3 Spearman women on honor roll

Three Spearman residents are listed among the 1988 spring honor students at Frank Phillips College in Borger.

Lelia Bynum, daughter of Alice Goodman of Spearman, Jeanne Close, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Close and Mrs. Jean Close of Spearman, are listed on the President's honor roll. To be eligible for the president's honor roll students must have a grade point average for the semester of 4.0 on a 4. scale.

Listed on the dean's honor roll is Jennifer Renteria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Sintas of Spearman. For the dean's honor roll a student must have a 3.5 or above average to be considered.

All three students plan to attend Amarillo College School of Nursing pursuing their Associates degree of Nursing.

These three future nurses are smiling for a good reason. Frank Phillips College has announced that they have made the honor roll. Standing from l - r] Jennifer Renteria who made Dean's honor roll, Lelia Bynum and Jeanne Close who both made President's honor roll listing of FPC. The women intend to further their education at Amarillo College beginning this summer.

BONNIE JARVIS

Jarvis goes to state in FFA public speaking

The area FFA convention was held on May 13 and 14 in Lubbock. Members from Spearman who attended the convention were Keith Clark, as a courtesy corp. member, Haley Lair, James Tindell, Pat Shields, Pat Hunter, and Joel Shields.

Some of the contests held at the convention were public speaking, sweetheart, and talent contests. Spearman was proudly represented in all three of these events. Carly Shieldknight is the Chapter Sweetheart, and was elected District Sweetheart. Carly competed at the Area level making the run-off.

Representing Spearman and the Top - of - Texas District in the talent contest were Bonnie Jarvis and Vernon Tindell, who sang two duets. In the Public Speaking Contest, Bonnie Jarvis captured first place with her topic "Beef Check - off." Bonnie will be speaking at the state level on July 14.

The students on the trip wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Pond for being their sponsors.

McGill attends seminar for motivation today

Cacy McGill of Spearman was selected to attend the Hugh O'Brian seminar, held at the Hilton Inn in Amarillo, May 13 - 15. The Foundation, set up by Hugh O'Brian, is geared for, "Motivating Tomorrow's Leader's Today." There are four such programs offered annually in the state of Texas alone.

McGill found it surprising how so many dear friends could be made in such a short period, and also extremely hard to leave them. She would like to extend an extra special "Thank You" to all who helped make her trip possible, and allowing her to participate in such a meaningful and rewarding experience.

Dumas recends

PDRA's fate uncertain

There was an emergency Palo Duro River Authority meeting, May 20 held in the meeting room of the PDRA. The purpose of the meeting was to meet with Freese and Nichols Engineers to discuss the future of the Palo Duro River Dam and Reservoir since Dumas City Commissioners unanimously denied additional support of the PDRA project Monday night.

Details from the emergency meeting of the PDRA were not available by the Plainsman's press time.

According to PDRA general manager, Johnnie Lee, The PDRA project has been delayed because Dumas is possibly going to recend their statement of support for the project.

"Although we haven't received any official word from Dumas, we have had to cancel meetings with the contractor, the Texas Water Commission and the Texas Water Board," stated Lee.

However the Dumas newspaper reports that Dumas City Commissioners denied a request for additional financial assistance for the PDRA.

Dumas City Commissioners gave their support to the project April 28 in the form of a non-binding approval concerning financing their portion of a $3.2 million cost over run on construction of a dam in Hansford County.

According to Lee, without the support of Dumas the project's chances of ever getting off the ground are slim unless other avenues can be found to support the project.

Dumas can't withdraw from the project unless all of Moore County withdraws because of the indebtedness of the bond issue that was passed.

The Dumas City Commissioner's concern is on the economics of the project. In addition to the ad-valorem tax burden to build the dam, of which Moore County has the largest share, there is the costly second phase of the project. The City of Dumas is looking at better than half the cost - which is estimated at $17.3 million, not including interest.

