SOME "WORLD LEADERS" NEED STERILIZING

Probably it was only natural that the sterilization of mental defectives should be forced on public attention these days by Germany, a nation which has turned back formally on democracy.

That is to say, that there is more or less of a parallel between the theory that the ordinary man has not the intelligence to govern himself properly and the theory that society must, in self-protection, deny to those at the very bottom of the heap the right to reproduce their kind.

Both rest on a basic distrust of the mass of mankind, in that both assume that society as a whole will be much better off if it puts all its affairs uncomplainingly into the hands of a chosen few at the top.

An intelligent comment on this attitude was made not long ago by Dr. W. D. Tait, professor of psychology at McGill University, Montreal. Dr. Tait remarked that society's worst ills come from the things that are done—not by the mental defectives, but by those who are smarter than their fellows.

And he slyly suggests that, if we are to sterilize anyone, it will be the smart boys rather than the congenital dumbbells.

"Child labor, sweatshops, religious, political and racial persecution, stock manipulations, bank delinquencies, graft at the expense of the country, intrigues of high-grade murder, war and its horrors, are not caused by the morons, but by the intelligent," he asserts.

"In my opinion, the greatest menace to civilization really is the man who is just a little bit smarter than the rest."

Now here is a thought worth pondering. Whatever one may say about the weaknesses which democracy has displayed in these troublous post-war years, the outstanding fact is simply that it is leadership itself which has failed.

The ills from which the world suffers today didn't arise because the great mass of people had been blind and stupid. They grew because the leaders muffed their opportunities, failed in vision, and listened too attentively to the claims of self-interest.

Protecting ourselves against the mentally sub-normal is relatively a simple proposition. The big job is to find some way of keeping tab on what the smart boys are doing.

PROOF OF GREATNESS

It is a graceful and public-spirited thing that those famous physicians, Minnesota's Mayo brothers, have done in giving an additional $500,000 for medical research to the University of Minnesota.

Their explanation is that, since the money originally came from the sick, "we believe that it ought to return to the sick in the form of advanced medical education."

This country seldom has produced any more truly useful citizens than these Mayo brothers. And, incidentally, by their generosity to the cause of medical science, they seem to have demonstrated pretty clearly that a desire for riches is not the only motive that can cause a talented man to give his best efforts to his job.

MODERNISM GONE RAMPANT

This modern world seems to take a special delight in thrusting the appurtenances of modernism on the last strongholds of the distant past. The most recent step in this direction seems about to be taken in Asia, where a Chinese aviation corporation plan to install regular airplane service between Shanghai and Lhasa, the forbidden capital city of Tibet.

If there is anywhere on earth a spot which has escaped the influence of the modern world, it surely must be Lhasa. Both physically and spiritually, life there still is keyed to the notes of the Middle Ages. To go there is to step from the twentieth century into the twelfth.

And now a commercial air line is about to make Lhasa a regular port of call—an air line, incidentally, dominated by American capital.

Could there be a more striking illustration of the modern world's refusal to let its isolated backwaters go undisturbed?

Crews Clear Rail Crash Scene

With mighty cranes in action, lifting hundreds weighing many tons, this picture shows the rapid progress being made in clearing the wreckage after the crash of a Pennsylvania railroad train in Pittsburgh which cost at least 10 lives. One of the derailed coaches is being swung upright and another which toppled from the tracks is seen below, with the tender at extreme lower left.

What Has Happened Ellie, daughter of the wealthy Alexander Andrews, is snatched from the side of her husband, King Westley, by her father immediately after the wedding ceremony in New York. The father, believing Westley a fortune-seeker, takes Ellie against her will on his yacht to Florida. She escapes and is making her way back to New York via bus. She becomes acquainted with young Peter Warnie. Peter, to save Ellie from the advances of Shapley, a traveling salesman, says that Ellie is his wife. Though they are continually arguing, Ellie and Peter are thrown together continually because of the odd circumstance. When the bus is stalled for a night because of a washed out bridge, Warnie and Ellie spend the night in the same cottage—though a blanket, hung on a clothesline, serves as a barrier between their two cots. It is the next morning and Ellie has just borrowed Peter's robe to go outside to the "outdoor washroom."

CHAPTER IV Ellie, flopping about hitherously in Peter's huge robe, ran out. When she returned, Peter was busy selecting the small table. "High time you got back," said Peter without turning. "I met some very interesting women at the showers. We got to chatting about this and that. You know how time flies." "Hurry up and get dressed." In a surprisingly few minutes, Ellie was dressed. She sniffed hungrily. "Mr. my scrambled eggs!" "Eggs," corrected Peter. "One egg—one roll—black coffee. That's your ration till lunch. Any complaints?" "None," said Ellie, cheerfully. "No complaints." "I'd have gotten you some cream, but it meant buying a whole pint."

