

Senate Fight Underway On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON, May 26, (AP)—Sen. Connally (D-Tex) told the Senate today in advocating approval of a $6,900,000,000 foreign aid bill that "a policy of timidity is a prelude to disaster."

As chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Connally said the mutual security measure is probably the last major legislation he will pilot through the Senate before he retires next January.

The Texas Senator argued in a prepared Senate address against any further cuts in the authorization measure, trimmed by his committee one billion dollars below President Truman's requests. The House has approved a $6,162,000,000 ceiling.

Before Connally spoke, Sen. George (D-Ga.) told a reporter he will stick by the one billion reduction made by the committee on his motion, although he said he did not believe a cut to the House figure would damage the program much.

HST May Toss Steel Tangle To Congress

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman today was reported considering a new move to toss the tangled steel controversy into the lap of Congress if his seizure of the industry is ruled illegal.

The Supreme Court's decision in the historic case may be handed down today.

The nine justices gather for a regular opinion session but there was no way of telling beforehand whether they were ready to announce their decision in the case. They will have another opinion day next Monday, the last scheduled before the court's summer recess.

Philip Murray's CIO steelworkers have expressed impatience at not getting a pay raise since their contracts expired last Jan. 1, and the union has plainly indicated it will launch a new industry-wide strike if government operation of the mills is ended by the high court.

The strategy Truman plans if the seizure is knocked out and a strike develops is said to be to continue to steer clear of using the Taft-Hartley Act's emergency provisions and again appeal to Congress—as he has done twice before—for legislation dealing with the situation.

A well-informed administration source told this reporter no final decision has been made but the new congressional appeal probably will be the course taken if the court's ruling goes against the President.

In his appeals on April 9 and again on April 21 for Congress to pass new legislation to help deal with the problem, Truman offered no specific suggestions of just what he had in mind. He may do that next time.

Under Taft-Hartley, the President could name a fact-finding board to survey the situation. The law says this board must convene, hold hearings and submit a formal report to the White House that an emergency exists — all before the President may seek an 80-day court injunction against a continued strike.

A new appeal to Congress reportedly would claim that this process would take a minimum of a week or 10 days and the country and its defense program cannot stand a halt in steel production for that length of time.

In addition, Truman would undoubtedly renew his contention that Murray's union has waited considerably longer than the T-H law's 80-day "cooling off" period would require under an injunction.

Forces Won't Use Mt. Fuji Summit

TOKYO (AP)—The United States assured the Japanese government today American soldiers will not use the summit of sacred Mt. Fuji for military purposes.

The statement was made at a meeting of the U.S.-Japan Security Pact Implementation Committee. The newspaper Asahi reported yesterday that Americans wanted their drill ground on the north-eastern slopes of Fuji to include the summit, with Japanese climbers barred.

Western Union Forces Flocking Back To Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 53-day Western Union strike ended today as workers flocked back to telegraph offices across the nation.

Union and company officials expected the flow of messages to return to normal quickly.

The official end of the strike came at 12:01 a.m., local time, after the AFL Commercial Telegraphers Union announced that its Western Union membership had voted 8,665 to 5,468 to accept a strike settlement.

Pay raises or reduction of working hours provided for under the ratified agreement are dependent on government permission for Western Union to raise its rates.

Union officials said they understood the company may ask the Federal Communications Commission for rate hikes of 10 per cent. Western Union officials have not said how much of a boost in rates they need to meet the proposed pay increases.

The union agreed to support Western Union's application for higher rates.

The union said the new agreement would raise the average workers earnings to $1.54 an hour, except for messengers. Messengers would get an average of 83 cents an hour.

The company said the agreement would raise the average pay of all its employees to $1.73 an hour.

Just how much the strike closed down Western Union operations was not clear. The company kept open most of its offices, with services restricted according to each local strike situation. It claimed that a number of the 30,000 striking employees had gone back to work during the 53 days but the union disputed this.

Western Union offices were picketed until the results of the vote on the settlement were conclusive. The agreement — worked out with federal mediators — was submitted to the various locals May 23 for week-end voting.

Under the agreement, workers who have been on a 45-hour, 20-minute work week with 48-hour pay would get no pay raise but would receive the same weekly pay for 40 hours a week. This covers about half the employees.

Workers already on a 40-hour week would be raised $22 a month. Bicycle messengers would get 5¢ a week. A few workers on a 35-hour week would get a 10-cent hourly cents more an hour.

The union agreed to modify its union shop contract under which all workers contract under which all workers would have to join the union. Under the agreement, the workers would not have to pay union dues as a service charge for the union representing them in negotiations with the employer.

J. L. Wilcox, Western Union vice president in charge of employee relations, issued a statement in Newark, N.J., saying the company was gratified at union acceptance of the agreement. He said Western Union would now concentrate "on proving the public with even better telegraph service than in the past."

Truck Mystery Is Cleared Up

CONROE, May 26 (AP)—Mystery of a missing transport truck was partially cleared today when highway patrolmen found the truck here.

Whereabouts of the driver, known only as "Cunningham," remained unknown.

The Cactus Transport Co., Sweeney, Tex., said the transport left there Tuesday morning for a local distributor at Lufkin. The truck was loaded with 6,000 gallons of gasoline.

Both truck and driver disappeared. The firm said only the last name of the driver—Cunningham—was known at Sweeney.

A Lufkin distributor, consignee of the gasoline, said the truck was found in Conroe with tank seals on the load intact.

Seniors Are Warned Against Fatalism

Seniors were warned against succumbing to fatalism here Sunday evening.

Addressing the graduating class of approximately 140 members, the Rev. Maple Avery, East Fourth Baptist pastor, reminded the graduates that in many realms they would raise the personal question of "What's the use?"

Life is a real and earnest process that goes on continually and the individual cannot await a convenient time for coming to grips with it. The only happy and enduring solution of problems which cause the question of "what's the use" to be raised are those which are based upon Morality and Godliness, he said.

The senior high school auditorium was filled to overflowing by the crowd witnessing the initial baccalaureate in H. Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. The seniors will be graduated when Dr. Blake R. Van Leer, president of Georgia Tech and a graduate of Big Spring High School, deliver the address. This event will climax a round of activities which have commemorated the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Big Spring Independent School District.

At 8:30 p.m. today in the senior high auditorium, 210 junior high pupils will be promoted into the senior high school. J. Gordon (Obie) Bristow is to be the featured speaker.

The pupils will be welcomed into high school by Jeff Hanna, president of the student body. Class speaker for the girls is Shirley Ward and for the boys Glenn Rogers.

James T. Johnson, principal, will certify the members for graduation; John A. Freeman, assistant principal, will introduce the graduates; and Dr. J. E. Hogan and H. W. Smith, board members who have children in the class, will present the diplomas.

Special awards will be presented by Johnson. The professional will be played by Marie Hall and the recessional by Nancy Pthman. Invocation will be by the Rev. E. K. Cornell and the benediction by the Rev. George R. Harrington. W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, will preside.

SAUCERS ARE NOW SQUARE

TYLER, May 26 (AP)—Tyler today probably became the first city in the nation to report square flying saucers.

Turning in the report were Mrs. Mike O'Byrne and Mrs. O. B. Sanders, who reported seeing three of the new-model saucers flying northwest about 10:30 a.m. (CST) today.

One of the square saucers, according to the two women, seemed to fall northwest of the city. The others gained altitude and faded from sight. Mrs. O'Byrne said she first saw the square saucers and then called them to Mrs. Sanders' attention. Both women were working their yards.

Mrs. O'Byrne said the squares appeared to be too small for passengers. She said she couldn't estimate how high in the sky they were. They were not flying in formation nor did they give off any noise, the women agreed.

Red Assault Thrown Back

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—United Nations troops today threw back a change-of-pace assault by two reinforced Chinese companies on the Korean Western Front. The U.S. Eighth Army said they killed or wounded more than 100 attacking Reds in a furious five-hour fight.

It was the first time in weeks that the Reds had struck in greater than platoon strength. A Chinese company normally contains about 150 men.

Shortly after midnight, the Reds drove on an advance U.N. position West of Chorwon from two sides. Allied reinforcements were stopped twice by the flanking Reds but finally smashed to the outpost.

U.N. artillery and mortar fire kept the Reds from overrunning the outpost until help arrived.

The Army said the Reds left behind 27 dead and lost an estimated 45 additional killed and 40 wounded.

Patrol contacts up to four hours and 20 minutes in length and light Communist probes were reported from other sectors.

