VICTIM OF MORON DIES IN CHICAGO HOSPITAL TODAY

Abducted and Taken To Old Ice House; Was Exposed

CHICAGO, April 11. (U.P.)—Dorthe Zielow, aged two and a half years, died at a hospital today from shock and exposure during two days as a prisoner of George Rogalski, 13, abnormal youth.

The girl was kidnaped Sunday, lured by promise of candy to an abandoned livery stable attic and stripped of clothing. The child's body was black and frost bitten. She was unconscious when found last night. Police had not decided what to do with the accused boy.

Scharbauer-Aycock Longhorns Painted In 'The Trail Herd'

BY ONA R. PARSONS

BIG SPRING.—"The Trail Herd," a painting by H. W. Caylor, who in his lifetime was regarded as one of the outstanding painters of western life, is now on display in the middle show window of Albert M. Fisher's store here.

The unusually effective display is drawing people from all over the country to view the painting. It stands on Caylor's own easel, an easel that by its design of paint and worn look remains a mute testimony to the hours its owner spent at work before it. Before the easel are a palette and paint brushes.

Mr. Fisher was a personal friend of the artist and recalls the story of the painting as the artist related it to him.

This herd was group of 500 wild longhorns purchased in old Mexico by Scharbauer and Aycock of Midland. At the time Mr. Caylor was doing a road deal of painting for Mr. Aycock. He and Mrs. Caylor drove down toward the herd and met it when it was about a two weeks' drive from Midland. They spent the two weeks camping out with the cowboys while Mr. Caylor drew sketches of the longhorns. Even at that time longhorn cattle were becoming scarce. In fact few were remaining in Texas with a spread of horns as magnificent as those of the lead steer that, by the way, are now mounted and hang in the Big Spring museum.

Before they reached Midland Mr. Caylor decided that he must own the three steers in the lead. He bought them from the ranchmen and cut them out; later W. B. Currie threw them into a herd of fine cattle he was bringing to his ranch and brought these three brothers along with their tame and rather short-horned comrades to their future home.

Where the brick homes of Edwards Heights overlook the city, the herd horns ranged, grazing as far south as the present country club and as far north as the home of the Caylors, now owned and occupied by Clayton Stewart—the cowboy story book rancher, the rancher away out on Lancaster street. Mr. Caylor painted them over and over again. When he had finished with them he sold them.

Mr. Caylor says she does not remember who both the cowboys were. One of them was Sam Van Winkle, an old timer who was a gambler, guide and good cook, also, she says, a gentleman if the occasion demanded it.

Old West

The picture re-creates in a realistic old west that has gone now beyond recall. It has a sense of limitless plains; one can almost feel the slowing rising white dust beneath the clouds of the sky. The herd spreads out fan-wise to the hazy blue hills of the far distance. The sleepy cowboys ride their tired horses on both sides of the cattle. The picture gives one an idea of the drudgery of herd driving, but it does more than that—it conveys a feeling of power in restraint. This is a herd on good behavior. If trouble arises the picture says that both men and animals could go into action "muy pronto."

An old-timer who has seen the painting for the first time declares that it is the first really good picture he ever saw.

Mrs. L. S. McDowell and Mrs. J. L. Thomas are canvassing the town in behalf of a home for "The Trail Herd." Mr. Caylor wanted it hung in a gallery rather than in a private home, and he was particularly eager that it remain in Big Spring, if possible. Because of its association with the past it seems to belong to the museum. But the museum has no home of its own; it is being housed temporarily in the old fire station.

Mrs. Caylor, aware of this situation, has promised that if the citizens of Big Spring will raise $500 toward a fund for a permanent home for the museum she will donate the picture to the museum now.

Estes Threatens To Shake up the Relief Commish

AUSTIN, April 11. (U.P.)—Carl Estes of Tyler, member of the state relief commission, said today he would await court action on removal of former Commissioner Holliday before deciding if he will resign.

"If the court holds that a member can be jerked from the commission by the person who appointed him, I resign," Estes said. "The reasons for his dismissal were purely political."

Estes threatened to expose details of maneuvering to obtain a change of personnel in the commission.

