C. L. JACKSON IS LAID TO REST AT LOCAL CEMETERY

Last Rites Saturday For Prominent Oil Man

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock for Clyde L. Jackson, 33, Midland oil man who died Friday at a local hospital.

The Rev. Kenneth C. Minter, Methodist pastor, and the Rev. Winston F. Borum, Baptist pastor, officiated. Arrangements were in charge of the Ellis funeral parlors. Burial was at Fairview cemetery.

Mr. Jackson, for the past few years distributor for the Sinclair Refining company, was one of the first geologists to come to the Permian Basin. He was with the old Marland Oil company when the Reagan county activity started the West Texas oil development.

Later he was associated with the Tidal Oil company at San Angelo and then at Midland, resigning to engage in the automobile business with his father and brother, and subsequently entering the wholesale oil business.

He was married to Miss Thelma Pratt of Abilene in January, 1927, she having been in the employ of an oil office here. She and a son, Richard Lee, three years old, survive. Other immediate survivors are his father, B. A. Jackson of Henrietta, Okla.; two brothers, M. R. Jackson of McCamey and J. A. Jackson of Woodward, Okla.; and two sisters, Mmes. W. V. Lowe and A. E. Ham of Henrietta, A. E. Farmer of Muskogee and Miss Olive A. Jackson of Tulsa.

Becoming ill on Wednesday of last week, Mr. Jackson was taken to a hospital last Monday. His condition, caused by acute Bright's disease, grew steadily worse, his death coming Friday afternoon at 1:35 o'clock.

Born at Henrietta, Okla., January 15, 1901, C. L. Jackson was educated in the public schools there. He was the first Boy Scout west of the Mississippi river to attain the rank of Eagle scout. He was patrol leader in the troop which won the president's flag for Oklahoma during the world war, for aiding in the sale of Liberty bonds.

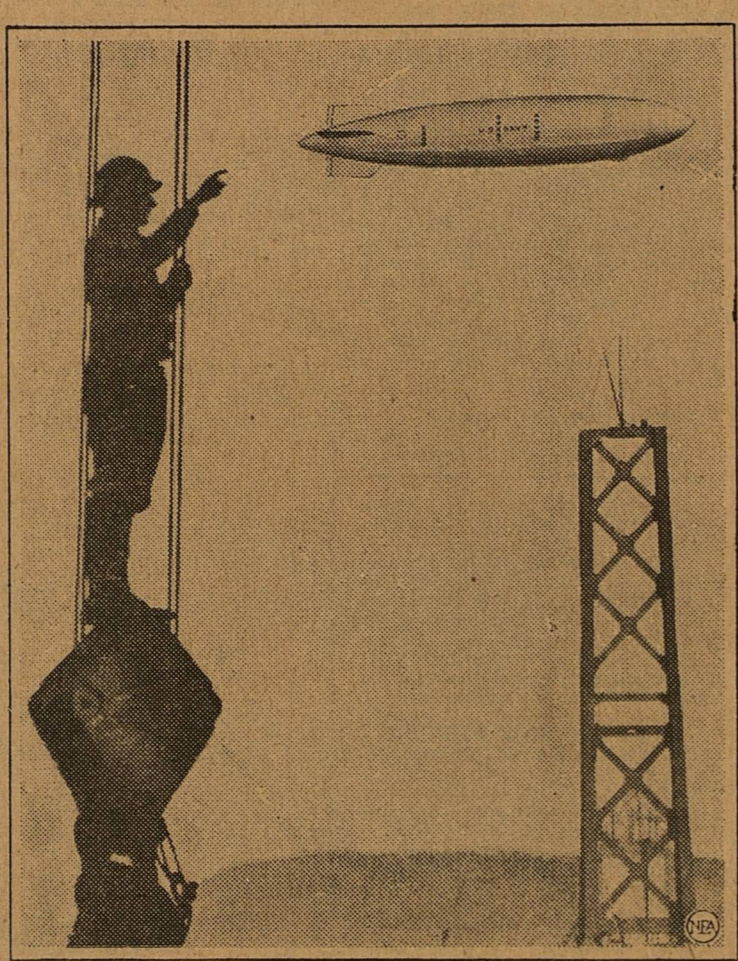

He attended Oklahoma university and was an outstanding scholar and athlete. There he majored in geology and accounting. After coming to West Texas he was instrumental in the organizing of golf clubs and associations and, besides being a player famed throughout the south-west, aided in holding tournaments which did much to establish the sport in this area. He also competed in tennis matches successfully and was a highly successful motion of clean sports in all lines. He was a thirty second degree mason.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 3:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. M. D. Cox, O. C. Harper, George Kidd, Arch Thomas, R. W. Patteson, all of Midland, and V. E. Cottingham of San Angelo.

