LEAVE NATURE ALONE TO ENJOY IT MOST

It was a most attractive photograph. It showed a wild waterfall, toppling over a rocky ledge and foaming down into a gorge whose banks were covered with virgin timber. Everything in view looked, presumably, just as it did centuries ago, before there was a white man on the continent.

The paragraph of printed matter that accompanied the picture said that this waterfall was on the Tahquamenon river in the upper peninsula of Michigan. A movement was affot to turn the region into a state park, it was said; and then came this sentence—"the place is difficult to reach at present, but a highway will be built to the falls if the park is O. K. d."

And while all of us who like to go places by auto would be glad to have one more beauty spot put within reach of our summer tours, it occurs to us to wonder if we aren't overdoing this business of putting roads into the wilderness, just a little.

A good part of the charm of some of these wild spots is their isolation—the fact that they are not only unspoiled, but that they are so hard to get to that people don't get a chance to spoil them.

We have built so many roads in the last decade that it is hard to think of any beauty spot which the casual motorist cannot reach. And while this is, in the main, an excellent thing, we might reflect that once you make a wilderness thoroughly accessible, it ceases to be a wilderness.

There ought, in other words, to be some areas which can't be reached by car; spots which one must penetrate afoot, or with a pack horse, if one is to see them at all, and which contain no tourist cabins or general stores.

Let there be a few prizes for those who are willing to rough it, a few bits of wilderness which we can never see if we aren't game to park the car and hike a bit.

A recent editorial in Nature Magazine stressed this very point. It remarked acidly that there are people who won't be satisfied "until the crest of every mountain range is scarred by a skyline highway or scenic boulevard," and it pleads for preservation of some wilderness area in their natural, roadless state.

This doesn't mean that we must stop making mountain and forest accessible to the auto. It is simply a reminder that we can build too many roads, and that if we do we shall rob ourselves of something very much worth preserving.

ONLY HALF A MILE AWAY!

There is something exceedingly eerie and pleasantly shivery about Dr. William Beebe's descent into the ocean depths in his "bathysphere." By sinking half a mile below the surface in his steel sphere, this scientist has explored a whole new universe. He has seen a region which, certainly, no man ever saw before.

These stories about his trip make excellent reading. Dr. Beebe peers out of his windows and sees a place of everlasting night and everlasting silence. Monstrous forms, oddly illuminated with myriad lights, glide slowly past. The whole scene is one that Poe might have invented.

Here, indeed, is exploring in the grand style. Flying into the stratosphere or hiking to the poles hardly compares with it. Dr. Beebe travels a scant half mile—and sees a new world!

Croon, says Webster, means "to make a hollow sound, as in pain; to bellow." A good definition, but not complete. The audience also usually bellows with pain.

Something Ought to Be Done About These Bathysphere Stories

Cattle Feed on Trees Felled in Drouth Stricken Area

With pastures seared and grain crops falling in the record drouth which has gripped the nation for months, Missouri farmers are felling trees, that their famine-menaced livestock may have green fodder. Here is a scene in Adair county, where cattle are eating leaves from a tree cut down in a field by a farmer.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything with taking a stand on anything). been multiplication. But I don't see where the word duplicity should be used in connection with twins. A girl was asked if it were the plumber she was with the night before and she said it was only the plumber's friend. I read an article to the effect that the shape of new fall hats would be "conical." I wondered if there had been a typographical error. A bunion derby winner was elected to office in Oklahoma. In most states the office seekers get bunions prior to the election by hot-footing it after votes, and after the election by putting their feet on the desks. A woman who objected to smelling beer on her husband's breath decided to eat some garlic. I always said women would do nearly anything for revenge. I used to hear that air disturbances brought on rain, but if some of the radio programs you hear these days won't upset the heavens I believe the old signs have failed. 5,000 Persons Hooked Up for One Phone Call CHICAGO, (U.P.)—In what is believed to be the biggest telephone hook-up ever arranged, M. H. Karker, president of a national tea company, talked simultaneously to 5,000 persons scattered from coast to coast. Speaking from the company's offices in Barrington, a Chicago suburb, Karker's words were carried over the hook-up stretching from New York to Los Angeles and from Duluth to San Antonio, including scores of cities in between. His audience was composed of company officials and salesmen. Approximately 75 per cent of the women in England are brunets, judging from the sale of cosmetics there.

