British Protest Note Sent to Germany

CONSCRIPTION OF GERMAN SOLDIERS TO START SOON

Reich Isolation May Be Carried Out by Other Nations

LONDON, Mar. 18. (AP)—Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, told the house of commons of Great Britain this afternoon that he had presented a note to Germany.

He declined to reveal its contents, saying it would be Berlin through the British ambassador.

It was officially revealed later that England protested to Germany against formation of a conscript army as it was "calculated to seriously increase the uneasiness of Europe."

Without Platform, Hanna Wins Place In Legislature

DALLAS, March 18. (AP)—Sam Hanna, the former shoe and clothing salesman who came out on top of the weirdest political shuffle ever experienced in Dallas County, prepared today to go to Austin Tuesday and file out what he really intends to do in the Legislature.

Hanna, recently assistant reading clerk in the Texas House of Representatives, ran without a platform and won over a field of 60 aspirants whose campaign promises ranged all the way from advocacy of the Townsend old age pension plan through abolition of the very sort of election held yesterday to a requirement that drug stores post the price of whiskeys.

The prize Hanna won from 55 other White Democrats, two Republicans, a Socialist and a negro Democrat was the House seat vacated by another elect that made political history in Texas—the appointment of a woman as a district judge. Mrs. Sarah T. Hughes resigned the seat to accept Governor Allred's appointment as the first woman ever to preside regularly over such a court in this state.

MOTORCADE PARTY PLANS OVERNIGHT STOP AT MIDLAND

Reservations for twenty cars of motorists, to make an overnight stop here April 8, were made at Hotel Schuster here today. Leo Heitzel, vice president of the Broadway of America highway association, it was reported by C. A. Sheffield, hotel manager.

The motorists will be en route to the Broadway of America highway convention at Nashville. The motorcade will increase in size daily as motorists along the route have their representatives join in the trip to the convention.

Thieves Break into Limit S'wich Shop

Burglars successfully robbed The Limit, sandwich shop at 310 West Wall, operated by Butler Hurley, early today, stealing approximately $20 in money and a quantity of cigarettes, it was reported.

This was the second robbery of the place in two weeks, Hurley said. Walker-Smith wholesale grocery company was visited by burglars Friday night but the automatic burglar alarm summoned officers and the thieves barely escaped capture.

Azucar to Run in Bay Meadows H'Cap

SAN MATEO, Cal., Mar. 18. (AP)—Azucar, the reclaimed steppochare horse defeating the greatest field of thoroughbreds ever to face the barrier in the far West to win the rich Santa Anita Handicap, has been signed to carry 125 pounds for the $25,000 added Bay Meadows Handicap, to be run here March 23.

Ladysman, second to Azucar in the recent Santa Anita classic, and Head Play, each drew 118 pounds. Time Supply, winner of the mile and one-eighth feature here last Fall, will carry 116 pounds. Top Row, which shattered the mile and one-sixteenth world record during the 1934 Fall meeting here, was given an impost of 107 pounds.

Other non-nights include: Mate, 115; Gusto, 110; Riskulus, 108; Dark Winter, 104; Thomasville, 102; Frank Ormont, 102; Gay World, 101; Bluebeard, 97; Torc Flight, 95.

"Getting Rid of Fear" Is Coleman's Sermon Sunday

Jones-Beery

Editor's Note: By popular request, the sermon preached Sunday by the Rev. W. J. Coleman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church is printed, in the form in which it was delivered.

TEXT: "For the spirit which God gave us was not a spirit of fear, but a spirit of power, love, and self control (same mind). (Twentieth Century translation) — II Tim. 1:7. We all have fears, and because we know them our lives are impoverished and handicapped. The happiness and usefulness of many a life is arrested by the fears that dog that life. There is not a single office, factory, school, or even a church in which some hand-god apprehension is not eating at the very vitals of men and women, boys and girls who go in and out. The only fear (so called) to which an infant responds is, a loud noise and a sense of falling. So fear becomes something which must be cultivated with experiences. The child is afraid to go to school; as a young man afraid to face the world of competition; afraid of disease; of illness; of financial adversity; conditions, opinions of others, hardships, life, death. Mother is afraid for her children; father is afraid at his business will fail; the world is afraid that he will lose his job. These common fears make us gloomy, irritable, nervous, fearful, hard to get along with, and inefficient. Absolutely ill, we decidedly shorten our lives. All laboratory experiments reveal that uncontrolled fear makes for a decided increase of acids in the blood stream, which leads into various chronic diseases, as well as exercising an immediate strain upon the nervous system. Under the impulse of fear, stimulants that paralyze our waking hours and all our dreams with morbid experiences. There have been many interesting tests written on mental health. In many writers advance theories of diet, forms of exercises, new religious formula, some superstitions, and others intended to rid the mind of fear. The offices of "quacks" are filled; sanitariums are doing a prosperous business and thousands are carrying rabbit's feet, and other charms to chase away the demon of fear.

So we come to this topic, "Getting Rid of Fear," feeling that if Christianity has any contribution to make it will be most welcome.

Fear itself is really necessary to self-preservation. In itself it is perfectly wholesome and beneficial. The situation which provokes it is fear is the mother of prudence. We must have fear first, we have organized protection against its spread, we control it, because society fears the law-breaker and the criminal, we take necessary steps to apprehend and punish because we fear disease we take precaution to control it. Controlled fear becomes a benefactor to humanity.

Under the impulse of fear, stimulated by actual danger and necessity, deeds of superhuman strength and amazing bravery have been performed. It is a biological fact that the sympathetic nervous system acts upon the glands and stimulates them to secrete substances which activate the muscles and nervous system. The secretions of the thyroid and adrenal glands give added strength and skill. But when fear paralyzes effort it is humiliating and detrimental and something should be done about it!