Men and their families Friday and Saturday bore heavily the shock of the death of C. L. Jackson, as did many other friends and business associates. The annual Christmas party of geologists, scheduled for Saturday afternoon, was postponed and numerous offices were closed.

Besides family members and relatives, most of whom had come here upon receipt of news earlier in the week of the oil man's condition, scores of residents of San Angelo and other nearby cities were here for the funeral.

Fellowship in the Skies

Paying the silent homage of one sky denizen to a greater one, this steel worker stands silhouetted 500 feet above the earth, intently watching the progress of the U. S. S. Macon, naval dirigible, as it escorts the American battle fleet into San Francisco bay. As shown in this air picture, the worker is perched on a tower of the Oakland-San Francisco bay bridge, with a view spread before him beyond the imagination of any mere earth dweller.

TESTIMONIALS INDICATE ANNUAL FOOTBALL BANQUET IS "SOMETHING DIFFERENT"; STUDENTS ARE PRAISED

Proof that the annual football banquet staged by Midland high school is "something different" is seen in expressions voiced by newer citizens who have attended for the first time.

The banquet was held Thursday night at the Crystal ball room of Hotel Scharbauer, the room being taxed to capacity by students, faculty members, school trustees and interested citizens. A program of toasts, musical numbers, addresses and extemporaneous remarks by visitors was given and sweaters were awarded to the Bulldog players who had won the right to wear the "M" for the high school.

The Rev. Kenneth C. Minter, pastor of the First Methodist church, said: "The Midland high school has another major social triumph to its credit. The annual football banquet which took place Thursday evening was as neat, faultless as anything human is likely to be."

"The long tables at which about 250 guests were seated were elegantly decorated by the student committee, and the menu was very pleasing. And upon the solid foundation of ample provision for physical needs the faculty and student body built a social superstructure full of grace and beauty. The entire program was pronounced by a number of competent observers as faultless in design and execution, a true social triumph."

"The toasts were offered by students and were in rhyme. When the responses were by students, they also were in rhyme, and when made by members of the faculty or the board of trustees they were in the form of impromptu speeches and were uniformly excellent."

COTTON GROWERS FAVOR RETENTION OF CONTROL ACT

ATLANTA, Dec. 15. (U.P.)—From Virginia to Texas, the nation's cotton farmers have voted overwhelmingly for retention of the Bankhead compulsory cotton production control in 1935.

Latest returns from a referendum on the measure which restricts the national crop to 10,000,000 bales, gave 876,313 votes for and 47,736 against.

LOCAL VOTE HEAVY IN FAVOR RETENTION

Farmers of Midland county, although turning out only 234 votes strong, cast 208 of that number in favor of retaining the Bankhead cotton control act. There were 26 votes against it. The voting at the Midland box was heavy but was light at Stokes and Warfield school boxes.

BIGGER CRUDE ALLOWABLE FOR TEXAS FORECAST

AUSTIN, Dec. 15. (U.P.)—Col. Ernest Thompson, Texas railroad commissioner, returning from Washington today, announced that the federal oil allocation for Texas probably will be 200,000 barrels additional per day. The increased production may start next week, he said.

TROOPS FOLLOW CHINESE BANDITS

SHANGHAI, Dec. 15. (U.P.)—While word came from the interior that two months old Helen Stam was safe, 10,000 government troops today pressed westward chasing the bandits who killed her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stam, American missionaries.

Recalls Dangers of Buggy Traffic Days

RUSK. (U.P.)—Citizens who sigh for the safety of pre-automobile traffic have doubtlessly forgotten the hazards of horse and buggy days. W. Matthews killed a turkey his first shot, using a .22 rifle at 30 yards, Friday when the turkey shoot was reopened for the holidays.

17 Sailors Lost As Boat Capsizes

ABOARD S. S. JEAN JADOT, Dec. 15. (U.P.)—The life boat upset by high waves in the oil coated sea cost the lives of 17 sailors in destruction here and the British freighter Usworth by storm in mid-Atlantic.

CHRISTMAS PARTY FOR CHILDREN TO DRAW BIG CROWDS

Invitations to children of the county surrounding Midland to attend the free Christmas party Saturday morning, December 22, at 10:30 o'clock, were meeting with favor, committees reported late in the week.

