Wood in Kidnap Ladder from Hauptmann, State Says

EXPERT TESTIFIES FOLLOWING STRING OTHER WITNESSES

Famous Case Is Now Nearing Its Climax

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 23. (AP)—After testifying that the upright piece of the Lindbergh kidnap ladder and the section taken from Hauptmann's attic were at one time one piece, Arthur J. Koehler, government wood expert, said that the wooden plane found in Hauptmann's car was the initial "H" on it was used in making the kidnap ladder.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 23. (AP)—Wood in the Lindbergh kidnap ladder came from the home of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, a government expert testified today in Hauptmann's trial for the kidnaping and murder of baby Charles A. Lindbergh.

Arthur J. Koehler of Madison, Wisconsin, followed a string of ladder witnesses to the stand, adding to their tracing in a final conclusion that the ladder came from Hauptmann's home state.

The case is nearing a climax in the state's attempt to send Hauptmann to the electric chair.

Evidence was also brought out and exhibit introduced of a piece of cheap writing paper from Hauptmann's home which is supposed to be a counter part of the paper used in the ransom notes.

Nails were exhibited that were taken from the Hauptmann garage that fit perfectly into the nail holes of the ladder, according to a witness.

The defense interrupted the state's case long enough to make New Jersey Fingerprint Expert Frank Kelly demonstrate his method of taking finger prints.

TWO SPEAK AT LEGION MEETING

With an attendance of between 40 and 50 men, Commander W. V. Bennett reported that the American Legion "feed" at the Petroleum building last night was enjoyed by those present.

Unable to arrive from Wink for the meeting, Jack Godsey was not present to fill his speaking appointment.

Bob Hamilton, district attorney, and I. J. Prager, Midland merchant, both made talks.

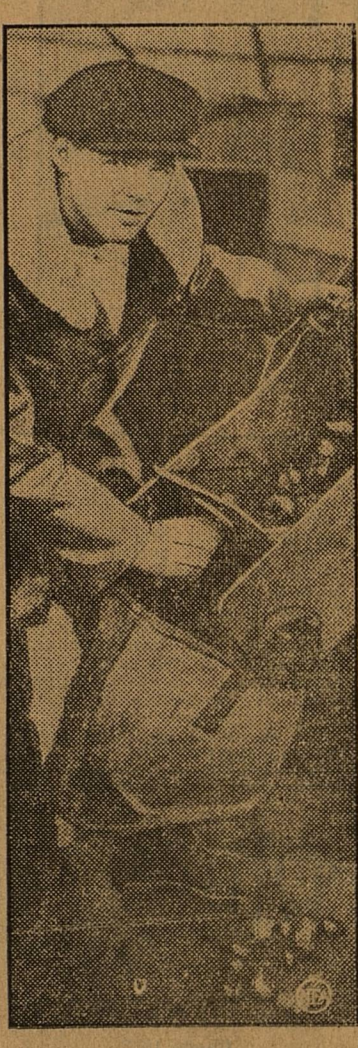

Captains and teams were named for the membership drive that is being planned.

"We hope to realize several new members from the meeting last night," Bennett said. "Over 200 men in the county are eligible for membership in the post. If they all belonged, we could do a lot of good, both for ourselves and for the community."

Ten men present promised to become members in a short time.

Woods W. Lynch post now has 59 paid-up members.

Michael J. McDonough, above, head of the Building Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor, is the leader in a movement to withdraw 12 affiliated unions from the federation, which in turn threatens to organize a new building trades department without them. McDonough's faction moved out of the federation building in Washington. Negotiations are under way to prevent a final split-off.

STOCK LAW IS DEFEATED IN TUES. ELECTION

The stock law which has raised much heated discussion between adherents and opponents of the measure during the last ten days, was decisively voted down in the election held yesterday.

The final count showed 289 votes against the law and 103 for it, a majority of 186 defeating ballots. Eighteen votes were uncast. Only property owners in precinct one could vote in the election and several votes were challenged and denied on that ruling.

TO SHIP ONION PLANTS
LAREDO. (AP)—Fifty carloads or more of Bermuda onion plants will be shipped to various states during the next few weeks by Ambrose Johnson, who annually grows Bermuda onion plants to supply growers in Texas and other states.

