DEFICIENCY BILL ENACTMENT NEAR, OFFERING RELIEF

Housing, Bankruptcy, Labor Measures Crowd Slate

WASHINGTON, June 16. (U.P.)—The $175,000,000 deficiency appropriation bill, carrying $525,000,000 for drought relief, neared final enactment today when the house sent the measure to conference with the senate.

In the meantime, the senate passed and sent to conference the administration housing bill, the last of the involved recovery measures scheduled for congressional action.

Adjournment was expected by midnight. The McKown bankruptcy bill, which in effect makes possible a six year moratorium on farm mortgage foreclosures, passed in the house by vote of 133 to 18.

A similar bill already had passed in the senate but the house substituted some of the language. The measure now goes to conference.

The senate adopted the conference report on the bill making permanent the appropriations subject to scrutiny by congress.

The house approved the administration's proposal for dealing with the rapidly widening threats of serious labor disputes.

The joint resolution now goes to the senate where it first was introduced as a substitute for the highly controversial Wagner labor disputes bill.

Winner of 4-H Club Bedroom Contest Explains How She Beautified Her Room

How Miss Helen Lee Stewart of Midland county converted a bed room into a well furnished, comfortable, attractive room, which at the family was proud of and which any girl in the county can duplicate, the county home demonstrator says, and which Miss Gertrude Blodgett, district home demonstration agent, says, "have been done better, is set forth in the following essay by Miss Stewart:

BY HELEN LEE STEWART
One day when I was trying to clean my bedroom a girl came by. She was on her way to a 4-H club meeting and asked me to go. I went, and as a result, I joined the club and enrolled as bedroom demonstrator. That was in October, 1933.

Our house has three rooms. My room is on the southeast facing the south. It has two windows on the south and east, an outside door on the south and a door on the west, leading into another room. As there are ten at home in our family it is necessary for my room to be a combination bed room and living room. It is shared with a sister near my age.

The condition of the room was not good. The brown building paper on the walls was ragged and the ceiling needed cleaning. There was no paint on the wood work except on the window facings. The floor was rough, unfinished and had large cracks in it. There was a piano, table, dresser, rocking chair, whose upholstery was worn and the springs showing. The other furniture was a folding bed that had not been used in some time, a davenport which my sister and I slept on and some enlarged pictures of members of the family hung on the walls. The room was not attractive, comfortable nor easily cleaned. The screen door was off the hinges and the window screens were not good.

What was I to do? The demonstration agent said: First: have the windows and doors properly screened; second: have sufficient ventilation and light; third: keep room thoroughly clean and in an orderly condition; fourth: remove all undesirable articles and furnishings; fifth: put walls, floors and woodwork in the best possible condition; sixth: put all bed things in the best possible condition; seventh: have furnishings which are as adequate and suitable as possible for activities of the room. I should include a provision for bathing if there is no bathroom in the house; eighth: have best possible storage for clothing; ninth: have comfortable bed with appropriate bedding; tenth: arrange furnishings to the best advantage for the particular room (group furniture for rest, for dressing, for study, and for storage); eleventh: have best possible supply of linen; twelfth: make room attractive and beautiful by means of appropriate accessories and when available by the addition of flowers, berries or leaves from the outdoors; thirteenth: assist cooperators to achieve their goals; fourteenth: submit the following to the home demonstration agent: a. individual report card. C. report card for each co-operator. D. a narrative which shall include: 1. the story of the demonstration (with pictures and pictures were possible 2. a summary of the accomplishment of the club in the demonstration.

Here Are Good Plum Recipes

Plums are now in season and may be found in Midland grocery stores. Miss Myrtle Miller, county home demonstration agent, prepared the following recipes for Midland women:

Canned Plums
Stem, wash, grade and prick plums with a needle. Pack closely in jars without crushing. Make a syrup using 5-8 cups sugar to 1 cup water. Pour over plums, fit the rubber seal, place lid on loosely process jars 15 minutes after boiling begins. Remove from water bath, seal, and store.

Plum Preserves
Prick the plums with a coarse needle. Allow 2 cups sugar to 2 cups fruit and a cup of water to each 2 cups sugar. Let boil, and skim, add the fruit a few at a time, letting them boil gently about twenty minutes. Remove the fruit to jars with a skimmer and let the syrup boil until it gives the test for jelly. Fill the jars 3-4 full of plums, finish filling with the syrup and seal.

