League Council Meets, April

WILL CONSIDER FRENCH PROTEST OF REARMAMENT

Hitler Spurns Notes Of Protesting Gov'ts

GENEVA, Mar. 22. (AP)—The League of Nations today convened an extraordinary session of the council to meet in the first week of April to deal with the French protest of the German armament program.

BERLIN, Mar. 22. (UP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler curtly spurned protests Thursday from Italy and France against his rearmament program. He refused to accept their arguments and declared himself guilty of violating the treaty of Versailles.

The German Chancellor ignored the united action of the former allied powers, and calmly awaited arrival on Sunday of a British diplomatic mission to discuss the next step in Europe's greatest crisis since the World War.

Through his Foreign Minister, Baron Konstantin von Neurath, French notes, practically identical in wording, and then told the envoys who relayed them to Wilhelmstrasse that the motivation given by the French and Italian governments for their protests do not do justice to the actual situation.

An official communique on the French note said von Neurath then declared: "Therefore, on the part of Germany it must be rejected."

List of Developments

Developments in the storm provoked by Hitler's announcement he plans to disregard the treaty and build a 300,000-man conscript army for Germany, included:

The French note was presented by Ambassador Andre Francois-Poncet at the Wilhelmstrasse.

The Italian note was presented by Ambassador Vittorio Currucci two hours later.

Baron von Neurath told both envoys their protests could not be accepted as valid, holding the former already had abrogated the military clauses of the Versailles treaty by failing to disarm.

In London, Parliament was told Europe is heading for war, but Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, declared he intends to go through with his mission to Berlin Sunday with high hopes yet for peace.

In Paris the League Council meeting for league action and the War Minister, Louis-Felix Maurin, denounced Germany.

Naval Chief

Admiral Eric Raeder, Chief of German Navy who is expected to add a fleet of large fighting warships to the fleet of small ships allowed Germany by the Versailles Treaty.

MARTIN INSULL DEPORTED; SAID UNDESIRABLE

DETROIT, Mar. 22. (AP)—Martin J. Insull, who first was freed on graft charges after the collapse of the utilities empire built by his brother Samuel had collapsed, was deported to Canada today as an undesirable alien.

Insull was returned from Canada by the United States government and placed on trial for complicity in the collapse of the utilities empire after waging a useless fight against extradition.

Ask Farmers Sign Cotton Contracts

Closing dates for signing of cotton contracts for 1935 has been set for March 30, according to word from County Agent S. A. Dehann and all who have not signed their 1935 contracts have been asked to come to the County Agent's office before that time and sign up.

Also all who have changed farms since 1934 and who have not signed the regular contracts are requested to immediately do so.

Shamrock Signs Up In R. R. Valley Loop

VERNON, Tex. (AP)—Shamrock was the first club to post franchise money for 1935 in the Red River Valley Baseball league when Bill Sherrill of Vernon, league president, received a money order for $20 from H. B. Hendrick, franchise holder of the Shamrock club, last week.

March 20 was the final date for posting of franchise money.

Shamrock, together with Wellington, Adair, Memphis, Childress, and Hollis, Okla., form the Western section in the league. The Eastern section is composed of Altus and Tipplesh, Okla., and Electra, Iowa Park, Chickadee and Vernon. Play begins April 14.

Poderjay Given Bigamy Sentence

NEW YORK, March 22. (AP)—Ivan Poderjay, Yugoslavian adventurer, who pleaded guilty to bigamy in marrying Agnes G. Tully, was sentenced yesterday by Judge George L. Donnellan to two and one-half to five years in Sing Sing prison.

Miss Tully, a New York and Detroit attorney, had been missing since she married the handsome one-time army officer in December, 1933 at the Little Church Around the Corner.

The missing woman drew all her savings out of the bank several days before the marriage.

START CLEARING GROUNDS FOR SAT. FAT STOCK SHOW

Work started this morning on clearing the grounds across the street from the Reporter-Telegram office for Midland's initial day Fat Stock Show and Trades Day.

More than 25 ranchers, farmers and other stock owners have signed to exhibit more than 100 head of stock at the show Saturday afternoon.

Stallions and bulls will predominate the showing with a number of jacks, hogs, sheep and goats also being exhibited to the public.

Dr. W. E. Ryan, president of the grounds today and lengthening the Town Quack hitching rack a half block to facilitate handling the large number of animals exhibited.

As many as 10 purebred Hereford bulls and a like number of government and privately owned thoroughbred stallions are expected to be lined up when the show opens.

As the animals arrive in the morning they will have a tag placed on them showing name, owner, age and history of their breeding to facilitate ones interested in them knowing all about the animals.

Mr. W. T. Blakeway and others in charge of the show today extended a special invitation to the business men of Midland and asked that each of them try to take a brief talk at the opening of the show, explaining the purpose of the meet and explaining a trades day as a permanent monthly event.

