TRIAL OF SAMUEL INSULL IS BEGUN

Girl's Mother Testifies in American Tragedy Trial

Hauptmann Is Guarded to Prevent Suicide as Spoon Found

Close guard was maintained over Bruno Hauptmann, Lindbergh kidnap suspect, after he had broken a spoon in four pieces, as shown here, sharpened the bowl and secreted the pieces in a drain in his cell in Bronx county, N. Y. Further sharpening of the spoon might have made it an effective suicide weapon, Sheriff J. Hanley declared.

SLEW GIRL TO WED ANOTHER, STATE CLAIMS

Daughter Was Expectant Mother, the Witness Says

WILKES BARRE, Pa., Oct. 2. (U.P.) Mrs. George McKechnie testified today against Robert Edwards, charged with the murder of her daughter in the "American Tragedy" trial.

Edwards was accused of slaying the girl, an expectant mother, so that he could marry a cousin with another girl, Margaret Grain. The state alleged that Edwards promised to marry Freda McKechnie.

Sewing Room Is Babel of Noise, Great Activity

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

If you want to see what the relief organization is really doing, go down to the sewing room and spend an hour.

It's a long room and down the center stretch tables where two girls and Mrs. Agnes Dietrich, director, are busily cutting and assembling patterns.

At one side is a row of sewing machines where seven or eight women sit hour after hour sewing on the gay print dresses which will send little girls from needy families off to school with the comforting feeling that a pretty new dress gives even the youngest female heart, and on the sturdy blue shirts that will keep little boys clad through the roughest games of the school day.

Usually bright days bring the need for so many new garments, the sewing room just now is concentrating on making school clothes. Ladies are doing up overcoats which will probably be taken up.

On Oct. 1, the sewing room had on hand 109 children's dresses and 55 boys shirts to be distributed as needed. And these are not slovenly "uniform" dresses either. They are bright colored prints and stripes made up in neat patterns such as more fortunate little girls and boys see made at home by mother just before the first day of school. Beauty as well as utility has been considered in the selection of materials and designs for the sewing.

Director Adams Johnson said "there cannot be another distribution until cash is realized on bonds or until Washington grants the governor's application for $2,000,000."

Actress Stirs Hitler Interest, Paris Gossips

Bachelor Adolf Hitler at last has found time to turn from the affairs of state to take an interest in a woman—a half-Jewish woman—a flapper from Paris who has a basis in fact. The magnet is said to be Lena Riefenstahl, beautiful young actress and virtual dictator in the German film world, shown here as she recently supervised filming of the meeting of 50,000 members of the German labor corps at Nuremberg. She flew from there to Berlin in the huge plane of the Nazi chancery and is reported to have attained remarkable influence with the Nazi regime.

TRIAL FOLLOWS FALL OF GREAT UTILITY EMPIRE

Selection of Jury Is Task for Today's Session

CHICAGO, Oct. 2. (U.P.)—Trial of Samuel Insull started today in federal court in connection with the greatest industrial debacle of the country, the collapse of his $2,000,000 utility empire.

Indicted with 16 others, trial on charges of using the mail to defraud will open the field trip Friday and will discuss the Wayne county section that night at the trip headquarters, the Pinchurst Hotel, at Laurel, Mississippi, 30 miles west of Waynesboro. The trip will end by 1:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon so that those desiring to see the U.S.-S.M.U. football game of Baton Rouge Saturday night may do so.

OIL NOTES

By F. D. GARDNER

An announcement has been received here by Gary P. Bulcher, president of the West Texas Geological Society, of the 11th annual field trip of the Shreveport Geological Society. The trip is to start at 8 a. m. Friday, October 5th, from the Davis Hotel, Waynesboro, Wayne county, Mississippi. Dr. H. V. Howe will conduct the field trip Friday and will discuss the Wayne county section that night at the trip headquarters, the Pinchurst Hotel, at Laurel, Mississippi. The trip will end by 1:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon so that those desiring to see the U.S.-S.M.U. football game of Baton Rouge Saturday night may do so.

With the closely watched Ector county wildcat, Landreth No. 1, Schaubauer, in section 20, block 44, township 1 north, T. & P. survey, delayed by a fishing job, attention of Midland oil men is turned toward the Andrews county tests.

MORTICIANS TO MEET HERE MON.

Announcement of a district meeting of the Texas Funeral Directors & Embalmers association to be held here Monday was made today, following receipt of a letter from association officials to Newell Ellis, Midland undertaker.