HARRINGTON TO ADDRESS LIONS

An informal program will be presented this evening when, beginning at 7:30, the Lions club acts as hosts to District 2-T Governor Del Harrington of El Paso.

Earl Horst, vice-president, will preside at a dinner served by the home demonstration council. President Frank Stubbeman will not return from Dallas in time to attend. Harrington likely will discuss the candidacy of Marion F. Peters for governor of the district.

CHI DEMOCRATS FEEL ELATION

CHICAGO, April 11. (U.P.)—Democrats today celebrated a sweeping endorsement of the president's recovery program as they emerged from the primary election, reportedly the majority party for the first time. The primaries were viewed as the first major test of the "New Deal" policies.

Gulf Adds New Ward Producer

The Gulf Production company has added another producer to the Hutchinson Stock association lease in north Ward county. The well, No. 28, section 7, block O, G&M&B&A survey, flowed at the rate of 256 barrels daily on a twenty-four hour test. The test also showed 226,000 cubic feet of gas. The 7 inch O. D. casing is set at 2,395 feet, and the total depth is 2,773 feet.

The Gulf Production company has practically all the production in the northern part of Ward county, and the field has an allowable of 3,500 barrels daily. This last completion is one of the smallest to be brought in to date by the Gulf in the area.

The Sinclair-Prairie Oil company is planning to treat with 1,000 gallons of acid the Lum Daugherty No. 1, section 16, block 74, public school lands, Winkler county, in the Lock field. The body of lime is 31 feet thick, from 3,130 to 3,187, and is producing 21 barrels daily at present. The well is also making 93 per cent water, but the Sinclair-Frairie has hopes of materially increasing the production by the treatment.

Honor J. Z. Means On 80th Birthday Commission Office Personnel Changes

VALENTINE, April 11.—One hundred and fifty friends and relatives from West Texas gathered at the Y-6 ranch near Valentine Tuesday to honor John Z. Means, once one of the largest cattlemen in the state, on his eightieth birthday.

Means came to the Davis mountains in 1884 with an ox wagon and 516 head of cattle. He killed 54 bears in one season and for three years he and his family cooked with bear lard.

Among those present were six of his children; Mrs. E. L. Jones of Van Horn, Sam Means of El Paso, Huling Means of Silver City, N. M.; telegram sent Chief of Police Lee Haynes by B. B. Leese, state service officer.

The address will be presented over a national hookup, including WBAP, Fort Worth; WOAI, San Antonio, and KPRC, Houston.

VETS ARE ADVISED

Facts concerning the cost of veterans compensation in the independent offices bill will be given over the radio this afternoon at 6 o'clock by Joe Bailey, according to a telegram sent Chief of Police Lee Haynes by B. B. Leese, state service officer.

The address will be presented over a national hookup, including WBAP, Fort Worth; WOAI, San Antonio, and KPRC, Houston.

OFFICER OFFERS NEW CURB PLAN

Giving the state and the officers "an even break" with criminals through changes in laws and the system under which the ranger force operates is advocated by R. E. McWilliams, Midland, chief inspector for the state livestock sanitary commission.

"The sheriffs have all they can do to look after their own counties," said McWilliams, an officer for 20 years, including six years as Runnels county sheriff and two years as ranger sergeant. He is past president of the State Sheriffs association and the West Texas Sheriffs association.

He pointed out that sheriffs "can not collect a dime for mileage on expense for the investigation of a crime and then if they do make over so much money, no matter how hard they have worked for it and rendered their valuable service to the public, they must give it back to the state."

"The Texas Rangers, in my judgment, are the most important officers in the state when it comes to catching such men as Clyde Barrow and Raymond Hamilton, and also the most important officers by all law violators. Today the rangers are paid about $125 a month, the small amount of $2 a day to eat and sleep on when they are away from their official stations and are at work. Then after they have driven their own cars 500 miles in one month, they will either have to quit the chase or pay their own expenses. What can be expected of an officer under such conditions?"

