California Pact May Set Pattern In Oil Industry

DENVER, May 5 (AP) — A small settlement in the nation-wide oil industry strike may be an important one.

The Independent Union of Petroleum Workers, one of 22 unions on strike, announced at Los Angeles last night a wage agreement with the Standard Oil Co. of California covering 5.000 workers. The agreement reportedly granted a wage increase of 181/2 cents an hour-7.5 per cent retroactive to May 1 and 4.2 per cent retroactive to Jan. 1. Shift differentials will go to 6, 71/2 and 12 cents an hour. The wage rate was increased to $2.02 an hour and differentials 4, 5 and 6-cents. Spokesmen immediately hailed the terms as possibly set ting a pattern for other settlements in the oil industry. Meanwhile, the grip of an oil workers' strike squeezed

Steelworkers Bitter, Continue To Stay On Job

PITTSBURGH IF-Smoke started belching from steel mills across the nation today despite collapse of White House talks aimed at reaching final settlement of the great steel dispute.

Men in the mills took the news glumly that negotiations in Washington had broken off indefinitely. Many were bitter like their silveryhaired president, Philip Murray,

If Soviets Are Softening About Oatis, It's The Economic Pressure

For many months the U. S. ambassador to Prague had sought permission of the Crech government to interview William N. Tireless efforts have been made by Oatis' employers, the Associated Press, by other press groups, and by the State Department to bring about his release, and the incident of the interview was the first encouraging sign that the Reds might be relenting. If they are, the biggest factor in their softening up undoubtedly was the fact that trader restrictions imposed them by the State Department have cost the Czech millions of dollars.

At their recent meeting AP officials and members found that the State Depart-ment had done all it could do to bring about Oatis' release. Even the Reds have known to knuckle under when economic pressure is applied.

Mental Health Includes Attitude As Well As Absence Of Illness

Mental Health Week extends from May 4 to May 10, with national, state and local activity to remind the people that "mental patients are sick people," and that "there abould be no more disgrace attached to mental illness than to tuberculosis, pollo or a broken leg."

This is a simple fact, and it needs to be hammered into the consciousness of everyone, together with the fact that not only the violently insane need treatment, but a vast number of people of all ages and all walks of life need counsel and guidance in avoiding a mental breakdown. The acuts stage of mental lib-health can be averted if detected and treated in time, just as any number of other bodily ills can be averted by prompt recognition and proper attention.

Much of the oldtime prejudice against such diseases as leprosy and tuberculosis has been destroyed by education and information. It is the hope of the mental health societies that a similar job can be done with respect to mental illness. By removing fear and prejudice, prompter action in removing the causes of mental illhealth can be brought to bear, and there has been marvelous progress in treatment

Mental Health Week is precisely the same as any other health program, and its basic problem is to enlighten the publie, first, on the great need of doing some-

Institute surveys have on several oc-casions pointed out that General Eisenhower is particularly popular with Inde-pendent voters, who constitute an estimated 15 million, assuming a total voter turnout of 55 million in November.

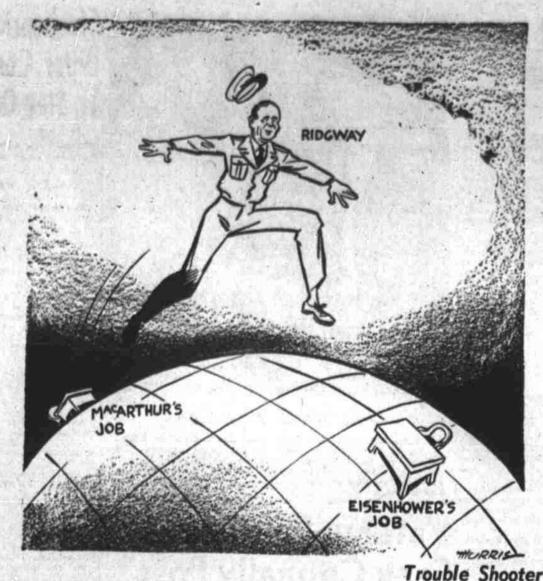

The extent to which his popularity with this important group is due to his support from women Independents can be seen from the following tables. They show the General running 41/2-to-1 ahead of Taft with women and 3-to-1 with the men:

The government lawyers went into the U. S. Court of Appeals and asked that Pine's order be knocked out, at least temporarily.

The appellate judges let the government take the mills back. The owners were back where they started but it could be worse: Suppose, while he held the mills again, the President raised wages.

So the owners asked the appellate judges not to let that happen. The judges turned them down,

Party Bosses Want Your Votes, But Not To Nominate Candidates

WASHINGTON, - When Ohio voters go to the polls tomorrow, they will vote under a primary system supposed to be a model for the nation, but which the party bosses have warped and prostituted to a point where it completely substantiates President Truman's statement that primaries are eyewash, Mr. Truman's own Demo cratic bosses, however, happen to be responsible for making it so.

The Ohio primary law is supposed to give the people an ironclad chance to nominate as well as elect. But since the politicos want to do the nominating, they put up a docile, well-trained stalking horse whose delegates can be switched once they get to the convention.

Thus in 1948, Ohio Democrats chose as their candidate for President 80-year-old William A. Julian, treasurer of the United States, and sent him to Philadelphia as their favorite son. This year the favorite son is 72-year-old ex-Sen. Robert Bulkley who has no more chance of being President than Shirley Temple.

