"Sleepy Horse" 395

By CAROL CURTIS
Dottie, the Sleepy Horse who never opens her eyes at all, is a delightful little two-color transfer motif in turquoise and pink to apply directly, via the hot-iron onto school shirts, scarves, sports jackets. Nice, too, on small children's play suits, pajamas, table mats, crib quilts. There are 12 motifs 3 and 4 inches in size. No embroidery needed!

Send 25 cents for the "SLEEPY HORSE" Motifs in Multi-Color Transfers (Pattern No. 395) transfer and laundering instruction. YOUR NAME, ADDRESS, PATTERNS NUMBER to CAROL CURTIS

Frank Halls Are Honored With Picnic In Big Spring

FORSAN, (Sp.)—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hall were honored with a picnic on Scenic Mountain in the Big Spring State Park Saturday evening by employees of the Phillips Petroleum Co.

Hall, who reached his 65th birthday July 19, is being retired by the Company at the end of the month. The couple will make their home in San Angelo.

Entering the employ of the company 10 years ago at Sharon Ridge, near Ira, Hall came to Forsan in 1944 as a pumper.

C. M. Boles of Big Spring served as master of ceremonies. Talks were made by Walter Linde of the company's personnel department in Bartlesville, Okla. and by W. A. Roberts of Midland.

J. M. Miller, local superintendent, presented the honorees with a lawn table and chairs, a gift from the employees. Pictures were made during the evening.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. J.

M. Miller and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Martin and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. McCray and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Gibson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Weaver and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Huestis and family and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Huestis of Forsan.

DESIGNING WOMAN

Small Cabinets Useful In Wide Variety Of Ways

By ELIZABETH HILLER
Choose a pair of small drawer cabinets as simple in design as they can be and they'll turn out to be the most useful pieces of furniture in the house. Just as they are singly they can be nightstands, end tables or extra storage pieces where there's no room for anything larger, or they can get together to become larger pieces of furniture. With extra wood tops they turn into breakfast tables, dressing tables or desks. A wide-spreading curved top makes a table where two, three or even four can breakfast. The cabinets are the table's pedestal base, and the top must extend at both the front and side to allow knee room. A long straight top allows knee room between the two chests. This way, the cabinets with the top are either a dressing table or a desk, and are easily fitted to the floor space by the length of the top. To make a small space double its usefulness, stack one cabinet atop the other and use the two for gloves, bags, hosiery and shoes.

Planning an August or September wedding? Then you will want to know how to facilitate publication of the news of this important event.

Brides-to-be should request a wedding information blank at The Herald. Bridal pictures should be arranged in advance with your photographer, but in no case will a picture or story be printed later than seven days after the date of the wedding. Unscheduled pictures seldom can be printed.

Because of the volume of weddings requested for Sunday publication, all wedding accounts and pictures for Sunday's paper must be in the office not later than noon Friday.

Over Half Of Legislature Not Coming Back For Next Session

By MAC ROY RASOR
AUSTIN, July 30 (AP)—More than half of the present members of the Texas House of Representatives won't be back next session.

Voters Saturday assured at least 76 of the House's 150 seats to new comers, results compiled by the Texas Legislative Service showed.

Only 62 incumbents were re-elected. Twelve other races involving incumbents went into run-offs.

Some of the turnover was undoubtedly attributable to the redistricting measure passed by the last legislature. It redrew district lines that shifted many incumbents to politically unfamiliar territory.

Some incumbents also did not seek re-election, preferring either to retire or run for another office instead.

House Speaker Reuben Senterfitt said his reelection to the speakership was virtually assured by Saturday's results.

More than two-thirds of the nominees of last Saturday's primary are pledged in writing to support me for speaker," he said in a prepared statement. "In addition, I have written pledges from a majority of those candidates involved in August run-offs," he added.

Senterfitt is opposed for the speakership by Rep. Bill Daniel of Liberty, brother of Atty. Gen. Price Daniel.

This was the way Saturday's primary lined up the House seats, by districts:

- 1. Place 1, Jim T. Lindsey, Texasarkana; Place 2, Thomas H. Stillwell, Texasarkana.
- 2. J. Horace Jackson, Atlanta.
- 3. Phil Brooks, Bagwell.

Reports Show Reds Planning US Overthrow

WASHINGTON (AP)—An FBI report claims documentary proof that the Communist party in the United States "teaches and advocates the overthrow and destruction of the U. S. government by force and violence."

The long-secret report was made public yesterday, with the permission of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.).

It says William Z. Foster, chairman of the Communist party in this country, in July 1949 called the writings of Stalin, Lenin, Engels and Marx "Communist classics" accepted by all Communist parties, including our own. . . . We American Communists apply them strategically and tactically in the need of specific American conditions."

The report then quotes from these "classics," asserting that "Lenin and Stalin both specifically reject 'peaceful means'—both insist on the necessity for violent revolution."

Conference To Put In Military Muscle

HONOLULU (AP)—Putting military muscle into the Australia-New Zealand - United States Defense Pact is the big aim of the Anzus Conference opening here Monday.

A permanent Anzus Defense Council is expected to be organized. Its job would be to weigh available forces against potential emergencies.

There is evidence also the United States delegation, headed by Secretary of State Dean Acheson, may lay some ground work for an eventual single Pacific organization to include Japan, the Philippines and other Pacific countries.

The United States has separate pacts also with the Philippines and Japan.

Acheson, Richard G. Casey, Australia's minister for external affairs, and T. Clifton Webb, New Zealand's foreign minister, are due here Saturday.

Australia's delegation includes Sir Frederick Shedden, defense minister; Col. R. G. Pollard and K. W. Major of the defense department.

Air Vice Marshal F. R. W. Scherger, Australia's joint service staff representative in Washington, also will attend with Sir Percy Spender, Australian ambassador to the United States.

W. T. Gentry of the New Zealand

army will attend with Foreign Minister Webb.

The State Department has not announced the American military representatives. Adm. Arthur W. Radford, Pacific Fleet commander, is the conference host.

The United States' separate defense agreements with Japan, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand link awkwardly with the United States as the common partner.

A Senate Foreign Relations Committee said "The implication (is) that the treaty with Australia and New Zealand and the other security treaties are but the first step in the creation of a more effective security system for the Pacific."

It appears the United States is sending Acheson, its top ranking diplomat, to impress on Australia and New Zealand American concern for Pacific security.

It seems logical Acheson will be working on a long range goal.

More Casualties

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department today identified 51 battle casualties in a new Korean War list (No. 615) that included eight killed, 39 wounded, two missing and two injured.

Paper Mills Get Forest Property

LUFKIN, July 30 (AP)—Southland Paper Mills Inc. announced a deal yesterday which placed 20,000 acres of forest land under its management.

The firm announced the purchase of a majority of stock in the Texas Long Leaf Lumber Co.

Southland said the land would be placed under intensive forest management to produce pulp wood and saw timber. However, the policy will be to create the least disturbance possible in the lumber economy of the six-county timber area.

Meet Opens Today

FORT WORTH, July 30 (AP)—About 35 representatives of Production Credit Associations in West Texas were scheduled to open a meeting here today. Cities represented will include Coleman, Stephenville, Wichita Falls, Sulphur Springs and San Saba.

SAFETY INSPECTION DEADLINE SOON!

On or before September 6th all cars and trucks in Texas must pass a rigid state safety inspection. Ford Dealers invite you to come in for a special safety check regardless of make or type of motor vehicle you are now driving. Stop in today!

One out of three NEEDS THIS SERVICE!

According to preliminary reports on a nationwide Safety Check made last May, nearly one out of every three of the nation's motor vehicles (32.4%) is unsafe. Of over 300,000 passenger cars checked, 31.4% were in need of service. Of over 46,000 trucks checked, 39.7% were found unsafe. Brakes, lights and steering headed the list of parts most usually found defective.

AREA OIL

Pair Completed In Glasscock, Borden; Dawson Test To Plug

Completions in the Hobo field of southeast Borden and the north end of the river pool in Glasscock were reported Wednesday.

SW 14-25-3n, T&P, drilled at 5,248 in shaft.

S SE NW of Section 5-25, H&TC Survey, was below 5,434 in lime.

Borden Ashmun & Hilliard No. 1-C Lott, C NE NE 7-30-4n, T&P, four miles southeast of Gall, was at 7,756.

Dawson Cities Service No. 14 Dapree, 2,944.7 from the south and 2,990 from the west lines of section 67-M, EL&RR, a deep exploration in the Welch (San Andres) pool of northwest Dawson, reached 12,400 in Ellenburger lime and chert.

Phillips No. 1-C Schar, 1,330 feet from the south and 7,000 feet from the west line of Section 324, La-Salle CSL, plugged back at 8,465 and was swabbing. It swabbed 12 hours, recovering 23 barrels of oil and no water. It has 105 barrels of load oil yet to recover.

Scientists Say Weather Might Cause Saucers

PHILADELPHIA, July 30 (AP)—Two Philadelphia scientists agree that the warm weather may be responsible for the latest list of flying saucer sightings.

Standard Oil of Texas No. 2-7 T. L. Griffin, 467 from east and 1,573 from south lines of section 47-25, H&TC, Hobo field, flowed 7 hours through 16-64 choke after 2,000 gallons acid to make no water and 653 barrels of 46.1 gravity oil.

DeKalb No. 1 Knox, 660 feet from the north and 2,777 feet from the west lines of League 253, Ward CSL, was below 11,801 in brown shale.

Dr. I. M. Levit, director of Fels Planetarium, and Dr. Roy K. Marshall, director of education of the Philadelphia Inquirer radio and television station find no evidence that the saucers have ushered in a "Buck Rogers" age.

Union No. 1 Loggie, C SE SW 6-32-6n, EL&RR, progressed to 6,540.

Great West No. 1 Williams reached 2,305 in anhydrite.

Over the desert regions in Idaho, where the first saucers were sighted, Dr. Levit said different strata of air of varying temperature tend to form these strata.

Superior No. 13-596 Lanham drilled to 4,956 in lime.

Guilf No. 1-P-A G. W. Glass, C SE NW of Section 12-39-1n, T&P Survey, drilled past 7,763 in lime and shale.

Dr. Levit reported on Civil Aeronautics Administration radar screens could be produced, Dr. Levit said, by ionized clouds, or other natural phenomena.

Stanford No. 1 Cowden, C SE SW of Section 30-40-1n, T&P Survey, reached 13,070 in lime, sand and shale.

Stanford No. 1 Marion Flynn, C SW SW 12-248, Hartley CSL, drilled past 11,362 in lime.

Marshall also pointed out that professional and amateur astronomers, although they spot dozens of meteors nightly, have never reported seeing a flying saucer.

Si Sinclair No. 1 Scott, C SE SE and preparing to take a drillstem test. This venture is 10 miles west of Lamesa.

Humble No. 1 Mrs. Marvin Day-vault, 660 feet from the north and east lines of Section 15-15, H&TC Survey, treated the perforation 7-824-30 in the Strawn with 2,900 gallons of acid and afterwards swabbed load and residue. It is now swabbing one barrel drilling fluid perforation with trade oil and slight show of gas. There was no water in the zone tested.

Meters, according to Dr. Marshall, as they build up a mass of ionized air, glowing at a temperature of 3500 degrees or more, would register on radar screens.

Ashland No. 2-A-7 TXL, 660 from the north and 1,980 from the west lines section 7-36-4n, T&P, on the northern end of the river area, flowed 24 hours through 32-64 choke after 6,000 gallons fracture to make no water and 792 barrels of 38 gravity oil.

Austral No. 1 Ellwood Estate, 660 feet from the south and west lines of Section 78-15, SPRB Survey, reached 8,163 and is taking drillstem test from 8,152-63. Top of the Ellenburger is 8,149 and the elevation is 2,429.

Marshall also pointed out that professional and amateur astronomers, although they spot dozens of meteors nightly, have never reported seeing a flying saucer.

Si Sinclair No. 1 G. T. Jiall, C SW Glasscock prospector, was at 7,390 in lower Strawberry. It took a drillstem test from 7,239-7,309 with the tool open three hours. There was recovery of 30 feet of slightly oil and gas-cut mud. All pressures were zero.

Phillips No. 1-C McDowell, C SW NE 31-33-2n, T&P, was at 715.

Over the desert regions in Idaho, where the first saucers were sighted, Dr. Levit said different strata of air of varying temperature tend to form these strata.

Stanford No. 1 J. L. Moates, 467 feet from the south and east lines of Section 2-31-2n, T&P Survey, drilled past 7,525 in lime.

But on the Western Front, near the shell-ripped hill Old Baldy, U. N. troops counterattacked a second time against an advance position seized by 200 Reds early Tuesday.

Over the desert regions in Idaho, where the first saucers were sighted, Dr. Levit said different strata of air of varying temperature tend to form these strata.

Stanford No. 1 Modesta Simpson, C SW NW of Section 21-33-3n, T&P Survey, reached 9,898 in shale.

