Seeds of Strife Sown in Austria Made Inevitable Recent War That Swept Her

Even White Cow Is Turned Into Nazi Billboard

By MARCEL WALLENSTEIN
VIENNA—As I survey the pitiful wreckage of the fraternal battlefields of this stricken city, the picture comes vividly to my eye of the conditions that made all this inevitable.

A few weeks before this tempest broke, I was entering Austria from the Swiss frontier. Let me picture this Switzerland of future conflict.

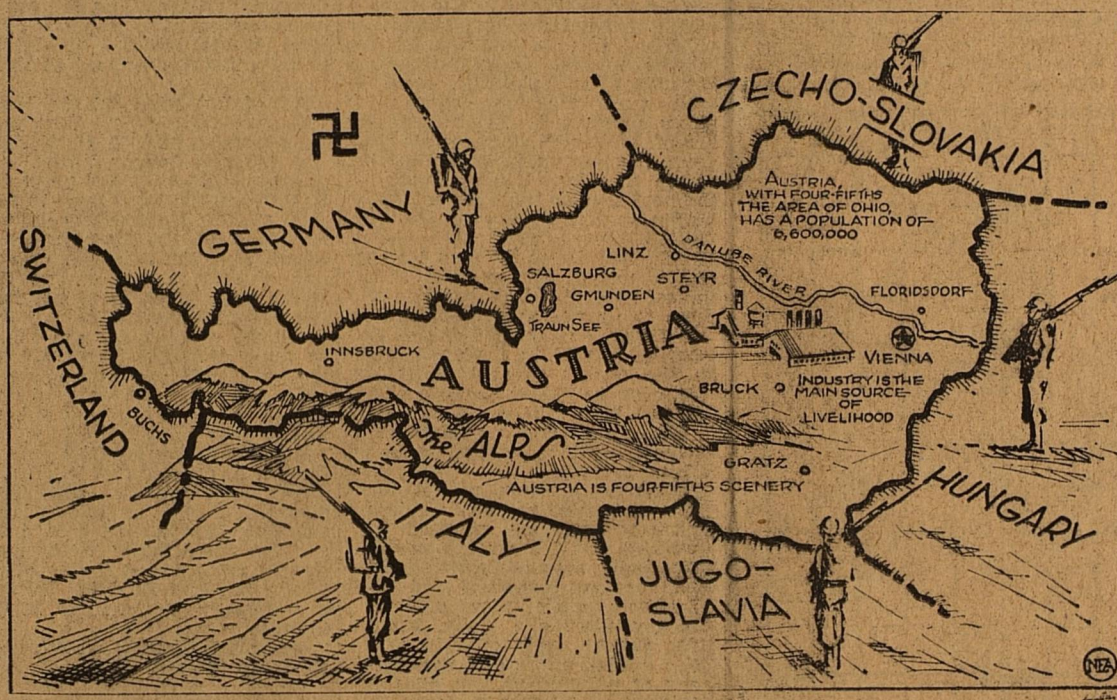

Suspicion
The Arlberg-Orient express halts, panting, at Buchs, tiny Swiss-Austrian border town. Customs officials search the train with serious thoroughness, searching not so much for contraband as for bombs. Sharp-eyed men whose clothes shout "detective!" go through the train from end to end. Criminal police, heavily armed, pace the platform, two by two.

Nazi Influence
The valleys are Nazi to the last peasant. They have profited in the past from tourist traffic from Germany. But now they are taxed such tourists entering Austria, and killed the traffic and the peasant's prosperity.

Spies
Vienna is calm, on the surface; but police are everywhere. Fearful, at times, it is an effort to listen to a radio broadcast from Germany.

Conflict Inevitable
The Nazis have largely confined themselves to sporadic acts of violence by night, and to quiet propaganda.

Oil Man Moves Here
Harold Dean of Dallas arrived here this morning to become associated with the California Oil company, producing department. He is unmarried, and has been with the company four years.

This map graphically shows how pressure from all sides has been exerted on little Austria, literally left "in the middle" by the post-war treaties.

