SEC. WALLACE GETS IN WRIT IMBROGLIO

Line Busy

WASHINGTON, March 30. (U.P.)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace was drawn directly into the "red plot" imbroglio through a telegram to Rep. Foulkes, Dem., Michigan, from Dr. William A. Wirt who has charged the "brain trust" with wanting a new form of government.

The telegram quoted Wallace as having said, "There can hardly be even a satisfactory tentative answer until we decide which way we want to go."

Wirt denied that in the telegram he sought to inspire a "manhunt for communists."

DR. WIRT DISCLAIMS ANY ULTERIOR ATTEMPT

GARY, March 30. (U.P.)—Dr. Wirt said today that he was "not attempting to embroil the secretary of agriculture in any controversy" when he quoted Secretary Wallace in the telegram to Dr. Foulkes.

Bar Sales of Publications

If you don't find your favorite magazine on the newsstands in the future don't be surprised.

The probability is that it is among the large number which are barred from newsstands in Texas—barred because of liquor advertising which it carries in violation of the state prohibition laws.

First information that many magazines of national circulation were being withdrawn from Texas newsstands was received several days ago by newsstand operators to the effect of the Midland. It became an actuality with the arrival in those towns of Frank Much, representative of the International News Distributing company, to withdraw articles from the Home and Field and Town and Country, three so-called "quality books," from the stands.

The action is taken on instructions from state officials who have ruled that it is illegal for any publications to carry whisky advertisements in Texas. Incidentally, the regulation applies to newsstand distribution only; mail subscribers of the magazine involved are not affected.

In addition to the three publications represented by Much other magazines equally well known are affected. Whether the Home and Field or Fortune are two magazines which have been carrying a large amount of liquor advertising. In all probability, every "quality" magazine comes under the ban unless it backs liquor advertising.

Several publications plan to circumvent the regulation—at least temporarily. As an experiment they will print two editions, one for dry territory and the other for states which have repealed their prohibition laws, deleting the advertising from the magazine coming into Texas. Whether that will be a permanent policy depends largely upon the expense attached to the experiment.

"We find the expense of printing two editions too heavy for the three magazines I represent," Much said. "They are 'quality' books, and Harper's Bazaar being one of the few magazines that has retained popularity and good newsstand sales at fifty cents a copy, but even at that the additional expense of another edition cannot be offset profitably."

Howard Potential Further Increased

The potential in Howard county has increased another increase, with one well acid treated in the Howard-Glasscock field and another shot into the Tatan-East Howard field.

The Shell Petroleum corporation treated with 1000 gallons of acid the Kloh No. 2, section 13, block 33, T. & P. Railway survey. The formation from 2160 to 2350 feet was broken lime, and treated very favorably. The well was shut in for three days after the treatment, and after being opened up, it showed a decided increase. It was tested for production purposes on March 28th. It showed a total potential of 1083 barrels net oil. The old potential on the well was 514 barrels.

J. L. Rush shot with 200 quarts of the Percy Jones, No. 2, section 9, block 30, township 1 south, T. & P. Railway survey. The sandy lime from 2648 to 2785 feet was shot, and the production was increased from 5 barrels to 20 barrels daily.

U.S. and Japan Must Keep Peace in Order to Avert Ruin, Hirota Warns

War Would Doom Both, Assist Rival Powers, Says

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS (Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.) TOKIO, March 30.—War between the United States and Japan, declared Foreign Minister Koki Hirota in the course of a special interview at the foreign office, would merely play into the hands of other powers.

Neither Japan nor America would gain anything by conflict, he said, on the contrary, both would be utterly ruined, victor as well as vanquished.

which might profit by taking over the trade which the combatants would lose.

"The World War" the head of the Gaimusho went on, ruined every great nation of Europe. On the other hand, the United States and Japan, to a certain extent, temporarily benefited—as was altogether logical.

"As a result, Europe became a little jealous, particularly of the United States. War between the United States and Japan would tend to even things up.

"The rest of the world would derive some benefit, perhaps, while our two countries destroyed each other. Japan and America, therefore, should see to it that this war talk gets nowhere.

No Clash of Interests

"Our national interests do not clash fundamentally at any point. They are in fact complementary rather than conflicting or competitive.

"Our principal export is silk, which you must have, but do not produce. We must have cotton, automobiles, and so forth, which you produce, but which we do not."

"Is it true that Japan aims at a Monroe Doctrine for her own part of Asia?"

"No," the foreign minister replied. "The Monroe Doctrine implies particular area and Japan makes no claims to exclusive privileges in Asia."