TEXAN ARTISTS' MODEL EAGLE PASS (P)—On billboards throughout the country and on magazine covers is depicted a moonlight scene on the deck of a steamer with a young man and a fair young woman in the foreground. The parents of the young man, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Ledbetter, own a small farm on the eastern fringe of Maverick county's new irrigation district, Quemado valley. They came there last year from the northern part of the state. Their son, who goes by the professional name of "Eaton Lord," went to New York several years ago to study art. While there he posed for commercial artists and soon came to be in big demand for such work. The young woman shown with him is to be his wife, his mother said. Her name is Miss Ruthie Martin, also an art student. Mr. and Mrs. Ledbetter never will lack for a portrait of their son for his countenance peers at them from every place that the modern advertiser can reach.

SOCIETY

My Visit to The Short Course

EDITOR'S NOTE: Midland county women, back from the farmers' short course at College Station, have written an assortment of copy, ranging from detailed reports on the course to poems dedicated to the bus driver. Following are cases in point.

BY MRS. HENRY LOCKLAR

Twenty-one delegates from Midland, Martin and Howard county met the bus at Big Spring Sunday morning, July 29. We went by way of Cisco and arrived at Eastland about 1:30 and had luncheon. We were at Waco for supper and the driver repaired a flat. We arrived at Bryan about 1 o'clock Monday morning.

The week's work began that morning with lectures and demonstrations. Dean E. J. Kyle spoke on "Agriculture Faces the Future." Miss Edgett spoke to women of Martin and Howard counties. Miss Edie Pritchard gave an interesting demonstration on increasing club interest.

The Midland-Martin delegation visited the rural work center in the afternoon and watched rug-making, quilting, making of mattresses and chairs, weaving of rugs and mats, cooking of syrup, and watched the saw mill cut logs for building a house.

At 7:30 we went for a tour of the campus and visited the library, museum and other interesting buildings.

Bishop A. Frank Smith of Houston talked Tuesday morning on "Constructive Citizenship." The Texas Home Demonstration association met with Mrs. Josie Englin as leader.

There were 1,200 delegates to the short course this year, 750 last year. Talks were made by Director O. B. Martin and Mrs. Volney Davis, president of the Texas Federated clubs.

Mrs. Lexie D. Robertson read from her book, "Red Heels," a collection of poems she wrote while baking and quilting.

The horse show at the stadium included races, judging, jumping and team pulling.

An inspiration meeting was interesting and Miss Barry sang. A visit to the kitchen and a tour of Bryan followed.

On Jack's talk on "Living in the Year" was interesting. "Do you have to do with what you have to do it with," she said. Dr. E. D. Hopkins' lecture on "Another Essential of Farm Sanitation" was well presented.

D. A. Cobb, chief of the cotton section of the AAA, Washington, spoke on the Bankhead act. The wardrobe demonstration conducted by Mrs. W. S. Price of Florio winning first place in class I and Mrs. K. C. Alexander first in Class II. Miss Barrie of the Texas group was the best organized in the U. S.

We left College Station Saturday morning for Galveston and, on the way, held Sunday school. We arrived at the coastal city in time for luncheon and a refreshing swim before our boat arrived. Aboard the Galvez, we enjoyed singing and music played by four negroes, and viewed many interesting things pointed out by our captain—cotton yards, fire walls, sulphur refineries and boats, compresses and other things. About 25 miles out, we saw a large porpoise and tons of jelly fish. On the return trip we visited the capitol building at Austin, and came by way of San Angelo and Big Spring.

BY MRS. PALMER EVANS

Thanks to the driver who drove the bus and was so nice to each of us:

He stopped at the crossings and slowed down at the curves. And anticipated danger without losing his nerves. He was kind and considerate to all the crowd. The meek, the humble, the haughty, the proud. One thing made the driver feel so sad.

Was one lady who was continually mad. Though he asked the ladies if he could smoke. Bought us a practical joke. So here is to Red, so nice and kind.

As good as we could find, Who gave us a nice trip to Bryan. Bought us cold drinks by the dozens.

And helped some of the married ladies find their cousins.

Under the Dome Of the Capital

BY GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN (U.P.)—Former State Senator Thomas Pollard, Tyler, retains the unwavering confidence of a large part of the residents of the East Texas district that sent him to the legislature. They bank on his political and personal judgment.

