

OPS Puts Horse Under Its Wing Via Price Rules

By FRANK E. CAREY
WASHINGTON (U)—"I'm so hungry I could eat a horse."

You've heard people say that, but are they actually doing it because they find other meat too expensive?

Dr. C. H. Pals was asked if the government knew anything about that. He said he hadn't heard of anything like it. Neither had officials of the U. S. Public Health Service.

But the Office of Price Stabilization imposed dollars-and-cents ceilings on horsemeat for both animal and human consumers last night, saying:

"Horsemeat is used extensively as an ingredient in food products for animals, especially in dog food, and to a limit extent as a food for human consumption."

Dr. Pals, of the Agriculture Department's meat inspection Division, said he did know that federally inspected, unadulterated horsemeat is entirely okay for human consumption.

So also, said Pals, is federally inspected horsemeat that goes into certain canned dog foods. But he added that these canned preparations have other things added to them, such as ground bone, which are great stuff for dogs, but would make the food "unsatisfactory" for human consumption.

Dr. Pals said all bulk horsemeat designed for sale in interstate commerce must pass federal inspection under the same standards prevailing for beef, lamb and pork—and is therefore fit for human consumption.

But he said horsemeat not earmarked for interstate sales does not require Uncle Sam's okay. And, he added, since some states do not require their own horsemeat inspection—and since the meat is presumed to be for animals only—it is possible that some of it is prepared under substandard sanitary conditions and might be dangerous to humans.

BIG SPRING DRUG'S NEW FOUNTAIN

Drug Store Slates Its Formal Opening

Formal opening is being observed Saturday for the Big Spring Drug Company's new store at 217 Main.

Although in an old and familiar drug store location, Big Spring Drug is completely new in fixtures and merchandise, appointments and appearance.

Geared to present-day demands and trends, the fixtures are low enough to permit an easy view of the entire store. Arrangement is such that individuals may serve themselves on practically every item in the store except those which naturally would be required to be served.

The building, finished in pleasant pastels and with fluorescent light grids on celotex ceiling, is completely air conditioned with distribution of air through decorative vents in the ceiling. Fixtures are in blond wood and are lighted. Flooring is asphalt tile and the entrance contains decorative plants. There is no show window—rather, passing traffic is afforded a full view of the store.

The stock, 100 per cent new, is departmentalized for convenience—gifts and toys, baby supplies, school items, patent medicines, prescription department, Kodaks, miscellaneous items such as sprays and polish, cosmetics, candies, tobaccos, etc.

The pharmaceutical department is equipped to fill any prescription that your doctor may give.

Another store feature is free delivery of drug and prescription items.

Manager of the store is Paul Hoge, a native of Knox City. After graduating from high school there he attended the University of Texas and, with four years out for Navy service, was graduated in 1948 with his degree in pharmacy. He worked in Austin, Canadian and Vernon before coming here in January to assume management of the new store. Hoge is married and he and Mrs. Hoge have two children, David and Anne. They reside at 1307 Main. He is affiliated with the Kiwanis Club and VFW.

Truman Daniel, who also finished his pharmacy work at the University the same year as Hoge, is assistant manager. He worked at Levelland, Amarillo and Lubbock before coming here. Daniel is single. One or both of these registered pharmacists are on duty at all times.

Mrs. Ann Maynard, formerly fountain manager at Wacker's, is manager of the fountain department where sandwiches as well as coffee and fountain drinks will be served.

Owners are Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Reagan and son, Pat Reagan. Paul Reagan is a son of B. Reagan, who was in the drug business from 1904 to 1919, and in the location presently occupied by the Big Spring Drug Company from 1909-19.

Medical Reserve Call

WASHINGTON, March 14 (U)—The Army announced yesterday that 28 Medical Reserve officers from the Fourth Army area will be ordered to active duty in July.

Finnegan's Fate Is Now Up To US Jury

ST. LOUIS (U)—A Federal Court jury takes over today in the trial of James P. Finnegan, former Internal Revenue collector and personal friend of President Truman.

