VOLUME VII. NUMBER 91

SPEARMAN, HANSFORD COUNTY, TEXAS, 79081

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1966

BY BURL MCCLELLAN

We walked right into the past Sunday and found there had been another from Hansford County there ahead of us by some 79 years.

Day and I and my parents all made our first visit to Dodge City, Kan., and its old Front Street. The area is much like a movie set, but the museums are interesting.

We were looking at a register for the Dodge House and reading the names when we came across one from Hansford Texas. J.H. Burkholder from Hansford Texas registered at the Dodge House on Friday, Dec. 23, 1887. He had room number 30 and paid $5 for it.

Chief of Police Leland Wood this week asked for everyone's cooperation in a careful driving program around the schools.

Wood said the driving has been very good around the schools in the morning and afternoon and he hopes it will continue throughout the year.

There is a great amount of traffic around the schools in the morning and afternoon, but Wood said he had only issued one ticket.

"Everyone is doing a good job this first week," he com-mented. "However, the po-lice will continue to patrol the area to help make sure this kind of driving continues.

The Chamber of Commerce is making an all out effort to get everyone to attend the program planning meeting on Sept. 6. Everyone should make the same effort to be there and help with this important program.

Work by the Chamber is only as efficience as the members make it and everyone of us can find some free time to the organization return more

Local School Enrollment Down But Educators Expect Increase

Enrollment in the Spearman Public Schools is down from last year, but has increased since classes opened and ad-ministrators are expecting the increase to continue.

Monday morning the schools began classes with 1,098 stu-dents enrolled in the 12 grades. The figure increased to 1,101

The figure increased to 1,101 Wednesday morning.

The big drop in attendance has been in the middle grades, fifth through eighth grades, but some of this was expected. Principal James Pendergraft said he graduated a class of 109 last spring from the eighth grade and only had a class of 82 fifth graders this year. The middle grades had 393 last year, but only 359 this year. High school enrollment has exceeded expectations, according to Supt. Bill Reeves. He said the school was expecting about 365, and the enrollment Wednesday morning was 371. Enrollment in the elementary grades is off from last year also, Wednesday Prin-cipal Allen Alford had 371 students enrolled, Monday he had 97 in the first grade, 82 in the second, 103 in the third and 82 in the fourth grade.

Officials are expecting several children to enroll after the Labor Day holiday as some families have late vacations. Also, there have been some late summer transfers by companies which have moved children out of the district and the replacement families have not moved to Spearman yet.

Chamber Will Plan Program of Work

Program of work planning meetings will be held Tuesday, Sept. 6, in the Chamber of Commerce, President Kenneth Evans announced this week. Billed as "Can Do--Come See" meetings, Chamber officials are working to have a big turn out for the two meetings. One will be at 10:30 a.m. and

One will be at 1030 a.m. and the second at 3 p.m.

Evans said this was the most important meeting of the year for the Chamber. It will be at this meeting, he pointed out, that the plans for the next 12 months of work will be made.

Special invitations are being sent to pastors and a few ing sent to pastors and a few other individuals. Every member has received a post card invitation and will receive an-

Manager Red Smith said his office will also try to call each member just before the meeting to remind them of the meet-

This planning session must have representation of the full membership. Evans said. "If the chamber is to represent the majority of the members then a majority of the members must help form the policies.

At the meeting the members and guests will be asked to submit at least five suggestions for immediate and long range projects for the Chamber to work on.

work on.
After the suggestions are all

After the suggestions are all compiled, then a committee will take the suggestions and draw up a program of work for the organization.

When the program is completed, the president will appoint committees to go to work on the various projects included in the program.

Several attempts have been made in past years to have such a meeting compile a program of work, but attendance has been so light, the work has been ineffectual. Evans said if the Chamber is to be as effective as possible for Spearman, it must have this cooperation from members in compiling a blueprint from which to work.

A Board of Directors meeting will be held at 9:30 a,m. that morning.

Boosters Raise Enough Money For Blazers

Spearman Lynx Booster Club completed its first project last week when enough money was raised to purchase purple blazers for the members of the variity athletic teams.

Club President Slim Cates said the businesses and individuals donated $1,035 to purchase the coats.

Coach George Wright said the blazers are being ordered and the supply house said they would be here for the first road game, that being Canyon, Sept. 23.