Delinquent Tax Bill Effective; Alred Signs

AUSTIN, Jan. 23. (AP)—Governor Alred signed Tuesday a concurrent resolution to make effective immediately a bill passed by the preceding special session to release all penalties and interest on taxes delinquent on last Aug. 1 if paid by March 15.

The bill failed to receive a sufficient majority on enactment to become effective immediately and would not have become operative until Feb. 1 without the enabling resolution. It also provides a graduated scale of interest charges for payment from March 15 to June 30.

Sponsors of the resolution asserted it would result in immediate payment of thousands of dollars in delinquent taxes, highly desirable in view of the badly overdrawn treasury.

The Senate entered a long discussion of its rules of procedure. Of a group of tax bills introduced in the House, one would require public utilities to pay a gross receipts tax of 1 per cent on sales of gas, power and water outside city limits in addition to the tax now levied on receipts from city business.

Another would increase the tax on sulphur production from 75 cents per long ton to $2 per ton, while a third would levy a tax of 51 per cent on salt production.

Two important bills to change criminal procedure were introduced by Representative Harry N. Graves of Georgetown. One would limit appeals courts to reversals on errors calculated to cause an improper judgment, while the other would authorize a trial judge to change venue on his own motion.

INSURGENT DEMOS GAIN COMPROMISE ON RELIEF PLAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. (AP)—The House today adopted a liberalized "gag" rule for consideration of the $4,880,000,000 public works resolution.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. (AP)—House Democratic insurgents Tuesday gained a compromise on the President's $4,880,000,000 relief program at a party caucus after Speaker Byrnes promised that Secretary Ickes would not be the administrator of the fund.

The proposed gag rules, under which the measure is to be considered, was broken by the caucus when it was agreed that certain sections would be thrown open to amendment in order to curb the power given the President.

On the other hand, a victory was scored by the administration when the caucus voted 190 to 42 to give the President the lump sum, without earmarking it. Thirty-nine Democrats refused to be bound by the caucus.

GROCCERS' CODE DETAILS GIVEN

Details of the code under which grocers operate were given at the meeting of that group last night at the chamber of commerce offices by T. N. Carswell, secretary of the distributors' code authority with headquarters at Abilene.

A committee of Herbert Collings as chairman, J. O. Nobles and O. W. Sluce was appointed for local enforcement of the code, with instructions to report to Carswell any violations.

Carswell pointed out that the code must be observed in its entirety and that he would like to see it complied with before the government has to enforce it.

Basin Oil Developments

By PAUL OSBORNE
Definite gauge of 190 barrels in the second 24 hours was established for Humble No. 2 J. S. Means Monday, to mark the southern outpost of the north central Andrews county pool capable of commercial production.