U. S. District Judge Rubey M. Hulen will instruct the 11 men and one woman before they retire to decide on two bribery and three misconduct in office charges against Finnegan.

Maximum penalty on each bribery count is three years in prison and a fine three times the amount of the bribe plus permanent disqualification from holding federal office.

The highest possible penalty under each of the other counts is $10,000 fine and two years imprisonment.

In his closing argument yesterday Thomas E. DeWolfe, special assistant U. S. attorney general, described Finnegan's conduct in office as vicious. He said Finnegan "sold the high prestige of his office."

"When he was supposed to be collector for the government, he actually was collector for James P. Finnegan," DeWolfe declared.

In contrast, Harry C. Blanton, chief defense counsel, told the jurors that the "overwhelming weight of the evidence" shows Finnegan to be innocent.

He argued that money which the government claims Finnegan took either as bribes or as illegal fees represented legal compensation to which Finnegan was fully entitled. Finnegan is charged with accepting two $250 bribes from the now defunct Karl Kell Garmand Company, which had a delinquent tax case pending in his office.

He also is charged with accepting $641 in furniture from the same company for representing it in connection with a Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan application; with receiving $3,000 from the American Lithofold Corp. for helping the St. Louis printing firm get an RFC loan, and with taking $3,000 from the Warwick Hotel Corp. in connection with a damage claim against the Coast Guard.

Anyone Seen A Lost Barn?

CUMBERLAND, Md. (U)—Anybody seen a stray barn? One's missing. It was 40 by 50 feet. With a metal roof. And valued at $1,500.

Eighteen months ago it stood on a windy hill, big as life, across the state in West Virginia. It was on the farm of Dr. F. L. Baker.

Dr. Baker died, and none of his heirs moved on the 163-acre place. It remained idle until last week, when it was sold to settle his estate.

During the sale, someone remarked that it had a nice barn up on the hill. A young lad standing by shook his head. "No barn," he said flatly.

A quick check by the buyers and sellers proved him right. No barn. State police were called in. No trace of anything except the stone foundation. And no sign of its being carted away.

The farm's buyer, Dr. Thomas Bass, is still looking for his barn.

Six Men Die When AF Plane Crashes

BAY MINETTE, Ala. (U)—An Air Force C-47 cargo plane burst into flames high in the air yesterday. Six of the seven men aboard died as the ship smashed into a pine thicket.

The seventh man, a lieutenant, parachuted safely although his chute was scorched by the intense flames.

The plane was based at Moody Air Force Base at Valdosta, Ga. It was reported en route from Kelly Air Force Base at San Antonio, Tex., to Bainbridge, Ga.

Lt. H. H. Howell, the injured airman, was picked up by a Navy helicopter. He was only slightly injured.

The Air Force identified three of the dead as Maj. Daniel L. Bliss of San Antonio; Capt. Burton E. Russell of Wilmington, Mass.; and S-Sgt. Robert Updyke of Tyrore, Pa.

The names of the other three dead were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Compromise Wetback Bill Goes To HST

WASHINGTON, March 14 (U)—A new compromise measure designed to restrict the number of wetbacks migrating into this country from Mexico now goes to President Truman.

The House and Senate gave final approval yesterday to the compromise version of separate bills the two bodies had passed.

In passing the bill, the House cut out $1,300,000 asked by the Immigration Service to increase border patrol and deportation activities in the Southwest.

The bill makes it a felony subject to a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $2,000 fine to transport, harbor or conceal an illegal alien.

It permits immigration officials to search any place except a dwelling anywhere within 25 miles of the border without a warrant, if they think illegal aliens are there.

The penalty does not apply to mere employment of an alien.

Meanwhile, a group of West Texas ranchers who had been blacklisted when wetbacks were found working on their ranches obtained agreement that certain of them would again be eligible to use legally admitted Mexicans.

The group, accompanied by Texas Representatives Fisher and Regan, got the agreement after conferring with Undersecretary of Labor Michael J. Galvin.

