

Folks Wonder If Rainmaker Got Moisture

Doctor Krick? Or would we have gotten this light moisture anyway? This is a question that West Texans over a wide area are asking themselves this afternoon.

Over a wide area, old-timers are spotting unusual features in this weather, and since five of Dr. Krick's cloud-seeding silver iodide generators made a trial run Tuesday, the folks are wondering whether or not there might be "something to it," after all.

Harry Returns To Washington And Work Today

By ERNEST B. VACCARO KEY WEST, Fla., (AP)—President Truman, looking tanned, relaxed and healthy after a three-week vacation, flies back to Washington—and work—today.

He takes off at 2:30 p.m. from the Boca Chica Naval Air Station 8 1/2 miles from the submarine station he makes his "Little White House." He is due in the capital around 6 p.m.

Immediately upon his return he will move into the White House he vacated in November, 1948, to permit a five-million-dollar rebuilding program to get under way.

His immediate schedule calls for a Cabinet meeting tomorrow, at which the steel situation undoubtedly will be discussed, and a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner address Saturday night.

Speculation that he will not seek re-election seemed equally matched by speculation that he will. He has told reporters nothing about his plans since he flew south March 7.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, in Truman's home state, published a copyrighted story yesterday that Truman has asked Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois to become the administration's candidate for President.

Joseph Short, the President's press secretary, would neither confirm nor deny the story.

Battle Action Static In Texas Maneuvers

FORT HOOD, Tex., March 27 (AP)—Battle action in Operation Long Horn today was static over much of the long front, with troops being redeployed.

The 82d Agressor Division had its paratrooper brigade linked with its ground attackers to form a solid front against the 47th Division, 1 National Guard outfit from Montana and Minnesota.

While the action in the U. S.'s biggest air-ground maneuvers slackened, a short, chunky umpire with the 47th waited for a decision that may send him back to the Philippines to celebrate "Bataan Day." The umpire is 1st Lt. Jose Calugas, the only Filipino to win the Congressional Medal of Honor.

This, he said, is what happened that day when he was cited for the nation's highest military decoration.

The sound of the guns died abruptly. To Mess Sgt. Calugas it was an awesome and worrisome silence.

"I don't know what happened."

"I don't know what happened."

Rescued From Sand Bunker 'Tomb'

Louis Scott who was buried up to his neck for 40 minutes in 50 tons of sand and gravel, is hoisted by a crane, while tied to a stretcher, and lowered to the ground after his rescue in Oakland, Calif. Scott lost his footing on top of the bunker while working with a shovel as a crane loaded the bunker. The sand and gravel mixture closed over his body. The injured worker was taken to the hospital for treatment. (AP Wirephoto).

Ex-Ag Dept. Aide Excused By Probe

By G. MILTON KELLY WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—A former Agriculture Department aide threw himself on the mercy of Senate investigators today and then was excused from testifying about scandals in government grain deals.

The witness was Alfred O'Neill, Edmunds County, S. D. He already is under grand jury investigation. O'Neill was sworn as a witness before the Senate Agriculture Committee and then asked "what you men think" about whether he should testify.

"If I were in your place," said Chairman Ellender (D-La.), "I would not make answers." Ellender told him again later he believed whatever O'Neill said before the committee "might prejudice the grand jury. They may use what you say here against you. The committee doesn't want to take advantage of you."

He is a former chairman of the Production Marketing Administration Committee for his home county. The PMA post is under the Agriculture Department. Yesterday Sen. Mundt (R-S. D.) ripped away some of the secrecy surrounding an official report of alleged payoff demands in a Camp Crowder venture.

Mundt's action dealt with reports two former federal officials—both now dead—were involved in a reported payoff.

He read from a staff investigator's report, which quoted V. M. Harris, a Scott City, Kan., grain storage man, as swearing a "Mr. Smith" of the War Assets Administration, had demanded the payoff. The report quoted Harris as testifying Smith, never identified further, finally agreed to a three-way split with Ed V. Turney, a fellow WAA official, and Glen G. Vancey, a Missouri grain dealer, but no payments ever were made.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.), committee chairman, angrily told Mundt the secret report "should not have been mentioned" at this point because Smith and Turney both are dead.

Mundt retorted the committee should "call the whole investigation off" if Ellender plans to rule out questions in the matter. Ellender announced he hoped to bring Vancey and Harris before the committee next week. The committee already had planned to call the two men.

Train Derailment

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An earth and snow slide derailed the engine and three cars of the Western Pacific steamliner California Zephyr 40 miles west of Winnemucca, Nev., last night. No one was injured, railroad officials said.

2 Days Left For Youngest Age Group To Get Portrait

Only two more days remain for portraits of babies in the youngest age groups of the "Personality Child" photo contest, in which $200 in cash awards will be made. A representative number of babies had been brought to the Culver Studio, 910 Runnels Street, during the week. Sittings will continue through Saturday for babies in the age bracket of three months through 18 months. Studio hours are from 9 to 12 a. m. to 4 p. m. The contest is open to all white children whose pictures are made at Culver Studio during the hours specified. Parents of 2-18 months-

Truce Talks Still Tangled Up Over POW Exchanges

Korea Translation Of UN In Dispute

By SAM SUMMERLIN MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Korean truce negotiators today swapped detailed explanations of how they want to exchange prisoners of war as the U. N. Command openly sought a compromise.

An official Allied spokesman said "neither optimism nor pessimism is justified" at this point in the secret sessions. In a nearby tent Communist tempers flared in a dispute over whether the U. N. Command represents the Korean people.

Col. Don O. Darrow inadvertently triggered the outburst while discussing a Korean translation of United Nations. Darrow told the Communists they had no right to haggle over the point since "you seem to forget that I represent the Korean people also—those Allied with the United Nations."

"The Americans cannot represent the Korean people," North Korean Col. Chang Chun San retorted angrily. Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official U. N. spokesman, said the translation dispute has been regarded as a mere technicality, but it "is taking on some significance."

The Communists want the U. N. Command to be known in Korea as "Allied Forces." The U. N. prefers "International Allied Forces." One of these is about as close as you can come in Korea to United Nations.

Today's argument was in a session on supervising the truce. Nuckols said both Allied and Communist staff officers working on prisoner exchange made "extensive statements which are apparently well-considered views."

He declined to comment "on what the views are and the extent of their divergence, if any." "We further explored the Communist proposal of March 21 with ramifications and we still have not come to any agreement," said Col. George W. Hickman.

Nuckols said the three secret sessions on prisoner exchange have "produced some clarification." He did not elaborate. "We have been seeking a way to compromise on prisoner exchange" he said.

SEPARATE TALKS SET Top Level Parley On Steel Dropped

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson dropped plans today for a top level parley of government officials concerned with the threat of a steel strike April 8.

Instead, he talked separately with the various price and wage control executives and ruled out any announcement today of what he may do next to head off a strike.

Wilson has declared the recommendations of the Wage Stabilization Board, proposing a 17 1/2-cent hourly pay increase and other benefits for the CIO steelworkers are inflationary and too high. This statement brought a retort from CIO President Philip Murray who declared if the steel industry doesn't accept the WSB recommendations, the responsibility for a serious strike will be on the companies.

Wilson talked for 20 minutes this morning with Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam. Then he had a talk with Nathan P. Feinsinger, WSB chairman who has upheld his board's recommendations as un-inflationary and justified. Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall was listed for a later talk.

A spokesman for Wilson's Office of Defense Mobilization refused to confirm or deny he plans to keep hands off the steel wage dispute for the present in hopes of progress in union-management negotiations. The situation was such that it even appeared possible that, with President Truman due back from his Florida vacation in late afternoon, someone in the mobilization hierarchy may quit soon.

One thing appeared certain: The CIO United Steelworkers, headed by Philip Murray, will get nowhere in negotiations with steel firms until the administration makes up its mind. The companies said they'll need price boost of $12 a ton if they grant the WSB-recommended terms.

Bargaining talks between Murray's union and U. S. Steel Corp. and Jones & Laughlin Steel began yesterday in Pittsburgh, but nothing was accomplished. Both sides looked to Washington for guidance. The administration's real task was two-fold: to answer the questions (1) whether Feinsinger's WSB over-stepped itself in its suggested

Arrested

Premier Mohammed Chenik (above) of Tunisia and three members of his cabinet are under arrest as France cracked down on Tunisia's independence-seeking Nationalists. The arrests were made after the Tunisian government and the French protectorate's nominal ruler had balked at what was described as a French ultimatum that Chenik be fired. The action climaxed three months of Nationalist rioting and sabotage in Tunisia. (AP Wirephoto).

Benton Goads McCarthy To Press Trial

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—Sen. Benton (D-Conn.), target of a two million dollar damage suit brought by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) challenged McCarthy to press for trial "before his bid for re-election next November."

Commenting on the "libel, slander and conspiracy" suit the Wisconsin Republican filed yesterday, Benton said in a statement: "I can prove in court the truth of my carefully documented charges."

"His sincerity can henceforth be judged, even by those who read as they run, by the diligence with which he seeks to bring his suit to trial. Let him insist on actual trial before his bid for re-election next November."

The suit was based on Benton's charges under oath last September that McCarthy committed perjury, fraud and "calculated deceit" in pressing his Communist-in-government charges.

Benton made the charges before a Senate Elections Subcommittee. He demanded that McCarthy be expelled from Congress. The Constitution says members of Congress cannot be sued for remarks they make in Congress.

In a Senate speech last week, however, Benton offered to waive his immunity and to accept "full legal responsibility."

In his suit, McCarthy based the action on Benton's waiver offer. That started discussion among other senators as to whether a member of Congress can shed common-law immunity.

Stormy Weather Grounds Planes In Korean War

SEOUL (AP)—Stormy weather over North Korea grounded Allied warplanes early today. On the 150-mile battlefield only light, squad-size Communist thrusts were reported.

Far East Air Force planes counted 325 sorties Wednesday. During the night Japan-based B-29 Superforts dropped 60,000 pounds of air-bursting bombs on the front. Light bombers in night attacks knocked out 25 Communist supply vehicles.

U. N. naval aircraft and surface craft pounded both Korean coasts Wednesday. Pilots from the U. S. carriers Philippine Sea and Valley Forge reported they blasted 254 new gaps in Red rail lines. Carrier-based Marine pilots knocked out a Communist village used as a command post for enemy troops. The cruisers Manchester and Rochester with escorting destroyers smashed enemy positions along the Eastern Coast.

TOKYO (AP)—U. S. Secretary of Navy Dan A. Kimball believes the United States Navy will continue to protect Formosa regardless of what happens in Korea, a Navy spokesman said today.

The spokesman, who is traveling with the Kimball party on its Far Eastern tour, said: "That is the secretary's interpretation of the present policy in Washington."

It marks a departure from policy statements made by President Truman at the end of the Korean War. The President at that time linked the use of the U. S. Seventh Fleet to defend Formosa with the Korean War.

On June 27, 1950, the President ordered the Seventh Fleet to prevent any attack on Formosa and called on the Chinese Nationalist government on the island to cease all air and sea operations against the China mainland.

Since then, the Seventh Fleet has maintained small patrols in Formosan waters while the most of its vessels have been concentrated off the coast of Korea.

Kimball was asked at a press conference in Taipei, Formosa capital, whether the policy of protecting Formosa was a permanent policy. He was told there was understanding that Formosa be protected from invasion and that protection of the island might be sacrificed in the event of a Korean truce or for other reasons.

The secretary said the policy "would go along regardless of Korea." "These people on Formosa are our friends and we're going to continue to protect them to whatever extent is necessary."

HST Seeks Extension Of Security Plan

KEY WEST, Fla., March 27 (AP)—President Truman today asked Congress for extended authority to subsidize foreign relief shipments and said he planned to ask later for power to continue guarantees of publishing investments abroad.

The Mutual Security Agency now has such powers — as did the old Economic Cooperation Administration which it replaced — but authority expires June 30.

Legislation is before Congress to authorize the President to designate any government department or agency to continue subsidizing relief shipments.

Under the information program, the government guarantees to American publishers they will be able to convert into dollars any foreign currencies which they earn abroad through sale of their books, magazines, newspapers, movies and other periodicals.

The program was designed to encourage American publishers to sell their publications abroad to increase factual information available about the U. S.

Court Fines McEwen $10,000 In Tax Case

FORT WORTH, March 27 (AP)—A fine of $10,000 and an 18-month prison sentence, probated for one year, was assessed Russell R. McEwen, 58, of Big Spring yesterday in U. S. District Court.

Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, in handing down the sentence for attempted income tax evasion, told McEwen: "The manner in which your friends have responded is certainly a consolation."

McEwen had been described by character witnesses as a civic leader with a good reputation in Big Spring. He had waived grand jury indictment and venue and entered a nolo contendere (no defense) plea.

The two-count charge against McEwen alleged he filed a tax statement for 1945 showing $4,686.36 earnings on which he paid $770 taxes. In reality, the charges stated, his net income was $12,073.35 on which he owed $2,764.07. Substantially the same return was filed for his wife, Lillian.

U. S. Attorney Frank Potter told the court that McEwen also owes back taxes for 1946, 1947, and 1948. Potter said these were left out of the complaint after an agreement that shortages for those years would be brought out in court.

He declared McEwen owes a total of $28,790.92 for $35,848.49 in unreported income over the four-year span. He said McEwen failed to report earnings from auto financing, earnings made in selling autos for more than list price, and earnings made in the sale of homes which McEwen built in Big Spring.

In spite of the shortages, Attorney J. Edwin Fleming told the court that McEwen paid into the U. S. Treasury an estimated $68,000 during the four years.

Witnesses who testified as to McEwen's good character were Frank Kelly of Colorado City, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce; the Rev. Bill Boyd, Episcopal Rector; Bob Piner, president of Big Spring's First National Bank; and Obie Bristoe, oil operator.

FBI Roundup Underway In Truck Holdup

DANVERS, Mass., March 27 (AP)—FBI agents today began a roundup of all former employees of the U. S. Trucking Corp., one of whose armored trucks was robbed of $681,000 in Danvers Square Tuesday while its three guards sipped coffee 20 feet away.

