Interment will be at Fairview cemetery. Midway they were in danger of being struck. The Summerhill car swerved too far, smashing head-on into a car driven by J. N. Zarna and in which were his wife and her brother. The Zarna car was driven off a deep embankment and the two men injured. Both were given medical and surgical attention at a Pecos sanitarium. The two sailors were knocked from the railing, but were only slightly shaken.

The Rev. Winston F. Borum, pastor of the First Baptist church of Midland, will officiate at both services over Suplt. Summerhill. Suplt. W. W. Laskov of Midland will be in charge of the music service at Fairview.

Funeral services for Hayes were to be held today at Pyote, it was understood.

Suplt. Summerhill, well known here, was born in East Texas. He was graduated from Simmons university and received his master's degree at Texas Technological college after doing part of his work at Baylor university. He was an ordained Baptist minister and at various times interspersed his teaching activities with preaching. He had given his last few years exclusively to teaching, building the Andrews public schools system to one of the most model rural setups in Texas. He went to Monahans last year, reformed the school and recently was granted 13 units of affiliation. The school was rapidly becoming known for its accomplishments.

9-Year-Old Ski Jumper Shies off

DETROIT. (U.P.)—The dizzy heights of a 130-foot ski slide hold no fears for nine-year-old Raymond Zoberki of Ironwood, Mich., but swift elevators in city office buildings make him shiver.

At a recent meet held on the 130-foot jump of the Michigan State Athletic club at Brighton, Raymond thrilled spectators with several plucky attempts to make a good jump from the high slide.

Time after time he hurtled down the runway at express train speed and threw his little body into the air. But on each try soft snow at the end of the leap sent him sprawling as it had done at least once to every contestant in the past field that included a former national champion.

He failed to make one successful jump. Nevertheless, he was the day's sensation.

Later, instead of taking an elevator, he climbed four flights of stairs to reach a photographer's studio.

"Elevators go too fast," he explained. "I get sick."

ECTOR SHERIFF SAID IMPROVING

At first believed to have been seriously injured, Sheriff Reeder Webb of Odessa was slightly improved today from injuries received in a car wreck at Colfax, La., Monday night, it was learned this afternoon.

The Ector county sheriff and a special deputy, Earl Glasier of Big Spring, were injured when a hit and run driver dodged down a side street and disappeared after bumping into the sheriff's machine.

Reports received here said the sheriff and his companion were robbed while they lay unconscious beside the road.

Both were rushed to a hospital at Alexandria for emergency treatment. The sheriff had several broken ribs, and his lungs were believed punctured by broken bone fragments. His condition at first was believed serious.

Glasier was treated in his hotel room at Alexandria for cuts and bruises on the nose, lip and thigh. The officers were en route to Alexandria to get two prisoners, Robert Bailey, 26, and Mack Smith, 23, wanted at Odessa on hi-jacking charges.

Bayless of the City Drug and Faag of the Petroleum pharmacy were the only Midland druggists in attendance. Mrs. Bayless and Mrs. Faag also attended.

Court Upholds Diluted Vodka

WARSAW (U.P.)—Polish esophagi are softening; they no longer can take their vodka straight, it is believed the first "cocktail case" to be decided by so high a tribunal has come to the aid of tender membranes by ruling that despite tradition and an order of the Finance Ministry, vodka may be used, thinned, disguised and served as a legitimate ingredient of an aperitif.

If all came about when the Finance Ministry—which oversees the state spirit monopoly and its 360 million zloty annual revenue—discovered an alarming decrease in vodka consumption, with the strong indication that the cocktail habit was responsible. A ruling was made that vodka must be served alone, "since mixing ruined the taste of the monopoly product."

What happened to the taste of the cocktails thus mixed, no one has come forward to say, but it evidently suited Warsaw's smart set, for four leading bars continued to serve them—until four members of their employers landed in court. Two appeals were taken before the barmen, or their lawyers, convinced the highest tribunal in the land. The court's ruling was that the taste of vodka was improved by mixing in a cocktail, and the defendant were freed.

The McCamey field in Upton county is beginning to become active after a long period of time. The Texas & Pacific Coal & Oil company has set pipe on the John E. Lane D-2, section 36, block 1, M. K. & T. Railway company survey. The total depth is 2400 feet, and from present indications the well will make about 200 barrels or more.

This location is 990 feet from the south line and 830 feet from the west line of the section. This is the first well that has been drilled in some time in the field.

