GERMANY REFUSES TO ENTERTAIN ARMS PROTEST

Peace of Europe Is Threatened

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Germany added fire to the turbulent European situation today by firmly declining to entertain French and Italian protests against rearmament in Germany.
While French and Italian ambassadors protested against violations of military sections of the Versailles treaty claiming that the decision of Germany to rearm threatened to disturb the peace of Europe league observers expressed the opinion that the league now faces the gravest crisis in its history.
France requested an extraordinary session of the council of league and its secretary general consulted members on setting a date.

15 HOME AND FARM TRANSFERS HERE IN LAST 30 DAYS

Fifteen transfers of homes and farms in Midland and Midland County within the last 30 days, more than any number in the last four years in such a short space of time, give indication of the rapid growth of Midland.
Transfers in the last month include: A home in Belmont Addition purchased by Roy Menter, a farm north of Midland bought by Mike Coston and George Phillips purchase of a home on N. Loraine by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hoskins, farm purchases north of town by Fred Turner Jr., and also by C. B. Conger.
In the Country Club Heights George Phillips and also Tom Wingo bought homes.
The Presbyterian church bought a place on West Missouri street as did W. B. Simpson. In East Midland B. C. Gilbey and P. J. Mitchell have bought houses.
Jack Hawkins has purchased a home in west Midland and Bill Blevis has bought a home in the high school addition.
Andy Pasken has purchased the A. B. Cooksey home and the Frank Norwood home has been sold to W. A. Black and sons.
With rent houses at a premium in the city many are finding it expedient to buy a home to find the kind of house they are desirous of living in.
Others, with the firm conviction that the present shortage of houses is not just temporary, are purchasing lots and building their own homes.

SHOWERS FALL TO NORTH AND WEST

Showers fell over a scattered area to the north and west of Midland at daylight today, according to reports coming here this morning.
The C range received approximately a half inch and it was reported that the Bird ranch, 25 or 30 miles north of here, received a one inch rain in a 25 minute period.
Tourists coming from the west early this morning said water stood on the poles on the highway between Pecos and Odessa for several miles.
Cloudy weather tonight and Friday was the weather bureau's forecast for West Texas.

RAILROAD COMMISSION EFFICACY EVIDENCE SHOWN IN NEW REPORT

AUSTIN, March 21. (Special).—Advocates of the right of the State of Texas to control its own oil industry, instead of turning the oil fields over to Washington bureaucrats, received convincing supporting evidence of the present efficacy of the Railroad Commission regulation here last week when the U. S. Bureau of Mines issued its report on crude oil production for January.
The report showed a total daily average for January of 2,539,200 barrels of oil produced throughout the United States. This was 78,900 barrels above the quotas recommended by the Federal Oil Administration, and the East Texas field was shown as producing 30,000 barrels more daily during January than during the previous month. This 30,000 barrel total, representative of the increase of quotas as well as an "hot" or illegal oil that may have emanated from East Texas.
Officials of the Railroad Commission here point out, however, that it was during January that the plan of releasing oil by the injunction method, in State district courts, was carried out successfully. A considerable quantity of oil was actually moved under injunctions issued by the State courts, until the Attorney General and the Legislature moved speedily to stop this practice. There is no method of actually determining how much of this injunction-brought oil was actually moved, since approximately 2,000,000 barrels were involved in only two large injunction cases, these officials point out. A song was dedicated to Dr. W. E. Ryan, president of the chamber of commerce and to Mrs. Carl Covington, secretary. A talk on the opportunity and advantages offered by Midland citizens and prospective citizens written by Mrs. Covington was the chief number of the program.
The feature was a part of the regular Mrs. Tucker's Smile program of WFAA.

