policy to the deputies, and various occult organizations.

Inside the Chamber and Senate are powerful commissions which call on the ministers to appear, and treat them like culprits at the bar of justice. The commissions may bar the way to any measure. After it gets through the commissions—usually in truncated form—it may be upset in either house. Continually the cabinet is on its defense. It must answer questions, it must repel assaults, it must "pose the question of confidence" sometimes several times in the same day, and at every movement its very existence is menaced.

How is it possible in these conditions for it to attend seriously to its work? It is never permitted to think of its rightful occupation. It is engrossed in merely continuing to exist. The deputies have little sense of responsibility; they can overthrow a ministry without inconvenience to themselves. In some countries the downfall of the Government would mean the dissolution of the Chamber, and an appeal to the people. If this system were adopted in France, the deputies would more seriously consider the existence of their vote.

This is not a matter which exclusively concerns the French. Parliamentary government is on trial in the world. Every failure is a blow struck at democracy. There should be reforms before it is too late.

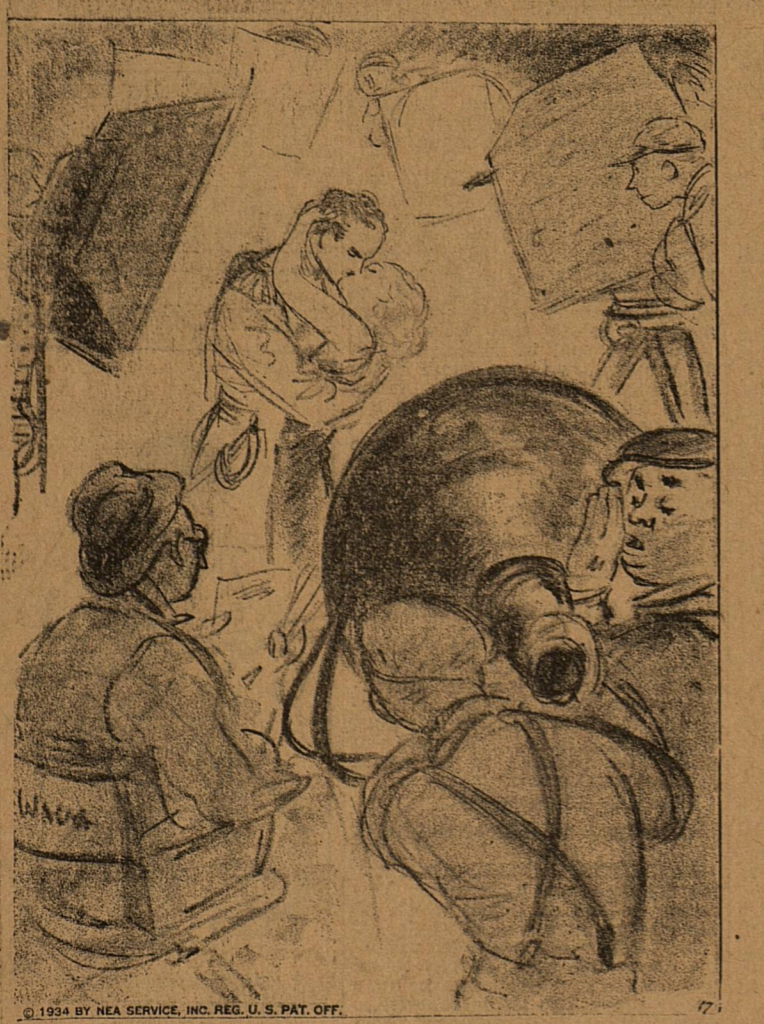

EDITORIAL NOTES

As they estimated matter and space in 1926, astronomers simplified their conclusions for the layman by telling him that the amount of matter is about as much as a grain of sand would be in a space about as big as the earth. Recently it appears that they have changed their opinion. The layman who wishes to be conversationally up-to-date will take notice that the amount of matter is about as much as two grains. But, as a leading astronomer remarks, the change is not "drastic."

