WASHINGTON, March 26, (AP)—The Justice Department today asked dismissal of its appeal from a district court decision holding NRA unconstitutional in the Belcher Lumber Mill case, the only NRA test pending in the supreme court.

HITLER INVITED TO PARTICIPATE IN CONFERENCE

PARIS, March 26, (UP)—The British mission in Berlin Monday urged Adolf Hitler to participate with the former allied powers in a peace conference in Northern Italy early next month, advices reaching Paris said.

Italy, France and Britain also will invite Poland and Russia to join the conference, together with representatives from central European and Balkan nations, in a move to make it a general gathering for a new deal in Europe, as predicted by the United Press last week.

The conference is to be held in Stresa on April 11, and at France's suggestion the extraordinary session of the League of Nations council on German rearmament has been postponed until April 15, at the earliest, to permit the Reich's participation in this new peace movement.

Credit British Pressure
Change in the plans to permit Germany's position to come before the world at a general parley away from Geneva—which she has deserted—resulted from British pressure, it was learned.

Another bill pending in the House would take measures for protection of civil population from air attacks was passed.

Under the bill, two 35,000-ton warships are to be constructed, one to be laid down this year and the other probably in 1937. Despite all these plans, a certain section of the French press is falling behind in the international arms race.

Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin in a radio speech Monday night warned that internal difficulties led to the German invasion in 1917 and recalled that Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy had urged the warring nations following the World War would be 1935-36.

'Belting' at Future Dust Storms

A tiny Austrian pine, set in Oklahoma's red clay, here is planted, first of the millions which will grow to form the great midwestern shelter belt, stretching across six states to save soil and curb the devastating dust storms which have taken heavy toll of life and property in recent weeks. Gathered for the ceremony 20 miles northeast of Mangum, Okla., are G. H. Phillips, Oklahoma forester, planting the tree; Wilson Martin, Oklahoma state director, crouching at right; Floyd Cossitt, left, rear, Lincoln, Neb., assistant director, and Jesse Murrell, Oklahoma assistant director.

NEW CHANGES IN FHA APPLICATIONS

DALLAS, March 26.—An important change in the procedure governing applications for Federal Housing Administration insured loans for new construction, designed to eliminate delay and accommodate persons desiring to build new homes more speedily, was announced here today by Wm. H. Clark, Jr., South-west regional director of the Federal Housing Administration.

Under the new plan, any person who desires to build a new home may apply direct to any state or district office of the FHA, either in person or through his lumber dealer, and if his application is approved, will receive a tentative FHA loan, which covers the cost of appraising and inspecting the property upon which the loan is sought. This fee is not returned, but no additional appraisal fee is charged when the loan is completed.

Therefore, it has been necessary for the applicant to find an approved lending agency, and make his application through that agency, before the application is denied. By reversing the process, Clark pointed out, the applicant may find a lending agency which handles his mortgage much more easily, if he already has a commitment showing that the FHA is willing to insure the loan, before he approaches the lending agency.

"This new method will also give the FHA a more direct and accurate check upon the lending agencies in this region which are actively cooperating with our program to stimulate new construction in the Southwest," Clark said.

DALLAS, Mar. 26, (AP)—Thousands of gallons of milk were spilled today as farmers, protesting prices which they claimed to be too low, picketed roads to intercept deliveries and polluted milk with kerosene.

"BABY FACE" PAL IS GIVEN LIFE

CHICAGO, March 25.—A federal court jury tonight convicted John Paul Chase of the slaying of Inspector Samuel P. Cowley of the department of justice and fixed his punishment at life imprisonment.

The verdict of guilty carried a recommendation of mercy which made life imprisonment mandatory. The government had demanded the death penalty to punish the companion of the late George (Baby Face) Nelson, Dillinger mobster, in the slaying of two federal officers.

Out since 4:17 p. m., the jury shortly before 8 p. m., asked Judge Philip L. Sullivan for further instructions for ruling school of and specifically if the jury found the defendant guilty without capital punishment, he would be kept in prison for the remainder of his life.