The FBI maintained an official silence but the information was divulged by a source close to the investigation.

The source said he believes the FBI hopes to determine if one of the employees kept a key to the truck when he left the employ of the armored car service.

Boston police swooped down on all known gangsters — "petty and big-time alike" — and made them account for their time Tuesday forenoon. Some police officers have expressed the opinion there might be a connection between the robbery and the still-unsolved $1,219,900 Brink's headquarters robbery Jan. 17, 1950.

SOLON DOESN'T LIKE IT Farm Bureau Urges Cuts In Ag Dept.

AP Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—The American Farm Bureau Federation again has recommended substantial cuts in Agriculture Department funds.

This was disclosed today in testimony of Allen B. Kline, its president, before the House Agriculture Appropriations Subcommittee.

Rep. Whitten (D-Miss.), subcommittee chairman, didn't like the idea. He told Kline:

"It is disturbing to me to see the head of the great farm bureau organization come in here this year as he did last year and recommend, with only two exceptions, curtailment of programs so vital in my judgment to the welfare of the nation."

Kline, advocating balancing the budget, called for all possible reduction in federal expenditures.

The Bureau president proposed increases in appropriations of $4,300,000 for research; four million dollars for the extension service and an "adequate" meat inspection service, but urged heavy slashes elsewhere.

He proposed that the agriculture conservation program be axed from 256 million dollars down to 100 million in 1953; that the Soil Conservation Service be trimmed 20 per cent of $12,200,000; that the Forest Service be reduced 4 million dollars, the agricultural production be cut 9 million and the Farmers

Home Administration be trimmed 20 per cent or $5,600,000.

Other testimony released today: Appropriations for the farm housing loan program should be increased, Rep. Albert (D-Okla.) said.

Hundreds of thousands of farm families need better homes, and farmers who seek to borrow from the Farmers Home Administration are willing to pay for improvements, Albert said.

"But their requests for loans are being turned down because the loan funds are exhausted," he declared.

Increased use of electric motors and mechanical devices on farms would help offset declining farm manpower, Clark T. McWhorter, Blair, Okla., farmer and president of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, said.

McWhorter estimated there will be 250,000 fewer farm workers this year than last.

"The obvious answer... is to increase not the manpower on the farms but to increase the horsepower in terms of electric motors and mechanical devices in the fields, in the barns and in the farm homes," he declared.

Morris Says HST Only One Seeking To Probe Scandals

NEW YORK (AP)—Newbold Morris says President Truman is the only person in Washington who has "his heart and soul" in the job of investigating corruption in the federal government.

Morris, named by Truman to head the corruption probe, told a WPIX television audience last night:

"There is no one in Washington who really has his heart and soul in what I am trying to do—either on Capitol Hill or in the various branches of the executive."

After the program, newsmen asked Morris for clarification of his statement. He then said he excluded President Truman from his remark and added:

"He's the only one in Washington who does have his heart and soul in what I'm trying to do."

Sales, Production Slumps Not Affecting Outlook Of Business

EDITOR'S NOTE: How's business so far in 1952? How will it be the rest of the year?

To show the state of business and industry, The Associated Press made a date-to-date survey of the country. The following article is one of a series of three showing conditions nation-wide.

By The Associated Press
In the midst of some sales and production slumps that cause grave worry, business leaders today are generally confident.

This is the main finding of a coast-to-coast Associated Press survey in which business and industrial officials were asked: "How's business?"

Outright pessimists were few and far between. Optimism was widespread if somewhat cautious.

Leaders reported some major industries so harried there is talk of recession, even while others continue to boom.

Retail sales have fallen behind same-store 1951 cover most of the nation. Many prices have been reduced. Some manufacturing has been cut back.

The big problems are high taxes, rising labor costs, lower margins, buyers' resistance.

But despite the "soft spots," business is reported generally good by comparison with most recent years.

Washington reports bear this out.

Government economists estimate that gross national production—value of all goods and services produced—in the first three months of 1952 is at a rate of more than 33 billion dollars annually. This is 19 billion higher than it was a year ago.

Here are other current Washington estimates:

National income at an annual rate of more than 285 billion dollars against 269 billion a year ago. Personal income more than 257 billion against 243 billion in early 1951.

Unemployment 2,100,000 persons in February, or 300,000 less than a year earlier.

Among those responding to the survey, industrialists who expect to maintain high production outnumber those taking a dim view.

Retailers concede there is consumer resistance and it has hurt. But most are confident that values over the rest of 1952 will attract enough buyers so volume will come close to that of last year.

Principal areas of industrial distress are found in textiles, shoes, appliances, automobiles and hard coal.

Rapid expansion is the rule in steel, aluminum, oil and defense manufacturing.

The survey disclosed retail sales in 10 or more states—mainly in the West and Deep South—running surprisingly ahead of the early 1951 period of frantic scare buying.

Many felt present prices would be fairly well maintained; that high personal incomes and a rising rate of defense spending would mean rosier outlooks for both retailers and producers.

Beclouing all predictions is this unknown: The time bomb of a series of strikes could shut down many industries and alter business prospects drastically.

The second quarter of 1952, starting April 1, is the period in which government economists said we would see the greatest pinch on materials.

But as it approaches, what is the picture?

Defense production officials are considering relaxing controls on some types of steel and aluminum in ample supply. They're giving a go-ahead to commercial and non-defense industrial construction.

April could tip the balance.

A series of strikes would make supplies short again, bring tightened controls and keep many construction workers idle.

Wage-price increases in steel and other industries could set off a new inflationary spree. This might start a new scramble for goods and materials, another wave of frantic stocking of inventories.

Customers for finished products have been led (some say mistakenly) to expect no price increases in coming months. Thus they have been in no rush to buy.

Because of this, retailers still clearing stocks have held back on re-orders to manufacturers. So there have been production cut-backs in some lines.

Against this background, here are results of the A. P. survey of business and industrial leaders:

Retail sales in 33 states have fallen behind 1951, in many cases by 10 to 15 per cent. But comparisons with 1950 are mostly favorable.

There is widespread consumer resistance. Seller's markets are virtually extinct. Many store heads report customers increasingly "value-conscious." Some say it takes really deep price cuts to bring dollars out of hiding.

Savings, which expanded from 3.6 per cent of income, nationally, in the first quarter last year to 9 per cent in the final three months, are remaining near the higher level. Retailers eye this reservoir of buying power hopefully as a source of future business.

Kerr Won't Get Any Slate In California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Oklahoma's Sen. Kerr will have no slate of California delegates pledged to him, Democratic Leader John R. Elliott says.

Elliott announced last night that although many state Democratic leaders had offered the use of their names for Kerr, there is insufficient time under California's complicated California primary law to complete a full slate by the April 4 deadline.

Major Dillon Is Recalled By AF For Short Tour

Major Albert W. Dillon, Big Spring, is among the officers being recalled for a short tour of temporary duty in connection with an Air Force Reserve survey in this area.

He is to report April 7 at Midland, and his assignment will be on the delay board to classify reservists as to availability.

Col. Edgar E. Glenn, commanding officer of the 3rd Air Reserve District, announced the inventory of an estimated 800 AFR men in the 13 counties of this area. Reservists will receive appointment cards asking them to report for a personal interview with the Air Force at Building T-215 at Midland Air Park. This will afford reservists an opportunity to learn their current reserve status. At the same time the Air Force may record current information on each reservist.

Col. Glenn emphasized that the inventory is not connected in any way with recall to active duty. Counties included in the inventory are Midland, Andrews, Martin, Howard, Loving, Winkler, Ector, Midland, Glasscock, Sterling, Ward, Crane, Upton and Reagan. Major Dillon, who has been heading the AFR program here, said he understood that he would be on duty about two weeks. The board will classify reservists as to availability whether immediately, delayed 30-60 days, or six months or a year or more. Eight officers are being called up for this and similar duty.

Decontrol In Oil Industry To Be Up For TIPROA Talks

FORT WORTH, March 27 (AP)—Utilization, as well as decontrol of the oil industry, will come in for attention during today's deliberations of Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Assn. committees here.

The committees are meeting in advance of the general sessions of the annual convention tomorrow. Regarding utilization, condemnation of all compulsory features is anticipated. It is expected to be pointed out that voluntary utilization is a part of any well-rounded conservation program for the industry.

A united front for decontrol of both price and materials may develop.

HEAVY WRITE-INS SOUGHT

Wedemeyer Called In Effort To Get Taft Nebraska Votes

By DON WHITEHEAD OMAHA (AP)—Republican and Democratic presidential candidates turned on a home-stretch drive today carefully planned to boom Nebraska's April 1 primary into an election of nation-wide importance.

Political leaders have chosen deliberately to make this state a "popularity" testing ground—a decision which could have strong repercussions throughout the Midwest farm belt.

On the Republican side: Supporters of Sen. Taft of Ohio hope to roll up a huge write-in vote to offset the senator's losses in New Hampshire and Minnesota to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. They called in retired Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, a native Nebraskan, to open the final drive. Eisenhower backers see the New Hampshire-Minnesota results as a trend which will carry the general to another write-in victory in this state. They are working hard to match the Taft drive.

On the Democratic side: Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee returned to Nebraska from Wisconsin for a week end of whirlwind campaigning in the eastern part of the state, where his path was to cross that of his opponent, Sen. Kerr of Oklahoma.

Kerr told newsmen in Lincoln last night "I think we are gaining on Kefauver." He added: "I have always thought that if I could win in Nebraska, I would have an excellent chance for the (Democratic) nomination. I am more convinced of that than ever."

Kerr denied he is a "stalking horse" for President Truman. But he has said repeatedly he will step aside if the President runs again. Special interest centered on the Taft-Eisenhower race in this state which normally gives a top-heavy vote to the GOP presidential nominee.

Wedemeyer told reporters he was convinced that "Taft is the best qualified avowed candidate for the presidency considering the conditions faced by our country today."

He added that he considered Eisenhower an "avowed candidate," but not MacArthur. Asked why he supports Taft, Wedemeyer (who now is in business in New York) replied: "He would resist centralization of power in Washington. In foreign policy, Taft would put America first. He is not an isolationist. He is a realist."

Wedemeyer is well known in Nebraska where he has strong personal ties. His friends tried to make him a favorite-son candidate in the coming primary, but he refused. Unlike Minnesota, there will be no voting by machines. Each ballot will have a blank line on which voters may write in their presidential choice.

But the state attorney general has ruled the voter must spell out the surname of a write-in choice. This apparently rules out any move by the Eisenhower backers to have the voters write in "Ike" as many did in Minnesota. They must spell out the difficult name Eisenhower—or try it.

However, the actual decision on whether "Ike" votes will be counted will rest with the precinct judges.

Another complicating factor in the primary is the spirited GOP Senate race between Gov. Val Peterson and Sen. Hugh Butler.

Neither Peterson nor Butler have openly taken sides in the Republican presidential race. But Peterson is known to favor Eisenhower while Butler is regarded as a Taft supporter.

The voters also will elect delegates to the Democratic and Republican national conventions. The delegates will go uninstruced but are expected to be influenced by the results of the popularity contest.

OVER EXTENSION

Storm Signals Up In Controls Fight

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON WASHINGTON (AP)—Storm signals were up in Congress today on the administration's request to extend and strengthen the network of price, wage, rent, credit and materials controls.

Angry comments about the proposed steelworkers' pay boost, intended to avert a crippling strike, whipped up gales of opposition.

Chairman Maybank (D-SC) is pushing the Senate Banking Committee to get its extension bill on to the Senate floor.

But progress was suspended until next week after Office of Price Stabilization officials entered a hurried protest on tentative Senate committee actions.

One was a vote to revise the Herlong Amendment, which last year assured retailers and wholesalers of historic profit percentages, or margins, on price ceilings fixed "hereafter."

President Truman and price control officials have been pushing for repeal of the amendment, saying it is inflationary. An attempt to kill it was beaten 10-3 in the Senate committee yesterday.

Then the group voted to strike out the "hereafter." OPS officials said that would reopen thousands of price ceilings fixed prior to last August, when the amendment began to operate.

Rent controls in Chicago and other large cities survived by a 7-6 vote in the Senate committee when a move to limit rent control to critical defense areas was defeated.

President Truman had asked a two-year extension of the entire controls program but the Senate group accepted, without a record vote, the one-year extension proposed by Maybank.

Truman also has asked outright repeal of a section that now bans imports on foreign cheese, butter and dairy products. The committee did this but promptly substituted a world war imports ban which Maybank said was more liberal and should please the President.

Still intact was the Capchert Amendment, which Truman has called "terrible."

Inserted last year, this amendment directs officials fixing prices for manufacturers and processors to consider all post-Korea cost increases such as wage and tax boosts prior to July 26 last year. For a brief time yesterday Sen. Moody (D-Mich) won 7-6 approval of more liberal installment provisions on new automobile purchases.

Present law requires payment of one-third down and the balance within 18 months. Moody, saying the new car market now is clogged because many buyers are unable to meet these terms, urged a one-fourth down payment with 24 months on the balance.

Sen. Capchert (R-Ind) voted for this and then changed his vote so it lost 6-7, Moody said.

Capchert lost by the same 7-6 margin an effort to liberalize credit on installment buying on furniture, radios, television sets and similar consumer goods. Both issues are certain to be raised again.

British Take Action After Red Ambush

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya, March 27 (AP)—Gen. Sir Gerald Templar, new high commissioner, angrily clamped a 22-hour a day house arrest on the 5,000 villagers of Tanjung Halu and slashed their rice rations today as punishment for the Communist ambush slaying yesterday of 12 persons.

Summoning 300 of the village elders into the school house, Sir Gerald accused the village of being the worst Communist area in Malaya, said many were withholding knowledge of Communist terrorist activities and ended with this parting shot:

"The solution is largely in your hands. Have some guts and shoulder the responsibility of citizenship."

Many in the audience were Chinese who do not have citizenship. Many villagers glowered angrily as the orders were issued.

Rome Rallies Tame On Issue Of Trieste

ROME, March 27 (AP)—Small groups of students, books under arms, took to the streets again today to shout for Trieste's return to Italy.