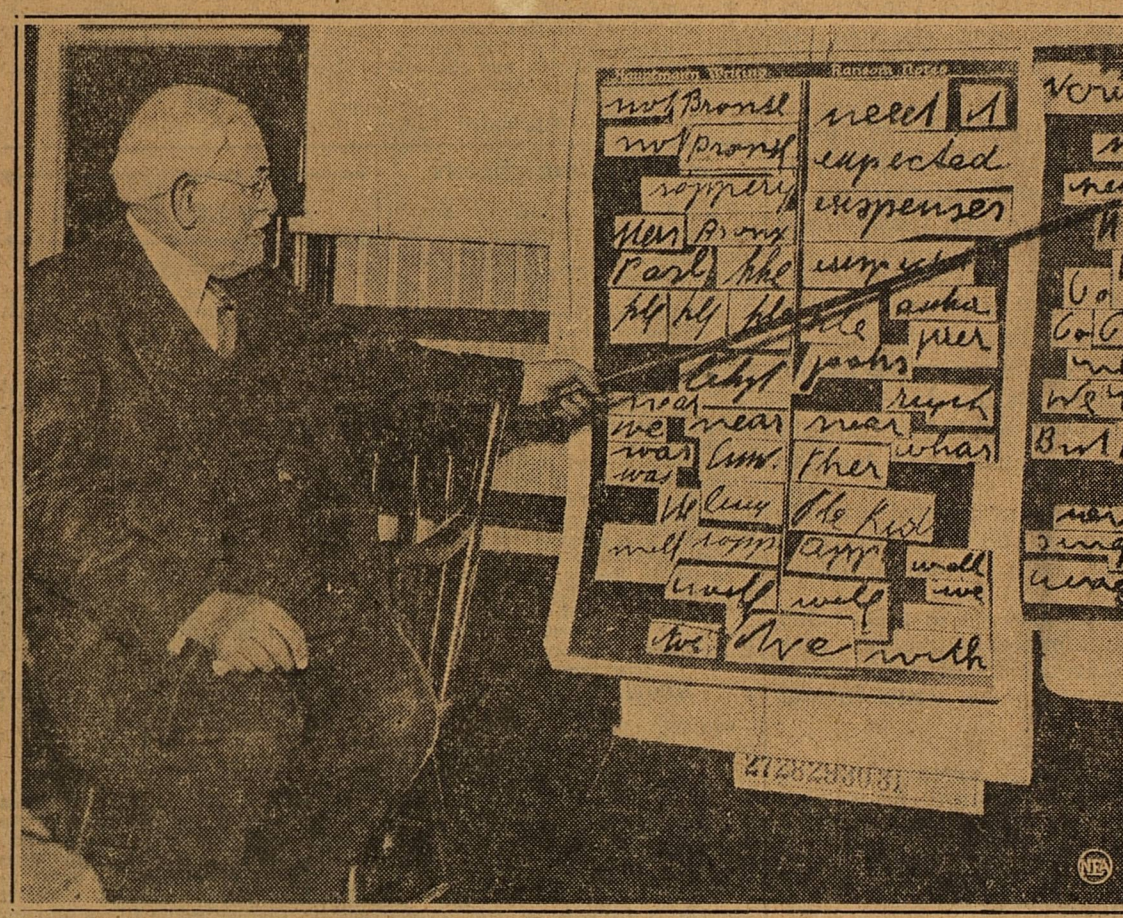

Drilled to total depth of 4,555 feet, but with considerable confusion as to the source of water showing in drill stem tests, the well was tested by the Schlumberger method last week. Indications of porosity and oil showed on the records made, and the test was shot with 390 quarts from 4,397 feet to total depth Saturday.

Immediately after the shot, oil flowed at the rate of about eleven barrels per hour for nine hours, then dropping off to give Monday's gauge.

Commercial possibilities of the No. 2 J. S. Means makes the pool appear to be at least two and a half miles long, north and south, and about a half mile wide at present. Humble No. 1 R. M. Means, in the northeast corner of section 2, block A-35, was the discovery well, and production is now coming from the offset, No. 1 J. S. Means, and from the No. 2 R. M. Means, which is in the northwest corner of section 6, block A-19, about three quarters of a mile northeast of the discovery.

Humble No. 3 R. M. Means, 2,483 feet from the east line and 1,980 feet from the south line of section 4, block C-45, is at present the most northwesterly test in the area, and is drilling below 2,940 feet. No. 3 J. S. Means has been located 660 feet from the north line and 1,997 feet from the east line of section 6, block A-35, midway between the Nos. 1 and 2 J. S., and is now rigging up.

Expert Links Hauptmann to Ransom Notes

The state hopes that this scene in the dramatic trial of Bruno Hauptmann will convince the jury that the German carpenter wrote the Lindbergh ransom notes. Albert S. Osborne, handwriting expert, is shown pointing out the points of similarity between Hauptmann's acknowledged handwriting and that on the ransom notes. Defense experts will attempt to refute Osborne's opinions.

Senate Passes Connally Bill to Prevent Hot Oil

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The senate Tuesday passed by a rapid voice vote a new "hot oil" bill, intended to stop interstate shipments of illegally-produced petroleum to plug the gap made by the supreme court ruling holding section 8-C of the national recovery act unconstitutional.

Stops Hot Oil
Bearing two amendments, the measure now goes to the house where several similar bills have been introduced. There is prospect of still another measure, calling for outright federal control of crude oil production.

The new measure, drawn by Senator Connally (Dem., Tex.) author of section 8-C, specifically prohibits interstate shipments of what is termed "contraband oil" and was drafted to comply with the supreme court's contention that a policy of congress must be set forth before that body can delegate authority to the president to enforce such regulations as he or his agents may promulgate.

