Joe Clement has authorized this newspaper to announce his candidacy for school board trustee of the Spearman Independent School District in the election April 6.

Joe is a lifetime resident of this area and a graduate of Spearman High School. He is the father of two students in the Spearman schools and has a continuing interest in maintaining our standard of having one of the finest school systems in Texas.

Clement stated "Excellence in education includes a broad and well rounded spectrum of activities. Every student should be given the opportunity to excel in their various interests and encouraged to expand their horizons of interest. Our extracurricular activities should provide our students with an equal opportunity to compete and excel in their chosen endeavors".

Clement is involved in family farming, and states that he would be ever mindful of efficient management of our tax dollars so as to extract maximum educational benefits from tax dollars available.

He feels that an effective school board member must provide effective leadership representing the wishes and philosophy of the community. He would sincerely appreciate your vote in the School Board Election April 6th.

THINGS AJAR — Need big storage containers? Check out restaurants and restaurant supply houses for large, industrial jars that contain pickles, olives, etc. Use them as floor vases, to store bulky food and as the base for gorgeous terrariums you create yourself. Jars are inexpensive and useful.

Man can go to the moon but he has yet to devise a lunch counter pepper shaker that works.

The only way some actors should be permitted to be in a cast is after a skiing accident.

CUBE IT — If you're a crouton lover, keep a bag of heels of bread frozen in the deep freeze. Cube bread before freezing, and when you're pressed for time, heat oil, add seasonings and bread cubes and toss. When cubes are lightly browned, they're ready for soups and salad. Replenish supply.

Organization against forced school consolidation

Spokesmen for Texans for Local Control of Public Education Wednesday urged members of the House Public Education Committee to approve a proposed constitutional amendment to prohibit forced consolidation of Texas' school districts.

"On paper, consolidation may be better, but in long term reality, it is not better - educationally or economically," said Joe Atkinson, member of the board of trustees of Hunt Independent School District and secretary of TLCPE.

Atkinson said that TLCPE, a statewide organization of more than 600 members including more than 200 school districts, strongly supports the proposed amendment, House Joint Resolution 83, sponsored by Rep. Bill Haley, D-Center. He added that advocates of consolidation overlook that in small school districts, such as Hunt ISD, the school is the focal point of the community.

"The community calendar is framed around school," he said. "It is the foundation of our community on which all activities are based. If the foundation is taken away the heart of our community will be gone."

Dr. Eli Douglas, superintendent of Garland Independent School District and president of TLCP, said that most consolidation movements have been directed toward small, rural school districts, but that opposition to consolidation is shared by school districts of all sizes and geographic location.

Douglas said that research shows that small districts generally have smaller pupil-teacher ratios, greater student retention rates, greater levels of student satisfaction, higher opportunities for student participation in school-related activities, a higher degree of individual attention toward students, and a much larger percentage of students who hold positions of importance and responsibility.

"From our perspective, many of these elements of the school environment are consistently and totally in agreement with the rationale behind the education reforms enacted during last summer's special legislative session," Douglas said.

Decatur hires superintendent from Wellington

By PHIL MAJOR

When Kenneth McKay moves to Decatur July 1 to take the school superintendent's job, he will be coming home.

The 53-year-old McKay, hired by Decatur trustees Tuesday to fill the post being vacated by Neal Sattawhite, grew up in nearby Park Springs.

McKay was the school board's top choice among five finalists for the job. He accepted the post at a salary of $50,000 Tuesday.

For six years, McKay has been superintendent at Wellington, a Class 2A school located in a city of 3,000 near the Oklahoma border in the southeast corner of the Panhandle. Decatur is a Class 3A school system.

McKay has been a Panhandle educator for 30 years.

He left Park Springs in 1944, and after attending Bowie schools for a year, graduated from Borger High in 1949.

McKay holds a bachelor's degree in history and political science and master's degree in education from West Texas State University and a master's degree in history from Brown University.

He served two years with the Navy during the Korean War. Upon his release in 1955, McKay accepted his first teaching position at Stinnett.

He taught history for five years, then became elementary principal and later high school principal for five years.

McKay also has been high school principal at Spearman nine years and Perryton four years.

McKay and his wife, Dorothy, have a daughter, Susan; and three sons: Stephen, an accountant in Austin; Patrick, a computer operator in Round Rock; and James, a senior at Wellington High.

"Decatur presents a fine opportunity of professional advancement," McKay said. "I'm partial to Wise County. I consider it home."

McKay's father, C.L. McKay, still lives at Park Springs. McKay said when he was growing up and the family went to town, that town was Decatur.

"I look forward to the opportunity to work with the good, professional employees you have here," he said. "I hope to continue the tradition of an excellent school system."

McKay said it is premature to discuss specific solutions to the problems facing Decatur schools.