Nazi-Heimwehr Go-Between

Reported ready to act as go-between in the effort to bring German Nazi leaders and chiefs of the Austrian Heimwehr together for a round-table conference is Archduke Anton (above), husband of Princess Helena of Rumania. He is said to be ready to fly confidential messages between Germany and Austria in the move to effect a truce between the Fascist regimes.

walked away from the table. "You must enjoy this. I mean, helping me to get to him." "The pleasure is still all yours." "Did you ever meet my Dad?" asked Ellie. "No, thanks." "You'd be crazy about him. Except when he gets stubborn. Can you imagine—kidnaping me the way he did? The gang back home are laughing their silly heads off." "That's what you get for not minding Papa."

5 cents a pound. Bred yearlings are selling at $5 a head while buyers are bidding on yearling ewes out of the wool at $5, which is the standard price for good ones. Mutton goats are selling at $2 a head, a rise of 50 cents in recent days. Ranchmen are asking $3 for nannies. A sharp increase in unsold mohair in West Texas was shown recently when the Sonora Wool and Mohair company received bids from three firms in one day. Prices were mohair will bring 40 to 50 cents a pound this spring. The state's clip will be about 5,500,000 pounds with not more than eight per cent of it kid hair. Shearing already is under way. Wool buyers are out in the country and the general belief is that efforts to contract wool are being made by several houses. Ranchmen with good stock of clip say they will not take less than 35 cents a pound.

For Hard Coughs or Colds That Worry You

Cremulsion is made to give supreme help for coughs or colds. It combines seven helps in one—the best helps known to science. It is for quick relief, for safety. For careful people, more and more, use it for every cough that starts. No one knows where a cough may lead. No one can tell which factor will do most. That depends on the type of cold. Cremulsion costs a little more than lesser helps. But it means the utmost help. And it costs you nothing if it fails to bring the quick relief you seek. Your druggist guarantees it. Use it for safety's sake. (adv.)

Mission Study Book Discussed at Circle Meetings

Chapters from a mission study book, "Industry and Christianity in America," were discussed at meetings of Methodist circles Monday afternoon.

The Mary Scharbauer circle met with Mrs. James W. Day at her home, 316 N. Baird. After a brief business meeting Mrs. Kenneth C. Minter taught the lesson study, assisted by Mrs. Harvey Fryar. Attending were Mmes. Jackson, Minter, C. G. Watson, M. V. Coman, W. A. Black, Jess Prothro, Otis Ligon, Fryar, Joe Capriola, Frank Adams, John Haley, C. M. Goldsmith, Ellis Connor, Kirby Sims, J. H. Rhoden and the hostess.

Mrs. L. B. Hankins was hostess to the Laura Haygood circle at her home, 810 W. Kansas. Mrs. A. J. Norwood's opening prayer was followed by a business session, after which Mrs. J. L. Tidwell, study leader, presented a lesson from the study book. Each member attending presented brief excerpts from the lesson that had previously been assigned to them. "The Forgotten Woman" was discussed by Mrs. Noel G. Oates, after which Mrs. Hankins gave a resume of an article by Frazier Huns entitled "The Church Rolls Up Its Sleeves Again" or "America Learning to Dream Again." Prayers written by the author of the mission study book were read by Mmes. Hankins and Henry Hancock as a benediction. Present were Mmes. D. E. Holster, Edgar Truelove, C. B. Ponder, A. B. Stickle, Frank Prothro, Norwood, Tidwell, J. T. Pollard, E. B. Patterson, Hancock, Oates, Everett Klebold, C. E. Nolan, Hankins, J. F. Nixon, J. W. Day, Lloyd Pittman and J. A. Andrews.

Mrs. Terry Elkin was hostess to the Belle Bennett circle Monday afternoon. A business session was held during which serving of a dinner for Rotary Ladies' night was discussed. Mrs. A. P. Baker, leader of the study course, was assisted on the program by Mmes. Fletcher, Curry and W. I. Pratt. An announcement was made that all study books should be turned in to Mrs. Paul Moore this week. Members in attendance were Curry, Phil Scharbauer, C. B. Addison, E. J. Voliva, Johnnie Ratliff, John Dabbs, John Edwards, J. R. Martin, Pratt, C. L. Hafer, Caldwell, Underwood and Baker.

Mountain Lion an Arrant Coward, Biologist Says

HAMILTON, Mont. (U.P.)—They call him "cougar," puma, panther, painter and mountain lion—but by any name, he's a coward. Such was the disillusioning statement made here today by Lloyd Thompson, former member of the U. S. biological survey, in discussing his experiences with the United Press.