At this point, no one is sure what the actual costs of the water plant lines and treatment facilities will be nor what kind of interest rate can be expected. Since it is unknown when the dam will fill up enough to justify the remaining construction.

Another concern to Dumas City Commissioners was a review of engineering estimates and contractor bids for a paved road over the dam site. Apparently, $14,000 was allotted to construct this road. Actual cost is expected to be up to $1.8 million.

According to Lee and contrary to what the Dumas newspaper printed, the PDRA has contacted the State Highway Department and is trying to work out a deal for a paved road across the dam site.

From the very beginning the project has had delays. But just as the project seemed to be ready to take off, now that a bid was let out and ready for the approval of the Texas Water Commission and the Texas Water Board, the project has a new delay.

The project becoming a reality seems slim since Dumas pulled out from it. Dumas is the largest city in the proposal. Their share of the 25 year repayment schedule is $143,489 for the first 10 years and $192,014 for the final 15 years. Since they pulled their support these figures toward repayment are lost. And other ways to generate such revenue would have to be discovered, causing an even longer delay of the dam project.

The project started early in 1987 and the reservoir was to eventually hold 60,900 acre feet of water for recreation. Eventually the water would be utilized for tap water for the surrounding towns showing support for the project.

This project has been talked about for many years. On August 5, 1935 an article in the "Spearman Reporter" reported the local Lions Club meeting with County Commissioners to discuss a similar project. Although that project never developed it did help establish the Palo Duro River Authority.

4 Spearman students attend Girl's and Boy's state

Four Spearman High School students have been selected to attend Boy's State and Girl's State this summer. Boy's State will be held at the University of Texas at Austin and Girl's State will be at Texas Lutheran State College at Sequin, Tx.

The boys chosen are Clint Patterson, son of Pat and Kathy Patterson, and Pat Shields, son of Lonie and LeAnn Shields. They will attend the educational program on June 4 through 11.

The girls chosen to attend Girl's

State are Jan Crawford, daughter of John and Hester Crawford; and Ginger Pearson, daughter of Bob and Jackie Pearson. They will attend the program on June 14 through 24.

Delegates for Girl's and Boy's State were chosen on the basis of scholarship, character, ambition, leadership, and the ability to get along with others and loyalty to the United States.

Interested students signed up for the program and from that list the student council selected the delegates, which were subject to the approval of the principal.

The objective of Boy's State and Girl's State is to educate youth in duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American citizenship. It is a plan for training in the practical aspects of government.

It is functional in the applications of the principles of democratic government. The Constitution and Statutes of the State of Texas are the patterns from which the fundamental laws of Girl's State and Boy's State have been developed.

The Spearman Student Council receives funding to send the selected students to Boy's State and Girl's State through the donations of individuals and businesses who want to support the program.

Mrs. Wanda Jones, sponsor of the Student Council states, "The student council and I would like to thank the people that continue to support this program. Without your support, it would be impossible for the Council to provide this worthwhile educational program. Thank you!"

GTE long distance service down 4 one half hours

Long distance service for the Panhandle of Oklahoma and Texas was interrupted Monday due to atmospheric interference in the microwave system, according to Richard Kelly, Operations Manager for GTE Southwest.

Beginning about 6:00 a.m., the unusual phenomenon blocked signals between towers, and left just as suddenly about 10:30 a.m.

"The telephone equipment was performing normally; however, the signals could not penetrate," said Kelly.

"We regret any inconvenience this may have caused our customers," he said.

Federal drought aid sought for South and West Texas

(AUSTIN)--Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower has asked officials with the U.S. Department of Agriculture to provide federal drought assistance to ranchers in South and West Texas.