"In my opinion, there are many changes badly needed in our state laws before we can expect of men to put a stop to lawlessness. Our entire criminal code should be re-modeled so as to give the officer a fair and equal relation with the criminal. In our law books remove a lot of useless technicalities in our laws which at present are a hindrance to the criminal. Change our pardoning system, make it more difficult to obtain a pardon."

Select a sufficient number of men of mature age, with experience and ability to enforce the law, as Texas Rangers. Take them out of politics and keep them out, pay them a living wage and expenses, place them around over the entire state two at a place, all under the one captain at the capital city; furnish them with a car, equip them with machine guns and ammunitions, place them on the trail of a criminal and keep them there until he is caught.

"Put an identification bureau at Austin. Give an honest officer something to work with and you will see results. There is no person on earth who renders the public a more useful service than an honest lawman who has the responsibility of enforcing the law, and let's hope that something along these lines will be done when our legislature meets again."

Eighth Corps Area Officers Land Here

Capt. Thad V. Foster and Col. Longancker, 8th corps area officers, left for Sloan field today for an inspection of the army airplane. They leave Thursday for a flight to stations on the "western loop."

Foster was a lieutenant when here last, only recently having been promoted. He has seen duty in many sections of the country and in its territorial possessions.

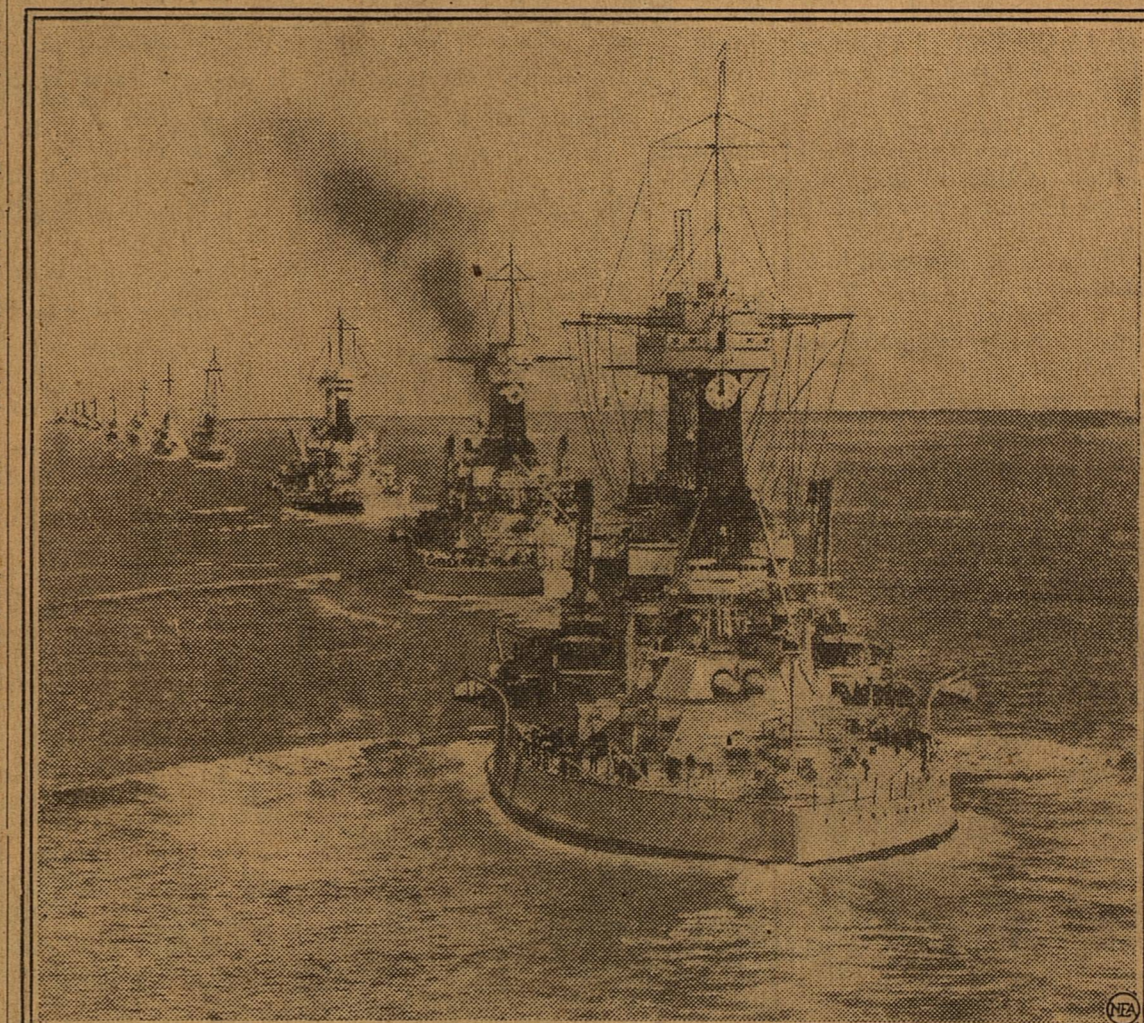

MIDLAND OFFICERS EQUIPPED WITH MACHINE GUNS AND TEAR GAS GUNS

Midland became included today in the country-wide move to light criminals with weapons employed by criminals.

The commissioners court equipped the sheriff's department with a sub-machine gun, riot gun and tear gas.

The riot gun is the first of its type designed specifically as a gas weapon. Important features include gas-tight breech which prevents the escape of gas, instantaneous breech break, shell ejector, sight for projectile shooting, accurate balance. The weapon is perfect for dispersing mobs, quelling riots, routing barricaded criminals, guarding payrolls, etc. Such guns are used by leading state constabularies, most in penal institutions, Royal Canadian Mounted, federal reserve banks, U. S. bureau of investigation, armored car companies, large industrial corporations and leading law-enforcement agencies. An officer may stand off 125 yards with this gun and fire at

HUNTER OPENS THIS SATURDAY