So in the present state political campaign he received a letter from one designated by a group to communicate with him. The letter read:

"We have heard Candidate so-and-so speak. He tells some mighty bad things about his opponent. We have also heard his opponent speak and he tells more on Mr. So-and-So. You know them both. Now, we want to ask you which one is telling the truth on the other."

L. E. Harwood Austin newspaper man, now can sign checks for millions and have the checks honored. Unhappily the checks are not his own. He has been designated by State Relief Director Adam I. Johnson to sign the relief checks. The check-signing got to be so big a job that it interfered with Johnson's directing. It was added to Harwood's duties as publicity man.

The storage space for the state records in the basement of the new state highway building will not be filled for years, even with the normally rapid accumulation of papers. This information was given the state relief commission when it was making arrangements for headquarters for the relief administration. Records of relief for all counties must be kept at state headquarters. The available space in the highway building and that in a former local bank's vaults helped keep headquarters in Austin.

Texas National Guardsmen did not get an opportunity to strut their stuff before the governor at the Palacios encampment this year. Usually there is a Governor's Day when the guardsmen with all their trappings pass in review before the chief executive. Governor Miriam A. Ferguson was too busy this time to go to the encampment. Last year she attended with her military staff and her husband.

The governor's next prospective trip from the capital is scheduled for October 11-12 when she hopes to participate in Tyler's rose festival. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, invited also to attend, was unable to accept, though she was flattered by the reminder that Tyler is surrounded by Roosevelt-or rose-fields. They are not rose gardens. Literally they are rose fields. There are hundreds of acres of them where the roses are raised commercially and shipped to all parts of the country.

Increased travel revenues that resulted when fares were decreased have proved to be primary, not seasonal. So the state railroad commission has decided to leave the reduced rail and bus rates in effect through September. Both rail and bus lines report increased traffic at the low fares, resulting in greater net revenue than from higher fares with fewer passengers.

Col. Ernest O. Thompson, Amarillo member of the state railroad commission, is due for a big surprise one of these days. He keeps a big scrap book. Into it goes everything pertaining to oil. Newspaper men have slipped into its pages an oil item not contemplated by the Colonel. It is about castor oil.

Luther M. Bickett, San Antonio member of the state Democratic executive committee looks so much like his brother Judge John Bickett that several committee members congratulated him last Saturday on becoming a member of the fourth court of civil appeals.

CARVE DOMINOES
KERRVILLE (U.P.)—Hand-carved dominoes cut from solid blocks of celluloid are among articles made by patients at the Veterans Hospital at Legion and being sold here by the American Legion Auxiliary in cooperation with a rehabilitation program sponsored by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Other articles made by the disabled veterans include rugs, purses, Afghans, baskets, hand-tooled leather.

Proceeds of sales go to patients who made the articles.

RENOVATION PLANNED

AUSTIN (U.P.)—A mild winter that reduced the normal bill for heating the capitol enabled the Texas board of control to institute a $4,000 painting program on the interior of the half-century-old statehouse. Appropriations to pay for gas for heating the huge building are defraying most of the painting costs. The remainder was obtained from economies in operation and maintenance.

The rotunda, excepting the dome, and the north and south hallways will be painted. For the first time since it was constructed woodwork in the hallways will be varnished.

The painting program also will include two coats of red paint on the frames of the 900-odd windows.

The stalk-eyed fly has eyes on the ends of long extensions from the sides of its head.

SHARPEST OF THE TIGER'S CLAWS

Here is that hustling, clean fielding and heavy hitting infield of the Detroit Tigers that is carrying Mickey Cochrane's boys pennant-ward in the American League. Left to right are: Henry Greenberg, first baseman; Charley Gehring, second baseman; Bill Rogell, shortstop, and Marvin Owen, third sacker.

Rowe Strokes Detroit Crew

The stage gun of the Detroit Tigers' pitching staff is Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe, above, who, in addition to taking his regular turn on the mound, fills in at relief roles and pinch hits a home run every now and then. Rowe is the leading pitcher of Manager Cochrane's team.

BRITISH MEN GO FEMININE

LONDON (U.P.)—Men, here, are going all feminine in their clothes, a recent trade exhibition showed. Such articles as ankle socks, knitted tan-o-shirters, yellow, green and blue silk sports shirts would never have been accepted for summer sports wear a few years ago.