The district, comprising 18 counties of this section of West Texas, will be attended by 25 or 30 men of the profession, Ellis predicted.

Opening at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, the business session and program will consume the entire afternoon, culminating with a dinner and entertainment program at 8 o'clock. Officers of the state association, as well as members from all over the district, were expected to attend. The meetings will be held at the Hotel Scharbauer Crystal ballroom.

Gen. Mitchell Says 50 Dirigibles Are Needed for Attack

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (U.P.)—General William Mitchell today recommended immediate construction of a powerful fleet of dirigibles. He told the federal aviation commission that "gross stupidity" was responsible for American airship disasters.

"Fifty dirigibles," he said, "could attack Japan in two days and there would be nothing left of Japan. Japan is our most dangerous enemy."

The crash of the Akron off the New Jersey coast last year was called a "disgraceful performance."

GALVESTON BACK IN DIXIE SERIES

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 2.—The Galveston Buccaneers blasted out 16 hits over a congregation of New Orleans pitchers to get back into the running of the Dixie series, though still trailing by one game, with an 11 to 9 victory.

Hitting freely in every inning but the seventh, the Buccaneers scored six runs in the first two frames, added another in the fourth and two each in the sixth and eighth to swamp four Pelican hurlers and assure their necessary victory.

The Pels had only to win the game Monday to retain their Dixie series championship. The Buccaneers entered the game trailing by two full games. Now only one game behind, Galveston is very much back in the series, and if the Bucs win today, will be all even with the Birds.

Auto of Murder Suspect Is Held

Press service accounts that a suspect in the murder of the late Mrs. Josephine T. Tamm, held in jail here in connection with the death at Santa Fe, N. M., of Mrs. Josefa Tamm, was erroneous in part, it was learned today.

The crash of the Akron off the New Jersey coast last year was called a "disgraceful performance."

Johnson's Son To Be Promoted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (U.P.)—Kilbourne Johnson, youthful army lieutenant and son of General Hugh Johnson, will be promoted by the rank of division administrator, the United Press learned today.

The younger Johnson obtained leave from the army a year ago to join his father. The general was not sure which of "one thousand offers of jobs" to take but expected it to pay him $100,000 a year.

Kitchens Gets Only Draw at Monahans

K. O. Kitchens, in spite of having the edge in nine rounds of his 10-round affair with Kid Whittington at Monahans Monday night, was given only a draw, according to Max Kirschbaum, who saw the fight.

Kitchens won two 10-round bouts last week, one at Fort Worth, via other at Brokenridge.

Kirschbaum, who asked to referee the preliminaries, was assured he could not serve in that capacity as he had no permanent referee's license. Slim Mize, formerly of Midland, was selected third man in the ring.

Two knockouts were features of a drab card. Bobby Clark of Sweetwater knocking out a sparring partner and one other k. o. coming earlier.

The Kitchens-Whittington fight was good enough to offset the rest of the card, however.

LAST OF RELIEF MONEY EXPENDED

AUSTIN, Oct. 2. (U.P.)—Checks for $1,120,000 were written by the state relief headquarters today, representing the last of the relief money.

Of this amount, $1,018,000 went to drought relief and beef canning and relief plant employees got $192,000 in pay. Only $50,000 remained for general relief in the 256 counties.

Director Adams Johnson said "there cannot be another distribution until cash is realized on bonds or until Washington grants the governor's application for $2,000,000."

Braying Donkeys Routed Three Lions

CAPE TOWN (U.P.)—Ambling happily along the road in his donkey cart, a native of Orangeburg, Southwest Africa, found three lions blocking the way.

Man, donkeys and lions stopped and looked at each other for a minute.

Then with a fighting bray the donkeys charged. The lions stampeded in a panic.

There was no holding the donkeys, and the problem was merely how there was any breath left in them. Then they ambled off again as they had been doing before.

Yaqui Uprising Threatened as Statue Stolen

NOGALES, Oct. 2. (U.P.)—An uprising of Yaqui Indians in northern Mexico was feared today as result of the disappearance of the statue of Santa Francisco, patron saint of the tribesmen. Yaqui chieftains were reported gathering for a council of war to prepare an ultimatum to Mexican government officials demanding immediate return of the statue which the Indians had revered for more than 150 years.