WICHITA FALLS, April 11.—Tom Hunter will open his campaign for governor at Clifton, Bosque county, on Saturday, April 21, he announced at his headquarters here today. Hunter's decision to open his campaign in Bosque county came as a result of numerous invitations by citizens of Clifton and other communities in that section of the state. Arrangements for a real old fashioned political gathering are being pushed to completion by a committee of Bosque county citizens, assisted by Hunter leaders in a number of Central Texas counties. Hunter opens this month-long campaign of the state have already notified the state campaign headquarters here that they will bring delegations to the Clifton opening.

In his address at Clifton, Hunter will outline the basic principles of his "Texas Recovery Program" and will enlarge upon the planks of the platform which he recently made public as the basis of his campaign. Among the subjects Hunter will discuss will be consolidation of state agencies in the interest of reducing governmental costs, revision of the tax system to protect property owners, assessment of a tax upon excessive incomes, strict regulation of public utilities, rigid supervision of the removal of natural resources from the state to insure an adequate return to the state from this removed wealth, drastic punishment for bribe takers, and for office holders who take fees from private interests, elimination of stock manipulations by holding company operations, as well as other items that compose steps in his "Texas recovery program."

Already conceded a certainty for one of the places in the run-off primary, Hunter plans an active campaign to follow upon the heels of his opening address at Clifton.

MISS STRICKLAND DIES

Famous Palo Pinto Recluse Moves to A New Secret Cave

PALO PINTO. (U.P.)—Contrary to rumor, Palo Pinto's famous recluse, George the Hermit, is not dead, but has moved to a new secret cave.

The rumor of George the Hermit's death spread through the vicinity after Palo Pinto folk missed the gaunt, shuffling figure for an unusually long period. His cave near the mouth of Eagle creek on the Brazos river, where he has lived for 20 years, was abandoned.

Little is known of his past life, except that he became a hermit here two decades ago. He lives chiefly on fish and squirrels. On rarest occasions he walks to Palo Pinto to borrow a bit of food. His cooking he does in a mud oven and he sleeps on bare rock, according to accounts.

When he disappeared, it was feared his dead body would be found in a canyon or some secluded retreat. This fear was dissipated, however, when a band of fishermen recently ran across the hermit.

He had changed his habit, he told them, because civilization encroached too near his former habitat. He sometimes saw a man as often as once a week.