CATTLEMEN MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS REGARDING RELIEF THEY NOW ASK

W. W. Brunson, director of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, is in receipt of the following communication regarding work of the cattlemen's committee in Washington:

On January 29th representatives of the beef and dairy cattle interests conferred with Secretary Wallace in Washington. Among those who participated in the conference were Mr. W. T. Coble of Amarillo, vice president of this association, Mr. Jay Taylor of Amarillo, and Mr. Grover B. Hill of Amarillo, president and secretary respectively of the Panhandle Live Stock Association. The conference made the following recommendations:

The Cattle Program
Emergency application.

1. We heartily endorse H. R. 7153 which is now pending before the House Committee on Agriculture, calling for making cattle a basic commodity under the Agricultural Adjustment Act and providing an authorization of $500,000,000 for the combined beef and dairy cattle industry, but only its entirety. It is generally conceded that the cattle industry at the present time could not bear a processing tax. Therefore, the appropriation of the $200,000,000 is absolutely necessary to start a cattle program. Part of this appropriation should be used for the immediate taking out of production of about 3,000,000 cows. This should be done on a basis of allocating to each state its reasonable portion of the total amount and in this fashion it would insure that the beef and dairy industries would benefit in proportion to the respective cattle census of each kind in each state. A further justification of such an appropriation is the fact that expenditures of the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation for beef have been negligible compared to their heavy expenditures for pork, butter and other commodities.

2. As a further necessary part of the emergency program we recommend the immediate working out of a satisfactory marketing agreement with the packers. We do not believe that either a reduction program or a marketing agreement by itself will properly do the job, but combined we have great hopes of substantial benefits. One of the major problems today is the high cost of distribution, and even though we are able to reduce production to a basis in line with consumptive demand at a fair price, that does not meet the situation created by the small percentage which we get of the consumer's dollar. The marketing agreement seems to be the only vehicle in sight which offers any hope of relief along this line. It should provide full participation in working out programs by producer committees and ample safeguards as to the results by giving the Secretary full power of approval or revocation of programs adopted.

3. A third measure of emergency relief which is of tremendous importance is the adoption of the amendment just passed by the House Ways and Means committee, placing an excise tax of 5¢ a pound on coconut and sesame oils. We strongly urge its immediate adoption, and the inclusion of palm oil and white oil.

4. A fourth measure of similar concern is that we should have added protection against the imports of canned beef. 1933 importations are almost double those in 1932. We urge that the United States Tariff Commission immediately increase the tariff on canned meats the full 50 per cent possible under the flexible provisions of the act, and that pending such action a similar result be obtained through the medium of compensating taxes.

5. We urge the immediate passage of a law establishing a reasonable monthly quota on the imports of cattle kip and calf skins, so as to prevent dumping in large quantities such as obtained during the months of August, September and October, 1933, when more than 70,000,000 pounds were received, without entirely prohibiting the entry of such special types of hides as may really be needed by our industries.

6. We urge that the present floor stocks of meat products, including lard, should be the subject of careful consideration by A.A.A. officials with a view of making disposition of the bulk of them at the earliest possible time, either through the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation or through export outlets which are opening up or may be soon made available in Russia and other foreign countries. Such action will perhaps have a more helpful effect on the general market situation than anything else which can immediately be done.

7. We recommend such immediate purchases of good-quality dressed beef for the use of the Army, Navy, and C. C. Camps as can be

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Reporter-Telegram Midland, Texas.

This letter is personal and official, but due to lack of time I am compelled to write you what appears to be a form letter.

In a nation-wide war on crime, which has been endorsed by the President of the United States and approved by the Department of Justice, the United States Flag Association is awarding a medal in each State to that person who, during the year 1933, did the most "to advance and encourage the enforcement of law" in such State.

A committee, or "Jury of Award," for Texas has been appointed to receive the medal in Texas. Judge Nelson Phillips of Dallas, Mrs. W. P. Hobby of Houston, and I have been appointed as members of this jury of award. We must make a recommendation to the U. S. Flag Association not later than March 1st. Thereafter, a formal public ceremony to award this medal will be held either here at the State Capitol or in some large city nearest the residence of the person receiving the award.