The judge answered that after the convicted prisoner was turned over to the United States marshal, the court had no further jurisdiction and parole was up to the federal parole board and the president.

HOUSE PASSES THE SCHOOL AID BILL

AUSTIN, Mar. 26, (AP)—The House finally passed the bill today appropriating $10,000,000 during the next fiscal year for rural school aid and equalization, increasing the current appropriation $4,000,000.

RAIN AND COLDER WEATHER FORECAST FOR TEXAS TONIGHT AND WEDNESDAY

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cloudy and colder weather was forecast for Texas tonight with thunderstorms due in the eastern part of the state, and with snow, rain, dust, hail and tornadoes imposing a crazy quilt pattern over the nation's weather map sections.

Meanwhile in Colorado farmers hung on grimly as clearing skies gave them a respite from the dust clouds that had hovered over them for two weeks but many believed that it was only a temporary respite and were making plans to move out of the storm ridden sections.

Baca County, Colorado, which had its last rain two years ago was one of the hardest hit of all counties as it was in an approximate center of the devastating dust storms. There is no crop at all in the county this year, and only very few livestock are left in what was once the heart of an important cattle and sheep country.

Washington has announced that it is ready to start an anti-dust program. The plan considered involves a system of "strip listing," the plowing up of virtual earthen barricades in fields at regular intervals to keep the soil from blowing.

March 28—Military and aviation budgets increased from 423,000,000 marks to 785,000,000 marks.

HITLER FAILS TO GIVE DEFINITE ARMAMENT PLANS

Insists That Other Nations Declare Themselves

BERLIN, Mar. 26, (AP)—Conferees between Hitler and Sir John Simon ended this afternoon and it was officially stated that Hitler had not given any definite indication of how large a military force he intends to build.

British embassy spokesmen indicated that Hitler insisted that rearmament is an accomplished fact from which he cannot recede and it is up to other nations to say whether they are willing to do toward accomplishing rearmament.

It was generally agreed that Hitler had some out ahead at the end and he had committed himself to very few definite answers.

The British envoys promised Hitler that England will no longer insist upon the mutual assistance feature of the proposed eastern security pact.

On Germany's part, Hitler gave solemn assurance that his nation does not have the faintest intention of ever attacking Russia. He said this after insisting that Germany will stand pat on demands for a big army and navy in order to defend Europe from Russian Bolshevism.

ANOTHER SIDE TO THE DOG QUESTION

Lend an ear to the other side of the dog question, or perhaps to the third side of it, namely the plight of the citizen who believes it is a crime to poison a dog but whose flower beds suffer nevertheless.

A prominent, well known, high minded and right living woman a few days ago declared that she agreed with the recent expression of a dog owner, that the poisoning of innocent dogs is a crime. She said she loved dogs and animals in general and believes they are fine pets, in their place.

She also agreed that the dogs are innocent. They select a cool flower bed in which to dig out a refreshing spot for a siesta, and the dog cannot be blamed personally. All of which makes it doubly criminal to poison the dog.

However, she asks, what must the flower bed owner do? Nine dog owners out of ten will take offense at the mere suggestion that their pet Bozo would stray from his own back yard to bury bones or dig holes in the neighbor's flower garden. And it takes a lot of diplomacy to even mention such delinquency on the part of the dog to its owner. Often such conversations result in an estranged status between the two.

If the dog owner is to allow his dog to roam at large, he may expect either to provide a menace for his well mannered neighbors who hesitate to bring up the unpleasant interview or to invite a visit from that menace of all menaces, the dog poisoner.

So, the responsibility goes back to the owner of the dog. If the dog is poisoned, he loses. If the dog is not poisoned but roams in the neighbor's flower bed, the neighbor loses.