Unless it is returned by tomorrow at midnight, on the eve of the annual pilgrimage to the venerable saint, the chieftains said they planned to disclaim responsibility for any act of their people.

SPECIAL SESSION GETS NO SUPPORT

The Midland chamber of commerce has declined to wire representative, senator and governor asking for a special session of the legislature for requesting an appropriation so that plans of the Texas Centennial may be expedited.

The decision was taken after receipt of a telegram from Walter D. Cline, chairman of the executive committee of the Texas Centennial commission, who asked the organization to wire the governor, as well as have representatives do so.

A letter sent Cline read "We have just received your telegram asking that the Midland chamber of commerce wire the governor and that we have our representative and senator wire the governor regarding a special session of the legislature to appropriate funds to carry on the Texas Centennial."

Injuries Fatal To Angelo Man

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 1. (U.P.)—A. H. Ellett, 75, realtor, oil operator and cottonization agent here for the last 31 years, died Monday of injuries sustained Saturday night when struck by a car driven by Fred Mass of Miles. The accident was held unavoidable.

Clarice Newton, 8, was buried at Robert Lee this afternoon, following death under the wheels of a truck driven by her mother Sunday. The child fell from the bed of the moving vehicle when it hit a rough spot in the road.

Think Accomplish In Lindbergh Case

TRENTON, Oct. 2. (U.P.)—Col. Schwartzkopf, New Jersey state policeman, expressed the belief today that Bruno Richard Hauptmann had an accomplice passing the Lindbergh ransom money.

In Chicago, William Dennis, civil engineer, told department of justice agents that he believed he saw Hauptmann near the Lindbergh home in Hopewell on the night of the kidnaping was committed. He said the man stopped his car and borrowed a pump. He said a man in the back seat with a woman had a bulky object on his lap, under a blanket.

Gasoline Buggies Banned from Square

BUTLER, Mo. (U.P.)—Anyone who operates a motor vehicle on the public square here is subject to a fine of $1 to $100 under terms of an ordinance enacted in 1908 and which has never been revoked.

The ban on "gasoline buggies" was pronounced after several residents had been injured in run-aways when their horses were frightened by the autos.

Detroit Jittery on Eve Of World Series Start

DETROIT, Oct. 2. (U.P.)—The annual hysteria known to the sports fans as the world series rocked Detroit again for the first time in 25 years as Mickey Cochrane's Tigers and the city as well whirled about to face the old familiar St. Louis Cardinals, headed by the new baseball heroes, the brothers Dean.

The Cards, with rubber-armed Dizzy roaring in the van, and his 11 brother Paul silently nodding assent, are due at the motor vehicle capital today from St. Louis, where their last ditch comeback against the Reds finally decided the battle for the first time since 1904 when the Giants broke up in the face of the indignant Dodgers.

Staggering Excitement

But, though the battle call doesn't sound for the first time until Wednesday afternoon, the faithful were staggering around from the excitement of the first world series here since 1904. The White Sox scoundrels clubbed the White Sox scoundrels club of 1919, the arguments over the possible starting pitchers and the battle for seats at Navin field that holds 47,000 but not nearly enough.

While the Tigers went through a two-hour ball field inside, thousands of customers milled and massed in the streets outside the field exchanging their gold-plated orders for tickets they hoped would bring them a view of the ex-World Champion Giants, but which they value just as highly even though the last minute upheaval brings the non-enthusiastic neighbors from Missouri.

Revival Tent Arrives

The newly acquired tent of the Rev. B. B. Crimm, evangelist in charge of the revival being held for the First Baptist church, has arrived from Iran, where it was purchased, and repair work will be done by volunteers, both men and women.

Flapper Fan Says

"I was coming over a small knoll when I saw the bird," Bowman told his friends. "It would fly to the top of a cliff, then fly straight down, hitting its head on a rock."

"The bird repeated the procedure several times, and on the fourth trial, died of a broken neck."

Except for a small blister on the back of the bird's neck, the quail was plump and apparently well. Bowman maintains that the sufficing caused by the blister left the bird to kill itself.

Claims Deadline Set for Oct. 23

The third called session of the legislature just closed, placed October 23, 1934, as the final date for claimants to file for bolliworm reimbursement out of an appropriation of $500,000 made by the legislature at its first called session.

"We are hereby giving final notice that no claims filed after October 23 will be considered. As soon as practicable after this date the books will be closed and a final report made to the governor," wrote Howard W. Davis, chairman of the Pink Bolliworm Compensation board, in a letter received here today.