U.S. jet pilots reported they shot down four Communist MIG-15 jets Sunday and damaged another.

Far East Air Forces said its warplanes cut North Korean rail road tracks in 145 places and destroyed 160 Communist vehicles.

Dickson-Shivers Row Due To Reach Climax Tuesday

By DAVE CHEAVENS SAN ANTONIO, May 26 (AP)—Tough talk from leaders of rival conservative and liberal factions apparently set the pattern for two days of Democratic meetings here.

Loyal Democrat Chieftan Fagan Dickson started the name calling by saying Gov. Shivers plans a doublecross, that he is a "Democrat in Washington and Dixiecrat in Texas."

Shivers snapped back that Dickson "must have been smoking marijuana or something," that he is a publicity seeker, always dreaming up something. Shivers said he would sacrifice no principle to halt the Loyalist bolt or to guarantee seating of his delegation to the national convention at Chicago.

This exchange came on the eve of today's state Executive Committee meeting. The state convention, with a bolt by the Loyalists regarded as a sure thing, starts Tuesday at Municipal Auditorium.

Principal business before the Executive Committee was settlement of rival claims by 25 county delegations. The Loyalists held ramp conventions in those counties and are seeking recognition over the conservatives.

Reports Shivers had made a deal with national party leaders on his recent trip to Washington actually touched off Dickson's charges and the governor's reply.

One of these reports was that Shivers planned to offer the state convention a resolution giving ground of some kind to the national party's leadership to make sure his delegation, rather than that of the Loyalists, would be seated at Chicago. Another was that he would help Speaker Sam Rayburn at the proper time if it appears Rayburn has a chance to win the nomination.

Shivers answered a reporter's question about possible support for Rayburn by saying he understood the speaker was not a candidate. On the question of other compromise to the national party, he said flatly he would sacrifice no principles to achieve that end.

"I have every right to believe we will be seated at Chicago, unpledged, uncommitted and unaligned, because we represent the majority of Texas Democrats," the governor said.

Jet Production Lagging Behind

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—John D. Small, chairman of the Munitions Board, told Congress today "we are still far behind" Russia in current warplane production, particularly jets.

He said that even so, plane deliveries in 1953 and early 1954 will have to be cut back if Congress sticks to a House-approved ceiling of 46 billion dollars on Armed Forces spending in the fiscal year starting July 1.

And those years, Small added, appear to be "a very perilous period as we look ahead."

Small testified before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee. It was one of two Senate groups which were inquiring simultaneously into the air power situation. A Senate Appropriations Subcommittee had Air Secretary Finletter before it behind closed doors.

The Preparedness Committee's hearing also was closed to the public but Small sent newsmen a copy of a prepared statement he read to the group.

Historic Peace Contract Signed By Four Nations

KOREAN TRUCE DELEGATES RETURN FOR ANOTHER TRY TOMORROW

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—United Nations truce delegates return to Panmunjom tomorrow to learn if a three-day cooling off recess has cracked the Communist stand on armistice in Korea.

The explosive issue alone blocks an armistice in Korea.

The Communist demand all their captured soldiers back—at the point of a bayonet if necessary.

But the U. N. Command has been equally firm. It says no prisoner will be forcibly returned to the Reds. An Allied screening showed only 70,000 of 160,000 Red POWs and internees want to go back to Communist areas.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, new senior Allied delegate, said the Reds still may be determined "to delay or reject an armistice."

In an interview Sunday, Harrison observed: "If the Communists are going to concede, we won't know it until the day it happens. Up to the last minute, they will keep trying to make us give in."

Harrison said he is convinced the Reds and Pusan POW riots were not "spontaneous or the result of local conditions but rather were craftily designed by the Communists." The purpose of the Red riots, he explained, was "to embarrass the U. N. Command . . . and to attempt to divert world attention from the inescapable fact that thousands of former vanals just refuse point-blank to return to their Communist masters . . ."

"We are not going to Panmunjom to barter cattle for swine but to safeguard the rights and personal dignity of individual human beings."

September Fights Reported At Koje

By WILLIAM JORDEN

KOJE ISLAND, Korea, May 26 (AP)—Informed sources said today Communist and anti-Red prisoners of war battled each other for control of barbed wire POW enclosures for five riotous days in what Koje veterans call "bloody September."

The five-day struggle—not yet officially announced—caused 100 POW casualties, including 15 killed by prisoners. United Nations guards wounded 14 with gunfire and 22 with bayonets, quelling the riots.

Bloody September was commemorated from Sept. 18 to the night of the 20th. Veterans say savage fighting erupted inside the compounds for control of the prisoners.

U.N. hospital officials say Red POWs treat each other with such barbarity that they have killed more prisoners than have Allied guards in suppressing three POW riots announced this year.

Camp officials concede they do not have control inside the barbed wire enclosures. Red leaders have organized prisoners into a crude but disciplined army, equipped with stones, clubs and weapons fashioned from cans and metal bars. They also have pistols and rifles seized from guards in riots or bought from civilians.

At least 115 prisoners have died from brutal beatings, hangings or torture in clashes between die-hard Communists and anti-Communists within the barbed wire enclosures, hospital records show.

Guards suppressing three riots in the U. N. POW camp killed 97. Lt. Col. S. M. Gelenger, Flint Mich., head of the hospital, said bodies of prisoners slain within the compounds often are not recovered for days.

Hospital records give many instances of brutality by the POWs. One prisoner found dead had been buried alive.

Brig. Gen. Hayden L. Boatner said the POWs could have captured the island about two weeks ago had they wanted to. They still are forging weapons but the time has passed when the Reds could gain control outside their compounds, he said.

The court will meet again next Monday and perhaps the following Monday as well in an effort to clear its docket. It originally had planned to recess for the summer next week.

The Court ruled unanimously today that movies are entitled to the constitutional guarantees of free speech and free press.

But at the same time, the high tribunal struck down the action of New York state in barring Roberto Rosellini's "The Miracle" on the sole grounds that it was sacrilegious.

Justice Clark, writing the Court's main opinion, said: "In seeking to apply the broad and all-inclusive definition of 'sacrilegious' given by the New York courts, the censor is set adrift upon a boundless sea amid a myriad of conflicting currents of religious views, with no charts but those provided by the most local and powerful orthodoxies. New York cannot vest such unlimited restraining control over motion pictures in a censor."

Clark said that since the term "sacrilegious" was the sole standard under attack in the case, it was not necessary for the Court to decide now whether a state may censor motion pictures "under a clearly-drawn statute."

The Court today upheld transit radio broadcasts.

By a 7-1 vote, the high tribunal decided radio broadcasts on buses and street cars do not violate the constitutional rights of passengers.

The decision involved broadcasts heard here on street cars and buses of the Capital Transit Co. The dispute attracted wide attention, however, because at least 10 other cities have radio broadcasting on public vehicles.

Silent Germans Stand In Rain By Building

Pact Hailed As Work To Preserve Freedom Of World

By RICHARD KASISCHKE BONN, Germany (AP)—The Allied-West German peace contract to ally West Germany with the free world was ceremoniously signed here today by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France.

As a silent crowd of several hundred Germans stood roped off in the rain outside the West German Parliament Building, the four men put their pens to the historic pact in the Bundestag, the chamber of the upper house. About 500 spectators watched inside the room.

The peace contract, which faces high parliamentary hurdles before ratification can make it effective, gives West Germany near sovereignty in exchange for German troops in the projected European army.

Adenauer and the three Western ministers—Dean Acheson of the U.S., Anthony Eden of Britain and Robert Schuman of France—spoke briefly before they signed.

The Chancellor hailed the peace contract as a work which will "help preserve the peace and freedom of the whole world" but "only a part of a work which will be completed tomorrow in Paris when we sign the European Defense Community treaty."

"The completed work will secure peace and freedom for Germany," he continued. "And here today we Germans also think of our brothers in the East (Soviet zone). We send them our greetings and our deepest assurances that this work is the first step toward the reunification of all Germany in peace and freedom."

Across the Iron Curtain, Pravda, the Moscow mouthpiece of East Germany's Russian Communist controllers, saluted the pact with another blast at the "foul, anti-national policy of the Bonn government of Adenauer which is trying to transform the Germans into cannon fodder for the American imperialists."

Eden was the first to sign the contract, followed by Schuman and Acheson. Last came Adenauer, the 76-year-old Chancellor-foreign minister who through eight months of negotiations has fought to regain his vanquished country's place in Europe and to align it with the Western world.

The four ministers completed the contract yesterday after long hours of negotiations to overcome 11th-hour French objections.