The U. S. Eighth Army said it had no late report on the second attack.

Over the desert regions in Idaho, where the first saucers were sighted, Dr. Levit said different strata of air of varying temperature tend to form these strata.

Stanford No. 1 A Suste Snyder, 660 feet from the north and west lines of Section 20-30-1n, T&P Survey, reached 11,530 and was plugging off lower section with cement.

Except for night B-26 and B-29 bomb runs on front line targets, U. N. warplanes were mostly grounded.

LeBlanc Is In Eyelash Finish

By JAMES V. MCLEAN NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Louisiana Representative while colorful Cajun campaigner Dudley J. LeBlanc and Rep. Edwin E. Willis headed for an eyelash finish.

In a rain-hindered Democratic primary yesterday, unofficial returns showed these four winners: U. S. Reps. F. Edward Hebert and Hale Boggs, both of New Orleans; Overton Brooks of Shreveport and Otto Passman of Monroe.

LeBlanc at 57 is a veteran South-west Louisiana political leader who has made three unsuccessful races for governor. Wide publicity and financial fortune came to him through his patent medicine (Hada-col). He later sold the business.

Willis is 47 and seeking his third term in Congress.

With 239 of the Third Congressional District's 253 precincts reported, LeBlanc had 23,400 votes, and Willis had 23,291 votes.

Rep. James Morrison of Hammond of the Sixth District was unopposed for nomination.

Rep. Henry Larcade did not seek re-election from the Seventh District and Rep. A. Leonard Allen did not seek re-election from the Eighth.

Runoffs were indicated in both districts.

Sentences Due For Klansmen

WHITEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Sixty-three defendants, including the head of the Ku Klux Klan in the Carolinas, were scheduled to be sentenced today for their part in Klan floggings in this area.

Imperial Wizard Thomas L. Hamilton of Leesville, S. C., and the others were called to appear in Superior Court before Judge Clarence L. Williams at 9:30 a. m. (EST).

Judge Williams' rulings covered 158 indictments growing out of 10 violence cases during the Klan uprisings in Columbus County during the past year and a half.

The veteran jurist postponed the sentencing until today to allow himself more time to study the cases.

Hamilton, admitted Klan leader, pleaded guilty last week to two counts of conspiracy to assault in the flogging of a Negro woman, Evergreen Flowers. He was charged with conspiracy in three other flogging incidents but a nolo prosequi was taken in the cases.

The state completed its presentation of evidence yesterday against 14 former Klansmen accused in two Chadbourn Negroes, Esther Lee Floyd and Dorsey Robinson. Witnesses testified that Robinson was flogged, but the Floyd woman escaped a lashing when she told the men she was pregnant.

White 'Concedes' Precinct Post

George White, Howard County Democratic chairman, Wednesday "conceded" the office of chairman for Precinct No. 3 to J. W. Purser.

Neither White nor Purser was a candidate for the precinct chairmanship. However, Purser received 25 write-in votes and White received 23. Names of several other non-candidates also were written in.

"I don't believe I can overcome your two-vote lead in the runoff," White told Purser Wednesday. "I'll just concede you the office."

Reservations Are Needed For Rodeo Booster Excursion

Big Springers desiring to accompany rodeo boosters on either of the pre-rodeo tours next week may make reservations by contacting the Chamber of Commerce.

The American Business Club is sponsor of a motorcade to visit cities and towns south and east of Big Spring Monday with invitation for residents of that section to attend the annual rodeo Aug. 6-9.

Persons who want to make that tour may secure rides in automobiles already designated for the trip, or additional cars will be welcomed, said Loyd Wooten, Chamber of Commerce projects director.

A chartered bus will tour the area north and west of here on Tuesday. Jaycees, who pay all transportation expenses, invite passengers up to the capacity of the bus. Reservations for the latter trip probably should be made immediately.

Tickets for the 19th annual rodeo are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce. A few bus seats still may be obtained, also.

A big parade will open the rodeo and cowboy reunion next Wednesday. Four rodeo performances will continue the celebration through Saturday night.

Colonel's Wife Found Guilty

WIESBADEN, Germany, July 30 (AP)—Mrs. Katherine Reed, wife of a U. S. Air Force colonel, was convicted today on five black market charges and fined a total of $3,962.

She was accused of selling coffee and gasoline coupons and making illegal currency exchanges on the German black market.

U. S. Judge Dewitt White set her bail at $1,000 pending payment of her fine or an appeal.

The defendant was found innocent of two other charges of importing coffee for re-sale and buying military scrip for American dollars.

She was permitted two days to raise bail, and meanwhile was placed in custody of her defense counsel, Earl Smith.

After the sentence was pronounced, Mrs. Reed whispered that she understood the court. She sat down then, chewing nervously on a lobby pin.

White offered her the alternative of serving time in jail instead of paying the fine—at the rate of one day per $15 fine. He gave her up to 30 days to pay the fine.

White said he felt a deep personal regret to see a fellow American convicted of black marketing but added: "No American can justify rationalize such acts."

Higher Ceiling Set For Steel

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—The government today issued a special order permitting steel mills to put higher ceiling prices in effect on all steel delivered on or after July 26.

The order was signed by Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall, who with other Office of Price Stabilization officials had opposed any special price increase for steel.

Arnall had no comment. The language of the order made clear that it was being issued to comply with an "official and mandatory directive" from acting Defense Mobilizer John R. Steelman.

The order explained the price boost directive from the Office of Defense Mobilization "deprives the Office of Price Stabilization and the director of any independent discretion or authority in connection with steel prices."

It further said the price directive removes OPS and its director from any policy, control, jurisdiction or determination over steel ceilings.

MARKETS

WALL STREET NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—The stock market quickly advanced a little today with the steel and aluminum making the best showing.

Top Spots Sharing Kansas Limelight

By JAMES E. LAWSON TOPEKA, Kas. (AP)—A GOP lieutenant governorship contest inflated far beyond its ordinary importance and a five-man Democratic governorship race share top billing in next Tuesday's primary in normally Republican Kansas.

There is no U. S. senatorial seat at stake this year and Gov. Edward F. Arn is unopposed for Republican renomination in his bid for a second term.

Four of the state's six Republican congressmen also are without primary opposition in their quest for re-election.

The special import being attached to the lieutenant governorship race results from speculation over what may happen to some of the state's major Republican officeholders in the event Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is elected to the presidency in November.

This speculation centers around Arn and U. S. Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kan.).

Arn and Carlson teamed with former U. S. Sen. Harry Darby of Kansas in the early "grass roots" movement for Eisenhower.

There is speculation that Carlson may wind up in an Eisenhower cabinet thus opening the way for Arn to resign as governor and be appointed to the senatorial vacancy by the next lieutenant governor.

Some political guessers also are guessing that Arn might like to become a federal judge. A third such judgeship for Kansas is being proposed.

Carlson maintains he wants only to remain in the Senate. Arn has said he hopes to serve a second term as governor than enter private law practice.

Drawing all the attention in the GOP primary is Lt. Gov. Fred Hall, 38-year-old Dodge City attorney.

He won the nomination two years ago over the Arn-Carlson-Darby choice, former State Sen. Willard Mahon of Yates Center, and seven other candidates.

Hall, who makes no bones about having higher political aspirations, possibly the governorship in 1954, claims the administration is attempting to purge him.

He charges the full force of the state organization is being used to nominate State Sen. Wayne Ryan of Clay Center and concentrate "further power in the state-house palace guard." Arn has come out flatly in favor of Ryan.

Drive Started To Round Up Aliens

MCALLEN, July 30 (AP)—The U. S. Immigration Service today began a drive to round up Mexican aliens near here.

In three hours about a hundred Border Patrolmen rounded up three thousand "wetbacks" who were then put under guard in a tomato-warehouse at Russelltown, according to Radio Station KRIO, Russelltown is a rural community about 45 miles from McAllen.

KRIO said the drive was supervised by Willard F. Kelley of Washington, D. C., assistant U. S. Commissioner of Immigration, and that the aliens will be taken by trucks to detention quarters this side of the Rio Grande from Reynosa and Matamoros. From these detention quarters the aliens will be taken into Mexico by train, said KRIO.

Former Policeman Is Visiting Here

Lindy Oldfield, former Big Spring policeman is visiting here while on leave from the Army.

He is being transferred from Fort Ord, Calif., to Camp Kilmer, N. J., where he is to report Aug. 15. Oldfield expects to be sent to an European assignment when he reaches Camp Kilmer.

He will visit friends in Big Spring for two or three days, then go to Dallas to spend the remainder of his leave with his parents, Mrs. and Mrs. Henry C. Oldfield. He has been in the Army since Mar. 19, 1951.

You always want a second look

HOW MANY TIMES a day do you take a second look at something? If you have a chance—you do it every time something new comes along.

When your team wins, by skill or weird luck, it isn't enough to see it pictured—to hear it told—just once. You take a second look... in your newspaper.

When you want a house, or refrigerator, or television set, you look in your newspaper... at A's ad, then B's and C's, then back to A's. You take a second look.

Advertisement for Big Spring Daily Herald. It features a large headline "You always want a second look" and several columns of text explaining the benefits of reading the newspaper. The text emphasizes that the newspaper provides a "second look" at important news, advertisements, and local events. It also mentions that the newspaper is published by the Bureau of Advertising, ANPA, and is available for a subscription.

Strategy Meet Set By GOP's 'Brain Trust'

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
DENVER (AP)—GOP presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower has set his running mate and their campaign "brain trust" will hold a series of high level strategy conferences here starting Friday.

Among those scheduled to attend sessions to continue over the week end is Arthur E. Summerfield of Michigan, Eisenhower's campaign manager and the new chairman of the Republican National Committee.

The meetings also will bring in those in charge of the GOP drive to capture control of Congress from the Democrats in the November elections.

Summerfield and the party's vice presidential candidate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, will travel to Denver together from the Ohio state Republican convention in Columbus. Both will address that convention tomorrow.

The Denver conferences at Eisenhower headquarters will deal with "co-ordination of all phases of the hard-hitting campaign Gen. Eisenhower and Sen. Nixon will conduct," Arthur H. Vandenberg Jr., the general's executive assistant, said in a statement today.

In addition to Eisenhower, Nixon and Summerfield, the conferences will be attended by:

Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, chairman of Eisenhower's personal political advisory staff.

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas and Sen. Fred A. Seaton of Nebraska, advisers to the general.

Murray Chotiner, campaign manager, and Rep. Patrick J. Hillings of California, advisers to Nixon.

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, who managed Eisenhower's successful campaign for the nomination and who now is chairman of his Political Advisory Committee.

Walter Williams of Seattle and Mrs. Oswald B. Lord of New York, co-chairman of the national Citizens for Eisenhower Committee.

Sinclair Weeks of Massachusetts, finance chief of the GOP National Committee.

Rep. Leonard W. Hall of New York, chairman of the Republican Congressional (House) Campaign Committee.

And Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, chairman of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee.

Dirksen backed Sen. Robert A. Taft for the party's presidential nomination. His acceptance of Eisenhower's invitation to the conferences this week end was regarded in the general's camp as another hopeful sign that party harmony can be restored.

Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska, who also supported Taft, conferred with Eisenhower here yesterday and told a news conference afterward he had pledged to the general his wholehearted backing.

The Nebraska senator also said he is confident that Taft will play an active role in behalf of the general during the forthcoming campaign. Taft has promised his cooperation.

Union To Halt Line Squabble

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—An AFL union has agreed to call off any more attempts to break through a CIO picket line in order to go to work in the strikebound Allis-Chalmers jet engine parts plant.

Eight men, including members from both groups, were hurt in an outbreak Monday, when some AFL men, forced their way into the plant.

The AFL withdrawal promise came at the request of state Labor Commissioner Thomas R. Hutson, who suggested "violence might mean martial law."

Gov. Henry E. Schricker also asked the AFL operating engineers to get away from the plant. The pickets are CIO United Auto Workers, a union which is official bargaining agent for the workers.

Arthur Ingles, a federal conciliator, talked with both management and CIO representatives Tuesday but reported no progress toward a strike settlement. He said he hopes to get both sides together in a meeting Friday.

The strike for higher wages and a union shop stopped construction of the main plant—a 10-million-dollar project.

Farm Prices Up By One Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prices received by farmers between June 15 and July 15 rose one per cent, mainly because of increases they got for hogs, milk, eggs and commercial crops.

The Agriculture Department, announcing this year, said that during the same period prices dropped for beef cattle, potatoes, wheat, cotton, calves and several other products.

The department's price index went up three points to 295, well below the record 313 of February 1951. The index of prices paid by farmers remained at 286.

Robber Leaves A Calling Card Behind

NEW YORK (AP)—Police had a snap solving a tailor shop robbery last night. The robber left a paper giving his name, address and description.

The "calling card" was a completed application form for city employment, which apparently had popped unnoticed from the robber's pocket when he drew his gun. He claimed he committed the $26 robbery to pay an employment agency fee.