The springs should support the weight of the body without sagging, the vertical or open coil type spring is usually recommended on this account. The mattress should be firm enough to support the body, yet soft enough to prevent the bones of the hips and shoulders from becoming sore from pressure. The essential points to remember in the selection of a mattress are that it should be sanitary, light and elastic, and that it should not mat, become lumpy nor have an odor.

TIME FOR HOT BEDS

Now is the time for making hot beds for small plants to be re-set, and for growing various vegetables for use soon. To grow an early garden it is necessary to start such crops as cabbage, cauliflower, tomatoes, egg plant, and peppers in a protected place and then transplant to the open garden. A hot bed provides an excellent place for this purpose.

SELECTING BEDROOM FURNISHINGS

In furnishing a good plan is to take stock of the furniture on hand, discard the useless articles and put those which can be used in the best possible condition. Often there are pieces of furniture of good material and design stored away that can be brought out, renovated and put into use again.

Naturally the bed is the most important piece of furniture in a bedroom. The bedstead should be firm and substantial but light enough in weight to be moved about easily. The comfort of the bed will depend especially on the springs and mattress. It is better to economize on the other furnishings if necessary than on these. It is important that

Texas Bad Men Are Worse Than Says Gangsters

AUSTIN (AP)—The statement attributed to Austin H. McCormick, New York commissioner of correction, to the effect that the bad men of the Southwest are not bad men at all and should be much easier to apprehend than the gangsters of the East, has brought a rebuttal from Texas officials.

"The New York commissioner appears to be grossly uninformed," L. G. Phares, chief of the state highway patrol said. "If he would come to the Southwest, we would show him some really bad men."

It is gathered from Phares' conversation that he entertains the same opinion of New York's criminal element that the New York commissioner appeared to hold of Southwest outlaws and that between the two it would be easier and safer to deal with the big city hoodlum.

World Day of Prayer Observance Held at First Christian Church Friday Afternoon

World Day of Prayer was observed Friday. The program was first presented at New Zealand as day began and as the day progressed the program followed the sun around the world, concluding with a service for young people in the Hawaiian islands after midnight.

Midland observance of the day fell at 3:30 o'clock when members of four protestant churches met at the church which was prepared by Mrs. J. W. Hofmeyer of Cape Town, South Africa. The theme was "Pray for Peace in Jerusalem."

Mrs. J. M. Prothro of the Methodist church, leader of the program, presented the call to worship, reading from Psalms 95:6, John 4:23-24, Jeremiah 29:13, John 14:27, Romans 12:18, and Matthew 5:23-24.

Mrs. De Lo Douglas sang "Just a Whispered Prayer."

"Peace in the Church of Christ," the program topic of the Christian church, was introduced by Mrs. Leo Cornelius, who said: "As we enter into this service today, may we remember that we are worshipping and uniting in prayer with the women of the world. Last night as we were finishing our meals, the sunrise services were beginning on the far side of the world, and all night the services have continued, and new groups have joined in until now we unite our songs and prayers with the great universal throng praying for the peace of Jerusalem, which to us is symbolic of the Peace of God in heart, in the home, in the land in which we dwell; peace in the Church of Christ, peace among the nations of the world and in New Jerusalem. The program we use today has been translated into scores of languages and is being used in more than 50 different countries.

Approximately 35 women were in attendance.

She was assisted by Mrs. F. F.

History of Founders Day Presented at a Joint P.-T. A. Session by Mrs. Percy Mims

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is a paper read by Mrs. Percy J. Mims at the Founder's day program presented by the North and South Ward Parent-Teachers organizations at the high school Thursday night.

Founder's day is observed annually in February. The purpose of Founder's day is to bring before the members of each association, the high purposes of the parent-teacher movement that each member may understand more clearly, the motives which have inspired the founders and leaders of this child-centered movement for 37 years. The same motives are today inspiring hundreds of thousands of members of P. T. A.'s to work together unitedly to safeguard the interests of children. Founder's day is a time for renewing our devotion to their realization for every child, wherever he may live.