Compared with the massive stone throwing demonstrations of the past three days in which scores were injured in Rome, Milan and Naples, the rallies were tame.

TOUGH DECISION

Judge Must Decide Brother's Loyalty

NEW YORK (AP)—Did one loyal brother go to prison to help his "black sheep" brother? That is the question Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard must decide after hearing this story yesterday from Atty. Benjamin Schmler:

Anthony Pisciotta, 28, was "the black sheep of the family. He was

Ray Noble Named Jaycee President At Colorado City

COLORADO CITY—Ray Noble, 24-year-old service station operator, was elected as president of the Colorado City Jaycees, at the Wednesday meeting.

Noble has been active in Jaycee work since his arrival in Colorado City in 1945 and served as first vice president in 1950-51. He is a deacon in the First Presbyterian Church and a member of the American Legion, Lion's, the Quarterback Club, and the Masonic Lodge.

He graduated from Longview High School, attended Texas Tech three years, and was a staff sergeant in World War II.

Elected as first vice president was Dr. Gene Steakley, dentist. Jay Craddock, partner in Craddock Motors, was elected second vice president. J. A. Grindstaff, manager of Merchants Fast Motor Line, was elected secretary. Pete Warren, insurance man, was named treasurer for the second term. Directors elected were Irving Jarrett, John Grubbs, and John Moore.

always looking for an easy way to make an easy dollar."

But his brother Rosario, 32, led "an exemplary life."

One day Anthony asked Rosario to deliver a package. His easy-going brother took the package—and was arrested. It contained narcotics.

Anthony also was arrested—and for him it wasn't the first time.

When Rosario shouted his innocence, the U. S. attorney said the maximum sentence would be imposed if the case went to trial.

Anthony urged his brother to plead guilty so that Anthony, who had a record, wouldn't get too stiff a sentence. A lawyer told Rosario the judge probably would give him six months at the most.

So both brothers pleaded guilty to peddling narcotics. Anthony got nine years, Rosario got seven years. They went to prison about a year ago.

Rosario wrote Judge Goddard from prison, saying he was innocent. The case was turned over to the Local Aid Society and Schmler was assigned.

"I received a letter from Anthony," Schmler told the judge. "and, believe me, it was written in blood. He said his conscience bothered him so much he couldn't sleep nights and he swore his brother was innocent."

After hearing the story, Judge Goddard ordered Rosario to enter a plea of innocent. If the brother proves his case, he will be a free man.

Navy Trains Crews For Robot Warships

By ELTON C. FAY
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has started training crews for its robot weapons warships, the first two of which will be ready about 1954.

This came out today in a list of routine orders transferring officers. One of them was assigned to "Naval Guided Missile Training Unit No. 21."

The Navy, both in its own research program and in collaboration with the other armed forces, has for several years been training a relatively small number of technicians for development work.

But to be ready with the thousands of officers and enlisted men needed when the new weapons begin reaching the fleet for operational use, it is opening guided missile training schools.

While officials did not specify where Unit No. 21 is located, a large party of the Navy's missile program is centered at Point Mugu, Calif., the overwater testing area. However, the Navy also carries on extensive operations afloat, including missile launchings from the USS Albatross (SS-341) at the Naval Air Station, Grover Beach, Calif., and from a submarine.

The Navy disclosed last year that a factory for production of guided missiles in volume was being built in California.

The overall objective is to have weapons, ships and crews ready at about the same time.

In January, the Navy announced that two heavy cruisers, the Boston and Canberra, both 13,600-tonners, had been selected for conversion into guided missile vessels, "available for duty as ships of the line."

The two ships, towed from Puget Sound, Ore., through the Panama Canal, have arrived at the yards of the New York Shipbuilding Corp., Camden, N. J., preparatory to a start on their remodeling, a Navy spokesman said today.

The general expectation is that the first production-line missiles will be tactical weapons, for anti-aircraft (surface-to-air) and possibly for defense against attacks by other ships (surface-to-surface).

Presumably the contract which the Navy made about a year ago with the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. for operating the plant at Pomona, Calif., was for production of this type of missile. Construction of the factory started in June, and was scheduled to be completed early this year.

Retail Egg Prices Rise; Butter Down

By The Associated Press
 Retail egg prices advanced a little in many stores this week. Butter went down a few cents.

Except for scattered declines in fryer and broiler chickens, beef rib and chuck roasts and a few other items, meats held about steady.

Fresh produce also was generally unchanged, although some large marketing sections posted slightly higher prices for best green beans, cabbage, celery, good lettuce, peppers, tomatoes and tangerines.

Retail mark-ups on eggs amounted to 2 to 4 cents a dozen and were attributed mostly to heavier military buying and shipment delays resulting from storms in the Midwest.

Reductions in butter prices reflected continued consumer price resistance, according to wholesalers in New York.

Frying and broiling chickens were high on the list of advertised specials of many stores for the coming weekend.

Turkeys also were in heavy supply. Turkey hatcheries reporting to the government produced nearly 60 per cent more eggblers last month than a year earlier, and at the beginning of this month had 30 per cent more turkey eggs in incubators than a year ago.

MEN IN SERVICE

PVT. ALBERT FULCHER

Pvt. Albert Fulcher, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Bain of Route No. 2, Big Spring, currently is completing his AF basic airman indoctrination course at Lackland AF Base in San Antonio.

Pfc. Joe Bruce Cunningham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cunningham Sr., has been assigned to the Big Spring Air Force Base following his completion of basic training at Lackland Field.

Along with other crewmen serving aboard the landing ship tank USS 1080, Charles R. Turner, seaman, USN, of 304 Johnson St., recently participated in the largest Pacific Fleet training exercises held since the Korean outbreak.

The exercises, called "Lex Baker One," took place off the coast of Southern California. Over 70 ships and 15,000 men of the Navy and the newly activated 3rd Marines participated.

Billie Gill of the Gail Route has enlisted in the U.S. Air Force and has been sent to Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, for basic training. His wife, Mrs. Neta Faye Gill, resides on the Gail Route.

Three Big Springers are among those undergoing recruit training at the U.S. Naval Training Center at San Diego. They are Amos W. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Jones of 1908 Johnson Street; Grady Dorsey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Dorsey of the Sterling City Route; and James H. Bounds, formerly of 304 Johnson Street.

On the crew of the recently recommissioned seaplane tender USS Kenneth Whiting is Donald G. McAdams, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garner McAdams of 211 Dixie St., and husband of the former Miss Lynn Oglesby of Forsan.

The Whiting, brought out of mothballs at San Diego, Calif., is undergoing training maneuvers in the San Diego area. She was put into "operation" in Jan. 1951.

Helping Hand Doesn't Help His Business

PAW PAW, Mich. (AP)—The big sale at the O'Grady brothers clothing store is nearly over and it has been a whopping success, thanks to the good salesmanship of competitors.

The O'Grady store, an institution here for half a century, never disposed of any old goods.

Ed O'Grady died a few years ago. The surviving brother, James, carried on the business. But he became ill recently.

The store was full of old clothing—some of it 40 years old. James O'Grady had to go to a convalescent home and he had no chance to take inventory or clean out the stock.

Other merchants heard of his plight. They all pitched in together and took inventory and put the goods on sale.

The demand was surprising. Western Michigan College bought a lot of old-fashioned clothing for its dramatics department. Some people made purchases for keepsakes.

The merchants figure they have grossed a sum 2½ times the highest offer for the complete stock.

One of the salesmen was asked how business went in his own store during the O'Grady sale.

"Business has been lousy," he said.

In many cities of India the individual's rationed diet is only 12 ounces of grain a day.

Time Most Vital In Cancer Treatment, Lions Are Told

Time is the most important factor in the treatment of cancer.

While nine out of every 60 will be touched, according to statistics, early diagnosis will increase the chances of cure. Those who wait for painful manifestation of the disease probably wait too late.

Dr. R. B. G. Cowper, second district medical director for the Texas division of the American Cancer Society, discussed salient facts about the killer before the Lions Club Wednesday. Mrs. Hayes Stripling, the county educational director, presided at the meeting.

Dr. Cowper listed some of the hopeful research signs, but warned that the time of a specific treatment has not arrived and that now the most important element in the fight was time.

Dickie Snyder, clad like a girl, got a heavy hand for his interpretation of "You Can't Get a Man with a Gun." Mrs. J. W. King Jr. was the accompanist.

Warren Seen Chief Beneficiary Of Wisconsin Demo Cross-Over

By JACK BELL
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Democrats who vote the Republican ticket may affect sharply the results of next Tuesday's Wisconsin primary showdown in the Republican presidential nomination race.

Unless all signs fail, most of the Democrats who decide to cross over into the Republican reservation will be seeking some way of making their vote felt in behalf of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

GOP ballot, where Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Gov. Earl Warren of California and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota are the major contestants for the state's 36 delegates to the July nominating convention in Chicago.

But Wisconsin voters favoring Eisenhower have the choice of accepting Stassen's pledge that he will turn over to the general immediately half of any delegates he elects, or the promise of the Warren delegate candidates to support Eisenhower if the California governor drops out of the race.

Taft, rounding out a strenuous speaking campaign in the state, called these "hybrid tickets."

OLDEST TRIPLETS REACH AGE 84

MARLBORO, Mass. (AP) — Possibly the country's oldest triplets are observing their 84th birthday today.

The former Faith, Hope and Charity Coughlin are identical triplets.

They looked so much alike when they started school in North Brookfield, their mother put them into different dresses to give the teachers a break.

When they wear identical dresses nowadays, even old neighbors get confused. But they only put them on for special occasions.

All widows, the triplets still are exactly the same height and weigh almost the same. All boast of good teeth. None worries about diets.

The three live together here now although they never were too far apart to visit each other frequently during their married lives.

Cotton Planting Deadline Extended

AUSTIN, March 27 (AP) — Deadline for planting cotton in four Rio Grande Valley counties has been extended 15 days to midnight April 15 to assist farmers in coping with the drought.

The action was announced yesterday by State Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

The order applies to Willacy, Hidalgo and Cameron Counties and the southern portion of Starr County.

More Jap Paroles

TOKYO, March 27 (AP) — The occupation today granted paroles to 18 more Japanese convicted as war criminals.

state today after a speech at Janesville last night, will be the chief beneficiary of any Democratic cross-over and may outdraw Stassen among Republicans with Eisenhower leanings.

However, Warren told a news conference at Janesville last night he is not willing to share with Eisenhower any delegates elected in his name.

The California governor indicated this attitude holds at least through the first vote at the convention in Chicago, although he did not foreclose a change of mind after that ballot if his chances of getting the nomination then do not appear to be good.

"I would expect any delegate pledged to me to go to the convention and on the roll call to vote for me," Warren said.

Earlier, Carl B. Rix, head of the Warren slate of delegates, told a crowd at Janesville High School that he and his colleagues "make no pretense of the fact that our alternate choice in the convention is Gen. Eisenhower."

Any benefit Warren receives from a Democratic cross-over could make him the closest contender to Taft in a state the Ohio senator's backers regard as critical in his pre-convention campaign for the nomination. A third-place run for Stassen might go a long way towards pushing him out of the race and opening to the Eisenhower camp.

A state running for Gen. Douglas MacArthur, under the name of Grant Ritter of Beloit, could figure in the final results and possibly upset the position of some of those regarded as leaders in the contest. MacArthur has said he is not a candidate.

Most observers here believe about one million Wisconsin voters will go to the polls next Tuesday. They calculate that of these, from 700,000 to 800,000 will cast Republican ballots.

Under Wisconsin law, the voter is handed both Republican and Democratic ballots and can make his choice when he closes himself in the booth.

Under these circumstances, a great many Democrats may be attracted by the chance to take part in the Republican fight.

Humphrey Thinks Kefauver Or Stevenson Satisfactory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today either Gov. Stevenson of Illinois or Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee as the Democratic presidential nominee probably would satisfy most backers of the Truman "Fair Deal" program.

Humphrey reiterated he plans to support President Truman if he seeks another term, but the Minnesota said he thinks the President will bow out—"although I have no inside information."

As the "favorite son" winner of Minnesota's March 18 presidential primary on the Democratic ticket, Humphrey is in a position to swing the state's delegation behind a candidate of his choosing at the party's national nominating convention in July.

He has been surveying the situation in Northern states generally in what he calls a "somewhat tentative" move to organize support for "some truly liberal candidate" if Truman decides not to run.

"I am not specifically endorsing anyone other than the President at this time," Humphrey said in an interview, "but I have found there is a lot of good friendly feeling toward Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver, particularly in the Midwest."

Yesterday, James Metzger, 12, was leaning against a rusted one when it snapped off. It pinned him underneath and passers-by had to rescue him.

He went to a nearby hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises. It was the same hospital where his mother was having some X-rays taken.

That's how James happened to be leaning on the lamp post. He was waiting for her.

Cuban Contractors Kicked Up $547,200 To Back Prio's Man

HAVANA, Cuba. (AP) — Contractors doing business with Cuba's former government got together $547,200 to aid the presidential campaign of Carlos Hevia. He was the candidate backed by President Carlos Prio Socarras.

Gen. Fulgencio Batista unseated Prio two weeks ago, took over the government, and cancelled the presidential elections.

The Presidential Palace announced yesterday that the contractors had turned the $547,200 over to Batista's wife, for a charity fund. The palace said Senora Batista put the money in the bank and was organizing a committee of women to help her spend it.

Hevia said he had never heard of the fund.

Oil For Education Plan Wins Tideland Support In Senate

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP) — Many supporters of federal control of the oil-rich submerged coastal lands rallied today behind Sen. Hill (D-Ala.) on his proposal that revenues from the property be devoted to education.

With voting yet to start on amendments to the pending legislation, Hill and 18 other senators joined in sponsoring the "oil for education" plan.

The only essential difference in the Hill amendment and the federal control measure under discussion is that revenues, instead of going to the U. S. Treasury for general purposes, would be allocated to all states for aid in schooling.

Hill's proposal would establish a bi-partisan national advisory council on grants in aid of education.