Lions and Rotarians, cooperating with J. Howard Hodge, Yucca theatre manager, visited Stanton and Odessa Friday and said much interest was created in the invitation which was extended to the entire area as well as to Midland children.

SOVIET CONSUL GUARDED AFTER KIDNAP THREATS

NEW YORK, Dec. 15. (U.P.)—A heavy police guard was placed around the home of Leonid Tolokonsky, consul general of the Soviet republics, today. It was reported in police circles that Tolokonsky had received a threat that his eight year old daughter, Lariza, would be kidnaped.

FOR THE SAFETY OF CAPITALISM

When Raymond Moley told the Congress of American industry that the New Deal is fundamentally an effort to preserve American capitalism, he touched on a point that ought to be remembered in any discussion of the "left" or "right" tendencies of this administration.

There can be different ideas of the best method to preserve capitalism, of course; and the New Deal may be adopting a method somewhat farther to the left than many people think entirely sound. But basically it is not a radical move.

The radical seeks to tear down the existing structure to make way for something that he believes will be better. The present administration, when all is said and done, is trying to save it. In that sense it is a conservative administration.

CATCH CANCER EARLY

One of the most dangerous things about cancer is that people have been too thoroughly persuaded that it is utterly incurable. Feeling that way about it, and fearing the malady so greatly, many people fail to seek medical attention in time—and their fear of an incurable disease is translated into fact.

Dr. Ira I. Kaplan, director of the New York City Cancer Institute, remarked recently that fully 40 per cent of the cancer cases now being cared for as hopeless would not be in that state if patients were educated to seek aid from the proper sources in time.

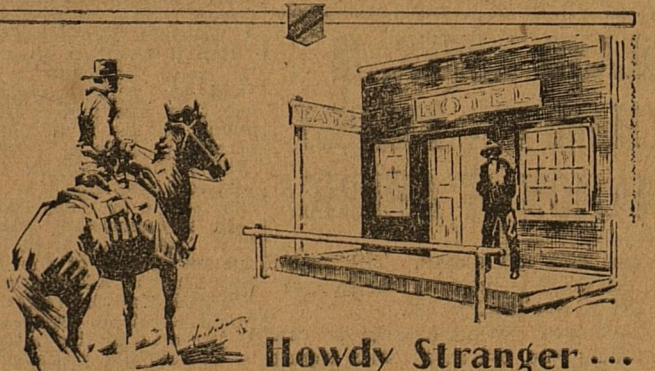

In order to provide that education, New York health authorities designated the past month as "Cancer Month." Health authorities are convinced that if both public and doctors can be educated to recognize the first danger signals of cancer, and if the public can be safeguarded from quacks, the cancer death rate can be reduced.

MILITARY TRAINING REMAINS

The case of conscientious objectors to military drill in students training corps at land grant colleges and universities seems to be settled rather decisively by the supreme court's ruling. Land grant institutions, says the court, are within their rights in making such training compulsory, and the student who doesn't like it can conform—or quit.

At the moment the only recourse for the student whose religious belief does not countenance war or the preparation for war would seem to be to get his education elsewhere. The court has spoken, and that part of the case is closed.

Whether compulsory military drill properly has a place in the curriculum of a university may be another question, which regents of such institutions can examine at their leisure. Their right to impose it if they choose is now unquestioned. The only question remaining is whether they should exercise that right.

H. E. Class Serves Christmas Dinner As Food Project

BY MARGARETTE WOOD

A very economical as well as an attractive dinner was served by Foods II girls in the school dining room last Friday.

The problem presented was as follows: Mrs. A. and her son, who is ten years of age, have a meagre income of $90 a month, including the money paid them by two ladies who live with them. They own a cow, have canned beans, peas, tomatoes and preserves and have a vegetable garden. Work out a day's ration for this family and prepare and serve the dinner you have planned.

The girls figured that the family allowance for food for one day was $75 and of this amount, $62 would be spent for the Christmas dinner. They planned and served the following menu:

Cheese Canape
Stuffed Peppers
Pickled Beets
Potatoes Volcano
Creamed English Peas
Christmas Salad
Hot Rolls
Butter
Cherry Ice Cream
Food Tea

Christine Baker, Florine Hamlin, Margarette Wood, Virginia Yeas, Jane Holloway, Doris Tidwell, Edith Echols, and Miss Crawley, the instructor, were served. Katherine Beauchamp and Annazine Evans acted as maids.