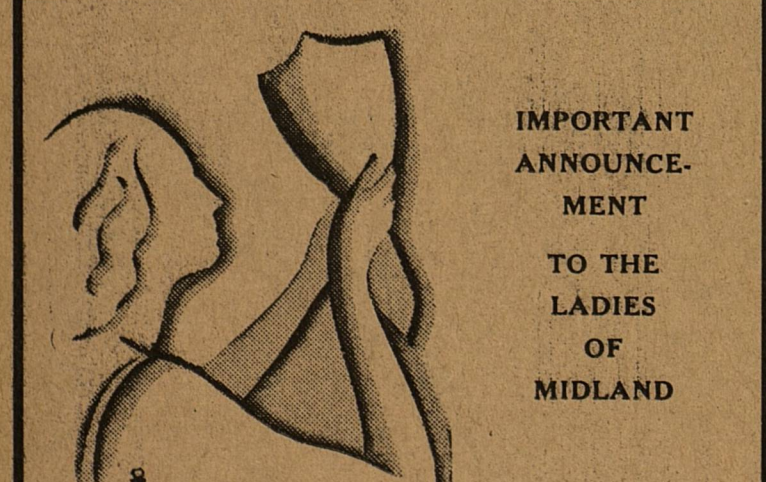

The child in our midst needs us today as he has never needed us before. The rights of every child are endangered by seen and unseen forces which are beyond the control of individuals or of local groups, acting independently. The welfare of children—all children, wherever they live—calls for nationwide cooperation, guided by the most intelligent, devoted and high minded parents and teachers in this country. We are organized throughout the United States and in Hawaii and Alaska, for the sole purpose of safeguarding the best interests of the children of this country, in their homes, in their schools, and in the communities in which they live. Their interests are our supreme responsibility and our supreme opportunity.

The child does not speak for himself. His appeal for health and happiness, for guidance and protection, is a silent appeal. It is for adults to interest this silent yet eloquent appeal, and to answer it. The ability and willingness to do this intelligently and adequately is the highest test of the character of adult citizenship. When the child becomes a man then he will speak, and praise or blame accordingly as we deserve.

Founder's day programs in February 1934, will honor the founders and leaders of the congress through holding high the torch which has been passed on to us. We shall not speak to exalt personalities. The founders and leaders of the congress would be the first to censure us for that. The highest honor which can be given them will be for us to meet the crucial problems of today with the same spiritual vision, undaunted courage, and intelligent planning which characterized their work.

Founder's day commemorates the anniversary of the founding of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers in Washington, D. C., February 17, 1897.

The first semi-public words regarding a National Congress of Mothers were spoken by Mrs. Theodosia W. Birney at a Kindergarten meeting at Chautauqua, N. Y., in 1895, conducted by Miss Frances E. Newton and Miss Mary Louisa Butler. On returning to her Washington home, Mrs. Birney and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Arthur A. Birney, called upon Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst, well-known for her interest

Response to Toast To School Board

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the response given by Dr. John B. Thomas at the Junior-Senior banquet Wednesday night following a toast to the school board by Virginia Boone.

In responding to this toast, we want you to know that the members of the school board always feel a deep interest in anything you undertake to do, and stand ready to cooperate with you in every way possible. Your accomplishments this year seem to surpass, if possible, anything done before.

What I shall say now has been prepared for me. That is, in other words, I have borrowed it. A country school was having a program. A boy stepped out on the stage, threw back his shoulders, lifted his chin, and said: "Friends, Romans, Countrymen, lend me your ears. One old lady far back in the audience nudges another and said, 'That's just like that Jones boy. You might have known he'd be tryin' to borrow somethin'.'"

"Laugh a little now and then it brightens life a lot; You can see the brightest side just as well as not."

"Don't go mournfully around, Gloomy and forlorn; Try to make your fellowmen Glad that you were born."

"A man isn't poor if he can still laugh."

"A merry heart doeth good like a medicine. I count it a joy, not soon forgotten. The success with which this banquet is being conducted, presages the time when many of you will occupy the responsible positions in life. Your progress and your opportunities will be largely of your own making, aid as—

"One ship goes east, the other goes west; By the self same winds that blow; 'Tis the set of the sail and not the gale That determines the way they go."