Four would be appointed by the President, four by the Speaker of the House and four by the presiding officer of the Senate.

Taking issue with advocates of outright states ownership, Hill declared during debate yesterday "this property never did belong to the states."

He cited the Supreme Court decisions holding the federal government has "paramount rights" and

"full dominion" over the submerged lands off California, Texas and Louisiana.

Replying to Sen. Long (D-La.) who said the court decision never did settle the basic question of ownership and title, Hill maintained the tribunal used the term "full dominion" instead of ownership because it was dealing with a matter that involved the high seas and international relations.

Among those who vigorously joined with Hill was Sen. Tobey (R-N.H.), who argued that the submerged oil properties belong to the people of the nation and nothing more beneficial to the nation could be done with revenues than applying them to education.

"I can hardly wait to vote for the Hill amendment," he declared.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), also agreeing with Hill, said "we want this black gold" for the schools of America and added:

"The oil companies at long last will have a chance to do something good for America."

His reference to oil companies came after an exchange between

Sens. Holland (D-Fla.) and O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.). Holland, advocating outright states ownership, said oil money was supporting the federal control measure sponsored by O'Mahoney. The latter said he had "personal knowledge" of oil companies leading their support to the states ownership cause.

Garden Club Members Hear Midland Speaker

"Consider your garden a roofless living room," Mrs. Hal Rachal of Midland told members of the Big Spring Garden Club Wednesday afternoon at their regular meeting in the Howard County Junior College small auditorium.

Mrs. Rachal, prominent flower show judge and authority on landscaping, advised the women to invest in grading, paving and walls before buying any plants.

Walks and patio flooring likewise may be either concrete, brick, wood or gravel. In planting trees, she continued, the gardener should be concerned with where the shade is desired and not with how the tree will look in a particular spot.

"If you plant it where you want the shade, it will look all right," she advised. For spots of color she recommended clusters of flowers.

Bright-colored foliage plants and garden furniture and accessories.

Following Mrs. Rachal's talk, a business session was held. Mrs. J. D. Benson, president of the group, was elected delegate to the 24th annual meeting of Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., and the flower show in Waco to be held April 16 and 17. Mrs. J. E. Hogan was named alternate.

The by-laws of the Big Spring Federation of Women's Clubs, Inc., were approved by the group. Approximately 40 members attended.

Wheat Field Landing Saves 50 From Fire

HUGOTON, Kan. (AP)—"The only sensible thing to do was land." That was the only comment from Chief Pilot Jack Stanford, who helped land a flaming airliner with 56 persons aboard in a wheat field yesterday.

Only one passenger was injured. The Braniff Airlines DC-4 came down with one of its engines gone and a wing in flames. The landing was perfect.

Minutes after the 45 passengers and five crew members scurried out, flames consumed virtually the entire plane.

Neither Stanford nor Co-Pilot John Beakley, both of Dallas, Tex., would take credit for an extraordinary job. They had little to say.

But O. R. Stites, an Oklahoma City lawyer who was a passenger, described the landing "as smooth as any I've ever seen."

He gave this description: "I was sitting on the right side about two seats back of the wing when I noticed fire around the right inboard engine. I called the stewardesses and they went forward to tell the captain (Stanford)."

"He came back, took one quick look and told us to fasten our safety

West European Money, Trade Problems Talked

By GODFREY ANDERSON
PARIS (AP)—Finance and foreign ministers from 18 nations gathered here today to discuss Western Europe's money and trade problems in the face of mounting rearmament.

The ministers started their three-day talks at the headquarters of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC), near the Palais de Chaillot, where another group of ministers from 16 countries is debating a "green pool" aimed at growing Europe more and cheaper food.

The main items on the crowded agenda of the OEEC ministers were:

1. How to raise by 25 per cent in the next five years Europe's productivity in six basic fields—coal, steel, agriculture, electricity, manpower and housing.
2. Suggested reforms and future organization of the European Payments Union, whose original mandate is due to end June 30.
3. A proposed managing board of senior trade officials to study the problem of increased liberalization of European trade and to draw up a new "common list" of products which all member countries agree to free from quotas.

The 25 per cent five-year expansion program was agreed on in principle by a declaration of the ministers last Aug. 29. This time they are studying how to put it into operation.

TAKING BLOOMIN' TIME White House Loses 'Battle Of Tulips'

By RUTH COWAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House admitted today it has lost "the battle of the tulips."

There just won't be any tulips in bloom when Queen Juliana of the Netherlands arrives April 2 for a three-day visit with the President and Mrs. Truman.

The President succeeded in hurrying up carpenters, painters and movers in getting the newly redone White House ready, but the thousands of tulips, planted in the grounds especially for the occasion, are taking their own bloomin' time.

In fact, these tulips are causing a lot of worry to the White House, the Netherlands Embassy and in high official greenhouses.

The tulips are Dutch immigrants. They are a new variety in a special shade of orange—JuMania is a member of the House of Orange and they have never been exported from the Netherlands before.

R. J. Benkenkamp, agricultural attache at the Netherlands Embassy, and the Associated Bulb Growers of Holland, decided it would be a nice gesture if bulbs of this new variety were sent here to plant in the White House grounds and at the embassy.

It was hoped they would be blissing during Juliana's visit. But the bulbs had handling trouble. They reached New York last fall during a longshoreman's strike and couldn't be unloaded. They were returned to Holland, shipped back a month later.

Gardeners at the embassy planted their bulbs immediately and they will be in bloom by the time of the royal visit. But White House gardeners were further delayed by the remodeling going on there.

They planted about 5,000 around the fountain on the Pennsylvania Avenue side and an equal number in the south garden. They will be flowering around Easter.

The gardeners potted about 2,000 bulbs and speeded up their growth in greenhouses. These will be ready for decorating the White House interior.

Stevenson Won't Seek Nomination

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Daily Sun-Times, in a copyright dispatch from Washington, today said that Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois has "firmly declined President Truman's invitation to seek the Democratic presidential nomination."

"And," said the story written by Carleton Kent, "it was learned Wednesday only a full-blown convention draft could shake his (Stevenson's) decision."

"Stevenson communicated this decision, gently but with great firmness, to Mr. Truman shortly before the President's departure for a Key West holiday on March 7," the Sun-Times added.

"Contrary to widely accepted reports, the exchange of ideas between the governor and the President earlier this month did not include further suggestions from Mr. Truman that Stevenson become a candidate for the presidency. Instead, it was the occasion on which the governor said he would not become such a candidate."

"And since that communication, Mr. Truman has not put any pressure on Stevenson to change his mind or to modify his position."

Cast Worried Over Goat's Pregnancy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Brunhilde, a pregnant white goat, is on stage again. But impending motherhood has the cast a bit worried.

Nightly, Brunhilde appears twice at the Curran Theater in Tennessee Williams' "Rose, Tattoo." Each time she's chased. And that's a bit strenuous, you know.

Previously, Brunhilde appeared here in "Mr. Roberts." But her casting was cut short. She gave birth to twins in a taxi.

"Tattoo's" publicity director, Ned Armstrong, heard about Brunhilde's appearance in "Mr. Roberts" and, without checking her sex, hired her from owner Margaret P. Dean.

"They gave me strict orders in New York to get a billy goat," Armstrong worried today. "We chose here April 5. If she can only hold out until then."

Why won't any other goat do? Brunhilde is reputed to be the only pure white goat in the area.

Corruption in high places is the exception, not the rule. The forces of righteousness are better organized than ever before. Vigilance is still needed. If good men will not serve in public office bad men will. "The man seeketh not the welfare of his people but the hurt." — Jeremiah 38:4.

Van Fleet Thinks Reds Are More Stubborn Due To Having Recouped

In a radio-telegraph interview with General James A. Van Fleet in Korea, the general said that the Communists develop a picture of the current situation there which gives food for thought for complacent Americans. The four-starred commander of U.N. forces in Korea says that the Communist forces are now stronger than at any time since the war started—high morale, plenty of food, ammunition, weapons and supplies of all sorts. At the time they proposed armistice talks, the Reds were beaten down and anxious for negotiation. Since then they have improved their military strength enormously and are now less inclined to come to terms, General Van Fleet declares. The Reds have about 500 Russian T-34 tanks and enormous quantities of artillery with ample ammunition. They could launch a powerful offensive, but the U.N. commander is confident it could be beaten down. "We have enough equipment, men and ammunition available to mow them down as we did last April and May if they attempt an offensive. I would be surprised if they tried." How did the Reds manage to build up their strength and morale? Van Fleet pointed out, the 900,000 Chinese and North Korean troops are convinced Communists. Air interdiction has knocked out about 50 per cent of the Communist supplies, but a lot of them got through. They have built up their stockpiles in forward areas simply by sending twice as much as they normally would without air interference. Their light and heavy weapons are in great variety, mostly Russian and Chinese, with a great deal of Japanese and some American. Van Fleet believes there are at least some Caucasians operating some of the Communist specialized equipment, supplied by "foreign countries other than China." "I have always felt the enemy's desire for a cease-fire was in direct ratio to the military pressure on him," the general thinks. "They are less eager for a cease-fire now than they were last summer and fall."

State Health Officer Mis-States Our Attitude On The Health Unit

The latest statement by Dr. George W. Cox, the state health officer, indicates that he has lost some of his talent for eloquence in contention. He has succeeded in putting his foot in his mouth once more. Commenting on the general status of the tri-county (Midland-Ector-Howard) health unit, Dr. Cox pointed out several possibilities. One was that Midland might withdraw and set up its unit. Another was that Odessa might do the same. The third was well he said that Howard County people didn't seem to know what they wanted. As was the case in the Odessa poke and clean-up incident last autumn and in the early winter, Dr. Cox was off first base and apparently was picked off on that one. The truth of the matter is that he probably hasn't kept in too close touch with the acting director of the tri-county health set-up. If he had, he would have known that sentiment here is pretty clear in favor of the tri-county unit arrangement. It is a simple case of economics which the state officer himself stated. The City Commission even went so far as to add $3,200 to its health service budget in meeting the request from the tri-county unit. It is so obvious that no definite decision can be made here until it is known what Midland and Odessa are going to do that even Dr. Cox should perceive it. If there is an element of indecision here—and we do not think there is any of consequence—it results from the inability of the State Health Department to tell us what possibilities are open to us.

Nunan's Testimony In Tax-Fraud Hearing Is Get-Rich-Quick Story

WASHINGTON.—"How to get rich while working for the government" might well be the title of the testimony given by Joe Nunan, ex-commissioner of Internal Revenue, the man who once collected the nation's taxes. Only trouble with Nunan's sensational testimony was that it was given behind closed doors. The public couldn't get the full benefit of the Nunan object lesson in how to make money while working for the government. However, this column is able to give the public a detailed report of what happened. Here are the highlights: 1. Nunan's outside law fees and other outside income increased from $13,306 to $77,450 while he was tax commissioner. This was from 1944 to 1947. 2. Nunan attended a party given by Racketeer Frankie Costello at the Copacabana night club, which Costello owns. Parenthetically, it should be noted that, after he left the government, Nunan turned up working for the night-club owners of New York, of which Costello was one. 3. Nunan threw a $3,000 cocktail party for Attorney General McGrath and Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark. This was after he had left the government, and the purpose of the party was to introduce his law clients to McGrath and Justice Clark.

Revenue, did it not?" observed Congressman Robert Kean, New Jersey Republican. "Yes, sir," agreed Nunan. "Why was that?" asked Kean. "Because I guess we did more business, I can't say why," shrugged Nunan. "Did you give any time to your law firm?" broke in Congressman Carl Curtis, Nebraska Republican. "No, sir, very little," Nunan replied. "Did your firm ever handle any tax work at all?" asked Congressman John Byrnes, Wisconsin Republican. "Very little," Nunan replied. "Did not they do tax work while you were commissioner?" insisted Byrnes. "Yes, sir. They did some tax work," admitted Nunan. "Did the income from that go into some of these legal fees that you reported?" Byrnes demanded. "Under the agreement with the firm, it wasn't supposed to, Mr. Congressman," explained Nunan. "Did the only federal practice of the firm consist of tax practice?" De Wind interrupted. "That would be, yes, I don't think they had anything with any of the other government agencies," replied the former commissioner.

The House probers were also critical of the slipshod way Nunan made out his own tax returns while he was tax chief. Under sharp questioning from De Wind, Nunan admitted that he hadn't bothered to itemize his expenses, contributions and other deductions—though the returns explicitly called for itemized lists. "Do you not think that a commissioner of Internal Revenue ought to carry out his own instructions?" needed Congressman Byrnes. "Yes, sir," meekly agreed Nunan. De Wind then explored Nunan's acquaintance with Racketeer Frankie Costello. "I have met him twice, yes, sir," admitted Nunan. On both occasions, he explained that they had met at a New York bar and had been introduced by mutual friends. "You have never attended any party or dinner or other affair given by Mr. Costello?" fired De Wind. "Yes, I did," Nunan recalled. "I attended that dinner at the Copacabana that was supposed to be given for the Salvation Army." "It was while you were commissioner?" pressed De Wind. "Yes, sir," acknowledged Nunan. "I was invited to this party by, I think it was a man named Jim O'Connell." He identified O'Connell as an old friend in the construction business; also testified that no other federal officials had attended Costello's party.

Russians Have Waited, But The West Has Acted And Reich Is Now With Us

WASHINGTON.—For seven years since the war Russia has lain like a great animal across the frontiers of Europe, watching the West, waiting for it to become easy pickings. The Western Allies tried to persuade Russia to agree to a peace treaty covering all Germany. No good. The longer the Reds held Eastern Germany the more time they had to train German Communist stooges. Some day, maybe, they could take over all Germany and make it a servant, work shop and satellite of Russia. The West decided not to wait forever. It let the West Germans form their own government. The Russians screamed for an anti-Communist West Germany, organized under its own government, would be a potent block against East German Communists taking over both zones of Germany. But for Russia worse was to come. The Western Allies decided, in agreeing to create a European army under one commander, to let West German troops be part of that new and unified single army in case of war with Russia.