Damson Jam
Wash fruit and pick off stems. To seed, place a small quantity in a colander and lower in hot water. Allow them to heat slowly. Press out the seed and remove. Keep water over a slow fire until all are seeded. Use 1 pound fruit to 3-4 pounds sugar and proceed as in directions for jam.

Heroism of 1890 Is Now Rewarded

FORT WORTH, (UP)—Heroism of Al Hayne, British subject, in saving the lives of several hundred people here in 1890 during a fire, is to be rewarded with a new bronze statue.

The new monument will be placed on a triangular site near the Texas and Pacific railroad station.

Hayne, a civil engineer, was the hero of the Spring Palace theatre fire in which a large audience had gathered for a show. He gave his life in rescuing others.

With the building an inferno, he delayed his own exit seeking possible victims. He was forced to jump from the building. In so doing he broke both ankles. Severely injured, he died the next day.

A monument was erected to him, but the widening of a street has put the old monument in an unsightly position. The monument itself has become weather beaten and stained with the train smoke. It stands on the site of the theatre. The new monument will be a few yards away from where the old one stands. The old one will be removed.

Awards totaling $300 are being offered in Budapest for the best designs for holiday costumes.

"In over 100,000 miles I have experienced no motor trouble in my Fords."

"To date, I have driven 29,000 miles in my Ford V-8 without a cent of repairs."

"We drove a round trip of 600 miles and used exactly 26 gallons of gasoline."

"I have not spent five dollars for repairs on the five Fords I have owned."

"I have driven my Ford V-8 car 2600 miles and used only 128 gallons of gasoline."

"On a 475-mile trip I averaged 18 to 19 miles per gallon of gasoline in my Ford V-8."

"Our experience (with a fleet of cars) shows the Ford V-8 is the most economical."

We went direct to owners for facts about Ford V-8 Economy

THERE'S one sure way to get the facts about motor-car economy. And that's to ask the man who drives the car. He hasn't anything to sell and you can depend on him for a straight-from-the-shoulder, honest answer.

We asked Ford V-8 owners for the facts and received 53,448 letters and post-cards. They showed a total of 417,161,640 miles. 91.7 per cent reported complete satisfaction—a truly amazing percentage for any automobile.

any trouble or replacements of our kind.

Owners' figures on gasoline mileage are further proof of the economy of the Ford V-8. One owner in every four averaged 18, 19 or 20 miles a gallon. 18,420 averaged 15, 16 or 17 miles.

Where mileage was less than that it was usually due to continuous driving at high speeds, lack of proper care of the car, extra-heavy loads, or many miles of traveling over mountains or in crowded city traffic. Where you drive and how fast you drive has a great deal to do with gasoline mileage.

This data on gasoline mileage is for the 1933 Ford. The New Ford V-8 of 1934 does considerably better than that because of the new dual carburetion, waterline thermostats and new engine refinements. At the same time its power is even greater.

We invite you to drive the Ford V-8 and let it tell you its own story of performance, comfort, safety and economy. You save when you buy and you save every mile you drive.

"Manhattan Melodrama" Brings Powell, Gable and Myrna Loy to Yucca Screen

New York's smart night world moves before the camera in a glamorous and dramatic parade in "Manhattan Melodrama," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer three-star feature now playing at the Yucca theatre.

MYRNA LOY

Clark Gable, William Powell and Myrna Loy share starring honors. Powell's first for Metro besides marking Gable's return to the screen after his recent triumphal personal appearance tour in the East, the picture is noteworthy because it is Powell's first appearance as a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, and because it marks the elevation to stardom of Miss Loy.

It is the first time Gable and Powell have appeared together. The picture brings about the reunion of Gable and Miss Loy, who were hailed as a new romantic team in "Men in White," their recent hit.

"Manhattan Melodrama" presents Gable as a powerful and dramatic figure of the demi-world of New York, a "big-shot" gambler who does not hesitate to use violence when he is crossed. He is in love with Miss Loy, who is the wife of William Powell, district attorney and Gable's life-long friend.

The situations that arise out of this unusual combination of characters make a story that moves swiftly and dramatically to an unexpected conclusion.

The Supporting Cast many notable players, among them Leo Carrillo, Nat Pendleton, George Sidney, Isabel Jewell and Muriel Evans. Produced by David O. Selznick, "Manhattan Melodrama" was directed by W. S. Van Dyke, noted explorer-director who gave the screen "Exhilaration," "Trader Horn," "The Prizefighter and the Lady" and other outstanding hits.

