Gifford-Hill Breaks Ground

Grissiam Death Verdict Will Be Appealed

The murder conviction and death penalty imposed upon John Lincoln Grissiam in 84th District Court at 11 p.m. Monday will be appealed.

Don Reavis, one of the court appointed attorneys for Grissiam said Tuesday that an appeal of the conviction will be made. Monday night, immediately following the trial the other defender, Charles Ballman said it was customary to appeal such sentences.

A jury of eight men and four women lacked only eight minutes being out of the courtroom 12 hours before returning with the guilty verdict and the death penalty for Grissiam.

Grissiam, 34, was convicted of the Feb. 26, 1965, murder of P.H. (Mickey) Westerfield. Westerfield died of a gunshot wound received when he returned to his store in Gruver about 9 p.m. the night he died.

In two signed statements, admitted as evidence in court, Grissiam told how he entered the store, looking for money, he believed Westerfield kept there.

In one statement he said Westerfield was in the store when he broke in, but in a later statement he said he was in the store when Westerfield came in.

In his statement he said that after he shot the store owner, he went to a file cabinet and looked through it for the money he thought was there.

It was brought out in the trial that Westerfield had a large amount of money on his person when his body was found in the store.

Several hours of testimony was taken before Judge Max Boyer, with the jury out of the courtroom, before the confessions were admitted as evidence.

Tracks found near the broken window of the store were recognized by Ross Walker, Grissiam's employer, to be like tracks he had seen around the farmhouse on his place where Grissiam lived. Walker testified to this in the court.

Sheriff J.B. Cooke testified that Grissiam, after being arrested late in the afternoon of Feb. 27, took him to a tail-water pond on a farm and told him he had thrown his gun in the pond.

This gun was recovered and later identified as the murder weapon.

In Grissiam's confessions he said he and his brother Ernest had planned to burglarize the Westerfield store because they had heard he kept money in his store.

Before going to Gruver, he went by his house and got the nine-shot revolver, he said.

Deputy Sheriff O.V. Walker testified that Ernest Grissiam came to his house about 8:30 p.m. the night Westerfield was killed.

He was there when Walker received a phone call from an operator in Amarillo telling him she had received a call

Plans For Plant To Make Concrete Pipe By Feb. 1

Ground was broken here Wednesday for Gifford Hill Western's ninth concrete pipe plant and Spearman's first major industry directly linked to the recently developed irrigation farming.

A delegation of Gifford Hill Western executives, Chamber of Commerce and Industrial Foundation members, City and County officials and local businessmen attended a luncheon and groundbreaking ceremonies at noon.

At the luncheon Bruce Spencer Jr., Executive Vice President of Gifford Hill said the plant was located in Spearman so the company could more efficiently serve this area.

Because of the weight and size of the company's product, it cannot be hauled a long distance.

Spencer said they were going to change the looks of the plant site in a hurry now that the ground has been broken. The plant will be located on the Gruver highway.

Jim Burke, Division Manager of Gifford Hill, who will move here from Dumas, said if construction is not delayed by weather, the firm hopes to be making pipe by Feb. 1, 1966.

The 13-acre plant site will have an office building, a shop for repair work and the assembly of gated aluminum pipe, and a third building for the making of concrete pipe. There will also be storage yards for concrete and aluminum pipe.

Burke said there would be nine employees in the concrete plant, office employees, employees in the shop and field crews. There will be approximately 30 people employed by the firm.

Spencer said the plant will not only be a business asset to the community, but, also be a nice looking plant.

Only Locke-Seal concrete irrigation pipe will be made in the Spearman plant.

Spencer said his company appreciated the friendly reception extended to them by Spearman and they would try to be good neighbors in the community.

Besides Spencer and Burke, other Gifford-Hill officials here were Mack Maldin, Sales Representative and Ray Salsman, Crew Foreman. Burke, Maldin, Salsman and office manager John Crawford will live in Spearman. Maldin and Salsman have already moved to town.

Master of Ceremonies J.D. Helms, a director of the industrial foundation, and Mayor Bob Vaughn welcomed Gifford Hill to Spearman at the luncheon.