The Continental Oil company has placed new tubing and rods in the M. C. Powell, No. 1, section 1, block R. S. H. King survey. As a result of the new equipment, the production has been increased from 10 barrels daily to 20 barrels.

The latter course was decided upon and its mellow peal now calls churchgoers to worship.

WAR LIES IN THE MIND MORE THAN IN ARMS

Heavy armaments usually are supposed to breed the fear and suspicion that lead to war. The accepted pacifist view is that nations distrust one another when they go about armed to the teeth, and that to demonstrate your preparedness is a sure way to set the other fellow thinking of a fight.

Sometimes, though, it seems as if things don't follow that formula. During the last few days a huge British fleet has been holding maneuvers in the Leeward Islands, in the West Indies. It is the mightiest fleet England ever has sent across the Atlantic.

Not since the day of Rodney has so great a proportion of the empire's naval strength visited the edge of the Caribbean.

And yet this demonstration has aroused not a shadow of fear or suspicion in the United States. No one has risen to suggest that these maneuvers mean that England is looking ahead to a war with the United States.

Indeed, it is likely that not one American in 50 even has known that the British fleet was on this side of the Atlantic. Of those who did know, hardly anyone has thought twice about it.

Compare that state of affairs with what happened a year or so ago, when the United States fleet held its maneuvers off Hawaii. The whole Japanese nation was alarmed.

The stunt was looked upon as a direct menace to Japan. It was asserted widely that preparation for war with Japan was the only possible motive for such action.

The two cases are almost perfectly parallel, on the surface. But one passed unnoticed; the other led to an amazing amount of war talk. Why?

Perhaps the answer is that armaments do not, in themselves, cause fear and suspicion, after all. If the national interests of two countries are in conflict, or seem to be, then military demonstration will provoke uneasiness and cause irritation; if fear and suspicion exist to begin with, in other words, fleet maneuvers will bring them out into the open.

But if they don't—if two nations know perfectly well that they are going to live peacefully, side by side, as the United States and England know it—then the admirals can parade their dreadnaughts when and where they please, and no one will think twice about it.

ANOTHER HOPEFUL SIGN

A sign of the changing times is to be discerned in the news from London that the grounds of the famous Hurlingham and Ranelagh polo clubs may be taken over by the London county council and used for housing projects.

These clubs, most famous polo organizations in the British empire, maintain playing fields on the edges of very populous districts. All around them London dwellers live in close quarters, stifled as all inhabitants of congested city districts are stifled for want of room.

And here are these two green oases, dedicated to the game which is the pastime par excellence of the aristocracy.

To require the polo clubs to find playing space farther out would only be common sense. Nevertheless, the fact that the British authorities are actually ready to lay impious hands on the favored recreation of the aristocracy is a significant sign of the changing times.

The emperor of Manchukuo is "answerable only to heaven," but since he's married we'll bet he can't stay out late at night without bringing home a pretty good excuse.

For all Greece has done about Insull, the United States would still be glad to return all its wrestlers on demand.

A Columbia professor prefers "America the Beautiful" as our national anthem. But not before all the highway posters are taken down.

Garbled Greta: I'm tanked, I go home now.
A girl said she went out with a Midland man who was so fresh she had to slap him three times before she gave in.
And then there was the boss who told his office boy $2 was missing from the desk drawer.
"You know that you and I are the only ones who have keys to that desk," he said to the boy accusingly.
"Where's your chivalry?" a girl asked a local youth.
"I traded it in for a Buick," he replied.

Army and Navy Joined at Altar

Lee Wood Park, U. S. N., were married in Glendale, Calif. The couple are shown here in a happy pose, immediately after the rites.

She "Figures" High In Skating World

She's just captured her eighth world's figure skating championship, but when smiling, dimpled Sonja Henie of Norway arrived in New York, as shown here, she indicated she might quit competition. "One can't keep on being a champion forever," the 21-year-old champ said.

Austin, Hatcher, archivist. Nine translators were employed through use of Civil Works administration funds. Members of the library staff will continue the work in their spare hours after CWA aid is terminated in June. Mrs. Hatcher said a state appropriation would be sought from the next legislature for employment of translators and typists.

Many theses of university graduates have been based on the documents but none will predict how much new information on Texas' development will be brought to light by translation of the records. The papers tell of the government of the province of Bexar, which, under Spanish and Mexican rule, embraced the broad territory from the Nueces river north to the Red river. Boundaries of the empire were vague, however.