Occasionally, there would be a visitor, attracted by legends that have grown up about him. This could not be a satisfactory state for a hermit.

So George the Hermit moved, without leaving a forwarding address, but it is believed his new cave is somewhere in the Fortune Bend country of the Brazos, eight miles from his former cave.

Second Practice Game Held Friday

The second practice game of the season for the Midland baseball club will be held on the Indian Diamond at 4:30 Friday afternoon. Odessa will be the opponent.

Joe Pyron, manager, said the club is appreciative of the interest being shown here, especially as reflected in the good crowd that Sunday saw the Midland club defeat Big Spring in a see-saw 18-17 affair. The manager expects another good crowd Friday.

SNODGRASS IMPROVED

E. N. Snodgrass, reported Tuesday to be much worse, is some improved today from pneumonia, which has kept him confined to his bed for several weeks.

His mother, Mrs. E. C. Snodgrass, of Coleman, his brother, H. C. Snodgrass of Abilene, Mrs. Snodgrass and daughter, Mrs. Boyd McDaniel, arrived Tuesday to watch at his bedside. Mrs. S. Baker of Big Spring, a sister to Mrs. E. N. Snodgrass, is also here.

She is 50, strong and vigorous, and a good speaker.

GLASS AMENMENT WILL BE ADOPTED

WASHINGTON, April 11. (U.P.)—The senate banking committee voted today to eliminate specific margin requirements from the stock market control bill by adopting an amendment of Senator Carter Glass, Dem. Va.

The amendment provides a bond to have control of brokers' loans to member banks of the federal reserve system and that a three-man commission which will administer the act have power to fix margins imposed on customers' accounts.

ANDREWS TEST STILL FISHING

Fishing for tools continued Tuesday in Humble Oil and Refining company No. 1 R. M. Means, Andrews county wildcat test, in which a fishing job developed Monday with striking of 1,500,000 cubic feet of "petroleum gas" at 2,572 feet.

The gas apparently came from some point in the salt section, but its inflammable characteristics were unusual for this formation in the Permian basin.

Humble No. 1 R. M. Means is in section 2, block A-35, public school land, north of the old Deep Rock district. No record of showing of oil or gas in the salt section is available for previous tests in the vicinity. However, Midcontinent No. 1 Fisher, a failure drilled in 1929 in section 5, block A-36, public school land, had a slight showing of oil from 1,500 to 1,510 feet, above the salt section.

SAM SAILS FRIDAY

ISTANBUL, April 11. (U.P.)—Turkish and American officials arranged today to return Samuel Insull to the United States aboard the American steamer, Exilona, which sails from Smyrna for Boston Friday afternoon. It is due to arrive the middle of May.

Will Carve Cattle Brands on Building

STAMFORD. (U.P.)—The brands of past and present Texas cattle ranches will be carved on the walls of the new headquarters building to be erected by the Texas cowboys union grounds here.

Cattlemen and old-time cowboys who contribute to the erection of the building will be entitled to have their brands engraved on a stone and set in the wall. Large contributors may have brands of friends set in the wall, directors of the Texas Cowboy Reunion association have decided.

The building is to cost $6,000 and is to be completed in time for the 1934 annual convention July 2-3-4.

MERCURY RISES TO 92

The season's high temperature mark was smashed Tuesday when the mercury climbed to 92 degrees. Big Spring reported 91 degrees.

REPERCUSSIONS GENERAL AFTER HIS TESTIMONY

Mrs. Roosevelt Gets Back After Her Work Is Hit

WASHINGTON, April 11. (U.P.)—Dr. William A. Wirt, who accused six brain trust satellites of a "red plot" to overthrow the government, was branded today as "Wall street's instrument in the Nazi dictatorship movement" by Rep. George Foulkes, Dem., Mich.

Dr. Wirt was in seclusion today after spectacular testimony before the special house investigating committee.

Foulkes' attack came as Wirt was given leave to go home.

Mrs. Roosevelt said today that if it is communism to give persons an opportunity to earn their own living and buy their own homes she is prepared to let Dr. Wirt make the best of it.