Classifying The Drivers Might Mean Savings For The Careful

Fire insurance premium rates are reduced where a community has a good fire record, raised when the record gets bad. This carrot-and-stick deal proves a good incentive for towns to keep their record of losses as low as possible.

It is proposed to set all persons under 25 in a separate category carrying a higher premium. Thus where a car is driven only by a person over 25, the owner will get a break, but a car in which members of the family under 25 do part of the driving, the rate will be higher.

One Reason Mails Are Topheavy Is Abusing Of Franking Rights

A Budget Bureau summary, submitted on request of the House Appropriations Committee, discloses that more than 2,600 of Uncle Sam's employees work full or part time in public relations and publicity, at a cost to the taxpayers of more than $17 million.

Using a skimpy few lines of news in envelopes as large as 8x10, when a regular 6 1/2 envelope would do just as well. This office has got as high as half a dozen separate envelopes from the same point of origin, all arriving simultaneously, conveying news of men in our territory, which could just as well be put in a single envelope of normal size.

Irresistible Sen. Douglas Meets Immovable Snyder And Martin

WASHINGTON.— Question: What happens when an irresistible senator questions an immovable witness? Answer: The senator pounds the table. The witness fidgets in his chair. The senator says the witness is unresponsive. The witness changes his words but persists in noncommittal answers. And there you are.

Douglas: If there is a conflict of wills and time presses, what happens then? Martin: I sincerely think this is not a problem that gets decided in that way. There must be give and take on both sides.

Douglas: Mr. Secretary, what should the Federal Reserve Board policy be in the event of a large issue of Treasury bonds? Snyder: The matter has to be worked out. The Reserve Board is very cooperative at the present time.

In reply to a question from Rep. Richard Bolling, (Dem. Mo.), Martin summed up the dilemma of the policy-maker: "I've never been able to resolve in my own mind the line between debt management and money and credit control. The problems merge. In our relations with the Treasury, we must deal as equals. No one can be sufficiently arrogant to think he has the intelligence to solve all problems. The Treasury and the Federal Reserve must try to accommodate the interests of both agencies to situations as they arise."

Formosa Missionary Will Speak Saturday

Dr. James R. Graham, Presbyterian missionary in Formosa, is to be the feature speaker at the World Vision Rally sponsored by Wayland College at the First Baptist Church on Saturday evening.

The program, which also will feature the appearance of Wayland's widely known "International Choir" is set for 8 o'clock.

Dr. Graham was born in China of missionary parents, was educated in the U. S. and served in the Marine Corps in World War I. Then he returned to China as a missionary and was instrumental in conversion of many Nationalist leaders.

Back in the United States, he was professor many years at Wheaton College. Two years ago he returned to the Far East as a missionary in Formosa where the Free China government is headquartered. There, he said, he has witnessed much greater "ingathering of souls into the Kingdom of Christ than in any...period on the mainland."

Dr. Graham is acquainted with and has had the support of President and Madame Chiang Kai-shek. Both at home and abroad.

14 Instructors To Receive JC '52-'53 Pacts

The Howard County Junior College president was authorized Thursday night to extend contracts to 14 instructors for the 1952-53 session.

Included are two full-time faculty members who are now on leave of absence while serving in the armed forces.

The college has received letters from Harold L. Davis and George McAllister, who were recalled to the Marine Corps last summer. Both said they expected to be released from active duty in June and that they were interested in returning to HCJC.

The board had granted Davis and McAllister leaves of absence, with agreement that both men would return to the college if they so desired upon release from the service.

The board voted to forward a special "letter of appreciation" to Benmie Rutherford, who joined the faculty temporarily this year as coach to serve during Davis' absence.

Other faculty members elected for next year are Mrs. Ruby Blankenship, J. T. Clements, Elizabeth Cope, Mildred D. Franks, George M. Hank, B. M. Keese, Wayne Matthews, Mrs. Charlotte K. Sullivan, William R. Thompson, Mrs. Prudence M. Taylor, James B. Frazier and Bill Holbert.