The ground breaking for the new quarter-million dollar plant marks the successful ending of 11 months work by the Chamber of Commerce and the Industrial Foundation to get Gifford Hill to put the plant here.

Almost a year ago the chamber learned that Gifford Hill was going to put a plant on the North Plains and were considering another town.

The two organizations went to work to sell Spearman as the site for the plant. They were successful.

The plant site was purchased from Lee McClellan.

The 12 will be among Texas 4-H members representing the state at National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, Nov. 28-Dec. 2, the state 4-H office said.

In addition to the educational awards, four of the members were selected to receive $500 college scholarships for their all-round excellence in 4-H Club work. The four are Jacoby, Murphy and Miss Henze and Miss Herrman. The scholarships and certificates of recognition will be presented in locally planned ceremonies.

The 12 were first named county winners in the program, then district and finally were placed in a blue ribbon group for the state. Each has an outstanding record of leadership and achievement in 4-H, community, school and church activities. Their projects and demonstrations have been supervised by the local county Extension agents with assistance from adult leaders and family members.

Allen McCloy is the 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson McCloy of Morse. He has been a 4-H member for 9 years and has been very active in the Morse Jr. Leaders 4-H Club.

He has been District I 4-H Council Chairman, State 4-H Council Delegate and has held many offices in his club and also on the County 4-H Council.

The designated Texas highway system totaled 66,524 miles on August 31, 1965. This included 3,027 miles of Interstate highways, 25,740 miles of U.S.- and State-numbered highways (primary system) and 37,757 miles of Farm-and Ranch-to-Market Roads (secondary system.)

The Texas Highway Department has under construction more than 1,000 miles of new highways on any given day.

Learning By Doing Is Theme of 4-H Training

September 26-October 2 is National 4-H Club Week, being celebrated in 50 states and Puerto Rico by some 2,250,000 4-H boys and girls.

Hansford County can be justly proud of the 125 4-H Club members who live and work in three communities of Gruver, Morse, and Spearman. These members belong to four community 4-H Clubs, 4 girls' clubs and 1 boys' club in these communities.

A new 4-H year starts in September, and a campaign is being held by our 4-H members and leaders to enroll new members in our County 4-H Clubs during the next few weeks.

These 4-H members are enrolling in many projects suitable to their interests and home situations. Most popular among our 4-H'ers are beef, crops, recreation, electricity, money management, clothing, foods, and public speaking, plus many others.

4-H Club work is dedicated to helping young people "learn to do by doing." They receive training for growth in mental, physical, spiritual and emotional aspects of their personalities—a four-square program for American's greatest resource—its youth.

There are more than 19,000 bridges on the Texas highway system.

During the last three years the Texas Highway Department has built more than 1,200 bridges, more than a bridge a day.

Texans travel more than 140 million vehicle miles a day on the State-maintained highway system.

Foundation Goes Ahead With Plans

The Board of Directors of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation is making plans to proceed with the opening of the Paul Green drama about the plains in 1966. In order to accomplish this, the Board is seeking to complete its underwriting program which is half completed. It is also bringing Mark Sumner to the Panhandle for conference.

Sumner is the head of the Institute of Outdoor Drama connected with the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. This organization was created in 1963 to hold conferences for the exchange of ideas and techniques in outdoor theatre, to be a repository for this information, to advise such theatres and to stimulate, help train and place new talent so that this movement may go forward.

Sumner has had a varied background in theatre arts, radio and journalism. He was made director of the Institute in September 1964 after serving as general manager of the show "Home is the Hunter." From 1951-1963 he was chairman of the department of Dramatic Arts and Speech at Mary Washington College, University of Virginia.

He has been producer or promotion director for such groups as Orleans Arena Theatre, Cape Cod, Mass., Flat Rock Playhouse and Burnsville school of fine arts, Lighthouse Players near Ocean City. From 1955-63 he operated radio station WFVA. In addition he is the author of several short plays which are quite popular, and numerous stories and magazine articles.

Sumner will speak in the intimate theatre in the Fine Arts Building at West Texas at 10 a.m. Friday, Oct. 1. The lecture will be preceded by a coffee from 9 to 10 in the main lounge of the Fine Arts Building where the guests will have an opportunity to visit with him.