His handling of financial problems at Wellington was said to be one of the board's reasons for considering McKay.

McKay said his basic ideas about education are similar to those of other educators in sound school systems.

McKay said he enjoys sports, but noted, "I'm basically an academic person. The back-to-basics movement did not come too soon for me."

With two members absent on vacations, the board's vote to hire McKay was unanimous. He was given a 3-year contract.

Though McKay will take office July 1, the day after Sattawhite's resignation becomes effective, board President Alford Talley said McKay will be visiting the schools and working with the staff, and will take part in the budget process which gets underway in June.

Among the first input McKay will have will be at next week's board meeting. Trustees are scheduled to consider the contracts of administrators Tuesday.

Musings

The first European convert of Paul was a woman, Lydia. She lived in Philippi and was probably wealthy, as she sold purple dyed goods. After she and her household were baptised, she invited Paul and his companions to stay at her house, which they did. After Paul and Silas were imprisoned and released, they visited her again.

"And a certain woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of Thyatira, which worshipped God, heard us: whose heart the Lord opened, that she attended unto the things which were spoken of Paul." — Acts 16:14

Boulter Aide to Specialize in ag issues

WASHINGTON - After what he termed a "long and extensive look at a lot of very qualified people," Congressman Beau Boulter has hired Harvey Ray Hilderbran as his legislative assistant for agriculture issues, in Washington, D. C.

Hilderbran, a native of Uvalde, Texas, graduated from Texas Tech University with a degree in political science. He was raised on a family farm and ranch, and has also been involved in real estate ventures in Uvalde and Bandera counties.

"After talking with Harvey," Boulter said, "I was confident of his knowledge of agriculture and the farming business, and I was impressed by his understanding of the credit situation and what needs to be done to solve it."

Boulter also pointed out that "between Harvey, and Ernie Houdashell in my Amarillo office, I always have good input on agriculture issues. They both really know their stuff."

Houdashell, District Representative in Amarillo, was formerly a farm reporter for KGNC radio in Amarillo.

The following is a complete list of

NHS inducts eleven in ceremony

Eleven Spearman High School students were inducted into membership in the National Honor Society in a morning ceremony at the high school auditorium Monday, March 25, 1985.

Members are selected by a faculty council for meeting the high standards of scholarship, service, leadership, and character.

Students inducted were Juniors - Ellen Martinez, Dana Irbeck, and Jason Rodgers. Sophomores - Anne Marie Jarvis, Kellie McWhirter, Margaret Espinosa, Mark Garnatt, Mark Allen, Jill McLain, Shari Vernon, and Jana Pittman.

Members conducting the impressive candlelight ceremony were Andrea Archer, Carlee Dixon, Richard Espinosa, Connie Gibson, Cole Ivey, Jeanette Pastiran, Rosa Pierce, Thad Reid, and Teresa Tindall.

"National Honor Society members are expected to continue their exemplary contributions to the school and community," said Dorothy Roden, chapter adviser.

The Edna Hartman Chapter was chartered in April 1959. Three hundred fifty Spearman High School Honor Society members have graduated since that time. The local society has had only two advisers since it was chartered - Mrs. Barbara Patterson for the first seven years and Dorothy Roden for the last nineteen years.

The National Honor Society ranks as one of the oldest and most prestigious national organizations for high school students. The national organization was organized in 1921 and is sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Dust Bowl Exhibit at Perryton

The Art Collection Board of Perryton High School invited area residents and students to a special Traveling Exhibit entitled "Of Dust Bowl Descent: Forty Years on the Great Plains".

The exhibit opens April 1, 1985 and runs through April 17, 1985 at the Perry Memorial Library. The Library is open Mondays from 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.; Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday 10:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Saturday 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

The exhibit has been produced through the cooperation of the Center for Great Plains Studies and the Nebraska State Historical Society with funding from the Nebraska Committee for the Humanities. It is being toured throughout the region by Mid-America Arts Alliance, Texas Commissions on the Arts and College of Fine Arts, University of Texas at Austin, and sponsored locally by funding from the hotel/motel occupancy tax.

Mid-America Arts Alliance is a five state partnership of the Arkansas Arts Council, the Kansas Arts Commission, the Missouri Arts Council, the Nebraska Arts Council and the State Arts Council of Oklahoma. M-AAA's activities are made possible by funding from these state arts agencies, support from private citizens and corporations, and grants from the National Endowment for the Arts.

This fascinating photographic exhibit represents five years of work by contemporary photographer Bill Ganzel. Ganzel began with a collection of pictures shot by Farm Securities Administration photographers during the Dust Bowl Years on the Great Plains. Those assigned to Middle America photographed dust storms and the American Exodus from the Great Plains; old farms and early New Deal settlements.