Oklahoma Farmer Kills Wife, Self

EL RENO, Okla., March 21. (P).—W. L. Pennington, 45 Beckham County farmer, shot and mortally wounded his estranged wife, Mrs. Lucille Pennington, 42, in an attorney's office here late today, then turned the pistol on himself, dying instantly.
The shooting occurred in the law office of J. N. Roberson, where Mrs. Pennington had gone to discuss plans for a divorce. Pennington shot her into the room and fired both shots before the startled attorney could interfere. Roberson said that the slayer did not speak a word. Sheriff John Harrison and other officers were investigating.
Both Pennington and his wife had been married previously. They were wedded last November.
Pennington was survived by two sons, Clois, 19, and Reed, 12, who live with her in El Reno; a grown son, James Herring of Pampa, Texas; and a daughter, Arlene, student at an Oklahoma City business college.
TWO SHIPS HERE
Two landings were reported for today by airport officials at 1:40 o'clock this afternoon. They were: an O-43, piloted by Lieut. W. R. Boutz, enroute from El Paso to Eureka field, and a C-27, flown by Staff Sergeant A. Hanson from Wright field, Ohio, to Rockwell field at San Diego, Calif.

Here's New One; Coyote Fishing!

BROWNSVILLE, Mar. 21.—(P).—Felix Gomez went fishing and caught a coyote.
He hooked, fought and landed the animal last night, he reported today when he brought his catch with the animal, still alive, was full grown.
The fisherman said the coyote ate a drumfish he caught in the Rio Grande near here, and got hooked in the eating.

BODIES OF WRECK VICTIMS MOVED TO THEIR HOMES

The body of J. Frank Ehrenheim, killed in an automobile wreck here early last morning, was shipped to his parents in Chicago last night.
The body of R. A. Bagley of Brownsville, another of the wreck victims, was claimed by his parents yesterday afternoon and taken by them to Brownsville where funeral services will be held today.
Both men were killed on the highway one mile west of Midland when Ehrenheim, driving a small roadster, and Bagley, in a truck load of oranges, crashed head on.
No trace of Emil Stock, owner of the roadster, who was with Ehrenheim at the time of the wreck and who disappeared soon afterwards, has been found.
Stock is believed to have been suffering from a nervous shock sustained in the wreck and evidently left for the west without ever realizing that his friend and traveling mate had been killed.
A telegram was received here yesterday from parents of Ehrenheim, addressed to Stock, asking him if he were able to return to Chicago with the body of the wrecked truck at that time he had disappeared and officers have been unable to find any trace of him since last seen early yesterday morning.
Doctors explained that such incidents were not uncommon in the case of persons suffering from severe nervous shock and such persons were affected much as one who has received shell shock.
A coroner's verdict of "accidental death, without placing the blame on either of the deceased parties" was returned by Justice of the Peace Knowles after an inquest yesterday afternoon.

Hunt for Gypsies After Man Slain

DURANT, Okla., Mar. 21. (P).—An intensive search was launched in northern Texas yesterday for gypsies wanted for questioning in the slaying of B. D. Wood, 27, at Spring camp near Bennington, Okla., yesterday.
The gypsies were traveling in a caravan of five automobiles and were last seen near Durant, Texas.

U. S. Ready to Sell Gold to Foreigners

WASHINGTON, March 21. (P).—Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau said today that the United States Government is prepared to sell gold to any foreign countries that can offer an attractive proposition.
gradually divesting himself of the burden of his millions.
Even the old associates are passing. H. C. McDowney, president of Mellon's great Union Trust Co., died.
Old Power Passes
But the sunset is on more than Mellon personally, as his lawyers detail to tax inquirers his efforts to "get out from under" with as little loss to his son and daughter, and as little dislocation of his interests as possible.
Ever since he became secretary of the treasury in 1921, Mellon's active interest in the vast industries linked to his name has been more imaginary than real, more an overhanging financial pressure and a spirit, than an actual direction. Now even that is passing.
The twenties, when Mellon was "the greatest secretary of the treasury since Alexander" Hamilton, are just a bad dream now. The tax reductions which made Mellon an idol then are gravely questioned now as a source of the concentration of wealth and credit inflation that brought the crash of 1929.
New Menaces Rise
The menace of confiscatory taxes and rising demands of labor in aluminum, coal, and steel threaten the springs that have fed the Mellon fortunes.
The political influence that ruled Pennsylvania, and had a strong voice in the Republican party nationally, has dwindled away. A Democratic governor sits at Har-

