JAP CRISIS WORST SINCE WAR

2 JAILED ON CHARGE OF THEFT

Cattle Disappear on Pyle's Nail Place, It Is Alleged

Two persons well known to Midland are in jail here awaiting action of the grand jury Monday morning on charges of cattle theft. These are Gordon Brewer, a mechanic for an oil company, and Edgar Williams, a cowpuncher. Bond for each was set at $1,500. Neither could make it. The charge grew out of alleged theft of cattle from W. M. Pyle at the Nail place, a part of the Old C country about 20 miles northeast of Midland. Cattle on the place have been disappearing for several months, it was learned and several of Pyle's calves have been burned with a new brand.

Institute to Bring Lunch Spread Vogue

Arrangements were made Thursday for a large room in the Petroleum building for rural people who attend the Community Institute Feb. 15 and 16 to use for spreading their lunches. The room was provided without cost to the Midland chamber of commerce through the courtesy of Miss Mary Hogan and Ralph Geisler, managers of the building. Seats will be provided and complete arrangements made for the comfort of all of Midland's out-of-town visitors. The large room is only one door from the Yucca, where the meetings will be held. Many rural families likely will bring their lunches when they come to the 10 o'clock meeting and remain in town for the 1:30 session.

Former Midland Pastor Recovers

Dr. J. C. Burkett, former Midland Baptist minister who early this month was seriously ill at his home in Del Rio, has recovered sufficiently to occupy the pulpit in the First Baptist church there, his children in Abilene have been notified. He preached Sunday morning for the first time in several weeks. Dr. Burkett was pastor of the Southside Baptist church in Abilene after leaving Midland.

Missionary Series Closed by a Play

Closing the third of a series of evening meetings this week on missionary activities of the church, an impressive service was presented by the young people's division of the Sunday school department at the Methodist church Wednesday evening. The department staged the play, "What the Church Does to Help the World," under the direction of Mrs. Edwin C. Calhoun. Characters and their roles follow: Mrs. Harvey Powledge, the church; Elva Smith, the missionary society; Clyde Gwyn, the Sunday school; Uel Feeler, the Epworth league; Esther Mae Hodo, Nellie Stephenson and Mrs. Clyde Gwyn, Africa, India and Mexico, respectively; James Killough, homeless old age; Joe Wimshis Haygood, Francis Lowe Peters, Mary Margaret Calhoun and Marie Barber, street urchins and orphan children; Geo. Armstrong and Harvey Powledge, sin and poverty. A missionary song was sung by Mrs. B. T. Smith during the play. Mrs. Holt Jewell was pianist. Mrs. Smith later sang "An Evening Star."

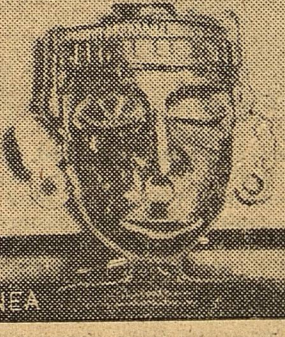

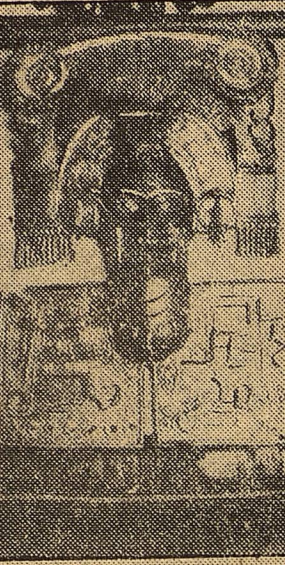

Industrialist Safe And Ransom Unpaid

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 28. (UP)—Howard A. Woolverton, 52, wealthy industrialist, was safe at home today after his release by kidnapers who held him nearly 24 hours for a $50,000 ransom. The family denied that the ransom had been paid.

Midland Man on State Committee

Officials of the Texas Commercial Executives association, the state orators' association, have placed Paul T. Vickers, Midland secretary, on the statistical committee. The Midland man will assist in compiling data on the Texas profession.

Fabulous Relics

FREE ADMISSION TO ALL LECTURES OF SHORT COURSE

"I am sure the short course has done more good for our town, school and farming community than anything we have ever had." This is the expressed opinion of many people who have heard the free lectures that are to be given at the agricultural short course which is being held in Midland on Feb. 15-16. Despite the high standard of the lectures, demonstrations and motion pictures, no admission charge of any kind will be made at the meetings. The short course is to be held for no other purpose than to help the people solve their many problems of the farm, the home and the community—not only interest them but to encourage and inspire them as well—and everybody, men, women, boys and girls, from town and from country, will be welcomed at every session. New thoughts, new ideas based both upon scientific experiments and investigations conducted by many agricultural colleges, and upon practical experiences of "dirt farming" (See SHORT COURSE page 6)

Late News

KERENS, Jan. 28. (UP)—Police today sought yeggs who kidnaped Night Watchman Roy Jones and blew a store safe to take diamonds valued at $2,500. Jones was held in an alley while the same was blasted.

DALLAS, Jan. 28. (UP)—The Texas Farm Bureau federation convention today adopted a resolution welcoming a joint investigation of federal farm board co-operatives and exchanges. The resolution also demanded that private trade show comparative operating costs.

AUSTIN, Jan. 28. (UP)—Possibility that troops might leave the East Texas oil field was seen today when the railroad commission announced it would hold a prorotation hearing Feb. 12. Chairman C. V. Terrell said the hearing was ordered to devise the commission prorotation order to become effective should the troops leave.

AUSTIN, Jan. 28. (UP)—Senator Thomas G. Pollard of Tyler charged before the railroad commission today that the Missouri Pacific railroad was discriminating against Mineola, Arp, Kilgore, Overton, Longview and other East Texas oil towns in passenger rates. He said the East Texas towns were ignored in the company's advertised one and one-third round trip tickets to Texas points.

Satterwhite Takes Rabies Cure After Injury from Calf

Lee Satterwhite, former speaker of the Texas house of representatives, arrived in Austin Wednesday to take posteur treatment to guard against possible infection he fears he may have received while treating a calf suffering from rabies. It is understood that the skin was broken on the representative's hand while the calf was being doctored.

Rotarians Speak Under Wrong Names

Members of the Rotary club had their badges switched today, so that each one present wore the badge, or name plate, of another member. All went well until the program started, at which time Elliott H. Barron, program chairman called for classification talks under the "crossed up" names. For instance, Bob Hill's speech as a feed dealer was made by Aubrey Leeg, Fred Wemple's tire speech by Harry Tolbert and so through the list. It was noteworthy that each member responded, although all talks were extemporaneous.

Shannon Encounters 3 New Pay Strata

Three new pay strata in a distance of 32 feet were encountered in deepening Trans-Pecos Oil company's No. 1 Shannon in Crockett county from 2,566 feet to 2,598. The well was increased by 100 barrels daily from a pumper of 10 barrels. The first new pay was struck only 16 inches deeper.