Wirt, yesterday, charged that the government's "substance home-stead" industrial decentralization project at Reedsville, West Va., in which Mrs. Roosevelt is interested, is communistic.

CONSTRUCTION ON SHAFT IS STARTED

Starting of construction in sinking shaft for potash mining in Midland county resulted at 10 o'clock this morning near the O. P. Jones core hole, section 9, township 4, block 42, southwestern Midland county.

Engineers of the Texas Potash corporation were in charge. Several Midland people were on the site.

The Texas Potash corporation has conducted refining experiments that assure polyhalite's reduction into valuable potash salts and by-products that will undersell products of other mines over the world.

Midland and Odessa as thriving potash centers are seen by officials of the corporation.

Haley to Speak at Dedication of Trail

CANYON, April 11. (U.P.)—J. Everts Haley, West Texas historian and now a member of the faculty at the University of Texas, will be principal speaker when the Goodnight trail marker is erected here on April 13.

The trail leads from Canyon to the old dugout of the late Col. Charles C. Goodnight, pioneer cattle baron of the Panhandle, in Palo Duro canyon, which is being developed as a state park. Motorists now can drive down into the canyon to the dugout site.

The dedication of the trail will be the main event on the program of the annual meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society. The new $50,000 museum on the West Texas State Teachers college campus was dedicated a year ago.

Funeral Services Today for Infant

Funeral and commitment rites were to be read this afternoon for the two-year-old infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Jones, 414 S. Loraine. The child was discovered dead in bed this morning. The father is a CWA worker.

The Rev. O. W. Roberts will officiate. Interment is at Fairview through the Barrows mortuary.

NOT SO BAD

During the last two months the fact that the federal deficit is rising to a new high has impressed itself pretty thoroughly on the minds of all citizens. It might be worth while to point out that the picture isn't quite as bad as it looks.

To begin with, the treasury at the end of February had a balance of slightly less than $5,000,000,000, largely as a result of its profits on the devaluation of gold. Although some $2,000,000,000 of this has been set aside to stabilize foreign exchange, the money eventually should be available for reducing the debt—which is scheduled to increase by only $3,796,000,000 between now and the end of next June.

In addition, $5,462,000,000 of the debt represent loans made through the RFC. Eventually most of this money will be repaid.

Our financial condition, in other words, is a good deal more comfortable than it appears to be.

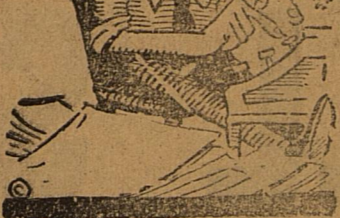

Most of our profanity, says a professor, was in use 800 years ago. Golf isn't that old, is it?

Why do people clink their glasses when they drink to each other's health? And why do they drink to each other's health? There have been several different stories concerning the origin of these customs, but most authorities agree that the custom of "drinking to the health of a person" originated with the practice of drinking first, to show that the drink is not harmful. This little ceremony of drinking first, would predispose the drinker to friendship and goodwill. This came to be a sort of pledge of friendship and amity.

Another explanation of the clinking of glasses reads, "Before a duel, each gladiator drank a glass of wine, and to guard against the treachery of poison being slipped into one of the glasses, it became a custom for the fighters to touch the glasses and pour the wine from one to the other."

In a volume titled "Notes and Queries" published in London in 1872 still another description regarding the touching of glasses when drinking healths was found. It states, "This custom originated with the monks who, when three of them were about to drink together, used to touch their glasses two, side by side, and the other over, the three together forming a sort of triangle with the base downwards, which custom had some inference to the Holy Trinity." days had an unusual drinking custom. Among them it was quite the vogue to drink as many glasses of wine as there were letters in their sweetheart's name. We, to the fellow today in love with a lady with such a name as "Wilhelmina Krantzenmaier" and bent on following the practice of the early Roman galans.

Now that we have the origin of the clinking of glasses all settled we might ascertain how the word "toast" came to be used in this connection. Doubt seems to surround the true origin of the word. One writer says that in the reign of Charles II a piece of toasted bread was dropped in the wine, and a wit seeing that part of the wine had already been drunk remarked, "If I cannot drink the wine, at least I can have the toast."