There will be no charge. Everyone who is interested is urged to come.

At the suggestion of Green, "Thundering Sounds Of The West," will be retained in the repertoire of the Pioneer Amphitheatre. This is the production given in the theatre during the summer of 1965. Green says that this covers beautifully a part of the history he will not touch on, and that it must be given frequently in the future.

Since the ways of combining a program of two productions are technically complicated, the Board of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation decided to ask William A. Moore, the Director for the Pioneer Amphitheatre, Paul Green, and Mark Sumner-head of the Institute for Outdoor Drama-to work out future scheduling of the productions, and agreed to follow their recommendations.

I think newspaper stores of sports events, namely football, can be very entertaining. There are all the usual colorful phrases like swivel-hipped halfbacks, sticky-fingered ends, the quarterback who steps on his launching pad and threads the needle, and so on.

I read one account of a game last week though that phrased it all differently. Seems the victors "eased" the ball over for some extra points and "performed adroitly on defense forcing the opposition into suicidal offensive plays which often resulted in big losses."

I'd say that account was either written by a woman, or sure took some fellow a long time to write. That's for dictionary-by-my-side sure.

Ever hear of the Christian Record Braille Foundation Inc.? I believe its services are used locally so it should be of interest to us. The foundation offers monthly magazines of which five are in braille, one on tape and one in larger type for those who retain some sight. The foundation brings personal visitations of its workers with blind people in their homes, helping to advise them in all phases of their handicapped lives. In addition the foundation provides a talking magazine, a talking book service and a lending library of brailled and recorded books.

Readers are always in demand by the foundation and anyone interested in doing so may tape a ten or fifteen minute selection from some good book such as the Bible or a classic and send it to Mr. Murel Moddrell, 2449 Klondike Drive, Dallas, Texas or Christian Record Braille Foundation, Lincoln, Nebraska 68516.

The tape will be judged for clarity, pleasing voice, enunciation, pronunciation and so on. Individuals selected for talking a book will be sent a tape recorder and a book to read. A couple of hours a day spent in recording will soon make the book available as a master copy, from which any number of further copies can be made as needed.

Inoted in Nancy Ezzell's column at Canadian that two WTSU students and ten or more Texas Tech students graduated last year through help of the Christian Record Braille Foundation and talking textbooks. And no two students studied in the same field—each needed a full set of texts for his particular field of study.

If you have time to spend helping others and think that you might qualify as a reader, this sounds like an excellent way to use your talents.

This recipe for plantation fruit pie is in a current magazine but just in case you missed it, I want to include it here because it does something scrumptious to an ordinary frozen pie.

Preheat oven and bake a frozen apple or peach pie (I used peach and it was delicious.) Remove from oven and cool 15 minutes.

Combine 3/4 cup sour cream; 1 egg, slightly beaten; 2 tablespoons sugar; and 1/2 tsp. almond extract. Spoon mixture over top of pie. Bake at 325 degrees for 10 or 15 minutes or until set. Remove and sprinkle with toasted coconut. Cool about 15 minutes before serving. (Let coconut toast in oven as topping is cooking. Spread in shallow pan and stir several times while toasting to a light brown color.)

Engagement Announced—

"You Can't Legislate Morality" is a dangerous half-truth statement.

What is true about the statement? It tells us that true morality--the kind of right thinking & living that pleases God--cannot be achieved by lawmaking. People can be forced to conform to law, but motivation and intention cannot be determined by force.

We want people to do the right thing rather than to be made to do it, against their will. This is true indeed.

The fact is in human society there is no other way except through law and custom to legislate morality. The world may try persuasion and appeal to self-interest or loyalty, but these methods are limited.

You don't hear people say "You can't legislate morality; when speaking of murder or theft or rape or mayhem. We are most happy to make them illegal, to put them under threat of punishment.

It is unlegislated morality that creates problems in human society. God has given the state (or governments) to legislate morality and enforce that which is best for our common good and temporal welfare.