There are numerous verses in the Bible that speak of "overcoming fear." The Apostle Paul sings "The Angel of the Lord encampeth round them that fear Him, and delivereth them." (See SERMON, page 6)

WASHINGTON, March 18. (AP)—Soon after Chairman Pittman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee had described Germany's plans to increase military strength as "Very Serious," Secretary of State Hull today called Norman H. Davis, President Roosevelt's observer, into consultation. It was expected that Davis would visit the President in the White House later in the day to discuss the situation.

PADLOCKING ALL LIQUOR, GAMING PLACES PROPOSED

Rangers Seek to Find Ouster Evidence

AUSTIN, March 18. (AP)—Governor Allred said today that padlocking of all places violating the State liquor and gambling laws was under consideration.

Allred reiterated his determination to use the Rangers to close all gambling and liquor saloons if local officers refused to enforce the laws.

Simultaneously, Attorney-General McCraw stated that he was in hearty accord with the drive and would cooperate with the enforcement officers if his department was called upon. McCraw said that he and Adjutant General Kestbit had discussed padlocking but had not reached any conclusion.

Allred revealed that Rangers were under orders to obtain any evidence of delinquency of local officers which might be used for ouster suits.

RECOMMEND N. R. A. BE EXTENDED YEAR

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP)—Extension of the NRA was recommended to the Senate Finance Committee today by S. Clay Williams, Recovery Board Chairman. Mr. Williams said that the NRA has made definite contribution to recovery and general business conditions, with certain modifications, it will be exceedingly valuable to have it extended.

CRIMINAL CHARGE LODGED AGAINST HARRY HOPKINS

Relief "Corruption" Charge Is Basis Of the Suit

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 18. (AP)—Governor Martin L. Davey, facing possible impeachment because he was charged by Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins that he had "incontrovertible evidence" of political corruption in administration of Ohio relief, today filed a warrant charging label against Hopkins.

The development came after President Roosevelt two days ago directed Hopkins to assume entire control of relief work in the state of Ohio.

The threat of impeachment of Governor Davey created intense interest throughout the state of Ohio. His victory in administration of Ohio relief silenced by a presidential decree, the tree surgeon who mounted the gubernatorial chair only nine weeks ago, faced a fight for his job. Republican Attorney General John W. Bricker stood ready to take before a grand jury information Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins asserted was incontrovertible evidence that the governor's campaign committee engaged in a shakedown of men and business firms who sold goods to the Ohio relief administration.

The governor was reported by associates to be out of town as Hopkins' personal representative, Charles C. Stillman, arrived from Washington Sunday to carry out President Roosevelt's order that Hopkins assume entire control of Ohio relief.

Impeachment proceedings probably will depend on the outcome of the contemplated grand jury inquiry. In November, 60,000 votes on a platform pledging economy in state government and a wholesale shake-up of the state relief administration.

AMERADA SHUT IN PENDING STORAGE

By PAUL OSBORNE
Official gauges on two wildcat discoveries were recorded over the weekend in West Texas, and contract depth on another wildcat which has demanded close attention during the past few weeks was reached.

One of the gauged wells was Amerada No. 1-D State, near Monument, Lea county, New Mexico, which during 11 hours and ten minutes ending at 4:10 a. m. Sunday put 1,589 barrels of oil through tubing and into the tanks, an average of 142 barrels hourly. With storage capacity filled, the well is shut in awaiting pipe line connection.

Official 24 hour gauge was also taken on Fox-Butler No. 1 Brown-Alman central Winslow county sand producer, which recorded 131 barrels daily through tubing with packer set at 2,975 feet.

Ray Albatraz No. 1 Robinson-northwest Dawson county wildcat reached total depth of 4,515 feet yesterday, 15 feet below the contracted depth. Operators are deciding today whether or not to further deepen the test, a decision to be influenced by the results of geophone tests which are being made today.

The Army, the Church and the Political Arena Shape Futures of Crusaders

This is the fourth of a six-chapter series of articles about the early history and subsequent lives of the principals in America's three-cornered "Debate of a Century." The final chapters will appear Tuesday and Wednesday in this newspaper.

By NEA Service
There wasn't much to distinguish from scores of other "shavetails" the stocky young lieutenant who started riding the border patrol with the First Cavalry in 1903. Service at Ft. Clark and Ft. Sam Houston, was dull duty.

But in 1906 young Hugh S. Johnson was rushed with other officers to San Francisco to help carry on the relief work which followed the earthquake and fire. He acted as quartermaster, procuring and distributing supplies to refugees.

Then came assignment to the Philippines, and it was there that Johnson got his reputation as a hard-bolled military taskmaster, and his nickname of "Toughy." The now-famous boys' books of West Point life in which Johnson developed his gift for pet phrases were written at this time.

Then came the "break" Johnson was picked as one of several officers to be sent to law schools to train for the army legal department. This time he worked hard at his books. He finished a three-year course at the University of California in 18 months, and came off with honors.

This training qualified him to be sent as law officer with General Pershing's punitive force that went into Mexico after the 1916-17 "Pancho Villa" raids. Returning, Captain Johnson was assigned to the staff of the judge advocate-general, Enoch Crowder, in Washington.

The World War was in the offing. Johnson was one of the most active officers in drawing up the selective draft act. And then the tremendous job of registering 34,500,000 men and inducing nearly 3,000,000 of them into service, largely fell on Johnson as Crowder's most aggressive assistant.

He did it. The story is well known now, of how Johnson had 30,000,000 draft registration blanks printed and mailed to 30,000 mayors and sheriffs while Congress debated the act. When Crowder came rushing in on the 1st of passage, and told Johnson: "Get busy with the printing and get me," he was at first horrified. "I find that it had all been done," "You can start registration tomorrow," "turn" came. His bishop, the Rt. Rev. Michael Gallagher of Detroit, ordered him to build a new parish at Royal Oak, Mich.

It was not until the autumn of 1929 that two stations were added to the original one, and the Coughlin following began really to grow.

It became clear that it was the references to banking, money, economics, the depression, that were bringing the big response. The technique of backing up the talks with printed matter was developed.