So let us, as we navigate the vicissitudes of life, strive to keep our sails set so as to take advantage of every wind that fortune blows.

Mrs. Hearst was the wife of California's leading senator. She had endowed many kindergartens for children, established training classes and working girls' clubs in California and Washington. She threw open her beautiful home for many of the preliminary meetings and met the expense of the first two congresses.

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers dedicates itself to child welfare every day in the year. It is of value, however, to set aside a special time when the ideals and purposes of the founders may be better understood through out programs specially prepared for this occasion. It is a time when interest may be centered upon the highest well-being of the child in all relations of life, when a more intimate, intelligent and sympathetic cooperation may be secured between national, state and local organizations, and a birthday offering given to national and state work.

The observance of founder's day was established in 1910 at the Denver convention.

Birthday gifts are made on Founder's day for the extension of congress work. The field service has been almost wholly financed from this source. The silver anniversary fund of 1922 made possible the organization of seven state branches. Courses have been conducted, all the states have been organized with the exception of Nevada, special demonstrations have been made in two states, and the work of the International Federation of Home and School has been fostered since its inception in 1927. In 1928 it was decided that each state should retain for state extension work one-half of the amount contributed on Founder's day. The gifts have increased each year, making possible more extensive service to the states in the interest of the great purpose of the congress.

The observance of Founder's day in 1934 will be a success if as parents and teachers we gain a clearer understanding of the objects for which we are united, and dedicate ourselves more wholeheartedly to their attainment.

Mrs. Hugh Bradford has said: "The plan of the National Congress grows in our minds and hearts with increasing beauty and strength. To Him, to whom we entrust our being, we give thanks that it has been ours to guide little children; we pledge ourselves to their service with loyalty, affection, and devotion. It is ours to carry on, whatever conditions may confront us."

Mrs. Joe Haygood Hostess for Bien Amigos Club

Opening the season for George Washington parties was the affair given for the Bien Amigos club Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. M. Haygood.

Red, white and blue were combined to form a color scheme for appointments of the bridge tables while the prizes were wrapped in red and blue and tied in white ribbons. Sprays of artificial cherries decorated each package and each refreshment plate.

High score in the game went to Mrs. Preston Bridgewater and night cut to Mrs. C. D. Hodges.

Playing were Misses Joe D. Chambers, Hodges, Bridgewater, R. E. Kinsey, C. A. Mix, Joe Pyron, E. H. Shaw, E. B. Soper, F. F. Winger, Joe Ballantyne, E. A. Wahlstrom and H. W. Matthews.

Son Is Born to T. B. Flood

An eight-pound baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Flood at Big Spring Friday, according to the cabinet, several of whom came earnest workers and chairmen in the first and later congresses.

In response to the call sent out by Mrs. Birney, a large and representative group of men and women of intellectual achievement and reputation, leaders in religious, educational, philanthropic, and social affairs, fathers and mothers of humble station to name unknown, came to Washington all drawn together by an object which should most appeal to the father, mother, teacher heart of the world—the highest welfare of children. On the convening of this new organization, Mrs. Cleveland was hostess at a reception at the White House.

The success of that first congress of Mothers amazed even the most sanguine. The large auditorium was crowded day after day with interested and enthusiastic crowds who came to listen to inspiring addresses by distinguished speakers, and to formulate plans for the future progress of the work. The value and far-reaching influence of united mother-thought and endeavor was at once recognized. Expressions of commendation and pledges of hearty cooperation came from all quarters east, west, north, and south, and from beyond the seas. From all classes came the response—from the "seats of the mighty" and from those in humble homes; from the father of a prominent nation in the nation's capital; from the executive mansions in near and distant states; from educators, clergymen, philanthropists, from the press; and from homemakers everywhere.

Hornby May Return To the Legislature

AUSTIN, (AP).—H. P. Hornby, newspaper publisher at Uvalde, home-town of Vice-President John N. Garner, may come back to the legislature for the third time. He served consecutively as a member of the 32nd and 33rd legislatures, dropped out and returned to the 38th legislature.