It is difficult to be told what one has been doing all along is now suddenly evil, wrong, immoral. If its wrong now, why wasn't it wrong before? Why hasn't someone spoken on it before? These are the anguished questions often asked.

When the law affects our privilege, condemns our behavior, demands a painful review of what we have been in the habit of doing, then it is much easier to settle the whole matter by saying "Leave things as they are. Af-

We should allow ourselves to be guided by Scripture as well as honest, soul-baring, searching examinations of morals, God has ordered government and law. So the Christian derives desire and strength to walk in the ways of the Lord from the Spirit's work through Word and Sacrament.

Only the Gospel changes hearts, although Law can legislate morality. We need people's hearts changed so we obey God's ways gladly. Then peace will reign in the hearts of people and races. Until this happens, we will often find bitterness and morality that is confusing.

According to the Patrol report these accidents resulted in $20,380 in property damage.

In Hansford County there were two rural accidents during the month. One person was injured and the damage was estimated at $930.

Hutchinson County had nine accidents in which one was killed and eight were injured. The property damage was $17,665.

Ochiltree County had two injured in three wrecks that did $1,785 in property damage.

Sherman County had no accidents during August.

The rural traffic accident summary in Hansford County for the first eight months of 1965 shows a total of seven crashes resulting in none killed, ten persons injured, and an estimated property damage of September 1, 1965, marked the beginning of the new motor vehicle inspection period for all Texas motorists. "With the hard summer driving coming to an end, fall is an excellent time to have vehicles safety checked for the winter months ahead", the Sergeant said.

The Patrol Supervisor called attention to the fact that since the beginning of the inspection program vehicles having a defect that was a causative factor in fatal accidents decreased from 13% to 3%. "The purpose of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Program is to discover any maladjustment which might become a link in a cycle of events leading to an accident, and, by removing the link, prevent the accident" he pointed out.

Good highways are the arteries of our economic system. Virtually everything that Texans buy or sell, make or use moves over the Texas highway system at some time.

More than 1,800 Texas communities are totally dependent upon highways for their economic survival.

There are more than six million registered motor vehicles of all types in Texas.

Fishing Potential Looking Up at Lake Meredith

Fishing potential for Lake Meredith on the Canadian River is looking up. State fisheries biologists have stocked a total of 1,472,000 game fish in the new lake since May of this year. This averages 226 per acre for the lake which now has 6,500 surface acres of water. State fisheries biologist, Lonnie Peters, whose laboratory is located in Canyon, says the stocked game fish are growing rapidly and should be catching size by late fall. Peters says the bass have already reached a length of nine and ten inches and should weigh a pound by late November. He adds that channel catfish stocked in the lake last May should be catching size by spring. State and federal fish hatcheries have stocked

422,000 channel catfish in the lake since May. Walleye were also stocked in the lake last spring with a total of 600,000 of the fish going into the water at various locations. These scrappy game fish have grown from 1.4 inch fry to nine inch fish since. Fishermen have been catching young bass at Meredith since late summer. Most of the fish have averaged about seven inches and were all from the original stocking. Most fishermen have been returning to the lake to grow bigger for future fishing enjoyment.

Take your problems to Church this week — millions leave them there!

IN PRAYER THERE IS POWER

Too many of us hold to the idea that prayer is a practice only for children and in so thinking pass up some of the greatest aids and benefits of life.

Prayer produces power, power that will change one's entire outlook on life, that will make one happier and healthier in body and mind. The fact numerous persons, to whom God is a constant companion, including business and professional people, use prayer to help solve their daily problems is testimony enough of its value.

How then, may we learn to use prayer in such a way as to derive these benefits? It's simple enough. By attending church and using one of the many services offered by the Church—the service of a counsel. From the pastor or some of the church fellowship a counselor may be found who can and will teach us how to pray, how to enrich our lives.

SUPERVISORS ELECTION

Supervisors election for the Kimbell-Hitchland Zone will be held on October 5, 1965, at the Hitch Grain office at 7:30 p.m. All landowners in this zone should be present to select a Supervisor. Supervisors are elected for a 5-year term to assist in coordinating conservation work in the District. Jake Vernon is the present Supervisor in this Zone.