This unified army, which would put Western Germany into a military alliance with the rest of Western Europe, was the last thing the Russians wanted and again they reacted. On March 10 they made a proposal to the U. S., Britain and France which the three rejected this week. The Russian proposal and the Allied answers went like this: 1. Russia suggested she and the Allies get together and work out a peace treaty for a united Germany. The Russians failed to say how Germany should be unified. (The Allies agreed to a unified Germany but only as a result of free elections in all Germany, including the Russian zone, supervised by the United Nations.) 2. Russia suggested this new, united Germany should be free to build up a military machine of its own and that it be forbidden to enter into any military alliances with other countries. (The Allies rejected this, calling it a step backward from a new era of co-operation among nations.) "It's plain that the Russians, who stalled on a German peace treaty for seven years, were started into these suggestions when they saw Western Germany making a military tie-up with the West. They hoped to break up the Atlantic Alliance. And this Russian proposal can be interpreted as an act of desperation, too, with Russia willing to take the chance of a rearmored Germany turning on Russia some day. But it can be looked upon in another way: First things first—the Russians want to smash the Atlantic Alliance; second, a rearmored Germany, if the German Communists got control, would tie up with Russia. That would be the end of Western European democracy since Western Europe's army would be helpless against combined German-Russian forces. Further, this proposal of a unified and rearmored Germany certainly has propaganda benefits for Russia among many, if not all, Germans. And once Russia maneuvered the West into treaty talks, the Russians could stall indefinitely, knowing that the uncertainty about the future would gum up the Western defense plans. The West said, "No, thanks," but not in such a way as to anger the Germans.

King Actually Ran A Foot Race Against Race Horse

NEW YORK.—Things a man learns from reading his mail: It is even more important for older workers than young workers to get a sloppy look... in the boss's eye carelessness in personal grooming is a "time-to-retire-him" signal... a survey by the Northwestern National Life Insurance Company showed only 24 per cent wanted to quit altogether at 65. Some 39 per cent wanted to keep their present jobs, and 37 per cent wanted to slow down a bit but keep doing something useful... Boxing has been under intermittent public attack ever since the days when the Romans pummeled each other to death in the arena... but it is still big business... some 215,000 men engaged in prize fights in 1951, of whom 24,365 were professionals... there were four deaths, but only one was in a professional bout... boxing gloves were first used in modern times in a bout in Paris in 1891... an Englishman won... this is not so strange, however... his opponent was English, too. Racing is known as "The Sport of Kings," but do you know what king actually ran a foot race with a horse?... It was Thomas Jefferson's old foe, George the Third bally upstairs after losing America... You know, of course, why some saints are pictured with square instead of round halos?... The square halo indicates the saint was still alive when the portrait was made... Few if any presidential candidates today have or need the lung-power of George Whitefield, famous 18th Century Methodist missionary... he could speak loudly enough to be heard by 20,000 people... Actor David Garrick once said Whitefield's oratorical power was so great he could reduce an audience to tears merely by the way he pronounced "Mesopotamia"... any politician now can get the same results by saying "taxes"... Half the blindness among New York children of pre-school age is caused by a disease unheard of a decade ago... it called retrolental fibroplasia, is affected only premature infants of low weight... cross-eyed and near-sighted children usually rank among the best students... the American Optometric Association says... it also has found color-blindness is five times as common among boys as girls... But it is the girls who grow up and buy those Christmas neckties... Naturally you've been wondering for years how fast a golf ball spins... The answer is 3,000 to 5,000 revolutions per minute — if you hit it well — a high-lifted ball with a good back-spin may reach 8,000... A poll of 170,000 defense plant workers showed that 75 per cent used private cars to get to work... In Detroit the figure is 88 per cent... Well, anything to keep from getting into an argument with a bus driver... Mosquitoes will soon be out again... you may be depressed to know that instead of about 400 varieties known 50 years ago science now figured there are between 1,700 and 2,500 kinds... Here's a new way to fight them — carry a warm billiard ball around in your hands... Tests have shown that some are dumb enough to sting heated billiard balls... ### This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP
The workmen launching construction of a new project on this day in 1947 probably gave little or no thought to the importance of their labors. For that day they began building the first television station within Texas limits. Station WBAP-TV presented its first programs on September 27, 1947 to an audience limited to the Fort Worth and Dallas areas. The Fort Worth station was quickly followed by broadcasting units in Dallas, Houston and San Antonio. Further expansion of the new medium was halted by the Federal Communications Commission, which held up all charters to new stations until a pattern of wave assignments could be worked out. Applications are on file for new stations in Austin, Waco, Amarillo and several other Texas cities. One proposed state-wide network requested permits for several stations. Baird's patent of the television in 1925 can be called the actual beginning of television. The first technically satisfactory presentation of an unrehearsed program was said to be the broadcast of the heavyweight fight between Joe Louis and Billy Conn on June 19, 1946. That was the first use of R.C.A.'s image orthicon camera.

12 Airmen Die In Two Plane Crashes

TUCSON, Ariz. (U)—Twelve military airmen were killed in two plane crashes in the Southwest yesterday. Eight died in the flaming wreckage of a B-29 bomber from Davis-Monthan Air Force Base here and four perished in the crash of a B-47 Stratojet bomber from Kirtland AFB on the edge of Albuquerque, N. M. Both crashes occurred shortly after the planes had taken off. The B-29, with one engine dead, was trying to return to its base when it crashed, exploded and burned in the desert five miles from the base.

22 New Casualties

Floating Island In Arctic Is Hardly A Place For A Vacation

It wasn't so many years ago that newspapers were extolling men like Commander Richard E. Byrd and Admiral Peary for their dangerous and miraculous accomplishments in reaching the North Polar region of the world. And yet, today, nobody gives second thought to continued explorations, some of which are far more important than the mere glimpsing of a polar region. This is not, of course, to minimize the vital discoveries of Byrd and Peary. But, it still remains a major task of man to further explore the hidden knowledge of the world and Mother Nature. Today, two Air Force officers and a civilian scientist are maintaining a weather station on a floating ice island only 60 miles from the North Pole. Back about 25 years ago newspapers would be screaming for news of this expedition. Banner headlines would be in order and page after page would tell the rigors of polar exploration. Today, however, a mere six-inch story in type gives only the barest of details and this is treated as a secondary story at best. Not being fully familiar with what polar explorers must go through nowadays, I must assume life in the Arctic is pretty rough. If it is, let's hope we can focus attention on these men for their sustaining these rigors of the polar area. An dthey are rigors, too: The men are living in tents. Temperatures go to 50-below-zero and even lower. They are living on an ice mass nine miles long and 4 1/2 miles wide as it moves a mile a day in the Arctic Ocean. The three-man crew—Lt. Col. Joseph O. Fletcher, Shawnee, Okla.; Capt. Marion F. Brinegar, Houston; and Dr. Karro Rodahl—are going to spend the summer on this miserable home. Others are expected to join them, presumably to provide a fourth for bridge. I can't think of any place else I'd rather not visit to spend my summer vacation. Granted, these men were ordered to study weather conditions in the polar region. But, they certainly must like this sort of work or they would not have been selected. In any event, they are deserving of our attention because what they do, though shrouded in military secrecy, will affect us all. Perhaps, in time, the men can even find out why we can't get some of the northern moisture, snow if necessary, to alleviate the West Texas drought. In this sense, if for no other reason, West Texans ought to follow, as best they can, the exploits of these men. Brr, bet it's chilly up there! —FRED GREENE

Today And Tomorrow—Walter Lippman

Sen. Taft Is Resorting To Old Methods In Seeking Nomination

Putting aside the issues of policy at stake in the election, the kind of campaign that Sen. Taft is conducting is interesting in itself. It is extraordinary in this day and age. He has staked his hopes on two lines of action. The one has been quiet negotiation with the professionals of the Republican organization, and especially in those states where the organization is not too much dependent on the popular vote. The other, which is particularly interesting, is to bid for popular support of himself by prolonged whirlwind campaigning.

had been talking for many weeks had talked himself out. It is evident that with radio, and even more with television, a candidate cannot make every day for weeks and months on end, and do himself any good. Al Smith used to say, when he was being implored by some nervous backer of his to make more speeches, that there were only a certain number of things to say on the comparatively few issues that people cared about, that he could not make the same speech again and again because the people had heard it the first time, and that he could not make a new speech because he couldn't think what to say.

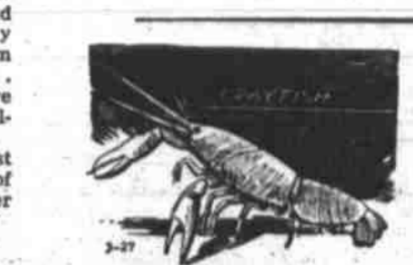

The remarkable thing about Sen. Taft's campaign is that he is reviving in 1952 the political styles of forty years ago, when he himself was a young man and his father was running for President. That was an age when the media of mass communication did not exist. There were no radios, no news reels, and of course no television. Nor was there by our standards a mass electorate. The whole popular vote cast in 1908 for Sen. Taft's father was less than eight million votes. It is a reasonable estimate that the winner in this year's election will have between twenty-five a thirty million votes. Sen. Taft has planned his campaign without, so it seems to me, taking into account either the mass media or the massiveness of the voting population. His whirlwind campaign is based on the notion that it is still possible to reach by personal appeal and personal appearances the mass of voters of 1952. And his negotiations with the machine politicians are based on a similar notion—namely that they still control the great mass electorate which decides the elections. In the modern mass elections there are now at least twice as many voters who are independent, who swing from one side to the other, who have to be reached in order to win an election, as there were Republicans in the whole country when Sen. Taft's father was President.

Under modern conditions the only way to avoid boring people to death with the same old speeches is to do what Sen. Taft is now doing—not to have them broadcast widely or reported except in the local press. Only in this way is a candidate able to speak with eloquence and righteous anger four or five times or more a day—first in Marinette, Wisconsin, then in Oconto, Wisconsin, then in Green Bay, Wisconsin, and finally rise to a resounding climax in De Pere, Wisconsin. What Sen. Taft said in each of those four speeches on Sunday is a carefully guarded secret between him and those who attended his meetings. Yet it must be hard work. It is intended with genuine sincerity to be an earnest effort to speak plainly to the American people on the momentous issues of the elections. But it is in fact anything of the sort? Is it not rather a matter of not having kept up with the times, and of supposing that the surest way to cross the country is still to go in a covered wagon?

Gov. Al Smith of New York was, I believe, the first successful political leader to understand how radio and the big electorate had revolutionized the art of politics and of political campaigning. Al Smith saw early and surely that when it is necessary to reach so many voters and when it is possible to reach them all at once, a short campaign is better than a long one, and a few good speeches are better than a lot of speeches which must inevitably be poor speeches. My recollection is that in New York State Al Smith would limit his campaigning to three weeks, and that he would begin to campaign just about when his opponent would

The excessive length of our political campaigns is a hangover from the pre-radio era, when the country was big and the spaces were wide and open and the voters were few and dispersed. The new conditions make a long campaign particularly hard on a candidate whose only occupation for the time being is that of candidate. He cannot make more than a certain number of speeches nor can he hold perpetual press conferences. For either he says nothing and then there is no news or, trying to make news too often, he says something foolish that costs him votes. What then is such a candidate to do with his time? This is no joke, and it can be a very practical problem. If and when General of the Army Eisenhower returns home and takes off his uniform, it will be a serious practical problem for him.

Crayfish Very Awkward On Land

A rather awkward animal, but good enough at fighting, is the crayfish. It looks a great deal like a small-sized lobster. Crayfish (also called crawfish) live in fresh water. That is one of the ways in which they differ from lobsters, which dwell at the edges of the ocean. Most crayfish are from three to six inches long when full-grown. That is without counting the two long feelers which grow out of the head of each one. These feelers sometimes are as long as the body. They are used when the animal explores the mud and other things around it. There are two ways of getting about in the crayfish world. One way is by walking, the other by swimming. Each crayfish has 10 legs. Six of these are armed with double claws or nippers. The last two pairs of legs are tipped with single claws. The front legs have big claws, and these are used for fighting. The inner edges of the big claws have sawlike teeth, and they can cut the enemy. Brooks, rivers and ponds are the chief places in which crayfish live. Often they dig holes in the banks, and stay inside them. While in such a hole, a crayfish is likely to face the opening, ready to fight any intruder. Crayfish eat tiny fish, also snails and water insects. Sometimes they feed on dead fish which are washed ashore. The crayfish is clumsy when it walks with the help of its many legs, but it can swim smoothly. On the under side of the body are little paddles known as swimmerets. A male has 10 of these paddles, and a female has eight. The paddles give a smooth forward motion. This differs from the fast, but jumpy, backward motion which is possible to a crayfish. The crayfish's tail is made up of five parts, or segments. These can be folded, but they are fanned out when the animal decides to back up. The outspread tail is bent downward when backward motion is desired. Several quick jerks of the tail may take it away from a point of danger in a hurry. For NATURE section of your scrapbook. Lovellette Is Star As Jayhawks Win

Illini Trounce Broncs, 67-64

By JIM HUTCHESON SEATTLE (AP)—Kansas rules the world of collegiate basketball today and big Clyde Lovellette wears the crown.

The Jayhawks won the NCAA title in convincing fashion last night by downing St. John's of Brooklyn, 65-53, in the championship finale of the 1952 playoffs. Lovellette, keeping up a terrific scoring pace with the championship chips down, led the way with 33 points.

The Jayhawks set up an iron defense that kept the Redmen in check so they never were able to keep a sustained offensive clicking until the final period. It was the only one in which the losers held a scoring edge.

Guard Bill Lenhard and forward Bob Kenny added a dozen points each as they shared the sharp-shooting role with Lovellette, and Guard Gene Kelley was a sparkling guard on the floor.

The tight Kansas defense kept the St. John's star center, Bob Zawoluk fairly well in check through most of the game as Lovellette hung over him like a leaning tower under the basket.

SEATTLE (AP)—Members of the all-tournament team chosen at the Coahoma Independent Basketball Meet will be given suitable awards. The tournament gets underway here tonight and continues through Saturday night.