In doing so they ignored a new Russian demand yesterday — the third in three months — for a four-power conference to write a peace treaty for a united and

Ike Delegates Declare No Intentions To Bolt Meet

By MARTHA COLE

MINERAL WELLS, May 26 (AP)—Texas Republicans took their Taft-Eisenhower feud before their state Executive Committee today, still throwing rocks at each other.

Eisenhower faction members said they definitely would bolt tomorrow's state convention if the committee "runs rough-shod" over their claims to contested delegations and if the state convention upholds the committee.

The Taft camp retorted with a charge that the Eisenhower supporters were Democrats who had switched to vote for the general and their majorities should not be recognized.

They are non-Republicans according to the interpretation of state law, charged Mervyn McLean, San Antonio oilman who is a member of the GOP national Finance Committee.

McLean said that according to his interpretation of the state law, a member of the political party is one who has previously voted. "How can these tens of thousands of former Democrats and former independents, as numbered by Alvin Lane—the Eisenhower leader—qualify as voters of the Republican Party when they had never voted Republican before?" he asked.

McLean's charge was in answer to one made by Hugh Roy Cullen, Houston oilman, Saturday.

Cullen sent a telegram to Taft asking him to prevent any "steamroller tactics" by his supporters at the convention. Cullen said he did not wish to see the will of the majority thwarted.

The committee has the task of settling 31 contested delegations before it makes up the temporary roll of the state convention.

Eisenhower supporters claim they had clear majorities in the counties where contests developed and in such cases the Ike forces should be seated.

Control of the state convention and of the naming of Texas' 38 delegates to the national GOP convention hinges on settlement of these contests.

Scene Of Fatal Mishap

Two persons were injured fatally when this station wagon turned over at a detour curve south of Colorado City Saturday afternoon. The curve has been the site of several mishaps since the detour was opened several weeks ago.

Two Die Of Injuries In Wreck At C-City

COLORADO CITY—Two persons were injured fatally Saturday afternoon when the car in which they were passengers overturned on a detour curve a mile south of here. Mrs. David Hinds, 21, died at 2 a. m. Sunday in the hospital here. A. C. Jones, 21, Brownfield, died at 3 a. m. Monday.

Both received their injuries when the car, which Jones was driving, overturned 1 mile south of Colorado City at a curve on the Highway 80 detour. The turn is unbanked and has been the scene of several accidents, since opened to traffic. In the car but unhurt were David Hinds, and Howard Stafford, 22, the owner of the car. Stafford and Jones were students at Texas Western College in El Paso and were enroute to Stafford's home in Coleman on a visit. They had given Mr. and Mrs. Hinds a ride and planned to carry them as far as Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Jones, Brownfield, were at the bedside of their son, and Mrs. Jones collapsed temporarily from shock at Root Hospital. Jones is with the Magnolia Pipeline Company at Brownfield. The body will be taken to Electrica for services. Besides the parents, survivors include two brothers, Don 17, and D. L. Jones Jr., 12.

Most Of Texas Is Clear Today

By The Associated Press
A morning thunder shower greeted El Pasos today but elsewhere over most of the state, dawn broke bright and clear.

El Paso's rainstorm was a forerunner of widely scattered thunder showers forecast for all Texas except the extreme east portion. The only rain reported for the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a. m. was .65 inch at Galveston. Yesterday's report gave Brownsville 1.21 and Laredo .41 inches. Dawn temperatures ranged from 53 at Dalhart to 73 at Brownsville and Laredo.

The Weather Bureau said some dust might blow in West Texas this afternoon.

South Texas Chamber Votes On Amendment

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 26 (U)—Directors of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce were to vote here this afternoon on an amendment to their constitution and on new officers. The amendment was adopted yesterday by the Executive Committee.

The amendment provides for election of not more than 14 honorary life directors. Ten are to be proposed for the honor today. "The policy of South Texas Chamber of Commerce shall be to promote general welfare of the people and stimulate private business in South Texas," the proposal states.

Seven objectives were set down as means to that end. Most important single function shall be to prepare in 1952 to resist any general new state taxes when the Legislature convenes in 1952. The STCC will advocate retention and enforcement of present state labor laws; will advocate a state advertising program to attract new industries; water will be given precedence over other natural resources as a major activity of the organization this year, while continuing a policy of orderly development and reasonable conservation of natural resources.

It is proposed that an investigation be made to determine whether heavy expenditures attached to the proposed state highway improvement program is justified.

The normal differences in length of life between different kinds of animals as well as those between different individuals are believed to be inherited.

Inquest Is Held In Boerne Death

SAN ANTONIO, May 26 (U)—Justice of the Peace Carl Chamberlain was conducting an inquest today at Boerne in the death of Alfredo Lopez, 26, Kerrville resident who was found dead beneath the Comfort Bridge last night.

Chamberlain said he is certain the body fell from the bridge. The coroner hinted it was possible Lopez met with foul play.

Lopez had been missing more than a week—ever since he had gone to a dance at Waring, Tex., May 17. His body was discovered by an uncle, Aurelio Lopez, who had been searching for him.

Smithwick Letters Revive Speculation

By The Associated Press
The ghost of old Sam Smithwick, cow country deputy sheriff who died with a noose around his neck, stalked the Texas scene again today.

Somewhere the thief who stole election records from Precinct 13 in Jim Wells County after the 1948 senatorial election squirmed uncomfortably. Smithwick, convicted of the murder of a crusading, sensation-hunting radio commentator, wrote at least two letters before he died in the Texas penitentiary at Huntsville.

One of them was to former Governor Coke R. Stevenson of Kimble County, losing candidate in the election. Made public in a copyrighted story in the Dallas Morning News late Saturday night, the letter told Stevenson that Smithwick had made arrests in the theft of the box and believed he could direct the former governor to its hiding place.

Last night, the newspaper disclosed that Ranger Capt. Alfred Allee, one of two Texas Rangers investigating the letters, had uncovered the second Smithwick epistle.

The News said the letter gave more detail than the one written Stevenson and gave corroborative statements about what happened to the returns from Box 13.

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson won the Democratic primary by 87 votes with 968,295 cast in the close election. Stevenson claimed 202 votes from Precinct 13 were added irregularly.

The key to the controversy is the missing poll lists. All three disappeared in 1948, their whereabouts a mystery since. Although it would have no effect on the disputed primary, the story of the 202 disputed votes could be told, if the lists were available.

A federal court commissioner, appointed by Federal District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, tried to find them in 1948. But the search came to an abortive end when Associate Justice Hugo Black of the U. S. Supreme Court told Judge Davidson that he had no right to probe into the Texas primary.

But some light may have been shed on the mystery by the letters written by Smithwick, the big Latin-Irish-American who died in his prison cell. Officials said he died a suicide. Don Reid, Huntsville newspaperman, said some guards and prisoners at the penitentiary had talked of the possibility that Smithwick may have been a murder victim himself.

The former cowboy was found hanged in his cell April 15 before Stevenson, delayed on his ranch near Junction, could talk with him. Smithwick was serving a life sentence for the murder of W. H. (Bill) Mason, Allee radio man.

Senator Johnson yesterday called disclosure of the letter to Stevenson "a continuation of a fight by a group of disgruntled, disappointed people."

Johnson said, "The Dallas News has not been friendly or objective in relation to me. I don't know what a convicted murderer might have done prior to committing suicide in an attempt to get released from prison."

Three persons were named by Smithwick in the letter to Stevenson as having had a part in the election box matter. He said he arrested two of them five days before the shooting and had taken from them a ballot box. It had been given to the pair, Smithwick's letter said, by a third person who had stolen it.

Sam Smithwick Jr., son of the dead deputy sheriff, received a letter from his father a few days before his death. He asked Sam Jr. to visit him. On the visit, the son said his father gave no hint of suicide but told him of writing a letter to Stevenson without divulging its content.

Luis Salas, Precinct 13 election judge, officially possessed one copy of the missing poll lists. He testified before the federal commissioner appointed by Judge Davidson that he borrowed the copy officially held by B. F. (Tom) Donald, then secretary of the Jim Wells County Democratic committee.

Salas said both his and McDonald's copy were stolen from the back of the Salas automobile.

The third copy, by law, should have been in Box 13.

But when the box labeled 13 was opened, it was empty.

Finally Salas identified in one of the other boxes ordered opened by the commissioner some ballots he had signed as cast from Precinct 13. But this box contained no tally sheets, no poll list, no returns.