RADIO PROGRAM

I will have a weekly morning radio program each Thursday morning at 6:34 on KBMF-FM in Spearman. This will be a ten minute program. Other morning programs for the week will be as follows:

- Monday-Home Demonstration Agent
- Tuesday-North Plains Water District
- Wednesday-Soil Conservation Service
- Friday-ASCS

SCREWORM PROGRAM

Screwworm problems are centered in two areas of Texas--the Trans-Pecos region and in counties southwest of San Antonio--with the number of infestations showing a slight increase with each passing week. Last week nine cases were reported in Texas: Brewster 3, Presidio 2, Uvalde 3 and Kinney 1.

The situation is even more serious in Arizona where 23 infestations detected last week put the state ahead of Texas in total cases for the year.

Leaders representing USDA, Texas Animal Health Commission and the Southwest livestock industry will meet at Mission to evaluate the current screwworm situation and plan future action. A similar conference was held on July 20.

TREES FOR WINDBREAKS

Farmers and ranchers may once again obtain planting stock for setting out in early 1966. Some 17 species of trees or shrubs will be available from the Texas Forest Service at a delivered cost of $1.50 per hundred plus the 2 per cent sales tax. It is anticipated that the trees and shrubs will be shipped to landowners starting in mid-February.

The trees and shrubs may be used for windbreaks, soil stabilization, and Christmas tree plantings, but cannot be used for living screens or re-sold for shade or ornamental purposes. All seedling orders will be packed in moss and moisture proof paper and shipped prepaid direct to the purchaser. Orders for species must be in multiples of 50 and orders for less than 100 seedlings or seed (black walnut) will not be accepted. Osage orange is the same as common bois d'arc.

Trees available are: Austrian pine, black locust, black walnut (Stratified seed), catalpa, Chinese elm, cottonwood, loblolly pine, mulberry, osage orange, pond-rosa pine, redb cedar, rose multiflora, shortleaf pine, slash pine, sycamore, eucalyptus, buffaloberry.

Application forms are available in my office.

THE MORSE CODE

Mrs. D.M. Womble presented a program to the Morse Home Demonstration Club Thursday at the home of Mrs. Tom Dortch. Mrs. Womble demonstrated hat making to the group.

Homemaking Notes

by Linda Webb

Home Demonstration Agent

This week is National 4-H Club Week--a week when the nation salutes the 4-H Clubs for their active part in making better citizens for tomorrow.

There are some 2,250,000 boys and girls in the 50 states and Puerto Rico in 4-H Clubs, ranging in age from 9 to 19 years.

4-H members live in urban areas as well as rural. Each member conducts one or more projects involving personal responsibilities and "learning to do by doing".

The 4-H Clubs place emphasis on development of the four H's--Head, Heart, Hands and Health. Simply, this means that 4-H members learn to think for himself, think and care for others, use his skills to best advantage, and keep his mind and body fit for everyday life.

This is the aim of 4-H Clubs everywhere. Do you know of a youngster who could be helped through the 4-H program? Help enroll him or her now in the largest youth training organization in the world.

If you own a vacuum cleaner, are you getting the best use from it? Too often, homemakers who have such equipment and attachments do not get the full value from the equipment, because they haven't learned to use it properly, or they don't take time to learn.

Actually, the time element is an important consideration in owning a vacuum cleaner in the first place. If you take the time to learn to use attachments when you first get a cleaner, you will save time later on by making full use of those attachments.

Here are some jobs which can be done easily and quickly with a vacuum cleaner--perhaps you know of others:

1. Cleaning rugs and carpets (the first natural job of a vacuum).
2. Curatins and drapes--use small brush or upholstery attachment and adjust the vacuum control for gentle suction.
3. Upholstered furniture--watch for deep-down dirt as well as surface dirt--cleaner attachment should clean round and square edges as well as flat surfaces.
4. Dusting--furniture, lamp shades, ash trays, baseboards, etc.
5. Wood and tile floors--regular vacuuming eliminates dust-mopping.
6. Bedding--frequent cleaning and freshens mattresses and pillows. A motor-driven brush-action attachment does a more thorough job, but other attachments may be used to advantage here.

