Big band sound at Gruver Feb. 1st

As the Sesquicentennial Band with Bonita Reimer at the piano; Wesley Jarvis, trumpet; Damon Ladd, trumpet; Bruce Collins clarinet & saxophone; Joel Lee Lackey, saxophone; Edgar Womble band leader and electric guitar; Pete Vera bass guitar; Charles Brillhart electric guitar; John Barnes guitar; Bob Barnes bass guitar; Otho Gammill mandolin; Glenn Harris fiddle; Jr. Sparks guitar; Jimmy Greene fiddle; Carl Kizzier, drums; Rhett Balzer, drums; and Janie Kunselman chairman of the pianos you could feel the excitement and we wished they would never stop as the Gruver Methodist Men's Quartet affectionately known as "Nephews of the Pioneers". Venita Womack at piano; Danny Cochran, Charlie Knight and Buddy Murrell sing "Deep in the heart of Texas."

Folks you all come when: Saturday, February 1, Where: Gruver High School Auditorium Time: 7:00 p.m. Who is Hansford's oldest Pioneer?? Be there and obtain the answer.

Of about 300 Spaniards who survived, only four lived through sickness and encounters with hostile Coastal Indians.

Alvar Nunez Cabeza de Vaca, Andres Dorantes de Carranca, Alonso del Castillo Maldonado and Dorantes' black slave, Estevancio, lived among the Texas Indians for nearly eight years.

The four, who acted as healers and medicine men, eventually made their way through Texas back to Spanish settlements on the East Coast of New Spain -- or what's now Mexico.

Ceveza do Vaca perpetuated rumors of seven cities of Gold on the frontier. New Spain Viceroy Antonio de Mendoza bought Estevancio from Dorantes and sent him as a guide for Friar Marcos de Niza, who was to search for the seven cities.

Estevancio was killed by Pueblo Indians, but Friar Marcos returned to Mexico more convinced than ever that the legendary riches did exist. To lead an expedition into the north. The Conquering army began the journey in 1540.

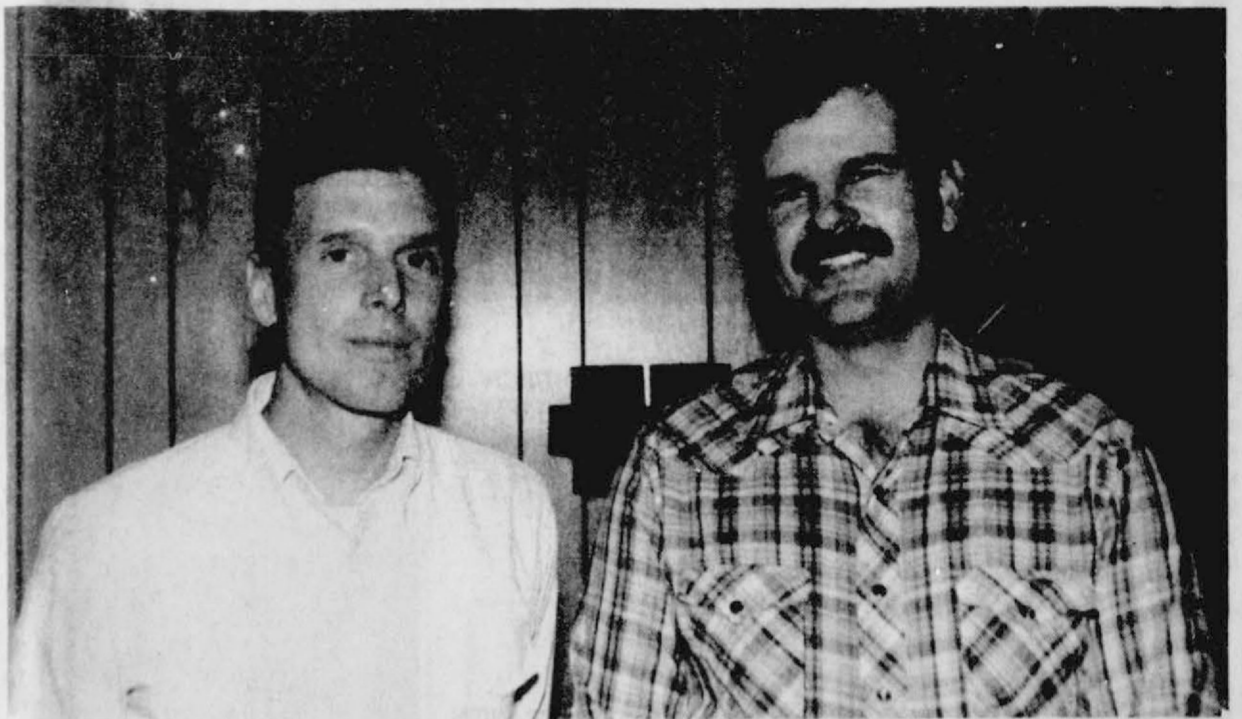

Coronado called upon the Pueblo Indians to recognize the Catholic Church. Those who resisted faced war and slavery.