The two amendments, offered at the request of the attorney general, confer on the president or the attorney general the right to apply to a federal district court for enforcement of the act where formerly that power was given the president "or his duly authorized agent or agency." That agency has been Oil Administrator Ickes and his petroleum boards.

The president or his agent still has the right, however, to prescribe such rules and regulations as may be found necessary to carry out provisions of the act and fines and imprisonment may be imposed for violations.

The Connally oil bill was warmly endorsed tonight by Representative Rayburn (Dem., Tex.), chairman of the house interstate commerce committee, who said he was confident the house would approve it. Rayburn said he expected the measure to be referred to his committee, but did not know when it would report the bill out.

A sub-committee, headed by Representative Cole (Dem., Md.), was reappointed today by Rayburn to investigate the entire oil situation. Rayburn said action by the full committee would be influenced by recommendations of the sub-committee.

Confesses That He Fired at Detectives

HOUSTON, Jan. 23. (AP)—Houston police today had a confession from Ely G. Dibbell, 24, of Beaumont, that he fired the shots which seriously wounded City Detectives J. D. Broussard and O. Martin at a camp here Monday night. Police Chief B. W. Payne said today.

Would Investigate Education Expense

AUSTIN, Jan. 23. (AP)—An inquiry into the investment by the state board of education of permanent school fund moneys and in refunding bonds, was proposed today in a house resolution by Rep. Alfred Petsch of Fredericksburg. Five members, appointed by the speaker, would conduct the investigation.

Officer Killed by Accidental Shooting

GAINESVILLE, Jan. 23. (AP)—Charles Tume, policeman, died today from a bullet wound suffered when a revolver in the hands of Herman Bailey, 32, another officer, was discharged accidentally in a grocery store.

SUFFERING OVER NATION BECOMES MORE ALARMING

42 Deg. Below Zero Recorded Hitting Montana

It is not known yet what effect the new cold wave in the north and midwest will have on the temperature in Midland. Warmer weather is forecast for this section of the state, however.

A new cold wave was reported sweeping from the north on the Midwest and parts of the Rocky mountain area today, while the number of storm fatalities continued to grow. Other sections of the nation are beset with floods, fog and snow.

The temperature at Hibbing, Minn., dropped to 42 degrees below zero.

Floods Damaging
As the cold spread southward into the territory where most of the deaths occurred, another cold wave was advancing upon Montana, where three deaths were attributed to last week's storm.

Along Coldwater River in Mississippi flood waters rose 15 to 20 feet and drove hundreds from their delta homes. It is feared that lives were lost.

SENATE RUSHES MEASURES OF THE GOVERNOR TODAY

AUSTIN, Jan. 23. (AP)—Eight of the nine bills that Governor Alred proposed to enable Texans to participate fully in the benefits of the National Housing act were jammed through the senate today with only one dissenting vote.

The bills would loosen restrictions on loans of state-regulated financial institutions to permit the investment of funds in real estate insured by the National Housing act.

LIONS CLUB NAMES BENEFIT BALL COM.

Appointment of a committee to make plans for a Washington Birthday ball the proceeds of which will go to charitable work was the chief business transacted at the regular meeting of the Lions club at noon today. Committeemen named are: Joe Chambers, J. H. Williams, and De Lo Douglas.

The Rev. J. E. Pickering was the main luncheon speaker. He reviewed the novel of coal mining life, "I Went to Pit College," written by Laura Gillfillen, an American girl who lived with the miners for some time.

Billy Graves Noble gave a piano solo, "Mazurka Noble."

Col. Sparkman, here in connection with rural rehabilitation work, was the guest of Joe Chambers at the luncheon.

About 30 members were present. Women of the Presbyterian church served the meal.

SAVES BABY BROTHER

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—The presence of mind of Dillard Ferguson, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Ferguson, saved the life of his baby brother when his clothing caught fire at the Ferguson home two miles south of Pittsburgh, during the absence of the parents. Dillard threw his brother on a bed, wrapped him tightly in the bed clothing and smothered the flames. He had remembered a fire prevention lesson taught him in the second grade at school.