Holbert, who also is on leave of absence to continue work toward his Doctor's degree, was named to teach agriculture, which is a half-time post at the college. He was teaching agriculture at the time he took a leave of absence.

Ike Backers Think N. H. Result Clear Call That General Seeks

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
 WASHINGTON, (AP)—Backers of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for President are talking of his New Hampshire victory as the clear-cut call to political duty, which he indicated would bring him home from Europe.

In January, Eisenhower said that "in the absence of a clear-cut call to political duty, I shall continue to devote my full attention to the performance of the vital task to which I am assigned"—supreme commander of the North Atlantic defense forces.

He also said that in no circumstances would he seek relief from that assignment, and that he would not take part in pre-convention activities in his behalf.

Some of his supporters now are pointing to the outcome in New Hampshire as perhaps the kind of clear-cut call he had in mind, even though they see no clear-cut way around his statement regarding pre-convention activities.

Eisenhower scored a grand slam in the opening primary contest in New Hampshire, topping Sen. Taft of Ohio by 10,677 votes in the preferential (popularity) contest and winning all 14 delegates to the GOP National Convention.

Taft supporters have said, however, that he still is very much in the running and will get the nomination. Some Eisenhower men, such as Sen. Ives (R-NY), have agreed that Taft remains a formidable contender.

Sen. Lodge (R-Mass.), Eisenhower's campaign manager, declined to say whether he looks for the general to come home before the convention.

"I am standing by my statement that Eisenhower will be in the right place at the right time," Lodge said. "Some people on the other side were surprised at what happened in New Hampshire. There are more surprises to come."

Lodge did say he plans to vote against a proposal by Sen. McMahon (D-Conn.) that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee ask Eisenhower to come home to testify on the foreign aid program.

Asked why he is against the idea, Lodge would say only that he and other members of the committee can get all the European defense information required from Eisenhower's top aide, who is scheduled to testify.

Eisenhower backers are known to feel that the move to bring him before the committee has political implications which would link him too closely to the Truman administration and weaken an disagreement he might later express regarding foreign policy.

Last night, Eisenhower-for-Presdent he quarters released an excerpt from a letter in which the general apparently sought to allay the doubts and fears of some party workers about their future if Eisenhower becomes President.

The general wrote: "From two or three of my good friends I have received intimations that the rank and file are fearful that if given the opportunity I would completely ignore organization and loyal workers in order to be a wild maverick."

"Of course, such a fear seems a little incomprehensible to me because certainly it is known that I have spent much of my life in activities in which strong organization was the first requisite. . . . "I, therefore, would not hesitate to let it be known in some proper manner that I would never ignore the rank and file of any organization. . . ."

FOR RED INFILTRATIONS UAW Talks Ouster Of Local Officers

DETROIT (AP)—The International Executive Board of the CIO United Auto Workers took up the question today whether to fire the officers of its largest local for allegedly permitting Communists to infiltrate its ranks.

The show-down came in the wake of a hearing by the House Un-American Activities Committee here this week during which witnesses named several local 600 officers as Communists.

President Carl Stellato of the 60,000-member Ford Local 600 went before the UAW governing board at its demand to resign, saying an administrator should not be appointed to take over the local.

The local's general council, which some witnesses told the House committee is Communist-dominated, met last night to plan strategy.

Fists flew at the council session, from which reporters were barred. Walter Quillico, a member of the local's human relations staff, and Bill Shuford burst from the meeting room and began pummeling each other. Bystanders separated them and they finally went back to the meeting.

The reason for the outburst was not learned.

A few hours after he got his summons from the international, Stellato fired the editor of the local's newspaper and suspended two members of his staff who were reluctant witnesses before the House committee.

David Averill was fired as editor of Ford Facts. Stellato said Averill, an admitted reformed Communist, knew that his charges that the newspaper was Red-dominated were untrue.