The hole was carrying water and is now being tested without casing to determine whether to extend the tubing. The water is from above, deepening failing to increase the water. J. D. Young of Midland, the president of the company, is the veteran Crockett driller. This hole is 983 feet from the south line and 2,323 from the southeast line of section 42, block BB, E1&R2 survey.

Religious Composer To Be Invited Here

Robert Harkness, of Australia, nationally famed composer and writer of evangelistic hymns, will be invited to appear in Midland Feb. 15 and 16 in charge of the Midland chamber of commerce through assistance of the women's clubs, Lions, Rotarians, ministers and others, will be held at the Yucca theatre. Harkness is making a tour of the United States. He plays and sings his own compositions on these programs. Some of the more familiar selections include "Wonderful Grace of Jesus" and "Shadows."

Pecos Field Man Was Byrd's Aid

Captain A. Taylor, dog man for the Byrd South Pole expedition, is now in charge of field work for the Plains Production company, operating in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. Capt. Taylor resides in Pecos, but is in Midland each Wednesday for the Permian basin scout check meeting.

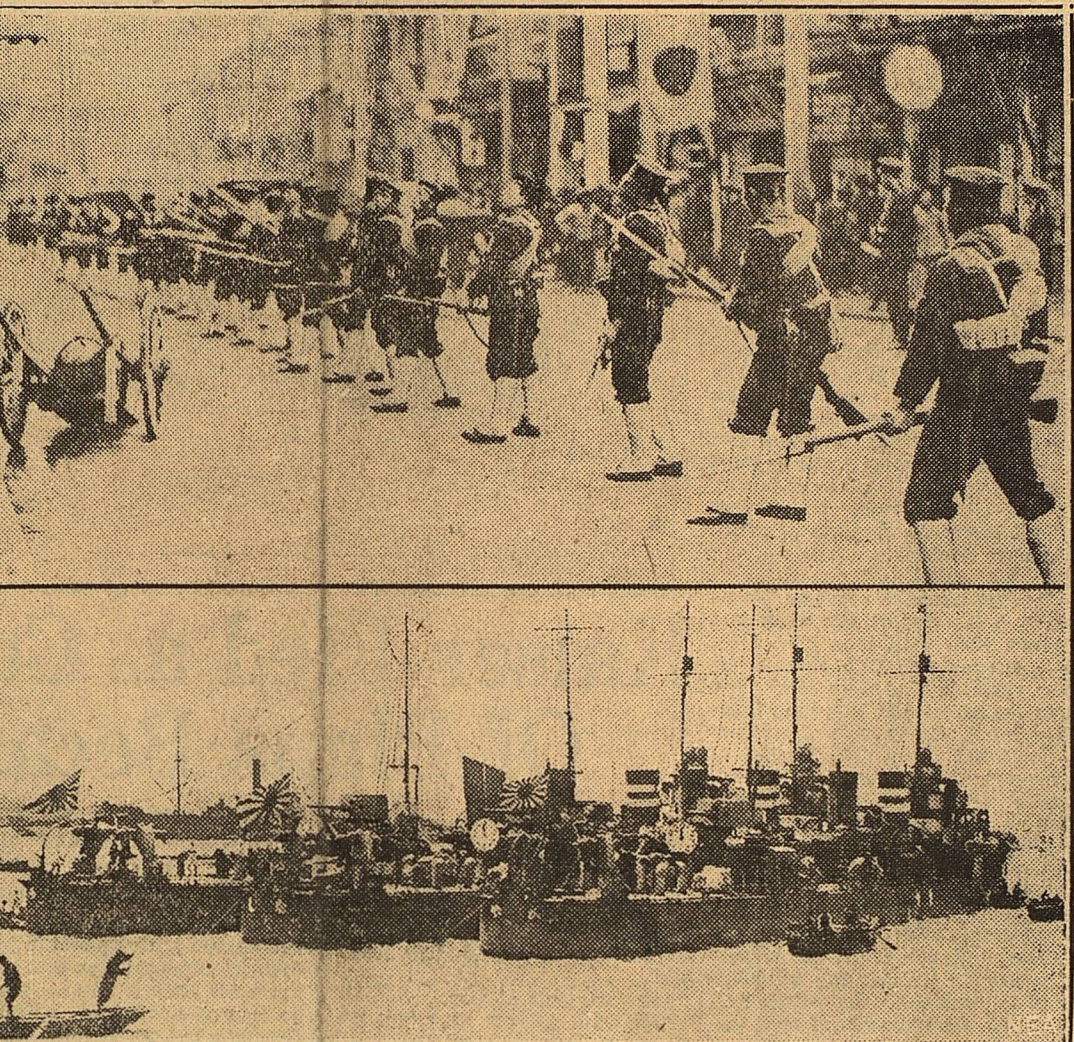

Many Samples of Writing Received

Dozens of letters addressed to Lorne A. Milne, handwriting expert, who is analyzing letters of The Reporter-Telegram's readers, have been received over the past two days. Midland people are adopting the popular craze of the American reading public for character analysis through specimens of handwriting. It is required that one include a dime and a self-addressed stamped envelope when he sends his handwriting sample to The Reporter-Telegram. Just as fast as Milne can read the samples they are mailed back and the analyses with them.

Lum Started Something That Crisp Day When He Crawled in McCormick's Wagon

Two old timers were discussing the proposed reunion here in July. "Were you here in '98?" W. J. Sparks asked Lum Daugherty. "I guess I was," Lum replied. "I rode out to the rodeo grounds in the back of D. C. McCormick's spring wagon. All of which gave Sparks the idea that some of the old wagons and teams should be shaped up for a parade in connection with the old timers' reunion. Daugherty predicted that with sufficient advance publicity the event would draw more people than any July fourth celebration in the western part of the state and that former residents would come here from

Japanese Marines Ready for Reprisals

With the spotlight of the Far Eastern crisis shifted to Shanghai, Japanese marines are shown in the upper photo as they appear patrolling the streets of the Chinese city. These forces have been augmented with 1000 fresh troops, landed from Japanese warships to reinforce Tokyo's threats to seize the Chinese districts of the city unless anti-Japanese demonstrations end. The lower picture shows Japanese cruisers anchored in the Whangpoo River of Shanghai. Thursday at 4 a. m. (CST) has been set for the attack on the city, unless Japanese demands are met.

YUCCA THEATRE SELECTED FOR SHORT COURSE

The Community short course, which is in reality a free chautauqua to be held in Midland Feb. 15 and 16 in charge of the Midland chamber of commerce through assistance of the women's clubs, Lions, Rotarians, ministers and others, will be held at the Yucca theatre. Through the munificence of John Bonner, owner of the Ritz and Yucca, the theatre was obtained at bare cost for the six meetings. The Yucca was obtained by P. J. Mims, head of the arrangements committee, because of its great size and comfort, as well as already being arranged for the free motion picture shows to be given. Midland expects the largest crowds of any meetings held here except July 4 celebrations. All sessions, 10 a. m., 1:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m., are free to town, rural and neighboring county people.