SUCCESS LIES IN HOPES THAT ARE FULFILLED

Representative John S. McGroarty of California, preparing to do legislative battle for the Townsend old age pension plan, is warned by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt that this plan is raising false hopes. To which he replies, somewhat caustically, that the whole New Deal program "has raised a hell of a lot of false hopes."

In this one sentence the gentleman seems to have put his finger on the distinguishing feature of the present era—the thing which makes it both a more encouraging and a more potentially dangerous time than any in recent years.

It is an era of hope; of high hopes, some of them, held by people in all classes of society. The course that our society will take in the next generation may easily depend very largely on the extent to which these hopes can be satisfied.

It is no disparagement of Mr. Hoover to say that the final year of his administration was a time of discouragement. That happened because of the inexorable march of events. Everything seemed to be sliding down hill.

We actually got so that we took a kind of morbid delight in pessimistic forecasts. No one dared look to the future with true confidence.

Then, for one reason or another, our mental attitude changed. The greatest gain made in the last two years has been based on that change. We became hopeful again.

We stopped expecting everything to go to pieces day after tomorrow, and started to comfort ourselves with fine dreams in the old American tradition—dreams about the great things that were about to be done in our country.

But if this has been a great gain, it has also carried with it the seeds of great risk. When many hopes are aroused, it is inevitable that some of them must be false ones. Not everything can be set right overnight.

Not all the schemes for self-betterment can be sound. Someone has to be disappointed.

And in this inevitable disillusionment lies danger. The greatest responsibility that lies upon the administration today is to see that there is as little disillusionment as possible; to fulfill, wholly or in part, as many of the new hopes as may be humanly attainable.

Which is just another way of saying that the government, now as never before, must be responsive to the desires of the people. Its success or failure will be judged, eventually, by the percentage of these hopes that it has been able to satisfy.

AN ECHO OF THE TWENTIES

When you think of the giddy, dizzy days of the 1920's, with all their insanities both major and minor, one figure that comes to mind is that of Texas Guinan. Somehow Tex typified the whoopee spirit that was the mark of those days.

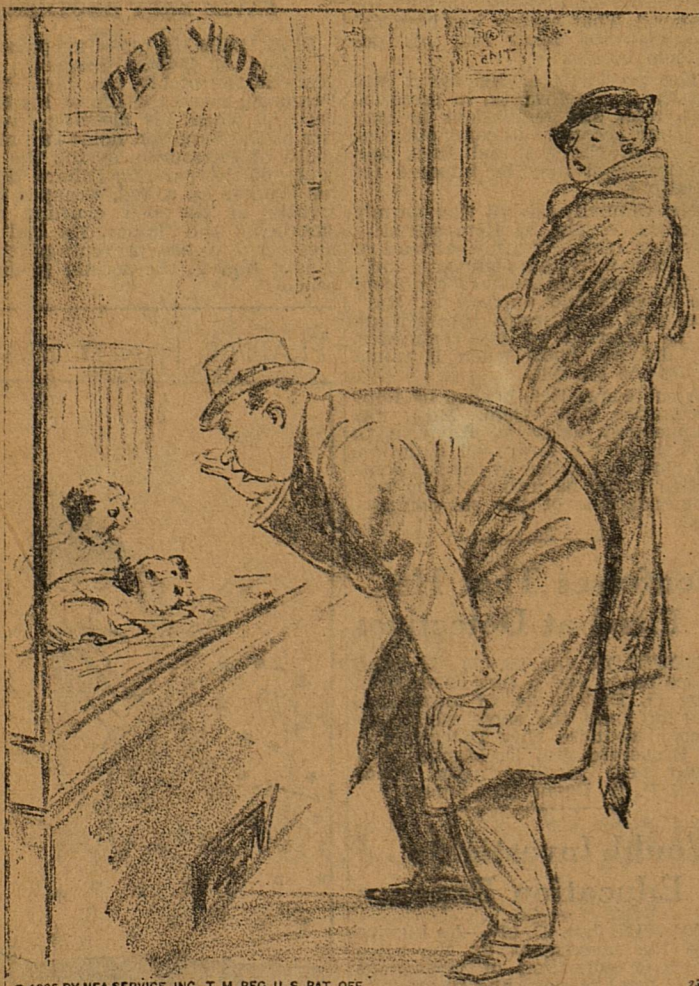

And Tex Guinan died, a year or more ago, very shortly after all those things she had publicly typified had died, too.