The government has paid off a lot of its debt with profits made when it devalued the dollar. To an administration like that, it ought to be no trick at all to produce funds for the Townsend plan, work-relief, etc.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

For the girl who has a liking for the sporting touch, there are tiny, ridiculous animals of chenille to wear on one's coat. Giraffes as well as other quadrupeds may be found in the selection.

Our vote goes to the white dress with colored jacket for a suit that looks summery and is practical.

Another sign of spring—business men who are somehow miraculously able to finish the day's work on the stroke of five, so there will be time for tennis.

We have always had an uncomfortable feeling that perhaps the reason we have never learned to play bridge is because we are—well, not so brilliant intellectually as we should like to be. But now our self-esteem is restored. It isn't because we are dumb, but simply because we haven't the "scientific mind" that we don't play well, we have decided.

Two things that we can't understand—why a watch will never keep accurate time for us and why door keys that look smoothly and unlock in the same way for other people always go haywire and insist on hanging when we try to handle them.

The idea of having a matched costume is becoming a tip-toe matter, if we are to believe Paris dispatches. One ensemble costume has the skirt laced at the top with soft leather, the slit at the hem of the skirt laced in the same way, and the accompanying shoes laced up the outside to the top of the instep.

The fashion tip for the day is: tie up accessories with suggestions from the dress and coat of the costume.

At The Library

The new shelves are: "The of the Macaw" by Eugene Cunningham; Morgan Connor, a wealthy Texas ranchman and ex-soldier takes a chance along with the "Macaw" in leading an army in a small Central American country to overthrow the power of an unscrupulous president. Those who enjoy thrills and bloodshed will welcome this book. Well written with a thread of romance leading to a happy climax.

"Peace With Honor" by A. A. Milne. This argument for peace is decidedly idealistic and possibly over-simplified, but it is a logical presentation of the needlessness of war, and it places the chief responsibility on statement.

On the seven day shelf are: "Gay Life" by E. M. Delafield; "All of the spirited malice and sly wit which spiced the observations of Miss Delafield's much-beloved PROVINCIAL LADY will be found in this novel of life on the Riviera."

"True by the Sun" by Lida Larimore: A tender and moving romance with the same delightful charm that has already endeared Lyda Larimore to thousands of readers everywhere.

"My Life as an Explorer" by Sven Hedin: A thrilling account of perilous adventure and amazing escapes from death in the depths of mystic Asia.

Mysteries and detective stories: "Bred in The Bone" by Eden Phillpotts

"The Mystery of the Cape Cod Tavern" by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

"Blood on Lake Louise" by Baynard H. Kendrick

On the fourteen day shelf is "Body Beautiful" by Alfred C. Board; A simple concise and clear system of exercise and correct diet, or proper physical development.

As the season of book agents draws near the library would like to acquaint the public with the fact that they will find in the library a complete file of "SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS BULLETIN," a publication put out by the American Library Association in which almost 200 publications are reviewed—thus comprising most of those sold from door to door. "Many of these are NOT recommended. Some are. Before purchasing it would be well to consult the files of this bulletin. They are open to the public."

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

I know what a piece of folly it is to forecast the weather or to give opinion on changing seasons in this country, but I really believe winter is over: Sunday afternoon the rattlesnakes were crawling across the roads. The mesquites, which rarely get caught in a freeze, were putting on leaves. Grass and trees have put out more in the past three days than they had done altogether before that. Even the black locust trees are putting on foliage. And, to top it all, I heard a man say he killed a mosquito in his office. And, one more thing I almost forgot: Prof. Luckey has changed from his long-handled underwear.

A local man told his wife to quit feeding tramps at the back door. She replied that she got a lot of pleasure from feeding tramps, because they never complain at her cooking.

Copy of "Alimony" Bill Is Sent Texas

ALBANY, N. Y., March 26. (P).—The McNaboe bill outlawing "heart balm" suits in New York State, passed by both houses of the Legislature, may serve as a model for many other States throughout the Nation.

Senator John J. McNaboe author of the measure, revealed today that legislators from six other States, including Texas, have requested copies of the bill, indicating that they would sponsor similar measures.