First round games send Knott against Dibrell's at 7 p.m., Coahoma against Forsan at 8 and Garden City against American Legion at 9.

Nutt's Drive Inn drew a first round bye and will play the winner of the Garden City-Legion contest Friday night.

Nutt's team is managed by Moe Madison and has two other former Legion players on it, Wayne Brown and Donald Wren.

Ticket prices for the season will be 40 and 20 cents. Season duets will go for $1.

Proceeds will be used in the purchase of lights for the Coahoma softball diamond. The tournament is being sponsored by the Coahoma girls' softball team.

The Coahoma team is the former Texas and Pacific club of Big Spring.

To Chuck Davey In Chicago Ring

CHICAGO, March 27 (AP)—After it was all over you would expect the winning fighter to say: "I murdered de guy."

Instead you heard Chuck Davey orate: "I'm glad the referee stopped it because I would hate to see such a great former champion as Ike Williams knocked unconscious."

And then, in Williams dressing room, his manager said: "Ike was lightweight champion for six years and was the best with class and punch...three years ago you should have seen him pulverize..."

And so it went last night at Chicago Stadium. Blinky Palermo, Ike's manager whose license in Illinois has been suspended pending a probe of a police record, hovered over his boss like a mother hen.

"We didn't take Davey seriously enough," Blinky repeated. "Ike would like one more fight." "Ike didn't say a word."

Davey, holder of a Masters degree from Michigan State, had graduated to the ranks of a top welterweight contender.

He remained undefeated through 32 professional bouts by scoring a fifth round technical knockout over Williams in the scheduled 10-rounder.

Davey's southpaw style appeared to fluster Williams. Davey's speed and buzz-saw cutting was just too much for Ike, who holding his once-lethal right cocked but couldn't pull the trigger.

Longhorns Blank Gophers, 5 To 0

AUSTIN, March 27 (AP)—Riley Verdine pitched one-hit ball here yesterday as the Texas Longhorns blanked the Minnesota Gophers, 5-0.

Rain halted the game at the end of the fifth inning, but Verdine had been the master of the situation all the way.

Two Minnesota errors helped the Longhorns along as they were able to get only three hits off the offerings of Pruf Giel.

Marshall Expected To Shatter Record

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—The 29th annual NCAA Swimming Championships open at Princeton's Dillon Gymnasium tonight with the 1,500-meter freestyle, and it appears that the big college swim meet again will start off with a new record in the swimming marathon.

John Marshall, Australia's gift to the Yale swimming team, got last year's NCAA get-together off to a fast start with a record-breaking 18:18.6, but that mark already has been broken. The fellow who did it, Ohio States Ford Konno, will toe the line with Marshall tonight, hoping to equal or better his own mark of 18:11.5 in the recent Big Ten championships.

Cage Rule Doctoring May Turn Into Major Surgery

SEATTLE, March 27 (AP)—Basketball's rules doctors will operate today on late-game stalling and cheap fouls—and in the opinion of most coaches who watched a trial run last night it should be major surgery.

It seemed certain the rules body—the National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada—would come up with something along the line of last night's experiment in the Illinois-Santa Clara consolation game at the NCAA championships, won by the Illini, 67-64.

Briefly, here were the changes tried:

1. All foul shots had to be taken. Present rules permit a fouled team to take the ball out of bounds and retain possession, instead of shooting.

2. A second shot was awarded when the first was missed on any foul, either defensive or offensive, every foul was considered intentional and worth two shots.

The ball remained in play if the last foul shot was missed. It went to the opposing team if the toss was made.

Howard Hobson, Yale coach, had this to say:

"It certainly didn't hurt the game and made it faster, with a better finish. There was the same ball hawking. In my opinion the trial was very successful."

Harry A. Combes, coach of the Big Ten champs from Illinois, called the changes "very fine."

The major dissenter was Santa Clara's coach, Bobbie Feerick, who thought the idea would increase, rather than curtail, stalling.

Last night's trial was watched closely by committee members. The exact form their rule changes take will be debated today.

Chisox To Depend On Speedy Hands

MESA, March 27 (AP)—If the White Sox are going anywhere this baseball season they'll do it in haste.

Last year Manager Paul Richards came up with Minnie Minoso, who led the league in stolen bases with 31. Then there was Jim Busby who was runner-up in the circuit with 26.

Another whiz who shows promise of catching on is Don Nicholas who flied 43 bases with St. Paul and Mobile last year.

An outfield of Busby, Minoso and Nicholas this season may be just about as fast a fly chasing trio as ever played on any one team.

But Richards wants to know: "Can they steal first?"

Feller Looks Good In Wednesday Stint

TUCSON, March 27 (AP)—Bob Feller has quit "taking it easy" in exhibition games. The results: Impressive.

Until yesterday, Bob was following his early spring training schedule of pitching in relaxed style to limber up the arm. Then, against the White Sox, he bore down for the first time.

In four innings he shut out the Sox on three hits and struck out one.

Ex-Midwestern Star Signs Pro Contract

WICHITA FALLS, March 27 (AP)—Tom Collins, star Midwestern University football player, has signed a professional contract with the New York Giants of the National Football League.

Collins was an all-Gulf Coast Conference end for two years.

St. John's Scores

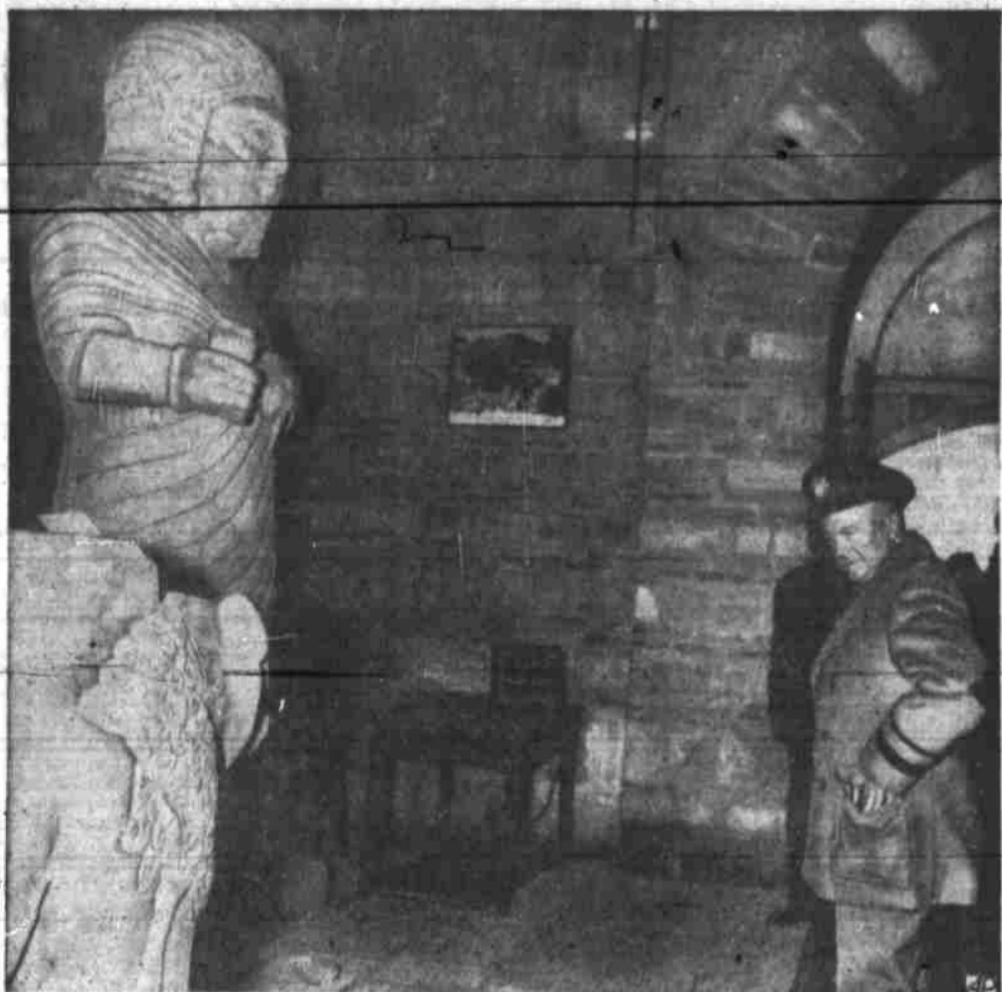

Ronnie MacGillivray (15), St. John's guard, sneaks behind and up for two points in his team's 61-58 victory over Illinois in the NCAA semi-final basketball tournament in Seattle, Wash.

SEATTLE (AP)—Members of the all-tournament team chosen at the Coahoma Independent Basketball Meet will be given suitable awards. The tournament gets underway here tonight and continues through Saturday night.

First round games send Knott against Dibrell's at 7 p.m., Coahoma against Forsan at 8 and Garden City against American Legion at 9.

Cooperation Is Way To Water Benefits

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two stories summing up the surface water situation in drought-plagued Texas and what may be done about it.

By MAC ROY RASOR
AUSTIN, March 27 (AP) — Who has priority to take water from Texas streams when they run low, as most are now?

H. A. Beckwith, chairman of the State Board of Water Engineers, says among holders of state permits the priority system is simple. "It's first come, first served. The oldest permit has first priority, second oldest has second priority and so on."

But from there, it's not so simple. Complications come with rights claimed by riparian owners to divert water without a permit. They are the holders of original title to property through which a stream flows.

It usually takes a court judgment to settle those, Beckwith said. There is no authority either in the law or in the Board to set up any other priority system, to ration or to apportion water among permit holders or to cancel or revise any permit that the holder claims is still in use, he explained.

If the water users want to get together and work something out, that's permissible. The board can't initiate it, though. It could act as an arbiter if the participants request it.

"A situation at San Angelo is an example of something the board has no authority to do anything about," Beckwith said. "The city is about out of water while prior claimants to water on the North Concho are diverting water before it gets downstream to the city."

"When the upstream permits are valid and their holders are taking water in the legal manner, the only thing that can be done is simply for the people involved to get together and work out something to their mutual benefit."

Even if water is being diverted without the permit calls for, the Board has no enforcement powers, the board chief noted. If someone illegally entitled to water is cut off by illegal diversions, he may seek relief in court, but the Water Board can do nothing for him.

Beckwith characterized the Board as being much like a county clerk, who has power to grant certain valuable rights such as issuing a marriage license but who has no enforcement powers at all.

Emphasis through the years has been on placing water to beneficial use rather than on enforcing through state action any priority or any permit right given by the state.

That policy is the will of the Legislature which is also the only power that can change it.

The Board won't ask for any changes, Beckwith said, even though some changes, including some enforcement powers, may be needed.

"Public opinion must make the rules before we can successfully administer them. If the drought pinches hard enough, the Board feels the people will find better ways to handle their water problems and take their recommendations to the Legislature. Then we can administer the laws that result as a will of the people rather than the will of the Board," he said.

White House Windows Are Said Bullet-Proof

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP) — Bullet-proof windows have been installed in the renovated White House, the Washington Post said today.

The President moves back to the 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. address today on his arrival from Key West, Fla., after more than three years in Blair House.

Secret Service officials declined to comment on the bullet proof windows.

Cotton Planting Might Be Less Than Suggested

By OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP) — Unofficial reports today indicated the U. S. may plant considerably less cotton than recommended by Agriculture Secretary Brannan.

The Department itself has made no cotton acreage forecast, as it did last year, but—crops. It is prohibited by law from making cotton predictions before July 1 of each crop year.

This prohibition was set up many years ago when Southern lawmakers argued such forecasts worked to the disadvantage of growers and to the advantage of cotton merchants and users.

The planting report for other crops indicated less land would be planted this season than last, despite Brannan's plea for a sizeable increase.

Because cotton supplies are at the lowest level in 25 years and low enough to cause shortage of clothing and other textile products in the event of crop failure—Brannan has recommended at least 28 million acres be planted.

Such an acreage would be slightly larger than last year's and about 60 per cent larger than in 1950.

Yet one of the best barometers of cotton planting plans is the volume of fertilizer sales in producing areas. Those sales, officials said, are running about 10 per cent below a year ago.

Unofficial reports indicate concern over farm labor supplies and cotton prices are holding down planting plans.

Should the crop fall very much below the Brannan goal of 16 million bales, it might become necessary for the government to restrict exports, as it did last year, in order to assure supplies for this country. Last year's crop was 15,200,000 bales.

City Prefers Tri-County Health Unit Arrangement

The City of Big Spring does not know what it wants in its health unit if Commission action is any criterion.

In commenting on the status of the tri-county health unit, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, had said that "the people out there don't seem to know what they want to do" in regard to a health unit.

Tuesday evening the City Commission approved the new budget for the municipality, and in it was an appropriation for $7,900 for health services. This was an increase of $3,200 over the amount now under appropriation.

This item also was intended to cover part of the expense anticipated through the possible addition of a sanitary inspector to the staff.

H. W. Whitney, city manager, said that so far as he knew, the State Health Department had never made official inquiry as to what the City of Big Spring (and presumably the County of Howard) wanted.

"I did give it as a personal opinion," he said, "that the tri-county arrangement would be more satisfactory for us. I ventured that if we could get someone to give sound, over-all administration to the program, we do a good work within our budgetary means."

County Judge Walter Grice said that the Commissioners Court had the matter under advisement, but like Whitney, he said that not much could be done until it was known definitely what Midland would do.

There had been some speculation about a possible multiple county arrangement which could be set up in event Midland and Odessa went the way of separate units. However, this was purely conjecture and there has never been any definite proposal on this score, he said.

By BO BYERS
AUSTIN, March 27. (AP) — The three-county health unit serving Midland, Ector and Howard Counties may end its program July 1 because Midland and Ector want separate units of their own, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, said today.

Dr. Cox believed Midland and Ector could support their own units in cooperation with the state. He was dubious whether Howard County has sufficient population to maintain an independent unit.

The three-county set-up has been unsatisfactory, he said, because "it covered too big a territory and spread service too thin. One man couldn't cope with all the problems."