Slayer of Child Adjudged Insane

CINCINNATI, Jan. 28. (UP)—Charles Bischoff, confessed slayer and attacker of Marian McLean, 6, today was adjudged insane by three alienists appointed by the court.

Mechanics Repair Vacuum Cleaners

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UP)—When business hit a low at the plant of Ganville Brothers, makers of the Gee Bee monoplane that did so well at the Cleveland and Miami air races, the firm announced that it would do "any kind of repair work." So now the skilled airplane mechanics are mending such things as vacuum machines, baby carriages, washing machines, beds, and kitchen utensils.

Launches Income Tax Collections

OKLAHOMA CITY. (UP)—Oklahoma has started collection of its first state income tax, reaching down to low salaries. The tax will be assessed on unmarried persons with salaries as low as $750 annually. An exemption of $1,500 is allowed married persons. The tax became effective on 1931 incomes, ranging from a two per cent rate on incomes under $10,000 to five per cent on incomes in excess of $100,000.

Japanese naval reinforcements were landed on the Shanghai waterfront, or Bund (shown above) to back up Tokyo's demands of satisfactory redress for recent fatal attacks on Japanese Buddhist monks. The place of the East is quivering in anticipation of a possible attack of the city.

Boy Preacher to Make Western Tour

NORMAN, Okla. (UP)—Sixteen-year-old Dwight Harvey Hopkins, "Oklahoma's Boy Preacher," has announced plans for an Oklahoma to Oregon preaching tour this summer. The tour will cover ten states and during the three months he hopes to deliver sermons on his four choice subjects which are: "Hell Fire and Brimstone," "Give Prohibition a Chance," "Modern Views on the Sin of Dancing," and "Is Life Worth Living." Dwight is the son of the Rev. Frank Hopkins, conference evangelist of the Methodist Episcopal church, South. He started preaching when only 13 years old.

Only Bank Job Was Baffling

SMILEY, Tex. (UP)—Smiley has never had but one bank robbery, and it was a baffling one. Late in 1931, a crew of robbers early in the morning one day picked a hole in the wall of the Smiley bank, fastened a cable about the safe, started a windlass and pulled safe, money and all through the wall onto a truck and drove away. Several weeks later, a dog, digging for rats in a garage more than 50 miles north of here, uncovered a corner of the safe. The dog's owner notified officers. The safe was identified. It had been drilled and opened. The owner of the place said he had rented the building to some men who had moved. He could not tell officers where his clients had gone.

UNITED STATES WARNED THAT ECONOMIC STAND MIGHT RESULT IN WAR

World Watches in Fear as Yellow Army Is Planning Other Conquests; Americans Told to "Use Own Initiative"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (UP)—Officials today felt the worst crisis since the World war was impending because of the Shanghai disturbance. The United States said it was determined that Japan should not spread occupation of Shanghai into the international settlement and blockade ports or otherwise interfere with international trade.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 28. (UP)—The Japanese today shelled Woosung, the fort guarding the city and then marched into the native section to engage Chinese in heavy fighting. Reinforcements were sent to support the Japanese marines. The international settlement was quiet. The Japanese movement came after the Chinese at the fort shot at a Japanese trawler as it was moving past. Japanese had announced they would delay forceful action to see if Chinese fulfilled promises to meet their demands. Americans were warned by the consulate to prepare to act on their own initiative.

NANKING, Jan. 28. (UP)—All Japanese residents were ordered to evacuate Nanking today. The order indicated that Japanese forces planned to occupy Nanking as well as Shanghai.

By THE UNITED PRESS

The Japanese government today said that it would sever diplomatic relations if the United States undertook economic measures against Japan.

The government is plainly irritated over the publication of the Manchurian negotiation documents in Washington. The documents had been withheld several weeks after they were requested by a senate committee.

HOPE FOR SUB NOT HELD; ALL ARE INFORMED

PORTLAND, Eng., Jan. 28. (UP)—Hope for saving 60 men entombed in the sunken submarine M-2 was abandoned today by all but a few experts who continued a diligent search. The ship has never been definitely located. Families of the crew of the sub have been informed.

Peddy Trial Set For February 1

MARSHALL, Tex., Jan. 28. (UP)—Jack Peddy, who has had a checkered career of fighting bank robbery charges, will go to trial here Feb. 1 before Judge R. A. Hall on a charge of conspiracy to rob the Security State bank of Elysian Fields. A venire of 60 men was drawn for the trial. Wade Pope Lane and W. B. Lee were appointed as attorneys for Peddy. When Peddy left the courtroom for a conference with his attorneys following their appointment, he was accompanied and handcuffed by Deputy Sheriff Ellis Johnson. Peddy was indicted for conspiracy to rob the bank after the trials of Henry and Angelo McCauley, cousins, who entered pleas of guilty, and made statements allegedly implicating Peddy in the robbery. The Elysian Fields bank was robbed Nov. 19 while Peddy was out on bond pending a second trial in the robbery of a bank at Timpano. He was arrested the day before his trial was to start at Center and charged with conspiracy to rob the Elysian Fields bank.

Further Concentration Of Japanese Ordered

TOKYO, Jan. 28. (UP)—The government today ordered concentration of three cruisers, two aircraft carriers and an unrevealed number of marines at the Sasebo naval base under instruction to be ready for immediate action.

CHICK CENTER? SMILEY, Tex. (UP)—Smiley may become the chicken population center of Texas. Already the chicken population will approximate 2,000,000. Smiley, last season, sold more than half a million "broilers" for a general average of 35 cents a bird. Its three gigantic incubators will hatch 156,000 eggs at a "setting."

AMARILLO ONE OF U. S. Grain Centers

AMARILLO, Tex. (UP)—Amarillo is now recognized as one of the major grain markets of the United States. More than 20,000 carloads of grain were inspected by the Amarillo Grain Exchange during 1931. Estimates are that fully that many more were handled by Amarillo grain dealers and inspected at other points. Total inspections for the year were 20,051 carloads, divided as follows: wheat, 17,910; corn, 448; oats, 47; barley, 113; grain sorghums, 1,333; cane seed, 228; hay, 5; millet, 10.

BOY SCOUT HIKE

Boy scout troop 54 will hike to Popular Grove Friday at 4 o'clock and will be out until noon Saturday. All registered scouts of the troop are requested to meet at the Baptist church. The boys should bring plenty of bedding and food for two meals. Transportation will be furnished for the bedding only.

JUDGING A MAN

Trying to read a man's character and occupation by looking at his face may be a lot of fun, but it's a game that has a lot of pitfalls.

The other day a Kansas City newspaper printed a picture of a gentle-looking, bespectacled, middle-aged man who was gazing pensively off into space and who looked as mild, as staid and as prosaic as an adult human being would call. He might have been, one would say, a small town storekeeper, or somebody's chief clerk; easy-going, rather philosophical, the center of a humdrum and unexciting existence.

Well, that is what you would have guessed. But it turned out that he was really Captain Paul Koenig, who twice crossed the Atlantic during the World War in Germany's famous commercial submarine, the Deutschland, and who thereby became the hero of one of the most romantic episodes of the entire conflict.