The next year he organized the Radio League of the Little Flower to keep the broadcast somewhat separate from the parish affairs it had so far outstripped in importance. Contributions from listeners paid for the radio time. And as the economic crisis deepened, more and more political and economic references crept into the "discourses."

But it was not until the autumn of 1929 that two stations were added to the original one, and the Coughlin following began really to grow.

By 1932, an independent chain of 27 stations was broadcasting the weekly talks, and their possibilities were suggested by Louis B. Ward, the official Coughlin biographer, who writes:

"Here was a priest speaking at one time to approximately 30 million listeners composed of Catholic and Protestant, Jew and Gentile. In one single hour he was privileged to speak to more persons than all the Apostles addressed throughout the years of combined apostleship."

RICH INDIAN NO WORSE THAN SOME WHITES

The noble red man has been hoeing a pretty tough row ever since the white brethren discovered that America's broad land was fertile, scenic, and studded with fine mineral deposits; but nothing that has happened to him is much odder than the way he is used as an object lesson every time he gets a little extra money.

It is the Oklahoma Indian who has figured in this kind of story the most, because it is the Oklahoma Indian who has the most money, what with the Osage oil fields and all. And a neat little sample of this sort of thing popped up just the other day in Tulsa.

In Tulsa there died one Duffy Morrison, 42-year-old Creek Indian, who was a mute, helpless cripple all his life long and who never knew what money was or what it was good for—but who died possessed of a fortune of $100,000, due to the fact that his 160-acre tribal allotment was rich in oil.

Duffy Morrison's case was typical of the weird and illogical things that started happening when oil was discovered under Indian land.

Indian after Indian came into great riches. In most cases the lucky red men had not the faintest idea how to use their new wealth. For many of them it was a curse instead of a blessing.

This helpless invalid, who never knew he was rich and wouldn't have cared if he had known, was the reductio ad absurdum of the whole business.

But the strange thing about it all is the way it has aroused honest indignation in the breasts of certain worthy white citizens.

These people have protested that it was absurd, contradictory, and sinful to shower unearned riches on children of nature who had no notion of the value of money. Duffy Morrison's case, in their eyes, will simply be the clinching argument.

Suppose, though, that we had a helpless half-witted white man, who chanced to be the son of a multi-millionaire manufacturer and who thus inherited vast riches without ever knowing it.

Suppose we had a gay promoter of the "Coal-Oil Johnny" type who made millions by betting right in Wall Street and went about leaving $100 bills in the hands of night club chorus girls.

Suppose we had the daughter of a wealthy utilities magnate who could think of nothing better to do with her wealth than to buy a sleazy foreign title with it.

Such cases—common as grass—are just as ridiculous as anything that the records of oil-blessed Indians can show. But nobody squawks.

It is only when a simple Indian comes into money that we hear wise words about the evils of giving unearned wealth to people who can't use it properly.

A Kansas City business man bequeathed part of his fortune to his farm horses, leaving only a horse laugh for his relatives.

The WIZARD WHO CHAINED the ELEMENTS

NO wizard of old could have baffled the greatest intellects of his days more than did the Russian chemist, Dmitri Ivanovich Mendeleev, in the last century. For the greatest scientists doubted him when he predicted the existence of certain basic elements, then unknown, and described their characteristics. Their discovery vindicated this modern wizard and established his new theory by which he aligned the elements according to their atomic weights and classified them in groups, according to their relationships.

Lately Russia celebrated the 100th anniversary of Mendeleev's birth with a set of four stamps.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

But there have been few show horses or cowponies either that could win $800 in a minute and 36 seconds.

The way these cowmen are breaking into print these days is something to think about. The Star-Telegram displayed a broad-front view of Roy Parks last week, as he discussed cattle prices with Julian Elyens of Amarillo, at the San Angelo stock show.

And then yesterday Elliott Cowden was "mugged" in the oil section of the same paper. They called him a "perennial visitor" to the stock show like he might have been an old man.

But Clarence Schabauer crowded Old Badger, his 25-year-old white cow horse, into print with him today. The Star-Telegram displayed them in connection with Schabauer's invitation to Rotarians to attend the round-up he will stage in connection with the Rotary conference in May.

Saturday Bridge Club Entertained With Unusual Party

Miss Mary Bell Pratt was hostess to the Saturday bridge club with an "earthquake" party at her home, 110 S. Pecos, Saturday afternoon.

In keeping with the "earthquake" theme, custom was upset by awarding prizes for low score and low cut instead of high. Losers in the different games were obliged to wear certain fantastic tokens of their poor luck.

St. Patrick's day colors were carried out in appointments for the games in which Mrs. Ralph Geisler won low cut and Mrs. Bill Blevins low score.

The party plate served at the conclusion of the games furthered the green and white color scheme.

Present were: Meses Bennie Sue Raiff, Dorothy Raiff, Annie Laura Hix, Lucile Thomas, Martha Louise Nobles, Georgia Goss, Julia Ann Aycock, Meses. Hugh West, Alf Reese, Geisler, J. P. Blount, Virginia Kelsie, Blevins and the hostess.

Mrs. Simpson Is Hostess at Six-Table Bridge

A St. Patrick's day motif was carried out by Mrs. William Simpson in a six-table bridge party with which she entertained at her home, 301 W. Louisiana, Saturday afternoon.

Prize packages wrapped in green and gold went to Mrs. E. B. Soper for high score and to Mrs. W. F. Wallace for high cut.

Refreshments served at the conclusion of play reflected the chosen colors.

A few bulbs planted along the garden path when danger of frost is over, will be delightfully evident on summer evenings.

One of the most fragrant evening flowers is the night scented stock, usually listed as Matthiola bicoloris. A somewhat straggly, lilac-flowered plant, not too attractive in the daylight, it emits in the evening, or after a daylight shower, a cloud of sweetness. It should be sown where it is to grow.

The sweet scented tobacco nicotiana alba, is surpassed by none in delightful fragrance. Its long tubular flowers close in midday, but open as evening approaches and give forth their rich perfume.