Theo Cosper Named Member of Chorus

ABILENE, Oct. 2.—Theo Cosper, of Midland, a freshman in McMurry college, has been selected as a member of the college chorus club for the coming year, according to an announcement this week from the office of Gypsy Ted Sullivan Wylie, dean of the McMurry school of fine arts and director of the singing groups. Miss Cosper will sing alto.

The girls club, made up of twenty voices, was extremely active last year when they gave over two hundred concerts throughout the state.

This year, the chorus club, together with the boys glee club, will give several programs for the annual Methodist conference which meets in Abilene during November. Other concerts of the year will include various sacred and secular programs, with a spring presentation of the grand opera, "Carmen," as the climax of the year's work.

since he didn't seek re-election he can afford to make such a suggestion. Incoming Commissioner Roberts used to be a livestock sanitary inspector (but didn't support the Ferguson's) and had a lot of experience with cattle ticks. He should be able to pick the beetles off of the grass like he used to pick the ticks out of the hair on a cow's hide.

The Reporter-Telegram erred Monday in writing the following headline about Sunday's polo game at Lamesa: "Lubbock, Assisted By Floyd, Winner." The headline was intended to say: "Floyd, Assisted By Lubbock, Winner."

I'm concerned about these beetles on the court house lawn. Apparently the beetles did not observe the signs: "Keep Off The Grass" as I have done. Often when I make all the turns to stay on the walks and see other people walking on the grass I know I am just like Webster's Timid Soul.

These beetles are so deep in the ground by this time that the commissioners will have to employ cowboys to stomp them with their boot heels. One man said a sure method of extermination would be to place each beetle on a brick and hit him over the head with another brick. I think that was Commissioner Hillary Bedford's plan, and

The El Paso Times took a terrific crack at a defeated candidate yesterday. In a story about Jimmy Alford winning a foot race at a Bell county picnic, the Times quoted Alford as saying to one of the farmers he out-ran: "You can't run any better than Tom Hunter." The Times then printed the following note in parenthesis: Hunter was Alford's opponent in the recent gubernatorial run-off.

It's a lot easier to persuade people than it is to keep them persuaded.

However, that's no reason for not trying to lead them in the right direction.

A lot of people are born leaders, but some of us do well to keep up with the procession.

With the Church Groups

Services commemorating the 60th anniversary of the establishment of their work in missionary fields were held by the women's missionary society of the First Christian church in a meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Will Elkin. Mrs. Rawlins Clark opened the meeting with music, "Whisper A Prayer," followed by prayer offered by Mrs. Eriksen. Mrs. Chas. Klapproth, leader, spoke on the aspiration of Mrs. Caroline Neville Pearce the founder of the work. A review of the local society, compiled by Mrs. B. F. Whitefield, was read by Mrs. Glenn Brunson. Mrs. Wade Heath dramatized the story, "Aunt Martha Van Winkle Wake Up." In "Bearers of the Torch," a candle service of remembrance, Mrs. Eriksen toasted the "Past," Mrs. Leonard Pemberton paid tribute to the "Present," and Mrs. Brenneman challenged the "Future."

Mrs. Ratliff conducted a consecration service, reading Matthew 5:14-16 and Hebrews 12:1-2, and speaking on the topic "A Cloud of Witnesses." After prayer and song, Mrs. Glenn Brunson, president, welcomed visitors. She appointed a committee to arrange for a memorial service at a near date in honor of Mrs. Ben F. Whitefield one of the charter members of the local society. A social hour followed the program. The 60th anniversary birthday cake with 60 candles baked and decorated by Mrs. Chas. Klapproth was cut by Mrs. Mary Eriksen. Mrs. J. V. Stokes, Sr., served punch. Each member lighted a candle as she placed in a silver tray a penny for each year of her age. Present were: Meses, Frank Elkin, Will Elkin, Leonard Pemberton, S. W. Estes, Chas. Klapproth, Glenn Brunson, L. A. Denton, Will Midkiff, W. B. Simpson, Geo. Ratliff, J. V. Stokes Sr., W. G. Now we hope the men will stop making wise cracks about women car drivers. A group of mathematicians set out to find who were better drivers, men or women. They found that 14 men drivers were involved in 14 accidents to one woman. They have given up their project. Score one for the women—Miss Ann Ronell has become a leading member of Hollywood's "Tin Pan Alley". We are told that the men song writers are sighing for the "good old days when women were themes for songs, not active competitors."