Yesterday, C. H. (Hap) Holmgren, Jim Wells County clerk now and in 1948, said, "I am not surprised at the news of Smithwick's letter to Stevenson." He would not elaborate on the statement, but added:

"The ballot box turned in to the county clerk's office as Box 13 was destroyed as law prescribes. "Deputies at the time turned over to the county clerk some 10 days or two weeks after the election various ballot boxes used in the election.

"Those boxes had been held in the county jail since the election."

George B. Parr, Duval County sheriff and reputed long-time political boss in South Texas, said he had "no comment to make." "I know nothing about it, consequently I have nothing to say," Parr added.

District Judge Sam H. Reams, in 1948 Parr's political friend but now his arch enemy, said he had no comment. Reams would not allow even a quotation of his no-comment statement.

Salas, the Box 13 judge in 1948, would make no comment.

Allen Taylor Brown, returned here by the sheriff's department from Oklahoma City, has made a statement in which he admitted a car theft at Midland in addition to the one for which he is charged here.

Sheriff Jake Bruton said that Brown also told about several burglaries, none of them in Howard County in making the statement. He is to be taken to Sweetwater for grand jury action on a burglary case before coming back here.

SEEK CHANGE FOR PRAYER

NEW YORK, May 26 (U)—A move to get Protestant churches to change part of the wording of the Lord's Prayer was initiated today.

The plan, approved after keen debate at the 164th annual general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the USA, would replace the word, "debts" or "trespasses" in the prayer, with the word, "sins."

The Rev. Alexander Mackie, Philadelphia, vigorously opposed the move. "Why this silly tampering with the Lord's Prayer?" he demanded. "Hasn't the general assembly anything more important to consider?"

"As a Republican I consider it a serious invasion of private rights to tell me how to pray."

Pioneer's New Plane Makes Courtesy Trips

Pioneer Air Lines new Pacemaker liner did yeoman service here Sunday afternoon.

After being on static display for most of an hour, the big twin-engine, 36-passenger ship made three flights over the city and surrounding area. Billy H. Watson, station manager for Pioneer, said that, counting small children, upward of 115 people had an experience in feeling how the craft rode.

For many it was an initial flight, and a memorable one. Most passengers were not only impressed by the roominess of the craft, but they were amazed at the reserve of power its motors carried. After takeoff the ship would rise in a climb that seemed steeper than 45 degrees. At any rate, it was a new thrill in getting up into the blue yonder more quickly than before.

The larger windows made sight-seeing easier. Despite bumpy weather, the ship rode with comparative ease.

After they rode, many people stayed around to watch the new liner, which goes into service on a system-wide basis next month, taxi in and take off.

The ship made visits also to Sweetwater and Abilene during the afternoon.

PINK AND WHITE RING COOKIES
Ingredients: 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1/2 cup nonfat dry milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 3/4 teaspoon almond flavoring, 1 tablespoon water, 8 to 10 drops red food coloring.

Method: Sift together flour, nonfat dry milk, baking powder, and salt. Cream shortening and sugar. Beat in egg well with almond flavoring and water. With mixing spoon blend in flour mixture; dough may be stiff to blend. Divide in half. Blend red food coloring into one half dough. Wrap each half separately in waxed paper and put in refrigerator for at least 1/2 hour or until firm enough to roll. Roll out each half between two sheets of waxed paper into about 9 by 15-inch oblong. Remove top sheets of waxed paper from both oblongs. Place pink layer of dough, top side down, on white layer; remove sheet of waxed paper now on top. Cut layers in half lengthwise. Roll each half lengthwise in jellyroll fashion, making each roll about 1 1/2 inches in diameter; remove waxed paper while rolling. Chill at least 15 minutes or until firm enough to slice easily. Cut each roll into about 1/4-inch slices. Place on ungreased baking sheet about 1 inch apart; bake in moderate (375F.) oven until edges are delicately browned, about 10 minutes. Remove at once to rack to cool. Makes about 8 dozen cookies.

REPORT TO PARENTS

Children Often Happier Living In Foster Homes

Chief, Children's Bureau, Federal Security Agency

"Come here, Jimmy and let me help you with that button."

The plump, smiling woman leaned down to the small boy who had been fumbling at the job of buttoning his shirt.

When he had finished dressing, he sat down to breakfast with the family. The father was having his second cup of coffee and glancing at the morning paper before starting out to work, but he had time for a friendly joke with the small boy. Also at the table were two other children, older than Jimmy, who were getting ready for school.

A typical American home? Not exactly, because the mother of the family who helped Jimmy with his dressing problem is not his own mother, but his foster mother. None of the members of the household are his blood kin, but they are all his foster kin toward which, for the time being, he has a warm "belonging" feeling.

Jimmy is typical of the 175,000 children who live in foster homes in this nation today. A very small percentage of these children are full orphans. Most of them come from homes broken by separation, desertion or divorce. The alternative to foster home care for such children as these is placement in an institution.

Experience has shown that many children, particularly young children, can grow up more normally and happily in a foster family home than in an institution.

Recently, at the direction of its legislature, the State of Michigan undertook a study to find out whether all the children who need care away from their own homes were receiving it. They found that there were not less than 3,000 and 4,000 children in need of some type of foster care which is not now available to them.

As a result of the study, a number of recommendations have been made which should lead to strengthening the foster care program which is carried on in the Wolverine State.

Nationally, the contribution of foster parents was recognized last year when the Commissioner of Internal Revenue ruled that foster parents who receive payments from licensed child-placing agencies for expenses incurred in giving boarding home care to children need not include such sums as part of their gross income.

Foster family care is useful for children whose parents are physically or mentally ill. It is also useful where there is a severe marital

Special Home Economics Course To Be Taught At GC

GARDEN CITY, (Sp)—A special course in homemaking is being offered this summer at Garden City under the direction of Doris Jean Morehead, homemaking teacher.

There will be a variety of projects from which to choose, including care and guidance of children, consumer buying, family and social relationships, health and home care of the sick, home improvement, home management, home and personal finance, laundering, personal care and improvement, provision of food for the family, and selection, care, construction, and renovation of clothing; and many more that will better acquaint the girls with homemaking.

Girls finishing the course will have earned one-half credit toward graduation. Time spent on the course will be the equivalent to the time spent in a regular semester of class room work, which is approximately 100 hours.

There will be some group meetings for the class during the summer and each girl will be expected to attend a part of these group meetings. The meetings will be planned to meet the needs and requirements of the girls participating; and Miss Morehead is also planning a program that will be entertaining as well as beneficial.

Each girl will have three or four weeks to work on her home project under the supervision of her teacher. However, if the work is not finished in that time she will have until Aug. 25 to finish it with the latter part of the work being done under the supervision of members of her family.

The course will start with a group meeting at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the school. Each girl is to bring a sack lunch.

Miss Morehead has been head of the Garden City home economics department for the past two years. She is attempting to extend the requirements of the girls and to add extra curriculum work for a more rounded homemaking program.

Born and reared in Big Spring, she is a graduate of Big Spring High School and received her degree in homemaking from Mary Hardin-Baylor College.

Doctrine Of Inherent Power Of Presidency Is Advanced Again

The nation has hardly been aware that the railroads have been under government "operation" since 1950. They were seized then to prevent a strike and consequent paralysis of the nation's prime transportation facility.

That strike was settled Wednesday night with an agreement between labor and management, on terms satisfactory to both. Because there had been no interruption of service, and the government "seizure" had been hardly more than a paper formality, the general public had forgotten the original quarrel and was therefore surprised at the settlement.

The roads were seized under a special law enacted by Congress in 1916 giving the Chief Executive authority to seize the roads to prevent a paralyzing strike harmful to the general welfare. That same law also confers seizure power upon the President in the case of strikes affecting some other forms of communication.

While the Railroad Labor Act has been effective in preventing or ending strikes, it failed for nearly three years to bring about an agreement between labor and management in this particular case.

In his press conference last week, President Truman said he had been trying to get laws out of Congress ever since he has been in the White House to bring about settlement of labor disputes.

He also reiterated his claim that the Chief Executive has inherent powers to seize private industries to prevent harmful strikes, and nobody can take these powers away from him. However, he added, he would abide by the Supreme Court's decision in the steel dispute, in which a lower court held he was without constitutional or statutory authority to take over the plants.

He said Washington, Lincoln, Hayes, Wilson as well as himself had exercised these inherent powers and nobody could take them away.

That, of course, remains to be seen—when the Supreme Court hands down an opinion in the steel case. However, even that could not prevent Mr. Truman or any future President from exercising his "inherent" powers and making it stick until the courts could act on each specific case.