Sweet Rock, a hardy perennial which grows easily from seed, is a most fragrant flower. It blossoms in early June, 2 to 3 feet tall, with heads of star flowers resembling hardy phlox, white or lavender pink. Look for it in catalogues under heperis matronalis. It was Marie Antoinette's favorite.

Evening primroses, oenotheras, are native American flowers of notable evening fragrance. Some varieties are hardy perennials, flowering from June to October, others are grown as annuals. They like dry soil with plenty of lime, and their fragrance is distinctive and delicate.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Our idea of a real sportsman is an expert bridge player who can be courteous to a partner who knows practically nothing of the game.

One of the things that can make life seem delightfully right: a totally unexpected birthday gift from friends whom one really cares a lot for. Especially a gift as essentially feminine as a piece of Fostoria.

The cleverest greeting card we have seen in some time was one with a series of black puppies traipsing across the page each with a different message.

A former army air pilot has invented a system of airplane controls that make flying as easy as driving an automobile. The ship is nosed up or down by a foot pedal, while turns are made by merely spinning a combination steering wheel in the desired direction.

A motorist traveling 10,000 miles yearly would require 300 years to cover the 3,000,000 miles of highway now in existence in the United States.

The southern states have approximately 80 per cent of the total colored population of this country.

It is expected that a British airline using flying boats will enter trans-Atlantic service, hitherto monopolized by France and Germany.

Population of the United Kingdom has increased 4 per cent in the last 10 years.

THE WHITE MONK OF TIMBUCTOO, by William Seabrook; The dramatic story of Pere Yakouba who yielded to the lure of the tropics, renounced the church, discarded his monk's rock, 'went native' and became a potent influence in the life of French Africa. MARIETTA, by Anne Green; A girl dashing, reckless, and with a diabolical magnetism that was dangerous to herself as well as to those whom she attracted. The eldest daughter of Patrick Upshaw Mainory, a transplanted Mississippi lawyer, Marietta dominated father, mother, and younger sister, and then set out to try her powers in more novel and dangerous fields. SEVEN TREES, by Lady Eleanor Smith; Seven people are buying trees in a London department store on Christmas Eve, the young wife, the German governess, the magnate, the nobleman, famous old Russian actress, the maitre d'hotel, the obscure young man. No two of the seven are inspired by similar motives, yet the purchase has a deep significance for each and for each is fraught with dramatic consequence. They are unconscious of their meeting; yet the fates of all seven are to be bound together in strange ways. A COP REMEMBERS, by Captain Cornelius W. Willemse; 'Willemse has been a man of action. I have timorously spent my days behind the safe shelter of a barracks of books. Like most people of my kind, I have every sincere admiration for those who do things while I merely talk about them. And here is an opportunity for which I am saying it, to say so in public, I am saying it.' (Introduction by Hendrik Willem Van Loon). SUPERSTITION CORNER, by Shirley Kaye-Smith; During young Kate Alard's life England's religion had been changed four times by law, and as this story opens the Protestants under Elizabeth were in attendance, Squire Alard, like the majority, forsakes the faith of Rome and, interested in developing the iron deposits on his property, helps the affairs of his wife and cousin, in Kate, unserving her religion, longing for love, lonely and apprehensive for her twin brother, a priest soon to return from Rome, all this contention converges... A vivid picture of the times and a moving story. LOST HORIZON, by James Hilton; Four air-travelers, landing in mysterious circumstances in a remote spot in Tibet, find themselves involuntarily guests in a lamasery unknown to the world and almost inaccessible. Here one traveler is admitted to the secret. Civilization and learning are being preserved in this retreat, for the lamas are able to prolong life indefinitely, and when the rest of the world becomes chaos, their cultured, urbane existence will continue undisturbed. It is a pleasing combination of adventure story and imaginative fantasy. THE TAKING OF THE GRAY, by John Masfield; A short adventure story with Latin America as locale. Meeting a distant cousin who was involved in a revolution, the young Englishman who tells the story helped the revolutionists by piloting a ship loaded with firearms out of an enemy harbor through a dangerous passage once used by Sir Francis Drake. 'Now that Conrad is gone,' says Sidney Williams in the Philadelphia Inquirer, 'there is only one English novelist who so commands the might and magic of the seas, knowing the heart of a sailor—that man is Masfield. DISTANT DAWN, by Margaret Pader. OVER AGAIN, by Ruby M. Ayres. OTHER LOVES, by Margaret Widmeyer and the following mysteries: MURDER IN THREE ACTS, by Agatha Christie. MASKS OFF AT MIDNIGHT, by Valentine Williams. THE BACHELOR FLAT MYSTERY, by R. A. J. Walling. On the seven day shelf are: 'TIGER-MAN' by Julian Duguid (author of 'Green Hell'); In the expedition through South American jungles described in GREEN HELL, the safety of the inexperienced explorers depended largely upon Tiger-man, the guide. Now the author has written, in story form, the adventurous life of this Latvian, Sacha Siemel, who for twenty-five years has hunted tigers and jaguars in the wilds.

WHAT PRICE MALLORCA, by Percy Waxman; Some years ago the Balearic islands were put on the map by the news item that certain New York brokers, victims of the depression had discovered a paradise where they could live for a dollar a day. Waxman, author, editor, and traveler went there to find out if it were true and how it is done. This breezy, humorous travel book is the result of his several months sojourn.

Forlorn Lovers Get Laugh, Yucca Movie

The plot of 'The Gay Divorcee,' starring Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers is based on the theory that 'love troubles are never funny except to bystanders.' Miss Rogers, after falling in love with Astaire, hires a professional flit to help her stage a fake 'afair d'amour' by which she hopes to make her current boy friend jealous and thus break off with him so that she can accept the advances of Astaire. But the unfortunate Astaire happens to get mistaken for Miss Rogers for the professional flit. From this point on, all lovers can forget their own troubles in the mammoth proportions of these hilarious complications which plague Astaire and Miss Rogers. With Miss Rogers and Astaire are seen an excellent group of other comedians, including Alvin Brady, Edward Everett Horton, Erik Rhodes, William Austin and Eric Blora. Brilliant dancing demonstrations by Astaire and Miss Rogers, in the new Teperichorean rage, 'The Continental', spectacular and novel ensembles, together with music by five famous composers, enhance the show's comedy theme.