The Jury of Award is anxious to enlist the cooperation of the press throughout the State not only in making nominations or suggestions themselves as to the person who, in their judgment, during the year 1933 did the most "to advance and encourage the enforcement of law" in Texas, but also in securing the interest of the general public in making these nominations or suggestions. No particular rules are laid down for the selection of such person. Of course these nominations will not be confined to public officers, but any man, woman or child will be eligible to receive the medal who has had anything to do with advancing or encouraging the enforcement of the law in any manner.

The Jury of Award likewise desires the cooperation of the newspapers of this State both through their news and editorial columns. We want to interest the citizenship generally in the subject matter and give every person in the State the opportunity to make nominations and suggestions.

The committee will appreciate any nominations or suggestions that you or any member of your organization may care to make. May I ask that you write me at your earliest convenience making these nominations or suggestions, accompanying the same with any statement of facts you may see fit to make.

In our judgment the conferring of this medal or award will be a tremendous honor to the person entitled to receive it as like medals are being awarded at the same time in each State of the Union. The American gangster and law violator has been too much "hero-ized" and the permanent program be worked out by a committee representing the range cattle interests, farm and feed lot interests, and the dairy interests in conjunction with officials of the A.A.A.

We feel you can render a patriotic service to both State and National governments by cooperating with us in this move. Will you help us?

Trusting that we may hear from you by return mail, I am,

Sincerely yours,
James V. Alfred,
Attorney General of Texas,
Chairman of the Jury of Award.

FIRE FOR WEARING COAT
OKLAHOMA CITY, (U.P.)—L. M. Bush, city engineer, sustained the action of a CWA project foreman recently who discharged a man who kept his overcoat on while digging ditches. The laborer complained he was cold, but Bush discovered the thermometer registered 45 degrees when the man started work and rose ten degrees within a short time. Bush said the day was too warm for overcoats on ditch diggers.

In Arabia, an immoral woman is slain either by her own brothers or her father.

FENCE PROTECTS ANTELOPE
ADAMANA, ARIZ. (U.P.)—Visitors to Petrified Forest National monument will have an increased chance of seeing antelope on the range in the future. A fence that will protect a large section of the monument from grazing by domestic stock is being constructed. The improved grazing conditions for wild animals are expected to increase the number of antelope in the game sanctuary.

In Nebraska, it is against the law to allow tumbleweeds, which blow around spreading seeds, to grow on a farm.

ELK VISIT FARM
HELENA, MONT. (U.P.)—The hospitality of County Commissioner Albert J. Soly is being severely strained. He has for guests a band of 40 uninvited elk, who drifted in from summer feeding grounds to make their headquarters on the Coty ranch. Coty's feed supplies for other livestock are running dangerously low—and I can't shoot the darn critters because the season's over.

The World war debt amounts to $11,505,093,885 in this country alone.

IT LOOKED LIKE A BARGAIN

Today, the windows and shelves of many stores are crowded with packages bearing "bargain" prices. With prices so low, not getting your money's worth seems almost impossible.

But it pays to remember that while some of these products are bargains, others are not.

In some of the unfamiliar packages you see so frequently today, there is cheap merchandise—the offering of a few manufacturers who have gone too far in their efforts to make your dollars buy more quantity. Products in which these manufacturers have sacrificed quality to make a low price still lower and, seemingly, more attractive.

No matter how strongly you are urged to buy these "bargain brands"—or how often you are told they are "just as good"—it is safer to refuse them unless you are fully familiar with their value.

Look for the real bargains now among brands which you know—by your own experience, through their advertising, or by the reputations of their makers. Ask for them by name! Insist on getting what you ask for!

Many of these reliable brands now cost less than they have in years. But only the price has been reduced. The quality—which originally made these products popular with you and many others—still remains as high as ever.