The Deutschland, as you no doubt remember, was a sea-going submarine that sailed from Bremen to Baltimore in 1916 with a cargo of dye-stuffs, taking back a load of the kind of commodities which Germany could not produce at home. A little later there was a second trip.

British warships lay off the Virginia capes waiting for Captain Koenig, and the North Sea was full of men-of-war. Getting past them was about as ticklish a job as the war could offer. Captain Koenig, by any standard, had a romantic and adventuresome time of it.

And yet—well, there was his picture, and the most clairvoyant of mortals would not have dreamed, looking at it, that it was the picture of a famous adventurer who defied death at the bottom of the sea.

But that's the way it goes. Human beings are not, very often, what they seem to be. The mildest-looking man can nourish amazing dreams, and now and then he can nourish amazing memories as well. About the only safe conclusion one can reach is that passing snap judgments on the basis of a man's general appearance is one of the trickiest games there is.

WHEN MINISTERS OPPOSE WAR

One thing can be said, quite definitely, about the members of the Ohio Pastors' Convention who voted flatly never again to sanction or participate in any war; they will at least draw down upon themselves from their fellow-citizens all kinds of comment, favorable and hostile.

It must have taken some nerve to adopt that resolution. And it must also have taken, on the part of the individual preachers, a very deep realization of the fact that war is the greatest menace that civilization faces today—a menace, furthermore, that arises from a philosophy which seems to run directly counter to the ethical system on which the church is based.

Just how binding this resolution would be if the United States should enter another war is not clear. In some cases doubtless, it would be ignored. But when all is said and done, it remains as an emphatic and courageous statement of position on a very important question.

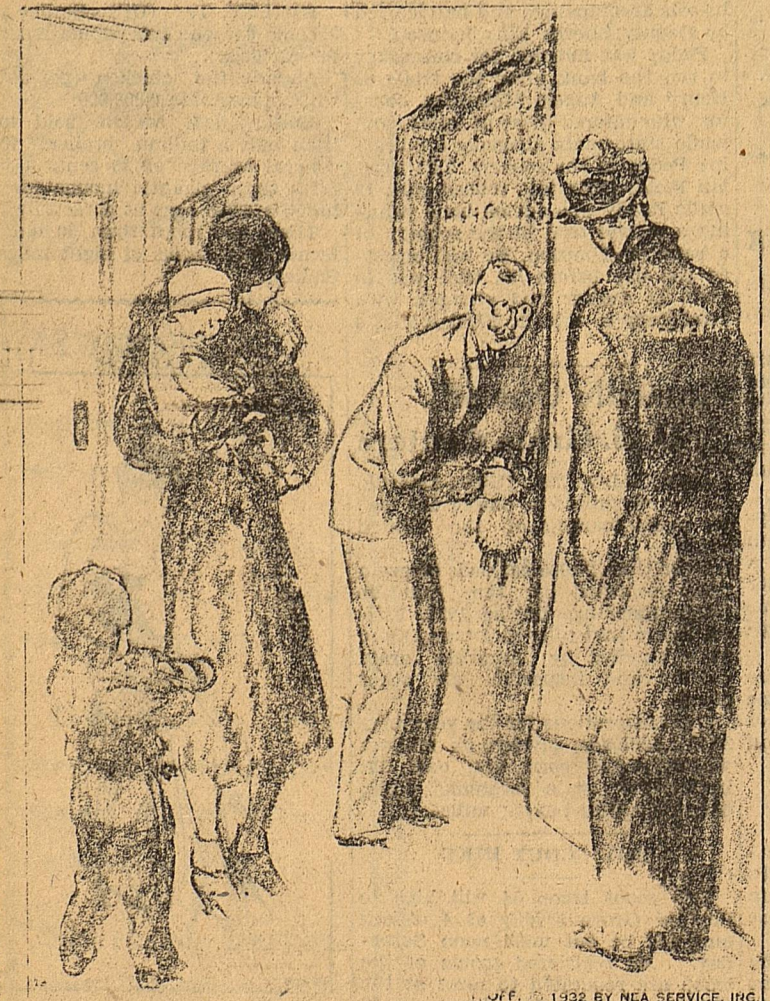

WHERE COMMUNISM GROWS

News that the Spanish government has suppressed a Communist outbreak in a dozen cities and towns is not surprising. The Reds have done their best to find some advantage for themselves in the muddled waters of the Spanish revolution, but there is little reason to suppose that they will be able, now or later on, to take possession of the government.

Communism only really flourishes in one kind of soil—where there is a great deal of brutal and stupid repression, a great deal of hunger and hardship, and very little reason to hope that there is going to be any change for the better without a thoroughgoing overturn.

Such conditions prevailed in Russia, and Russia went Communist—and stayed that way. Spain, however, was hardly in the same class. Communism is such a drastic and bad-tasting medicine that no society turns to it unless it feels that its condition could not possibly be any worse.

Washington Letter

By Rodney Dutcher

Who's World Is Looking to Washington Hoping That Government Will Either Do, or Refrain from Doing, Something.

WASHINGTON.—Notes from our nation's capital: One hates to get personal, but when this writer first set out for Washington, which was several years ago, he was advised by a distinguished veteran editor that it was just too bad because no one ever read Washington news. . . . Well, if that were true, one hates that it isn't entirely true now. If there is any reader whom a Washington correspondent can't interest in one way or another, one dares him to write and explain. . . . Probably never was a time when so many folks were looking toward Washington with the hope that the government do something or refrain from doing something. Certainly never was a time when members of Congress were getting so many letters about this, that and the other. . . . The unemployed all look toward Washington with the hope that something can be done which will either provide more jobs or give relief. The employed either look here with the hope that something will be done to make their jobs more safe or with the prayer that the government won't make any slips that might make conditions worse. The employers either demand something from the White House or Congress which will stimulate or bolster up special interests or protest against legislative projects in which they have no faith.

The dregs have their eyes on Washington every day of the week and convene here with loud cheers for their friends and dire threats for their enemies. The wets send their pleas for repeal and look here longingly for a strong vote for repeal or modification in this session of Congress—or anything else that will inspire hope. . . . The labor organizations, with millions of members, concentrate here for a fight in the Senate against a couple of new federal judges as well as for several bills. . . . The bankers yelp for—and get—federal loans. Also, their depositors and borrowers, all holders of insurance policies and all holders of railroad bonds are vitally concerned in the operation of that National Reconstruction Corporation. And so, to a greater or lesser degree, is everyone else.

Everyone who has an income, or a fortune or anything else of considerable value is wondering what sort of tax increase program Congress will pass. Anyone else who thinks the tax program will not affect him is only kidding himself because everyone will have to pay a greater or lesser share of the increase in one way or another. . . . Some veterans are hoping for a cashing of their bonus certificates by this Congress and others are hoping for it from the next Congress, but nearly all are interested in one or more other pieces of veterans' legislation up before the present session. . . . The church members and many others are keeping informed of developments preliminary to the disarmament conference at Geneva, for which the American delegation has recently been assigned. . . . Also, of course, this is the year when the Democrats and Republicans are anxiously observing the performance of the administration here, though with different hopes. . . . On November, they will have their eyes on the White House. And even the Communists are looking here in the hope that the government will break down and give them a chance.