In early years it was a custom to drink by the fireside, bread being toasted while the men drank. Some writers believe the word originated this way.

But regardless of how these customs originated, since repeal, we can look forward to a revival of the happy precedent set for us. So, if you hear your friends as they are drinking a bottle of beer or a cocktail, exclaim, "Well, here's mud in your eye," "Down the hatch," or "To your health, my dear," you can think back and say, "Well, after all, it's a grand old custom."

Mrs. Lela Wilson Pays Official Visit to OES

Nine Eastern Star chapters were represented at a meeting here Tuesday evening, when the deputy grand matron of this section, Mrs. Lela Wilson, of Odessa, made her official visit to this lodge. Mrs. Wilson was accompanied by her husband.

Before the opening of the chapter, an informal program was presented which included violin numbers by Billie Noyes, accompanied at the piano by Miss Lydia G. Watson, and a reading by Mrs. Beth Bedford. After a report of the district deputy, impromptu speeches were made by several visitors.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served at the closing of the chapter to seven members from the Big Spring lodge, 12 from the Odessa, 2 from El Paso, one from Grandview, one from Eastland, one from Meridian, Miss., one from Fort Worth, Mrs. Wilson, and 23 Midland members.

PTA to Observe Print Dress Day

Official print dress day will be observed by the North Ward PTA at its meeting Thursday and all members are asked to wear cotton prints to the meeting.

Immediately following the meeting, a wool-filled quilt will be given away by the organization. The quilt is now on display at Wadley's.

The following program has been arranged: PTA song. "Growing in Grace in the Family Circle"—the Rev. K. C. Miner.

Vocal solo—Mrs. Foy Proctor. Paper on health—Mrs. Don C. Davis.

Open discussion on why children are disobedient and how that may be remedied—led by Mrs. E. R. Thomas.

RIPTIDE

"WHEN A WOMAN LOVES"

ADAPTED BY LUCY HUFFAKER FROM THE SCREEN PLAY BY EDWARD GOULDING A METRO-GOLDWYN-MAVER PICTURE

What Has Happened

The scandal sheets outdo themselves in making a sensation of the episode as tonight Tommy returns to London as soon as he can travel but Mary refuses to answer any of his messages. Lord Rexford, on his return, is cold and refuses to believe Mary is telling the whole truth. In desperation, she asks Tommy to tell him. He absolves Mary of all blame, but Philip, far from being persuaded, is more outraged than ever at what he calls "cheap play-acting."

CHAPTER IX

After Lord Rexford had closed the outer door behind him, Mary stood for a long time, gazing fixedly ahead of her. She felt she would never be able to move again. Then she heard one of the footmen approaching. She must move. Whatever had happened, she must not betray before the servants her feelings. Forcing herself to act in a casual manner, she gave him an order or two and went up to her room.

She turned on all the lights and sat waiting. Surely Philip would come to her room to say goodnight. His reason would tell him he had been unjust. It could not be that everything between them was over—that her life lay in ruins about her.

Her heart almost stopped beating when at last she heard him coming up the stairs. He did not hesitate, even as he passed her door and went on to his room. So it was over.

It was dawn before Mary fell asleep and she awoke early. The maid who brought her breakfast tray, said Philip had already gone, saying he would not be in until late afternoon and then only to dress for a public dinner he was to attend that evening. On top of several letters on the tray, lay a wireless message.

Sylvia would arrive in London sometime during the day!

"As if it weren't bad enough without her barging in with a wild crowd!" groaned Mary under her breath. There was another emotion mixed with her consternation, however. In a way she was glad. Whatever her faults, Sylvia was big-hearted and one to be loyal until death. Different as they were, there was a strong bond, there was a deep love between them. Her husband might fall her; Mary knew her sister would never, no matter what she did, "walk out on her."

Mary and Philip met in the library when he came home. She had steeled herself to be calm, but when

VISION

To America and Americans must go credit for the greater portion of the inventions that dominate the world today. Vision built the electric light, the airplane, and the automobile. Likewise, it is vision that has made the American financial system the most potent in the world. As a firm, strong link in that system, we take pride. To serve our city and our nation better is always our aim. With strong leaders guiding this bank, you can count on vision playing an important role in its success and security.