A check of relative strength places Alabama, defending champion, Tulane, Louisiana State, and possibly Vanderbilt in the van in the Southeastern conferences, and Duke and North Carolina State atop the Southern.

Tulane is my choice to finish ahead of the Southeastern pack. The Green Wave not only has a wealth of mercury-heeled backs and a strong line, but also a schedule that is beautifully arranged. The Green Wave battles Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Ole Miss, Kentucky, Sewanee and L. S. U. in the conference, and Colgate and Chattanooga outside. This is representative card, but Colgate, Kentucky and L. S. U. are the only tough teams played away from home. That eliminates the travel hazard.

Alabama will be tough because of veteran material. Millard Howell, generally considered to be potentially Dixie's finest halfback, has rejoined the Crimson Tide.

Vanderbilt has a splendid group of sophomores headed by Rand Dixon, an excellent punter, and a band of huge linemen. This L. S. U. stands in the same class.

Just a shade below these four should be placed Tennessee, Georgia Tech, and Georgia.

A strenuous schedule of nine successive hard games, with much journeying, all but eliminates Georgia Tech.

Good breaks for either Georgia or Tennessee would place the fortunate one in the upper bracket. Tech takes on Michigan at Ann Arbor, and from other powerful outfits away from home.

Georgia and Tennessee have much more favorable, yet difficult, programs. Georgia is counting a great deal on Cy Grant, a punter and runner, or maybe some other Vol hopeful.

Kentucky, with Chet Wynne, formerly Auburn, serving his first year as coach; Florida; Auburn, under a new mentor, Jack Meagher, and Mississippi are rated dangerous. With a bit of luck any of them could wreck plenty of championship hopes.

Sewanee and Mississippi State are slightly weaker than the others, judging from material on hand and past performances.

All teams playing Duke university had better watch out. The Blue Devils are getting tougher all the time. Duke has the nucleus of the once-defeated team of last fall. With the fine running of Corky Cornelius, dazzling ground game, to depend upon, Wallace Dade anticipates a banner season.

North Carolina State, under the tutelage of Hunk Anderson, former Notre Dame mentor, is on the up, and rate second to Duke in the old conference. North Carolina, playing its first year under Tot Snavely, Bucknell's 1933 coach, and South Carolina, are right behind. Virginia, Virginia Poly, Washington and Lee, Clemson, V. M. I., and Maryland bring up the rear.

It is altogether unlikely that there will be more than three or four teams with unblemished records when the two races move into November.

COURAGEOUS LATE STAND MAKES ST. LOUIS PUBLIC CHOICE FOR SERIES

DETROIT.—There was little question but that the St. Louis Cardinals were the stronger club in baseball at the finish of the 1934 pennant races.

The eleventh-hour drive of the courageous and colorful Cardinals captured the nation—made them the most magnetic attraction in the business. In their last visit in Boston, they were booed while the good people of the Hub cheered wildly whenever the St. Louis outfit decorated the score-boards.

It was one of the most spectacular thrills in the history of the game that created the most savagely-fought windup since the Cubs tied the Giants in 1903, and won the replayed game made necessary by Fred Merkle's historic "boner."

Going east after Labor day seven games behind, the Cardinals kept the lead until they had the world champions jittery—unable to hit and fielding like a troupe of awkward jugglers. The Cardinals' pitching staff, a brother combination in the annals of baseball that kept the St. Louis club within hailing distance, and Tex Carleton, the pitcher, and Jerome Herman and Paul Dean.

Deans' Big Day St. Louis' bid reached its peak in Brooklyn on Sept. 21, when, after Dizzy Dean shut out the Cardinals with three singles, Paul recorded the first no-hit, no-run game in the majors since Southpaw Bob Burke, of Washington, treated the Boston Red Sox that way in 1931.

The Deans constituted a two-man pitching staff until the last few weeks, making good their boast that they would account for 44 games, the elder of the Arkansas fireball flingers taking his place with the greats with 30 victories, and Nuts accounting for 19.

With Wild Bill Hallahan experiencing a poor season, Willie Walker out with an injury, and Tex Carleton starting his first Deans packed the Cardinal pitching burden week in and week out.

It was not until Walker commenced tending the Deans a hand toward the tag end of the hunt, and Carleton and Mooney regained their form, that the persistent Cardinals really got hot.