Two Men Named On Equalization Board

City commissioners named two men to the joint city-school tax equalization board Tuesday. They asked that trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District appoint the third member of the board.

Chosen for the tax equalization work by the city were Omar Jones and J. W. Purser. No date has been set for meeting of the group, but the work probably will be started as soon as the third board member is named.

Adenauer Wins Court Victory For Alliance

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer won a court victory today in his fight for ratification of his country's alliance with the West but the way was left open for more legal battles that could delay German rearmament.

The Constitutional Court ruled it could not consider Socialist challenges of the peace contract with the Allies and the European army agreement until the pact had been enacted into law by the West German Parliament.

The two treaties, ending most occupation controls and obligating West Germany to raise 500,000 troops for the proposed European army, come up for final vote after the lower house of Parliament, the Bundestag, reconvenes in September.

The court decision was a big boost toward ratification, since the tribunal refused to rule on Socialist contentions that the pact could be approved only after national elections chose a new Parliament and after a constitutional amendment authorizing rearmament.

Socialist leader Kurt Schumacher had predicted his party would be swept into office if a national election was ordered this year. Otherwise, the Adenauer government is not scheduled to face the electorate until 1953.

It is generally admitted that the government can not muster the two-thirds majority of the present Bundestag necessary to change the constitution, although the numerical superiority of its coalition over the Socialist-led opposition alliance appears to assure ratification of the treaties.

What his diary really contained also is veiled in secrecy. But if propaganda Russia poured out last year to bolster war-mongering charges against the United States is correct, the diary said in part: "War is as soon as possible! ## Grow Found Guilty, To Get Reprimand

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP)—The American general who believed in a hit-em-first war with Russia—and said so in a diary a Soviet spy copied—has been convicted of letting his diary fall into Communist hands.

Technically, Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow was found guilty by a court martial yesterday of two offenses: jettisoning military secrets in his personal diary and failing to safeguard classified data.

He was sentenced to a reprimand, which will count against future promotion, and suspension from command for six months. Maximum penalty would have been five years confinement, discharge, and forfeiture of pay and allowances.

The high-hush week-long trial before eight generals was so secret that even now the actual evidence against Grow, 57-year-old hero of two world wars, has not been made public. Newsmen were even forbidden to contact those involved.

What his diary really contained also is veiled in secrecy. But if propaganda Russia poured out last year to bolster war-mongering charges against the United States is correct, the diary said in part: "War is as soon as possible! Now! . . . the time is ripe for a blow this year (1951) . . . we must learn that in this war it is fair to hit below the belt. We must understand that this war is total war and is fought with all weapons." This is the story behind the court martial.

Early last year Grow was a military attaché at the U. S. Embassy in Moscow. He went to Frankfurt, Germany, on official business.

While there, a Russian spy allegedly crept into his room during his absence, stole his diary, photographed it, and then returned it.

The Soviet agent turned photographic copies of the diary over to Richard Squires, described as a British writer, who used them in a book entitled "On the Path to War."

Russia used the book as ammunition for a propaganda barrage, hammering home the Communist theme that the U. S. wanted war.

Ceylon Buys Rice From Red Chinese

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—Prime Minister Dudley Senanayake told the House of Representatives today that Ceylon is sending a mission to Communist China to buy rice.

The Premier said his government is prepared to pay the Reds a "reasonable price" for supplies to this British commonwealth country's major food grain.

Communist Chinese agents in the last few months have made several offers of rice in exchange for Ceylon's rubber.

Maryland Opens New Bridge Today

SANDY POINT, Md. (AP)—Maryland today presented its greatest public work to the nation, a 45-million-dollar bridge across Chesapeake Bay.

Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin and William Preston Lane Jr., who talked down all the opposition and got the bridge started when he was governor before McKeldin, had four black and gold ribbons cut at formal dedication exercises. Their ribbon snipping opened the first bridge ever built across Chesapeake Bay, reaching over a 4.3-mile stretch of water just above Annapolis.

The employees of Neel's Big Spring Transfer & Storage are trained in moving fine furniture and they have an abundance of the wraps that are needed to protect it during handling and transportation. No matter whether the household piece is a large grand piano or a delicate and fragile china cup prized as a family heirloom, you may safely entrust it to Neel's Big Spring Transfer & Storage at 104 Nolan. Just telephone 632.

But moving is isn't the only service Neel's Big Spring Transfer & Storage has to offer. Remember the word "Storage" in the company's name?

Barrow-Phillips, on the corner of Gregg and 4th Streets, is exclusive Big Spring dealers for Ranch Oak furniture made by A. Brandt of Fort Worth. And in the leisure-looking Ranch Oak, over 100 different pieces of furniture are available, including living room and bedroom suits and pieces for dens, children's rooms, studies, offices, and recreational rooms.

All Ranch Oak pieces are made of solid, natural white oak. Its extreme hardness resists dents and scars. And the simplicity of the design makes for hours saved in cleaning.

All joints are double-jointed for maximum strength and the drawers have roller bearings to make them roll easier.

With the exception of table tops, which are smoothly finished, all pieces have a rich, hand-hewn effect.

The informality of the furniture gives a room a look of hospitality and also the furniture is strong enough to take the frequent cuff and scars of children.

And too, matching upholstery and drapery fabrics are available in a wide selection of patterns and colors, especially woven to blend with Ranch Oak.

Barrow-Phillips carries a full line of Ranch Oak furniture and also a complete stock of Ranch Oak pictures and lamps to match.

Ross Prepares Barbecue Over Real Wood Fires

Real pit barbecue, with emphasis on weights do not include sauce, is served up from the old-fashioned wood fires at Ross' Barbecue Stand, 904 E. 3rd.

There is no boiling, no soaking in sauce during or prior to the preparation of pit barbecue by L. M. Ross, master of the art who has nearly 30 years of barbecuing experience.

Ross places the choice cuts of meat over the pit fires. Outside of the meat is seared, sealing in all natural juices, flavors and food elements.

Natural goodness of the meats is cooked through and through after 12 to 15 hours over the burning wood. All sauces are applied to the exterior and are not boiled into the meat to make a heavier, soggy product. All barbecue purchased by the pound is weighed after bon-

Loaf Makes 16 Sandwiches

How many slices in a loaf of bread?

Well, in Mead's famous sandwich loaf here are 32 thin slices, enough for 16 delicious sandwiches.

Maybe that's not the most important question in the world, but it's pretty important to Mama when she starts stirring up sandwiches for that summer evening's outing.

It's more important, to that each of those slices is packed with Mead's famous double heart goodness and quality—bread fortified with the heart of the wheat and the heart of milk. Thus, sandwiches made with Mead's fine bread carries the tops in nourishment as well as flavor and enjoyment.

Another summer popularity winner is Mead's honey-crushed whole wheat bread. It's ideal for serving with salads, cold cuts and other summer plates when jaded appetites can be tempted with something tasty and vitamin-rich.

Honey-crushed whole wheat is made with pure honey. Rolled wheat is used in the roll itself, and the loaf is rolled in wheat bran to give it that special crisp and nourishing crust. Scientists have long since proven that genuinely whole wheat bread contains the

Broncs Sweep Vernon Set Behind Reggi Corrales

Reggi Corrales had an easy time of it on the hill as Big Spring walloped Vernon, 14-5, here Tuesday night to sweep a two-game series with the cellar dwellers.

Reggi, who was looking for his ninth win of the 1952 campaign, was posted to an eight-run lead in the first two innings. He had some rough sledding in the sixth inning, when the visitors picked up four of their runs, but survived and finished the game.

Lefty Lloyd Wallis started on the mound for Vernon but lasted less than two innings. He had a world of stuff but couldn't find the plate and John Fox came on to finish the chore.

Wallis walked the first four men to face him and went on to yield two tallies in the initial canto. In the second, the Broncs siege guns went to work on the leftie and he was derricked after he passed Pat Stacey.

Ossie Alvarez and Whitty Quintana hit successive triples to hasten Wallis' departure.

John Reimold sparked the Big Vernon sixth, with his sixth homer of the drive over the left field wall. The year came with Jim Hayes on base. George Hayes had driven in Goldy Ghobson with the first run of the game on a fly to right and Fox completed the attack when he clipped a ball to the second baseman that enabled Joe Neldson to breeze home from third. Neldson had doubled.

Fox silenced the Big Spring power until the fifth and two errors by Left Fielder Bill McElyea opened the door in that inning. The Steeds went on to get three runs in the stanza.

In the seventh, Fox's wildness set up two more tallies for the Cayuses and closed out their run-making with a single in the eighth. Al Valdes trotting across on a ground-out by Gonzales.

FOUL TIPS — Vernon was making its final appearance of the year in the local park... The Steeds outbit the visitors by only one blow but used their's to much better advantage... Corrales' won-lost record is now 9-8... He has won his last two starts... Pat Stacey brought his RBI total to 57 for the year by blasting home three tallies... Every one hit safely for Big Spring but Al Costa and Art Buzge... Costa drove in a run with a lousy in the first... Buddy Grimes had two blows for the Steeds, his sixth in the last three games.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

It is likely Midland will host the 1953 Longhorn League All-Star game. The city has never had it.

San Angelo has been asked to stage the spangled contest three times and responded with fine crowds each time.

Longhorn League fans would like for every city to get it at one time or another but parks here, at Vernon, Artesia and Sweetwater are too small for such a huge turnout.

Until something is done about increasing the seating capacity of the local plant, there's no chance the All-Star game will be brought here.

Glenn Burns, San Angelo's stellar outfielder, had 390 total bases in the WT-NM League in 1951, astonishing even for a hit-crazy wheel like the WT-NM.

Burns collected 230 hits, of which 55 were doubles, seven triples and 27 home runs.

GREER STILL GETS THRILL OUT OF BASEBALL

Stubby Greer, the fine little shortstop for the Roswell Rockets, says he'll hang up his spikes and go into another endeavor when baseball ceases to be fun to him.

Greer, who used to wear local flannels, is not too sound physically but he loves the game, thrills in victories and suffers in defeat. When it becomes work to him, Greer intends to retire.

Stubby has no use at all for the player who regards the game as a way to make a fast buck, who shows enthusiasm only on pay day and who is always going for home runs in hope John Fan will ante up the green stuff for him.

Ofo course, Greer doesn't refuse any of the spondulif if it is shoved at him through the screen in reward for an athletic feat. Neither does he resent it if the spectators pass up the chance to give him money and settle for applause.

Baseball is his business and he figures he's being well paid for it and any of the extras he regards as velvet.

Little Stub, and most every one will agree, is a credit to the game.

Greer, incidentally, has a 12-year-old brother he thinks is going to be the best ball player in his family and Stubby comes from a family heavy with baseball talent.

The kid's name is Larry and he's playing Little League ball now. Stubby proudly points out that Larry is a natural who even now can hold his own with the adults.

"He'll put us all in the shade," says Stubby, meaning the best of the Greers is yet to be heard from.

Stubby, whose real front handle is Hayden, has been toting that nickname around longer than he can recall. He thinks his father gave it to him when he was just a nubb'n' and used to accompany the old man on fishing trips.

Cook's Nudges Webb, 7 To 6

Cook's Appliances Store won a 7-6 verdict from the Webb Base team in a football exhibition played at the City Park Monday night.

Mize was the winner hurler, Haverman the loser.

Cook's led, 7-2, at one point but the Webb team crowded four runs across the dish in the last inning.

Coaches To Head For Grid Clinics

Coaches in the Big Spring area are looking forward both to September 1 opening football workouts and also to the coming coaching clinics to be held in the next few weeks.

The State High School Coaching Association Clinic will be held in Fort Worth next Sunday through August 2 and several coaches from the County are planning to attend.

The Fort Worth school will take up all phases of high school athletics—football, basketball, baseball, track—and also care of athletic fields and public relations.

Harold Davis, coach at Howard County JC, is one of the mentors planning on attending both schools.

Morgan To Coach Rice Baseballers

HOUSTON, July 30 (AP)—Del Morgan, former Texas Tech football coach, has been named Rice Institute baseball coach, replacing Harold Stockbridge. Stockbridge will devote his full time to football as an assistant to Head Coach Jess Neely.

Morgan, who came to Rice last year after 10 years at Texas Tech, will continue as assistant football coach also.

Coahoma Nips Col-Tex, 3-1, In Colorado City Playoffs

COLORADO CITY — The Coahoma Bulldogs moved out in front in the Colorado City Jaycee Softball League playoffs by defeating Col-Tex, 3-1, in a thrilling battle here Tuesday night.

Coahoma got all its runs in the second inning while a tally in the seventh prevented Leon Kirby from notching a shutout.

The Bulldogs collected six hits, the Col-Tex team three. Gene Parham worked on the hill for Col-Tex. Each pitcher struck out seven and walked one. The teams played errorless softball.