Dr. F. E. Sadler resigned as director more than a month ago and is now head of the Taylor County unit at Abilene.

The State Health Department recruits directors, who must be approved by the participating county, but no attempt is being made to find a director for the three-county service, Dr. Cox said.

However, he reported negotiations underway with a doctor who might be interested in heading a unit for Midland County. Dr. Cox declined to name the prospect.

Sixty per cent of the funds for a health unit are contributed locally, 40 per cent by the state. Size of the budget is determined locally.

"Most of them are never able to put in enough to have an adequate health program so we have to set up incomplete units as a rule to get as much service as we're able to pay for," Dr. Cox observed.

Minimum personnel requirements for a unit are a director, sanitarian, nurse and clerk.

Texas has 48 units, but "it ought to have twice that many," the health officer declared.

One of the biggest difficulties, he said, is securing directors. "It's almost impossible to get top-notch men. We've got to pay more money. They can go out and practice private medicine and make a lot more than the $8,400 maximum set by the Legislature." Salary of Dr. Sadler while heading the three-county unit was about $8,000 a year, Dr. Cox said.

He said representatives of the department have been unable to find out what Howard County will do about setting up an independent unit—"the people out there don't seem to know what they want to do."

Budget of the three-county unit for the fiscal year ending next July 1 is $81,448, of which $50,748 is local and $29,700 state funds.

Health units have three major objectives: To control communicable diseases, reduce the morbidity and mortality rates and control health hazards of all kinds.

Work of the units included checking local food and sanitation problems, conducting immunization and nursing educational programs and doing laboratory work. When unable to handle a problem at the local level, they call on the state department for health.

"Well, Dog-Gone"

Truett Reeves, left, and his young brother Brian—ages 5 and 4—are pretty down in the mouth about the loss of Texas, their friendly pup and playmate. Texas, a pooch of uncertain lineage, was a victim of a recent dog poisoning cycle in Lubbock. Authorities have kept on the lookout for the culprit, and the little Reeves boys are sad anyway. The boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Reeves. (AP Photo).

CONSERVATION APPEALS RENEWED

City 'Hanging On The Ropes' As Far As Water Supply Goes

Big Spring is virtually "hanging on the ropes" as far as current water supplies are concerned, but city commissioners say they have no intentions of halting production at Moss Lake until such action becomes absolutely necessary.

At present Moss Lake's level is about 25 feet below the spillway, which leaves about 10 feet in the lake. However, the water line now has been reduced to the main channel and the level is due to decline more rapidly hereafter.

Still, commissioners say they can see no reason for passing up the opportunity to use what little water is left, if production were to be halted immediately, the small amount remaining would be lost to evaporation anyway, the commissioners reasoned.

Appeals for conservation of the city's water supplies were renewed. Each day that passes brings the time that much closer to eventual replenishing of supplies, the commissioners emphasized.

The city is not counting on receiving any supplies from the Colorado River Municipal Water District before Oct. 1, but rainfall on the watershed of Moss and Powell Lakes would ease the impending problem during the summer and fall months.

All consumers who receive supplies from the city water system have been urged to forego irrigation of lawns and gardens.

Most residents have given excellent cooperation to the pleas during recent weeks, members of the commission observed. However, they noted that in some instances citizens have continued to irrigate lawns without limitation.

Now, the drought has reached the stage where green lawns are particularly conspicuous.

'Minty' Flavor
Mint's a favorite with lamb, of course. But in place of the usual mint jelly, try this. Let minted fruit cups be your dinner appetizer. Or decorate the leg of lamb roast with minted fruit (canned fruits dipped in melted mint jelly). Or give the leg of lamb a mint jelly glaze.

First Metal Poured

Syrian Dictatorship Is Getting Reforms

By SIMON ALLAWERDI
DAMASCUS, March 27 (AP) — Syria's military dictatorship is quietly slashing red tape and pushing through scores of reforms previous civil governments only talked about.

Since a sudden Army coup late last year, Syria—historic crossroad between East and West—has been ruled without a parliament, without a Cabinet, without a President.

An Army colonel, Fawzi Selo, outwardly runs the country as "Chief of State."

He was named by Lt. Col. Adib Shishkeky, chief of staff of the Syrian Army. The self-effacing Shishkeky is the Army strong man. He ran the coup last December, the second he's staged in recent Syrian history.

In little more than two months of military government, Selo's one-man rule issued more than 110 executive decrees, covering everything from distribution of land to landless peasants to setting up free medicine for the poor.

Executive decrees restricted the wearing of Moslem and other religious habits—which may be a step toward separating the state from Islam—and revised the system of income and inheritance taxes.

Past Parliaments and Cabinets have talked about these reforms, but never did much. The Parliaments always were dominated by the big landowners.

Shishkeky dissolved the Parliament and dismissed the Cabinet. The Syrian President, Hashem el Atassi, an old man in his 80s, resigned.

To all indications, many of the reforms instituted under the Army dictatorship have been well received.

Al Hurraya, the newspaper of the "Arab Socialist party," said that Selo, exercising both legislative and executive powers, is "echoing the deep rooted desire of the people to be organized, regardless of the power which accomplishes the organization."

By far the most important of the Selo decrees is a recent one providing for distribution of state-owned land and public domain.

The state owns about 2,300,000 of the total of 8,800,000 hectares of arable land in the country. (A hectare is 2.5 acres.) There are also an estimated 34 million hectares of unused arable land and 3,600,000 hectares of pasture in the country.

Informants say the new decree will permit the government to distribute about three million hectares to about 50,000 peasant families. The government is beginning this program with 1,114 villages it owns, chiefly in the districts of Aleppo, Homs and Hama.

The feudalistic landlords and tribal sheikhs of Syria oppose this land scheme. Selo's government charges them with unlawfully holding the major share of state-owned lands and is taking these lands

Lawyers Strike In Lebanon As Courts Are Idle

By WILTON WYNN.
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Lebanon's lawyers are on strike against a system that gives religious groups complete power to enact and administer all regulations pertaining to marriage, divorce and inheritance.

This country's courts have been idle since January. The lawyers demand that the authority of religious groups over these matters be greatly reduced.

The issue is an explosive one in Lebanon, which was carved out of Syria to provide protection for religious minorities. The last census showed 53 per cent Moslem. The Christians and Moslems are divided into tightly knit sects of their own.

The lawyers assail the system of personal status laws as medieval and cite these instances:

A Jehovah's Witness can't marry in Lebanon unless he changes his religion, since every one must be married in his own religious court. There aren't enough members of this sect in the country to set up such an institution. The same situation applies to the small group of Lebanese Bahais.

Atheists are out of luck, for civil marriages do not exist and they would have to acknowledge a religious faith in order to get married.

The Moslems can have four wives. A Christian is limited to one. Some Moslems can get a divorce by saying "I divorce you" three times. Certain Christians can't get a divorce for any reason.

Prime Minister Sami Solh has proposed that compromise legislation be drafted by a commission of lawyers, religious groups and the government. One suggestion is adoption of supplementary civil legislation on a personal status. That would give the individual the choice of marrying or divorcing under either civil or religious authority.

Milo Meal Price Boosts Granted

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—The government today approved boosts of 26 to 512 per cent for milo meal and feed which are byproducts of the wet milling of milo, a grain sorghum grown in the Southwest.

The Office of Price Stabilization said the increases will be effective March 31. The ceiling for milo meal of 41 per cent standard protein content will be raised from $62 to $88 per ton bulk in carload quantities at Corpus Christi.

The ceiling increase for milo feed of 23 per cent standard protein content will be from $39 to $51 per ton bulk. The ceiling on all other feed byproducts of the process is set at $51 per ton bulk.

OPS said the new ceilings placed milo byproducts in close relationship with those of the wet corn milling industry. It said these products are closely related and can be substituted for each other. The milo industry is comparatively new.

Power Customers In West Texas Increase Total 66 Per Cent

ABILENE.—From 1946 to 1952, customers of electric power companies serving 90 per cent of West Texas increased a total of 66 per cent, while revenues rose 79 per cent, payrolls jumped 121 per cent and fuel costs went up 104 per cent, according to results of a survey published in the current issue of West Texas Today, monthly magazine of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

These companies are doing $55 million of new construction this year to bring to more than $245 million their total investment in expanded facilities in seven years.

ISENHOWERS ON IKE SIDE

LOS ANGELES, March 27 (AP)—The Eisenhower family is climbing aboard the general's bandwagon.

Everett W. Eisenhower, 27, an electrical company salesman, his wife, and their children, Gary and Yvonne, petitioned Superior Court yesterday to add the strategic "E" to their name and make it Eisenhower.

Their attorney said Eisenhower originally was Eisenhower but Everett's grandfather dropped the "E" about 50 years ago. Eisenhower says he's a third cousin of Gen. Eisenhower.

We'll Have Gumdrop Cookies

... for Daddy's supper declare Elizabeth Ann and Cynthia Higdon, who look to find the recipe with their mother, Mrs. Robert Higdon.

Food Expert's Family Likes Gumdrop Cookies

When man bites dog, that is news for a newspaper. And when a woman who once gave recipes on a weekly radio show gives one for a newspaper, that's news, too. The woman in this case is Mrs. Robert Higdon, 1403 Johnson.

Coming here from Waco with her husband, credit manager of Sberwin-Williams, and their daughters, Cynthia Kay, 3, and Elizabeth Ann, 1, Mrs. Higdon once combined food notes, society items and an interview with an interesting personality all into one 15-minute show for a local radio station there.

The family has had a love affair with Big Spring ever since coming here the middle of January.

But hard luck has befallen them since their arrival.

In the beginning the children became ill with intestinal flu and just for a topper, Mrs. Higdon underwent major surgery after being a citizen of the city for a short time.

However, nothing has dimmed their affection. "We like everything about West Texas including the climate and most especially the people," Mrs. Higdon commented.

Listing as the favorite pastime of her husband as golf and fishing, Mrs. Higdon prefers reading good books to almost anything else.

She does like to cook, however, and one of the favorite desserts of the entire family is Gumdrop Cookies.

GUMDROP COOKIES

Ingredients:
4 eggs well beaten
2 cups brown sugar
1/4 teaspoon soda
1 tablespoon cold water
2 cups flour (sifted)
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup gumdrops (cut into small pieces)
1 cup pecans

Method:
Beat eggs, add sugar, dissolve soda in water and add to mixture. Then add flour, vanilla, gumdrops and pecans. Pour mixture into greased pan until it is 1/4 inch thick. Bake until moist at 350 degrees. Cut into pieces and roll in powdered sugar.

Mrs. Higdon warns that for best results don't use the black gumdrops found in most packages. In cooking, they become too soft.

End Meal In Style With Fascinating Mahogany Cake

For ending a meal in style, it's hard to beat the Mahogany Cake recipe given in "Romantic Recipes of The Old South and Great Southwest," published by the Imperial Sugar Company. It is typical of the many fascinating desserts included in this cookbook. Desserts that include the favorite cakes, pies and puddings of such famous figures as George and Martha Washington, Robert E. Lee, Andrew Jackson, Pres. Anson Jones of the Republic of Texas and Governor Gayoso of the Spanish Territory of Natchez.

MAHOAGNY CAKE

Recipe Of The Week

A good main dish for Lenten meals is rice and deviled egg casserole. The dish combines eggs and cheese which are rich sources of animal protein.

Remember when cooking eggs to use a low temperature. A high temperature toughens protein.

Rice and Deviled Egg Casserole
6 hard cooked eggs
5 tablespoons mayonnaise
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash of garlic salt
1 1/2 cups water
1 1/2 cups water
3 cups cooked rice
1/4 cup chopped ripe olives
1 cup cheese, grated (sharp or mild)

4 tablespoons cocoa
5 tablespoons strong, hot coffee
1/2 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 egg yolks, beaten
4 egg whites, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
Combine cocoa and hot coffee. Set aside to cool. Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add beaten egg yolks and beat thoroughly. Add vanilla. Sift flour, salt and baking powder together and add alternately with milk. Beat just until blended after each addition. Blend in cooled coffee-cocoa mixture. Fold in egg whites. Pour batter into two greased 9" layer pans. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 30 minutes or until done.

Versatile Shrimp Is Good Main Dish

Not just Friday's fare, but Monday's, Tuesday's, Wednesday's and Thursday's as well, comes to the table in Big Spring homes in the form of seafoods, particularly during the Lenten season. In this class, shrimp lends itself especially well for year-round meal planning and more specifically, for this season.

Canned, fresh and frozen, shrimp is on the market all year, and can be boiled, fried, scalloped, creamed and served in bisques, salads and stews, as well as in the perennially popular shrimp cocktail. But it is in its classification as a main course dish that it holds its most popular springtime appeal.

Chesapeake Casserole combines two popular shellfish, the oyster and the shrimp, in a hearty scalloped dish. It takes only minutes to prepare the delicately flavored egg sauce and put the casserole together.

Chesapeake Casserole
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon grated onion
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
2 cups milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
3 cups coarse soda cracker crumbs

18 oysters
1 pound cleaned shrimp, cooked (fresh, canned or quick-frozen)
Melt butter or margarine; add onion, cook two minutes. Blend in flour and seasonings. Add milk gradually, stirring until smooth and thick. Add slowly to eggs; mix well. In a shallow baking dish, scatter a layer of crumbs. Add oysters; scatter with crumbs. Add shrimp; top with crumbs. Pour sauce over all. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F., 30 minutes. The recipe makes 6 servings.

There will be no fishing for compliments when the cook serves this dish which won first prize in the Creole rice cookery contest at the 1951 International Rice Festival. It is a good casserole dish to treat guests at her next party, for she may prepare it ahead of time and keep in the oven until the last minute.

For a novel garnish, she stands some of the shrimp over the top of the dish. It helps to run a toothpick into the jambalaya.