His friends are urging him to become a candidate for the place occupied by A. P. Johnson of Carrizo Springs. Johnson has been ill for the past year and unable to attend the legislature regularly. It has been reported that on account of his impaired health he will not be a candidate next time.

Joe Caldwell of Asherton, who opposed Johnson last time already has announced for the place. The race between Caldwell and Johnson was close. Johnson edging in by a narrow margin. Roy Davenport, Uvalde county ranchman, has advised friends that he plans to run.

Hornby is a close personal friend of the vice-president and has been for many years. He was inaugurated for the presidency after the Texan ascended to the speakership of the national house of representatives. He worked hard before the democratic national convention and went to Chicago with the Texas delegation.

Charlotte is the largest city in North Carolina.

SCHEDULE FOR DISTRICT BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT MADE OUT

MIDLAND TO MEET BIG LAKE OWLS; ONE OF THE SMARTEST, CLEVEREST CLUBS IN THE 10-COUNTY DISTRICT

Drawing for places in the district basketball tournament of this week was held at Odessa Friday afternoon. Four of the 10 competing counties were represented—Midland, Ector, Crane and Martin. Brackets were made and time for each game set before the drawing; the drawing was by counties and they placed in the following order: Winkler, Upton, Midland, Reagan, Martin, Gaines, Andrews, Crane, Glascock and Ector. The last six drew byes in the first round.

A schedule of the entire tournament follows (X stands for consolation games, all others lead to the championship):

- Friday, February 23
 2 p. m. (1) Winkler vs Upton
 3 p. m. (2) Midland vs Reagan (Big Lake)
 4 p. m. (10) Martin vs Gaines
 5 p. m. (11) Andrews vs Crane
 7:45 p. m. (12) Glascock vs Ector
 8:45 p. m. (9) Winner of 1 vs Winner of 2
- Saturday, February 24
 10 a. m. X (15) Loser of 1 vs Loser of 2
 11 a. m. X (17) Loser of 11 vs Loser of 12
 2 p. m. (14) Winner 11 vs Winner 12
 3 p. m. (13) Winner 9 vs Winner 10
 4 p. m. X (16) Winner 15 vs Loser 10
 7:45 p. m. Consolation Finals, Winner 16 vs Winner 17
 8:45 p. m. Championship Finals, Winner 13 vs Winner 14
- If teams run true to form, it is expected that Odessa or Crane will meet Big Lake or Rankin in the finals. The champions will represent this district in the regional tournament at Alpine in March.
- Coach L. K. Barry of Midland, director of the tournament, recently sent out mimeographed rules governing the tournament, part of which are reproduced below:

D. H. (Tiny) Reed of Big Spring will referee the tournament.

No entrance fee will be charged, since it is anticipated that the "gate receipts" will more than pay the expenses of the tournament. However, if there is a deficit, it will be prorated equally among all the participating teams. Any money "cleared" on the tournament will be divided among the participating teams on the basis of mileage to Odessa by the shortest traveled route. (The number of men a team brings will play no part in determining that team's share in the profit, if any.)

One new official basketball will be bought for use in the tournament and this ball will be given to the team winning the tournament. It is uncertain at this time whether any other trophy will be given.

Teams coming from a distance greater than 40 or 45 miles, and wishing to remain in Odessa overnight, may secure free lodging by making such a request to Superintendent Murray H. Fly of Odessa.

Attention is called to the fact that the same eligibility rules used for football apply to basketball; any school using an ineligible player in this tournament is liable to a maximum penalty of 3 years suspension from the league.

SPORTS AUTHORITY SAYS LOUGHRAN HAS CHANCE TO WHIP PRIMO WHEN THEY MEET FOR CROWN THURSDAY

BY BILL BRAUCHER
NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Oftand it would appear Tommy Loughran faces his first—and last—chance at the world's heavyweight championship at Miami, Feb. 22, without much hope of winning.

The Philadelphia phantom will be outweighed by a matter of 60 or 70 pounds. At his best fighting weight Loughran will not go much above 185, which is not very large for a heavyweight. Primo Carnera is as big as they come, his probable weight being from 245 to 255.