Kirby himself started the big second inning for Coahoma with a double. Jim Ward followed with a two-baser, which drove in Kirby. Lawrence Davis walked and was advanced on a sacrifice by Mike Smolko.

Bill Brown flew out to plate the second run and Vernon Wolf singled to score Davis.

Justin Corbell raced across for Col-Tex's run on a hit by Red Sweatt. Sweatt had two of the three Col-Tex hits.

Rube Baker, Raymond Morrison and Vernon Wolf accounted for Coahoma hits, Wolf getting two.

The two teams clash again Thursday night in the second of a five-game series. The first team winning three games will be declared champion.

This Was The End

Harry Matthews' legs crumple under him as he goes down for the full count under the crunching left hooks of Rocky Marciano in the second round of their scheduled 10-round battle at Yankee Stadium, New York City. Marciano, 27-year-old Brockton, Mass. boy, earned a September title shot at heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott by flattening Matthews in 2:04 of the second round. (AP Wire-photo).

New Y League Schedule Opens

The YMCA Industrial Football League will begin play anew at the City Park, beginning at 7 p.m. today. Two games are booked.

Cook's Appliances Store won both halves of regular season play. The extra round was arranged this week. Five teams will compete for the title laurels.

The visiting team will take the practice at practice session at 6:40 p.m., it was arranged at Monday's conference of managers. The home club will practice ten minutes later. No inning of the first game will begin after 8:45 p.m. The second game is down for 9 p.m.

US Fems' Swimming Team Shatters 400-Meter Mark

HELSINKI (AP) — Continuing the record-a-day (or better) pace of the 1952 Olympic swimming competition, the United States women's 400 meter relay team shattered the Olympic record in winning its trial heat today.

The American quartet of Evelyn Kawamoto of Hawaii and Jacqueline Lavine, Marilee Stepan and Joan Alderson, all of Chicago, was timed in 4:28.1 in beating Holland in its heat. This broke the Olympic mark of 4:29.2 set by another American team in the 1948 Olympics at London and was more than four seconds faster than Hungary's time in winning the other qualifying heat.

Eight teams qualified for the final Friday.

Three United States men swimmers had little trouble qualifying for the second round of the men's 100 meter backstroke and, in rather unexpected performances, the American water polo team won its first game of the semifinals round competition. American fencers marked up a decisive victory in a semifinal competition in the team sabre event.

Argentina's basketball team, regarded as the most serious threat to the U. S., suffered its first defeat of the tournament.

Yoshinobu Oyakawa of Honolulu and Ohio State University turned in the best time in the men's backstroke swim, one minute and six seconds. Jack Taylor of Akron, Ohio, another Ohio State swimmer, also won his heat but Allen Stack of Hingham, Mass., and Yale, finished second.

America's hopes in the women's springboard diving competition received a setback when an international jury over-ruled the judges who granted Mrs. Zoe Ann Olsen Jensen a second chance to perform one dive after she had complained the mechanism controlling the board had not functioned properly.

That reduced her total by nine points and put her in eighth place among the qualifiers for this afternoon's free diving competition.

Mrs. Patricia McCormick of Long Beach, Calif., leads the divers.

The American water polo team from El Segundo, Calif., which reached the semifinal eight-team bracket with difficulty, surprised Belgium, 4 to 2. The sabre fencers handed Poland a 10 to 6 setback.

The big doings for the Americans come this afternoon when the basketball team meets Brazil in its last game of the semifinal round; the boxers get back into action in the second round and three star swimmers go after the gold medal and a possible new record in the final of the 400 meter freestyle.

The United States so far has won all three of the men's swimming and diving events.

The Russians added 12 points to their overall team total yesterday against 15 for America leaving them 74½ points ahead of the second place United States. The overall totals are 514½ to 440.

Heavy Title Go Details Must Be Worked Out

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Plans for a million dollar September title match between Heavyweight Champion Jersey Joe Walcott and Rocky Marciano, the Brockton, Mass., crusher, hinge on three important points:

1. Percentages. Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager, insists on 45 per cent. Marty Weill, Marciano's manager, wants "more than 15 per cent." Promoter Jim Norris says he can allot only 60 per cent.

2. Date. Weill and Norris prefer Tuesday, Sept. 23. Bocchicchio likes Sept. 15 or Sept. 16.

3. Site. Weill and Norris want New York's Yankee Stadium. Bocchicchio wants a place "where I can manage my fighter," possibly Jersey City or Philadelphia.

The percentage angle may give Norris' International Boxing Club quite a headache. If Marty Weill, matchmaker, insists on too much more than 15 per cent, they will have quite a hassle.

The date is really no major hurdle. Felix wants to go in mid-September because of possible conflict with the blazing baseball pennant races and world series ballpoo. Weill wants to give Marciano a little vacation before he starts back to training camp. Norris thinks the late September date the best for the gate.

The site is a problem that will take a bit of doing. Bocchicchio has no manager's license in New York state. In 1949, Bocchicchio's application for a manager's license, complete with pardons from two Pennsylvania governors—John Fisher and James Duff—for crimes committed in Pennsylvania, was held for three months and returned by the New York State Athletic Commission, then headed by Eddie Egan.

"I can't manage my fighter in New York," said Bocchicchio. "And I can't put my fighter where I can't manage him. I will not apply for a license if I'm going to be turned down again."

"I can't manage my fighter in New York," said Bocchicchio. "And I can't put my fighter where I can't manage him. I will not apply for a license if I'm going to be turned down again."

Nugent, Freeman Claim Prizes

Speedy Nugent fired the low score of the evening—65—in win the men's division of the weekly putting contest held at the Country Club Tuesday night.

Winning the women's class was Leona Freeman with a 65 and Bobby Hodges copped the junior bracket with a 70.

Finishing one stroke back of Nugent in the men's class was L. Little with a 66. Sam McCombs and Marvin Wright tied for third and fourth with 67s.

Lois Hodges was runnerup in the women's bracket and Virginia Wright was third.

Mary Ann Nugent finished second in the junior division and Sammy Sue McCombs was third.

Committee To Hold Session Monday Night

Members of the committee named by Chairman R. V. Middleton to solicit funds to continue Howard County in the cloud seeding project of the West Texas Weather Improvement District will assemble at the Settles Hotel at 7:30 p.m. Monday as supper guests of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting had originally been scheduled for 8 p.m., but the time was moved forward one-half hour when the supper feature was added.

Monday and Tuesday a sub-committee working with Vice-Chairman Harvey Wooten traveled over the county talking with as many of the committee members as possible. The committeemen are being advised of the change in the time of the meeting by letters sent out by the Chamber of Commerce today.

There are approximately 40 members of the committee, and they will report Monday night on the funds they have been able to raise so far. Grassland is being enrolled at the rate of one cent an acre and cultivated land at the rate of three cents per acre.

W. L. Wilson Sr., says he has been raising cattle all his life and that maybe it has been a mistake. Just now he has launched into a project of growing a million Register-of-Merit bullfrogs to be in order.

Farmers should keep the cotton under close observation, he warns, and when the situation becomes such that poisoning is justified immediate action should be taken.

The elder Wilson has a Polled Hereford bull calf on which he is pretty high, and nobody looking at the calf can blame him. This calf will probably be seen in the show ring before too long.

Asked if he wouldn't save this calf for a herd bull, Wilson said he wouldn't, and then he struck deeply at the heart of the one thing that is wrong with the registered Hereford business.

"Too many Hereford breeders," he said, "think that every male calf dropped in their herds is a potential Register-of-Merit herd bull. That is what is wrong with the Hereford business now. I would like to see how this calf develops as a steer, then I'll have a better idea of what the potential of my cattle really is."

Among those from Howard County who went to Lubbock Monday night to hear the address of Allan Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation were Durward Walker, R. V. Middleton, Jack Wilcox, Malcolm Patterson, Cecil Leatherwood, Edgar Phillips, Shirley Fryar, Melvin Choate and Doris Blissard.

Residents wear mid-summer clothing all year. Coconut palms, hibiscus, bougainvillea and other tropical plants grow from the thin soil and limestone.

This damp heat also prevails at times during the summer months along the Gulf Coast and as far up the Atlantic Coast as Wilmington, N. C. It's at these times that the steaming residents will tell you: "It isn't the heat as much as the humidity."

Metal Workers To Get Wage Boost

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—Ten thousand Reynolds Metal Company workers in eight plants will receive a 2 1/2 cents an hour wage increase, an agreement reached yesterday.

The company and the CIO Steel Workers announced the new contract which affects plants located in Texas, Oregon, Arizona, Illinois, and Arkansas.

Part of the increase is retroactive to last April 19. The present wage scales, officials said, varies from one plant to another, but averages between $1.50 and $1.70 an hour.

Rancher Directing Search For His Missing Son In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, July 30 (AP)—A wealthy Texas rancher believes his missing 21-year-old son—a trumpet-playing 240-pounder—may have disappeared because he was ashamed to be broke.

"He's just a big, ole spoiled kid who's had everything he wanted and don't know what he wanted," Paul A. Harbaugh Sr. said yesterday after he landed in his own plane to direct a nation-wide search.

Harbaugh Sr. operates extensive ranch and farming interests near Perryton in the Texas Panhandle. The Harbaugh family lived in Oklahoma City until about ten years ago when they moved to their Texas ranch holdings.

Airman Third Class Paul A. Harbaugh Jr., absent without leave since April 30 from Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi, Miss., was last seen May 19 in a New Orleans' French Quarter tavern. The operator of a rooming house, over the tavern, said young Harbaugh spent some time talking to a former school mate, then left saying he would return. He did not return and a check of his room showed his clothes gone.

The father believes the boy may be alive somewhere in New Orleans. Young Harbaugh wrecked two expensive automobiles before his disappearance and his father thought an injury in one of the crashes may have caused a loss of memory.

"We've heard too many things from police to discourage us," the father said. He planned to expand the two-month search made by police, the Air Force and a private detective agency. The Federal Bureau of Investigation may be called in on cases where a serviceman is missing more than three months.

"He was never satisfied," the Texas rancher said in an interview. "He didn't like military school, he didn't like the Army. He was always turning to something new."

Harbaugh Sr. said his son, a devotee of jazz music, often frequented French Quarter jazz places, and had purchased "a very expensive trumpet." A member of the French Quarter jazz band told the father that young Harbaugh played well enough to hold a job in a small jazz band.

"I know what the situation is," the father said. "In January I sold his cattle and sent him the money. You take a kid like that—with as much as $8,000 on him—and there's no telling what might happen."

"I don't doubt that he gambled and probably drank. But I never saw him drunk once when he was home."

"He was probably trying to impress everybody down here and telling them his father was a millionaire. Then when he ran out of money he felt ashamed."

Young Harbaugh was engaged to Miss Shirley Locke of New Orleans, who said she last saw him May 9. She said Harbaugh gave her an $1,100 engagement ring in February but she later gave it back so he could raise money to pay a $500 debt to a Biloxi man. She said the ring later was traced to a New Orleans jewelry shop and "we found that Paul had gotten only $300 for the ring."

The father was accompanied here by Van W. Stewart, editor of the Perryton Herald.

"We're here now to see just what progress has been made and we're going to keep in close touch with the search for young Harbaugh," Stewart said.

Duck Season Will Open November 1

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—Texas hunting regulations for mourning doves and white-winged doves were announced yesterday by Secretary of the Interior Chapman.

But Texas hunters will have to wait until the latter part of August for a ruling on migratory waterfowl seasons. Secretary Howard Dodge of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission has asked the Interior Department to give North Texas an earlier season than South Texas.

Northern Texas hunters want their duck season to begin Nov. 1. Southern sportsmen prefer a Nov. 20 opening date.

The Texas white-winged dove season will be Sept. 12, 14, and 16 from 4:00 p.m. until sunset in 21 counties.

Rails and gallinules can be hunted in Texas from Sept. 1 to Oct. 30.

Bill Daniel Says He To Be Speaker

LIBERTY, July 30 (AP)—State Rep. Bill Daniel of Liberty disputes the claim of House Speaker Reuben Senterfitt, San Saba, that Senterfitt is certain to be renamed speaker of the 53rd Legislature.

Senterfitt said yesterday he had received sufficient pledges to assure his return to the speakership. Daniel, who started his campaign for the office before the end of the 52nd session, disagreed.

"I had a majority when the old session ended," he said. "Pledges received since then indicate I will hold that majority when the time comes to vote on it."

Library Wing Is Near Completion

Although the new elementary school building at Coahoma will not be completed, H. L. Miller, Coahoma School Superintendent, has announced the new library wing of the high school building will be ready for use when school opens September 2.

In announcing the opening of the library wing, he noted that new furniture for junior high school has been purchased and part of the furniture has arrived. The rest of the shipment will arrive before the September 2 opening.

He added that work on the elementary building, which will contain eight classrooms and a cafeteria, is moving along rapidly and probably be ready by the first of the year.