WHEN YOU CASH A CHECK

When you cash or deposit a check for $100, drawn on a bank in some other city, you may not realize what it will cost your bank to collect that check.

For you the transaction is complete. It has not occurred to you that your bank has actually advanced you $100 of its own money for several days until it can get the $100 back from the bank in the other city, meanwhile losing the interest on this amount.

Also, during this process of collection your check must be recorded, letters written, verified, mailed and otherwise handled by many people.

This is only one of many valuable and costly services that bank patrons sometimes "take for granted."

Christmas Season a Whirl of Parties As Organizations Celebrate Holidays

Christmas seems to be synonymous with "party" in the social calendar for Midland as the majority of clubs as well as church organizations favor this form of entertainment in their plans for the Yuletide.

The Lucky Thirteen club entertained with a party for members and their husbands at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McClurg Friday night, when gifts were presented and a general "Christmas" spirit reigned.

Tuesday has been chosen as the date for their Christmas parties by both the Bridge and the Edelweiss club. A Christmas tree will feature the evening's entertainment for the Bridgettes who will have Mrs. A. E. Horst as their hostess. Edelweiss club members will meet with Mrs. Joe Crump.

Mrs. J. M. Haygood will follow the traditional custom of setting up a Christmas tree when she is hostess to a party for the Bien Amigos club on Thursday.

Mrs. Geo. Glass has chosen a buffet supper as an expression of Yuletide joy for the Joie de Vie club and their husbands. Mrs. Glass will entertain Friday, Dec. 21.

Mrs. Joe Crump has also chosen Friday as the date for complimenting the 1928 club with a Christmas party at her home.

Other organizations besides purely social ones are celebrating the season of St. Nick with special entertainments.

The Episcopal auxiliary will entertain with a party at the home of Mrs. D. J. Finley tomorrow.

Through the membership courtesy of Mrs. W. P. Knight, the country club will be the scene of the Christ-

Vienna Choir Boys Sing to Appreciative Audience at B'Spring

Excellence of training and discipline and a delicate perfection of execution were evident in the performance of the Vienna Choir Boys who sang before a disappointingly small but appreciative audience in the Big Spring municipal auditorium Friday night.

The audience was theirs from the time the curtain rose on the singers, appealingly childish in their clerical black-and-white robes, till the curtain fell again on the final encore. The word final is used advisedly, for the audience called the boys back for the fourth time.

The three-act program gave ample range for display of the ability of the choir. The sixteenth century music of the first section brought out forcibly the instrumental quality so seldom heard and so effective, even in children's voices, when it is achieved.

The second division, the little Schubert opera, "A Song from Old Vienna," was, with its captivating acting, colorful costumes, and gay tunes, a delight both to eye and ear. The boys who took the parts of girls, not only looked but acted like girls. All displayed a graceful naturalness on the stage that was charming.

The concluding portion of the concert displayed the talents of individual singers, particularly those of one youngster whose faultless soprano elicited admiration from hearers.

Nor were the boys employed altogether with classical music more or less unfamiliar to the average hearer. They proved themselves good little diplomats as well as good singers with their rendition of "The Star-Spangled Banner" at the opening and "Dixie" at the close of the evening.

They were bright-looking cheerful boys and doubtless more than one of those who heard of them will have a kinder feeling toward a neighbor country across the sea because of these little singing ambassadors.

Baptist WMU Will Present Christmas Program Monday

Letters to Santa

Andrews, Texas, Dec. 8, 1934

Dear Santa Claus: I want a big baby dolly a story book and a doll buggy if you can spare it.

And my sister Billy Burkett wants a big baby doll and a story book and a doll buggy too.

With love, Bobby Lou Moxley.

Dear Old Santa Claus: Please bring me a slide, Shirley my doll some new clothes, Stove for Christmas. Some candy too.

Betty Lulu Bobo.

I have been a good little girl. I eat my spinach and take my nap and mind my mother-day, so please bring me some nice.

Dear Santa Claus: I wish all the boys and girls a Merry Christmas. The presents I would like for Christmas are named in the order I like them the most:

1. Roll top desk with swivel chair
2. Ball bearing scooter with balloon pneumatic tires.
3. Boys' field glasses.
4. Huge assortment of fireworks.

With best wishes, Charles Barron, 405 North Loraine Midland, Texas.