Tommy will be out-aged, too, not only by six years but by hundreds of fights, most of them the kind that make a man feel very old. Loughran will be 32 next Nov. 29. Carnera will not be 26 until October.

Loughran comes to his grand chance after 15 years of battling. Carnera has been at it something like five years. When Loughran entered the ring for the first time, Carnera was a 10-year-old boy in Italy.

Tommy has only one way to win from that animated mountain of muscle he will face Feb. 22. That is to poke, jab, stab and get away. If the Italian is allowed to get close to Loughran he will paralyze Tommy with punches. There is too much weight behind those wild shoves of Primo's for Loughran to cope with.

Max Schmeling believes Loughran can win, however, and there are others with a fine eye to fistic affairs who agree. Schmeling points out that Corbett was regarded as something of a striking king when he faced John L. Sullivan.

"Loughran steps fast and many outstep Carnera with his left hand," says the former champion. "Carnera only pushes. I thought Primo had improved until I saw Paulino Uzcudun go 15 rounds with him last fall in Rome."

Terrific odds on Carnera to beat Loughran already are being established at Miami, the champion being something like 5 to 1 to retain his title. But, rating Loughran on his last four bouts—with Impellittere, Hamas, Gastanaga and Sharkey—it seems to me such odds are a little long.

After being almost knocked out in the first round, Loughran rallied to win from Impellittere, who is a bigger man than Carnera, though neither as expeditious nor as fast. Hamas, Gastanaga and Sharkey were beaten in 1933 by the lightning Loughran left.

Layers of those odds must have forgotten also that only a little more than a year ago Carnera lost to a couple of second raters, Larry Gaines and Stanley Poreda.

There are a few things to be said about the Carnera-Sharkey fight which do not appear on the record. Sharkey was rather fat then, fit. And slow though the sailor was, he was ahead of Primo on points up to the instant when he ran into that swishing uppercut.

Now Loughran is a much better defensive boxer than Sharkey, who has gone pretty far back in the last few years. It will not be beyond the bounds of imagination if he keeps away from Carnera, who is fast for a big man but painfully slow compared to Loughran.

It is not the purpose of this piece to predict that Tommy will win. It is too hard to forget how irresistibly strong Carnera was against Sharkey, even though Jack was not the sailor man of a few years previous.

But certainly Tommy CAN win. The only other thing I am certain of is that he will be trying with everything he has.

MIDLAND WOMEN LOSE TO BIG SPRING FRIDAY; PLAN ORGANIZING THIS WEEK

A Big Spring shotmaker, Mrs. Alice Phillips, won the first flight of the Big Spring-Midland women's handicap flag tournament Friday when she stroked the front nine of the Big Spring country club course in 40. Mrs. Sandy Auchterlonie of Midland turned in a medal score of 45. Both carried a handicap of 6.

Mrs. C. A. Mix of Midland won the second flight. Her handicap was 15.

Mrs. A. P. Luskamp of Midland was runner-up in the third flight, and sank sensational putts to keep the match interesting all the way. Her handicap was 18. Mrs. Fred Wright, runner-up in the fourth flight, carried a handicap of 18.

In the approach and putt contest, Mrs. Phillips, by holing out an approach from two feet off the green, won a playoff which included Mrs. Auchterlonie, Mrs. Mix, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Phillips.

Forty women were in the tournament or the gallery. Luncheon was served at the club house at noon.

As a result of the match, Midland women will attempt to form a women's golf association at the Midland club house Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. All women whose husbands belong to the club are eligible for membership and are asked to attend the meeting. Officers will be elected, it is expected.

Qualifying for places on the ladder will start Tuesday.

"America's New Sweethearts"

Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler, that grand little team of "42nd Street" and "Gold Diggers of 1933" fame, renew their romances in greatest musical of them all "Footlight Parade," showing today through Tuesday at the Ritz theatre. Other leading stars in the cast are James Cagney, Joan Blodell, Frank McHugh, Guy Kibbee, Ruth Donnelly, and Hugh Herbert. Five new songs are introduced in the show. If you saw either "42nd Street" or "Gold Diggers of 1933," you know what to expect in "Footlight Parade," as it was made by the same producers and surpasses the spectacle of both these former musicals.