Some historians believe the Pueblos conspired with Plains Indians to lead the expedition east out of Pueblo country in search of a land called Quivira.

The search moved into present-day Kansas, but no great treasures were found.

Deep in the new world, the desire to conquer took root. For over 300 years, Spanish, French and American adventurers traversed the unmapped lands of Texas searching for elusive wealth and power.

Major Borum

Mansel Bryan

Visiting in the home of Mansel and Charlene Bryan is Major and Mrs. Benton H. Borum. MAJ Borum, or Howard as his friends call him, has recently returned from a three year assignment with the Eighth U.S. Army in the Republic of Korea. While in Korea Howard commanded an assault helicopter company, was the executive officer of an assault support helicopter battalion, and was the S3, or operations and training officer, for a combat aviation group. With his most recent return to the U.S., MAJ Borum has completed four over seas assignments, two in Korea and two in the Republic of Panama. MAJ Borum has served as both an Infantry officer and as an aviation officer. During his stay He has learned a considerable amount about irrigation farming (mud from head to foot) and ranching (he rode a horse for the first time in his life last Thursday) He says it is quite a change from flying for the Army and doing the necessary paperwork to keep things functioning smoothly. He is amazed at the friendly attitude everyone here in Spearman has displayed during his visit. The Borums next assignment will be attending the Command and General staff school at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

City Sales Tax

In Hansford County, Gruver had a whopping 43.64 percent increase in sales tax the last quarter. While Spearman's was down 7.9 percent. Gruver's check totaled $2,502.17, while Spearman's check was $13,161.69.

Ochiltree County in Perryton experienced a 20.47 percent increase over the previous year in the sales tax allotment for November which was distributed a week ago Friday.

In all, Texas State Comptroller Bob Bullock sent checks totaling $53.2 million in local tax payments to the 1,017 cities that levy the 1 percent local sales tax.

Perryton's return was $42,504.77 compared to last year's $35,283.19.

Of the area towns, Pampa had the largest return of $100,309.54, though that figure was down 3 percent from the previous year.

Dumas only slightly edged out Perryton in returns with $42,520.05, which was up 28.85 percent from before.

Sunray which is also in Moore County with Dumas reported a return of $2,393.65 which is a loss of 27.04 percent.

Quote state wide payments are up 3 percent over last January's checks, "Bullock said. However, the short holiday shopping period since Thanksgiving and early cut off in processing tax returns may account for some cities showing lower payments," Bullock said.

Houston's check for $8.4 million was the largest, down three percent from last year's payment of $8.6 million. Dallas received $6.4 million, down four percent from the $6.7 million sent last year.

San Antonio's payment of $3.3 million was up eight percent from last year's $3.1 million. Austin received $2.6 million - the same amount the city received last January.

Fort Worth's check for $2.3 million was a 28 percent increase over last year's $1.8 million check. El Paso's payment was $1.3 million - a seven percent increase over the $1.2 million received last January.

Bullock also sent checks totaling $24.3 million to the state's five Metropolitan Transit Authorities.

Let The Buyer Beware

Manhattan Island is a case in point. Bought from the Indians for beads, the problem is now ours.

Its poverty and wealth, its shame and glory, its tragedy and gaiety—all are the buyer's responsibility. So we possess this great city—with no one to take its problems off our hands.

If we had it to do over, wouldn't we build our cities with more respect for spiritual values . . . more concern for each other . . . more attention to the blueprints of the Architect of life?

That's what usually happens to man. He tries his own way first.

On Manhattan Island, as in every village and city, churches have their doors open to searching souls. Now that we've tried our own way and lived with the results . . . isn't it time to try His?

Increase in whooping crane population cheers biologists

By MICHAEL L. GRACZYK
Associated Press Writer

ARANSAS NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE, Texas (AP) — U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service officials are ecstatic over the growth and survival this year of the world's largest wild flock of whooping cranes, probably the most famous of all endangered species.

Ninety-four birds made the annual 2,500-mile trip this fall from the remote Northwest Territories of Canada to their winter nesting grounds on the Texas Gulf Coast, up 10 from the number that left Texas for Canada in the spring.

"They've had about the best year ever," says Melvin Maxwell, outdoor recreation planner at the Aransas refuge, about 180 miles southwest of Houston. "All 16 chicks banded in Canada made the journey down here this year. That's really good."

"Sixteen chicks is some kind of record. If we could do that every year, we'd be doing good."

The 94 birds may not seem like a large number. But it's more than six times the low of 15 whooping cranes counted in 1941, when biologists feared the bird was on the verge of becoming extinct. After rebounding slightly in the early 1950s, the number of captive and wild birds dipped to just 23 in 1954 due to hunting, collecting of their eggs and destruction of nesting grounds for farming and other development. Six chicks hatched in 1983. Only two were hatched in 1982.