"Say It With FLOWERS"

Mrs. L. A. Denton

Representing University Florist Abilene

Former Midland Girl To Be Married in Tucson, Arizona

Invitations have been received here to the wedding of Miss Celeste Hankins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hankins of Fort Worth, and Mr. Milton M. Manville. The ceremony will be performed in Tucson, Arizona, December 24, at eight o'clock in the evening.

Miss Hankins, for two years society editor of The Reporter-Telegram, is well-known in Midland where she lived for several years.

She was graduated from the Midland High School and later attended Weatherford Junior college. She moved to Fort Worth several months ago.

Mr. Manville, member of an Arizona ranch family, also has a circle of acquaintances in Midland, having been associated for a short time with the mechanical department of The Reporter-Telegram.

McClurgs Hosts to Lucky Thirteen Club At Christmas Party

Members of the Lucky Thirteen club and their husbands were entertained with a Christmas party by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McClurg at the home 308-A W. Indiana, Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Assisting Mrs. McClurg were Mrs. G. H. Haltom, J. T. Walker, and B. M. Hays.

Candle-lighted wreaths at the windows beckoned a welcome to arriving guests and the Christmas spirit prevailed in the entertaining rooms where a lighted Christmas tree with its gay decorations stood in a corner.

Christmas colors of red and green were carried out in tallies and score pads for the evening and in the dinner plate served at the dinner hour. A further reminder of the season was the miniature figure of Santa Claus which perched on each plate.

Following the serving hour, six tables of 42 were played, with Mrs. J. T. Walker winning high score and Mrs. Geo. H. Haltom low score.

At the conclusion of the games, Christmas gifts were presented.

A freewill offering was taken, a sum sufficient to fill two baskets for needy families at Christmas, being donated.

Members present were: Mrs. S. P. Hall, Mrs. and Messrs. W. N. Cole, Kirby Sims, Ellis Conner, B. M. Hays, G. H. Haltom, W. G. Riddie, J. T. Walker, H. S. Collings, J. O. Vance, J. C. Hudman, J. P. Howe, and the host and hostess.

Loyal Berean S. S. Class Complimented With Informal Tea

Entertaining for members of the Berean class of the First Christian church, Mrs. R. L. York, L. A. Arrington, and Wm. Blivins, were hostesses at an informal tea at the home of Mrs. Geo. Ratliff, Tuesday afternoon from 4 until 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Rawlins Clark was at the piano during the afternoon.

Mrs. Van Camp gave a special vocal number and Willie Mae Riddle gave a piano selection.

In appreciation of her work last year as president of the class, Mrs. Glenn Brunson presented Mrs. W. G. Riddle with a gift.

A salad and dessert plate was served at tea time.

Present were: Mrs. Coffee, Rawlins Clark, L. G. Mackey, L. B. Robertson, Edd Cole, W. G. Riddle, Dunn Reiger, Glenn Brunson, Holt McWorkman, Wade Stevens, T. J. Stokes, Wright, Van Camp, H. G. Bedford, Horace Rankin, Chas. Klapproth, Geo. Ratliff, Willie Mae Riddle, and the hostesses.

Buttons, belt buckles combs, hairbrushes, mirrors and several other articles can be made from casein, a product made from milk.

Busy Bee Club Elects Officers at Friday Meeting

Election of officers and giving of reports occupied the meeting of the Busy Bee home demonstration club Friday at the home of Mrs. R. O. Brooks.

Officers chosen were: President, Mrs. S. H. Gwyn; vice president, Mrs. O. M. Tynier; reporter, Mrs. S. D. Wimberly.

Clothing and food reports were given for November. Reports of five members showed that food valued at $84.25 had been sold.

A WORD FROM HENRY FORD

We expect to announce our new 1935 cars, and have them in dealers' showrooms where you may see and examine them, on Saturday, December 29th. The cars are coming off the line now and distribution will soon commence.

I have never been very much in favor of the custom of yearly models. Good motor cars do not become obsolete simply because the calendar turns a leaf. Our former custom was to put improvements on our cars as soon as we developed and tested them, so that there was continuous refinement and progress. The custom of introducing new models annually is justified when they are really new, and not merely equipped with new talking points for the purposes of salesmanship.

Last year's Ford V-8 was a good car, the best we had built up to that time. We don't say to any customer with a last year's car that his car is out of date. If it is giving him service, and if he is not in the market for a new car, there is no reason for him to feel that he is behind the procession. He still drives the fundamentally latest thing in cars. The new car has all the qualities and advantages of last year's car, with something added.