Shrimp Jambalaya
2 tablespoons fat
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 cup chopped onions
1 clove garlic, minced fine
1 cup canned tomatoes
1/2 cup water
1 green pepper, chopped fine
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon red pepper
1/2 teaspoon thyme
1 1/2 cups Worcestershire sauce
2 cups cooked rice
2 cups cooked shrimp, cut in pieces

1 cup tomato juice
1/2 cup grated cheese
2 tablespoons parsley
Melt fat in skillet, stir in flour and blend thoroughly. Add the onions and cook until the onions are tender. Add garlic, tomatoes, water, green pepper, salt, red pepper, thyme. Worcestershire sauce. Cook until pepper is tender. Stir occasionally. Add rice, shrimp and tomato juice. Pour into a greased baking dish. Sprinkle the cheese and parsley over the top. Place in a 350 degrees F. oven for 15 minutes. This recipe makes six servings.

French Cuisine
As an accompaniment to delicately-flavored shrimp and chicken bisque, garlic rye toasts add taste and texture contrast. Both bisque and toasts can be prepared in a matter of minutes, but have all the glamour associated with French cuisine known to require hours of kitchen time.

Shrimp and Chicken Bisque
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
1-3 cup chopped celery
1 No. 1 can condensed cream of chicken soup

1 cup milk
1/2 cup cooked shrimp
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Melt butter in a saucepan; add onion, pimiento and celery and saute about five minutes. Add chicken soup and mix well. Gradually add milk and stir until smooth. Add shrimp and heat. Sprinkle parsley over top of each service. The yield is four helpings.

Garlic Rye Toasties
1/2 cup (1-8 pound) soft butter or margarine
1 garlic clove
2 dozen small slices salty rye bread

Cut garlic clove into four pieces; cream garlic piece into butter. Let stand for 30 minutes to allow flavor to permeate butter; remove garlic. Spread on each slice of rye bread, using 1/2 teaspoon garlic butter per slice. Place on a cookie sheet, spread side up, and toast in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for seven minutes, or until crisp. Serve as a snack, or with salads and soups. The yield is two dozen garlic rye toasties.

There are a lot of unusual names for prepared dishes, but one of the most interesting is Shrimp Wiggle. And one of the most intriguing ways of serving it is in toast cups. This is an especially good dish for luncheons and Sunday night suppers because it combines vegetable and protein in one dish. With such a complete meal in one dish, all that is needed to complete the menu is a green salad and, perhaps, an apricot dessert.

Shrimp Wiggle in Toast Cups
1 cup cooked shrimp
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
1 cup cooked peas

Cook shrimp by boiling three or four minutes in salted water. Melt butter in a saucepan. Remove pan from heat. Stir in flour until blended. Gradually add milk, stirring until smooth. Return pan to heat and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add salt and pepper, shrimp and peas. Continue cooking until shrimp and peas are heated through. Serve with toast cups. Makes 8 toast cups, enough for four servings.

Texans Are Found Everywhere And Greece Is No Exception

By HOUSTON HARE
OFF THE SYRIAN COAST: — You meet Texans everywhere. In Athens the other morning "we ran into Col. Cecil E. Roberts of Lamesa and Fort Worth. He was raised in Lamesa, went to John Tarleton and from there into the Army. After the war he finished his education at Texas Tech, married a New Mexico girl and after Korea was called back into the service. He is assistant military attaché in the American Legation in Athens. He hopes to get back to the states with his family next fall, but he's in the Army for good now.

Independence a short time after she docked in Athens. Capt. Greer is stationed at Hassani Air Field about 10 miles from Athens. He is part of our mission in Greece. He is training Greek pilots and instructing the Greek Air Force. Mrs. Greer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Pappas of San Angelo.

Machine Tool Of Nazis May Come For Texas' Use

HOUSTON, March 27. (AP)—A 400 million dollar deep draw metal working press and a new forging plant constructed around the three-story high monster may be in the future for Houston.

The mammoth machine tool, built by Hitler to step up Nazi plane production, is stored at Dusseldorf, Germany, by private interests.

Stanley M. Swiatek, general manager of the Diamond Machine Tool Co., said the machinery would "definitely give the Gulf Coast area a much more competitive basis on which to bring in defense contracts."

Swiatek said a Defense Production Administration certificate of necessity for $700,000 for tax write-off was sought for the machinery.

He said the press was one of three. One, Swiatek said, is definitely in Russian hands and the other is believed to be.

In the office of the Military Attaché in Istanbul we met Sgt. Samuel McElmury, who came to Texas in World War II, liked it, so well he chose S.M.U. as a place to complete his schooling. After graduation in 1947 he went back into the Army but still follows the activities of Doak Walker. He can't understand why "The Donker" was not played in the Cotton Bowl game against Notre Dame. He thinks Walker would have been the difference.

The assistant military attaché in Istanbul is Col. John E. Rhea, born in McKinney, later lived in Corpus Christi, where his father was a cotton buyer and was the roommate of Charley Waring of San Angelo at New Mexico Military Institute.

Col. Rhea was in Sophia when the Iron Curtain came down on Bulgaria. He was moved out when the embassy staff was withdrawn. He has been in Istanbul since. In his office was quite a supply of shotgun shells. He says the shooting here is excellent. The Turks do not have ammunition or the weapons for bird shooting. Within a few miles of Istanbul he gets partridge, grouse, ducks and geese. There is no limit and it is just like the old days in West Texas.

whether you are in New York, Montreal, London, Paris or Hamburg. They have the same arrangements. The same music. And the same people made up the crowd who attend. They appear to be just those who have come to the city for a few nights and have no place else to go.

The Mediterranean countries are cruel. Coming so quickly from the states you are impressed with the people who bear such heavy burden on their backs or on their heads. Men and women move freight cheaper than the motor truck or dray wagon. Day and night you see these human bearers of burden, silently but grimly straining under the weight of the loads they carry.

The horses and donkeys fare no better. The man sits on the donkey, if there is room, and adds to the donkey's almost impossible load. If it is a team, you see a driver with a cruel whip pouring it on a poor, underfed horse or team.

In Istanbul you know you are on the frontier of Asia because of the lack of regard for life. You want to shout at your taxi driver as he whips around a corner and you see the old, the lame and the halt scatter to keep from going down under the wheels of the car. These nations have been so used to privilege and power that it is assumed it is a privilege to use it. Put at the wheel of a car, a driver gives the pedestrian the works. Democracy is still a far day away.

Highway Hearings
AUSTIN, March 26 (AP)—The State Highway Commission will hear pleas for highway and bridge improvements from 11 delegations tomorrow.

WELL, THIS IS A BIT UNUSUAL

PASADENA, March 27. (AP)—The defense Mrs. George Martin Jr. made in Edward S. Underwood's suit for $135 damage to his automobile is out of the ordinary, to say the least. The court took the case under advisement after hearing this story:
She said she was driving on a grade and saw "unusual activity" ahead, but when she stopped, a policeman waved her on. She wound up right in the thick of a gunfight. A policeman in a squad car fired across her path and there were bursts of answering fire from the other side of the street.
Mrs. Martin decided to leave the vicinity pronto. She backed up — and into Underwood's car.
It turned out all the shooting was by actors in a movie scene.

Advance Tornado Warnings Due In Air Force Plans

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 27. (AP)—Communities in paths of approaching tornadoes may get advance warnings soon under plans being worked out by the Weather Bureau and military weather agencies.

Col. H. L. Smith, commander of the 2059th Air Force Weather Wing at Tinker Air Force Base, said plans will be completed soon by the Weather Bureau, Army, Navy and Air Force.

He said officials started conferences yesterday to develop plans for faster ways of warning towns of approaching severe storms.

He added the groups will continue research to develop more accurate means of defining the areas endangered.

Smith warned, however, weather experts still are unable to "pinpoint" tornadoes but they plan to get the information out as quickly as possible to communities which might be endangered if an approaching storm develops into a twister.

The 48 Hereford steers in the feeding tests at the Big Spring Experiment Farm were weighed again last week, at the end of another 28-day feeding period, according to F. E. Keating, superintendent, and were found to be maintaining approximately the same daily average gains they have made since the start of the project.

er, and if it starts in soon with a normal rainfall, farmers can take encouragement from the fact that half Howard County's average rainfall of approximately 40 inches comes between June 15th (the probable time limit on cotton planting) and November 10th (average fall frost date).

On an average, over a 50-year period, 9.33 inches of rainfall is received through this period.

There's no use giving up until the end—and not even then because next year is always just ahead.

Improved varieties of sorghums can be planted up until July 10th in this county, according to the specialists.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hays of Kerrville have gotten home with their $53,000 black bull, the two-year-old Homeplace Eileenmere 104th, a purchase from the Penney (the J. C. Penney Co.) and Japow herd in Missouri. This is thought to be the highest priced Aberdeen Angus bull ever brought to Texas.

The Hays also bought three heifers from the same herd at a total of $13,000.

The new Hays bull has been quite a prize winner. He was reserve senior champion at the Missouri State Fair, third in the National Angus Show; reserve grand in the American Royal; second in the National Western; first at the Ozark Empire Fair; a member of the winning five-bull group at the National Angus show; member of the second place three-bull group at the International, and a member of the winning trio at the National Western.

High-powered and high-priced and it might be remarked that the Ace of Spades is almost as black as Homeplace Eileenmere 104th.

Petroleum producers, refiners, distributors, retailers and others associated with the industry, have announced through the Oil Industry Information Committee at Dallas, that they are ready to make every effort to help the farmers reach top production goals this year.

The petroleum industry is one of modern farming's most substantial allies. This industry supplies the fuel and lubrication for today's motorized and mechanized agriculture, and the weed-killers, insecticides, pesticides, a fair part of the fertilizers, and other products required in modern farming and ranching.

Wanted in 1952 is a six per cent boost over last year's total farm crop output even though it was the third largest on record in spite of flood, drought and other unfavorable things.

The best grasses for this area, according to the technicians of the Soil Conservation Service, are Big Blue Stem, Indian Grass, Little Blue Stem, Side Oats Grama, Silver Blue Stem, Black Grama and Blue Grama. These grasses are rated as choice.

Described as "fair to good" are Vine Mesquite, Plains Bristle Grass,

Hoof-Mouth Outbreak Gives Impetus To New Lab Drive

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (U)—A dangerous outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease among cattle in Canada is expected to start a new drive for a multi-million-dollar laboratory to search for ways to stamp out the plague.

The Canadian outbreak is only 60 miles from the United States border. This may make it difficult if not impossible to keep the disease from spreading to this country.

The virus is perhaps the most destructive of all animal diseases. It spreads quickly and causes heavy losses.

Five years ago, when the disease broke out in Mexico, steps were taken to intensify research on it. Little scientific work had been done in this country because it has been relatively free of the infection, the last time being in 1929.

Appearance of the disease in Mexico led American livestock leaders to realize that modern transportation increased opportunities of transmitting the disease and that this country should get better prepared to defend its nine-billion-dollar livestock industry.

Upon recommendation of the Agriculture Department, Congress authorized the government to establish a modern research laboratory. The lawmakers instructed that it be located on an island to decrease the possibility of its becoming the seedbed for a domestic outbreak.

After much careful and quiet investigating and dickerings, the department came up with an option for a laboratory site on Prudence Island, a part of Rhode Island, in Narragansett Bay.

Just as the department was getting set to start work on Prudence Island, Congress called a halt. The lawmakers were under much pressure to cut non-military spending. Inasmuch as the disease was being brought under control in Mexico, they decided against going ahead.

The outbreak in Canada, particularly if it spreads, may well change the congressional mind. But whether the department could get Prudence Island now is a question. Its option has expired. Department experts would feel much better if the laboratory were already being set up.

Tabosa Grass, Sand Dropseed, Hooded Windmill Grass, Sand Muhly, Hairy Grama, Texas Grama and Buffalo Grass.

Among those called "poor" are Three Awl Grass, Fringed Paspalum, Red Lovegrass, Hairy Triodia, Red Grama and Burro Grass.

The ratings on these grasses are not on their palatability or nutritive value, but on the basis of their adaptability and the amount of forage they will provide on ranges in this area when compared with each other.

Difference Between Gifts, Graft Seen

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON, March 27 (U)—As far as government officials are concerned, the difference between gifts and graft apparently is the money involved.

It is fairly safe to accept 10-gallon hats, a box of oranges, cigars, a ham, pocket knif, cigarette lighter, belt buckles, Bibles, ties, potatoes, cheese, rat traps or maple syrup.

Michael V. Disalle, when head of the Office of Price Stabilization, said it would be all right to take anything one could eat or drink within 24 hours.

But milk costs, home freezers, free vacation trips or cash are almost certain to invite a Congressional investigation.

These tips for worried government workers came today in separate interviews with senators digging into multi-million-dollar government grain shortages.

Two Agriculture Department employees from Texas, fired for alleged inefficiency, discussed the question of gifts before the Senate Agriculture Committee. They said acceptance of "nominal" gifts had been normal procedure until last year when even advertising novelties were blacklisted.

One said Agriculture Secretary Brannan himself had accepted a 10-gallon hat from Texas admirers. Brannan has said the gift was made at a public ceremony after he made a speech.

Three senators gave a nod of approval to "nominal" inexpensive gifts.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) told a reporter that if a constituent offers him a gift such as "a better mouse trap," he has to accept or the constituent's insulted. He said almost all congressmen get gifts—sometimes unwanted gifts.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said minor gifts "are peanuts" and "hats, ties and such gifts are always in the open." He said he even got a Texas hat himself once, and it was still hanging in a closet unless "the moths have finished it."

Sen. Kem (R-Mo.) agreed, and said he wouldn't push Brannan about the hat unless he found the agriculture secretary criticized department employees for doing the same thing.

MILK MACHINE CAUSES JOLT

BYHALIA, Miss., March 27 (U)—When Farmer French Woods snapped on his electric milking machine 35 frenzied cows nearly kicked the barn down.

Nine of them died of electric shock before Woods could disconnect the machine. The others, terrified by the jolt, were uncontrollable for nearly half an hour.

Woods said the motor on the milking machine had shorted out throwing the full voltage direct through the line. He said the accident yesterday cost him about $3,000.

Traffic Deaths Drop

AUSTIN, March 27 (U)—Texas traffic deaths so far this year are 2 per cent under deaths for the same period last year, the Public Safety Department announced today.