7. Walls--if vacuumed regularly, they keep their fresh paint look longer.

8. Ceilings same as walls, plus eliminating corner cobwebs.

9. Lighting fixtures--regular dusting eliminates dull lighting in every room.

Why not start now making your cleaning tools REALLY pay for themselves. Learn to use all of your electrical equipment to its best advantage, and get full value for the money you spent on it.

THE LAST NOTE: According to sales reports, automobile companies are having another bang-up year. According to accident reports, so are their customers.

Ownbey On Scholarship

Steve Ownbey, former football player, has been on a football scholarship at Texas Tech. Ownbey went to Tech with a scholarship, but had been told he would get one as soon as he was released. A freshman scholarship got home and gave him up only a few days after the freshmen began coming out.

The Tech freshmen began coming out last week and Ownbey was living off campus when he started to school.

Johnny Crawford, former quarterback, who went to Tech on a scholarship is being held out of competition this year because his knee is not working.

Crawford injured the knee last year in high school and underwent surgery. He will continue on scholarship at Tech and work to strengthen his knee under the direction of the team trainer.

A third ex-Lynx, Mike Morris, is working out with the Tech freshmen in an effort to win a place on the team and a scholarship.

Last Death Penalty Received in Hansford County Was in 1941; Orrin J. Brown Was Electrocuted for Murder of His Wife

Only one other man had received the death penalty for murder in Hansford County, before John Lincoln Grissiam, 34, was sentenced at 11 p.m. Monday night.

It was 24 years ago that Orrin J. Brown of Chicago was convicted on murder and sentenced to pay the supreme penalty in this county.

Brown was not a resident of this county, he was just passing through a then even more thinly populated Hansford County when he decided to do away with his "bride".

According to testimony in the trial on June 13, 1941, the body of a woman was found on the morning of March 20 of that year under a bridge on the road west of Gruver.

Cooke said this week that the body would probably never have been found if a man driving a truck loaded with coal had not come along and surprised the killer, forcing him to leave the scene before he could hide the body somewhere along Coldwater Creek.

The truck driver saw the man get in the car and drive quickly away. When he got to the place where the car had been parked, he found the body.

There was no identification on the woman, no one had seen her in the county and her clothes were the kind sold by stores all over the country.

Then Sheriff Hix Wilbanks testified in the trial that the woman's body was kept in state for 25 days at Wilson's Funeral Home in Spearman.

People came from all over the United States to see if the woman was a missing relative.

People telephoned day and night wanting to know if the body of the woman had moles or other marks that might identify her. There were none.

One man came and identified the woman as his missing wife. He was positive and would not change his story until officers learned where his wife was living and called the woman and let the man talk to her.

There were no clues in the case. No one could identify the woman and her clothes were untraceable, or so it seemed.

The woman's shoes provided the key to the identification of the woman and her clothes later became evidence in the case.

Under the direction of Sheriff Wilbanks the officers on his staff traced down the almost nonexistent clues. A letter written to a small show label manufacturer in St. Louis by then deputy J.B. Cooke broke the case.

It was learned from the firm that the label was made for a store in Marion, Ind. It was from this label that the officers were able to identify the woman and trace the man who was to be convicted of her murder.

The woman was identified first as Leota Lawrence and "Robert Lawrence" was indicted by the Grand Jury for murder of Leota Lawrence by striking her on the head with a hammer.

Sheriff Wilbanks traced the man to Chicago and on April 25, 1941, he was arrested by Clarence Jones, a detective in the Chicago Police homicide division. Sheriff Wilbanks and deputy Buster Cator were with Jones when he arrested "Lawrence" in an apartment at 4910 Glenwood Ave., in Chicago.

According to testimony in the trial the man was told he was wanted for murder in Texas. When he was told, he refused to waive extradition from Illinois, but extradition was arranged and "Lawrence" was returned to Hansford County.

Sheriff Wilbanks testified that the Chicago police provided eight men for a stake-out of the wanted man's apartment. It was staked out for a week before he returned.

It was learned that the wanted man had been in New York while the officers were waiting for him. It was also learned that he had a wife in Chicago.