Vacationers Won't Have To Go Far To Find What They Prefer

If you haven't yet completed your vacation plans you have plenty of company. Happy are those motorists who make up their minds early what to do, where to go, how to get there and back—so simply to stay at home.

The American Automobile Association estimates 72 million Americans will take vacations this year involving travel. Eighty-five percent of them, AAA figures, will do their traveling by motor, with three persons in the average car, and these millions of people will spend $10 billion of the $12 billion vacation travel budget. This figure is out at 15 percent more than was spent in 1951.

The lure of low-cost transoceanic air transportation is expected to increase the number of Americans traveling abroad by 40 percent over the last previous record, 1950, when 300,000 went overseas. Steamship companies report bookings at virtual capacity in all classes during the summer.

The poor old railroads have been taking a beating in passenger revenue losses since 1946, reaching an all-time record deficit last year of $681.5 million. However, revenue from freight reached a new peak, and more than offset the passenger fare losses.

More and more vacation traveling by air is in the cards, urged on by air-craft service and "package" deals within the U. S. or to offshore islands.

But for the overwhelming majority of the 72 million vacation travelers the old family bus will be brought into play. Most of these vacationers probably won't get beyond their own state lines, but many will burn a lot of gasoline seeking new scenery and new faces.

The average Texan can write his own ticket as to preference and not get out of the state. If he prefers the seashore, the state's 400 miles of coastline beckons. If he likes the mountains, Far West Texas, New Mexico and Colorado have the best. If he likes foreign travel, next door in Old Mexico he can find anything and everything he is looking for, at economical rates.

Merry-Go-Round—Drew Pearson

Historic Peace Could Emerge From New European Army Pact

WASHINGTON.—The pact for a European Army which the foreign ministers were to initial today is not a lengthy document. It is quite short. But behind its written pages are thousands of unwritten chapters recording the hopes of the future, the history of the past, and the burdens in the path of peace.

Historically, it marks the climax of 300 years of warfare, back and forth across the Rhine, back and forth between the French and German armies, back and forth—until the wheat fields and the forests were tangled with barbed wire and drenched with blood.

So this pact, putting the armies of two bitter enemies—France and Germany—under one flag and in one uniform, could be the most significant milestone for peace the world has ever seen. To those whose sons have gone forth to war year after year, to those who are so weary of war they are suspicious even of us, it could be the millennium.

But because it does carry the hopes of millions, and because the goals of the Kremlin do not flourish in the soil of peace, the European Army pact faces terrific hurdles. Moscow is determined that this pact never shall go into full force. So the signing marks the beginning of the greatest war of nerves since V-E day.

Even before the ceremony, Moscow has been marshaling its forces to scare Western Europe out of this momentous agreement. Here are the moves which will come to a climax in the immediate or near future:

1. General Matthew Ridgway's arrival will touch off a vociferous anti-American demonstration. He will be branded the butcher of Korea, held responsible for the highly exaggerated prisoner troubles in Korea, and accused as a user of germ warfare. Communist propaganda regarding germ warfare has been so successful that about half the people of Europe really believe it.
2. Soviet reararmament of East Germany is increasing. This is probably a psychological move made to worry the French and scare the West Germans away from the European Army pact.
3. There's been a heavy Russian build-up around Berlin. Simultaneously Communist civilians are reported planning to flock into West Berlin, stage riots, and give an excuse to Communist troops to enter the city. This time, it's reported, the Russians plan to seize both Berlin airports, thus making it impossible for us to repeat the airlift. In such event, Berlin would be starved out and have to capitulate. The alternative would be war.
4. European inflation is on the increase and is our second worst enemy. Some people claim it is even Enemy No. 1. For, with prices high and wages low, inflation makes for Communism. Communist parliament members in France and Italy are endeavoring to create as much economic instability as possible in order to increase taxation.

Inflation has brought substantial business to a standstill throughout Western Europe, and this will be increased if there is any substantial cut in U.S. aid to Europe.

5. Ratification of the United Army pact is uncertain, and will be made more so by the above events. This is Moscow's real goal—namely, to discourage, frighten, disillusion the peoples of France and Germany to such extent that their parliaments refuse to ratify the historic pact.

Above, however, is set forth the pessimistic part of the picture. Above are the hazards and pitfalls to watch.

On the other hand, it remains a fact that a pact providing for a united European army, putting French and German troops under one uniform, is being initiated. This could end 300 years of bloodshed. And this is more important than all the tricks Moscow is pulling out of the bag to block it.

Twenty-four years ago I was present in the Salon d'Horloge at the signing of the famed Kellogg-Briand pact. The August sun spread its slanting rays over the Seine, penetrated the deep-curtained windows of the Quai d'Orsay and danced among the great crystal chandeliers of Louis XVI as Europe's statesmen scratched their names on the parchment outlawing war supposedly forever.

At that ceremony were such idealistic statesmen as Dr. Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia, whose heart was broken by the Communists, Gustav Stresemann of Germany, who did his best to oppose Hitler, and Aristide Briand of France, who strove for better relations with Germany. They truly felt that war might be outlawed at that ceremony in the Salon d'Horloge in August, 1928.

But in the background lurked forces of Fascism and nationalism which gradually undercut that treaty and edged the world toward war.

Today the same forces, this time under the name of Communism, are equally intent on wrecking the pact being signed. The question is, will they succeed? The answer, in reality, is up to us.

It is supposed to be axiomatic that history repeats. But nothing is really axiomatic. And if the more enlightened people of the world remember the mistakes of the past, history need not repeat.

World Today—James Marlow

Purpose Of Treaty Is To Force Reds Into Peace From Fear Of West Power

WASHINGTON.—What is happening in Germany today—U.S., Britain, and France signing a peace treaty with Germany—is the latest scene in a great modern drama.

This treaty is part of a desire of the West to build such strength that the Soviet commissars would be forced into peace by fear of what faced them if they tried war.

In the Eastern zone of Germany, occupied by Russia, about 18 million Germans live under the Communist thumb. The three Western zones—occupied by the U.S., Britain, and France—have 39 million Germans. And that Western area of Germany is the greatest industrial center in Europe.

When it became clear Russia wouldn't let divided Germany reunite except under Russian terms, the West let the Germans in their zones form the Western German Republic.

It is with that republic—not Russia-dominated Eastern Germany—that the peace treaty is to be signed today. It is not a complete treaty. The West didn't agree to relinquish all control.

For instance, it reserved the right to intervene if the Western German Republic was threatened with overthrow by internal revolt. In other words if the Communists tried revolution, the West could step in.

But the peace treaty itself is only preliminary to another scene which will be acted out tomorrow: letting Germany rearm and put troops in an international army.

When Russia had become too menacing, the West made the North Atlantic Pact, a military alliance among the nations ringing the ocean. But this alliance without arms was not much of an alliance.

And such an alliance without Germany, with its great resources and manpower, particularly if Germany were left loose to tie up with Russia someday, might be worse than no alliance at all.

So it was decided to take two steps almost simultaneously: (1) sign a peace treaty and (2) let Germany rearm a bit and get into the Western military alliance.

Six nations on the continent are to supply troops for the international army to this extent: France, 14 divisions; Germany and Italy, 12 each; and five for Holland, Belgium, and Luxembourg. Total: 43 divisions.

But agreement on the treaty and the troops is being made only by the foreign ministers of the various countries involved. None of it is complete until the parliaments of those countries approve.

There may be a bitter struggle over this, particularly in France which distrusts German troops of any kind, and in Germany, where neutralists, pacifists and ultra-nationalists want neither agreement.

No one predicts what lies ahead. Trouble there will be, surely. Russia will try to block the agreement from going into effect. Communists have threatened trouble, caused by one of three things—lack of capital, lack of know-how, or family trouble," he said. "Most often we find it is family trouble—personality conflicts.

"Women often are the cause. One of our member firms, owned by two brothers, almost went on the rocks because the wife of one brother showed up at a family New Year's eve party wearing a new mink coat.

"The only way we could solve that one was to get her husband out of the firm."

This one-time poverty-stricken immigrant boy has had a Horatio Alger rise to wealth, but he doesn't like to be compared to a Horatio Alger hero.

"The margin between failure and success is very narrow," Kolodny said. "This is a great country. Anybody with a little energy, initiative and honest purpose can make money in this land.

"But the only thing I have ever found wrong with America is that people here put too much emphasis on success. They are too intolerant of failure."