The other day an accounting of her taxable estate was filed. There were two interesting things about it. First, her entire net estate was only a little more than $28,000. Second, she had left her entire estate to her mother.

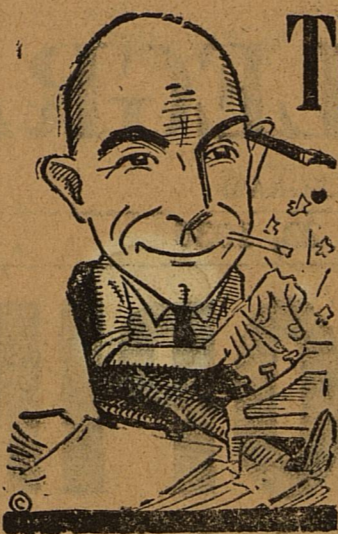

So you see, first, that this gilded figure didn't have the fabulous wealth that was freely associated with her name, and, second, that after all she was just a girl who, in spite of the professional whoopees attached to her name, had no one closer to her when she died than her mother.

There's one pair of glasses to look through when you gaze back toward the Torrid Twenties.

MODERN MINE COLONY

EAGLE PASS, (P)—Nueva Rosita, Mexico's largest mining center, has completed a colony of modern residences which will be occupied by laborers and foremen of the Cia. Carbonifera de Sabinas, S. A. The new community has all of the facilities of an American city, the houses being built on plans furnished by American architects. The streets are wide and paved with asphalt and the place is served with water and sewer.

The colony was built to accommodate the large increase in working population resulting from the increase in mine operations, the installation of a sheet-metal plant now in full operation.

At Nueva Rosita, 90 miles south-west of Piedras Negras, is located the large coke and coal by-products plants of the American Smelting & Refining Company.

Midland Woman Attends Episcopal Meet at Amarillo

Mrs. John E. Adams has returned from Amarillo where she attended the twenty-fifth annual convention of the Episcopal church. Mrs. Adams went as a delegate from this district and her expenses were paid by the Episcopal auxiliary.

Big Spring has changed from a mission to a parish of the district Mrs. Adams reported. Midland and McCamey will be included in this, helping to support the minister.

The following report on the proposed plan for a cathedral parish for North Texas is taken from the Amarillo Globe:

"Construction of a cathedral parish of Bishop's church for the North Texas Episcopal Missionary district at some time in the future, was approved yesterday at the closing session of the 25th annual meeting in St. Andrew's church here.

advanced by Bishop E. C. Seaman in his annual address Sunday night and was adopted yesterday.

"For the first time in 25 years a mission was turned into a parish in this district when St. Mary's mission of Big Spring was accepted.

"The Rev. E. Walter Henchell of Pampa will take over this new parish in February."

More than 100 delegates attended the two-day convocation.

Well, in blending you take two or more tobaccos and mix them together—a rather simple process. But cross-blending goes a step further... IN making Chesterfields we take Bright tobacco from Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida. We take Burley tobacco from Kentucky and Tennessee, and tobacco from Southern Maryland. Then in addition to these home-grown tobaccos we take tobacco grown in Turkey and Greece. We balance these mild, ripe home-grown tobaccos with the right amounts and the right kinds of aromatic Turkish. Then, instead of just mixing the tobaccos together, we blend and cross-blend them so that all the different flavors go together into one full flavor—the Chesterfield taste that so many smokers like. Cross-blending tobaccos as it is done in Chesterfields gives the cigarette a pleasing taste and aroma—they're mild and yet, They Satisfy.'

A MONEY SAVING OPPORTUNITY TO YOU:

Mr. Property Owner, if you could save money in your business you would be interested. Here's an opportunity to save your County money, thereby saving yourself money as a citizen. If you will come to the Court House and render your taxes at the office of the Assessor, either when you pay your taxes or before February 1st, 1935, you will enable the County Officials to carry on their program of economy and to hold down the tax rate. The forms are ready and it will take only a few minutes time to make your rendition.

ures the porosity of beds passed, a second jagged line is made, this representing porosity at different depths.