On May 19, 1941, the indictment was changed to his real name, Orrin J. Brown. Robert Lawrence was an alias used when he married the dead woman. The dead woman's real name was Leota Murphy.

A jury list of 125 men was drawn. Twenty-one of these were excused before the lawyers began questioning prospective jurors. The jury list shows that one man was excused because he was home with a broken leg.

At the trial which began on June 10, 1941, detective Jones testified that among Brown's possessions when he returned to the apartment was a notebook.

In this notebook there were several lines of jumbled letters and numbers. Jones solved the code by taking out every third letter. According to Jones' decoding, the jumbled letters and numbers were women's names and addresses.

The court appointed defense attorneys from Berger and Perryton objected to the admission of this testimony, but Judge Jack Allen overruled their motion.

The defense also objected to information being given on Brown's three previous prison sentences, but this was also overruled.

Brown had been released from prison the third time in 1940.

Witnesses in Perryton and Pampa testified to seeing a woman fitting Leota Murphy's description wearing the clothes presented as evidence the day before she was found in Hansford County. She was with a man identified as Brown.

The defense attorneys submitted a motion that the case should be dismissed because Brown had an alibi, but the motion was overruled.

A motion for a new trial was based on what the defense called errors in the trial. These included letting the state use his refusal to waive extradition, and past convictions as evidence, refusal to a change of venue because of opinions held in the county, and others. The new trial was refused and the case was appealed to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

On Feb. 18, 1942, the Appeals Court ruled there were no errors in the judgment. Judge Allen formally sentenced Brown on April 9, 1942 and he was transferred to the state prison in Huntsville.

The date of his execution was set for May 16, 1942. He was granted the customary 30-day delay and was executed at 12:03 a.m., June 15, 1942, according to the documents signed by W.W. Waid, then warden of the state prison in Huntsville.

In the 24 years since Brown's trial Deputy Sheriff Cooke has become sheriff and directed the investigation that quickly led to the arrest of John Lincoln Grissiam just 24 hours after P.H. Westerfield was killed in his store in Gruver.

A school boy who watched the Brown trial and developed his first interest in law at the trial has become County Attorney James P. Linn and was one of the state's prosecutors in the Grissiam trial.

from Gruver and a male voice had said only, "I have been shot."

When Walker and a telephone man traced the call, they found Westerfield on the floor by the telephone.

Testimony in the case began at 4 p.m. Friday and was finished Saturday night. The prosecution and defense made their final pleas to the jury Monday morning.

The defense attorneys put no witnesses on the stand.

Prosecutors James P. Linn and District Attorney Bob Galloway in their summations both stressed that Grissiam went by his house to get the gun, before going to burglarize the store.

Linn pointed out that the murder was not done in a moment of passion or in a fight, but was cold blooded murder.

He told the jury that the man was not forced to rob or kill, he had a job as a farmer and irrigator.

He asked the jury could society take a chance that Grissiam could be rehabilitated or take a chance on him being able to pull a trigger again.

Charles Ballman in his summation said the prosecution was worried about the defendant being released so he could take a gun and do the same thing again.

He said the jury had the right to set the punishment from two years up to 99 years or death. He said the jurors did not promise the state anything when they were qualified for the death penalty. He told the jurors they could give him so many years he would never get out of prison.

He said in prison Grissiam would remember his crime every day, every week, and every year he was there. That is the worst kind of punishment.

In the closing argument for the defense, Don Reavis said the state had not shown there was no possibility of rehabilitating John Grissiam.

He asked, will it be justice and fair to take the life of John Grissiam when his brother is charged with burglary?

He also stressed that society would be protected by a long prison term.

Reavis said he did not think the jury would be for vengeance or reprisal in the case.

District Attorney Galloway closed the state plea to the jury.

Galloway said criminal law is not based on vengeance or inflicting pain as punishment. It is based on rehabilitation and protection of society.

He said criminal law does not take a life for a life. If this were true it would be a poor bargain to trade the life of Mickey Westerfield for John Grissiam.

He pointed out there was no way a jury could send a man to prison so he could not get out.