Mellon, At 80, Fights Gov't. Income Tax Charges

This is the first of three stories written for The Reporter-Telegram and NEA Service on A. W. Mellon as he is today at 80, and on the changes that are affecting the vast Mellon fortune.
By WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Writer
PITTSBURGH, March 21.—Andrew Mellon, who will pause on March 24 in the very midst of an exhausting tax wrangle to observe his 80th birthday, is today a rather lonely and wistful figure.
He is amazingly trim and fit for a man of his age. All who marked his appearances here have been impressed by his springy step. His face seems less drawn and haggard than it was two years ago, when he retired from 12 years of public service.
Secretary of the treasury under three presidents, ambassador to the Court of St. James, one of the richest men in the world—a great deal of history, financial, industrial and political, has left the touch of those slim, aristocratic hands. Now, looking down at all that from 80 years, A. W. Mellon may be pardoned a slightly preoccupied air.
Most of those stories, that "inside knowledge" will die with A. W. Mellon one day. The Mellons have done many things, but they have never talked much.
Unloads His Burden
A. W. Mellon may live many years, as the Clan Mellon is long-lived stock. But it is plain that he is

'Come on, Boy; Jump and You're Safe'

Spring floods spreading over the lowlands of eight midwest and southern states brought hundreds of little tragedies as thousands of families abandoned their homes before the rising water. Here the camera recorded one such incident, as Charles Montgomery of Kennett, Mo., went to the rescue of his dog, saving him from the stump-top on which he found him, sitting marooned and terror-stricken.

HOUSE VOTES FOR OIL PRODUCTION TAX INCREASE

AUSTIN, Mar. 21. (P).—The house today again overturned the revenue recommendation of the taxation committee and voted 31 to 54 to print on a minority report bill increasing oil production tax to six per cent per barrel.
The bill would provide no increase on the daily production of wells that produce less than ten barrels but would levy a four cent tax production on wells producing between 25 and 25 barrels daily and a six cent levy on wells producing more than 25 barrels daily.

AUSTIN, Mar. 21. (P).—Joe Palmer today filed a motion for a rehearing on his appeal from a death sentence in the case of the murder of Major Crowson, prison farm guard, in a break last year.
Palmer escaped from a prison farm along with Raymond Hamilton with the aid of Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow, was later recaptured.

HALT GRAND JURY PROBE OF CATO

FORT WORTH, Mar. 21. (P).—Alleging intent to defeat the jurisdiction of the United States district court in the murder case of Sheriff W. E. Cato of Garza county, United States Attorney Clyde O. Eastus today obtained an injunction restraining a grand jury investigation and trial in the one hundred sixth judicial district of Texas. The district court convened at Post March 18.
The writ, granted by Judge James C. Wilson in federal district court here, named eight persons who allegedly were attempting to impair and delay jurisdiction of the federal court by obtaining a speedy state court trial and short-term conviction or acquittal.
The case of Cato, who is under $50,000 bond on a charge of killing Spencer Sparks, United States internal revenue agent on February 7 is now being investigated by the federal grand jury here. It was continued after three weeks of investigation at Dallas, Texas has been set for May 20 in United States district court at Lubbock.
Those named in the restraining order are: G. H. Nelson, Tahoe, district attorney of the one hundred sixth judicial district of Texas, which includes Garza county; Walter B. Scott and W. P. McLean, Fort Worth attorneys; William Bedsoe, Charles Crenshaw and George Dupree, Lubbock attorneys; Cato and H. C. Smith, Post, county attorney of Garza county.
It was alleged the first arrest was made by J. R. Wright, United States marshal, and that after the persons named in the petition learned that a federal indictment had been returned in Dallas, Smtu and N. C. Outlaw, attorney, made out a murder complaint and filed it with a justice of the peace at 2 a. m. on the day following the homicide.
Further allegations are that C. R. Crawford and W. V. Ray, sureties on Cato's bond, are sitting on the grand jury that would consider the murder indictment.
Outlaw, Cato's attorney, recently was sentenced to 18 months in the federal penitentiary and assessed a fine of $2,500 in the United States district court at Dallas on a charge of obstructing justice.
EXCHANGE HEAD HERE
H. O. Bedford of El Paso, head of the H. O. Bedford & Co. stock exchange firm with offices at El Paso and Midland, was here today on business with Edw. P. Lamar, resident manager.