Possession of the documents passed to the Republic of Texas when her independence was gained from Mexico in 1836. For many years they lay untouched in the basement of the Bexar county court house at San Antonio. In 1898 they were loaned to the University of Texas for translation.

Trapped Coyote Is Consumed by Lion

LAREDO (AP)—Evidence that a coyote had been attacked and consumed while in a trap by a Mexican lion was found on the Bruniq "Coma" ranch about 14 miles east of Laredo. The discovery was made by E. E. Hernandez, a predatory animal trapper, after missing one of his traps and finding evidence of a struggle about the scene. He followed footprints a distance of about 500 feet and found his trap with only a foot and some small bones of a coyote remaining. It had been known that Mexican mountain lions were preying on sheep, goats, calves and other small animals on ranches of Webb county but this was the first report of a lion attacking and consuming a coyote.

The British air forces are planning an expenditure of $87,000,000 for the addition of four squadrons.

Two Features On Bill at the Ritz Theatre

"Good Dame" starring Sylvia Sidney and Fredric March, won such favorable comment from yesterday's audiences at the Ritz theatre it is being held over there for showing today and tomorrow on a double bill.

"Good Dame" presents Sylvia in a new type of role. She's cast as the stranded chorus girl, forced to join a cheap carnival company to get money for a railroad ticket.

Innocent of the ways of men, she falls in with a wise-guy "carnie" gambler. His method of handling women is about as unfair as the trick deals he hands out to his "yokel" audiences.

But the "good" dame and the "bad" boy are drawn together, and after helping her out of scrape after scrape, he still insists "dames" mean nothing to him. From a chaser to whom all skirts look alike, March is chastened and tamed to a one woman man.

It's a different Fredric March too, one you'll rave about for days.

The other feature on the bill is, "Should a Woman Tell?" skillfully blending as it does politics, newspaper stuff, racketeers, bootleggers, romance and intrigue. The picture is splendidly acted by a cast headed by such top-notch stars as Evelyn Brent, as Tess Brandon, the District Attorney's wife, H. B. Warner, as the District Attorney; Lew Cody as the racketeer-lover who arises out of Tess' past; Ned Sparks as the muck-raking newspaper reporter, who attempts to crucify the "crusader"; Walter Byron, as the gentleman blackmailer who tries to seduce Brandon's kid sister—and is murdered for his trouble; Marceline Day as the sister who shoots to defend her honor.

The picture has been brilliantly directed by Frank Strayer, under the supervision of Phil Goldstone, and its high suspense and gripping drama are nicely balanced by some grand comedy relief supplied by Ned Sparks.

PENNY AUCTION IN OHIO

NORWALK, O. (UP)—In the first known new outbreak this year of "penny auctions" in Ohio, personal farm property estimated worth more than $500, was sold for a total of only $10.80 at a sale near here. A horse, 20 years old, brought three cents. The sale was conducted in the presence of 150 unarmed and apparently orderly farmers, by Sheriff David A. Berry on the farm of J. D. Knapp.

AFTER 250 DIED IN SAN SALVADOR DYNAMITE EXPLOSION

Here is the scene of ruin and devastation on the waterfront of La Libertad, San Salvador, after the dynamite explosion that killed 250 natives, injured 1,000 others and destroyed hundreds of flimsily constructed houses in the city's working area. The blast was believed to have been caused when a freight train carrying seven tons of dynamite jolted to a sudden stop.

Keeping Tuned Up for the Opera

Scenes and arpeggios and things may prepare some artists for the opera, but for John Charles Thomas, the Metropolitan opera baritone, here's nothing like a good old head-lock or body-slam to get in trim for the strenuous roles. Here the noted singer is shown at a New York gymnasium as he was twirled in the arms of Champion Jim Browninx. It may be the "Flying Dutchman" he's practising.

Money Falls Fast When Londos Shows

BY FRED BAILEY United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP)—Jimmy Londos appears to have discovered the sesame to the pocketbooks of American sports fans. It is showmanship.

The Greek Adonis has made himself perhaps the outstanding sports attraction of the year. In three months more than 200,000 persons have paid more than $250,000 to see him wrestle.

Money has poured into the coffers of the Londos troupe from big towns to metropolises in virtually all sections of the country. Figuring Londos' "cut" at 25 per cent, he has earned more than $65,000 and the year is yet young.