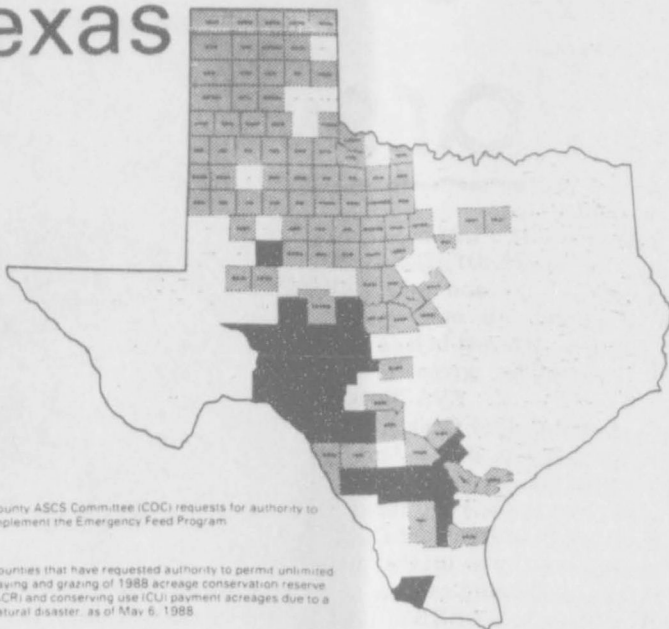

"Ranchers in more than 100 counties in South and West Texas are suffering from a severe drought. The Texas Department of Agriculture is asking U.S. Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng to allow these ranchers to grow hay on conservation acreage to graze their livestock and to receive supplemental livestock feed from the Emergency Feed Grain Program if local supplies are inadequate," Hightower said.

Hightower's letter was hand-delivered Thursday to Secretary Lyng's office in Washington, D.C. Copies of Hightower's letter were also forwarded to Texas Governor Bill Clements, U.S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen and members of the Texas congressional delegation, state legislators, county officials, and farm leaders in the drought area.

"I have asked Secretary Lyng to reconsider USDA's earlier denial of a request by drought-stricken Texas counties that would allow Texas ranchers to plant badly-needed hay crops on thousands of acres in South and West Texas which have been set aside for conservation purposes. In addition, USDA must implement the Emergency Feed Grain Program to provide livestock feed in areas where local hay supplies and grazing pastures are inadequate," Hightower said.

"Some of these drought counties have not received significant amounts of rainfall since last fall, and many ranchers cannot stay in business much longer if they have to purchase expensive hay from other regions of the state. These ranchers are faced with the prospect of either feeding their malnourished livestock on dwindling supplies of weeds and cactus or selling their cattle at depressed prices. A speedy decision by USDA will literally have sought USDA permission to allow ranchers to grow hay and graze cattle on land covered under various federal conservation programs. Texas' initial request was rejected by USDA in mid-April on the grounds that "there is no evidence of the occurrence of a natural disaster in 1988 causing a current shortage of hay."

An additional 20 Texas counties, mostly in South Texas, have requested permission to participate in the Emergency Feed Program. Under the terms of the Emergency Feed Program, the federal government would share in the cost of feeding malnourished livestock in drought-stricken counties. The Texas Department of Agriculture is now making a survey of the quantities and location of federally-owned feed grain in Texas that would be available under the Emergency Feed Program.

determine the future of thousands of Texas producers," Hightower said.

"The Texas Department of Agriculture is already taking steps to help these livestock producers. We are working with livestock specialists, soil conservation experts and local officials to hold a series of seminars in the most severe drought counties to help local ranchers with emergency land and herd management practices. Those one-day seminars will begin in early June. TDA is also assisting county officials in gathering information required by the Governor's Division of Emergency Management before federal disaster assistance can be requested. All of these efforts are needed because the National Weather Service has projected little or no improvement in rainfall conditions during the normally dry summer months," Hightower said.

Just a few words

BY LADDIE HALE

Pet peeves can be fun to laugh about as long as yours is not treaded upon. Many of you are thinking that you don't have a pet peeve. But as I tell you some of the ones I've been made aware of, I bet some of your own will come to mind.

My personal pet peeve is this. If you pick up something of mine to use it, look at it, etc. you better put it back where you found it. Once some friends from out of town came to visit me. After they left I realized that I really didn't get to talk to them as much as I wanted to. The reason why? I was too busy putting back everything to visit with them about everything we'd lost touch on! The bad thing was they stayed with me for three days.