The same tendency can be seen right through the modern man's wardrobe. He no longer wears heavy woolen undergarments, but silk articles that closely suggest "undies." His dressing gowns are always silk with striking patterns. His suspenders are narrow and in delicate shades.

One of the most interesting features of the show was a soft checked black and white silk shirt with collar attached, which the manufacturers are certain will be the accepted 1940 evening wear for men with a dinner jacket.

Another item was a new stretchable fabric shirt which contains no rubber, but will stretch and give to movement like elastic. It is claimed for it that a man would be able to wear a shirt two sizes too small for him with comfort. The practical use would be extreme ease and comfort combined with neatness. The material is absolutely unshrinkable.

Tiger Cub

In his first full year in the majors, Eldon Auker, above, has joined the "Big 4" of the Detroit Tigers' pitching staff. Auker, a right hander, has won nine and lost four for the Tigers, and ranks right along with "Schoolboy" Rowe, Tommy Bridges and Firpo Marberry in effectiveness.

Next Governor Medium Sized; Hair Is Dark

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 20. (U.P.)—A governor's race closer than that of 1932 between "Ma" Ferguson and Ross Sterling seems likely in the Alfred-Hunter run-off primary Saturday.

All that is certain now is that the democratic nominee for governor of Texas will be a medium-sized, clean shaven man of less than 45 years with dark hair, and that he will be from Wichita Falls.

Whether it will be Attorney General James V. Allred or Tom P. Hunter—well, your guess is as good as mine or anybody else's. It is a horse race in which you can't depend upon form books or dope sheets.

Take the 1932 Democratic primary figures. Then compare them with the figures in 1930. They give opposite results. In 1930 Ross Sterling trailed "Ma" Ferguson by 72,000 votes in the first primary. Going into the run-off as second man, he led her by 39,000 in the deciding race. In 1932, Sterling again trailed but he was not able to overcome Mrs. Ferguson's lead in the run-off.

Together the figures show that the second man has a chance to win and that he can also keep being second.

Hunter supporters can read from the figures that the biggest gain always is made by the runner-up. Some claim that if Governor Sterling had been given an opportunity to contest, he would have been shown the real leader of the 1932 run-off election.

Most people expect a 900,000 vote next Saturday, compared with 1,018,000, July 28. Here again past figures give no answer. In 1930 there was a bigger total vote for governor in the run-off than in the first primary. In 1932, the run-off vote was the smaller.

Should Allred lose by a narrow margin, it will not be the first time he has gone through such an experience, smiling. As a candidate for Attorney General in 1926 he was behind Claude Pollard, Houston, by only 4,384 votes in the first primary. Run-off returns were even closer. Pollard won by 4,046.

That was almost as close as the margin by which Mrs. Ferguson was declared the nominee over Gov. Ross Sterling. Sterling attempted to contest her reported 3,798-vote lead. Allred in his race had taken his medicine, conceded Pollard the nominee, and postponed his ambition two years. It prevented his becoming the state's most youthful attorney general. Dan Moody retained that record.

Allred has been making a run-off campaign that is better than the best expected by his friends, but how much of it is getting votes, is the unanswered question. Heavy Hunter strength is reported in the old "Ferguson strongholds."

If the trades have been made that Allred charges, there will be a lot of votes go with the trades.

PLENTY OIL; WATER SHORT

KILGORE, Tex. (U.P.)—Kilgore, which has more wells than any other place of the same area, now faces a drilling difficulty. Everywhere well is drilled it strikes oil. This time the city wants water—500 gallons a minute to supplement the city's present supply. Contractors hope to get the water and $18,000 by drilling in Happy Hollow.

TWOS OF A KIND MIX VOTERS

CLEVELAND (U.P.)—The Max Rosenblums and the Ray Millers tend to confound Smith City voters. Right now it is the Max Rosenblums. Max, a clothier and prominent sportsman, is not seeking office. But Max, attorney, is running for the state legislature. Some two years ago, Ray Miller, democrat, was elected mayor, while Ray Miller, republican, was elected to the school board.

FISHERMAN'S PARADISE

OGDEN, Utah (U.P.)—Fish who swim the sparkling waters of Emerald lake, in the Manti National forest, reached only by a 130-mile pack trip. The forest service recently took 10,000 rainbow fingerlings to the almost inaccessible lake, which has no outlet and never before had boasted finny beauties.