Merchants desiring to display machinery, cars or equipment of any sort should bring free space orders prepared by committeemen this afternoon.

Cross Currents in Today's Bond Markets Discussed by Economist; "Are High Grade Bonds Too High?"

By ROGER W. BABSON
BAYBORN PARK, Fla., March 22.—Within the last month high-grade bonds have sold at the top prices of modern times. Billions of dollars of idle funds seeking investment have poured into the gilt-edge bond market, boosting many issues far above their call prices. At the same time many second-grade issues have registered sharp declines. Hence, it is not surprising that some of the cross-currents causing this divergent trend.

Bonds have always interested me more than stocks. I think this is generally true of most men with technical training. Bonds lend themselves to a more careful analysis than do stocks. In fact, it is much easier to judge the course of bond prices than of stock prices. The most common pitfall is to generalize on the bond market as a whole. Only at certain times—such as the very bottom of a depression—do all bonds follow the same trend. Once prices have recovered from "auction" levels, selective rules the bond market to an even greater extent than the stock market. Bonds, however, are selective primarily as to grade, while stocks are selective primarily as to industries.

The high-grade bond market today is simply a reflection of conditions in the money market. Bond prices are the ratio of the supply of and demand for money. Supply means the amount of money seeking investment and demand, the number of available issues in which this money can be invested. At the present time the supply of money is far greater than the demand. Bank deposits are a fairly good barometer of the money supply. They are today about $3,000,000,000 higher than last March and almost back to the 1929 level. The barometer of money demand is the volume of new financing. In 1934, new capital flotations totaled $178,257,949 against $189,717,178 in 1933 and $8,639,439,560 in 1929.

Prime commercial paper today gives almost no return—less than one per cent. Good tax-free utility bonds, and Federal government bonds have risen to uncounted hundreds of millions. But he was unknown to the public, and editors scoured in vain to their files when it was known that President Harding had appointed A. W. Mellon secretary of the treasury.

Mellon resigned all his directorships when he took office, and never resumed them. The latest Directory of Directors falls even to list his name. He is still bullish on high-grade bonds. As long as investment funds continue to pile up and there remains a scarcity of high-grade issues, prime bonds must continue to sell high. I, however, do warn readers to watch out for bonds selling above their call prices. Remember, too, that there are important influences at work which make the long-term outlook subject to radical change at any time. Hence, the great importance of close supervision over your investment at the present time!

Authorize Six New Air Bases for U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 22. (AP)—A bill authorizing the War Department to build six powerful air bases to defend the nation's frontiers was approved unanimously by the house military committee today after hearing high army officers describe the measure as essential.

Animal Kingdom's Breadline

WESTPORT, Mass. (UP)—The animal kingdom has definitely established its winter residence on Manuel Medero's farm. All the hungry, homeless birds and animals—pheasants, quail, starlings, gulls and other small animals, are welcome, all except one—skunks. Medero's young daughter, Mary, started the "free food" when she scattered scraps, grain, meat and other food. Everything went smoothly until their unwanted brothers made an appearance.

HOUSES UNROOFED, CROPS RUINED BY 56 MILE HOUR WIND

All Communications In Section Are Disrupted

DEL RIO, March 22. (AP)—Tornadoic winds accompanied by heavy rain caused damage estimated at $800,000 here and in this section of the Rio Grande Valley last night. Trees were uprooted, houses were unroofed and crops were lashed by the violent wind and driving rain that fell first of the night.

Telephone and telegram communications were disrupted by winds which reached a velocity of 56 miles and hour at one time.

ASPERMONT, March 22.—Three frame structures were demolished and a car blown to pieces, with only a wheel intact, in a brief but violent cyclone which struck the Mount Pleasant community six miles south of Aspermont about 6 p. m. Thursday. Two inches of rain throughout the county accompanied the storm.

The Mount Pleasant church, unused for several years but being occupied by two families, the J. H. Rutledge and a Mr. Newman and wife, was blown in. When the building began to shake the occupants ran out into the yard and escaped injury.

Clay S. Dodson and Sam Jacobs families took refuge in the Dodson's storm cellar and were unharmed as the five-room residence above the cellar was demolished and the Jacob's sedan standing in front, was torn to bits.

A four-room residence of Frank Irvin was the third building to be torn apart.

Hail accompanied the rainstorm.

FATHER LAD FOUNDATIONS OF MELLON MILLIONS

This is the second of three stories telling of the Clan Mellon and its rise to riches and power, of how Andrew W. Mellon is unloading his burden of millions as he nears 80, and of the members of the famed family who will carry on.

By WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
PITTSBURGH, March 22.—Andrew W. Mellon, at 80, is such a personification of wealth that it is hard to realize that his father was an immigrant boy, clinging to his mother's skirts when she landed in Baltimore in 1818 with the family's life savings of about $1000 sewn about her waist.