Sally Eilers Hears Mate Accused

rifle, it can be shot from either the shoulder or hip. Standard .45 calibre automatic pistol ammunition is fired from either 20-shot clip or 50-shot drum magazines. This weapon is not to be confused with heavy, high powered military machine guns. The Thompson gun can be operated by anyone familiar with a pistol or rifle. Since comparatively low velocity pistol ammunition is used, the Thompson gun does not endanger lives of those far from the scene of combat.

The accuracy and control of this gun is generally improved by the Cutts compensated attachment. This ingenious attachment virtually nullifies the familiar tendency of all automatic weapons to climb or jump and at the same time greatly reduces the recoil. Even in full automatic fire, the gun groups its shots within surprisingly narrow limits. This is highly important when firing at a fast-moving target or when shooting in thickly populated areas.

This modern arm permits both semi-automatic or single-shot fire, and full automatic fire. When used semi-automatic, 100 aimed shots per minute can be fired by separate trigger pulls. By a slight shift of the control lever, the weapon becomes a full automatic machine gun, firing at a rate up to 600 shots per minute. Full automatic fire can be carefully regulated by the trigger pull so that "bursts" of two to six shots each are delivered.

The psychological effect of the presence of a Thompson sub-machine gun in the arsenal of a police department is in itself a tremendous deterrent to crime and violence. The boldest, most heavily armed gunmen or convicts will retreat before the withering barrage that this gun releases.

Thompson guns are sold only on the side of law and order to law enforcement and other divisions of city, county, state and federal governments. In exceptional instances, banks and private corporations may purchase these guns, but such orders are subject to approval by the department of justice of the United States. The gun cannot be purchased through local dealers or jobbers.

Midland orders for guns and tear gas equipment were given following a demonstration by E. D. Vickers, representative of the Federal Laboratories, Inc., Pittsburgh. The demonstration, given in the dry lake bed near the college building, was attended by commissioners, officers and a group of interested residents.

no use."

"No," he said flatly. "It is no use. I've tried, too. But we can not make ourselves over. You want one thing. Very well. But, as it happens, I want something quite different. So—"

"I want a life together—you and I," she said desperately. "I love you so that nothing else matters, what do little differences matter between a man and a woman who really love each other?"

"Philip, give me a chance. I'll do anything. I'll—"

"It would be the same thing over and over. Mary. There is only one solution—divorce."

FEEDERS TO MEET

On Friday, April 20, there will be a cattle feeders meeting on the League ranch, two miles east of Benjamin on the new paved Texas highway No. 24.

About 100 head of calves have been divided into six lots. These different lots of calves have been fed different rations, to determine the most profitable way to carry calves through the winter and the most profitable way to full-feed these calves.

This feeding test was started in November and will finish up on the 15th of April—a period long enough to thoroughly try out these different feeding methods. Some of these lots of calves have had bundle cane, some cane silage, some were fed whole milo heads and others ground milo heads.

These lots of calves have been responding very differently to these rations and some are going to make double the return of others.

At this meeting the cattle will be shown, the methods of feeding will be described and the results of feeding the different rations will be given.

The feeding methods used in this test were outlined to fit conditions in West Texas. Every cattleman in this territory will be interested in the results of this test.

The lancelet, a creature once regarded as a fish, can swim both forward and backward. It breathes by means of vibratory hairs.

SEES GERMANY SET BACK

TOLEDO, O. (U.P.)—Germany has lost centuries of culture in the year in which Adolph Hitler and his Nazis have been in power, in the opinion of Emma Goldman, famous anarchist, in a lecture here. She told of eminent thinkers who, she said, were banished, imprisoned, or driven to suicide; of libraries stripped of books written by "individualists" and the reduction of women to the status of house servants.

British soldiers in the World War ate potatoes that had been prepared for soldiers of the Boer War. They had been cut very thin, dehydrated or dried, and when placed in water swelled to their original size.