Maybe you think we're forgetting the children? Well, just tell them to watch the continuing White House Conference on Child Health and Protection, the Children's Bureau intensified activities and the pending maternity and infancy legislation. . . . Tens of thousands of cities and towns, as well as the states are taking instructions from Washington as to how to celebrate the 200th anniversary of George Washington's birth this year. . . . But why go on? The rest of the world is watching us like a hawk, for various reasons—debts, tariff, disarmament intentions and what not. . . . For the present at least, Washington is not going to be overlooked.

A Fort Worth packing house official is the authority for the statement that Texas imports seventy per cent of the pork products consumed in the state.

STICKERS

Grid of 25 numbered squares for a word search puzzle.

Here is a square consisting of 25 numbered squares. If you put the correct letters in each square you will spell out a well-known proverb. The letters in 3, 4, 8 and 12 will then spell a word which means final. Letters in 9, 23 and 25 will spell something a ball player uses. 22, 2, 21 and 24 will mean fewer; 5, 11 and 10 will mean to employ; 16, 17, 8 and 1, a stroke of a whip; 6, 4 and 19, a forcible restraint of speech; 15, 18, 16, 7 and 12 will mean should; 13, 17, 21 and 14, to clean with water, and 20, 10, 17 and 16, to cure.

Aw, Let's Give the Little Fellow a Break!

Kaiser Fled as Collapse Of Plans Became Assured

By MILTON BRONNER
European Manager, NEA Service
(Copyright, 1932, NEA Service, Inc.)
"Der Tag," to which Wilhelm Hohenzollern had looked forward for the better part of a lifetime, seemed near.

Germany was at war. "Rast ich so rost ich," had been his motto since boyhood. That means "if I rest, I rust." Wilhelm had not rusted. In 1914 his armies were the most formidable that had ever taken the field in the world's history. Onward, toward Paris, his gray-green hosts marched. France would be left hopeless in no time; then the others would be conquered, one by one.

But history often turns on small things. A rainfall the night before cost Napoleon the battle of Waterloo. So it was that a bad decision by General von Kluck wrecked Wilhelm's dream. Von Kluck made an error by swinging his German army too close to Paris before support came up. The result was that Paris did not fall.

And so the war dragged into years. Germany's invasion of Belgium was with the Kaiser's consent, if not at his actual behest. Regardless of the moral or humanitarian aspects of the act, it would seem that Wilhelm there committed his greatest blunder. Had Germany not invaded Belgium it is doubtful whether the English people would have consented to follow their government into the war.

At all events, the Kaiser's day had arrived. At last he was leading—figuratively, but by no means literally—his mighty armies into combat. The boy whose shriveled arm had moved toy soldiers across imaginary battlefields, now gambled with human lives and human blood. It is needless to follow the detailed story of the war. Everybody knows that the western front became a costly deadlock; that Germany's colonies were cut off; that her fleet made a spectacular, but useless sortie into the North Sea and fought the battle of Jutland; that Wilhelm, through Admiral von Tirpitz, struck at England with submarines and Zeppelins; that Russia, after a big start, collapsed utterly and made peace; that Britain's attack on the Dardanelles was a ghastly failure, as thousands of dead Australians might testify; that Austria more than held her own against Italy; that the Kaiser saw his armies overrun the Balkans.

The situation at the end of 1916 was all in his favor. Sooner or later, he could have made a gainful peace. But again Wilhelm erred. He wanted to fight on; he wanted to hurt England instead of merely parrying her thrusts. So unrestricted submarine warfare was ordered. That sank the Lusitania, torpedoed by a sub off the Irish coast. That brought the United States into it. From that moment Wilhelm's fate was sealed. The rest is history. Germany launched her last great desperate offensive in March, 1918. It failed. The allies, aided by fresh American troops, repelled with a counter-offensive, and the German lines crumbled. The famed Hindenburg line broke as the allies drove them back. By November it was a rout.

He continued to regard himself as the "All Highest." Others might forget that. He never did. The checkered black and white royal flag floated from his house. The silver and plate on the table were marked with the big imperial letter "W". The chairs, the tapestries, the hangings all had their crown and "W". His guests—the remnants of royalist Germany—came with their full pre-war titles, just as if the war had never happened and just as if Germany were not a republic. "His Imperial Majesty" even ordained the attire in which they should appear in his august presence.

So ends the story of the man with the shriveled arm. According to the cards, this withered member was destined to wield the scepter over a large part of the world. But the cards lied. It became, instead, the instrument of an old man for chopping down trees on a lonely estate in Holland, an old man whom kindly nature seems to have spared the bitter pangs of defeat by preserving his illusions of grandeur and power. In the eyes of millions before the war, he was a king. The feeling has never left him. In his own eyes, he come, Wilhelm, thinking of anything else but suicide, was packing his bags for his flight to Holland. He left old Hindenburg, a noble patriot, to gather up and bring home the battered armies as best he could. From his retreat, he sent word that he had abdicated as emperor of Germany but not as king of Prussia. They sent word back that he had been renounced as both. Mobs surged the streets of Berlin and other German cities. Everywhere the outcry was against the emperor and the Hohenzollerns. His pictures were torn down, he was reviled by the nation which had dreamed his dreams of greatness—until the illusion faded.

The years in Holland became those of an old man playing with the memories of the past—like a child plays with toys. He moved from Amerongen, cattle, whence he fled, to a quiet estate at Doorn. The allies at first demanded that he be surrendered to them and tried for "high crimes and misdemeanors." But the Dutch government refused to accede and, eventually, the demand was dropped.

In 1921, the former Kaiser—whom he had married in 1881 and who had borne him seven children—died. Wilhelm was not even allowed to re-enter Germany for her burial at Potsdam. A year and a half later he married the former Princess Hermine. For a time, Wilhelm apparently held hopes of returning to Germany as its monarch. But this was impossible. So he idled away his time at Doorn, chopping wood for exercise. He chopped down and cut up 16,000 trees. He had nothing else to do.

In the shadows the flickering flame of kingship still lived in the man who had claimed an alliance with God; who had preached his divine right to rule, whose favorite phrase had been, "I, Wilhelm, by the Grace of God German Emperor and King of Prussia," and whose soldiers had worn buttons inscribed "Gott Mit Uns."

Have You Sent in Your Specimen of Handwriting Yet?