MEN PLANNED TO MAKE $400,000 ON TEX PWA PROJECT

2 Former Employees Among Those Charged
WASHINGTON, March 21. (P).—Seven men, including two former PWA engineers, were indicted today for conspiracy to defraud the government in a $4,863,000 Texas irrigation project.
The indictment was returned by a special District of Columbia grand jury after a three months inquiry by PWA investigators under Louis Glavis.
It was charged that the seven men conspired to force the use of redwood lumber pipes in the project and to obtain $400,000 profit.
The indictment included Charles R. Oberg and Perry A. Welty of Austin, former PWA employees, William A. Harding of Raymondville and Frank P. McElwath of Corsicana.
District Attorney Leslie Garnett of Washington said that the warrants would be issued immediately and an attempt made to bring the men to Washington for trial in the District of Columbia Supreme court.
Conviction would bring a penalty of not more than two years imprisonment or a fine of not more than $10,000 or both.
"Is Nationalism Incompatible with the Sixth Object of Rotary?" was the subject of a talk before the Rotary club today by Harvey Conger. His address referred to the work being done by Rotary International toward promoting better understanding between the nations of the world. He brought out arguments to show that a citizen of America, or of any country, did not exclude the other nations through being patriotic to his own.
Talks were made by R. T. Bucy and Clarence Schubarth in recent visits to the Rotary clubs of Big Spring and Fort Worth.
The secretary, W. I. Pratt, reported that arrangements had been made to have photographs of club members made at the Prothro studio, before Sunday night of this week, at expense of the organization. Club members were asked to have the pictures made for a special purpose in connection with the approaching Rotary conference here.

CONGRER SPEAKS ON NATIONALISM

Centennial Bill Report Favorable
AUSTIN, Texas, March 21.—The Senate Finance Committee Wednesday reported favorably on the House bill making appropriations for the Texas Centennial with the Senate's amendments. The amended bill estimates that the centennial museum to be created called for $3,000,000 but the Senate committee added $50,000 to write Texas histories and a dictionary of Texas biography. The central exposition at Dallas is given $1,000,000 for buildings and $250,000 to furnish them. Seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars is allowed for Nation-wide advertising and small administrative expenses, and $1,000,000 for outside celebrations, which include $250,000 for the $750,000 memorial museum to be created on the campus of the University of Texas.
As the bill went in as a House measure, it will have a hearing on the calendar on House bill days, on Wednesday and Thursday of each week, and not go to the bottom of the long docket of Senate bills. That insures its comparative early consideration as there are but few House bills on the Senate calendar. After disposition by the Senate the bill will probably go to conference for final adjustments.
Four members of the subcommittee of the Finance Committee signed the redrafted bill—W. K. Hopkins, W. R. Poag, Clint Small and Grady Woodruff. The fifth member, Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth, did not sign and said he probably would contend for money for a live stock show in his home city.

PERSON'S SOCIAL VALUE NOT SET BY GAIN

Mrs. Roosevelt made a nice point when she named the 11 women who have been "a constant inspiration and a help" to her. By drawing up such a list it is possible to get a new line on the kinds of human conduct which have the most social value.

What sort of women got into Mrs. Roosevelt's list, anyway? Well, there were two suffragists, three social workers, two flyers, a business executive, a novelist, and two women—Frances Perkins and Josephine Roche—who could be classified roughly as being in "public service."

Now, the interesting thing to notice about these women is that nearly all of them have been devoting their lives to other people rather than to themselves.

Perhaps that isn't entirely true of the business woman and the two flyers. Yet from Mrs. Roosevelt's viewpoint it is; for by making notable successes in their callings, these women have opened new fields for other women, and have made possible a wide extension of the field of feminine activities.

And it is unquestionably true of the others. No one whose first thought was for her own ease and comfort would dream of following a career like that of Jane Adams, for instance, or of enduring the public criticism that early workers for woman suffrage had to endure.

