

Spent one of my rare nights watching television Monday night. It is not hard, with the exception of one or two shows
I liked, to understand why it is called the "boob tube".

One of the programs was something right out of the old Hoot Gibson and Buck Jones movies about Jessie James. It was a punk show, but it brought to mind a story I heard from my dad when I was a kid.

It was a story he had heard from a man when my dad was a boy growing up in the Black Cat thicket in Hunt County.

The man's name I can't recall, but his family were some the first settlers in North Texas and had a big white house on a hill near the thick-

The man said that one afternoon when he was a boy six men came riding up to their house just before supper time and asked if they could sleep and rode away.

When the women began clearing the table there was a five dollar gold piece by each

A week or so later the family heard that Frank and Jessie James and the Younger brothas visiting Younger's relatives and had ridden north.

The descriptions of the men and horses fit the six who had stayed at the man's house.

Noticed a story in a farm paper the other day that hap-py, contented cattle made the most tender beef. If that is true, I'll bet you couldn't cut the baloney they made from the old Jersey milk cow we had when I was a kid.

That was the most cantank-She is the one that invented the old joke about cows not giving milk, you have to it from them. And, you had to take it just to her satis faction, or she would just keep it until the next milking time.

She never fought or tried to hook anyone with her horns, she just took off if you did not pull the faucets just to her liking.

When the pastures dried up the summer or got full of bitter weeds, it was my job to stake her out on the road ditch, so she could eat.

One day I made the mis-take of drawing her a tub of water before going to get her. Coming back she smelled the water and started running: 1 got the chain tangled around my foot and she dragged me my foot and she dragged me about a 100 yards. It took the seat out of my overalls and some of the skin. But that was all right, since it was her milk and butter that kept the skin and the overalls there. HANSFORD COUNTY'S LEADING NEWSPAPER

Just for the record, even though we have Halloween and Thanksgiving to go yet, there are still just 48 shopping days left until Christmas. Don't let that put you in a dither though. If it makes you feel better, think of it in terms of 57 days, counting Sundays and holidays.

Day by Day

Have you seen the new "Christmas Helps 1965" magazine with the feature on Christmas trees from Amarillo's Festival of Trees? The trees are unique and the whole book will put you in a can't-wait-for-Christmas mood.

Just for the record, even though we have Halloween and Thanksgiving to go yet, there are still just 48 shopping days left until Christmas. Don't let that put you in a dither though. If it makes you feel better, think of it in terms of 57 days, counting Sundays and holidays.

Some of Spearman's loveliest new homes will be on display Sunday, November 7 in Spearman Study Club's annual tour of homes. Among those welcoming guests into their homes will be Mrs. Ray Martin, Mrs. Damon Gregg, Mrs. Jimmie Shield-knight, Mrs. Craig Hutchison, Mrs. Joel Lackey, Mrs. J.L. Brock and Mrs. Graham Pugh.

Whether you've already visited some of the homes or not, I'm sure you'll enjoy making the tour. I understand it was quite a success last year.

Somewhere I read that along about Halloween time you reach that annual turning point. For instance, it's the deadline they say for putting away summer clothes and getting our overcoats.
...putting away patio furniture...rolling up the garden hose and putting it away...bringing in the barbecue grill...digging up the bulbs and putting them in the basement so they won't freeze...and so on. Just thought I'd better remind you so you could get in under the deadline.

Actually, the object, according to the article, is to persuade your husband to get all these things done but it doesn't go into detail about how you manage to do that. Probably becuase that would take more than just a teenie-weenie little article wouldn't it!

This praline pumpkin pie is just right with after-the-game coffee. Topped with a dollop of whipped cream, it's delicious.

PRALINE PUMPKIN PIE

Make a 9" pie shell. Combine 1/3 cup finely chopped pecans, 1/3 cup firmly packed brown sugar and 3 theps, soft butter. Press into bottom of pie shell. Prick sides. Bake 10 minutes at 450 degrees. Cool at least 2 minutes.

For the pumpkin custard filling, combine in mixing bowl 3 slightly beaten eggs, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar, 2 theps. flour, 3/4 tsp. salt, 3/4 tsp. cinnamon, 1/2 tsp. ginger and 1/4 tsp. each cloves and mace. Add 1 1/2 cups hot light cream, blending well. Turn into pie shell. Bake 50-60 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool before serving.