Allowing for the phenomenal Schoolboy Rowe, the dramatic Mickey Cochrane, and other Tiger luminaries, the Cardinals here and there were the most attractive of the three world series candidates from the spectators' point of view.

The People's Choice In addition to the Deans, with the St. Louis club in his fifth year in nine years, was Pepper Martin, now at third base and still at his best under severe pressure; Frankie Frisch, who finally got his club going after smoothing out difficulties with the Deans; Home Run Jim Collins, and Ducky Medwick.

The Cardinals hit for a team average of .297, which was 11 points better than the Giants.

The St. Louis aggregation had a superb outfield in Medwick, Jack Rothrock, Ernie Ossa, and Willis; a high rolling infield in Collins, Frisch, Leo Durocher, and Martin; a smart catcher in Delaney; and a three-man stretch fortified in reservists, with the able stick wielder, Pat Crawford, and another two or three lying around hand.

The Cardinals' record would be remarkable even had they not experienced a full share of injuries.

Soviet Sentenced Crafters to Death

MOSCOW, (U.P.)—Death or prison sentences were the reward of a gang of twelve grafters who recently attempted a "get rich quick" scheme at the expense of credulous Soviet peasants.

The group, led by a wily schemer, Ignat Kamensky, went to peasants and told them the government would not collect a meat tax in kind from them, provided they paid a fee to the "collectors"—Kamensky's gang. Peasants without money were allowed to contribute flour, cereals, eggs and other products.

But the scheme was soon discovered by the police. Kamensky was sentenced to death. His followers were sent to prison for terms varying from one to ten years.

QUICKSAND HALTED WORK

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (U.P.)—Engineers are puzzling how to dig away a large pocket of quicksand that has halted work on a $32,000 sewer project here. Work was abandoned six weeks ago because foremen feared the sand would undermine the whole street.

Dirigible Hangar Seen First Time By Picture Actors

Pat O'Brien and Jimmy Cagney got their first close-up view of a modern dirigible's hangar while the company making "Here Comes the Navy" the Warner Bros. picture showing at the Yucca Theatre for the last times today, was on location at the U. S. S. MAACON'S base at Sunnyvale, Calif.

They surveyed the huge structure, which covers eight acres, and watched the 600-ton doors swing ponderously open.

"Some garage!" O'Brien exclaimed. "Garage nothing!" retorted Cagney. "That's a new set for a Busby Berkeley number!"

"Here Comes the Navy" combines uproarious comedy with thrilling action and glamorous romance. It was written by Ben Markson and adapted to the screen by Markson and Earl Baldwin. Besides the regular cast, hundreds of sailors from the U. S. S. ARIZONA take part in the picture. Lloyd Bacon directed.

BIG SPRING MAN TO BE CHARGED IN WIFE'S DEATH

BIG SPRING, Oct. 2. (U.P.)—W. R. Hildreth, 47, hunted by officers for three hours after his wife, Mrs. Docie Hildreth, 45, was found dying at the family residence here Monday afternoon, was located at 6 p. m. that afternoon in the garage of a neighbor less than two blocks away.

Hildreth was bleeding profusely from wounds in the throat and wrists, inflicted in what officers said was an unsuccessful attempt to end his own life. At the hospital, where he was taken for treatment, attendants stated he will recover, although he is seriously weakened from loss of blood.

Officers said Monday night a charge of murder will be filed against Hildreth and that the 70th district court grand jury, convening next week, will investigate the slaying of his wife.

Mrs. Hildreth, with 20 stab wounds in her body, died a few minutes after she was taken to the hospital here. A daughter who heard her screams spread the alarm. An ice pick had penetrated her chest eight times, she had several abdominal wounds, any one of which would have caused death, and five slashes mangled one hip and side.

Hildreth when found had a pocket knife and a mirror in his possession. He was too weak to make a statement.

Hildreth and his wife once were separated but had been living together again recently. They have ten children, two sons and eight daughters.

London Crooks Easily Get Arms

LONDON, (U.P.)—Any London crook can get as many revolvers and machine-guns as he wants—provided he knows where to go.

Special Scotland Yard officers are working night and day to break up a powerful gang, which has been running guns into London for years.

It is stated that they know the identity of at least three big unlicensed distributors of firearms, but raids on suspected hide-outs so far have failed.

Most of the firearms are of American manufacture, and are said to be smuggled in by seamen. Large quantities also come from France and Belgium.