"I recently stated in the Diet that 'We should not for a moment forget that Japan, serving as the only cement for the edifice of the peace of Eastern Asia, bears the entire burden of responsibility.'"

"By this I did not mean to imply a Japanese Monroe Doctrine for that quarter of the globe. Japan has no Monroe."

"I meant merely that Japan must have peace and order in East Asia, and, therefore, is taking the lead in a job for the good of the entire world."

"What about your Manchurian policy?" I queried.

"In Manchuria we hope to help set up a model state. If by our help Manchukuo becomes peaceful and prosperous, it may lead to a peaceful and prosperous China. And such a China would be a boon to all civilization."

"Would Japan accept foreign co-operation in the job of reconstruction in the Far East?" I put in.

"Far from wishing to take on the pacification of East Asia alone," he answered, "Japan not only welcomes, but invites, the co-operation of the United States, Britain, and other powers."

Favors Chiang Kai-shek

"What, for example, could America and Europe do, in a practical way, to advance the cause of peace, to advance China?" I asked.

"I support Chiang Kai-shek," the foreign minister quickly replied. "The present Nanking government far from controls all of China. It is sorely beset on all sides by chaos, and chaos in China is a menace to world peace."

"You mention Communists. Are they led by Russians?"

"I do not believe the Chinese of today would repeat the mistake of Sun Yat-sen and put Russians in charge. The result is the same whether Chinese communism is inspired from abroad or by conditions of want and misery at home."

"In either case the answer is chaos, and chaos in China is a menace to world peace."

Discusses War Rumors

"What are the chances of war breaking out along the Amur between Japan and Russia?"

"Japan has no intention to attack Russia, and I do not believe Russia intends to attack us. So there should be no war."

"Russia has sent a considerable number of troops to the Manchukuo-Siberian border. And that creates a certain uneasiness. But I don't think it will lead to anything."

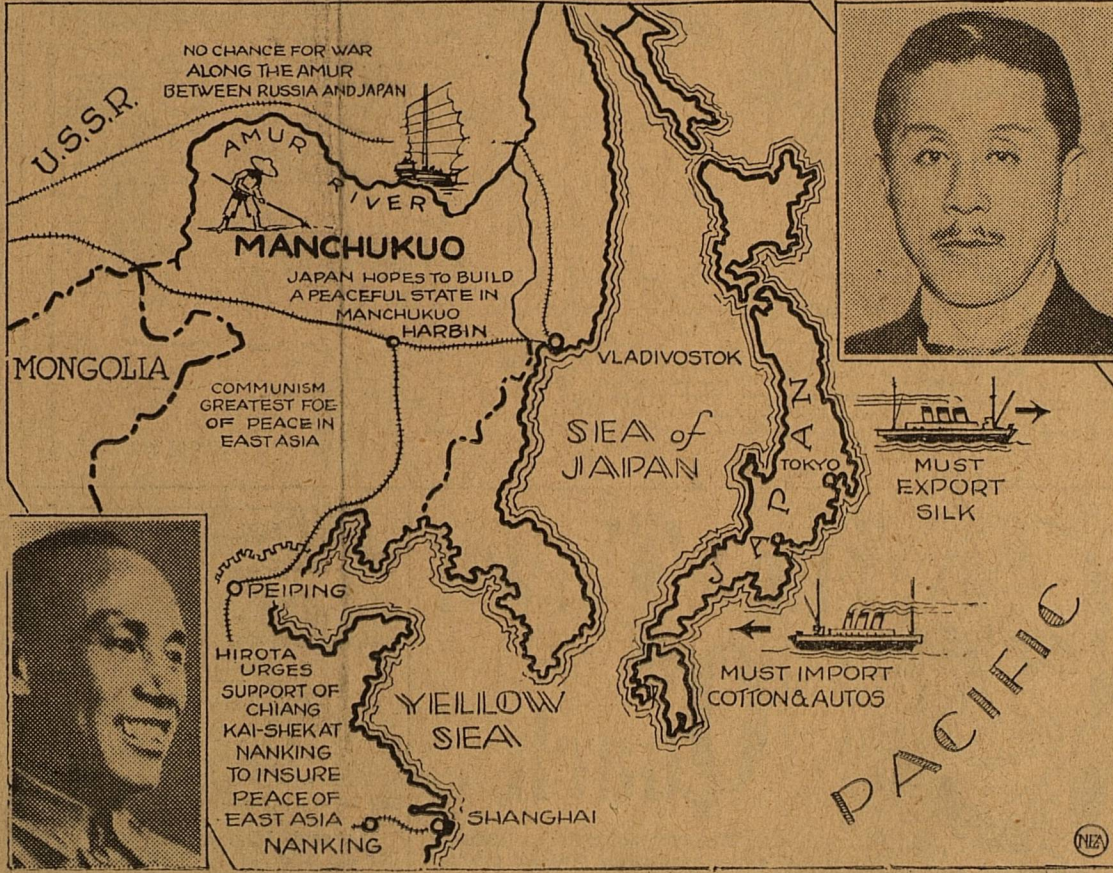

"What do you think China's position would be in a Russo-Japanese conflict?"