Celebrate Annual Birthday Dinner

Members of the Woody family, pioneer ranchers of this region, held their annual St. Patrick's day dinner celebrating the birthday of the father, St. N. Woody, 84, and son, L. W. Woody, at the home of the latter about 25 miles southeast of Midland. Thirty people were present, including the children of the elder couple, several grandchildren, and friends. Attending were: Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Woody, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Woody, Maurice Woody, and Miss Hope Woody of the ranch; Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Woody and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Woody and family, and Hughie Woody of Stanton; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Woody, Johnnie Woody, Miss Stella Woody, Mrs. Martha Kinney and son, Jackie, of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Donovan Gwyn, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Stevens, and Mrs. Mamie Stokes and son J. SHERIFF'S SALE No. 21,322

STATE OF TEXAS County of Midland. By virtue of an order of sale issued out of the Honorable District Court of Bell County on the 22nd day of January, 1935, by the Clerk thereof, in the case of H. C. Glenn, as Receiver for Temple Trust Company, a private corporation, versus Joseph R. Vanderventer and Thelma Lee Vanderventer, No. 21,322, and to me, as Sheriff, directed and delivered, I will proceed to sell, within the hours prescribed by law for Sheriff's sales, the FIRST TUESDAY IN APRIL, A. D. 1935, it being the 2nd day of said month, before the Court House door of said Midland County, in the town of Midland, the following described property, to-wit: Lots 5 and 6, Block 12, Belmont Addition to the town of Midland, Midland County, Texas, together with all improvements thereon situated. Levied on as the property of Joseph R. Vanderventer, to satisfy a judgment amounting to $2804.40 in favor of H. C. Glenn, as Receiver for Temple Trust Company, a private corporation, and cost of suit. Given under my hand, this 4th day of March, 1935. A. C. FRANCIS, Sheriff. By Fisher Pollard, Deputy.

PRETTY WITTY NELL, by Cliff for Bax; the story of Nell Gwyn and her times. ARGENTINE TANGO, by Philip Guedalla; This book of essays, descriptions, and anecdotes resulting from the author's tour in Argentina, is intended to be entertaining rather than informative. CONGORILLA, by Martin Johnson; The story of a long and adventurous safari into the Belgian Congo where the author and his wife spent two years studying and photographing pygmies and gorillas. THE FARM, by Louis Bromfield; In a chronicle of four generations of his family, Mr. Bromfield has written a social history of the Middle West. He tells the story of the family from 1815, when the great-grandfather settled in Ohio, to the time when the great-grandson departs for the world war. About the grandfather's farm centered the life of the entire family—a vast array of aunts and uncles. Throughout the book he laments the disappearance from American life of integrity and idealism, destroyed, he believes, by an unscrupulous eastern individualism. THE MASSACRE OF GLENCOE, by John Buchan; A dramatic account of a dark episode in Scottish history—the slaughter of the MacDonalds of Glencoe and their dependents in 1692 because of delay in accepting an official pardon and taking the oath of allegiance to William and Mary. THE COLD JOURNEY, by Grace Zaring Stone; The trip through the snow to Canada of a group of Indians, French soldiers and most of the inhabitants of a Massachusetts village which had been sacked and burned during the French and Indian wars. A realistic account of the hardships of the trip and of the experiences of the captives until most of the survivors are redeemed. ACROSS LAPLAND WITH SLEDGE AND REINDEER, by Olive Murry Chapman; Describes in graphic style the customs, costumes, and superstitions of the people, the famous market at Bossekop, the Eastern festival, and the beauty of winter scenery within the arctic circle. On the 14-day shelf are: AUNT CHLOE AND HER BIRDS, by William Edear Thompson; My Dog Friends, by John Burroughs; Golf for young Players, by Glenna Collett; A Woman of India; being the life of Saroj Nalini (founder of the Women's Institute movement in India) by C. S. Dutt; Keeping Physically Fit; Common-sense Exercises for the Whole Family, by William J. Cronie. THE ROMANCES OF THE PRESIDENTS, by Bessie White Smith (Gift of Mrs. Ola Dublin Hayes); Interesting real lives of our thirty Presidents. LIBERIA Rediscovered, by James C. Young (Gift of Mr. M. H. Crawford); Interesting account of the development of the rubber industry.

'West of Pecos' Is Thriller at the Ritz

'West of the Pecos,' the latest Richard Dix starring vehicle from RKO-Radio studios, has sweep, power and scenic grandeur, and faithfully portrays the vivid days of the old West. And in addition, Dix has another tailor-made role. The story, from the pen of Zane Grey, shows Dix as Pecos Smith, a two-gun cowboy who was 'born under a covered wagon,' and he never known any law but that of a clear conscience and a quick draw. Terrill Lambeth, the girl, played by Martha Sleeper, is the daughter who prefers to be the 'son' of Colonel Lambeth, a Dixie aristocrat impoverished by the Civil War. When Pecos and the girl meet she is a young cowboy helping her father drive a herd of cattle to the Pecos River range. The long, hard trek over the Santa Fe trail, with rivers to be forded, Indians to be fought, hunger and thirst to be suffered, is portrayed with thrilling fidelity. The girl's disguise forms the basis for misunderstandings that are laughable at times and tragic at others. There are bad men to be disposed of, and Dix does it with characteristic neatness. Fred Kohler turns in a striking performance as the chief of the renegades, but he comes to no good end. One of the potential charms of Guadalajara, Mex., is the figure of San Cristobal holding up a child of an outside corner of Santa Monica church; tradition says that whoever looks upon it will be free from harm for at least 24 hours. Tests conducted in Pittsburgh by scientists indicate that the average healthy person changes his position 33 times in eight hours of sleep and that is abnormal to sleep without moving. AN inconsistent advertiser is one who has good merchandise, and knows it . . . but doesn't know the right channel through which to present it, to build volume sales. In other words--an inconsistent merchant fails to advertise in his home newspaper, and therefore loses the trade of the very neighbors who would be most anxious to patronize him if they knew about his merchandise. But the successful advertiser is always consistent! He makes sure that he has what the public wants, and he presents it through regular advertising in the newspaper they all read. And when Brother Bobby, Sister Sue, Mother and Dad all see the advertiser's name before them regularly, they become so familiar with him and his goods, that it's second nature for them to patronize him. What do you say, Mr. Advertiser? Will you be an inconsistent watch-them-go-by, or will yours be the door to which all shoppers beat a path to buy . . . buy . . . buy . . . ?