These blazers will be issued to members of the varsity teams at the beginning of the season. The players will wear them on road trips. At the end of the season the coats will be turned in to be used by the next team.

If you're a parent of a gradeschooler, you have probably noticed the new Spearman Junior High School crest in front of the building.

It's quite a nice addition to the school grounds and was designed, you remember, by Scott Latham in a contest last year. Perhaps something similar in the way of a sign for the high school would add to that building's exterior appearance.

R. Ca Hutchison and Jerry Green are back from Austin and the Texas Youth Conference which was sponsored by the Texas Law Enforcement and Youth Development Foundation. I understand Rebecca and Jerry are available to present club programs concerning the conference. If you are interested in the prevention of juvenile delinquency through youth citizenship development and would like to have your club hear what these young people have to say, you might contact Miss Linda Webb, home demonstration agent, as both young people are very active in 4-H work in the county. J.L. Brock was in charge of arrangements for their trip.

We've unpacked our new autumn Hallmark party items and we're ready now to help you get ready for the entertaining season which is beginning.

The burnished golds and oranges, autumns browns and dusty bronze shades are all evident in the new designs. You're going to love them. And, there'll be lots more to come in the weeks and months ahead.

Over at the Gift Box, lots of you know the supply of candles is forever changing. For some reason, customers out here in the Texas Panhandle just go for candles in a big way.

If you're a parent of a gradeschooler, you have probably noticed the new Spearman Junior High School crest in front of the building.

It's quite a nice addition to the school grounds and was designed, you remember, by Scott Latham in a contest last year. Perhaps something similar in the way of a sign for the high school would add to that building's exterior appearance.

I understand Rebecca and Jerry are available to present club programs concerning the conference. If you are interested in the prevention of juvenile delinquency through youth citizenship development and would like to have your club hear what these young people have to say, you might contact Miss Linda Webb, home demonstration agent, as both young people are very active in 4-H work in the county, J.L. We've unpacked our new autumn Hallmark party items and we're ready now to help you get ready for the entertaining season which is beginning.

The burnished golds and oranges, autumns browns and dusty bronze shades are all evident in the new designs. You're going to love them. And, there'll be lots more to come in the weeks and months ahead.

Over at the Gift Box, lots of you know the supply of candles is forever changing. For some reason, customers out here in the Texas Panhandle just go for candles in a big way.

Miss Gloria Ricketts Is Bride of Larry Ed Beck

In an impressive double-ring ceremony Saturday, August 27 at 2 p.m. in the Methodist Chruch, Miss Gloria Ricketts became the bride of Larry Ed

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ricketts and Mrs. Velma Beck, all of

The Rev. Wesley Daniel,
pastor, directed the exchange of vows before an altar arranged with garlands of greenery.
Branched candelabra housing Branched candelabra horning white tapers were placed at either side of a center bouquet of talisman crysanthe mums and white gladiolas, emphasizing the bride's chosen colors of yellow and white. Yellow satin bows marked the bridal aisle.

Miss Mary Ellen Barkley, organist, presented a prelude of wedding selections and accompanied Mike Morris of Fairview, Okla., soloist.

Candelighters were Mike Tucker of Spearman and Kim Ricketts, cousin of the bride, of Sublette, Kan.

Escorted to the altar and

She carried out the tradition of wearing something old, new, bornowed and blue and her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

There's really no explaining the record sales, but those of you who have been buying Betty's candles have helped her get a feature story in a current trade magazine.

Seems Betty's candle orders even astounded her suppliers. When they asked her what she used for a sales pitch, she said something about how fabulous it is to take a bath by candlelight.

I honestly heard her tell a customer that one morning in her store, but I thought she was kidding.

The lady bought the candle though so who can tell what prompted her to make the purchase.

I just must try a bath by candlelight. I wouldn't want to miss a target of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Marvin Becker, cousin of the bride of Denver, Colo, was matron of honor and Miss Linda Ricketts was her sister's bridesmaid. They wore empire dresses of gold peau de soie highlighted with white lace trim at the waistline.