Londos isn't a new sensation. He has been wrestling right and left, hither and yon for a considerable number of years. He does not know how many bouts he has engaged in, but he thinks it is "something over 1,000."

He has, apparently, made more money out of wrestling than Babe Ruth has out of baseball. His earnings probably exceed those of any other single athlete, with the possible exception of Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney.

His record for the first three months of 1934, perhaps the most amazing in the history of American sports, has been compiled while boxing promoters wept because gate receipts were decreasing to the vanishing point and baseball magnates told sad stories of huge losses.

Whatever may be said or written about wrestling, it has regained much of its former prestige as a box office attraction.

From city to city and hamlet to hamlet goes this Greek bearing no gifts whatever, except a claim to a disputed "title," yet everywhere he pries loose a flock of greenbacks where the more pessimistic have said none existed.

In three months he has traveled 15,000 miles and defended his "title" no less than 40 times. Often he wrestled four and five times a week, each of his bouts hundreds of miles apart. He has the superb showmanship that makes the turnstiles click, sweet music to any promoter's ears.

In two bouts in Chicago Londos drew 40,000 persons who paid more than $55,000. Two matches in Detroit he drew 29,000 persons who paid $34,000. Some of the others include: Boston, three times attendance 25,000, receipts $28,000; New York, once, attendance 12,000, receipts $15,000, and St. Louis, once, attendance, 13,000, receipts $17,000.

WAR ON MATCH STRIKERS

MONTREAL (UP)—Proprietors of buildings on St. James street, Montreal's "Wall Street," are thinking seriously of declaring war against careless match-strikers. They complain that smokers are marring the appearance of their buildings by striking matches on the walls and windows, and are planning to post guards to catch culprits and have them arrested.

Limitations Now on Traveling Expenses

AUSTIN (AP)—State employees are grumbling openly against the strict limitation placed by the legislature on traveling expenses. Assignments outside the capital, once welcomed as a pleasant interruption of office routine, now are accepted reluctantly. State employees are making trips only when ordered.

R. I. Wells, chief intrastate expert for the Texas Railroad commission, who returned recently from a series of rate hearings at Houston, Oklahoma City, New Orleans and Memphis found upon totaling his expenses that he was "out" approximately $100. The trip lasted two months.

Wells said that despite careful economies it was impossible to stay within the $3.60 per day limit set by the legislature. $2 per night for hotel and $1.60 per day for meals.

"Some of the members of the legislature who voted for this restriction should be forced to travel on necessary state business," Wells said. "I believe they would change their minds."

Another employe made a 10-day trip to Washington and reported his expenses were approximately $28 above the state allowance.

A man who gave the name of Tom Smith, appeared recently at the capitol to claim wages for employment 54 years ago. He said he worked in the quarries from which were hewn the huge blocks of granite of which the state capitol was built.

Smith said he erected the scaffolds from which the stone masons worked and then went with the quarry gang. He left without collecting his full time and since had

There's a Reason For This Custom In Merrie England

LONDON (UP)—On one side of Oxford Street, London's fashionable shopping center, the public houses and saloons close at 10 p. m.

Across the road, barely 50 feet away, it is possible to get a drink until 11 p. m.

The nightly exodus from the north to the south side of the street for an hour's extra drinking is a sight to behold.

This anomaly of the complex London licensing laws is due to the street being in different licensing districts.

Recently efforts were made to conform the hours, preferably to 11 p. m., but the licensing justices refused to do it. It was revealed that in recent years 67 clubs have sprung up in Oxford street, of which 37 are on the south (longer drinking) side.

Restaurants and hotels on the north side, representing about $4,000,000 worth in capital were handicapped badly by the different hours which, it was claimed "has made Oxford street a joke throughout the world." The new ultra-modern Cumberland Hotel was estimated to lose 15,000 meals a week because potential patrons crossed the road.

Opponents to lengthening the north side hours chiefly were clergymen. The Bishop of Wilkesden told the justices that he did not think it wrong to drink a glass of beer, but as an old parish priest he was opposed to any lengthening of licensing hours.

The Reverend T. G. B. Kay, of St. Paul's, Marylebone, the district in which the north side lies, said "I went to America, and was cured of prohibition. It is nonsense to say the Devil is in a glass of beer." He added, however, that the people who went from the north to the south side of Oxford Street, after 10 p. m., had usually had quite enough.