President Is No Longer In Top Spotlight

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
KANSAS CITY (AP)—Reporters covering President Truman's trip home became increasingly convinced today that he has dropped out of the "hot copy" stage. And the President, enjoying greater freedom and getting more relaxation than he has for months, seemed to prefer it that way.

From the time Truman introduced Adlai Stevenson to the Democratic National Convention as the party's new presidential nominee the Illinois governor has taken over the Democratic spotlight.

Truman, here to vote in the Democratic primary Aug. 5, is dividing his time between his home in near-by Independence and his working quarters in the Hotel Muehlebach penthouse here.

He is here to support J. E. (Buck) Taylor in his race for the Democratic senatorial nomination against W. Stuart Symington. But, beyond his announcement of his support for Taylor, there has been little evidence of further open activity in his behalf.

The President is resting up to prepare for the stump campaign that will start about Labor Day. He is leaving the part he will play up to Stevenson and Frank E. McKinney, the Democratic national chairman. He has tentatively accepted an invitation to speak at Rochester, Minn., on Labor Day at the national plowing contest.

Coahoma Schools Have Only Three Staff Vacancies

Only three vacancies remain in the teaching staff of the Coahoma school system, H. L. Miller, Coahoma school superintendent, has announced.

He reported that when the three vacancies are filled, the total number of teachers will be 25.

One of the places to be filled is in high school—the opening being for a history teacher. The second vacancy is in the intermediate grades and one is needed in elementary school.

Four new teachers are on the teacher roster of the school system, Miller noted. One is to be grade school principal, another will teach fourth grade and two will teach in junior high school.

Lemuel Guest has been named grade school principal and the fourth grade teacher will be Mrs. Jack Buchanan.

Bernard Reins and Abe Lincoln will both be helping with junior high athletics in addition to teaching in the intermediate grades, Miller commented.

School Vote Favors Surplus Foods Use

By BO BYERS
AUSTIN, July 30 (AP)—Texas school superintendents and their boards have voted overwhelming approval—78 to 22—of the use of federal surplus foods in their lunch programs.

With results from a questionnaire still coming in, that was the vote reported yesterday by State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar. He polled 254 county and 986 independent school district superintendents to get their reaction on whether Texas should try to hang on to its share of government surplus commodities.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has said Texas will lose surplus foods valued at more than one million dollars this coming school year unless it sets up an acceptable distributing agency.

Seventeen school districts had been acting as unofficial distributing agents in the absence of a central state set-up. The USDA decided the procedure was illegal.

Edgar asked the superintendents: "do you and your school board endorse the use of federal surplus commodities by Texas schools?"

Vogeler Will Not Join In Spy Course

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert A. Vogeler said today he will not lecture nor in any way take part in a contemplated course in "Techniques of Espionage" at Peekskill (N.Y.) Military Academy.

Vogeler spent 17 months in a Hungarian prison as an accused spy.

An agency spokesman for the school said that he incorrectly assumed that Vogeler might do some lecturing if such a course is offered in the fall. Vogeler is a trustee of the school.

"I am not going to conduct or lecture at a course for the academy on any subject. Such an idea was never even discussed with me," Vogeler said.

Authority Sought For A New Station

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—The Lone Star Gas Co., of Dallas, asked the power commission yesterday for authority to build a compressor station and lines to cost $762,687.

The firm plans a 2,640 horsepower compressor and five miles of pipeline to store interstate natural gas in the New York City field reservoir in Clay County, Tex. The project would mean improved service in North Texas markets, including Dallas and Fort Worth.

Here's Another Tale Of Saucers

ENID, Okla. (AP)—A photographic supply salesman told police he was almost swept from the highway last night by a huge "flying saucer" which swooped low at terrific speed.

Sid Eubanks, 50, Wichita, Kan., told his bizarre tale to Desk Sgt. Vern Benell, who said the man was still trembling when he walked into the police station.

Eubanks said the mystery object, appearing as a "yellow-green, then yellow-brown streak about 400 feet long," suddenly swooped low over U. S. Highway 81 and completely reversed directions, disappearing in a few seconds into the west.

He said the "tremendous pressure nearly threw my automobile off the road." The object loomed suddenly out of the night between Bison and Waukomis, south of here, Eubanks said. He described it as a huge round ball when directly over him.

EVEN FOR MARINES

Bravery Of 'Kandy Bar Kid' Stirs Amazement In Korea

By JAMES A. MICHENER

WITH U. S. FIRST MARINE DIVISION IN KOREA

—Every once in a while you meet a man whose extraordinary bravery stuns you. But high on anybody's list would have to be an amazing Marine called the Kandy Bar Kid. Twenty-three-year-old Lyle Lewis of Tacoma, Wash., is phenomenal even for the Marines. He apparently has no nerves, no fear, and no need of sleep. More than 40 times in the last two months he has penetrated Communist lines to a depth of more than two miles, has scouted their positions for periods of up to 40 consecutive hours, and has wandered back to his own lines to report on what the enemy was up to.

He has been ambushed by the Chinese five times, has engaged them in pointblank night battles eight or nine times, has lived through several artillery barrages of enormous concentration, has been wounded once and went back behind enemy lines three days after the shrapnel was removed from his leg.

Lewis looks the part. Six-foot two, slouch-hipped, blue-eyed, he is quite thin and looks like a fast-shooting cowboy in a B-movie. He has a shaggy crop of red hair that looks as if mice nested in it and an incredible moustache that wanders all over his face like a lost forest.

He has developed such great skill in penetrating enemy mine fields, cutting barbed wire, probing entrenched positions and lying low among enemy elements that he has revolutionized Marine procedures in his sector.

I saw him the other night as he started a probe which would take him more than two miles into the heart of what his commanding officer termed "unusually heavily fortified positions." Lewis was dressed in dirty fatigues, helmet and armor-proof vest. His face was smeared with black paint and he carried hand grenades and a sub-machine gun. He was a lethal character, headed for one of the toughest jobs a man could get.

He would penetrate enemy mine fields, climb to the top of a Communist-held hill well inside enemy lines and personally blow up a troublesome machine-gun bunker. He grinned through his camouflage and said, "I feel better about this job since the rain started. You can move quieter." He set out through an Asiatic cloudburst. His buddies call him the one-man army. Therefore his nickname, the Kandy Bar Kid, comes as a surprise. This deadly fighter has a special trick he uses when it is absolutely vital that he get up-to-date information. He leaves his own lines at dusk, goes deep inside the enemy positions, finds some natural camouflage and bugs the earth as day breaks. There he lies, in the blazing sun, all through the daylight hours watching enemy dispositions.

As the second night begins he usually moves forward in an attempt to take a prisoner or wreck some installation. Thirty-six hours later he straggles back to his own line. On such trips he takes with him one cup of water and three candy bars.

A friend says, "Give Lewis three candy bars and a sub-machine gun and he'll invade hell." His commander, Lt. Col. Gerald Russell of Georgiaville, R. I., reports, "The only limit to Lewis' courage is my order that he can't go more than three miles inland. He's incredible."

Lewis is no dead-end killer. He comes from a good family, is married and has two kids. He speaks softly but enjoys a good bust with the boys. When you get to know him he has a rich Irish humor.

One of the men who goes out with him says, "You've heard of Gung Ho, Marine for real tough guy. Well, Lewis is both Colonel Gung and Major Ho."

Eviction Control Needed To Enforce Rental Laws

Without control over evictions, there would be little way to enforce the laws concerning tenant-landlord problems, Arch Propps, acting director of the Rent Stabilization Office, reports.

He added that while most landlords would not engage in the practice of evicting tenants, experience has shown that some would do so if it were not for the restraining influences of the provisions of the Housing and Rent Act.

In only a few cases can a landlord go directly to the state court for eviction, after giving the tenant a written notice to vacate and filing a copy of the eviction notice within 24 hours with the rent office.

Included in the cases are non-payment of legal rent—three days notice required; tenant continuing to disturb—10 days notice; tenant using dwelling for illegal or immoral purposes—10 days; tenant refusing landlord proper access to the accommodation—one month; subrenting or leasing of the place—two months; and quarters owned by state, city or county government which want possession for public improvement.

In all other cases, the landlord must obtain an eviction certificate from the rent office before he can bring action in state court.

Among the grounds on which the eviction papers can be issued are to permit possession for immediate dwelling for landlord, parent or child; to permit alterations which cannot be done while occupied; to permit tax-exempt organizations to use it for housing members of its staff and to permit landlord to withdraw property permanently from housing markets without intent to sell.

In the case a tenant is evicted illegally, he or government can sue for monetary damages, Propps noted. And he commented any eviction in defiance of such an injunction would place the landlord in contempt of court.

Long Distance Cabs Operate In Moscow

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY

MOSCOW (AP)—Long-distance taxi services are in operation here for passengers traveling from Moscow to important cities.

Big fast Zis limousines and touring cars, each carrying up to seven passengers, make daily runs from Moscow to such cities as Vladimir, Gorky, Minsk, Yaroslavl, Khar'kov and other points.

The longest of all of the scheduled routes, and probably the longest taxi run in the world, is to Simferopol and Yalta in the Crimea.

The distance from Moscow to Simferopol is about 900 miles. Zis taxis cover it in about two days.

The fare for one adult is 352.50 rubles which is the equivalent of $93.12 at the official rate of exchange. Many Russians are willing to pay the price for the relative speed and comfort of the journey.

The 450-mile journey to Khar'kov on the same route takes less than a day and the cost is 302.50 rubles, the equivalent of $75.62.

The taxis traveling to Khar'kov and Simferopol make use of a new highway put into operation in the last several years. Running from Moscow to the Crimea, it is intended particularly to handle the travel by auto of vacationers on the way to southern resorts in and around the Crimea.

Long-distance taxi travel is very popular with other groups. It is extremely convenient for persons traveling to good-sized cities not extremely far from Moscow.

For instance, take the city of Vladimir. This is an important industrial center, about 120 miles east of Moscow.

An inhabitant of Vladimir who wishes to come to Moscow for the day finds the Zis taxis the most speedy and convenient method of transport. During the day one leaves every few hours on the three-hour trip to the center of the capital, one charge, higher than for a bus or by train, is justified by the greater speed and convenience. An official with business can take an early taxi, be in town at the beginning of the work day and leave for home late in the afternoon.

Major Cities Home To Many Non-Whites

WASHINGTON, July 30 (AP)—One-fourth of the non-whites in the United States live in 14 big cities, the Census Bureau reported today. Led by New York and Chicago, these cities had 3.7 million of the 15.8 million non-whites counted in the 1950 census.

The bureau said approximately 97 per cent of the non-whites are Negroes. The others include Indians, Japanese, Chinese, Filipinos and others.

More non-whites live in New York City, the study shows, than in the southern cities of New Orleans, Memphis, Birmingham, Houston and Atlanta combined.

Following are the cities with the most non-whites and the percentage of non-whites to the total population:

New York City, 775,520, 9.8 per cent; Chicago, 509,437, 14.1 per cent; Detroit, 303,721, 16.4 per cent; Washington, D. C., 284,031, 35.4 per cent; Baltimore, 228,053, 23.8 per cent; Los Angeles, 211,585, 10.7 per cent; New Orleans, 152,882, 32 per cent; St. Louis, 151,448, 18 per cent; Cleveland, 149,547, 16.3 per cent; Memphis, 147,287, 37.2 per cent; Birmingham, 130,142, 39.9 per cent; Houston, 125,960, 21.1 per cent; Atlanta, 121,416, 36.6 per cent.

Record Vote Maybe, But It's Still Sorry Comment On Civic Lethargy

When the county Democratic executive committee completes its canvass of the first primary today, it may find that a record vote was cast in the election. Highest totals Saturday for any one office reflected nearly 6,500 votes. This is under the 6,555 record set in a prohibition election last December. The new system of marking may have resulted in an unusually large number of mutilated ballots, hence the number actually going to the polls could be at a new record figure.

primary. But we cannot believe that there are nearly 5,000 of these. If so, then the November general election ought to be the biggest and hottest thing in local history. The truth of the matter is that a lot of people were just plain civically lazy. There weren't any big fights that turned on the heat. The national conventions had the center stage, and it was easier just not to be bothered by the whole thing. We can't foresee any tremendous change in attitude for the run-off primary, and whoever does the better job of getting out the vote in this one may win the prize. All of us have our work out to see that the general election turnout sets new records all the way around. The Boy Scouts have dedicated themselves to a "get out the vote" promotion. All other organizations and individuals should join them.

Degenerate Farouk Departs, But His Successors Are A Mystery

King Farouk II of Egypt is only a few months old, but he was obviously born to trouble as the sparrows fly upward. If he lives to be seven years old—at which time Egyptian sons pass from the control of their mothers—he will be seated as king under a regency. That is, he will if all the royal rights and prerogatives haven't been abolished before he reaches seven. Currently the baby monarch is on the royal yacht with his parents, King Farouk and Queen Nour, bound for a destination unknown at this writing. His fat and famous playboy father, faced with a fait accompli, abdicated his throne but named the baby as his successor.