To this record of every day life on the plains, contemporary photographer, Bill Ganzel, has added the perspective of 40 years of history. From 1974-1979, he searched out the people and places in the old photographs and photographed them again in their current circumstances. The exhibit combines old and new photographs with brief oral histories that describe the transition that has taken place.

Baptist Choir to present Easter musical

The Sanctuary Choir of First Baptist Church will present the Easter musical "I Am" Sunday, March 31, 1985, at 7:00 P.M. "I Am" is a musical celebration highlighting the events leading to the crucifixion of Jesus and climaxing with His resurrection. The musical "I Am" is based on the concept of who Jesus really is to each life He touches: He is a bruised, hurting Son to Mary, a silent threat to Pilate, a changed heart to the lonely life of Mary Magdalene, a willing and obedient Son to His Father, and yet...still...the great I Am.

"I Am" was created by David Clydesdale, a talented composer and arranger. Following the success of his two earlier Easter musicals, Clydesdale was apprehensive about creating a third Easter musical. He said "I strongly questioned whether I had anything 'valid' or 'new' to say. I began working with the classic song 'I Am' which in itself is an incredible statement of power. I soon realized that the great I Am was also a tender, kind, considerate, and compassionate man."

The musical "I Am" includes original compositions by Clydesdale as well as his arrangements of other, perhaps more familiar, songs. All of the songs are arranged to give a powerful and dramatic overview of the events of the Easter season.

"I Am will be sung by the 38 voice choir of First Baptist Church with selected solos done by individuals. Mary Magdalene's song will be sung by Vicki Gibbs, Jesus' prayerful "Help This Shepherd Be a Lamb" will be sung by Jerry Don Davis, Pilate will be portrayed by Johnny Miller, and "Mary's Song" will be sung by Beckee Baker. The choir is under the direction of Carol Pack. Rehearsal accompanist is Anne Sanders and sound technician is Wesley Jarvis.

The public is cordially invited to join this musical celebration of the resurrection of Jesus. First Baptist Church is located at 123 Bernice.

Family Famers Reject Homestead Repeal Attempts

The president of the Texas Farmers Union has condemned the efforts of Texans for Home Value Access, a group dedicated to the repeal of the Texas Constitutional provision which protects the family homestead from foreclosure.

"The only protection that many people have from forced foreclosure is the Texas Homestead provision. Both urban and rural families are protected by this century-old clause, and the large lenders nationally are poised to jump into Texas if the efforts of Texans for Home Value Access are successful. The Texas Farmers Union is opposed to any and all efforts to repeal this provision," says Mike Moeller, of Hays County.

The Texas Homestead protection provision of the constitution was adopted in 1876, but has been in effect since the days of the Republic of Texas. Written originally to protect the mostly rural population of the independent Republic, the provision was later expanded to include urban homes as well. Today both rural and urban home owners are protected from foreclosure on their homestead, except in the cases of failure to pay on a first mortgage on the home, failure to pay taxes, or failure to pay on home improvement loans.

"The last time that farmers had to take full advantage of this important provision was during the Depression. The Homestead provision was the only thing that allowed many of these farmers to remain on the land, and probably prevented the Panhandle from turning into a Dust Bowl like Oklahoma. Farmers were protected from foreclosure on certain parts of their homestead, which kept many of them in business by allowing them to keep their house and some acreage," said Moeller.

"In the 1980's we are faced with as serious a farming 'depression' as has been seen since the 1930's. Low, low prices for farm products; high, high interest rates; tremendous surpluses of commodities; and an unsympathetic federal government."

"The time to repeal this basic protection of Texas borrowers is when lenders eliminate greed from their hearts. When the large, multinational lending companies can convince the farmers, consumers, and elderly that it has been done, then we might think about supporting a change in the constitution."

To combat the efforts of the Home Value Access group, a loose alliance has been formed of Texas groups, including the Texas Farmers Union Texas Consumer Association, Consumers Union, Texas Association of Realtors, American Association of Retired Persons, and the Gray Panthers.

SURPRISE!!!
I dreamt death came the other night,

And, Heaven's Gate swung wide,

An Angel with a halo bright Ushered me inside.

And there! to my astonishment, Stood folks I'd judged and labeled.

As "quite unfit", "of little worth"

And "spiritually disabled"!

Indignant words rose to my lips.

But never were set free, For every face showed stunned surprise....

No one expected ME!

Local ACS Services Available

The American Cancer Society in Hansford County announced today that it has a variety of services available to cancer patients without charge.

"Many people are unaware of all the services we can provide right here in this town," said Mrs. N. F. Renner, rehabilitation Chairman. "And all that is required in most cases is written permission from the patient's physician."

Loan equipment such as hospital beds, wheel chairs, commode chairs and walkers are available as well as expendable items including dressings, hospital gowns, bed pads, pillows and other items.