High School News

In the recent election for most representative and most popular student, the freshman and sophomore spirit ran high. The race became one between the upper and lower classes. Enthusiastic speeches were made by Adale Reiger, president of the sophomore class who was supported by Verna Leene McWilliams sophomore vice president, and Jack Walton, freshman president in her appearance before the rooms. The under classmen succeeded in putting two sophomore girls in the section in the annual given to school favorites.

According to an announcement made in chapel Monday morning, the nominations for school favorites were made Wednesday morning at a meeting of the Literary Society, at which Robert Prothro, vice president of the Society, presided.

The following were nominated:

Most Representative Boy
Orville Gee by Elizabeth Payne
Ralph Lamar by Jack Walton
Sam Midkiff by Bob White

Most Representative Girl
Elizabeth Payne by Isabel McClinton
Harriet Ticknor by Melba Lee
Dorothy Ticknor by Verna Leene McWilliams

Most Popular Boy
Hunter Midkiff by Edna Mae Elkin
W. E. Lynch by Val Borum
Pat Cope by Maxine Sill
James Walker by Sam Midkiff

Most Popular Girl
Edna Mae Elkin
Jessie Lou Armstrong by Glenn Shepherd
Wanda Ticknor by Adale Reiger

The students returned to their home rooms and voted by official secret ballot.

At an assembly called at 10:00 a. m. it was announced that a run-off was necessary in each of the races. At one o'clock a ballot was issued on which those who were eliminated in the morning voting did not appear. The names of those eliminated at the first voting are: Sam Midkiff, Harriet Ticknor, James Walker, Edna Mae Elkin.

In the run-off given at one o'clock the candidates stood as follows:

Most Representative Boy: 144 votes
Orville Gee 126 votes
Ralph Lamar 126 votes

Most Representative Girl:
Dorothy Lou Speed 143
Elizabeth Payne 127

Most Popular Boy:
Hunter Midkiff 194
W. E. Lynch 131
Pat Cope 5

Most Popular Girl:
Jessie Lou Armstrong 135
Wanda Ticknor 135

This made a run off necessary between W. E. Lynch and Hunter Midkiff for Most Popular Boy, in the two pictures will appear in the annual.

In the run-off held Thursday at 1:00 o'clock, Hunter Midkiff won with a total of 146 votes.

CLUBS PREPARE FOR CONTEST

The choral and glee clubs, and the boys' and girls' quartets have started working on the songs which they will enter in the invitational meet to be held April 6, in Abilene. They have been practicing on both class A and class B songs as they do not know yet which class they will enter.

WILL ENTER BAND CONTEST

The band contest, which the High School is planning to attend this year, is to be at Enid, Oklahoma, on April 2, 3, 4, and 5. At this contest there will be over 50 bands and Edwin Franko Goldman of New York will be the chief judge and will conduct the mass band. The mass band is made up of members from most of the bands in the state. Each band selects fifteen of its best players, and any or all of these may be selected to play. All fifteen of Midland's players have been selected. They are: Felix Halton, Lorraine Stenge, Val Borum, R. O. Brooks, Bob Reeves, Robert Payne, Dewitt Carr, Jack Carroll, and Gerald Self. James Connor, Frank Nixon, George Walker, C. A. Goldsmith and Russell Wright.

These students will practice under Fred Barnes four times, and play under him twice, once for students in the afternoon, the admission being twenty-five cents, and the other time in the evening, the admission being one dollar.

There will also be the band contests, solo contests, and marching contests.

DEBATORS MAKE TRIP TO ABILENE

Last Saturday the Midland High School debaters took a trip to Abilene. They went to Abilene to hear the debate tournament that was being held there but did not enter. The debates started at nine, but some of the debaters were unable to hear all of the debates on account of car trouble. Colorado, four of those that went were delayed in Colorado from 7:45 until 11:30.

They all brought home new ideas from the debates that they heard.

Those who attended the tournament were Mr. H. D. Bearden, coach; Jack Cusack and Robert Howe, the boys' team; Josephine Ray and Verna Leene McWilliams, the girls' team; Glen Sheppard, the toastmaster, and Fred Wright.

CAST SELECTED FOR ONE ACT PLAY

As usual, Midland High School will enter the one-act play contest.

The cast for the play was selected Monday morning. It included one senior and three juniors; namely, Jessie Lou Armstrong, James Walker, Mary Howe, and C. A. Goldsmith.

The title of the drama is "Judge Lynch," and the play is said to be different from anything ever staged here. It has won the "National Little Theatre Tournament."

The play is being coached by Miss Kathlyn Zant.

ANNUAL PICTURES ARE MADE

The lettermen of the 1935 Midland high football team had their pictures taken in their new sweaters. The individual pictures were made at the Prothro studio.

The pep squad had their pictures taken in different formations on the east front lawn of the high school. Mr. Walter Barnes, photographer for the 1935 "Catoico," took pictures of flowers and M. H. S. formations from the third story of the building.