This diagrammatic picture, then, can be interpreted as to the nature of the formations themselves. For example, gypsum will be represented by great resistivity and small porosity, a water sand by small resistivity but great porosity, or an oil bearing limestone by great resistivity and great porosity.

Such, briefly, is the new electrical coring device, the Schlumberger method, often spoken of among oil men today. Though the company has had some 50 parties of three men each working for some time in France, Roumania, Russia, India, South America, and in California, Gulf Coast and Oklahoma oil provinces in the United States, Mr. Chabas' party has been in West Texas only three months.

The Permian Basin province is more difficult of interpretation than some, according to Mr. Chabas, but satisfactory results have been obtained in all the trials given to date, which include surveys in Hobbs and the Cooper pool in New Mexico and in several West Texas wells. Last week, it was determined that water showing in the Humble No. 2 J. S. Means, Andrews county, was drilling to water foreign to certain beds rather than a regular flow of water within the beds.

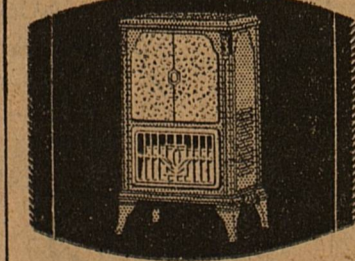

Mr. Chabas himself, is a graduate electrical engineer from the Ecole Superieur d' Electricite, Paris, and has spent some three years in France and two in Russia working with the method, in addition to a previous experience in the United States.

Conrad Schlumberger, formerly professor of electrical engineering at the School of Mines, Paris, and his brother, Marcel Schlumberger, electrical engineer, perfected the method, and E. G. Leonardson is manager of the company in the United States.

Report Favorably Rio Grande Survey

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. (AP)—The House Foreign Relations Committee reported favorably Tuesday a bill by Rep. J. J. Dempsey (D., N. M.) to provide $60,000 for a survey of the channelization of the Rio Grande river from the Caballo dam site in New Mexico to El Paso, Texas. Dempsey's measure would appropriate $60,000 to the International Boundary Commission for the survey, a project long desired by Southern New Mexico and the El Paso

Expect Develop New McCulloch Oil Pool

BRADY, (AP)—Development of the recently discovered McCulloch county oil pool on the White ranch, 20 miles north of Brady, is expected to begin soon. A number of tests are contemplated in wildcat territory in the northern part of McCulloch and the southern sections of Brown and Coleman counties.

Oil was struck in the White well at a depth of 700 feet in three feet of sand December 14 while it was being drilled for water. It has been producing an average of 20 barrels of 36.7 gravity sweet oil daily since insertion of one-inch tubing, about two weeks ago.

The well is 5 1/2 miles west of Mercury, the nearest railroad point, and located on second 2 1/2 William Dennis survey about 2 1/2 miles south of the Colorado river which forms the boundary line between McCulloch and Brown counties and a short distance to the north between McCulloch and Coleman counties.

G. R. and W. N. White, who own the 20,000 acre ranch near the center of which the well is located, have not leased any of their acreage although hundreds of oil men have besieged them with propositions, G. R. White stated.

A test has been spudded on the Cox farm about four miles north of the discovery well which crosses the Colorado river in Coleman county Bill Brookover of Fort Worth is planning to drill three tests. A test is to be spudded in on the Lee Roberts farm across the line in Brown county. Plans are being made for a number of tests on acreage in McCulloch county several of which are in the White well. Several tests are contemplated 12 miles east in San Saba county.

Plan International Golf Tournament

LAREDO, (AP)—The golf committee of the Laredo Chamber of Commerce has made plans to hold an annual International Border open golf championship during the fiesta season centering around the Washington's birthday celebration.

February 21, 22, 23 and 24 have been chosen as the dates and invitations are being mailed to golfers within 250 miles of the border. Among the clubs being contacted are those of San Antonio, Monterey, Corpus Christi, Terreon, Brownsville, Harlingen, Kerrville, Del Rio, Eagle Pass, Waco, Beeville, and in publication. Professional and amateur players can play in the tournament and some of the outstanding stars of southwest Texas and Mexico will compete.