The improvements we offer are not experimental in any sense; they were thoroughly tried out under every conceivable circumstance before we finally adopted them. That, in fact, is our job all the year 'round—refining, improving, making new balance of qualities, always adhering closely to our principle of continuous growth in the basic purpose of the Ford car.

The 1935 V-8 engine is practically the same engine we built in 1934, because we have not learned how to build a better one. It has, however, some refinements; amongst which are the copper-lead connecting rod bearings, and the new type of crankcase ventilation.

Most of the improvements concern the riding qualities of the car. There is now more comfort both in driving the car and riding in it—and it was always a very comfortable car to drive. This year we have paid particular attention to the comfort of the back seat rider. The rear seat is now forward of the rear axle, so that all passengers ride between the axles. With the new flexible springs, this gives what has been aptly described as "a front seat ride for the back seat passengers." Besides, it has permitted changes in the design of the body which have resulted in those lines of beauty so much in favor with automobile owners today.

We have always had three fundamentals—Durability, Economy of operation and maintenance, and Comfort. Safety, of course, is taken for granted. The Durability is just what it always was; no one needs to be told at this late date that Fords are built to last. The Economy is even greater than before—an 8-cylinder engine with the economy of a four. As to Comfort, however, there has been a very considerable advance, as I think you will agree when you have tried the car out.

We built more than 20,000,000 cars previous to the V-8. We have built 1,300,000 V-8 cars. The V-8, we believe, is the proper engine for the low-price car field, which is our field.

This 1935 car will be on display December 29th, with all details ready for your information. It is entirely probable that the prices will start at lower levels than in 1934. We want them lower because we expect to build a million cars and better next year, and the price must be right. If the price is right, people will buy; men will go back to work; a thousand related businesses will feel the new impulse. At least, we are trying to make 1935 a busier, happier and more hopeful year.

"SOLID SOUTH" IS SOLID BEHIND ALABAMA FOR ROSE BOWL

COACHES FAVOR SOUTHERN TEAM OVER STAMFORD

BY HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor NEA Service

Dixie preens its football feathers as another southern team prepares to invade the Pasadena Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

Southern coaches, football men and followers are mighty proud that one of their section was chosen as the opponent of Stanford. They feel that, in invading Alabama, the Pacific coast school again recognized the gridiron game below the Mason-Dixie line as being as good as there is.

Alabama was not the first choice of everybody in the southwest, however.

"The southwest wished it were possible for Minnesota to participate, because the Gophers played a more representative schedule," says Ray Morrison, the Southern Methodist strategist. "Alabama was a close choice with us, and we believe Alabama will win."

"Naturally all Texas will be pulling for Alabama," asserts Jimmie Klits, wiser of the Rice Owls, who were strong candidates for the excursion until they slipped before Texas Christian in the 10th of an 11-game grid.

"Stanford chose a worthy rival. Alabama should again prove too much for the far westerners," is the word from Major Robert Reese Neyland, retiring coach of the Tennessee Volunteers, who gave the Crimson Tide its tightest battle in losing, 13-6.