The photographer from the Prothro studio then made two group

SENIORS EXPRESS THEIR APPRECIATION

To show their appreciation for the work of Mr. J. H. Williams in directing the Faculty play, the Senior class presented a desk set to him. The Seniors appointed a committee to select and purchase the gift. Members of the committee were Maxine Sill, Elizabeth Payne, Miss Heffner, and Miss Lomax. The gift was put on Mr. Williams' desk before he arrived at school.

In chapel Mr. Williams expressed his sincere appreciation to the Seniors.

CAN YOU IMAGINE

Jeanne Dozier writing names on an old lumber yard?

Who Harris is, that La Verne McMullan talks about?

Coming to school at 6:30 Friday afternoon to say declamations?

Who the owners of all the "Movie Books" are?

Why Mary Elizabeth blushed in Latin Thursday?

James not voting for Wanda?

How Mr. Barnes can wait so long to go to see his son?

THE SNEAKER

My! How the gossip is floating in the air.

If I told all I knew, you would get as mad as a bear. Here it is:

Marcelline, you like to fool every one don't you? Just as they begin to think it's Bob, you have a date with Frank Cowden. Good luck with them both.

Little Guffey, you are a sight I must say; any one would think that you had never been in love before.

Well, Evelyn is certainly holding Johnny Nobles all right. Stay in there, Evelyn.

Sooner or later they all get it. Think of it, will you? Our demure James Connor has a terrible "crush" on Margaret Hofman. They "date up" every week end, don't you, James?

John, you are fast losing Adale. Better be careful. I know of one soph boy, and one junior boy who certainly have their eyes on her.

Gosh, but you are really doing good, Elizabeth Wolcott. Not every girl has a chance to go with boys like Darrel Welch and Leslie Day-entport. Better keep a close watch on them.

Even I am wondering if Oscar still has a "crush" on Helen Droppleman. By the way, who is Oscar?

A-hoy mates! Our scholar, Anne Lloyd, has been disappointed in love. Cheer up, Anne! You will find another one.

My, this does sound bad, Jack Carroll. I hear someone was playing with your ears Sunday night. Couldn't have been Katherine Brown, could it?

You have even me puzzled, Peggy Jo. Where was Orville the night of the party? You are on speaking terms, aren't you?

It seems that Ollie Faye does not like Helen Droppleman so much, since she mumbled over her in their home room. Sounds like jealousy to me. Why did teacher have to move Helen again?

Joanna is more than a one-man woman. Now ask Joanna, if you don't believe me.

I guess Jane Marie ate her spinach all for nothing, for I haven't seen her wearing Robert's football sweater. Better luck next time, Janie.

Fred Barnes is in love with the girl at the Hoess shop. Do you know whom I mean. Am I not right, Fred?

Something tells me Robert Harmon and Melrose are about to "bust up." You two had better get together.

Glen and May Beth have developed quite a sentiment for each other. Such a sudden change, May Beth, from Hunter to Glen.

Rudolph and Mamie must have it. First they make their appearance at the junior play, and then at the faculty play.

If you want to see a cute couple, just look around, and see none other than Miss Doris Dunagan and Kelly Jones.

Felix has several girls on his string now. I wonder if, by any chance, it could be the Ford Willie Meric and Jane both, and seeing the string to please him. Don't work too hard, gals. Remember, he has a college sweetheart.

When Elizabeth first started going with Kenneth—November 20, she was looking forward to riding in a new V-8. I wonder what she is looking forward to now.

Miss Euruss must have thought the missing link was found when she beheld Brooks Roberts coming up the steps on hands and feet.

This may be just another rumor, but I am told that Esda and Bill O. are secretly fond of each other.

Why not do something about it, Bill?

It is all just like a story book with Rae Liz and Louis C.; their childhood friendship has turned to a more serious matter.

How many of you noticed the "pinkie" blusa on Mona's face when she was asked where she got her new diamond ring? Now, Mona, we believe that you did really buy it. Oh—Oh!

Helen D., here's wishing you luck. Maybe Erik N. will let you wear his sweater forever if you will give him enough reasons.

My, my, what queer things can happen—I hardly believed my ears when I was told that Leslie Lavenport made a very interesting escort for Elizabeth W. one night—and I may be wrong, but I warn you, D. W., you had better watch your girl.

One can never tell where Cupid will play his pranks—what do you think, Kelly J.—Doris is really very cute.

So long, friends! I'll be with you next week, and until then, be careful!

port to practice law. Long continued, deep in every political campaign in the state. His children, he teaches, learned to fold and mail campaign literature as soon as they could walk.

And although he had "generally represented only the poorer class of citizens," Long managed to amass enough more substantial fees to enable him to build a $40,000 house in Shreveport.

In 1926 the next opportunity, Huey was back in the race for governor. In this campaign appeared his present "Every Man a King" slogan, taken from a speech of William Jennings Bryan.

It was a rough-and-tumble campaign, but Huey Long came out on top.

Midland Bounds One Side of New Air Map

A sectional airway map showing territory in southwestern Texas and a small section of southern New Mexico, bounded roughly by Midland and Dryden, Texas, and Columbus, N. M., and known as the El Paso map, has been completed and is now being flight checked preparatory to publication, the Bureau of Air Commerce, Department of Commerce, announced today.

David M. Barkley, Paducah, Ky., pilot; D. K. Albertson, Williamsport, Pa., checker; and E. F. Shifley, Fort Myers, Fla., mechanic, comprise the crew in charge of checking the El Paso map. They are flying a Department of Commerce cabin plane. El Paso was selected as the first base of operations, but it may be necessary for the crew to change headquarters as the work progresses.

The duty of the flight check crew is to fly over the entire territory shown on the map and check each bit of detail. If errors are found, they are carefully noted, and when the whole map has been fully flight checked, it will be returned to Washington, D. C., corrected, printed and made available to airmen and all others interested.

The El Paso map was undertaken by the Department of Air Commerce's program for mapping the entire United States for aerial purposes. More than 100 new workers have been employed, and other equipment purchased and plans made for completion of the entire series by June 30, 1935. This is the largest mapping program ever completed, the maps printed and issued by the Public Works Administration under which it was required that the work be done on a large scale, providing immediate employment for the greatest possible number of persons. Under the original map making program, ten more years would have been required.