FIRST GIRL IN 67 BIRTHS

S AUGUS, Mass. (U.P.)—When Mrs. Henry O. Westendorp gave birth to a daughter, it was the first girl born in the family in 67 births during several generations.

HARDWARE MEN SHUT OUT ICEMEN TO EVEN SHAUGHNESSY FINALS

WATLINGTON HURLS 4-HIT BALL AT ICE CREW

Midland Hardware evened the count with Southern Ice in the Shaughnessy playoff finals Monday night when its strengthened lineup got to Adamson for nine hits and runs. Watlington let down the icemen with four scattered hits and shut out the nummackers.

Each club has won one game. Another affair is billed for tonight at 8 o'clock.

Bill Morgan and Manning returned to the Hardware lineup and complemented the club's old-time punch. Southern Ice was allowed to use Rose in center field, as Cotton Wallace is no longer available.

Last night's game went to the seventh inning before the scoring started. It was one of the best games of the season.

Home Brewed

BY R. C. HANKINS

Resolved to actual points won the winning Midland Sand Belt association team took 178 points to opponents' 62, or 89 matches to opponents' 31, in the season just completed. Counting in attendance points, the winning club ended the season with 297 points—a Sand Belt record for 10 matches—to opponents' 142.

Ironie to the lady that is those who never had the occasion to consult the family practitioner as a result of bending their left elbows over much in the locker rooms, was the upstart of the winners in their own ballpark by the strongly-finishing second-place club from Big Spring. Underneath the assessment of the hang-dog variety, Midland golfers unhesitatingly tell one the reversal was not due in whole to the absence from the Midland lineup of Gentry Gidd, Elliott Miller and Frank Johnson; there had come a psychological bridge to their purposeful march—and they relaxed with a splash. Their game undoubtedly was dulled, but they suffered from no foreign missions complex. The 26-14 cropper was their first time to lose their balance, having won their previous matches with scores ranging from 21-18 to a clean sweep.

Midland's ten average per match was 25.7 out of a possible total of 32 points.

Joe D. Chambers was high in individual scoring for the Midland club, accounting for 32 points. E. C. Nix of Colorado, at last accounts, was topping the association with 33. At that time, four Midland players ranked in for the next four places, Chambers, Morgan Neil with 30, and Jackson and Mille with 29 each. Incidentally, Chambers and Neil played every match, the only Midlanders to get that many service stripes.

During the Midland years of membership in the Sand Belt, De Lo Douglas has been ranked individual star in point getting twice, in 1933 and 1931. Elliott Miller in 1932. Douglas won 24 points this year, having been out in about half the matches.

"They get cocky, don't they?" Don Sivalls was bandying words with Shirley Robbins of Big Spring. "Have your eight men here in a body Sunday for the Scotch foursomes or I'll fine you a handicap of 250 points for next season," Robbins said. "That's okay," Sivalls came back. "We'll spot you that many and still win the cup!"

The season for the Midland club in tabulation is imposing, standing thus:
Lamesa 10, Midland 30.
Colorado 16, Midland 24.
Stanton 8, Midland 32.
Snyder 16, Midland 24.
Big Spring 10, Midland 30.
Lamesa 16, Midland 24.
Colorado 14, Midland 22.
Stanton 18, Midland 21 (Midland made the mistake of taking only

A CHAMPION STOOPS TO CONQUER

Helen Jacobs puts every muscle into the defense of her Women's National Tennis Championship title in the tournament at Forest Hills, L. I. The camera caught her as she was reaching out for a low return into the forecourt during her match with Marjorie Sachs of Cambridge, Mass., which she won, 6-0, 6-0.

Only two of the 64 contestants wore skirts, skirts being the accepted mode for the courts.

The complete roster of those who participated in Midland's contribution to the Sand Belt season includes 15 men: C. L. Jackson, Gentry Kidd, Morgan Neil, Elliott Miller, Don Sivalls, Joe D. Chambers, Henry Shaw, Riley De Lo Douglas, Frank Johnson, K. P. Hart Charles Mix, Earl J. Moran, Harry Adams and H. S. Forgeron. Of this list, four played with the team for the first season—Mix, Hart, Neil and Johnson. Neil formerly played with the Odessa Sand Belt team, but took out a resident membership with the Midland club this season. Forgeron was a Sand Belt member here in 1931. None of the roster ever played with any other major association except for Sivalls, who played with Cisco, in the O. Belt loop.