"The mountain lion has been called 'the King of the American Jungle,' but I doubt if he deserves the title," Thompson said.

"Tales have been told of the cougar's ferocity and of the damage he works on livestock. The lion isn't so ferocious and he doesn't kill so many cattle, in Montana, any more."

Thompson has killed or captured more than 175 mountain lions, so he should know his subject matter. He estimates that at present there are not more than 25 lions in western Montana.

The former survey member told of some of his experiences in hunting mountain lions.

"I have killed more than a 100, and I never yet met a lion which offered any resistance. It's true that they sometimes will fight back at dogs, but rarely against man. My general experiences has been that when a lion is treed, all the hunter has to do is to maneuver around the tree, draw a bead on the animal and shoot."

"Wolves are far more ferocious and kill far more livestock," Thompson said. "A wolf has tremendous power in his cruel jaws, much more than a mountain lion. In fact, a wolf's jaws contain more biting strength than a grizzly bear."

'Skataplane' Thrills Hollywood

South Ward PTA Gives Benefit Party

The first of a planned series of benefit parties to be sponsored by the South Ward Parent-Teachers association was given Friday night at the R. E. McWilliams home, 509 S. Main street.

Games of bridge and forty-two furnished entertainment. Miss Lois Branson won high score in the bridge games and Miss Marguerite Carpenter low. High score in forty-two went to Mr. H. E. Eaves and low to Frank Carpenter. In dominoes, high score was made by Mr. Buck Underwood and low by Miss Edna Marie Jones.

A bean-guessing contest was staged at the conclusion of the games. Mr. Underwood guessed nearest the number of beans in the jar and received first prize, an angel food cake. Second prize, a pedigreed German police dog, was won by Mr. J. H. Fine.

Refreshments were served to those attending, after which music was furnished by Mr. and Miss Carpenter and Mr. McWilliams. Miss Jones also played several piano selections.

Davy Crockett Was Great Hero, Recent Biography Relates

DALLAS, (U.P.)—Davy Crockett, greatest hunter of the old West, whose exploits have come down in song and myth, died a true hero at the Alamo with his back to the wall and his famous rifle "Betsy" in action to the end, according to a new biography of the great Texas martyr by Constance Rourke just issued from the press.

Published almost exactly 98 years after Crockett lost his life fighting for Texas independence, this is the first full length biography of the man from Tennessee. It is based on painstaking research in which a great number of Texans and others turned over every available scrap of information to the author. The book

DO YOU REMEMBER?
By Helen Welshimer
Do you remember, one day in a garden. . .
A lovely dreamland in the heart of town. . .
With warm winds stirring in the idle bushes, . . .
And all around tall buildings looking down, . . .
The way we stooped to find the hidden flowers . . .
As we walked slowly down the quiet path, . . .
Or sailed wide leaves within the pool the fountain, . . .
Had left for us as clear blue aftermath?

THE city's noise was vague and hushed . . . the garden
Was Paradise . . . and we had come at noon,
A burnished noon whose flame-sun made a summer
That healthless hour within the heart of June.
A stone's throw from the verdant sanctuary
The city rumbled. . . We were set apart
From life that hour inside a cloistered garden. . .
It's spring again . . . the buildings press my heart.

UNSELFISHNESS WON FOR FROGS; AS CLUB HAD ONLY MEDIOCRE SQUADSMEN

By W. W. COPELAND United Press Staff Correspondent FORT WORTH, (U.P.)—Can it be possible that Texas Christian university won the Southwest conference champion this year without a single individual star?

Old Car Good Enough? Say, Just ride in a '34 YOU'LL change your mind about holding on to the old car the very first time you get behind the wheel of a Nineteen Thirty-four. Are these new jobs smooth and smart and comfortable? And can they "travel"? Even if you aren't going to buy at present, you should read the automobile advertisements appearing in this newspaper. It's an excellent way to keep up to date on what the spring salons are showing. There are important developments in styling and engineering—interesting features pictured and described—which contribute to new riding and driving ease, new safety, beauty, and e-c-o-n-o-m-y. Economy is an important point in these messages from leading automobile manufacturers... Exceptional values, long life, unusual freedom from repairs, low fuel and oil consumption! Economy is the reason they advertise in this newspaper, for here they can reach you and many other logical and intelligent car buyers at a minimum cost per person. Read the advertisements in this newspaper as an economy measure. They save time, energy, money... and even now are pointing out that owning a luxurious, up-to-the-minute motor car is often more economical than maintaining an old one.