School Teacher To Continue Job

CORNING, N.Y.—A 64-year-old rural school mistress has won her fight to continue teaching 20 youngsters and plans to join them today on their annual student-teacher picnic.

Miss Ruby Johnson was dismissed last Tuesday for what the school board called physical incompetence. She continued to teach on the school steps.

But Supt. Calvin U. Smith yesterday informed Miss Johnson that the padlock had been removed from the door of the one-room school and that the white-haired teacher would be allowed to finish out the school year.

"I really thought I was licked for a time there, but I wasn't going to give up," Miss Johnson said. "I only have three more years to go for my pension."

Everyone Should Learn To Swim, But Not By The Forced Method

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

It never happened to me but I've heard about people who learned to swim after being thrown into the water.

An expert who takes issue with such a method of orientation is Laurabelle Bookstaver, who went through the experience and who years later decided to make a career of teaching young people how to swim.

"It was the most terrifying experience of my life," says Laurabelle, who added she undertook to give swimming lessons if only to spare other youngsters that awful feeling of suffocation.

"I was 12 years old when some fresh boys threw me in the water," she recalled. "There was a rope from the shore to a float anchored about 20 yards out. Like other non-swimmers, I used the rope-hand-over-hand, to reach the float.

"Some high school boys thought it would be funny to heave me off the float. I guess they would have rescued me, but I didn't know. I went down half a dozen times. My lungs were bursting. The boys were laughing at me. I remember that distinctly. It's the most brutal thing one human can do to another. It's more merciful to be shot in the head.

"Luckily, I grabbed the rope and pulled myself in. I didn't go near water for two years after that."

It is not difficult to understand the fear of the young girl, or others like her. Those who have come close to drowning, or who are seized with terror when near water too deep for them can best sympathize with the way Miss Bookstaver felt at the time.

I think every able-bodied person should make every effort to learn to swim. Sooner or later, they might find they come face with an emergency that calls for the use of that talent.

At the same time, there should be some form of punishment for those individuals who would ignore a person's protests and half-drown him with what they look upon as playful tactics—after luring him into the water.

An organization which tackles the job of teaching swimming the correct way to hundreds of individuals, old and young alike, is the YMCA. Such a program most likely will be carried on here this summer, if and when the pool is opened.

And it will not be started by throwing individuals into water too deep for them.

Business Outlook—J. A. Livingston

Business Recession Of 1953 Is Beginning To Get Advertising

It used to be said that 1949 was the best-advertised recession in American history. But now it looks as if 1953 will win that designation. Everyone—or nearly everyone—is expecting it. At least, in the East, Midwest, and parts of the Far West. In the Southwest and Southeast, sentiment is somewhat warmer, but cooling.

Washington—the federal government—is just about the best advertiser of all. The National Production Authority has ended restrictions on the construction of entertainment and recreational facilities. Official reason: "The needs of defense construction will be substantially reduced during the last half of the year." Controls on rubber and lead have also been relaxed.

The Federal Reserve Board is expected to announce relaxation or suspension of credit controls on housing as a follow-up to the suspension of Regulation W, governing installment credit. Price Administrator Arnall has suspended ceilings on cotton and textile products—a reflection of the slow demand for nondurable goods.

These actions codify official thought. Defense expenditures have not come up to forecasts. There's plenty of slack in the economy. An increase in the production of homes and consumer durable goods, such as automobiles, would not interfere with deliveries of military equipment.

Business men are oppressed by costs. It gets harder and harder to offset higher wages or prices by ever-rising volume. Thus, newspapers throughout the country are debating what to do about the second $10-a-ton boost in newsprint within a year. Can they increase advertising rates?

Newsprint manufacturers are reversing what happened during the depression. Then newspaper publishers, under pressure of declining advertising, bargained newsprint down to $40 a ton. Some manufacturers closed down, others went into other lines. Newsprint capacity fell. Now, in a sellers' market, newsprint companies have pushed the price to $126 a ton, an all-time high, except for a few months in 1920.

The effect is bound to force demand down. Weak newspapers may fold or merge with others, intensifying recent tendencies. And if advertising rates go up, advertisers—because they cannot readily expand their own sales volume—may cut down purchases of space. They may spend the same amount of money, but they'll buy less newsprint with it. Curiously, newsprint stocks on hand are nearly 25 per cent higher than a year ago.

The geography of business sentiment—of pessimism versus optimism—is simple. In the East and Midwest, the slump in soft goods is now being followed by layoffs in consumer durable goods. Washing machines, dishwashers, refrigerators, stoves, and such other items have not been selling well.

What's more, plant expansion has not been as important, businesswise, as in the Southwest and Southeast, where construction of huge chemical, atomic energy, and other facilities has increased purchasing power.

Thus, in the Dallas Federal Reserve district, which takes in booming Houston and San Antonio, department store sales are up 2 per cent so far this year as against last year. In the Atlanta Reserve district, which takes in Augusta, Nashville, and New Orleans, sales are up 1 per cent. The national average is down 5 per cent.

But even in boom areas, doubts about 1953 are increasing. The fear is that when construction ends, employment in the new plants won't take up all the slack. Just as there was fear of inflation of under-production, a year ago, now the worry is over-production. We won't need or use all the new plant capacity.

He gathered as many Irish soldiers as possible. Frenchmen and Irishmen stood side by side in battles against the British, but they were defeated. James spent the rest of his life in exile in France.

Those events led to the minting of strange coins. These were made of gunmetal, but it was promised that they would be redeemed in silver as soon as James became British king again. Each gunmetal coin carried a record of the month of minting, as well as the year.

Tito To Strengthen Grip On Yugoslavs

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
BELGRADE (AP)—Marshal Josip Broz Tito's Communist party will strengthen, and perhaps simplify its present firm control over Yugoslav affairs by a major operation on the country's constitution next month.

Outwardly at least, the constitutional revision will grant greater powers to the Yugoslav two-house Parliament by abolishing the present all-powerful Cabinet and transferring its functions to legislative committees.

Actually, the change as now drafted probably will make little difference in the rule of the country under its one-party, vote-yes-or-no system. As members of Parliament most of the Cabinet probably will retain their present posts but under different titles.

Tito himself—now Yugoslavia's unchallenged leader as Prime Minister and head of the Communist party's powerful Politburo—undoubtedly will become Yugoslavia's first President under the new setup. It will make little difference in his powers.

The plan for constitutional "reform" has been drafted by the Council for Legislation of the National Assembly, but so secretly that, until recently, few people knew it was in progress.

The plan may undergo at least one major change before it is presented to Parliament in late June but here is the broad pattern:

1. Parliament—The structure of the Federal Council of the National Assembly—comparable to the United States House of Representatives—would be preserved without substantial change. The present Council of Nationalities, representing the Yugoslav republics along the lines of state representation in the United States Senate, would have most of its functions taken over by a new Council of Producers representing the country's economic and industrial interests.

2. Elections—Under the present system, members of both houses are elected by direct vote from their home districts. Under the new plan, deputies to the Federal Council would be chosen by town and city councils. Members of the Council of Producers would be named by the workers' councils of economic and industrial organizations.

3. The Cabinet, which now manages the country's executive affairs under Tito's direction as Prime Minister, would be abolished and its powers and functions turned over to Parliament's "Presidium."

4. Structurally, the Presidium would remain unchanged—a body of 40 members of Parliament.

lected at a joint session of the two houses—but its responsibilities would be greatly increased. Up until now, its authority has been negligible, consisting chiefly of approving government executive decrees when Parliament was not in session.

5. Under the new plan, the Presidium will be subdivided into committees with jurisdiction over legislation affecting such state matters as foreign affairs, interior questions and agriculture. The Presidium also would appoint state secretaries, deputy secretaries and other administrators to handle executive duties now performed by Cabinet members.

6. At the head of the Presidium will be a President. With the Presidium's vastly enlarged powers and abolition of direct Cabinet control over executive functions, this post almost certainly will go to Tito.

Soviet Economy Due Bottleneck

HARRIMAN, N. Y., May 26 (AP)—Soviet economy for some time to come will be plagued by bottlenecks and contradictions, a group of scholars of Soviet affairs agreed today.

The scholars gathered here in a meeting, possibly the first of its kind, to plumb the mysteries of the Soviet economy, and chart likely future trends. The meeting was sponsored by the Slavic Studies Committee of the Social Research Council and the American Council of Learned Societies.

While the Soviet Union pushes heavy industry at the expense of agriculture, farm production has been suffering to some extent, the meeting was told.

Prof. Chauncey Harris of Chicago reported that, from his reading of the scant material available and sifting of the evidence, it appeared Soviet agriculture was without large suitable areas into which to expand production.