Sudan was part of Egypt and Farouk was its king. He so proclaimed himself, and he has now handed the title down to his son. Britain contends that the joint partnership in the Sudan will remain in full force and effect until the Sudanese themselves vote otherwise. That was what Anthony Eden made clear to Commons. Britain, he said, was not interfering in Egypt's internal affairs (thus it presumably will recognize the baby as rightful heir to the throne of Egypt) but the Sudan question is a horse of another color. And all those warships and troops rushing reinforcements to the Suez Canal?—Well, Mr. Eden said, that was to protect British lives, many of which were lost in the riots in Cairo a few months ago. Whether the military junta now in command in Egypt will get along any better with Britain than Farouk did remains to be seen. It was significant that the rabid anti-British Wafd Party hailed the new regime enthusiastically.

Some Personal Demo Wounds Not Likely To Heal So Easily

WASHINGTON.—The chief problem faced by the Democratic party is that which follows in the wake of every convention—binding up the wounds. Here are some of the wounds that will have to be healed: 1. Southern wounds—With a few exceptions these are likely to heal more easily than the Chicago fireworks indicated. Inside fact is that Chairman Frank McKinley called in the leaders of the three revolving states—Virginia, South Carolina and Louisiana—one day before the big blowup on the convention floor and offered to seat them without any argument. He said he would have the chairman of the credentials committee announce that he had examined the laws of these three states, that they were in conflict with the loyalty oath, and there was no reason why they could not be seated without taking an oath.

Representatives; so the public does not realize that the passage of certain laws sometimes depends merely on the ear of the presiding officer. Therefore, Gov. Paul Dever of Massachusetts and at first Speaker Sam Rayburn gave the public a bad impression. West Virginia's Walter Hallahan, chairman of the Republican convention, impressed the public as much fairer. Hallahan's patient fairness in handling the Puerto Rican delegation was called all over Latin America, and made a profound impression. Delegates also fumed when the Democratic platform, thousands of words long, was adopted by voice vote, with no printed copies distributed for scrutiny. 2. Personal wounds—will be the hardest of all to heal. One of these was Truman's bitterness toward Estes Kefauver, based chiefly on the fact that Kefauver did not withdraw from the New Hampshire primary but gave the President a decisive beating there. The President's revenge tipped the scales at one decisive midnight huddle when Averell Harriman told Kefauver supporters that he could not throw his support to Kefauver because of his own loyalty to Truman and because of Truman's attitude toward the Senator from Tennessee. Harriman and Kefauver forces had been working together all during the convention to stop Stevenson. Kefauver had run the risk of alienating his Southern friends on the question of seating the Southern delegates. He knew that this would cut his ties with the South and ruin his chances of getting support from Senator Russell's followers. Nevertheless he remained with the Harriman group—only to have Harriman turn on him at the last minute and dump his support in Stevenson's lap. This is a wound which will not easily be healed. At one time Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, with Sen. Blair Moody and Gov. Mennen Williams of Michigan, contacted Stevenson to ask if he would take Kefauver for V.P. Stevenson replied that Kefauver was not his personal choice, though he thought he deserved it because of the fight he had made. In the end, and right after Stevenson was nominated, a huddle was held in the private office of Chairman McKinley just behind the rostrum. It was attended by President Truman, Jake Arvey, McKinley, Stevenson and other party leaders to decide on who should be vice president. Paul Fitzpatrick of New York proposed Kefauver and was vigorously supported by Senator Moody. However, Scott Lucas, the Illinois Senator who claims he was defeated by Kefauver's crime probe, hit the ceiling. So did Speaker Rayburn. In the face of this opposition, plus the known coolness of the President, Kefauver was dropped. He never did get even a nod for the vice presidency. Earlier in the convention, Sam Rayburn would not even permit a Kefauver representative to amend the platform with a plank on "Integrity in government" and another denouncing "McCarthyism." William Whitaker, a Tennessee delegate, was waiting to introduce these two resolutions, while Joe Nellis, an aide to Kefauver, notified Rayburn personally that Whitaker was waiting.

Cooler heads in the South, notably Sens. Burnet Maybank and Olin Johnston of South Carolina, with Russell Long of Louisiana, prevented what might have been a bad blowup. Now the nomination of Alabama's able John Sparkman for vice president should help to bind up Southern wounds. 2. Public wounds—may be a little harder to heal. Some of the Democratic leaders forgot that a good part of the American public was watching on television, and that the roughshod tactics used in the House of Representatives in gaveling laws to a vote could not be used in public. There is no television in the House, of

Douglas Supported Kefauver Because Stevenson Did Not Make A Campaign

WASHINGTON.—One of the most touching events of the Democratic convention occurred when Senator Douglas of Illinois led Senator Kefauver up the platform steps to announce he was abandoning any hope of winning the presidential nomination. Although he's the senator from Illinois where Adlai Stevenson is governor, Douglas supported Kefauver, who had campaigned for the nomination, and not Stevenson, who hadn't lifted a finger to get it. Anyone who knows Douglas knows he is a man of intense feeling. He volunteered in the Marines in World War II when he was in his late forties and therefore was draft-proof. He went through the same training that the youngest recruit was called upon to endure. He fought in the Pacific and at Okinawa, and suffered wounds that left one hand practically useless. He had stuck close to Kefauver through all the trying early days of the convention. He had no ambition for the presidency himself. He had flatly rejected any suggestion that he be a candidate. The great break came on Friday, during the first two ballots that day Kefauver led Stevenson but was still a long way from winning. When the delegates returned from a talk with Averell Harriman they had the announcement that he was withdrawing and was throwing his support to Stevenson, which meant Stevenson would get the big New York vote. Immediately afterwards Governor Dever of Massachusetts, who had the solid bloc of delegate votes from his state although having no real chance for the nomination, came out for Stevenson. That was the end of the road for Kefauver who had campaigned for months, going from coast to coast, shaking countless thousands of hands, making speeches without end. He had lost to Stevenson who hadn't said one word in his own behalf and had actually said he didn't want the nomination at all. Kefauver heard the news about Harriman and Dever in his hotel room. He sent for Douglas who had a room a few doors away. Kefauver decided to go directly to the convention and announce his withdrawal. Kefauver, with Douglas at his side, marched down the center aisle during the balloting. Douglas looked terribly unhappy. Kefauver was unusually flushed. He seemed nervous and almost sick. To get up on the platform the two men had to climb the small stairway off to one side. Only the newsmen close to the stairway could see what was happening on the stairway. The loyal Douglas, suffering for his friend in this moment of his great defeat, was leading Kefauver up the stairway as he might have led a wounded man. He held him by the hand. As they sat on the platform, waiting for a chance for Kefauver to make his public surrender, it was hard to tell which of them looked more unhappy, Kefauver or Douglas.

"I Ain't Tired"

World Today—James Marlow

There Are Lots Of Ways To Get Relief From Routine

NEW YORK, July 29.—Are you one of the millions of Americans who feel themselves in a rut? Has life given you everything you yearned for? A wife, children, a job, a home in the suburbs, even a place to park your motor car—and still you feel dissatisfied? Then you are suffering from civilization's most widespread disease—to get what you want. There is only one cure, and that is to want something you don't have, and go after it. You have made a habit of following a routine. What you need now is to make change a habit, and turn your dull life topsy-turvy in a satisfying way. To do this you don't have to run off with your stenographer, disinherit your children, bait your boss, set fire to your car or become a cop fighter. You can break the pattern of sameness in your life in small ways as well as big ways. Here are a few suggestions on how to find fresh windows to adventure: 1. If you invariably start the day with a glass of orange juice, have a piece of watermelon for a change. 2. Comb your hair differently (if you have any). Everyone will remark, "what's happened to you—you look younger." 3. If you have been giving your wife a goodbye peck on the cheek each morning, kiss her full on the mouth. If she doesn't die of surprise, there will be a new sparkle in her eyes when you come home. 4. Tell your boy, "gee, son, kids have it a lot tougher today than they did when I was your age." This will give him a new respect for your judgment. He may even go out and cut the lawn. 5. If you have been riding on the left side of the bus every day, switch over to the right side. That will give you some fresh bus cards to read and ponder over. 6. Lunch at a new restaurant each noon. A man's stomach gets as weary of a rut as a man's mind. And you will get to admire more pretty waitresses. 7. Whenever you feel overborne at your melancholy job, go visit the nearest church, cemetery, or slum section. Each will give you a reason to quit your inner whining. 8. At least once a week do something completely new. Walk a different way, swim in a different pool, read a different kind of book, or visit a different department store. 9. Take up a hobby you positively cannot afford. Many men simply cannot afford not to be interested in trying to get something they cannot possibly ever buy, for them it

Saudi Arabia King Gets Throne Plane

WASHINGTON.—The King of Saudi Arabia is getting a four-engine American airplane equipped with a king-size bed and an elevated revolving throne, complete with safety belt. Transconair Air Lines said the plane, one of five Douglas DC4 Skyliners sold to Saudi Arabia, is being converted at Oakland, Calif., into the "most plush of all personal transports." The throne and 18 luxurious seats will be installed at Transconair's Bradley Field, Conn., maintenance base. The company said the throne, on the King's orders, must be raised above the floor and must rotate 360 degrees. It will have a safety belt stretched to withstand a "3-G force"—a pull 10 times that of gravity. The royal bed, decorated with the royal crest, will be truly king-size to accommodate the six-foot-plus monarch. Enough To Make Any Man Tired. LOS ANGELES.—Julius Madkin is tired of telephone directories. He leaped, through a pile of 10,000 of them yesterday and finally found what he was looking for. Last Saturday he turned in his old directory and received a new one from a deliveryman for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. Later he remembered that he had stuffed two $50 bills in the old directory for safekeeping. At the telephone company office it took him several hours of leafing but he finally found his money.

There Was A Certain Satisfaction To Tasting Nature-Cooled Melon

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

A few years back one of our younger employees had the poor taste to drive his automobile such as it was, into a farmer's melon patch. When surprised in the clandestine act of borrowing a few choice melons, he jumped into his jalopy and cut a swath right through the patch. So it fell my lot not only to see to it that he made amends to the farmer, but also to lecture him on the evils of swiping water-melons. I consider myself a minor authority on the subject, having observed others in action, of course. However, when I was watching this iniquitous procedure, it was without the blessing of a car to uproot a man's patch. It was for the sole purpose of borrowing a bit of succulence on the supposition that it would never be missed. These episodes brought on some exciting moments. Once we invaded the privacy of B. P. Boydston's patch, which was adjacent to the deep ditch that flanked the railroad right of way. Having crawled skillfully through the corn patch to the area of the melons, we extracted a couple of Bkely numbers and returned them to the turn row for visual and taste appraisal. Our joy at finding them ripe to a turn was unbounded, and we began speculating on what we would do if "old B. P." were to put in his appearance. Many a bold statement in this respect was made and punctuated with such laughter it must have alarmed our location. At any rate, right there between a couple of corn rows, came the noise of a man clearing his throat. There stood B. P. in the

It is a pity that Olympic recorders were not handy to register a record for the standing broad jump. With one accord, we spanned the ditch and landed in full stride. There were other occasions—and I have heard of those where a shooting was rigged to lend to the adventure. But not all borrowing was the result of a well planned mission. Indeed, there was the matter of coming upon a melon patch while in the process of pulling a sack down a cotton row. I guess it isn't in the Bible, but there ought to be a verse to the effect that "the melon that lieth in the cotton row shall belong to him that cometh upon it, and so, he shall take it and thump it, and shall crack it over his right knee and eat the heart thereof." For that would cover the situation. He who hasn't extracted the pure, crisp heart of a melon cooled by one of nature's autumn's night has not tasted to the fullest of the cup of life. Lying there in the shade of cotton or red-top row, with the dank, pungent odor of feed in the dough or rank growths of tumble weed swelling up to the nostrils, and only the occasional trill of a mockingbird to break the silence, man is capable of meditating to the fullest over the goodness of life which happily has been provided at the hand of some unsuspecting soul. Maybe that's why three cents for hot and four for cold sets us to thinking of the days which have ripened on the vine of time. —JOE PICKLE.