NRA--

Granted that he would rather run around Robin Hood's barn than really crack down on any industry and precipitate an NRA court test and that codification of 500 industries has shown him to be such a master compromiser that many folks have been exasperated, Johnson's chief weakness—according to associates—arises from the same quality as his greatest strength.

Thinks in Big Terms He thinks best in enormous terms. He can go strong on a national scale, operate the World War draft and dynamite the War Industries board as he did—and put over the industrial organization of a national of 125,000,000.

But Johnson's heart is not in an administrative job. Faced with writing and administering hundreds of codes, faced by a forest of details on which decisions must be based, he is impatient of details and often flounders among them.

Again, Johnson translates intellectual disagreements with him into personal terms. He often assumes those who don't agree with him are simply so-and-so's. His conception of industrial organization would bring employers into one vast group, workers into another composed of industrial unions. His success in getting the

St. Edward's Team Will Play at Night

AUSTIN (UP)—Saint Edward's 1934 football team will carry the defense of its 1933 Texas Conference title into the night next season.

Four games beneath the arc lights have been arranged by Coach John O'Brien. The conference opener will be played beneath lights at Abilene, where Simmons university will seek to avenge a 13 to 0 defeat last year.

The Saints will also play Southwestern university, Schreiner institute and McMurry college at night.

Coach O'Brien, directing Saint Edward's football for his first season, has only one date open. He is seeking an opponent for Oct. 19.

Saint Edward's present football schedule: Sept. 29—Baylor university at Waco. Oct. 5—Simmons university at Abilene. Oct. 12—Southwestern university at Austin. Oct. 26—Schreiner institute at Austin. Nov. 2—McMurry college at Austin. Nov. 9—Howard Payne college (site uncertain). Nov. 16—Austin college at Sherman. Nov. 24—El Paso college of Mines at El Paso.

Under Johnson and Roosevelt—they're loyally devoted to each other—the country has jumped from cut-throat competition, sweatshops and starvation wages, child labor, laissez faire and relative chaos into something else. No one can tell to what extent NRA aided business improvement in its first year. But nearly 3,000,000 persons were put to work again, total industrial payrolls have increased and latest charts indicate that an increase in the average worker's income is beginning to approach that in the cost of living.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Material in these articles was taken from Park's "Public Health and Hygiene," and the state department of health's pamphlet "Typhoid Fever."

Typhoid fever is an acute communicable disease of man, characterized by a continued fever, a roseolous eruption, various abdominal, pulmonary and nervous symptoms, and tendency to certain complications, notably intestinal hemorrhage and perforation. The disease may range in severity from the typical cases which are easy to recognize to the mild cases manifesting little or no symptoms of illness. Some cases often resemble pneumonia, appendicitis, tonsillitis, and in rare instances acute nephritis, or infection of the kidneys. Because there are many variations of the disease the diagnosis of typhoid is some times not made within the first week of the disease. However by making laboratory examinations of the patient's feces, urine, and blood, the presence of the typhoid bacillus may be determined as early as the sixth or seventh day. An early diagnosis is not only important for the successful treatment of the disease, but for the control of the spread of the infection.

The duration of the disease is usually about four weeks, if there are no complications. The period of incubation is usually from seven to twenty three days; average ten to fourteen days. During this period the patient may be in his usual state of health or he may have a sense of fatigue and general bad feeling, headache, chilliness, abdominal pains, and cough are in most cases the earliest signs, from the first week of the established disease the temperature rises steadily, and gradually, to the maximum, and then gradually decreases, until by the end of the fourth week the fever has subsided. As the temperature falls the general condition of the patient improves. The convalescence is however slow, and it is often many weeks, or even months before the patient regains his former health.

Typhoid fever attacks individuals, as a rule, in the period of their greatest usefulness and value, that is between the ages of fifteen to thirty, thereby causing an enormous economic loss. We have typhoid fever because we swallow some of the typhoid bacilli that have come from the feces of some infected person. Because the disease is thus spread through careless disposal of human excreta, and because we have not been able to blot it out, when it is entirely possible to do so, we must call it our "National Disgrace."

After recovery from typhoid a considerable natural immunity to typhoid fever is present, which lasts for years. This is not absolute, as about 2 per cent of those having typhoid fever have a second attack, which is usually a mild one. An active immunity to typhoid fever may be artificially induced by injecting killed typhoid bacilli into the subcutaneous tissues. This so called vaccination against typhoid fever is a procedure of established worth, rational, harmless, and effective.