To golfers the world over every lamp post and living room is the 19th hole. They tell one here, the boys of the links, of the times they barely got out of matches with their shirts. Jackson, who plays No. 1 away from home and No. 2 on the local links—because of some sort of superstition born of several drubbings here while teeing off in the angle position of the V flight—did not know until this season the unadmitted satisfaction of putting out an opponent with a sub-par 69. He had learned the dubious routine three times of going down before such shokmaking—once this season when Frank Rose beat him at Lamesa, in 1933 when Southworth of Sweetwater put him out 2-1 and the year before when his nemesis, Mr. Rose again, handed him a 2-1 upset—but realized that mark himself only this season when he topped the West Texas Press convention champion, Roberts of Snyder, 7-6, to set a new course record for Snyder's links.

The consistent No. 1 golfer must have a golfing temperament, which roughly interpreted means he must be able to "take it" as well as "dish it out." Midland golfers have never given Jackson a chance to forget this primary rule of golf, and they razz him unmercifully about the last duel he had with Rose, Jackson, who lost only one individual match this season, lost to Rose by a 9-8 settlement that still makes him reach for the red ink when balancing the books of his wholesale oil agency. On the very first hole, Senior Rose chipped in his shot from a trap, to hole out with a birdie. On the next hole he clipped in from off the green for a birdie and Jack, lying close to the pin for what ordinarily would have been a so-called "gimme" putt, hasn't got the ball down yet! The rest of the round? Ditto and ditto. Jack likes to talk about it yet. "There weren't many fellows who could have beaten the Dawson county boy that day," he admits.

Jackson shot a 71 to beat Glazier of Stanton, Frank Johnson a 70 to put out Williams of Snyder, a new man to these parts, and Kidd had to drill out a sub-par 70 to beat Shirley Robbins of Big Spring 2-1. Just some of the things that have ruffled the power behind the throne. "His alert instruction and timely hints put us on to our game," one member said. "He's the best pro we've seen in this district!"

A sun-baked, wizened Scot, Sandy Auchterlonie, whose name is harder to spell than his burr is to decipher, is accredited by the Midland team as the power behind the throne. "His alert instruction and timely hints put us on to our game," one member said. "He's the best pro we've seen in this district!"

Joe D. Chambers has occasion to remember that match he played with Fred Stevens of Big Spring this season. The two went 23 holes before Joe rammed down a put and called it a day—and a win! Both had sworn to flip a coin in case the 20th hole decided nothing. "We were so tired we were afraid to hit out tee shots," Chambers ruefully admitted. "We were afraid of hitting our tou-

Marconi Guides 'Ghost' Ship From Land

There was no skipper at the wheel when the trim yacht Eleetra plowed her way accurately through the waters (as shown below) of Santa Margherita Ligure, Italy. The navigator, Guglielmo Marconi, was on land, making his trim craft obey his every whim by micro-radio waves flashed from his hotel, on the roof of which may be seen the circular sending apparatus. This feat is held Marconi's most notable achievement since he invented the wireless telegraph.

Which calls to mind the match Arch Thomas and Elliott Miller had at Colorado in 1933. All principals to the match had gone to the clubhouse and had dressed, under supposition Midland's duo had dopped the match. A recheck put all back into their clothes and on the links. Midland won the contested match, the low ball, on the 21st hole. Last year, at Sweetwater, Elliott Miller and Gentry Kidd did the same thing.

Leninograd (UP)—On the initiative of a group of American workers, Leninograd's first baseball team was organized recently. Interested Russian sportsmen have asked the Provincial Council of Physical Culture to assign funds for the manufacture of baseball equipment.

Yucca Picture Is Best Musical Tit-Bit in Many Moons

If you haven't seen "20 Million Sweethearts," ending its three-day showing at the Yucca tonight, take a tip and invite the entire family as your guests.

The film is the only one that ever caused a San Angelo audience to applaud at its conclusion, according to The Standard, and you'll want to see it. Dick Powell's singing is the finest screen entertainment we've seen in months; Ginger Rogers, Fort Worth girl, adds beauty and glamor in a supporting role, and as for Allen Jenkins, the Four Mills Brothers, Ted Florida and his band, Pat O'Brien, the Three Radio Rogues, and the Three Debutantes, well—

Just take the tip. —R. C. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Holt McWorkman have returned from a vacation trip to the mountains of New Mexico. ## Odessa Defeats Crane and Hobbs

ODESSA.—The Odessa Oilers retained their top standing in the Permian Basin league by defeating the Crane outfit 9-6 in a slow game at Crane. Ray and Sidwell were leading hitters for Odessa.