Stellato said that under union rules Averill should have filed charges within 60 days after he became aware of any officer's Communist affiliation.

Those suspended pending further investigation were James Watts

Modern Romeo's Marriage Annuled By Court In Crete

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—A court annulment has brought to a legal end the marriage of Crete's impetuous modern-day Romeo, Costa Kephalyannis, to his Juliet.

The end of the match, which once threatened to revive clan warfare on the island, was peaceful. Kephalyannis did not appear in court. The bride, Tassoula Petrakopoulou, was represented by her father, a parliament member.

Kephalyannis abducted sultry-eyed Tassoula in August, 1950, and fled with her to a mountain hide-out. He was later sent to prison for bearing arms at the time he captured her. She stuck by him, and they were reunited. The romance cooled earlier this year, however.

Tassoula said she had never really loved him. Kephalyannis said he was relieved she was gone.

Timothy, a Dependable Follower

PAUL CALLED HIM HIS "BELOVED SON, AND FAITHFUL IN THE LORD."

Scripture—Acts 16:1-3; I Corinthians 4:14-21; Philippians 2:19-24, I Timothy 4:10-16; II Timothy 2:1-13.

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL
EVERY MINISTER of the gospel should frequently read and re-read the chapters in which the Apostle Paul gave advice to his young friend, Timothy, as to his duties and attitudes in his ministry, for which Paul trained him.

Paul, on his second missionary journey in Asia Minor, came to Derbe and Lystra; and, behold, a certain disciple was there, named Timothy (or Timotheus), the son of a certain woman, which was a Jewess, and believed; but his father was a Greek.

The brethren at Lystra reported well of him, and Paul, evidently liking the young man on sight, wanted him to go with him. He circumcised him to make him acceptable to the Jews to whom he would preach, who would have despised a man who had not obeyed the law of Moses, and refused to listen to him.

After about three years had passed, during which time Timothy had been working with Paul, reports reached Paul that there were contentions in the Christian church at Corinth, Greece. The people were divided in their loyalties—some saying that they followed Apollo, some Peter, and some Paul.

Some felt themselves above the simple gospel of Christ; there was drunkenness and immoralities among some of the members, and even some rebellion against the Apostle Paul and his authority. How grieved Paul must have been to learn of all this! Few things on earth seem more saddening than dissension in Christian churches and the bitterness engendered thereby.

Paul, therefore, wrote to the church at Corinth, beseeching them to be followers of himself, and saying, "For this cause have I sent unto you Timotheus, who is my beloved son, and faithful in the Lord, who shall bring you into remembrance of my ways which be in Christ, as I teach everywhere in every church."

He also wrote that he hoped soon to be able to come to them—which wish was apparently never fulfilled—and, after telling them of their faults of which he had heard, he asked: "What will ye? shall I come unto you with a rod, or in love, and in the spirit of meekness?"

From his prison in Rome Paul wrote to the church at Philippi that he trusted "in the Lord Jesus to send Timotheus shortly to you, that I also may be of good comfort, when I know your state."

"For I have no man like-minded, who will naturally care for your state. For all seek their own, not the things which are Jesus Christ's."

"All seek their own, not the things which are Jesus Christ's." Even in those days when not so many years before Jesus had been among them. His so-called followers were seeking what they desired in selfishness, not following Christ's example of selflessness. There seemed so few that Paul could rely upon to help others—or to "serve," as Jesus said.

To young men just beginning their ministry, those words of Paul, the successful preacher, to Timothy should give assurance and courage: "Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity."

"Till I come, give attendance to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine. Neglect not the gift that is in thee, which was given thee by prophecy, with the laying on of the hands of the Presbytery."

"Meditate upon these things; give thyself wholly to them; that thy profiting may appear to all."

In Paul's second letter to his "beloved son," Timothy, he was nearing the end of his life. In chains, facing certain death by martyrdom, he wrote: "Thou therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Jesus Christ. And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also."

"Thou therefore endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ."