Sectional airway maps are compiled and printed for the Bureau of Air Commerce by the Coast and Geodetic Survey, of the Commerce Department. Eighty-seven maps will be required in all to map the

BUT A SPIRIT OF POWER?

The power to overcome foes and dangers, to bear trials; to triumph in persecution. It is the nature of the Word of God to inspire men with holy courage. Our hearts are, for the most part, merely children of our own imagination. Most things we fear never materialize—and so we need THE SPIRIT OF POWER to discipline our own children. If you are struggling with fears God will give you power to overcome. (Read Isaiah 40:28-31).

The more we trust God the more power we receive. The more power we receive the more we are freed from fear. The more we are freed from fear the more abundantly we live. The more abundantly we live the happier we are. The more help our lives become. Those who have yielded to God and received His power and been able to sing: "Kill me, none may; conquer me, none can!"

I am God's soul fused in the soul of man!

Every character in the Bible knew this power. Moses overcame his fears with the POWER OF GOD. DAVID went out against the giant unaided BECAUSE HE KNEW GOD WAS WITH HIM. He realized that with God in his soul he could "kick" any giant.

Who? Anybody can whip giants, and many have whipped them—giants of defeat, or wrong, or sin, or doubt, or fear—when they were accompanied by GOD'S SPIRIT OF POWER.

In the second place, mentioned in our text, God gives us "A SPIRIT OF LOVE." The tendency of love is to cast out fear. (Read I John 4:18). If you are tormented by fears have you ever tried "THE EXPULSION OF A HIGHER AFFECTION?" If a man has perfect love and trust of God in his heart he cannot, need-not fear. Tormenting fear comes mostly because we are not doing right or because we do not trust God. So long as a man's conscience condemns him he will be besieged by this demon. The path of sin and wrong doing is a haunted and fearful path. Only the consciousness of right can fear be cast out. Paul was on the road to Damascus, warring against right, when the vision came to him that transformed his life—as soon as he surrendered his life to Christ, the words, "Fear not, Paul," came. From that moment, even until his head was rolled in the dust of the road outside the gates of Rome, Paul did not know what it was to be afraid. He was delivered by THE SPIRIT OF LOVE.

The final way to "get rid of fear," as mentioned in the text, SELF CONTROL, or A SANE MIND. This refers to a well balanced mind, a mind that organizes and controls. Look at Augustine as a young man, rioting his life, haunted by fear. Then the fact of the love of God in Christ Jesus captured him. Watch now and see his life controlled, united, directed, right until it begins to pour out its resistless power for Christ Jesus and the Church. Think what might happen to you if you would only crown your life with the practical gift which God gives—a sane and disciplined mind! This would assure a new attitude toward life for most of us. It would cause us to build a courageous and sensible philosophy about life as we find it or know it to be. We would then never permit ourselves to be hopelessly lost in the struggle. We would not bow down at the shrine of ignorance.

Do you have fears? God gives for each of us, THE SPIRIT OF POWER; THE SPIRIT OF LOVE; and A SANE MIND, to be exercised in self control. Utilize these things and your fears will go scurrying like rats from a sinking ship.

"God is my strong salvation, What foe have I to fear? In darkness and temptation My light, my help is near."

"Though hosts encamp around me, Firm on the fight I stand; What terror can confound me, With God at my right hand?"

Each sectional airway map is about 40 by 20 inches in size and covers an area about 325 miles from each to west, and 150 miles from north to south. The scale is 1,500,000, or about 3 miles to the inch.

On an accurate base map showing geographical features and landmarks, such as rivers, lakes, cities, towns, railroads, main highways, race tracks, and golf courses, are superimposed in red the features which are particularly significant to airmen, including airports, beacon lights, radio stations and magnetic variations.

A map is first compiled from source maps and the airports and other aeronautical features added from the records of the Bureau of Air Commerce. Then a pilot and checker are sent out to fly over the territory and check the accuracy of the features shown. Finally, the lithographic plates are completed, the maps printed and placed on sale. A map is usually named for the largest city appearing thereon.

Experiment Station Building Is Burned

LUBBOCK, Mar. 16.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the main barn at the Texas Experiment Station here Sunday. Don L. Jones, superintendent, estimated loss of the two-story barn, together with harness, seed, hay and feed, at over $6,000.

Seed bred for years in experimental work was destroyed, and with only a meager supply in the office, it will require from one to two years to raise the same supply, Jones estimates.

The fire was discovered at 2 o'clock that morning when the chief fire second floor was in a blaze. The building was practically destroyed before the fire equipment from the Lubbock Fire Department could make the four-mile run to the station.

Five delegates from the young people's division of the Methodist church, under the leadership of Wesley Shull, superintendent of the department, attended the district young people's rally at Sweetwater, Saturday and Sunday.

Opening Saturday evening, the rally included a program of lectures, conferences, and recreation. Those attending from here were: Shull, Bessie Flournoy, Jane Holloway, Billy Noyes, Charles Patterson, and Woodrow Gwyn.

The next rally will be held in Big Spring, probably the first week in May.

Psalm 27:3 declares: "Though an evil should encamp against me, my heart shall not fear; Though war should rise against me, in this will I be confident."

In the 41st Chapter and 10th verse of his prophecy, shouts: "Fear thou not, for I am with thee. Let us go back to Psalm 27 and be elevated by: 'The Lord is my light, and my salvation, whom shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?'"

And then we have our text verse written by the aged Apostle just before his martyrdom. He is in prison and this is, so far as we know, the last message he wrote. This message was written to his friend, Timothy, because he was timid. Fears were very real and very annoying to this young man and the aged Apostle writers words of wisdom and comfort from his own rich experiences.

In Paul's words, as found in our text we are given at least three ways of "Getting Rid of Fear—"

"God gave us not a spirit of fear,"