So when brash young Senator Kefauver dared upset this plan by entering his own delegates, the bosses retaliated with the unfairest weapon of all-economic pressure. They threatened the jobs or businesses of Kefauver delegates unless they withdrew. For example, here is how they operated in Obio's 13th District.

ley, able young city solicitor of Lorain as a delegate. The minute this became known, Democratic bosses reminded Conley that his elderly father held a job with the state of Ohio, which is controlled by organization Democrats, and that he might lose his job just a year before getting his pension. To protect his father, Conley bow-Another proposed Kefauver delegate was

First, Kefauver leaders lined up Ed Con-

James T. Flynn, prominent Sandusky lawyer. However, Flynn's law partners were subtly advised that the firm might lose some of its practice around the state capital, Columbus, if they did not keep Flynn out of a hot and bitter primary. They succeeded these the state of the stat oceded, though Flynn is still a quiet booster for Kefauver.

As alternates, Kefauver leaders had picked Mayor Oscar Stierwalt of Fremont and William H. Williams of Vermilion. Mayor Stierwalt was bluntly warned by the anti-Kefauverites that certain Democrats, for whom he had obtained jobs on state payroll, not switch from Kefauver to Bulkley. To save his friends, he switched.

Williams was also pressured. In fact, he lost his job as clerk of the election board. However, Williams refused to budge, is now a Kefauver delegate.

Next, Kefauver backers turned to Sandusky's William Didelius, live-wire Erie County prosecutor who cleaned up gamb-ling in 1949. Hearing of this, the Democratic bosses promptly told Didelius that they were thinking of running him for state attorney general in 1956, but would not do so if he supported Kefauver. He bowed out.

Instead, Donald Cole, an insurance agent, was picked as a Kefauver delegate.

However, he was warned that his insurance clients would be pressured to seek other agents if he persisted in bucking the Democratic machine. He also bowed out, At this point, honest Gov. Frank Lausche, Democrat, heard what was go-Lausche, Democrat, heard what was go-ing on, called a halt on the rough stuff. So. at the last minute, Hollis Matherly, city councilman of Bellevue, filed as a Kefauver delegate. Thus, with Williams still on the ballot, the Tennesseean has two delegates in the 13th district, but no alternates. Similar pressure was brought in other parts of Ohio, and illustrates the tragic fact that, while the politicians orate about the right to vote, some of them do their best to deny that right,

When the news of Judge Pine's decision in favor of the steel companies was brought to President Truman, he was sore as blazes against Holmes Baldridge, the assistant attorney general who had claimed that the power of the President surpassed the Constitution. What the President apparently didn't remember was that Baldridge was ap-pointed to this key job through the persuasive influence of the President's own ex-counsel, Clark Clifford. While in the White House, Clifford was one of Truman's st advisers. But, since leaving the White House, he has become one of the capital's most successful influence-peddlers.

Like most lawyers who get paid for pulling wires, Clifford is not averse to having a few friends on the other end of the wires, and at first recommended his close friend Baldridge as chief of the Justice Department's antitrust division. When this failed, Clifford pushed him to be attorney general in charge of the claims division, and was successful. It's an interesting, if not cynical, filustration of how lobbyists operate, that after failing to get Baldridge made chief of anti-trust, Clifford immediately called on the man who did get that job, Graham Morrison, and told him how hard he had supported him for the appointment, Morri-

India Second In Population

A dream has come true. The country known as India obtained freedom five years ago, and today it is a republic. India has more people than the U.S.A.—more than twice as many. Parts of India have been broken off to form Pakistan, but the republic of India, according to the latest census, has 356 million people.

Those people live in an area only a littie larger than the part of the United States east of the Mississippi. The populaion is dense, with an average of 313 persons to the square mile.

Among the nations of the world, India ranks second in population. China is first, Russia third and the U.S.A. fourth. Although it is now a free republic, India a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations. people of India are known as In dians, and this tends to confuse them with the natives of the New World who are called "Indians" or "American Indians"sometimes "red men." The people of India have an older right to the name of "Indians," which arose from the name of their country. American Indians were called Indians because of the mistaken ides of Columbus that he had reached islands near India. The Indians of India have a long written history. They are of highly mixed stock. Thousands of years ago, great numbers of Aryans (members of the white race) entered the land. Efforts were made to keep them from mixing with the dark-skin-ned people who already lived there, but marriages took place. Today the residents may be described as brown-skinned, but their skin color varies from deep chocolate brown to very light brown.

India was a civilized land when western Europe contained savage, or half-savage, tribes. In ancient times, as well as to day, there were large cities in India. Some of these contained hig buildings. For TRAVEL section of your scrap-

Winner At Del Rio

The Finley Ranches' Dandy Dutchess, winner of a $5,600 stake race, the Del Rio Futurity, last week end, will show her wares in the Texas Futurity in San Angelo. Futurity triefs are set for Sunday with finals a week from Sunday. Jack Finley of Gilbert, Ariz, the horse's owner, is holding the reins. Mrs. Finley is next to him. Astride the two-year-old is J. Jacobs, rider and trainer.

speech and to keep its sources a secret. That was part of a trade through which the mutineers freed eight hostage guards and surrendered April 24, instead of April 25 as they had agreed previously.

Mutiny leader Earl Ward reas they had agreed previously.

Mutiny leader Earl Ward released Fox, since releived as assist-ant deputy warden and prison psychologist, of his pledge of secrecy yesterday. Fox confirmed Ward's dictation,

Ward gave this note to Austin MseCormick, executive director of the Osborne Association, a pri-vately endowed penal reform agency, during an interview at the Livingston County Jail to which

Ward has been transferred: "Dear Dr. V. Fox: You can feel free to tell Mr. MacCormick whether or not I wrote out the speech of congratulations you made and made you deliver it. Sincerely, Earl Ward."

MacCormick hastened to Jackson, interviewed Fox and then called Gov. G. Mennen Williams, at whose request MacCormick is investigating the prison's adminis-

Fox said Ward demanded the congratulatory message to take himself and his co-leader "Crazy Jack" Hyatt "off the hook with other inmates" for surrendering earlier than previously agreed.