In Beautiful Southern Drama at Yucca

Janet Gaynor and Lionel Barrymore have the stellar roles in the latest romance from Fox, "Carolina." It is one of the most ambitious productions on the Fox schedule for the year, and plays at the Yucca theatre today and Monday. Walt Disney's "Three Little Pigs," hailed animated cartoon, also is on the bill.

Other Sport Scribes

The secret of the coaching success of Johnny Pierce is sought in various circles annually as the Corsicana High Tigers, despite graduation of veterans, come back with strong teams. The locals have won four straight district titles, which is generally conceded the strongest district in Texas—Corsicana, Cleburne, Hillsboro, Temple, Waco and Waxahatchie. One team won the title in 1932 and two others went to semi-finals in 1930 and 1931.

Jack Chevingly recently asked Pierce for his secret and the former Aggie star replied promptly, "plenty of hard work." He is a hard-driving coach and has his team in condition early.

As a feeding system for the high school athletes, a ward school league of boys not more than 100 pounds each is conducted. The junior high school has a regular coach and schedule as does the reserves—all coached in the system instituted by Pierce. When the boys get large enough to play they know all the fundamentals. The benefit of the system was shown in 1933 when thirty-one of thirty-two players of the 1932 championship aggregation were lost. The lightweights won the '33 title, employing a tricky aerial and running attack. Twenty-six members of the '33 squad will be back this fall when Pierce bids for his first straight district honors.

Eight consecutive passes were completed against Waco in one game last fall.

This is a football-minded community. The championship Tigers are not alone in coping honors as the two class B teams, State Home and I. O. O. F. Home, won the district titles in their respective circles last year, giving Corsicana three high school champions. During the past four seasons the three local high schools have won eight district pennants.

Among the prominent college football players produced by Corsicana are Rip Laig, Texas; Johnny Garity, Texas A. & M.; Robert reviving professional baseball here, Corsicana formerly won honors in the Texas-Texas-Oklahoma-Trokey league, Texas association and Lone Star league. Fred Marberry, veteran right-hander with Detroit, whites here.

Wilson, S. M. U.; Maco Stewart, S. M. U.; Billie Stamps, S. M. U.; Tommie C. Younger, Centenary, now coach at Waxahatchie; Ed Price, Texas; assistant coach at Hillsboro; Red Jackson, S. M. U.; and a number of others.

over the snappy 18-hole country club course about June 1. W. A. Lang, tournament chairman, said this season promises a better meet than the one staged last year. Reynolds Smith of Dallas, won the championship in 1933. Jack Muirger, Dallas, several from Houston and a large number from Central Texas points have signed they would enter.

Airmail

charged Brown and the airmail operators carried on their abuses. By this time, you see, big money had come into the industry, and lines already were being drawn under the control of two or three big companies. And here is what happened: 'SPOILS CONFERENCE'—Brown called the operators in, and they sat down to divide up the new routes among themselves. But they didn't agree on what they wanted, so Brown took charge and built his own 'map.' EXTENSIONS—Congressmen say that it was their intention that extensions literally should be extensions, that is, small additions to routes already existing. But Brown gave out huge extensions, some far longer than the original line, some jutting off at angles, sometimes a second extension on the end of a first extension. No Bidding on 'Extensions'—The result was that out of the 12,000 miles of airmail routes added during Brown's regime, nearly 8,000 were 'extensions,' on which there was no bidding whatever. NEW LINES—Congress intended that non-mail carrying lines (of which there were many, clamoring for mail subsidies) should have a chance to bid on all new airmail routes. But only two important new routes were let under Brown—the central and southern transcontinentals. Many independents wanted to bid on these lines. But at the last minute the specifications were changed, requiring six months of night flying by the bidding line. Not an independent line in America could qualify. Some companies already flying mail also wanted a chance at these two long routes. But, it was charged before the Senate committee, the operators were told that if they dared submit a bid they would lose the contracts they already had. Awards Cut and Dried—When the bids were opened, there was only one bid on each line (except for a brave independent, whose bid was thrown out). Gossip had foretold that the routes would go to certain companies, and they did. On the foregoing are based the charges of fraud and collusion, on which the 'spoil conference' was held.