Tradition Spurs 'Bama

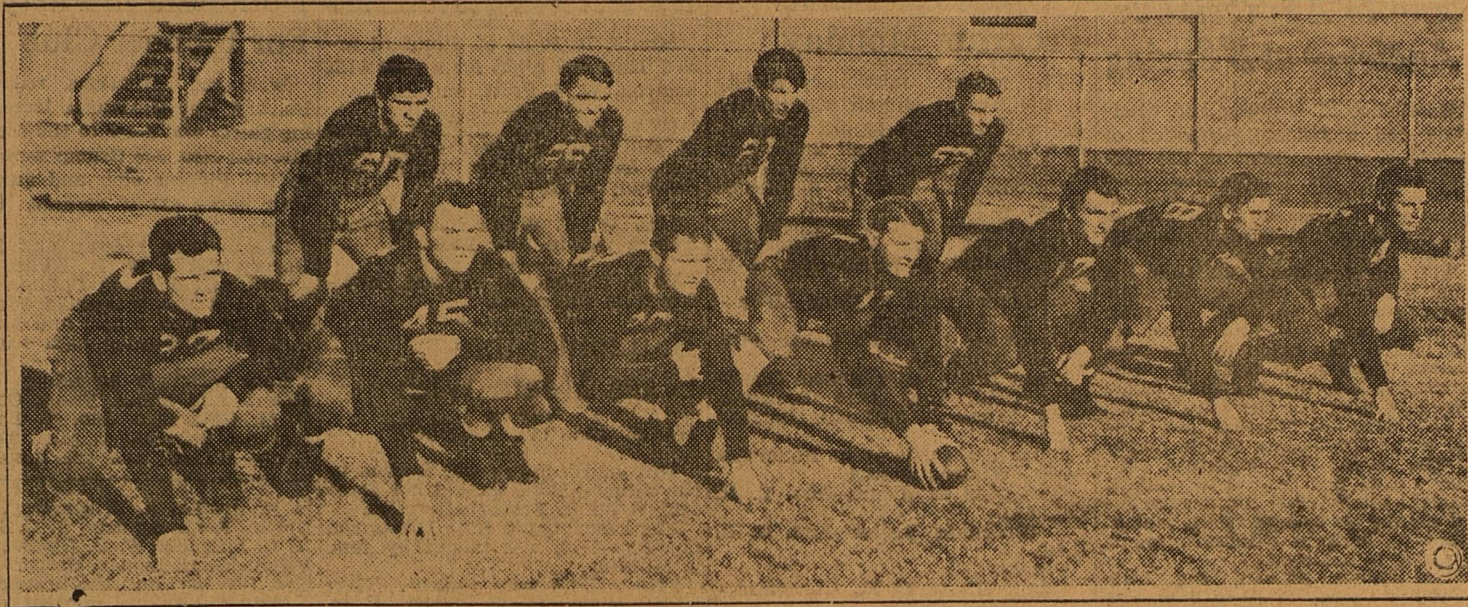

"Alabama has a great team with speed, power and skill, and will be tough in California," telegraphs Dan McGugh, who is leaving Vanderbilt after 30 years.

"I will string along with Alabama not only because I have seen the speed in action, but also because I have known Frank Thomas for many years and have confidence in his product," declares Harry Mehre of the Georgia Bulldogs.

"Few in the land of Cotton doubt that Thomas has the team and the management to carry the lads through the game.

"Alabama goes into the battle about as well fortified as any past

Crimson Tide That Will Roll Into Stanford

Here are the fighting faces of the starting lineup of the Alabama football team that faces

Tuscaloosa team, and in addition this array has the tradition and influence of past Tide teams encouraging it on."

In three previous trips to the Arroyo Seco, Alabama won twice and drew.

"The backs, Millard Howell, Jimmy Angeli, Riley Smith and Joe Demayovich, should be able to match Stanford's Bobby Grayson and all the rest," continues Mehre.

"Alabama's line is flanked by Don Hutson and Clay Bryant, superb ends. The tackles, Bill Lee and Ralph Whatley, the guards, Charley Marr and Ben Morrow, and the center, Kay Francis, are just what one would expect of a Capstone combination—big, bruising forwards who know the answers before questions are asked.

"There also are two more teams that Stanford may wish Thomas had left at home before the first day of 1935 draws to a close.

Layden Gives Tide Edge

"A mighty sweet offensive and defensive aggregation will deploy against Stanford.

"Howell is a real All-America back—running, passing and kicking. Second to Howell in the constellation is Hutson, a large, rangy end who is fast, an adept pass receiver, and sturdy defensive man. Hutson is a steady ground-gainer and a touchdown scorer with hat end around play.

"I would think a good while before calling the present Alabama team a better one than the institution's last group of Rose Bowlers, which included Freddie Sington, and which smothered a highly regarded Washington State team, 24-0, on January 1, 1931. But there isn't much difference between the two."

Elmer Layden expresses the popular opinion of outside coaches. "Alabama critics all say that this year's team is better balanced than Tuscaloosa teams in past Rose Bowl games," states the Notre Dame mentor. "Alabama should be given a slight edge."

Stanford men had better hold out for a few points.

The crime rate of Washington, D. C., was nearly half as high again as the average in our other large cities for the first quarter of 1934.

The Gay Bride, Ritz Comedy, Is Fast Moving Film

When a blonde adventuress meets a wealthy but dumb racketeer, something is bound to happen, and, according to the hilarious situations it does in The Gay Bride, starring Carole Lombard, ZaSu Pitts and Leo Carillo, comedy fare at the Ritz today.

Although Carole Lombard has recently reached stellar heights in such hits as "Twentieth Century" and "Now and Forever", she offers the most entertaining of all her hectic comedy portrayals in the new picture. As Mary, the blonde with a bank-account mind, she dazzles racketeers into parting with their ill-gotten means, and makes them like it.