In general, then, it may be said that these women, who most strongly aroused Mrs. Roosevelt's admiration had provided her with inspiration in the building of her own career, were women who possessed the capacity of self-forgetfulness to a rare degree.

And the value of a list like this lies precisely in the fact that it reminds us that the really valuable members of the race are not the self-seekers, but the self-forgetters.

The chief prizes of this world, of course, go to the self-seekers. It always has been that way and probably it always will be. But when we sit down to name the people who have seemed to us to be most worthy of emulation, we use a different standard of value.

Instead of naming the great prize-winners, we name the people who have struggled for others rather than for themselves. They are the ones who persuade us that life is something better than a blind scramble for gain.

They are the ones who help to bring the real world into line with the world we see in our dreams.

HOPE IN ALASKA

One of the unexpected by-products of the depression is going to be a renewed attempt to tap the unused agricultural riches of Alaska. The federal government will finance a "sample migration," transporting 200 families and 400 single men to the Matanuska valley beyond Anchorage, this spring.

The move is admittedly an experiment. The climate of the valley is said to be very like that of the "drouth states" back home, and the colonists are all to come from those states, so that that part of the transition is expected to be easy.

These colonists will, furthermore, be taken from unproductive land which is to be retired from production; and the soil in the Matanuska valley is said to be fertile enough to provide excellent farms.

This experiment seems to be well worth making. Alaska is potentially a rich, productive land, aside from its gold deposits. It is logical that a serious effort be made to see if its potentialities cannot be realized.

SACRAMENTO, Cal. (U.P.)—Shirley Temple, motion picture prodigy, who recently won the palm from the Motion Picture Academy, can go on the stage if the state legislature approves legislation which was introduced particularly for her benefit. Bills reducing the age limit for permitting children to make stage appearances, confronted the legislature this month. One measure reduces the eight-year limit to five and another for four-year-olds. Shirley, her employers claim, is five.

Even Prints Go Realistic This Spring

Prints, perennial favorites for spring, are in again, this time featuring as a style choice realistic flower prints like the carnations on the silk crepe shown above, left. This frock shows a new type of sleeve in three-quarter length, but shorter sleeves and peasant necklines also will be good. At right the charming navy blue woolen redingote with a lively red and white stripe dress in silk print shows how this favorite has been adapted to the vogue for contrasting costumes.

The ukelele was reproduced by the Hawaiians from the guitar introduced by Portuguese traders.

"Petrified Forest" One of Season's Healthiest Hits

Editor's Note: The following review of "Petrified Forest" by Douglas Sherwood was written for The Reporter-Telegram by Miss Leonard McCormick who read the play before the Play Readers club Wednesday afternoon.

By MISS LEONA MCCORMICK This is, and deservedly, one of the season's healthiest hits. A swashing melodrama, with quiet overtones of philosophic comment and ironic loveliness, and a splendid cast headed by Leslie Howard.

On the edge of the Arizona desert you find the Black Mesa Bar-B-Q. The place is run by Gabby Maple, daughter of an American soldier and a French girl long since gone back to Bourges; her father, now a pillar of the American Legion; and her old grandfather, once an Indian fighter. Through it streams a well assorted crowd: a frontiersman with large teeth; linesmen laden with telephone wire and Bolshevik opinions; a college athlete who pumps gasoline and makes love; a rich banker and his disoriented wife.

Into it comes Alan Squier, hitch-hiker, ex-gigolo, and down-and-out writer, dreamer, poet. He and Gabby suddenly and beautifully fall in love. She wants to escape from Arizona, to go back to Bourges, and her gay French mother. She lives on the poems of Villon and the notion of romantic love. Alan, knowing that he cannot cope with living, refuses her candid young passion.

Then Duke Mantee, as personable a kidnaper and murderer as ever charged into the middle of a play, and his gang, with the sheriff booming on their trail, take hold. The rest is insanity. Everybody becomes fantastic, and does it plausibly.

Finally, in a scene which could be pulled off only by Mr. Howard, the play pushes past the roars and bangs of a man-hunt into the clear cadence of sacrifice, love, poetic tragedy.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

The ninth wonder of the world to the average woman is the average man's sense of humor.