Galloway said Grissiam would not think about his crime in prison, he would think that he was able to get away with the supreme crime in Hansford County. Other "John Grissiams" would decide it is all right to rob and kill in Hansford County because they would not get the supreme penalty.

Galloway said the facts in the case necessitate the supreme penalty.

The jury retired from the courtroom at 11:05 a.m. and had a lunch and dinner break. From about 8 p.m. until they returned at 10:57 p.m., many people in the courtroom felt that the jury was deadlocked, and would not be able to reach a verdict.

Only a few people were in the courtroom when the jury returned the verdict.

That long awaited official announcement and groundbreaking for the new Gifford Hill Western Concrete Pipe plant finally happened this week and it is going to mean much to Spearman.

There are going to be about 30 people employed in the plant and that will mean much more in payroll for the town, but even more than that, it is going to mean much in prestige for our town.

One plant is not going to make us an agri-industrial town, but it is going to provide the key that can open the door to an entire new period of growth.

Business, like individuals, has many more followers than leaders. When one firm takes Grissiam made no outward show of emotion when the verdict was read by Judge Boyer.

It took four and one-half days to get a jury. More than 180 were examined.

the risk of expanding into a new territory, many others are watching and waiting to follow.

When they begin looking for a new location for expansion they look to see what is already in the town.

A large firm in a town means the name of the town will be known wherever that firm does business.

An example of this is illustrated by the advertising Spearman gets from being listed as one of the headquarters of Baker-Taylor Drilling Co. This spreads our name throughout the oil industry.

We will be advertised in the irrigation industry as a plant site of Gifford Hill Western.

This will make the selling job on the next industrial or business prospect easier. At least they will have heard the name of the town when they are approached.

Crazy Day enthusiasm has caught on.

Last week we would not have given a plug nickle for the success of the venture, but apparently the Chamber of Commerce program last Thursday stirred the sparks and most every business is joining in with plans to participate.

School Men Tour Plant

A delegation of school officials from Wheeler toured the new Spearman High School Tuesday.

The group was headed by Superintendent Elwin Cordell.

Supt. Bill Reeves said the group was impressed with the school and especially the arrangement of the science department.

Wheeler is going to build a new school plant.

Owners and employees have been searching for ideas this week for costumes and decorations. Many stores have marked down prices on their merchandise for that day. Many are preparing special sale items.

From the plans that we have seen made this week and the ads we have in the paper, Saturday is going to be a good day of fun and bargains.

B&PW Announces Campaign Progress

A B&PW Club spokesman announced early this week that the club has raised $287.36 toward the purchase of an boiler for the nursery of Hansford Hospital. They need over $300 for the purchase.

The club has $111.00 in trading stamps, $55.36 in cash donations and $121. in memorial gifts.

Things are always rather wild around here, but it is going to be even goofier Saturday! There are going to be many different specials for Crazy Day ONLY. You are going to have to come in and look around to find them and there is no telling what you might find. In fact, you may not have to come inside to find all the bargains!

We do not know if you will have time to come in Saturday and laugh with us at all the crazy things, but we hope you will take time to come by and laugh at us!

To America with love... The 1966 Chrysler

Could be we're getting too emotional. But it isn't very often you get a chance to follow an all-time sales record year with a new Chrysler like this one.

Sure, our '65 was great. But the '66 is even better.

It looks better. Moves quicker. It's got a beautiful new front end and a very dramatic new rear.

It's got a bigger and more zesty group of V-8 engines. From a 383 cubic inch to a 440 TNT with twin exhausts and twin snorkels. (A "snorkel" is an air intake horn for the carburetor — does great things for performance.)

The interiors, all up and down the line, are more luxurious and comforting. Take our new shell bucket seats, for example. It's almost as if they had been custom-fitted for you.

One thing we didn't even think about changing. It has to do with money. Five of our Newport models (real Chryslers — not junior editions) are priced just a few dollars a month more than the most popular smaller cars with the same equipment. This includes features like power steering, power brakes, a 383 cubic inch V-8, automatic transmission, radio and many standard items like safety door handles and seat belts.

Move up to Chrysler... it's getting easier by the minute.