"The present belief at Nanking is that China stands to profit by peace more than she would by a general Far Eastern war, in which she might take a hand."

"Nanking now is convinced that an understanding with Japan is more to her advantage than conflict."

Hints at Shrewd Stroke

This statement is extremely significant. Throughout the Far East I have discovered a well-defined belief that China's strong man, Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, has reached an understanding with Nippon and there is even talk of the possibility of the Nanking government recognizing Manchukuo. Should this happen, of course, (See U. S.-JAPAN, page 4)

Japan, Russia and China watch one another warily in the "cock-pit" of Asia, shown on this map. Key figures in the diplomatic game that is being played for huge stakes are Foreign Minister Koki Hirota of Japan, upper right, and Chiang Kai-shek, "strong man" of China, lower left. Railroads, of immense strategic value, are indicated by the "crossline" routes, the Trans-Siberian, running north of Manchukuo, with its terminus in Vladivostok, and the Chinese Eastern, traversing Manchukuo.

WOMEN AND MEN TAKING COURSE

Fun as well as information is available at the Red Cross First Aid school being conducted in the county court room each Monday and Thursday nights. Dr. W. G. Whitehouse, the teacher, had the 18 persons present Thursday night, to perform life saving acts, and much merriment resulted.

The lectures have been lengthened to one and a half hours, instead of one hour, so the 15-hour course can be completed sooner. The lesson next Monday night at 7:30 will be on prone resuscitation.

E. L. Miller, chairman of the school, pointed out that it is not necessary that a person have started at the opening of the school. Each lecture or session is complete within itself. Thus a man or woman may attend next Monday night and get a complete lecture whether or not he attended previously.

The lectures are free. It is not necessary even to buy one of the 50-cent course books. Women as well as men are welcomed and several women have been attending.

Dr. Whitehouse thanked the two lecturers for the entertainment, as well as technical and authoritative information, he gives in his lectures.

Protect Vineyards With Smoke Screens

PARIS, (U.P.)—Throwing smoke screens over French vineyards for protection and fertilization is being successfully demonstrated in various regions throughout France.

The protection is chiefly against the heavy spring night frosts and the fertilization comes from the sulphate of ammonia obtained in the smoke screen.

The screens have been tested to cover from 10 to 20 acres of vineyards with smoke from 30 to 45 feet deep within two or three hours.

The smoke is caused by a mixture of chemicals which are said not only to be harmless to the most delicate plant life, but to give nourishment as well.

The smoke projecting machines weigh about 280 pounds, functions automatically and can be reloaded with chemicals in short order. The cost of a 20-acre smoke screen is estimated at $12 to $18.

In Champagne, Burgundy and Touraine, which are subject to the vagaries of weather more than the Southwest, the smoke screen apparatus is being hailed as a boon to vine owners.

AGE MIGHT HELP SAVE YOUTH FROM DESPAIR

You would think that suicide would be the refuge of old and beaten men—people tired of life, discouraged, brought to the end of the tether by disappointment and hard luck, facing a future that could not possibly hold for them anything to compare with their dreams.

But somehow it doesn't always work out that way. Youth can grow as despondent as age, sometimes. Only the other day a young student in a middlewestern university gave way to worries about his studies and took his life.

And it makes one wish that it were easier for an older person to go to one of these worried and discouraged youngsters and explain that the difficulties of youth are never quite as big and overpowering as they seem.

A lad's career isn't hopelessly ruined because he fails to master the intricacies, say, of analytical geometry; failure in a college course usually becomes one of those things at which a mature man looks back with nothing more than a rueful smile.

Yet there is a barrier between youth and maturity which the best of advice all too often is quite unable to span. We who are older have had our defeats, and we have accepted them. We have gone with our feet shod in light, only to discover that kind of footwear isn't suitable for tramping through mire and brambles.

Youth has all that to learn; and because it has, it has a way of refusing to listen to us when we try to explain that those catastrophes of the late 'teens and early twenties are never quite as bad as they seem.

For each young man is buoyed up by the conviction that he is different. Other men have dreamed dreams and seen them dissolve; he is something special, his dreams will be realized, his battles will be victories.