Requests came from Connecticut, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Idaho also.

"It would be a good thing for this country if every State banned breach of promise, alienation of affections and seduction suits," said Senator McNaboe.

Governor Lehman is expected to act on the McNaboe bill this week. Advocates of the measure are confident he will sign.

Stories in STAMPS

The OLDEST CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT

ICELAND, that cold bleak island in the North Atlantic, stands out in history as the country with the oldest constitutional government in the world. In 1920 it celebrated the millenary, or 1000th anniversary, of the founding of the Althing, its parliament. Before 930, the island was ruled by a system of homesteads with chiefs at their heads. Disputes and uncertainty about the laws brought about the union of these homesteads.

As part of this millenary, Iceland issued a set of 15 stamps portraying incidents and scenes in the history and life of the country.

$630,210 Mailed to Aid Texas Students

AUSTIN.—Checks totaling $63,120 were mailed last week from the Texas Relief Commission to 80 Texas colleges to cover March expenses of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration's student aid program.

Number of students to benefit by the grant will not be known until the end of the month, but it is anticipated that the payroll will be approximately the same as the February list of 4,613. February expenses totaled $63,123.30.

Work of the students is divided into two classifications: intramural and extramural. Of the former, 4,296 in February, the largest portion, 1,426, were engaged in office clerical work; 76 were employed in libraries and museums; 511 were employed as laboratory assistants; 291 worked as research assistants; 194 were employed reading and grading papers; 1,158 were employed miscellaneous on campus beautification projects, improving athletic fields, tennis courts and golf courses, and other outside activities.

Extramural student employees totaled 317. Of these, 80 were employed in various capacities in municipal recreational programs; 73 gave instruction to illiterates; 71 were employed in health and welfare work; and 93 were employed on special community projects, particularly caring for the grounds of public buildings.

Farm Families Off Of General Relief

AUSTIN.—Removal of all farm families from the general relief rolls to the rural rehabilitation program was a step nearer this week as officials of the Texas Relief Commission announced that henceforth all farm families residing on farming acreage will be classed as rural rehabilitation families, and will receive aid only in the form of credit advances.

As a result, these families will come under all regulations of the rural program, and notes in favor of the rural corporation will be taken from these clients for all such subsistence or any other advances from the relief administration.

Relief officials have estimated that from 35 to 50 per cent of the state's caseload consists of rural farm families and that the general caseload will be reduced by approximately 100,000 cases when all of them have been included in the rural plan.

"We want to include all of our rural cases in the rural rehabilitation program, and we analyze the needs of the family, set up an operating budget and farming plan for a year and provide management to enable the family to maintain a sufficient income to meet the notes given for all advances made from relief funds."

Since many of the families affected by the new order are tenants located on farm plots, landlords will be required to waive claims on this year's crops before any further advances will be made by the Relief Commission. If the landlord, or other lien holder, refuses such waivers, the client family will be removed from the relief roll and the lien holder so notified in writing, according to instructions issued by the Relief Commission.

Mrs. Val M. Keating, director of social service, said national relief officials have severely criticized the state of Texas for the size of its caseload.

"The major portion of the increase has been in rural areas," she said, "and we believe that many landlords have taken advantage of the relief organization in refusing to finance tenants."

How not to LIGHT A BRIDGE TABLE

Think of trying to play bridge by the light of two candles. Yet that is the equivalent of the light in many homes — a level of illumination that is tiring to guests and makes any party dull.

For gayer, livelier parties, use more lighting. An indirect lamp provides the ideal light — shadowless and glareless — for playing bridge, and is an equally efficient light for a quiet evening of reading. See the newest styles of indirect lamps at our store.

Have you seen the new Reading and Study Lamp, scientifically designed to give proper light for reading and study? These lamps are approved by the Illuminating Engineering Society and enable you to read with a minimum of eye fatigue. The new type shade and diffusing globe provide both direct and indirect illumination, without glare.