The cranes probably never have been abundant, although they have managed to survive for thousands of years, says Aransas refuge biologist Tom Stehn.

"There are fossil remains that have been found," Stehn says.

The whooping crane is the tallest bird in North America, standing as much as 6 feet tall. Its black-tipped wings over a white plumage can span 7 feet. Although the crane is majestic in flight, much of its time is spent on the ground, walking on feet the size of a human hand in search of a diet of crabs, clams, mudahrimp, frogs and crayfish. Its name comes from a distinct whooping sound.

Once a week, Stehn boards a small single-engine plane for a three-hour tour of the 55,000-acre refuge to count the cranes.

Peering through binoculars, Stehn makes his count by looking for color-coded plastic bands affixed to the cranes' legs by Canadian wildlife officials. In some previous studies, a couple of the birds — which fly in pairs or families and stake out exclusive nesting territories once they reach their destinations — have been equipped with tiny radio transmitters to monitor movements.

"Nobody knows why they always come back," he says.

The same birds stake out the same territory year after year, he says. If a particular area with a history as a crane nest is vacant, Stehn says he can only assume that something bad has happened to the bird.

The Canada-Texas crane flock is one of two remaining wild in North America. A smaller flock of about 40 birds, which migrates between Idaho in the summer and New Mexico in the winter, is part of a decade-old experiment in which biologists transfer whooping crane eggs to the nests of more numerous sandhill cranes for hatching.

The cranes are the chief source of interest for some 60,000 to 70,000 people who visit the Aransas refuge each year, most of them arriving between October and April in hopes of getting a glimpse of the whoopers, according to Frank Johnson, manager of the refuge. The refuge boasts of 340 species of birds, making it the nation's most abundant.

An observation deck equipped with powerful telescopes is available for visitors to scan for cranes and other wildlife that call home the vast marshland bordering San Antonio Bay off the Gulf of Mexico.

"I can't tell the difference between an egret and a crane," said Richard Lockhart of Buckingham, W.Va., who was looking through the telescopes recently with his wife, Neva. "But it was worth the trip. This is pretty, real pretty."

Dear Editor:

I thought you might like to read this. I have seen these cranes three or four times when I happened to be staying at, or near Aransas Pass and had my boat with me. The first time I was there I think there were 17 adults. Col. Billy Jarvis. Editors note: Billy Jarvis lives Southwest of Spearman, and was a former Lynx coach.

A. In 1984, every department of education in the U.S. assisted the IRS in expanding the Understanding Taxes program by supporting a project to develop six 15-minute video programs called "Tax Whys: Understanding Taxes". All states have master copies of the series and many plan to make the video programs available to their high school system beginning in the 1985/1986 school year.

Older taxpayers can get tax assistance through this program. Check with the IRS for a location near you.
A public service message from the IRS

Tax Counseling for Elderly Meets Special Taxpayer Needs

Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE) is a program coordinated by the Internal Revenue Service through which non-profit organizations provide free tax information and assistance to individuals age 60 and over.

Volunteers are specially trained by IRS to help older Americans with the tax credit for the elderly, the double personal exemption, the special treatment of the gain on the sale of a home by an elderly person, the proper method of reporting pension income and paying tax on it when necessary, and other subjects of special interest and concern. These volunteers will also help taxpayers fill out their tax returns.

TCE is provided in neighborhood areas, which makes getting needed help easier and more convenient. Taxpayers age 60 or over who require assistance should call the IRS tax information number listed in local telephone directories for locations in their area.

Our American Heritage

What many forget about America these days is that this nation was originally founded by individuals with strong religious faith and a similar determination to enjoy the freedom to worship as they pleased.

The predominating early American heritage, then, was one of religious faith combined with hard work by people with enough initiative to emigrate to a new country to escape discrimination, or persecution.

That spirit has lasted to this day in many parts of America. And, of course, the heritage was not without shortcomings. The Puritan influence in New England was good in ways but narrow-minded and itself at times persecutive. But, overall, that spirit built the greatest industrial nation in the world and the world's leading Democratic society.

In more recent decades more stress has been laid on individual license to do almost anything, and on permissiveness of society in general to allow individuals to do almost anything, than on the old-time faith-moral standards-hard work ethic.

Where to draw the line is today the constant business of the courts, and public officials, in some cases.

ALDERMAN SEEKS RE-ELECTION

This is my announcement that I will be a candidate for City Alderman in the April City Elections. It had been my intention not to seek re-election this year, but the uncertainty about the future of small cities from the effects of the Graham-Rudman Bill, and other events that will effect the future of our City caused me to decide to seek election for another term. It has been my pleasure and good fortune to serve as one of your Alderman for the past six years. I will appreciate your support and vote in the April election.