In other league games of the day, McCamey defeated Wink 5 to 0. Odessa overpowered the Hobbs, N. M., aggregation Saturday 17 to 0. Hobbs heretofore has presented a strong club, but the Saturday visitors were no match for the locals. Lefty Briggs pitched his usual steady game, holding his opponents to seven hits. Two pitchers were used in a vain attempt to halt the Odessa hits, which totaled 19.

Travis and Jacks, with three hits each and Ray, with a long homer, led in the Odessa attack.

$2,000 Purses, Abilene Rodeo

ABILENE, Aug. 21.—Heavy representation of cowboys who competed in one of America's most famous rodeos, the Pioneer Days event, ended recently at Abilene, is anticipated at the American Legion's fourth annual three-day rodeo beginning Labor Day, Sept. 3, at West Texas Fair Park, Abilene. Printed prize lists were mailed to the secretary of the Cheyenne show. A letter from the secretary to Harry Schienberg of the Abilene Legion rodeo committee, who has been distributed among all of the scores of contestants there.

As a result, and due to the fact that the cash prizes for the three days approximate $2,000, more than double the amount offered last year, and numerous other awards such as saddles, bridles and boots are being offered, outstanding cowboys of the country have signified their attention of entering the Abilene contests before heading out later in the month with Col. W. T. Johnson's rodeo in Missouri, New York, Boston and Indianapolis.

A further incentive to well known rodeo contestants is the signing of Leonard Stroud, former world's championship all-round cowboy and well known rodeo producer, to produce and direct the Abilene rodeo. Stroud will furnish his entire string of rodeo stock; he likewise will provide the specialty acts, including trick ropers, two men and two women trick riders, a cowboy clown and a high school horse.

Six performances are booked for the rodeo—three afternoon and three night. A barbecue, free to everyone holding an admission ticket, is planned for the second day, Tuesday afternoon.

Contests will be held daily in bronc-riding, steer-riding, bulldogging, calf-roping, bull calf-roping and scramble.

SURVEY ORDERED
AUSTIN.—County administrators today were asked to conduct a survey relating to the problem of fuel for relief clients during the coming winter. The survey will ascertain the cost of fuel last winter and the estimated cost of fuel necessary to furnish during October, November, December, January, and February next. Administrations also were requested to estimate the average cost of fuel per family and the number of families for whom fuel will have to be provided.

Results will be compiled and forwarded to Washington, C. Z. Crain, director of commodities distribution, said. The survey is expected to determine on what basis fuel will be supplied during the winter.

Pat O'Brien Given Stiff Ring Training For Fighter's Role

If it's true that the Irish love to fight, then Pat O'Brien is a lucky champ. For O'Brien has the leading role in "The Personality Kid," a Warner Bros. prize-ringer drama coming to the Ritz theatre tomorrow and Thursday.

Pat, who was one of the best amateur fighters at Marquette university, realized that he had softened considerably since he packed a football, or threw the mitts, so he began an intensive conditioning campaign for the role.

He engaged Jackie Fields, former welterweight champion of the world, to whip him into shape, and O'Brien was seen jogging over the Brentwood Hills in company with Fields early each morning. The day included steam baths, gym work, massage, and as many rounds of give-and-take boxing as the tutor demanded.

Pat's inexhaustible supply of cigars are gathering dust at home, and he is in bed each night at ten, for he has continued his training. Fields allows Pat one night each week to stay up later in order to attend a boxing match. Fields scaled Pat down from 197 pounds to 178 within ten days time, and had him in the proverbial pink when the cameras turned on the first scene.

"The Personality Kid" is the drama of a woman who sticks by her man, based on the story by Gene Towne and C. Graham Baker, adapted for the screen by P. Hugh Herbert and Erwin Gelsley.

In the cast besides Pat O'Brien are Glenda Farrell, Claire Dodd, Henry O'Neill, Robert Gleckler, Thomas Jackson and Arthur Vinton. Alan Crosland directed.