Thomas Mellon, founder of the Clan Mellon, and of the fortune that is now rapidly passing to Andrew Mellon.

Six sons were preparing to carry on the Mellon interests. Only one is alive today, celebrating his 80th birthday—A. W. Mellon.

It was A. W. who entered the bank, and who showed such ability that he was managing it at 22. The old judge died in 1808, a hard-bitten old Scotch-Irish millionaire who had always played the sure things and sat tight on his winnings. But his sons were to carry his interests to heights he had never dared to imagine.

They had already proved their mettle as shrewd business men just before the panic of '73, they had started a real estate and lumber business at Mansfield (now Carnegie). They borrowed the money from their father, who charged them 16 per cent to teach them how to handle borrowers who had no security. They sold out just before the panic.

Bank Heart of "Empire"

Fledged in finance, they directed by the bank which in 1892 became the Mellon National, and in which A. W. Mellon today has his offices.

The Mellon National is the best-known of the Mellon banks, the Union Trust is the keystone, owning the Mellon National, Mellon Savings, and others. Its stock is held by only about 400 stockholders, paid 200 per cent dividends from 1927 to 1933 after paying 100 per cent a year for 15 years. Back in 1929 it brought $21,000 a share.

This banking fortress has always been the heart of the Mellon empire. Today, through the Mellbank Corporation, it is reaching out toward the smaller banks of Pennsylvania.

This holding company, which buys stocks in small-town banks, obtaining various degrees of control, is headed by Richard K. Mellon, son of Andrew's late brother,

PROFITS OF SCANDAL

In liquidating his stamp scandal, Postmaster General Farley will also help liquidate the Post Office Department deficit.

Reference is made to the department's actual deficit, and not to the paper profit which Mr. Farley shows by listing postal subsidies.

So much publicity was given to Mr. Farley's indiscreet gift of souvenir stamps to collector friends that stamp enthusiasts from all over the country have sent in orders for duplicates.

These stamps will not be used to send stamps through the mail, but will go into the collectors' albums, where the great-grandchildren of the present day collectors can look at them and recall the time when a blundering politician tried to Tammanize the art of philately.

Having experienced the wrath of the philatelists, Mr. Farley probably will not care to offend again. But he did, inadvertently discover a new way to tap an old source of revenue.

"ALL-BRAN FORMS MAJOR PORTION OF MY BREAKFAST"

Delicious Cereal Relieved His Constipation*

Read Mr. Huyghe's voluntary letter: "After suffering for years, I happened to notice in the grocery a box of ALL-BRAN. I determined to give it a fair trial.

"Today it forms the major portion of my breakfast. I cannot say enough for its effect, as I am a man 58 years of age, at the time in life when one needs just what ALL-BRAN does for you."—Mr. Robt. A. Huyghe, 810 Union St., New Orleans, La.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

Research shows that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to excise the intestines. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. With each meal, in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN resists digestion better than the "bulk" in leafy vegetables. How much better to use this gentle food in place of patent medicines.

At all grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

The new jadeite glass is in a lusciously soft shade of green, alluring even to the eyes of one who is not a housewife.

We noticed particularly a set of nested measuring cups in this material. We've all seen the group of nested spoons but this is the first time this correspondent has seen the nested cups.

We know a girl here in town who is making a unique bed spread of fast-color print handkerchiefs bristled together in black thread.

What is the thing which humans must possess to have an abiding popularity with men and women? A great many people have puzzled over that and a great many self-confident ones have hazarded their guesses.

Dr. Heran Wolfe, psychiatrist, says one must have "empathy" to be popular. (No, the printer didn't make an error. We didn't mean "sympathy".)

"Empathy" is defined as being sympathy plus. Whereas sympathy close of the program and business meeting. About 30 mothers were present.

The Town Quack

(Reserve the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

Two years ago a reader had an idea, and was angry at The Reporter-Telegram for not exploiting it. Today the same man has an idea exactly opposite in principle to the idea of two years ago, and he is angry at the paper for not exploiting the second idea.

The woman who leads the hardest life is she who is married to a man who is a "good fellow" down town. He usually is a poor provider, and doesn't like to help with the work around the house.

A politician is a man who abuses the prosperous before election and caters to the rich after election.

Surgery has made advances, but never has been able to cure a bone-headed man.

Maybe so. But we still wonder whether Dr. Wolfe has discovered something new or is just splitting hairs over definitions.

A MESSAGE FROM W. K. KELLOGG EVERY ONE is interested in the country's improvement. We will have found economic recovery only when every one does his share. As we see it our duty is threefold: first to provide the American farmer with a fair market for his crop; second to give employment to as many people as possible; and finally to supply a wholesome food at a low cost.