Perhaps it is a salutary thing for the minds of most of us that we are at times permitted to hear and see both sides of a question.

For years Rasputin, the "Mad Monk" of Russia, has been thought of as wicked, devilish, and sly.

Now his daughter, Maria Rasputin, has come to America to use the inherited mesmerism of her father's famous eyes in conquering the leopards in a circus ring.

And Marie Rasputin says, "My father was a good man, such a good man. He became a duke and then a prince but one person was always as good as another to him. . . . He wanted above everything, to save Russia."

Which all brings to mind Robert Louis Stevenson's "There's so much bad in the best of us, and so much good in the worst of us" (or are we quoting the lines backward?).

Another example of hope springing eternal in the human breast Roy Chapman Andrews, when he married first took his wife on a 35,000 mile honeymoon—a trip to the wilds of South China and Tibet. Several years later, after his wife divorced him, he roused the ire of women by saying that taking a woman along on an expedition usually meant trouble. Recently he married for the second time. And now he says that when he goes on scientific explorations the present Mrs. Andrews will go with him.

Ah well, who expects mere men to be consistent, anyway?

COWS EAT GRAPEFRUIT

CLEVELAND, (U.P.)—Cows in the Lower Rio Grande valley are having to eat grapefruit and they like it. Freezing weather recently killed most of the grass in this section. Several farmers began experiments of feeding their cows culled grapefruit and it was so successful that other farmers have taken up the practice.

WATCH KIDNEYS SAME AS BOWELS

Wash Out Your 79,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestines, yet the kidneys contain nearly 10 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 79,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Healthy persons pass thru the bladder 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter. If you pass less than this, your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes may be clogged with poisonous waste. This is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness. Kidneys should be watched closely and need cleaning out the same as bowels. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to wash out your 79,200 feet of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Behind the scenes with THE TELEPHONE LICENSE CONTRACT

How the staff services we get under it have helped us give good telephone service at fair cost to you. Last year we spent almost a million dollars to find better methods of giving you good telephone service. We paid it to the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., parent company of the Bell System. For it received, as one of the 24 associated companies of that System, the services of A. T. & T.'s great staff of telephone experts and engineers. Staff Services... at Cost The A. T. & T. has provided substantially at cost the many services this staff performs. In fact, in the last few years it has taken an actual loss on the work it has done for the operating companies. The yearly fee we pay is equivalent to about 3/10 of one per cent of our investment in telephone plant. Stated another way... less than a cent and a half of every dollar we receive from telephone customers. Yet without it, telephone service as fast, as clear and as low in cost as you now receive would be quite unlikely. We have passed on to the telephone user in the Southwest the benefits and savings of this staff work, in the belief that in an undertaking planned for the long run, like the telephone service, such a policy will in the end bring us the sounder, more enduring success.

"It pays to be consistent" AN inconsistent advertiser is one who has good merchandise, and knows it... but doesn't know the right channel through which to present it, to build volume sales. In other words--an inconsistent merchant fails to advertise in his home newspaper, and therefore loses the trade of the very neighbors who would be most anxious to patronize him if they knew about his merchandise. But the successful advertiser is always consistent! He makes sure that he has what the public wants, and he presents it through regular advertising in the newspaper they all read. And when Brother Bobby, Sister Sue, Mother and Dad all see the advertiser's name before them regularly, they become so familiar with him and his goods, that it's second nature for them to patronize him. What do you say, Mr. Advertiser? Will you be an inconsistent watch-them-go-by, or will yours be the door to which all shoppers beat a path to buy... buy... buy...?

Want All Bees Registered

BOSTON, (AP)—The Eastern Massachusetts Society of Beekeepers wants a law compelling beekeepers to register all bees so they can be checked for diseases (the bees, not the beekeepers). Mrs. H. A. Potter of Cambridge, whose husband is a graduate chemist at Harvard and secretary of the Beekeepers' Society, says the idea is to prevent epidemics of the two principal bee maladies, "American foul brood," and "European foul brood." Per capita use of electricity has more than doubled in this country in the last 10 years.