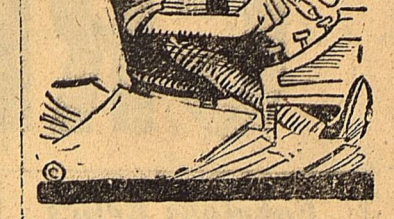

Have you sent for an analysis of your handwriting? Perhaps you missed the first announcement of The Reporter-Telegram's great offer, made yesterday. Well, here it is again: It is now possible for you to have a personal analysis of your handwriting, made by the nationally-known graphologist, Lorne A. Milne. You may have this analysis, which would ordinarily cost you $3, for only the cost of handling, 10 cents, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

What an offer! Through the efforts of The Reporter-Telegram the services of this handwriting analyst, heretofore available only in the larger cities of the country, are now available to the people of Midland. However, the offer is for a limited time only, so you must act quickly. Clip the coupon you'll find in this issue of The Reporter-Telegram. Fill it in with the required information and mail it, together with the 10 cent handling charge and a stamped, self-addressed envelope, to Milne at the address given on the coupon.

Know yourself and others! It's new . . . different . . . entertaining . . . profitable . . . this science of character study through handwriting. And it's sweeping the country! A number of cases are known where a handwriting analysis has restored self-confidence. In these very trying times, that is something that is worth much. Lots of times an analysis of your handwriting will reveal to you traits and abilities that you perhaps don't know you possess. What do others think about you? The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

I am breathing more easily this morning. Ever since publicity started about Pretty Boy Floyd I have been dreading the time when the local officers might get interested and go to investigating some of the local scions bearing the last name of the notorious outlaw and bank robbery leader. The picture shown here of Pretty Boy Floyd, for whose capture, dead or alive, the acting governor of Oklahoma, has offered a reward of $1,000, clears up the thought that was bothering me. At least one of the local Floyd boys, and maybe three, could qualify for

What are your strong and weak points? Lorne A. Milne, the Reporter-Telegram's handwriting analyst, who has analyzed the handwriting of thousands at $3 each, will tell you. But it won't cost you $3! sex, for she adds: "Women do not realize how much of their charm they lose by revealing in public the mysteries of their makeup and the secrets of their boudoir." HE'D BAR PUFFS AND LIPSTICK Curonsky, popular writer and caricaturist, who in private life is Maurice Sallant, admits that women should be welcome to a well-ordered dinner because, after all, he says, they are admitted to Heaven, but he stoutly denies that they should be admitted if they are going to use a powder puff and lipstick there...

"What! A comb, a puff and rouge at table?" he asks. "Why not a sponge, nail scissors, and all the other paraphernalia of the boudoir? They should use them before or after, or not at all." "Women who smoke between courses, or when the cheese is passed around because they do not happen to like cheese, are lacking in courtesy, taste and brains," he says. "They should be shunned as one of the most terrible plagues in the realm of good eating."

Another practice condemned as a plague is the use by women of tenuous perfumes in the atmosphere of food and wine. This explains, according to G. Dumont-Lespine, vice president of the Association of the Regional Gastronomes, why some male dinner companions often turn out to be bad-tempered and irritable after having started off perfectly charming and happy. IT'S A CASE OF COMMON SENSES! "When a wine waiter whispers such magic words as 'Haut Brion, 1914,' in your ears a man will easily turn his attention from even the prettiest woman," says M. Lespine. "But after having appraised the beautiful ruby red of the wine and its bouquet, he turns to his companion to have her share him enthusiasm for the magic beverage. He more often than not will be greeted with a careless smile. At the same time she will, discreetly enough perhaps, take out her powder puff and, prior to using it, shake it considerably under the table. "And that is how even the most beautiful and adorable women contrive to spoil a perfectly justified delight."

COURTNEY RALLY FRIGHTENS BUT DOES NOT BEAT SOUTHERN ICE

FIRST HALF LEAD VANISHES FAST TOWARD END

A spirited last half Courtney rally that netted 16 points fell short of heading the sharpshooting Southern Ice cagers in last night's game, and the Martin county lads carried home with them the short end of a 24-20 score.

During the first half, Jones and Pierce passed and shot their way to a 19-4 lead, but substitutes made in the second half weakened the Midland defense. Southern Ice made only five points in this period, while the visitors sank 16.

The Blocker brothers were a continual threat for Courtney and converted nearly every chance when near the basket. Kelly, Stanton's high school quarterback, scampered about over the court, playing a nice passing game, but had hard luck on his shots at the hoops. Myrick and Stewart played a smooth game, but showed need of practice sessions. Every Southern Ice man scored at least one point except for Dunn, a guard.

SPECIALIZED Greasing Job Free

with each change of crankcase oil at regular price

Friday and Saturday, January 29-30

After careful consideration, we have selected a complete line of Vacuum Oil Co. lubricants, specially refined for units outside the motor proper. We will use five separate and distinct greases to correctly lubricate your car. We also have a complete line of the famous Mobil Oils, and can give you the correct grade for your motor.

Read This List

- 1—Special water pump grease—Preventing leaky water pumps.
- 2—Special Wheel Bearing Grease;—that will not throw out on break linings.
- 3—Special Universal Joint grease,—to withstand centrifugal force.
- 4—Special Mobil grease,—for chassis lubrication resists water and lasts longer.
- 5—Special Differential and Transmission Gear grease and Gear oils.

There will be two Vacuum Oil Co's Experienced and Trained Men at our Place—Come and talk to them and let them show you.

Gear Flusher Equipment

We are equipped with a GEAR FLUSHER to clean out all the loose particles of metal that gradually accumulate in the transmission and differential of your car. These fine particles form a real grinding compound that will destroy your gears and bearings unless the grease is renewed every 2,500 miles.

For two days, Friday and Saturday, January 29 and 30, we will grease your car FREE, you paying for grease or oil only.

We know that the lack of proper grease and the improper method of greasing cars is the cause of a large per cent of unsatisfactory service and the wearing out of the vital parts of the motor and chassis and we are glad to assist you in securing as much information as possible in the better care of your car without any cost to you. Be sure to bring your car Friday or Saturday.

Phar Lap Setup?

By MAX RIDDLE
NEA Service Special Writer

LOS ANGELES.—Slightly more than a year ago, Messrs. Telford and Davis, co-owners of the Australian "Wonder Horse," Phar Lap, published the proud challenge to put their great horse against any horse in England, at any distance, and for any bet. England remained silent.

And now Phar Lap, ruler of Australia and New Zealand, is in California, preparing to do battle against American thoroughbreds.

Phar Lap will get a chance to show his wares in an international match race Feb. 21 at Agua Caliente, against Dr. Freeland, Marine and perhaps one or two others, and in March when he races in the Agua Caliente Handicap. A legion of horse lovers is already beginning to wonder if he will fare any better than did Papyrus, Epinar, and Challenger II. But Californians, before they draw any conclusions, will remember the stunning victory of English-bred Cararis in the 1926 Coffer Handicap, predecessor to the Agua Caliente Handicap.

While it is hard to make an accurate comparison between horses of the Antipodes and those of these United States, there isn't the slightest doubt of Phar Lap's ability.

With money winnings of nearly $300,000, he has won 36 races.

Though his record, aside from money winnings, is not quite as good as that of Australia's horse of all time, Carbine, he has a better average than has Sun Beau or Exterminator.