ZaSu Pitts wins uproarious laughter with her confusion and terror in the midst of racketeer fights and intrigue. She is a perfect contrast for Miss Lombard in their scenes together, particularly the farce racketeer wedding.

The accent of Leo Carillo, that has added menace to many of his "bad man" roles is a humorous part of his characterization of Mickey, a gunman with a heart like a bullet. His competition with Pendleton for the hand of Carole Lombard leads to the climax of the picture.

A census of one acre of a farm near Washington, D. C., showed that 59 pairs of birds made their nests there.

stories of his bizarre and amusing experiences have won for him, he says, the reputation of a second Baron Munchausen. The incidents described here are taken from his notebooks and arranged in chronological order. "56 of the Best Operas" (Handbook of the operas) by Edith B. Ordway. It tells you the synopsis of the story; the class of the opera; date and place of first production; name of the composer; name of the librettist; list of leading characters together with their singing parts; and many other facts. "A Princess in Exile" by Marie, Grand Duchess of Russia (author of "Education of a Princess"). In 1914 the author, following the experiences in the Russian revolution described in "The Education of a Princess," escaped to the refuge of the Rumanian court. The interval between that time and the present was a period of painful education. She tells of the fate of her family, of the experiences of her brother Dmitri after his banishment, of the life of her son, Prince Leonard of Sweden, and of the all-important conflict that arose between her second marriage and her subsequent career. She is now an American business woman and the author of these best sellers. "Tamerland, the Earth Shaker" by Harold Lamb. From obscure sources, through careful research, combined with vivid description, the author reconstructs the terrifying figure of Timur, the Asiatic conqueror, against a barbaric background of Oriental splendor in the fourteenth century. He conquered half the world, and, although his memory in European history is associated with towers of heads of slain enemies, he is shown here as able, brave, and generous, as well as ambitious, cruel, and oppressive. "Bedford Forrest and His Critter Company" by Andrew Nelson Lytle. Mr. Lytle paints a splendid portrait of Forrest against the colorful agrarian background of the Southwest. Born of pioneer stock, he was not of the cotton aristocracy which controlled the South but of the solid yeomanry of the Confederate soldiery. A brilliant leader, an amazingly powerful individual, Forrest was the highest type of soldier the Old South produced, and this important biography does belated justice to a man too little known throughout the country as a whole. "N by E" by Rockwell Kent. Mr. Kent with two other men sailed North by East for Greenland on a row. This is a picture book of Mexico for children, and it is full of the color and atmosphere of that country. The story is gay and absorbing, telling of the struggles of Pita, a little Indian girl who lived in Mexico between the smoking mountains and the cactus with red flowers, and Pedro, her brother, to obtain one of the fascinating painted clay pig banks. The pictures are very unusual, and show not only the toys, but the characters themselves in their Mexican costumes, as well as scenes of the Mexican market place. "Bluebonnets for Lucinda" by Frances Clarke Sayers. Frances Clarke Sayers grew up in Texas and somehow she managed to put its beauty and friendliness into the background of her story. To the children Lucinda's story with the music box and the nice old friends, the geese and the bouquets of bluebonnets, will be a fresh and gay adventure to know by heart after a few hearings and then tell to themselves over and over as they turn the pages for the lovely pictures. "The Christ Child" from the Gospels according to Matthew and Luke, with drawings by Maud and Miska Petersham. It is an attempt to reproduce for children today the surroundings in which the little Christ Child "grew and waxed strong."

which there was as much interest manifested, none other could be more perfect," said Miss Vada Crowley, home economics instructor. "The Midland high school football banquet proved to be a spectacular tribute to the team. It was spectacular in that it moved vivaciously. Leaders acted with apparent spontaneity and with very evident confidence. If the experience prove practical to the students, the banquet will be doubly valuable; for the occasion was indeed pleasurable. The effort expended for the success of the affair is surely justified by the satisfaction gained not only by the honored team but also by those who made the celebration possible," said Miss Kathryn Zant, public speaking department teacher.

THANKS SCHOOL BOARD "The South Ward PTA wishes to express its appreciation and gratitude to the school board and Supt. W. W. Lackey for the cooperation and helpfulness shown in installing electric lights in the South Ward school building," Mrs. R. E. McWilliams, president, said Saturday. "We feel that this has been a real addition to the welfare and comfort of the children."