The club will meet next Saturday at 2 o'clock with Ernestine Holder.

A Piece of Gold

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a page from the diary of a Midland man who enters daily notations of pleasing impressions. It comes to the office of The Reporter-Telegram signed 'Epimethes,' Greek word for Thinker. Yesterday, near the high school I found a piece of gold. Not the yellow metal that enslaves men; but the fine gold that poets use to cherish words spiritual and imperishable treasures. I saw a tall, fair maiden stepping lightly along the sidewalk, and she smiled, a quaint, shy smile, a smile that could never really be long to these surroundings and to these days. In the magic of that smile, the unsightly walk and the ugly background of vacant lots with jumbled buildings beyond, entirely disappeared. I saw her standing in the midst of an old-fashioned garden that I knew when I was a boy, more than thirty years ago. She was surrounded with early roses and lilacs and the winding walks at her feet were bordered with Narcissus, and with Jonquils. There was a bed of violets, shaped like a star, half protected by a bed of Phlox, scarcely like a crescent moon. Scarcely seen through the clustering shrubbery, a white-washed wall bounded the garden; and beyond, rose the cloudy mass of tall and stately trees. Now all this was just so as I have described it, and it was so by no conscious effort of my mind. The only way that I can explain it is, that the fair maiden, with her simple dress and quaint smile, truly belonged to that old-fashioned garden, and to no other place that I had ever seen on earth. Thus by the magic of her smile I saw again the bright beauty of flowers that bloomed more than thirty years ago, and breathed again the perfume of roses that have long since crumbled into dust. Thanks, O Beautiful Maiden, for your gift of gold! I do not know your name, and hope that I never shall; for so may you ever remain for me unattached to the commonplace where I saw you with these earthly eyes; and may I see you always in the midst of that old-fashioned garden that lives again in my memory by the magic of your smile. —Epimethes.

Big Stage Show at The Yucca Thursday

Hal Grady, manager of the Yucca theatre, takes pleasure in announcing a new type stage show which will be presented in connection with George Bancroft in 'Blood Money' on the screen; thus giving three big attractions in one, on next Thursday, matinee and night. Featured in 'Musical Moments,' one of the double bill stage presentations, are: Kerry King and his novel orchestra; Miss Evelyn Narriton, who in addition to singing and dancing plays almost every musical instrument; Clovis Rogers, lyric tenor; Kirby Malone and Wanda Walker, a bit of dancing that is different; Miss Patsy Lee, radio blues singer, and last 'The Three Jumping Jacks,' tap dancing at its best. Blackface comedy is the keynote and forms the background to 'Musical Moments,' the second of the two stage attractions. Featured comedians and end men are: 'Honey' Payne, The Stuttering Fool; Dannie Claywell, Prince of Dancers; Bill Knight, Master of Rhythm, and 'Little Willie' Hardy, eccentric dancing that is eccentric. A medley of old minstrel songs by the Rhythm quartet adds that old time atmosphere. All in all, 'Musical Moments' and 'Musical Moments' form a diversified stage entertainment ranging from blackface slapstick to fast moving musical revue. ONIONS EXCELL RAYMONDVILLE (UP)—Willacy county this year has the largest crop of onions in its history and also has more than twice as many acres of onions as any other county in Texas. Last year this county went into the lead in onion production with 5,700 acres, but this year the acreage was increased to 6,200 and a record yield is predicted. Preparations are being made now for the annual onion fiesta, staged at the peak of the season when the Onion Queen of the county will be crowned. WILSON'S CAR IS GIFT SAN ANTONIO (UP)—White museum here houses the war-time automobile of President Woodrow Wilson, which was presented to the museum by Col. P. J. Hennessey, who acquired it from Mrs. A. B. Butler, Washington.