Fund Drive For Child Is Gaining

DENISON, May 26 (AP)—A drive for funds to aid in the care of Denison's Carol Joy Lee, 15, has piled up $800 to date. She is the victim of a rare disease.

Cost of treating the pretty high school sophomore for the next 12 months has been estimated by drive Director E. J. Lilly at from $3,000 to $5,000.

"I'm sorry to be such an expensive kid," Carol Joy wrote relatives here recently.

Currently an out-patient at Galveston's John Sealy Hospital, Carol Joy is the victim of disseminated lupus, a disease which results in the breaking down of the body cell walls.

Her care has exhausted the family resources at the rate of $12 a day. Treatment of the disease requires administration of cortizone and ACTH, two very expensive "wonder drugs."

The drive for funds to aid the girl was started after receipt of her "expensive kid" letter.

Detroit Truckers Go Out On Strike

DETROIT, May 26 (AP)—Job truckers supplying the 6,000 independent markets of the Detroit area went on strike today against potato ceiling prices.

More than 300 trucks blocked the big Detroit Union Produce Terminal as their owners refused to buy from commission men.

A truckers' spokesman said the group felt ceilings were the cause of a black market in potatoes. He added they hoped to stir public opinion against the ceilings.

Oil Workers To Return Today

By The Associated Press
Quick back-to-work orders were expected today for some 2,750 oil workers, members of striking Oil Workers International Union (CIO).

It was the 28th day of the nation-wide strike, being settled on a plant-by-plant basis.

CIO members in the Pan American Oil Refinery at Galveston will vote tomorrow on a proposed new contract. Tentative agreement was reached last night.

Pan American employs 1,250. Another tentative agreement was reached at Beaumont between the union and the Pure Oil Co., but date of the union's membership vote was not disclosed. About 1,500 workers are involved.

Terms of the tentative agreements were not made public at either plant. They presumably follow recommendations of the Wage Stabilization Board.

Some nine other Gulf Coast refineries still were closed and no settlements had been reached early today.

Italy Pours Nine Billions Into Its Sulphur Industry

By JACK BRUSINI
ROME (AP)—Italy has decided to pour nine billion lire (15 million dollars) into its declining sulphur industry in an attempt to double production.

One of the world's richest nations in sulphur, Italy saw its production decline from almost 800,000 tons in 1905 to 77,000 tons in 1945 despite a wideopen market caused by a world sulphur shortage.

Wartime destruction of the largest sulphur mines in Sicily were partly responsible. High production costs did the rest.

Last year the national production reached 200,000 tons, 120,000 of which came from Sicily.

In its nation-wide industrial expansion program, the Italian treasury earmarked nine billion lire for reorganization, development, and technical improvement of sulphur mines. The bill was approved by Parliament. The costs will be paid from the Industry and Commerce and Treasury Ministries budgets.

Because of outdated mining methods a large part of Italy's sulphur is lost. From a total 1,612,000 tons of mineral ore, only 200,000 tons of sulphur were collected in 1951. Modern equipment and special ovens would double sulphur production almost immediately.

Sulphur experts say the open ovens now in use yield only 30 per cent of sulphur from treated ore. A modern process could produce as much as 70 or 75 per cent.

An Italian government publication said sulphur production will double within the next three years and by the end of 1954 a 400,000-ton annual production is expected. Most of it will come from the rich Siliestian mines.

Minesweeper Takes 25 North Koreans

TOKYO, May 26 (AP)—Night patrolling crewmen of the U. S. Minesweeper Ptarmigan recently captured 25 North Koreans and seized their five sampans off the east coast of North Korea, the Navy reported today.

Eight men from the minesweeper boarded the sampans close inshore.

The North Koreans were taken aboard the Ptarmigan and locked in a compartment. The sampans were taken in tow and the ship continued its minesweeping patrol.

The minesweeper is commanded by Lt. Cdr. H. D. Durham, 1005 Avenue J, Brownwood, Tex.

Flaming Greetings Received By Tito

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Relay runners bearing symbolic silver torches from his country's seven provinces brought "flaming greetings" to Premier Marshal Tito yesterday on his 60th birthday.

Robust and in high humor, the Communist ruler celebrated at his palace and recounted to a throng of visitors the "major progress" Yugoslavia has made since the war. But he cautioned that Yugoslavians, surrounded by Russian satellites, must remain alert.

About 30 million people visited the U.S. national forests for recreational purposes in 1951.

Sweetwater Braves Go One Up In Series With Broncs

Visitors Gain 3-2 Decision

Young Dean Higgins shaded Bertie Baez in a mound duel here Sunday afternoon as Sweetwater nosed out Big Spring, 3-2, in the first of a three-game series.

The Braves' triumph ended the Steeds' threat, at least for the moment, of moving ahead of Sweetwater into the Longhorn League's first division.

Higgins scattered nine hits and gave up only one earned run. He was best when Big Spring was pounding on the door, leaving 14 runners stranded.

The Braves collected all their runs in the second inning off Baez. With one out, Gus Lingo singled into right field. Luis Suarez was hit with a pitched ball. Tony Traspuesto followed with a double to plate Ungo and Ken Hughes responded with a one-baser to chase home Suarez and Traspuesto.

Big Spring fought back with a run in the fifth when Rick Gonzales led off with a triple and waltzed home on a long fly by Al Costa.

Happy Foursome

Sammy Sneed has played little golf this spring but here the recent Masters champion gets a check for $1,500 for winning the Greenbrier Open over his home course with a 15-below par 284. William C. Ford's smile is reflected in the silver tray he won as pro George Fazio's partner in the pro-amateur event. Shown left to right are Fazio, Tournament Chairman Christopher Dunphy, Sneed and Ford.

The locals got their other tally in the seventh on a double by Witty Quintana, an infield out and a bobble by Pete Carmona on Buddy Grimes' ground ball.

Higgins pitched one-hit ball through the first four innings and that was a gift double. Baez skied to left in the third and Outfielder Rocky Carlini lost the ball in the sun.

ROUNDING THE SACKS—Baez hurled hitless ball the last three frames, retiring the last 11 men in order. . . Big Spring staged a threat in the ninth when hits by Pat Stacey and Juan Visteur placed runners at first and third but Ossie Alvarez skied long to Carlini in the left to end the inning and the game. . . Gonzales, who had stolen two of the Steeds' ten bases during the season, added another to his credit in the eighth. . . The game, played under a hot sun, was completed in three minutes less than two hours. . . The win was the first of the season for Sweetwater over the Broncs. . . Each team has yet to win on their home field against the other. . . Big Spring loaded the sacks with only one away in the third but Higgins was up to the challenge, getting Stacey on a short fly and causing Grimes to hit into a force-out to end the round. . . The Big Spring team looked tired and with reason. . . The locals had traveled all night and had been able to sleep little after arriving here from Vernon.

SAYS STENGL

Warriors Blow Their Chance

BOSTON (U)—The Cleveland Indians have blown a chance to run away with the American League pennant in the opinion of New York Yankee Manager Casey Stengel.

The sage of Yankee Stadium was holding court following the postponement of Sunday's game against the Boston Red Sox.

"I was afraid they had me after taking those three in New York a couple of weeks ago," Casey said. "They were more than five games ahead of us and they were going home. We had to begin winning or else fall so far behind we would have spent half the summer trying to catch up."

"But they didn't grab their opportunity. They won more than they lost, but didn't have a big streak and we did. They allowed Boston and ourselves to get back and we're going to stay."

Since the Indians took three straight from the Yanks at the Stadium, they have won nine out of 15 while the Yanks have taken eight out of 11.

Stengel also was pleased over the deals that have shipped Yankee players and farmhands to St. Louis and Washington during the past two years.

"It looks as though we have made the rest of the league tough," Casey said.

"We helped the Browns and we helped Washington. Both of those teams give you hell now. Cleveland won't be able to push them around as in other years—and that's a break for us. We won't either but that's all right. The tougher the league is, from top to bottom, the harder it is for one team to get off to a long lead."

Stengel is counting on the three-times world champions to take the lead during the Yanks' home stand, a 17-game affair which starts Tuesday night.

Ward Trounces Nichol, 4 To 3

PRESTWICK, Scotland, May 25 (U)—Harvis Ward, Tarboro, N. C., former U. S. Intercollegiate champion, gained the second round of the British Amateur Golf championship today with a 4 and 3 victory over Ronnie Nichol of England.