Another common peeve shared by most mothers is the good old carry out the trash peeve. After mom nags for three days for someone to carry out the trash, she's relieved that it's empty but fails to notice as she dumps the coffee grounds into the empty can that spouse or kids forgot to put a liner back in the trash can. Sound familiar?

Or what about the one where you are walking through double doors into or out of a crowded store. Choosing the one door that is locked. As you peel your nose off the glass and look up you finally see the sign that says "Please use other door."

However this peeve may be considered a classic. You are in your car. You pull up to a traffic light and stop. You are noticing that in the car next to you a kid in the back seat is picking his nose. He catches you looking at him and makes a face. You make faces back but get caught doing it by his mother in front seat. While the kid in back straightens up and acts like nothing ever happened. You fool. Caught again.

To sum up my few words, I've discovered that some people really get upset if their pet peeve gets treaded upon. And really if you think about it, there is no sense in getting so upset. OK WHO MOVED THOSE TRASH CAN LINERS and DIDN'T PUT THEM BACK WHERE THEY BELONG.

No Comparison In All-Around Use For Service

Newspapers are increasing their overwhelming leadership in media . . . because they have the best formula for service. Failure to recognize the effectiveness of newspaper advertising has destroyed many a business.

THE FACTS:

- 1) 8 out of 10 adults read a newspaper on an average weekday
- 2) Newspaper readership increases with income
- 3) Newspapers are read page-by-page
- 4) Newspaper ads are rated by the public as the "most helpful and most trustworthy"
- 5) People "look forward" to newspaper ads more than they do all others combined
- 6) Newspapers outperform broadcast media 2-to-1 in influencing sales
- 7) Most leading retailers carry their main messages in the newspaper
- 8) Newspapers are alone in delivering massive coverage and having something important to say to-and-about all income groups, all education groups, all occupational groups and all age groups.

. . . and each of these facts has been documented over-and-over by an endless variety of surveys.

Lois Shieldknight underwent surgery on Tuesday at High Plains Baptist Hospital and is reporting recovering.

She hardly gave her friends time enough to get cards to her as she is expected home the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. M.R. Gibbs, of Oklahoma City, spent last weekend here. They were guests in the home of their son, Russ and Mrs. Gibbs.

Ray Devers returned a few days ago after being with his son, Bill, during and after surgery. Bill now lives in Hereford but had some heart surgery at High Plains Hospital in Amarillo.

Cleo and Lowell Denman drove to Sarah, Ok. last Saturday for a gathering of her cousins. There were 4 generations represented with two coming from California. Cleo also visited with a lifelong friend who lives with Sarah.

Johnny Waggoner doesn't intend to spend his retirement on an inactive list as evidenced by his surprisingly short stay in the hospital. He had surgery on Tuesday at St. Anthony's and on Friday was back at home. He is making rapid progress toward recovery.

Wilma Lackey just returned from a week in Austin. She visited in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Ann and Mike Russell. He was transferred from Amarillo by AT&T. They are well settled by now and expect to enjoy living there.

Mrs. Ernestine Gray was pleased when her daughter, Carole Watts and her grand daughter, Suzanne, invited her to the Pizza Hut to observe her birthday on Wednesday evening.

She wasn't prepared to be greeted by her son and wife, Gary and Marcy, and children from Dumas and also her other son, Ron and his daughter, Renie, of Hooker. In addition there were several friends gathered there to surprise her. She felt the pleasure sort of off-set the displeasure of marking the passing years.

Mrs. Gary and Mrs. Eva Adkison had spent the previous week in and near Mena, Ark. She had not been back there for many years and met many old friends during the observation of Arkansas Decoration Day.

Wanda Brown suffered a broken foot in a fall at her home Friday. There have been no complications, but crutches and cast will be her companions for several weeks. It is not known if John is taking kindly to household chores.