It is because youth believes this that it is always willing to die on battlefields, or on barricades, to lead lost causes, to tackle a smudged and time-stained world with bright confidence.

Then, sooner or later, the youngster has to find out that it isn't so. And there is where our wisest and most sympathetic counsel is needed. If we can give it, and get it listened to, we can save a youngster from black despair.

Sometimes we can't; and then, if luck is bad, we have that most pathetic of all tragedies—the suicide of a young man.

CLEAR OF SPOILS

The United States Senate acted sensibly in decreeing that the Home Owners Loan Corporation—the principal of whose loans will be guaranteed by the government, under legislation about to be passed—be divorced from politics.

This corporation has a big job to do, and the one important thing about it is that it do the job well—that it help to safeguard the homes of people who have lost their savings and their jobs.

In simple decency, an organization of this kind must not be a happy hunting ground for spoilsmen. More important things than a congressman's ability to hand out jobs to his constituents are at stake.

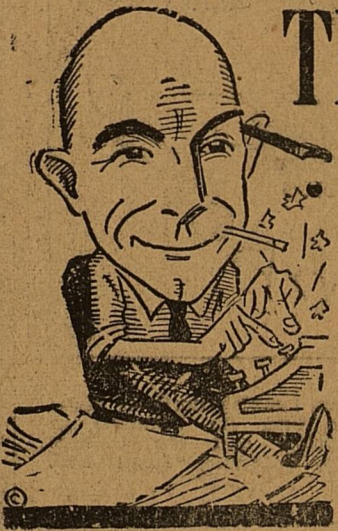

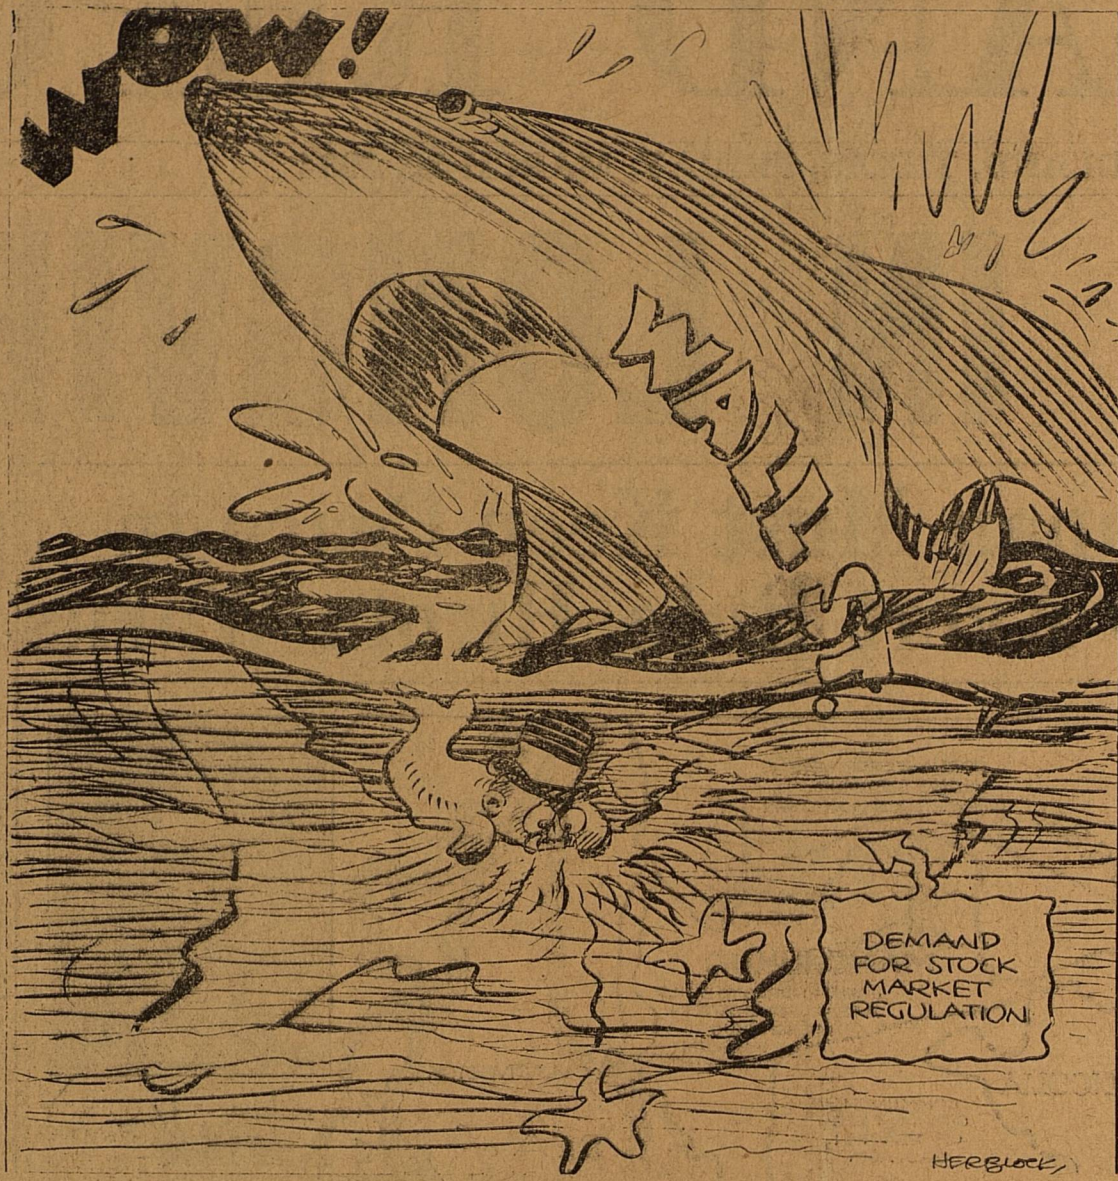

And it is rather astounding, incidentally, to note that the Senate ruled out politics by the margin of just one vote. The narrowness of that margin reflects no particular credit on the Senate.

"TEST-O-DROP" TEST OF THE GULF TO INTRODUCE AN OIL INNOVATION

"The forthcoming 'Test-o-Drop' motor oil campaign sponsored by the Gulf Refining company introduces an innovation in motor oil testing which should prove invaluable to motorists who are often in a quandary as to the time when they should change their oil," declared District Sales Manager O. H. Carlisle of the Gulf Refining company, Houston, Texas, today.

"Most experienced motorists who keep their cars in perfect operating condition realize the importance of keeping their oil level high, changing the oil and flushing out accumulated dirt and sludge with a washing oil. But the question often arises, even with experienced motorists, 'How often should I change my oil?' While the mileage which the car has run is a fairly good guide as to when the oil has reached a point of contamination requiring a change, it is really not the mileage but the condition of the oil which determines when the change is needed. In some cases oil will need changing after only a few hundred miles. In other cases it may be good after 1,000 or even 1,500 miles or more. Even the best oil that money can buy can become contaminated even at an early mileage for a variety of reasons. These reasons are:

1. The oil is available at all Gulf oil stations as part of that organization's free service to motorists. Lubrication engineers have declared that this new "Test-o-Drop" method of testing oil is just as efficient as the "electric eye" in detecting dirt in motor oil and, according to the Gulf Refining company, it has created a great deal of comment from motorists who would like to be able to judge for themselves, from the actual condition of their oil, whether it needs changing or not.

A Gandhi Disciple Returns

How old is she? "Born six months ago on a railroad train." How long did she stay in India? "Eight million years." Her religion? It's "you, you, you." Well, those are the sort of answers that bewildered reporters when they went to interview Nila Cram Cook, the Davenport, Ia., girl who became Mahatma Gandhi's Blue Serpent Goddess, but who was returning on a freighter as a deportee. Smiling and halting, she is shown as she arrived from Calcutta with her young son, Sirois, who described Gandhi as a "grumpy old bear."

U. S.-Japan JUMP THREE

Whether Japan withdraws from the Washington naval treaty unless given parity with the United States and Britain, the foreign minister said, has yet to be officially decided. Personally he does not favor withdrawal. But, he repeated, that it would put an entirely new face on the question of recognition by other countries. Refusal to extend recognition after China had done so would place them in the position of being "more Catholic than the Pope."

YOUR GROCER WILL HELP YOU KEEP HEALTHY AND HAPPY

Delicious Cereal Promotes Regular Habits The right kinds of foods form the very basis of health. You need nourishment for strength and energy. And you need "bulk" to prevent common constipation. Otherwise, this ailment may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy. You can correct it, usually, by eating a delicious cereal. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN adds generous "bulk" to your daily menu. Tests show this "bulk" is similar to that found in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, the fiber of ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of vitamin B and iron. Isn't it safer—and pleasanter—to enjoy this food in place of taking patent medicines? Two tablespoonsful of ALL-BRAN daily will overcome most types of common constipation. Chronic cases, with each meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN makes no claim to be a "cure-all." Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into fluffy muffins and breads. Remember, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is all bran with only necessary flavoring added. It contains much more needed "bulk" than part-bran products. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