How One Man Lost 22 Pounds

Mr. Herman Runkis of Detroit writes: "A few lines of thanks from a rheumatism sufferer—My first bottle of Kruschen Salts took all of my aches and swellings out of my joints—with my first bottle I went on a diet and lost 22 pounds and now feel like a new man."

To lose fat safely and quickly take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning—a quarter pound jar lasts 4 weeks. Get it at any drug store in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back. (Adv.)

Torrents Drive Hundreds From Homes in Missouri

Flood waters surging far over the banks of Black river spread devastation over Poplar Bluff, Mo., this airview showing a section of the city where water was from three to seven feet deep in homes and public buildings. More than 800 families were removed from their homes as the danger increased and refugees were housed in buildings on higher ground, food being provided by FERA funds, with the Red Cross also aiding. More than 100 boats piloted by militiamen patrolled the area.

"While The Patient Slept," First National's latest murder mystery drama, the second to be produced under the insignia of the Clue Club, comes to the Yucca Theatre Friday and Saturday.

The picture is based on the popular novel by Mignon G. Eberhart, and is unusual in that it is packed with humor and rollicking laughter as well as thrills, suspense and creepy situations that make the scalp tingle.

Aline MacMahon has the stellar role as the nurse in a rambling, ghostly, suburban mansion whose wealthy owner is supposed to be dying. Guy Kibbee portrays a love-lorn small town detective who is trying to solve the killing of the rich man's eldest son, and at the same time making blundering love to the nurse.

Del Rio Men Hunt for Coyotes With a Plane

DEL RIO. (P).—Emery Davis and W. R. Cammack have added to their collection of air trophies "Coyotes No. 14 and No. 15," killed near Spofford where Davis has sheep in pastures.

Flying low over the section the hunters spied the slinking forms of the coyotes intent on stalking a meal of lamb.

Davis circled the vicinity and Cammack opened up with the 12-gauge automatic shotgun, which he has used in killing coyotes since November.

Depredation of their flocks in the Spofford section led Davis and Cammack to employ the air method of hunting.

Several of the predatory animals were killed in particularly sporty shots angled by Davis in a dive with Cammack shooting from the fuselage.

Both hunters declared that this type of hunting was the most sporty they had ever tried. Their collection of trophies includes javalina, deer, bear, wildcat and coyotes.

An average of 10 shots are required for a kill from an altitude of 150 feet, Cammack said.

The coyote must be running in order to be seen from the air, "and you cannot take your eye off the work or you will lose it," Cammack pointed out.

The pilot is guided to the spot by keeping the barrel of the gun pointing at the animal. At a motion from the observer the pilot dives sharply.

Big Spring Paving Campaign Started

BIG SPRING, Mar. 21.—Grading of the city park road is now underway preparatory to the laying of concrete in the first step of the city paving campaign.

When grades are established, concrete base will be placed and set. When this has been done, work of laying a three course rock aggregate asphalt, topping will be started. The three course road will continue from the park entrance to the fork of the road at the park proper. Roadways through the park will be two courses.

Grading of profiles on several city streets and alleys is now underway and when the park project is completed work of grading and surfacing these streets will start.

About one-sixth of the supply of crushed rock needed for the paving project has been produced. A new bearing recently has been installed on the city's rock crusher and operations there were due to get into full swing Wednesday.

Hitler's Triumphant Entry Into Saar

The Saar took full advantage of its opportunity to show its over-throwing to Germany when Chancellor Adolf Hitler made a surprise visit to the long disputed region. Bareheaded, the Nazi leader is shown riding through the flag arrayed streets of Saarbrücken, acknowledging the welcome roared to their new leader by throngs that lined the curb.

Display Movies Made by Children

A moving picture of the story of "Little Black Sambo", made by the primary pupils of Mrs. A. C. Fleming in the Valley View school, is now on display in the county library.

The colored pictures are drawn upon and the story printed upon a continuous roll of paper which is unrolled from one rod to another.

The movie will be entered in the county fair exhibit to be held here early in April.

Bunny whips to a total value of $300,000 are still produced annually.