Their headpleces highlighted with a small white rose were

Kim Townsend, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

She wore a long gold empire dress with white lace trimming dress with white lace trimming the skirt. She wore white gloves and a flower headpiece and carried a basket filled with white roses. Yellow ribbons were woven along the top edge of the basket and a bow was tied on the handle. Chris Ricketts of Sublette, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

Verlin Beck, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and Gail Beck, another brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, Ushers were Rodney Davis of Stratton, Colo., cousin of the bridegroom and Burton Williamson of Lubbock, Mrs. Ricketts chose for her daughter's wedding, a yellow waffle weave suit and white accessories highlighted with patent leather trim. Mrs. Beck, the bridegroom's mother, wore a light yellow knit suit with beige accessories. Her corsage was also white cymbidium orchids.

At the reception in fellowship hall following the ceremony, the table was laid with a white lace cloth over yellow highlighted with yellow tapers in crystal holders which were inlaid with silver. The four laid with silver. The four tiered wedding cake was de-corated with white columns and yellow roses and topped with a miniature wedding couple. Judge Boyer Is Right

In Washington and other places where such things are decided, a new Federal Judge is being selected to replace Judge Dooley on the federal bench for this district.

The name of 84th District Judge Max Boyer of Perryton is being considered for the position. In our opinion the selectors of Judge Dooley's successor could not pick a better man for the position. Judge Boyer has a life-long law career and apparently a life-long friendship with the law. It is apparent by the way the judge conducts his court and himself that he has the greatest respect for the law and wants everyone else to hold it in the same respect has done.

Judge Boyer wants people to be familiar with the law and courtprocedure. He will go out of his way to answer questions of the interested and curious and he welcomes visitors to his courtroom.
Judge Boyer has the support of the men who practice law in his 84th District Court. We believe if such a poll were taken he would also have the support of the working news reporters of the area.
In the several cases tried here which have drawn outside news interest, the reporters who cover courts all the time have here.

interest, the reporters who cover courts all the time have been very much impressed with Judge Boyer, his court and his preparation for each case.

We would not like to lose a good district judge, but we think Judge Boyer is the man to succeed Judge Dooley.

Production Not Answer

American farmers will be permitted to increase their wheat acreage by 30 per cent for next year's crop, and of a certainty that is only the beginning. For the extra production that is designed to bringabout will go principally, as Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman puts it, to "continued export expansion and large food assistance requirements" to help feed hunsion and large food assistance requirements" to help feed hungry countries of the world.

More and more, it appears, the farms of the United States will be called upon to feed the nations which are "have nots" in food production but burgeoning in population. But if world population growth follows the pattern predicted by the experts, the attempt to step up agricultural production in this and other countries with an advanced farm technology is bound to fall short of the goal of filling all the stomachs that will be clamoring for food.

The Rockefeller Foundation suggests that this whole approach to the food problem is founded on unrealism.

"It is a humanitarian propostion, it says, "to suggest that the more advanced and affluent countries of the world should assume the burden of feeding the hungry nations...but this the more advanced and affluent countries of the world should assume the burden of feeding the nungry nations...but this at best could be only a short-term expendient, as well as a force disruptive to the local economy. A far more rational approach would be a large-scale and well-organized effort toward overcoming the tremendous underproduction which plaques so much of the world today."

Even today 50 per cent of the world's population is suffering from hunger or malnutrition. Present food production would be insufficient to overcome this condition, says the foundation, even if it could be regularly and properly distributed. What, then, will be the situation in the future if population continues its explosive growth?

What, then, will be the situation in the future if population continues its explosive growth?

The global population is now doubling every 35 years. Such a rate of growth means that more and more land will be required merely for living space, leaving a diminishing amount for tood production. This is especially true in the more advanced countries which are depended upon for a major part of the world's food. There are limits to what such countries can do. They cannot forever carry the world on their backs. But backward methods and primitive conditions in many countries mean that their food production potential is not being realized. The foundation recommendation is for a worldwide, soundly organized program to raise the level of agricultural technology in those countries—to make them efficient producers of food.

Some effort along this line has been going on for years, unducers of food.

Some effort along this line has been going on for years, under the auspices of such agencies as the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, But what the Rockefeller Foundation envisions is a crash program on a giant scale, involving maximum effort by governments and private enterprise the world over.

If this seems an obvious necessity, something else appears equally imperative, and this the report of the foundation mentions only in passing. This is effective means of limiting population growth, a matter which world leaders approach in gingerly fashion.