"No man that entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier. And if a man also strive for masteries, yet is he not crowned, except he strive lawfully."

"Consider what I say: and the Lord give thee understanding in all things. Remember that Jesus Christ, of the seed of David, was raised from the dead according to my gospel: wherein I suffer as an evil doer, even unto bonds; but the word of God is not bound."

"Therefore I endure all things for the elect's sake, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory. It is a faithful saying: For if we be dead with Him, we shall also live with Him; if we suffer, we shall also reign with Him; if we deny Him, he also will deny us; if we believe not, yet He abideth faithful: He cannot deny Himself."

So Timothy was exhorted, advised and strengthened in his faith and his work, by his great and good friend who was so soon to leave this earth to be with Christ.

Paul, therefore, wrote to the church at Corinth, beseeching them to be followers of himself, and saying, "For this cause have I sent unto you Timotheus, who is my beloved son, and faithful in the Lord, who shall bring you into remembrance of my ways which be in Christ, as I teach everywhere in every church."

He also wrote that he hoped soon to be able to come to them—which wish was apparently never fulfilled—and, after telling them of their faults of which he had heard, he asked: "What will ye? shall I come unto you with a rod, or in love, and in the spirit of meekness?"

From his prison in Rome Paul wrote to the church at Philippi that he trusted "in the Lord Jesus to send Timotheus shortly to you, that I also may be of good comfort, when I know your state."

"For I have no man like-minded, who will naturally care for your state. For all seek their own, not the things which are Jesus Christ's."

Only a photographer can superimpose the Bible on the World! History tells us that the few theocrats who tried it failed. Not that the Bible is too small to cover the World. THE WORLD IS TOO SMALL TO ENCOMPASS THE BIBLE.

A great truth, you see, is always greater than those who awaken to it! That is why the Bible can change men's lives... can give them immortality. Men do not grip the Bible. The Bible grips men!

But don't make the mistake of waiting for the Bible to reach you. It has already surrounded you!

REACH FOR THE BIBLE. In your Home. In your Church.

Learn its Truth. Love its Author. Live its Life.

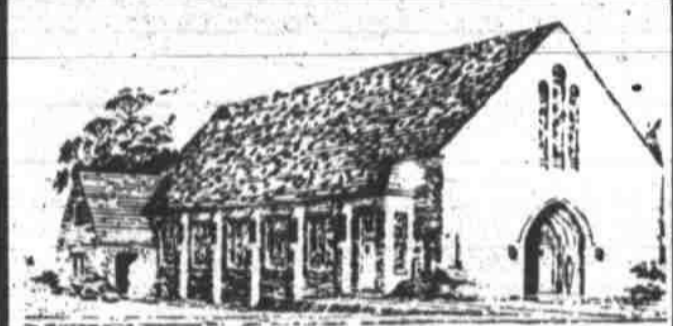

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Scouts To Observe 40th Birthday With Program Tonight In Gymnasium

International Thinking Day and the Girl Scout Birthday will be observed locally this evening with a program at the Junior High School gymnasium at 7:30.

Each troop in Big Spring, Coahoma and Forsan will participate in the program.

It was on March 12, 40 years ago that the first Girl Scout troop in the United States was founded in Savannah, Ga., by Juliette Low.

She organized the troop, even though she was not physically strong and had had no previous experience of any kind with social work, because she loved young people.

Unhappily childless, she wanted to be a fairy godmother not only to Savannah girls, but to all the girls of the United States.

Because of Mrs. Low's faith in the future and her belief in youth, there are almost two million Girl Scouts in America today.

This evening's program will include an explanation of Thinking Day and the Girl Scout Birthday by Mrs. Wilburn Elliott, president of the Girl Scout Leader's Club. She will also introduce Rex Brown, West Texas area field director, and Jean Robison, Troop 1, who will be mistress of ceremonies.

Ceremonial Indian dances will be presented by Brownie Troop 16 and 17 under the direction of their leaders, Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr. and Mrs. Paul Holden.