Gallup Poll

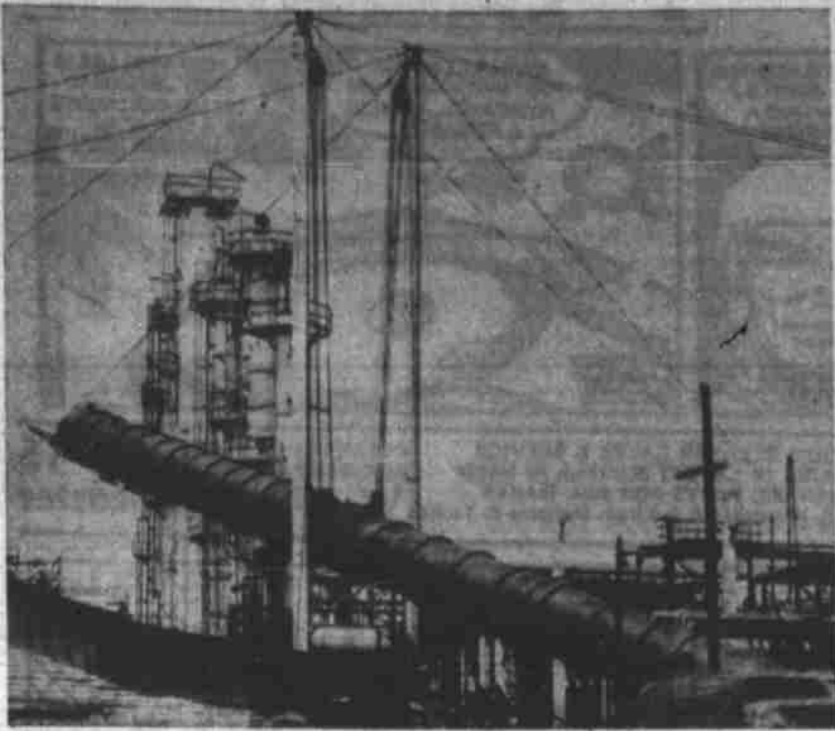

Most People Familiar With It Favor Taft-Hartley Law

PRINCETON, N. J.—With the Democratic platform strongly advocating repeal, the Taft-Hartley Act promises again to be one of the major issues of the 1953 presidential battle. A new test of popular sentiment on the Taft-Hartley controversy finds the weight of opinion in favor of the act among persons who are familiar with it. By a ratio of about 4-to-3 these persons indicate that, other things being equal, they would vote for the candidate who favors the act rather than one who is against it. Among labor union members, however, sentiment runs 2-to-1 against the Taft-Hartley law. The latest survey first asked each voter: "Have you heard or read anything about the Taft-Hartley law which deals with labor unions?" A total of 74 per cent said they had, while 26 per cent had not. The former group was then asked this question: "All other things being equal, would you vote for a candidate who is in favor of the Taft-Hartley law—or would you vote for a candidate who is against the Taft-Hartley law?" Here are the results: Would vote for candidate who— Favors law 36% Opposes law 26% No opinion 12% Not familiar with law 74% By contrast, persons in the survey who are members of labor unions voted this way: LABOR UNION MEMBERS Favors law 23% Opposes law 46% No opinion 12% Not familiar with law 81% Views by Political Affiliation When the platform makers of the two major parties took such sharply opposing positions on the Taft-Hartley law, they were reflecting a sharp division of opinion between the rank and file of Democratic and Republican voters, as follows: REPUBLICANS Favors law 54% Opposes law 13% No opinion 10% Not familiar with law 77% DEMOCRATS Favors law 18% Opposes law 40% No opinion 13% Not familiar with law 71% The third major group in the electorate the Independent voters, tend to side with the Republicans on this issue as follows: INDEPENDENTS Favors law 39% Opposes law 24% No opinion 15% Not familiar with law 78% Despite concentrated attacks by labor, Taft-Hartley has enjoyed public support for many years. In a poll in May, 1950 on a question similar to that in today's survey, 42 per cent favored retaining the Taft-Hartley Act, while 27 per cent were for repeal and 15 per cent were undecided—making a total of 84 per cent familiar with the act at that time. The Taft-Hartley controversy will, of course, be injected not only into the presidential campaign but also into many of the contests for Senate and House seats this November, particularly in city areas. Prior to the 1950 Congressional election the Institute analyzed sentiment on Taft-Hartley according to urban and rural Congressional districts. It found that while voters in rural sections were overwhelmingly in favor of retaining the act, those in urban or metropolitan Congressional districts were almost evenly divided for and against the act.

Dogs Guided German Soldiers

A taxicab driver said to me the other day: "In this city we charge 50 cents extra when we take a dog in one of our cabs. But that doesn't apply to 'seeing eye' dogs. We carry them free." There is something about blindness which softens the hearts of people everywhere. We feel sorry for anyone who is without the wonderful power of sight. No record exists to tell when a blind person first used a dog as a guide. We know, however, that the custom became widespread after the end of the first World War. During that conflict the German government tried to do something for soldiers who had become blind during battles. Dogs were trained to guide the veterans across streets. Slowly, after the war was over, the idea spread to other lands. Twenty-three years ago, in Morristown, N. J., an agency was started to provide guide dogs for blind persons in the United States. This agency worked without profit, and soon was providing trained dogs at the rate of more than 100 per year. Most of the dogs were, and are, of the German shepherd type, but certain other kinds of large dogs also have proved good for the purpose. The fame of the dogs grew. They were nicknamed "seeing eye dogs," and they have done excellent work in helping the blind to cross streets safely. It would be a mistake to suppose that all blind persons have such dogs. Hardly one out of a hundred of the blind is served in this way. The people who are blind, as well as the dogs, must be trained with great care. Only a small fee is charged for a dog, but too few of them have been trained to take care of all of those who could use them. It should be noted that many blind persons would hardly be safe in the care of guide dogs. Many blind persons past the age of 60 have failed to show that they could do their part with "seeing eye" dogs. A blind person past 60 years of age may do very well in this field if he has been trained at an earlier age, but it is rare for him to finish the training after his sixtieth birthday. Years ago, I met Miss Evelyn Smith, who was guided by a seeing eye dog. Although blind, she completed work at a great university and earned her degree. For GENERAL INTEREST section of your scrapbook. ### India's Criticism Brings Sharp Words From Green

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Green (D-R.I.) said today he is tired of India's criticism of the American rearmament program and bluntly suggested that country practice what it preaches.
Green told a reporter the United States is spending billions to rearm itself and free nations against Communist aggression but India has built up an armed force to defend Kashmir "in a territorial dispute with Pakistan."

"We are far more unselfish than India in spending large sums and men for an ideal of peace in the world," Green said. "India is keeping forces in Kashmir to promote a selfish interest."

Wage Controls On For Nine Types Of Small Businesses

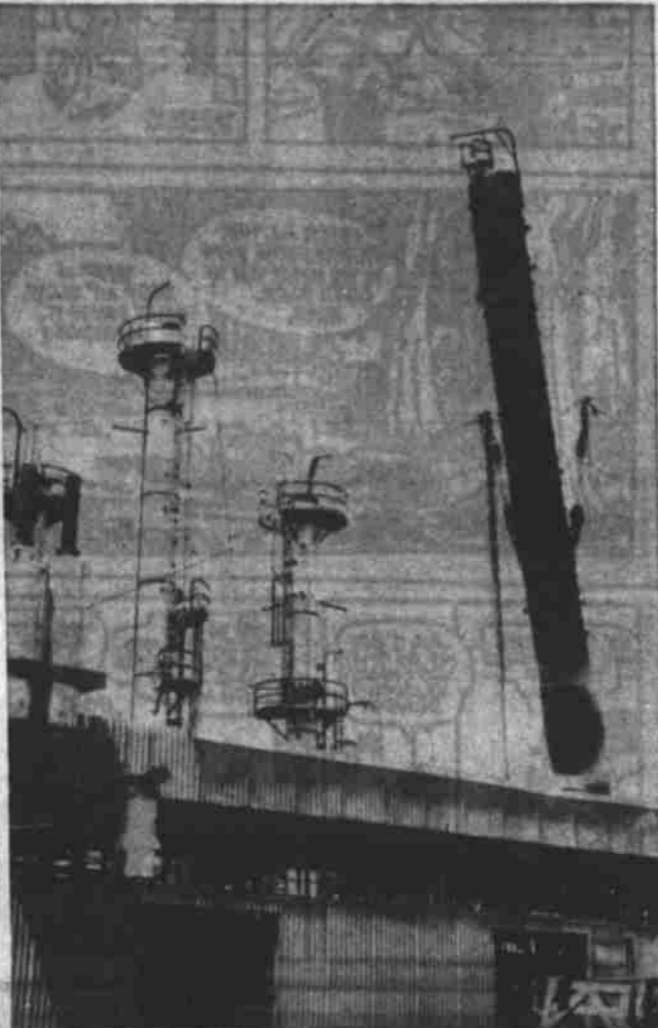

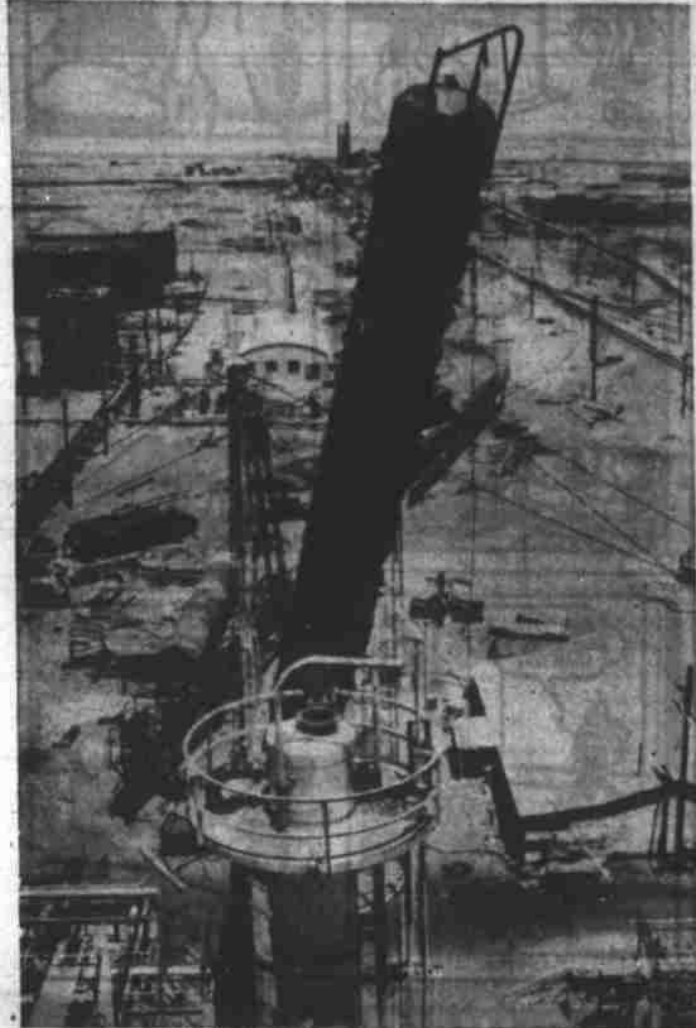

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nine types of small business enterprises have been put under wage controls by Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam.

They are:
Trucking outfits; tool and die logging operations and sawmills; building and construction industry; all Alaska concerns; new small businesses which expect to hire more than eight employees soon; concerns in which the pay of one or more employees is set up on an industry or area basis; and enterprises (other than banks) which get 25 per cent or more of their business income from dividends, interest, rents or royalties.

Congress exempted small business—defined as one employing eight or fewer persons—from wage and salary controls but allowed President Truman to reimpose if he thought it necessary.

Ticklish Job

Raising a vessel the height of a modest skyscraper is ticklish business, but it was accomplished here last week without incident. Construction crews at the Cosden BTX plant snaked the shell of the combined solvent stripper and solvent flash tower into position. Blocks suspended from a pair of 18-inch gin poles started grinding slowly to hoist the 119½-foot vessel into place. This was accomplished in the space of a few hours. Really two vessels in one, the unit measured seven feet in diameter and weighed between 35 and 36 tons. It is the tallest of the towers in the plant, but it is about 30 feet shy of the cat cracker at the refinery, probably the tallest such structure in West Texas. Within a week the last vessel, slightly smaller than the one shown above, will be hoisted into place and the last major structure will have been raised. Upper left shows the unit as it is put into position and first started upward. Upper right, it has been raised to about a 45-degree angle. Lower right, seen from an adjoining tower, it is nearing its position, and lower right, the tower approaches perpendicular and the superpoint of setting down precisely on the right spot of the foundations.

Rainwater Speaks At Rotary Meet

Champ Rainwater, local manager for Empire Southern Gas Company delivered an impromptu classification talk at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday.

Occasion for the address was a belated observance of Rainwater's birthday anniversary, which occurred a week earlier. Rotary President G. F. Dillon presented the gas company official with a birthday cake, specifying, however, that Rainwater would have to make the talk before gaining possession of the confection.

Rainwater then discussed briefly the history of the natural gas industry, and told of the difference in natural and manufactured gases. He served the cake to other members of the club. Visiting Rotarians at the meeting were W. R. Upham, Midland; Murph Thorpe knows paint (Adv.)

E. Kancher, Amarillo; A. B. Youngblood, Abilene; F. C. Olds, Abilene; H. O. Dean, Sweetwater; and J. N. Fleming, Socorro, N. M.

Thanks

It makes a man mighty thankful to have so many friends and supporters as I had in my race for Constable of Precinct No. 2 last Saturday. I'm going to do my best to make the people of my precinct the kind of officer they want. I really appreciate every vote and good word in my behalf as well as consideration given me by those who had other first choices.