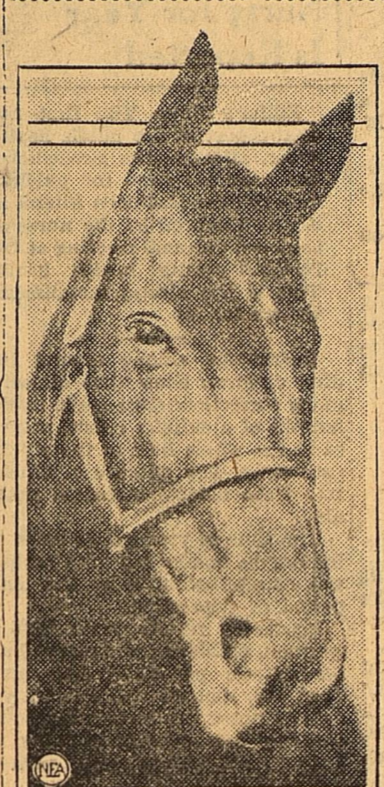

Phar Lap has beaten all comers in Australia, including Amounis and Night March, though Amounis holds two victories over him—and he has proved the greatest weight carrier since Carbine ran 40 years ago.

As a four-year-old, Phar Lap performed a feat never before accomplished on the Australian turf. He carried 138 pounds—15 over scale weight for age—to victory in the Melbourne Cup. And not only did he win, but he won in the proverbial walk. Last year—1931—he tried to duplicate Archer's unique feat of winning the Melbourne Cup twice. When Archer won his second victory in this event he carried 142 pounds. When Phar Lap made his second attempt, 69 years later, he had to carry 150.

For a number of reasons it seemed as though Phar Lap could not possibly win the cup a second time. For one thing, only Archer, Carbine and Potrel had been able to carry 140 pounds to victory over the two-mile course. Carbine had carried 145, Archer 142, and Potrel 140. Moreover, only six top weights had been able to win in the entire 70 years.

Phar Lap was the favorite. This seemed further to his disadvantage as only 13 favorites had won the event, and when he won in 1930 he became the shortest price favorite every to win. Lastly, he was unlucky enough to draw the extreme outside position.

Yet despite these handicaps, Australian experts believe that, had Phar Lap been in good condition, he would have won. There is practically no doubt that he was unfit to run, but when 90,000 people have paid to see a champion run, one hesitates to disappoint them.

That one race will give a fair indication of the esteem in which Phar Lap is held by the Australians. Despite the prohibitive weight he was forced to carry, the poor position, and the rumors of his illness, he was still the favorite.

No one can say how the son of Night Raid and Entreaty will fare in America, but he ought to win the Agua Caliente Handicap with ease, provided of course, that he gets fully acclimated. There won't be any Twenty Grand, or Mate or Sun Beau—not even a Mike Hall.

Phar Lap will have to shoulder 129 pounds—it ought to be child's play for him—and Dr. Freeland gets in at 120. The former Preakness winner is a horse of merit, certainly, but he has always been partial to Maryland courses, and Saratoga. How he will perform at Agua Caliente remains to be seen.

Somehow one just cannot see such horses as Dr. Freeland, Ervast, Balco and their like beating Phar Lap. Vanderpool remains an unknown quantity and, judging from his present condition, he won't be ready for the race. But even if he goes to the post, it is hard to imagine the Campfire colt finishing in front of the Australian gelding.

On Phar Lap's record alone, the horses he will meet at Agua Caliente appear to be a setup for the invader.

B-R-R: 'T WAS COLD
WATERBURY, Conn.—The thieves who robbed Sam Wolk's meat market were cold-hearted. They broke into the place, held up Wolk and his clerk, and locked them in the refrigerator until they rifled the cash register of $700. Wolk and his clerk were released when a customer noticed their plight.

Perennial Matt

From New York comes the news that the Olympic urge has stirred the blood of Matt McGrath, hero of four Olympics and a deputy inspector now. That suggests at once that one of the Olympic events should be a brick-tossing contest. McGrath surely would win.

A couple of years back, McGrath gave pursuit to an Italian who had just killed a man. The fugitive had leaped onto a barge. McGrath jumped to another barge which happened to be loaded with bricks.

The famous Olympic weight and hammer tosser started moving the brick pile, one by one, in the direction of the culprit. As the missiles rained down about the Italian's ears, he surrendered, tossing his revolver into the water. McGrath's name was placed upon the roll of honor for that adventure.

One cold November night, Matt dived 30 feet off a bridge to save a tipsy sailor bent on suicide. For that he received the Congressional Medal.

McGrath relates as his greatest thrill watching the Stars and Stripes being raised at London to show that John Flanagan and he had won their weight events in the 1908 Olympic games.

A hero then, he went back to Tipperary to see his folks (his mother and father are still living). Matt was the oldest of a family of 11. "I was received heartily," says he, "at great estates where they would have chased me a few years before I threw the hammer on their fine lawns. And when I got back I was the guest of President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay."

Rejuvenation
McGrath is 53 now, but his chances for coming back are not any less than some others half his age who are training to return to the Olympic wars. One of these is Willie Ritola, who competed for Finland in the 1924 and 1928 Olympics. He wants to run in the 26-mile marathon, an event that Nurmi already has adopted for his own. Nurmi broke Ritola's heart in match races a few years ago, but sometimes they get over those broken hearts.

Eddy county, N. M., has sufficient proven potash area to supply the domestic needs of the United States for many years, with an increased demand.

Nothing Much Had Happened

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP).—Nothing ever happens at the farm of Mayor Bryce B. Smith.

The mayor returned from a trip east and paid a visit of inspection to his property, an experimental farm near here.

"Everything's fine, Mister Mayor," said his hired man, Bill. "But nothing ever happens around here."

"I'm glad things went all right," the Mayor said and started to go. "Just in minute," said Bill, "we did have a little trouble. Some of your cattle got out of the pasture and trampled some flowers and shrubs."

"Is that all?" Mayor Smith asked. "That's nothing."

"Well, someone forgot to close the pasture gate the next night and the cattle ruined 40 trees in the orchard."

"To bad," the mayor said. "They were ready to bear fruit next season."

"Yes, that was too bad," Bill agreed. "But that wasn't the worst thing that happened. One of our best steers got out on the highway and was struck by a motor car."

"And one other thing," he continued. "We had a bad wind storm the other night. It blew down some electric wires. That prize bull Herford yearling of yours bit one of the wires and was electrocuted."

Former Midlander Among Cage Stars

"Slim" Clayton, giant center of Midland Clinic's club last year in the industrial basketball league, is tied for seventh position in individual scoring of the T. I. A. A. this season. He is playing with Sul Ross college of Alpine.

home on the A. C. C. campus this week. Having scored 62 points in four conference games, Lefty Reynolds is heading the pack both in totals and in average points per contest, in figures complete except for the Daniel Baker-Texas A. & I. series.