Judge Knowles Finds Merit for Youth Of Today in Speech Made Back in '78

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following speech, made as a salutatory address in the Dublin high school on July 4, 1878, nearly 60 years ago, is submitted for publication by City Judge Knowles. "Just for the informative and meritorious quality it might have for youth of today." It was made by the late Dr. C. F. Ulmer, M. D., D. D. S., father of M. C. and Charlie Ulmer, Midland men. Mrs. Ulmer lives at Midland, also.

Ladies and gentlemen, the honor having been conferred upon me to make a few remarks for the opening of our exercise tonight, we extend to you a congratulating welcome. We feel that after our labor of ten months in the school-room, that the exercises which will follow are nothing more than due to our physical and mental abilities as recreation which we do not as some regard as a nuisance, but rather as effectual in driving away embarrassment and giving the mind a peculiar training which it does receive during the laborious school-hours.

Notwithstanding, we have labored under some adverse circumstances during the term that has just closed we hope that you are highly pleased as well as the pupils with the advancement which we have made during this term.

We feel, ladies and gentlemen, that there is no cause which we should more highly reverence and advocate, save that of Christianity, than the one in which we are engaged. We do not feel satisfied if we can only gratify our desire for knowledge; but wish to arouse you as parents young ladies and young men to a necessity of these acquirements.

We who have been raised to obtain our sustenance by the sweat of the brow and most especially you fathers and mothers have felt the necessity of an education. You have felt this and doubtless feel it today; for we hear the complaints of the laboring man throughout the United States that he has no voice in making and executing the laws of our land in favor of him. Doubtless a deficiency in this is the reason why we are surrounded by the almost malignant circumstances which we are today.

I may be too late for you parents to prepare yourselves for a discharging of these duties, but it is not too late for you to prepare your children that they may be competent if necessarily requires to drop the plow and hoe handles qualified and worthy to fill a seat in our congressional halls which would doubtless prove a blessing to our nation.

Educate the female that it may devolve on her to take your places as parents she may be competent to give the child that training both moral and technically that amidst temptations in life when relying on self, he may be influenced by a veneration of that training given them under a mother's tender care to resist all evil inducements and satisfy their desire for illumination in the world.

To you, my youthful comrades, who are so favorably situated to bring yourselves to honor and distinction in the world, here in our western country, that while science and moral intellect becomes more developed we may do likewise and not suffer the educated young men and women to come from the Eastern States, fill the easy stations in our midst, make the laws by which we are to be governed, while we are forced to toil amidst the summer's heat and winter's cold for a support which will be the case unless we avail ourselves of the golden opportunity afforded us and spend our time in acquiring knowledge.

Yea, if you will return the precious prize purchased for us by our ancestors, to-wit, the discovery of our country, and securing for us amidst the cannon's roar and at the point of the bayonet one among the most democratical governments of the earth prepare yourselves that you may successfully combat with those of our fellow-men who envy us our freedom of government.

To do this it will require great effort. To some field of labor either mental or manual every individual should be engaged as a duty he owes to himself, his fellow-man and his Creator. This will produce prosperity and eloquence, which will lead us to put on all the glories of imagination as a government, to fill the eye, the ear, the inmost soul with sounds and images and holy visions of beauty and grandeur; to make truth lovely and majestic; to charm, to fascinate; to win, to arouse, to calm; to terrify; to overwhelm; this is the work of eloquence, the result of labor.

We believe we have as good talent in the State of Texas as there is in any other state in the union, but this like cultivation, and training; when this is done we can fill our highest offices with thorough bred Texans and probably attain much higher.

We believe if the people of the United States were fifty per cent better educated, that in a few years they would be one hundred per cent better off than they are today; for

Three of a Kind

Here you see Ruby Keeler, James Cagney, and Joan Blondell, who with Dick Powell, Frank McHugh, Guy Kibbee, Ruth Donnelly, Hugh Herbert and Claire Dodd, head the cast of Warner Bros. "Footlight Parade" the super-successor to "42nd Street" and "Gold Diggers of 1933" showing today and tomorrow at the Ritz theatre. Some of the crowds who saw it yesterday will be telling you about it, though you must see this spectacular show yourself to enjoy its beauty and greatness.