"These are all in addition to our basic information and referral services," said Mrs. Renner. "And, depending on location, we also have several rehabilitation programs including Reach to Recovery for mastectomees, esophageal speech lessons for laryngectomees, ostomy rehabilitation and related patient and family support groups."

Rho Rho Plans Easter Egg Hunt

Rho Rho Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its 490th meeting on Thursday, March 14, in the home of Linda Winegarner.

A picnic and Easter egg hunt for members' children will be held on Saturday, March 30th.

Linda Butt gave an interesting program which was enjoyed by everyone.

The next meeting will be on March 28th with Sue Woolley as hostess. New officers will be elected at this meeting.

Members present were Frances Pipkin, Linda Winegarner, Tami Janzen, Molly Holton, Joyce Vandenberg, Kitty Edwards, Martha Lanier, Sheila Watley, Peggy Winegarner, Sue Woolley, Terry Womble, Tammy Benton, Christy Brock, Pam Cobb, Michelle Mahaney, Judith Schaefer, Leann Gillaspie, Donna Murray, and Peggy Varnon.

The concept for these rehabilitation programs is the volunteer-to-patient relationship," added Mrs. Renner. "We have many volunteers who are themselves former patients and who are specifically trained by the Society to help other patients and even their families adjust to living with cancer."

Mrs. Renner cited that when most people think of the American Cancer Society, they relate the name to cancer research. "While it is true the ACS funds millions of dollars for cancer research, we are also a community-based organization providing many local services. These patient services as well as education materials of all types are just a few of the ways we can help."

"Since September, an estimated $1329.00 worth of services to patients has been utilized in this county already this year, but even more could be done if more patients were referred to us," added Mrs. Renner.

Anyone needing more information on these services may call Mrs. N. F. Renner at 659-2335.

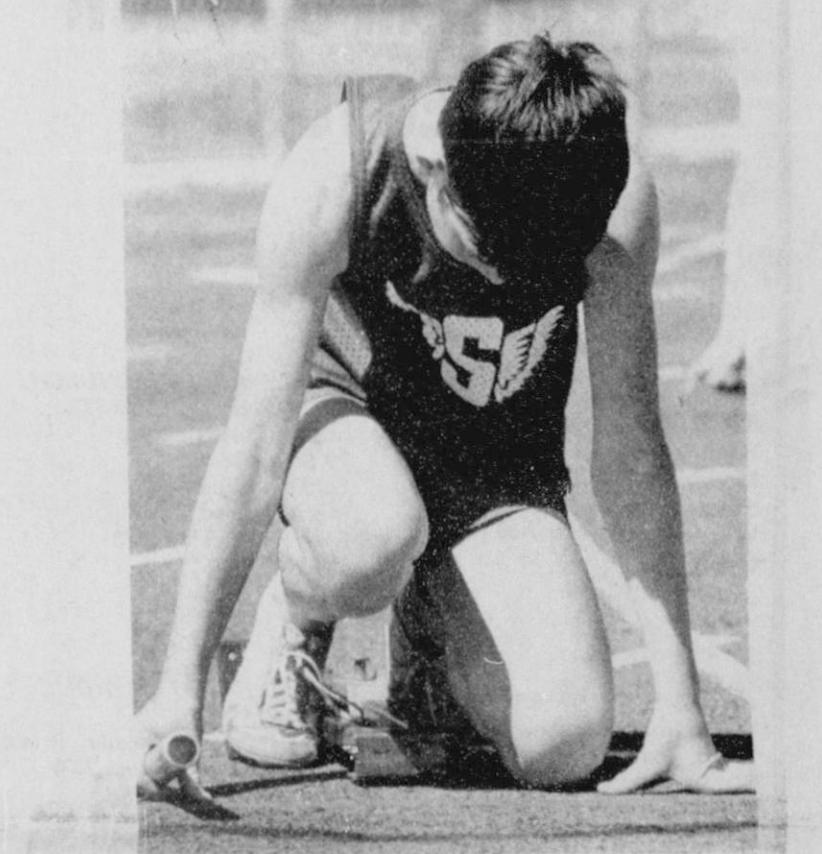

Immunization Clinic set for April 1

An immunization clinic offering vaccines that give protection against several childhood diseases will be held April 1 in the Spearman Elementary School, 511 S. Townsend, 2-4 p.m.

Protection is against polio, diphtheria, lock jaw (tetanus), Whooping cough (pertussis), measles, rubella and mumps. There will be no charge.

DOOR PRIZE — Add dash to your bedroom with a new, made-it-myself two sided headboard. Use hollow core doors from the hardware store. Hinge two doors together; bolt on two more to make a large H shape. Bed rests on frame and box springs inside one side of the H. The other can be fitted with a desk top, a chair, shelves and other items to become a mini-office. Paint or stain your new headboard. It's particularly effective when the bed "freefloats" in the center or away from bedroom walls.