TO START AUG. 12

Drive Is Scheduled To Boost X-Ray Survey Participation

A concerted drive to impress upon every Howard County resident the importance of participating in the annual chest X-ray program will get underway Aug. 12. Everyone 15 years of age or older will be asked to report for chest X-rays when the mobile unit of the State Health Department is set up in Big Spring Aug. 19-26. No charge will be made for the examination service which is tax supported and, consequently, "not charity," health officials emphasize.

Purpose of the annual survey is to locate all tuberculosis infections among Howard County citizens. Discovery and diagnosis of the disease in its early stages is the only means of being sure that treatment can be started in time for a cure. Other chest defects, of which individuals may be ignorant, may also be exposed by the X-ray pictures.

Preliminary plans were completed and committees named Tuesday to carry the campaign for all-out participation to all sections of the county. Co-Chairmen Oscar Glickman and Vic Alexander set Monday, Aug. 11, as date for another meeting of workers.

The session, to be held in the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit offices, 209 E. 2nd, is set for 2 p.m. Committee chairmen named Tuesday to push the various phases of the program were Eugenia Toland and Mrs. Shirley Fryar, for Home Demonstration Clubs and residents of rural communities; Mrs. W. N. Norred and Zolite M. Rawlins, Big Spring residential districts; J. B. Wiginton, business district; Georgia Leach, Mrs. R. L. Anderson, Simon Nativity, and Rev. Rafael C. Garcia, northside residents; G. W. Dabney, railroad employees; Jack Y. Smith, Petroleum Corp. employees; Mrs. Louise Horton hospital workers; Rev. Alsie Carleton, local churches; Mrs. Hayes Stripling, volunteer clerical workers for keeping X-ray records; and Glickman, transportation.

Plans call for a canvass of the entire county. An attempt will be made to contact every resident with an appeal to report for the chest X-ray. Posters will be placed throughout the business districts of the various towns in the county. Workers will explain that the X-rays require only a few seconds, BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—An atom bomb wouldn't scare the residents of this busy farming town much more than they are today. Bakersfield has been through another earthquake. Several, in fact. Official county business is being conducted on vacant lots. The Courthouse has been jolted so severely that engineers fear it may collapse.

Part of general hospital has been abandoned for the same reason. Homes have burned, and hundreds of jittery residents stampeded out after the last series of quakes yesterday. They feared their own homes almost as much as if the buildings were radiation-contaminated. And an exodus, such as might stem from any atom-blasted area, has begun.

At least 3,000 workers are needed at once to repair irrigation lines damaged by the quakes. Other thousands are needed to harvest a $0-million dollar cotton crop.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wounded veterans have a new outlet for their talents: song writing. And it could pay off in fame—and cash. Patients who have been in VA hospitals at least 30 days prior to submitting an entry are eligible to take part.

Mexican Nationals Held As Suspects

PRESIDIO, July 30 (AP)—Four Mexican nationals were held today in the Ojinaga, Mex., jail as suspects in the murder of J. H. Kalmore, 35-year-old Presidio merchant, last week.

Ojinaga Police Chief Ramon Estrella said the suspects, whose ages range from 22 to 34 years, were arrested yesterday and are being held incommunicado. No charges have been filed. Kalmore was found last Friday in the basement of his store, brutally beaten to death. The murderers apparently robbed him of about $1,200. Estrella said he was sure the men were Kalmore's murderers. They are subject to Mexican law, he said, but "every effort will be made to co-operate with American authorities."

VA Hospital Is Salvaging Water

The Big Spring VA Hospital salvages some 228,000 gallons of waste water each month for the irrigation of trees on the hospital grounds. R. C. McKenzie, engineering officer reports. The water saved is that used for "back-washing" the hospital's water softening system. Prior to the drought and the subsequent curtailment of irrigation, the backwash water was allowed to "go down the drain." It is now caught in a tank truck and poured on plants at the hospital.

Fireman In Struggle To Reach Barn Blaze

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Suburban Woodbine firemen put out a barn fire last night, but it was a struggle. The first truck sent out overturned during a thunderstorm. Firemen Claiborn Ross and Curtis Hall, both 21, were unhurt. Ross hastened to a nearby house to call the department. The woman who lived there refused to let him in to telephone because he was too wet. On his departure, the woman's dog bit him.

5:30 p.m. daily, except Saturday when X-rays will be given from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Present for the planning meeting Tuesday were Glickman, Alexander, Rev. Garcia, Nativity, Mrs. C. V. Wash, Jean Knight, Wiginton, Jewel Barton, Mrs. Toland, Mrs. Fryar, Mrs. Beale Lankford, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Clemmie Johnson, Mrs. Horton and Mrs. Stripling.

The Aug. 1 parity price of 34.3 cents a pound for middling 1/8 inch upland cotton.

The department previously had announced that cotton would be supported at 90 per cent of parity, the price designed to give the farmer a fair return for what he sells in relation to what he has to buy.

Last year, the average support price for middling 7-8 inch cotton was 30.46 cents a pound. The 1952 average rate for middling 5-16 inch cotton will be 31.90 cents a pound. The rate will vary according to location, ranging from 31.15 cents in Arizona and California to 32.94 cents in the mill area of the Carolinas. Premiums and discounts for various grade and staple length combinations will be calculated on the basis of the rate on middling 15-16 inch cotton.

Peters To Instruct Class For Red Cross

Otto Peters will be instructor for the Red Cross class in artificial respiration Wednesday night. Olen L. Puckett, water safety chairman for the Red Cross, has announced. Puckett is regular instructor of the class. He enlisted the assistance of Peters because of the long experience and extensive training of the latter in matters pertaining to safety and first aid. The water safety class will meet nightly for the remainder of the week and be concluded with a Saturday evening session. Approximately 20 students are enrolled for the training at municipal swimming pool.

Neighbors Ask End To Mountain Feud

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP)—"Call the law, 'cause they're at it again," cried a youngster with buckshot in the seat of his pants.

"They better stop this shootin' so a man can get some sleep," complained another resident of nearby Lamar Hollow.

Both reflected the sentiments of folks in the hollow who would like to see an end to the four-family shootin' feud which has been outstanding for its poor marksmanship.

The indignant youngster and another neutral in the feud, a man with a peg leg, each were hit by wild shotgun pellets as the Howers continued their argument with the Blankenships, Pendergrasses and Sigmans.

L. E. King, superintendent of a coal operation and a man prominent in the community since he has the only telephone, reported last night the wounding of the pair who had no interest or connection with the feudin' and fassin'.

Neither was hospitalized and their hurts apparently were no more serious than the slight wounds received earlier by one of the Blankenships and one of the Howers.

And King added somewhat testily that his sleep has been broken twice in the last three nights as shots rang out in the argument over land ownership.

State police say they've tightened their vigil around the area, but point out there is serious lack of manpower to cope with such a situation in the isolated area.

Furthermore, they can't act until a list of warrants is issued, they say. One law officer said he heard some charges would be filed this week.

Meanwhile, the three family combine vows to proceed with the building of an access road on property the Howers claim as their own. The Pendergrasses say they own the land.

Pickets Back At Corsicana Plant

CORSICANA, July 30 (AP)—Pickets went back on the line at the Bethlehem Supply Company plant here yesterday, saying the firm was "not living up to its agreement" ending the recent steel strike.

Management was charged with unfair labor practices by J. J. Roberts, president of Local 4710 of the United Steel Workers, CIO.

He said men were ordered back to work, then sent home with a statement they would be called back when the company, an oil well supply firm, needed them.

Roberts also said the firm didn't observe seniority in putting the workers back on the job at the end of the nation-wide steel strike.

Union men left the plant as soon as the renewed picket line went up. Local Bethlehem officials said they could not make any statement for the firm, which headquarters in Tulsa, Okla.

City Of 80,000 Is Without Water

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP)—Water was still precious in 24,000 homes here today, as this Southern New York industrial city of 80,000 limped into its third straight day of drought brought on by a pipeline rupture.

But the worst was over. Some water was supplied to most of the city yesterday, and the city's water superintendent predicted full services would be restored today.

Hotels, ice plants, laundries and other business establishments, which closed after a water main broke early Tuesday, were reopened yesterday.

Robber Takes $300

WACO, July 30 (AP)—A robber took $300 from the Lumpkin Cleaning Co. yesterday. He forced two employees to give him money from the tills. Then he made the firm owner, C. P. Lumpkin, open the safe.

Tennessee Gets Drouth Loans

ATLANTA (AP)—The federal government yesterday acted to relieve one state hard-hit by the prolonged Southern drought and indicated similar benefits for others would be forthcoming soon.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture in Washington declared Tennessee a disaster area because crops and pastures have dried up for lack of rain.

The designation makes it possible for Tennessee farmers to obtain government loans for farm operations in cases where credit is not available to them from other sources.

Department officials said sections of Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi are expected to be designated as drought disaster areas in the near future.

Severe heat and searing drought have borne down on many sections of Southeastern states since early June. Some crops, particularly corn, have been virtually destroyed, and pastures have been burned brown.

Death Of McMahon To Increase Battle

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON (AP)—Most politicians agreed today the unexpected death of Sen. Brien McMahon (D-Conn.) will make even tighter the already touch-and-go battle between Democrats and Republicans for control of the Senate this fall.

McMahon's death Monday reduced the wobbly Senate Democratic majority to three and boosted to 35 the number of seats at stake in the November elections.

As matters now stand, there are 46 Republican senators, 49 Democrats and one vacancy in the 96 Senate seats.

Of the 35 seats to be filled this fall, 15 are now held by Democrats and 20 by Republicans. (The majority of the present senators are still serving out their six-year terms and are not up for reelection.)

Republicans to regain Senate control in 1953 must elect at least 23 senators this fall to gain a bare majority of 49. They probably need 25 or 26 to have effective control, because some Republican senators often vote with Democrats.

Democrats need only 14 winners in Senate contests to retain a bare majority. Many of the Senate contests are in Southern or border states where Democrats normally win.

Republican enthusiasts for Dwight D. Eisenhower, GOP presidential nominee, are counting on his vote-getting ability at the head of the ticket to produce majorities in both the House and Senate.

Boosters for Democratic nominee Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois expect the same of him.

Because both vice presidential nominees are senators, Republican Richard Nixon of California and Democrat John Sparkman of Alabama, the winning ticket automatically will lose a Senate seat temporarily.

However, governors of their states are of the same party as the nominees, and are expected to appoint successors from the same party, keeping the balance unchanged.

Lovett Can Explain One Flying Saucer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Even Secretary of Defense Lovett has seen a "flying saucer"—but he had an explanation for it.

Pentagon sources said Lovett, returning to Washington from New York Sunday, was a fellow passenger aboard an airliner with persons who insisted they had seen a white disc whirling along beside the plane.

Lovett, however, reportedly said he had been watching a searchlight playing into the clear, moonlit sky and at one point its cone of light caught and held a tuft of cumulus cloud, creating the impression of a circular body keeping pace with the plane.

"That's how many a flying saucer gets born," one officer said.

Suit Filed Against City Due To Crash
DALLAS, July 30 (AP)—A suit, asking $100,000 in damages from the City of Dallas, was filed yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Walker of Denton, parents of a 20-year-old flyer killed in a two-plane collision over the city's Love Field.

Donald E. Walker and Paul W. Brower, 19, both of Denton, were killed when their small two-seater plane collided with an American Airlines DC-6 which was preparing to land at the field June 28.

The small craft crashed after the collision and the liner landed safely with its 54 passengers.

The suit charges that the "City of Dallas was negligent in the operation" of the field.

Radio Announcers Open Convention

MEXICO CITY, July 30 (AP)—The Inter-American Congress of Radio Announcers opened here yesterday with a proposal from Cuba that announcers be licensed.

The proposal said that an announcer has a great responsibility because he works in a medium "which can impress the public so easily" and for that reason he should be properly qualified.

Mexico proposed that a committee be named to work on a formal type of radio language. The resolution said that the original Spanish is suffering variations from one country to another and said radio could reduce these variations.

Mourners For Eva Still Crowd City

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The body of Eva Peron remained on public view today, her funeral postponed indefinitely until the crush of mourners slows down. There was no letup, however, in the thousands crowding into the capital.

With all other activity paralyzed by the mass grief for the beautiful young first lady who died Saturday night, President Juan D. Peron and his government sought to stretch out the homage and thus turn Argentina back to something like normal activity.

Peron announced his wife's body would lie in state until all had viewed it, not just for the two or three days originally planned. The government radio repeated over and over that the body would stay on view two or three months if necessary.

The funeral originally was planned for yesterday.

Comrade Salute Will Come Later

BERLIN (AP)—Communism's small fry in East Germany now call each other "friend."

The salute was adopted by the blue-shirted "Free German Youth."

When they grow up to full-size Reds, they hail each other as "comrade."