A group of Western songs will be sung by Troop 9 with Mrs. Herman McPherson as leader. Tommie Jo Williamson, Troop 11, will be accompanist.

Intermediate Troop 22 will present the English Peddler's Cry, directed by Mrs. Ellett.

Members of Brownie Troop 19 will dance the Virginia Reel. Mrs. Carl Madison is the leader.

Mrs. W. L. Smith will present Intermediate Troop 25 singing a German folk song, and a Dutch folk song will be given by Brownie Troop 5 with Mrs. Grady McCrary a leader.

Geneva Mayers will announce the Hungarian folk dance to be presented by Intermediate Troop 1, under the leadership of Mrs. A. J. Cain.

The Coahoma Intermediate Troop will give its version of Chinese Tag, directed by Mrs. L. T. Anderson.

Mrs. Bill Earley's Troop 11 will dance the Gypsy dance, and it will be announced by Lynda Gayle Glenn.

A German dance by Brownie Troop 18 led by Mrs. Matt Casey and a Mexican dance by the Kate Morrison Troop 23, under the direction of Mrs. Mable Atkins, will conclude the girls' part on the program.

Immediately following, Miss Browning will acknowledge the newly-organized troops of the area. The evening will close with all Girl Scouts joining to form a friendship circle, singing the Scout song and "Faps."

That evening will also be observed as Father's Night.

Reports were given from the committee chairman, Mrs. Sarah Penick, Mrs. C. Mae Perkins and Mrs. C. R. Eubanks.

Mrs. Scott's second grade won the room count.

Refreshments were served to about 30.

DESIGNING WOMAN

Arrange Beds To Make The Most of Available Space

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Take two mattresses and box-springs, add one huge table and what do you have? A roomful of furniture that's night useful only? Or a conversation corner that is useful all day? The best reason for arranging two beds, one against each wall and at right angles to each other, is to free center floor space so the room looks uncrowded. And there's another reason now that bedrooms change to bed-sitting rooms and extra sleeping room is planned into other rooms in the house — and that's because beds against walls can be styled to look like sofas. Here's an idea that makes the arrangement more compact than ever before, and creates the effect of a conversation corner. The key piece of a brand new table, designed to tuck a good part of one bed's length out of sight. Mattresses and springs are supported evenly by metal frames, covers and cushions are tailored like upholstery. In the daytime, space usually wasted under a corner table top is occupied by part of the bed. At night, this bed slides out to be used full length.

Space Is Headache For Record Collector

By JO HILL

A record collector who never plays a record before he buys it, one whose collection ranges from the best of boogie woogie to the best in Bach, that's Hugh Mathis, local photographer.

A collection that has approximately 400 albums in it creates a special storage problem all its own. Mathis has had cabinets built, but still the records keep piling up. So his only course has been to trade his standard records for those of the long playing variety.

In reality, Mathis doesn't consider himself a collector. "A collector, in the true sense, knows something about music. I like music for relaxation only. The mood I'm in and the time of day it happens to be signifies the type of music I play," he commented.

The collector never plays a record before he buys it because of the time-consuming factor. When he wants some new records, he goes to a record store and gathers up an armful. Only when he gets in the privacy of his home does he play them.

But he doesn't hesitate to say that he has lost as many records as he has collected...once 40 albums were lost at one time in a theft.

"A collector's item in records is simply one you can't buy," Mathis believes. "Some people consider Glenn Miller's records items...I've heard, too, that 'The Last Time I Saw Paris' was an item, but I honestly don't know."

Many U. S. Agencies Are Aware Of Public's Right To Get Info

By JAMES DEVLIN
 NEW YORK (U)—Five months have elapsed now since President Truman issued his controversial order authorizing all non-defense as well as defense agencies to label information as secret. In varying degrees.

How is it working out in actual practice?

The Washington Post surveyed the situation in each of 86 non-defense agencies and found that few utilize their new authority. It found that those which have used it "do not know how many documents have been buried from public security in the imposition of classified labels."