Richard Dix in Another Big Hit At Yucca Theatre

One of the most powerful human dramas ever presented on the Yucca screen is "Day of Reckoning," picture of "prison families" starring Richard Dix. It plays Tuesday and Wednesday.

A vivid revelation of "wives who wait," the story concerns the iron rule of prisons that "no woman will wait for a man more than three years." And the working of that fatal law provides the basis for a thrilling climax.

Richard Dix in one of the most dramatic roles since his triumph in "Cimarron" several years ago. The notable supporting cast scores in individual performances, including such well-known players as Madge Evans, Conway Tearle, Una Merkel and Stuart Erwin.

Careful attention to prison detail serves to make the jail scenes startling in their realism. Every character player was chosen to provide a background of men hardened by circumstance who see another man's life drawn into the turmoil.

The action of the play is divided into a dramatic structure that "builds" to breathless heights, by the masterful direction of Charles Brabin, who scored recently with "Stage Mother."

Dear friends and schoolmates, though we all may never meet together in the schoolroom, at the close of a ten months term, where ever our lots may be cast, let us endeavor to retain enthusiastic zeal for knowledge which should ever burn in the breast of the seeker of an education, remembering that time swiftly speeds away, and that the time is near when we will have to take the place of our fathers and mothers, to discharge all the duties that rest upon them.

Remember that the most gigantic tree in the forest was once an acorn and then a tender twig, but by the nourishment of the sunshine and showers, it gradually grew until it can stand the most terrific winds that beat upon it.

Remember, that all the queens, kings and presidents were once boys and girls, young ladies and young men, but by seeking and pursuing knowledge they obtained their respective positions. Which should encourage us to pursue the same.

Hoping, ladies and gentlemen, that you may be well entertained by the exercises which may follow, we forbear lest we worry your patience; thanking you for your kind attention.

ERECT MONUMENT

GALVESTON, (U.P.)—Daughters of the Republic of Texas erected a monument here to the memory of George C. Childress, author of the Texas declaration of independence from Mexico. The monument was unveiled recently.

Childress came to Texas in 1832 from his native Nashville, Tenn. He was a delegate to the convention at Washington on the Brazos on March 1, 1836, and was invited to draft the declaration of independence. The declaration was read and adopted the following day.

After Texas had won its independence Childress returned to Nashville and died there in 1840.

AT THE LIBRARY

Recent gifts to the library from the University club are: "The Life of Stephen F. Austin" by Barker and "Lincoln, the Man" by Masters.

W. R. Mann recently gave the library a copy of "Best Short Stories of 1932" by O'Brien, ed.

Mrs. M. A. Erikson gave two volumes of "Personal Memoirs of U. S. Grant."

New books on rent shelf are: "Beauty" by Faith Baldwin; "Inheritance" by Phyllis Bentley; "One More Spring" by Robert Nathan; "Change Here for Happiness" by Berta Ruck; "Hangman's Holiday" by Dorothy L. Sayers; "Damascus" by Edward Thompson; "The Gods Arrive," by Edith Wharton.

New books on seven day shelf are: "A New York Tempest," by Komroff; "Cakes and Ale," by Maugham; "Strangers May Kiss," by Parrott; "Bright Skin," by Peterkin; "Four Frightened People," by Robertson; "The Edwardians," by Sackville-West; "Harriet Hume," by West.

May Have Wedding At Florists Show

MINERAL WELLS (U.P.)—Anyone wanting a free wedding with plenty of flowers and frills can find their opportunity at the annual Southwestern Florists School of Designing convention to be held here March 5.

Sponsors of the convention are looking for the "right couple" to stage a real wedding at the style show in connection with the convention. Any and all are eligible for consideration, the sponsors said.

ENROLLMENT GREATER

LUBBOCK (U.P.)—The enrollment at Texas Technological college is approximately 200 greater than for the spring term last year.

With upwards of 340 new students, the total enrollment for the spring term was boosted to approximately 1,950, and the total for the year to 2,300. These figures were released a week in advance of the final date for matriculation.

The population of India is estimated at 352,877,775, which is an increase of 10 per cent over that of 10 years ago.