Reynolds tallied 31 points in the A. & I. series last week, and duplicated against the Sul Ross Lobos Monday and Tuesday night. Next to him in the totals stands Dixon, crack guard of A. & I. who through his first six contests had chalked 46 points. Third in the standings is Marcus Connally, Sul Ross forward and center, with 42 points for eight games.

The runner-up in the average is Colvin, giant rookie of the Canyon Buffaloes. Colvin slipped in 14 field goals and a free pitch in the only association series the Canyon quintet has played. He is in a quadruple tie for seventh position, one of these being the former Midland boy.

Last of O. Henry

Quartet Is Dead

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—Howard H. Long, who sang with William Sidney Porter (O. Henry) in the famous Capital City quartet in Austin 40 years ago, has joined his comrades, the last to be called by death.

Word of Long's death in Nyack, N. Y., was received by relatives.

Others in the famous group of Austin singers in the 90's were Dick Edmondson, H. B. Hillier and O. Henry.

When O. Henry was still a land office clerk, before his literary name was created, the quartet was widely known as music-makers and sang at many gatherings and celebrations for years.

Tourist Trade Here A Thriving Industry

Value of the tourist business in Midland is among the four leading industries, figures compiled by the Midland chamber of commerce indicate. Midland's highway interests are represented largely through the Broadway of America Highway association, which received financial assistance from the chamber's budget, and by direct representation in such highway matters as the Weatherford-Ranger cut-off.

National tourist data is cited as follows: That tourist business on the Broadway of America highway is capable of tremendous development within a comparatively short while is readily understood when one considers the report of the work of the Colorado association for the year 1930, when through the efforts of that organization, a total increase in tourist business of $150,000,000 accrued to that state, plus an increase in revenues from gasoline taxes of $1,000,000, thus proving that the tourist business, like all other classes of business, "goes where it is invited."

Of like interest is the report of the "All-Year Club of Southern California" (a purely tourist bureau, composed of 10 Southern California counties) covering the 10 year period from 1920 to 1930.

According to this report, tourist expenditures increased from $62,000,000 in 1920 to $418,526,192 in 1930. Repeated checks showed 92 per cent of the new arrivals to be well financed and in Southern California for pleasure; 85 per cent of motor tourists automobiles to be less than two years old, and less than two per cent of the total to be shabby cars. It was shown that of ten tourists who came to visit, one returned to locate and invest.

That these "new settlers" in the Southern California country were of the most substantial and desirable type is evidenced by the 197 per cent increase in taxable wealth of these counties during the period, as compared with a population increase of 113 per cent.

It is found that along the route of a certain transcontinental highway competitor of the Broadway, every city supplies its hotels, tourist camps, et cetera, with literature concerning all points of interest, of whatever character, in or adjacent to the said city, the said hotels, tourist camps, etc., in turn distributing this literature to their guests with the invitation to linger.

Coyote's Cry to Be Heard Less

SAN ANTONIO, (UP)—The weird call of the coyote in the brush country of southwest Texas will be heard less often in 1932.

Over one-tenth of the state's coyote population was killed last year by the 83 men employed by the Texas division of the predatory animal control, U. S. biological survey, C. R. Landon, supervisor of the eradication program, reported 10,342 coyotes killed and 1,428 coyotes poisoned last year.

Most of the work centered in southern and southwestern border sections of the state, where coyotes prey on sheep, goats, poultry and stock. The wolves are the boldest marauders of the state, often slaying sheep and chickens apparently for the sport of it, Landon declared.

ers' everywhere, will be presented in the belief that they will be of help to us in meeting the difficulties that we are constantly encountering.

And these facts, important to all of us, will be presented by men and women who are numbered among the best agricultural lecturers and demonstrators in the country in a manner that is interesting, fascinating, gripping.

Local committees are preparing a program that will include discussions of the farm and home problems that are most common in this community, and the agricultural extension department of the International Harvester company, which is co-operating with our local people in conducting the short course, is doing, and will continue to do everything possible to make it of great and lasting benefit to all who attend.

The schools have been especially invited to co-operate in the meeting. Farmers and business men are urged to make this their short course. They will be benefitted much more than they may now realize. All women—housewives, club women, teachers, the woman on the farm, the woman in town—will be greatly interested and greatly helped if they will attend as many of the meetings as possible.

They will be particularly benefitted by hearing the talks of Miss Grace Marian Smith—farm girl, farm woman, rural teacher, city teacher, extension worker for the U. S. department of agriculture dur-

ENDS ASTHMA AGONY OF 6 YRS. IN 24 HOURS

New Prescription Works Wonders Trial Supply Sent FREE

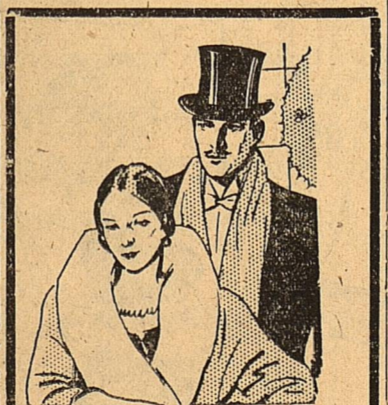

"For six years I suffered the terrible tortures of asthma, gasping, strangling, choking, coughing and wheezing. Tried everything, but only temporary relief.

"Then a new prescription came into my hands. It stopped all choking and gasping almost instantly. Within 24 hours I could lie down and sleep in comfort all night long. It was really astonishing how soon I got well and I haven't had one attack since. My recovery was so complete that I had no trouble getting a $10,000 life insurance policy. The doctor could not find a trace of asthma. I will prove this by a sworn affidavit from the Doctor who examined me.

"If you suffer in a similar way this new prescription should quickly end your asthma tortures as it did mine. Try it. I will gladly give you a generous trial supply FREE. Advertisement for Tattoo Trade: 'BUCKS SLUMP. BOSTON, (UP)—Take it from Dad, the tattoo trade is bucking the depression as well as any other established business. Dad is the professional name of E. W. Liberty, rotund veteran welder of the tinted needle, with quarters in a bootblack parlor on the rim of Boston's riato. "My profits have fallen off about 10 to 15 per cent," said Dad. "But I can't kick. I'm making a living. I sliced prices as much as 75 per cent when things got tough. In this way I kept most of my old customers and got some new ones." "Big Jobs" A few "big" jobs have helped this glorifier of the manly art to keep in the black ink. "For instance," Dad declared, "take that fellow C. E. Church, whose tattooed back is shown in the framed picture on the wall. I put about 700 designs on him, from toes to neck. They've just won him a circus contract. It took me two years to finish the job. That Madonna and Child" by Siceel that covers his entire back took four months alone. Dad has used his art to tattoo imitation eyebrows on persons lacking them. Not long ago he tattooed imitation hair on the head of a Massachusetts Institute of Technology instructor who was burned in a chemical laboratory explosion. Removal Cost High "Young men frequently return to have the tattoos removed, which usually means they're engaged and the girls don't like the decorations," Dad explained. The removal incident the war, and able lecturer and writer on household and other subjects relating to women's work. H. S. Mobley and L. A. Hawkins will have prominent places on the program.