Observation in Paris and other European cities shows that parks on small city lots can work perfectly well, Mr. Seymour states. "Above all," he concludes, "the important consideration is people. We hope the ideas presented here will help provide a workable means for creating cheerful new parks where they will serve the people who need them."

ESSENTIALS OF A GOOD LIFE

The qualifications to become a first class drum major are more than just a flawless physique. Coordination of mind and muscle, with a keen sense of rhythm and timing are more important. These make for poise, assurance and a nervous system under rigid control. The latter are also requisites for a successful and healthful life.

Here again coordination between these physical senses and that invisible essential we call spirit is also of paramount importance. Regular church attendance helps develop the spirit so that we may be aware of it, be guided by it in building a happier, better disciplined, more useful life.

There is a church for you. Use and get its full benefits.

Group Attends State Conclave

W.L. Johnson, Hansford Soil Conservation District Supervisor, Mrs. W.L. Johnson and Bob Crawford, Work Unit Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service attended the State Convention for SCD Superviors at Corpus Christi, on Oct. 12-14.

Some of the highlights of the Convention were a review of SCD Progress in the past 25 years and a look ahead to the job before districts in the new 25 years. The role of districts is constantly changing. With the dwindling farm population districts will have to broader their activities and responsibilities to urban people. This has already started with the use of Cooperative soil surveys for city planning and supplying information to public school for resource and conservation

Waggoner Carr, Texas Attorney General was the principle speaker at the banquet which closed the convention. His comments on conservation showed that much progress has been made, but there still remains a very large job in the future. The facilities for recreation, wildlife and food production must be expanded to meet the demands for a growing population.

Also attending were representatives Bill Clayton of Springlake and Ralph Wayne of Plainview.

THE RECOVERY OF THE SCRIPTURES

More than 400 years ago Martin Luther and other re-formers led the Church out of an age when tradition and custom had largely replaced the Scriptures. Loyalty to "The Word Alone" has been the herof our beloved Church since that time

We, of all faiths need to confess that we have not al-ways used the Scriptures as if they were our only sure guide in all matters of faith and life. We have sometimes developed our own traditions or confessions, and have allowed them to overshadow the Scriptures. Or, we have simply allowed our Bibles to gather dust on the shelves or on some end table. We do not let the Bible speak but often bring ir our own thoughts and try to defend them with the Bible. Scripture must speak its mes-

The Twentieth Century has been a bad one in many ways. Gigantic wars have brought untold suffering. The threat of new disasters hover over us. But there is a bright ray. The entire family of Christian churches, including the Ro-man Catholic Church, has turned to the Bible again with new zeal.

Scholars of the Bible, working with skill and devotion to find fresh insights in God's great revelation of Himself, continue to be drawn by the Spirit of God. We do not want the Bible to be a closed book. But it must not be just scholars, but lay people who also open it. Here we all fail. The Reformers had great

There may be varieties on interpretation, some of them inadequate, but in the long run people would not stray from the significant, saving message of the Bible. The Holy Spirit, moving within the book, will be the guarantee of the search. He will capture the minds and the hearts of the seekers. The question then is---are you with the Spirit's help searching the Scriptures? Here is man's great need-yours too! wrong. There may be varieman's great need-yours too!

Past Valuable To Progress Of Future

all students are In Texas, all students are required to take three years of history before they graduate. Some wonder why a knowledge of world history, American history, Texas history, and civics is so important as to rate being a required subject.

Students in S.H.S. need to know what has happened in past world affairs to better understand how to make the future more prosperous. To understand the present, one must understand the past. History provides us with information as to what people before us have done. The past gives us an insight as to why some succeed where others

Civics is one of the most es sential subjects offered in high schools today. Responsible citizens are not ignorant of governmental procedures or state laws. To vote intelligently, for example, one should be able to give his reasons. To do this one must have knowledge. this, one must have knowledge of his government, the laws he is governed by, and those who are voted to enforce the laws.

Dreams Can Be First Step To Success

Dreaming is the first cob-blestone in the road to success. Without it, man can ac-complish nothing of real val-ue. His ambitions, his desireseverything from man begins as a small reality that he first conceives; man adds study, hard work, perseverance, and eventually comes up with a reality.

Many people have had great dreams from which to build, and many have had success; but far too great a number have been steered away from their dreams by scoffers, ridi-culers, sometimes even teachers. A smart man is measured by how much he dreams. A successful man is measured by how much he follows his dream.