Truman's order, issued Sept. 21, 1951, touched off anew the perennial press campaign for freedom of information. That means information for the people, not just freedom for the press.

The Post found that "many agencies exhibit a sharp awareness of the public's right to information."

But others, including some that hardly would be considered centers of secret activity, were reluctant even to tell how they applied the new directive.

You might think that the Post-office doesn't have any news except for annual stories on the volume of Christmas mail. But the newspaper said the Postoffice "flatly refused to disclose anything about the application of the order."

Officials of some departments or agencies said the directive liberalized the release of news because it gave a clearer idea than heretofore of what should not be kept secret.

This was the view taken by President Truman.

"It is my hope," he said, "that the practical effect of these regulations will be to make more, rather than less, information available to the people."

The President defined the order as intended to protect information from "potential enemies."

But the American Society of Newspaper Editors, headed by Alexander F. Jones, executive editor of the Herald-Journal and

Harris Jail Riot Is Quelled By Tear Gas

HOUSTON, March 14 (U)—A riot of 29 prisoners in the Harris County Jail, which had raged for more than two hours despite the fumes from six tear gas bombs, was quelled last night by Sheriff C. V. (Buster) Kern without the use of violence.

After questioning each of the 29, who had broken windows and plumbing in cell block number one on the sixth floor and had thrown objects at deputy sheriffs who had tried to control them, the sheriff blamed the outbreak on four "trouble-making" prisoners.

While most of the 29 either could not give a reason for the rioting or would not talk, two or three said it was because one prisoner had been put in the dark cell.

The dark cell is a small steel

Slingshot Vandals Get Too Accurate

LOS ANGELES (U)—Slingshot vandals are getting entirely too accurate in their aim.

They raised considerable havoc in the Inglewood and Lennox areas earlier this week by shooting glass marbles through windows of business establishments and residences.

Last night a vandal from a moving automobile shot a quart of oil out of the hands of a service station attendant. David R. Oren, 20, said he was wiping off the bottle when he heard a z-z-z-z and felt the glass crash in his hand.

Riding The GRUB LINE

By Franklin Reynolds

Bob Tate, Bexar County agricultural agent, who judged the steers at the show Wednesday said the San Antonio area had received some showers that have put in a little green in the grass.

In describing this green he said it looked like moss on a rock.

H. N. Zant, who farms three miles west of Vealmoor has blocked the ends of his terraces on a field that was terraced about eight years ago. ant is building a ridge along the border of his field as high as the terraces to hold the water and to stop the gullying in the upper borrow ditch.

J. A. Ryan, living two miles south of Luther, and a co-operator with the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District, is building up his old terraces. Ryan is pulling more dirt into the terraces to make a broader base so that farm equipment will be easier to handle on them.

According to an announcement from the Department of Agriculture it is indicated that the quarantine on Mexican cattle because of the foot-and-mouth disease epidemic, may be lifted before September 1st. The ban was imposed in December of 1946.

One of West Texas' largest dairy sales in some time will take place at 11 a.m. Monday at the G. W. Webb farm, two miles north of Big Spring and one-half mile west, when the Webb and Hopper herd will be dispersed by Auctioneer Kenneth Bozeman of Lubbock.

Being offered are 49 Holsteins and eight Jerseys in production.

Lunch will be served on the grounds by the ladies of the Fairview Home Demonstration Club.

No More Stopping For The Ladies Now To Check Stockings

READING, Pa. (U)—Good news for the girls.

No more stooping, twisting and turning. No more one-leg balancing acts. Now lady can tell if those stocking seams are straight without the usual contortions.

According to patents issued recently to Alfred E. Ischinger, Reading patent attorney, a new "decorative line"—not a seam—down the front of the stocking, from the knee to the ankle, will indicate the position of the rear seam. It's as simple as that.

The line, which will terminate in "various design combinations," has another appeal. Ischinger says the new hose will have a slenderizing effect on the legs.