Young Ward was first of the "name" Americans to set out over the tricky 6,531-yard Prestwick Course and he had an easy time with his extremely nervous opponent.

Nichol hit his tee shot out of bounds on three of the first four holes and never caught up with the long driving North Carolinian. Ward would have won by a wider margin except for an unsteady putter which forced him to three-putt the fifth and 14th greens.

Four late withdrawals cut the American entry list to 38. Robert Sweeney, New York, winner of this tournament in 1947, failed to show up for his match with Alex Kyle.

GIANTS BEATEN BY HOBBS NINE

HOBBS, N. M. —The Hobbs Tigers evened matters with the Big Spring Giants by winning a 9-5 decision here Sunday afternoon.

Manager Harry Dooley of the Big Springers issued a strong protest over the officiating.

Dooley bashed a triple and a single for Big Spring. Tucker had a double and a single and Sandman Guider contributed a double to the Giants' effort.

The Giants will play the Midland Black Indians here next Sunday.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Perhaps it is just as well, for the baseball operators, anyway, that television has not come to this area.

Attendance in most Longhorn League cities has been good, if not famous. Turnstiles are clicking at a merry pace in San Angelo and Midland.

They're complaining in other sections of the country, though—in the Pacific Coast League, the Florida International League and the Southern Association, to name a few of the wheels.

Time was when the Piedmont League was one of the best patronized circuits in the country. On a recent night, three games there drew 1,700 paid admissions. Needless to relate, the front offices are moaning.

Ed Danforth, a veteran Atlanta sports writer, says college presidents should forget football and de-emphasize parties for a change.

Ed says those out for spring football wouldn't have the energy to climb a fire escape and enter a girl's dorm.

Speedy Neiman, a Lamesa scribe, wonders aloud why I-A-A-A can land no more than one player (that being Stan Coker of Midland) on the North All-Star football team.

A lot of other patrons of the sport are curious about the same thing. Some very good boys in this area were overlooked.

A LONG, LONG DRIVE

It's May and hot as all get-out but a lot of the gentry have their minds on football.

A fellow in Hobbs, N.M., ordered a season's pass to all the Dallas Texans' home games this fall. Stop to consider how far Hobbs is from here, and Big Spring is 300 miles from Big D.

Unless the fellow owns a rocket ship, he may have to leave the middle of the week to get in Dallas by Sunday.

They say the San Francisco 49ers of the National Pro League will be sold for $750,000, if they're sold at all. Owner Tony Morabito has been advised by his doctors to retire.

The 49ers don't even own their own playing field, which should give you an idea of what big business pro football is.

LEWIS WAS QUITE A MAN

The older readers, anyway, should be interested.

Sitangler Ed Lewis, quite a wrestler in his day, says Joe Stecher is the toughest man he ever met in the ring.

Ed and Joe once wrestled five hours and 30 minutes to a draw. That was back in 1915, back in the days when men were men and women were discouraged from bouncing each other around the squared enclosure.

Lewis earned more than $3,000 during his 43 years in the ring.

Youngsters Play

The Eagles take the top-rated Indians in a Little League game at City Memorial Park today. Game time is 5:30 p.m.

On Tuesday, the Yankees and the Oilers square away.

Drownings, Traffic Are Big Killers On Week End

By The Associated Press
Drownings challenged motor accidents as No. 1 killer in Texas over the weekend as at least 15 persons died violent deaths.
Traffic accidents killed seven persons, drownings took six lives and two persons were killed by gunfire.

Two of the drownings occurred early Saturday when a flash flood of the Bosque River washed a man from a bridge and washed a car into one of its tributaries.
Adrian Ballard, 60, highway construction worker was washed from a bridge, not far from De Leon, his home. Jack Harrell, 19, son of a Dublin undertaker, was drowned when the flood waters caught his car and washed it into a creek.

Meanwhile, the Department of Public Safety at Austin said Texas traffic accidents snuffed out 163 lives during April, two more than for the same month in 1951.

Statistics N. K. Wornier of the Department said incomplete reports indicate 723 deaths from traffic resulted in the first four months of 1952 in Texas.
It estimated a 1952 traffic toll at least five per cent higher than last year's.

A Smithville woman, Mrs. E. E. Brush, was killed Saturday night in a two-car crash near Giddings. Four members of her family and the driver of the second car, LeRoy Snyder of Dime Box, were injured slightly.

A Springfield, Ill., woman died Sunday of injuries received in a two-car crash near Colorado City, Tex. She was Mrs. David Hinds, 21. Three other persons were injured, one critically.

Stella Alvila, 2, was fatally injured Friday night when she was run over in the driveway of her home at San Antonio.
John Allen Leach, was found shot to death late Friday about three miles from the farm home of his father near Brownwood. Leach, employe of a Midland securities firm, was visiting his family. A justice of the peace said he would return a suicide verdict.

Quincy Barnes, 62, retired rural mail carrier from Marlin, died Saturday after his car collided with a truck on the Mart-Marlin highway, 15 miles southeast of Waco.
Paul Carpenter, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carpenter of Silver Lake, west of Mineola, drowned in Saline Creek Saturday. The boy fell from a horse into the flooding stream.

Southeast of Floydada, Teddy Smith, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith of Dougherty, was killed when a pickup truck overturned.

Dead on arrival at a hospital in San Antonio Sunday night was William T. "Doc" Collins, Collins, police said, was shot through the right chest and between the eyes with slugs from a .22 rifle. Police questioned the 59-year-old wife of Collins, 66.

Elba Sheppard, 15, drowned Sunday in the Comal River while swimming near the Clemens Dam site. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Sheppard of San Antonio. A swift current wedged the youth under tangled roots and branches.

A 13-year-old Dallas boy, Albert Kapavik, drowned while swimming Sunday in a flooded excavation. Eight companions were unable to save him.

A truck-auto crash five miles south of Burkburnett killed Lee Durkee, 25, of Wichita Falls early Sunday. Two persons riding with Durkee were injured, neither seriously.

Benjamin Franklin Roberts, about 45, Lindale, was killed when his car overturned about 11 miles east of Mineola. His wife, Dorothy Roberts, was in a critical condition at a Mineola hospital after the accident.
The body of Donald McCray, 49, a commercial fisherman, was found Sunday 12 miles south of Fort Aransas on Mustang Island. McCray had last been seen alive on a sinking skiff Friday. A verdict of death by accidental drowning was returned.

Rhode Island To Send Unpledged Slate To Session

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (U)—The Democratic State Convention meeting here next Monday will endorse an unopposed slate of 12 unpledged, uninstructed delegates to the national convention.

Party leaders are confident of a completely harmonious meeting of the 200 state delegates. The state's 12 votes at the national convention will be held by 20 persons—10 with half-votes and four with full votes. An alternate delegate will be selected for each of the principals.

Just which candidate will be favored by Rhode Island's delegation is still undecided and probably will remain so until the July convention in Chicago.
Gov. Dennis J. Roberts has spoken in support of Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson but the general opinion is that he will accept whoever is considered to be favored by President Truman if Stevenson stays out of the race.

State Committee Chairman Frank Rao hasn't publicly stated any preference but friends claim he leans toward Stevenson. A third party leader, Rhode Island House Majority Leader James H. Kiernan, is for Stevenson with the same reservation as Roberts.

CONVENTIONS AT GLANCE

Feuds To Reach A Climax Tomorrow

By The Associated Press
Who: Feuding Republicans, one faction backing Senator Taft (R-Ohio), the other backing General Dwight D. Eisenhower, for the GOP presidential nomination. Feuding Democrats, one faction backing Gov. Allan Shivers' bid for an uninstruted Texas delegation to the Democratic National Convention, the other led by Fagan Dickson of San Antonio, asking a delegation instructed to vote for the party's nominee.

When: Both conventions tomorrow.

Where: The Democrats meet in San Antonio; Republicans meet in Mineral Wells.

Why: The Republicans will name 38 delegates to their national convention in Chicago, June 7. The Democrats will name 52 delegates to their national convention in Chicago, July 21.

Today: Both Democrats and Republicans hold meetings of their state executive committees in the convention cities. At issue will be seating of county delegates to the state conventions. The GOP has 31 contesting county groups, the Democrats 28.

What they say: Taft Republicans: Most of those Eisenhower folks are just Democrats who switched over to vote for the general.

Eisenhower Republicans: We outnumber those Taft people and the will of the majority should rule.

Fagan Dickson: "Governor Shivers is a Democrat in Washington and a Disocrat in Texas."

Governor Shivers: "Dickson must have been smoking marijuana or something."
