WASHINGTON

Bees. The best impartial idea about how Mr. Hoover stands on Beer comes from a Cabinet member. He says the President does not consider that the Presidential election was a mandate on beer. He did think it was a mandate on repeal. Therefore he favors enactment of a repeal resolution.

He considers most of the beer proposals he has heard as unconstitutional. To enact some of them would be nullification in his view. He would refuse to sign these measures.

He will sign any beer bill which escapes the classifications.

Congressman Britten was shooting in the dark when he came out of the White House and announced the President would sign a beer bill. Mr. Hoover took the unusual step of authorizing a statement that he had declined to discuss the subject with Britten.

During the last campaign the W.C.T.U. was announcing in New York State that Mr. Hoover would veto a beer bill. No statement has come from the White House yet about that.

Outlook. The best inside expert opinion is that the Federal Reserve index of industrial activity will drop 4.5 per cent in November. Steel buying for automobile production is expected to help to keep the average up. Textiles may slump a little. Next week is holding its own.

The 10th session in September was not a success in October according to final figures. It will be disappointing if it continues to hold for November as now seems probable.

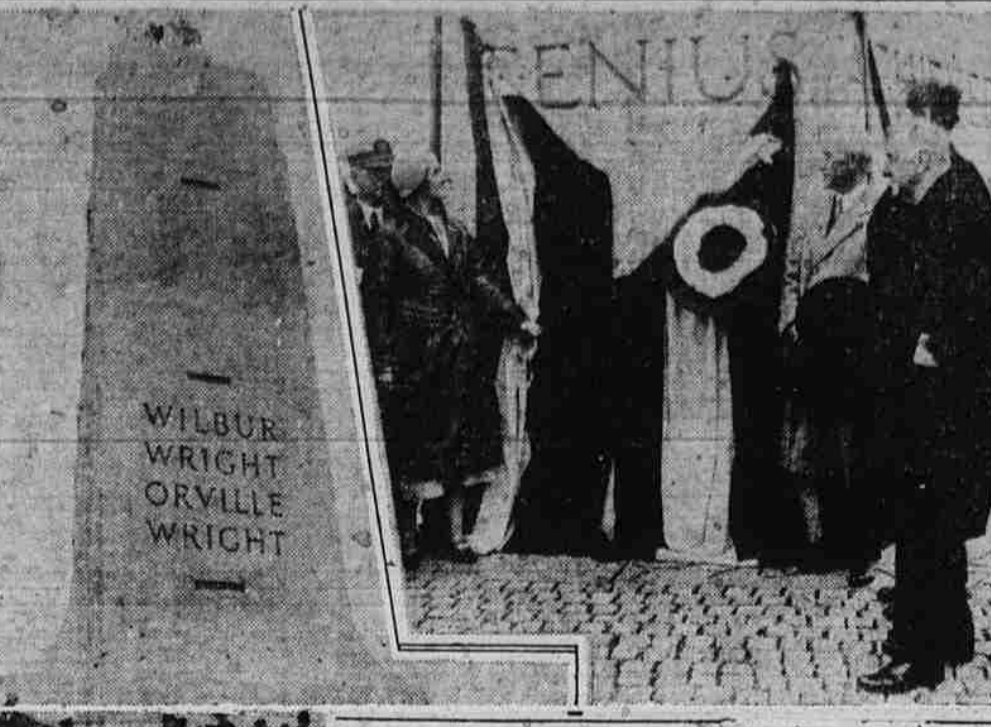

Agencies. Men up in the Washington have been trying with dates involved in the Robins case for a while. If you are a good detective you may be able to find it out for yourself. Here they are:

Sept. 2—Col. Robins talked with Political Secretary W. W. New York for an appointment for Sept. 3.

Sept. 3—Col. Robins disappeared from the City Club, New York.

Spence Talks Of Relief At Lions Session

Admits Local Need But Fearful Of Aftermath Of Relief Plan

Disbursement of Howard county's first allotment of relief work funds loaned by the federal government will be through labor for improvements of permanent nature when possible, E. V. Spence, city manager, said in an address before the Lions Club Friday.

Howard county will take care of Howard county residents and no others, he made known. If strictly relief work is to be done, the county will have to care for it through the community chest or a similar organization, he explained.

Mr. Spence made it plain that the funds coming from the federal government is not a gift but a loan to be paid back through taxes.

When this state receives its annual appropriation of federal road aid, only a small per cent will be a Japanese, three patrolmen ended the slasher's trail of slaughter after a hand-to-hand battle in which the Filipino was beaten down and two knives—that appeared to have been fashioned from a bolo, a native knife—were taken from him.

Heavily manacled, the Filipino was taken to jail, where he gave the name of Julian Marcelino, 30, and said he was a laborer.

Four fellow Filipinos and two white men fell fatally wounded under his murderous onslaught. They were:

W. J. Morris, 50, a grocery store proprietor who was killed outside his store on the sidewalk.

We are in receipt of a letter from a man in Kilgus, Texas, soliciting our aid in finding his wife and two boys, 3 and 4 years of age. The story follows:

Editor, The Herald, Big Spring, Texas: "Dear Sir: Will you please help me through your paper to locate my wife and two boys? She left here and was last heard from October 11. She had an apartment in our city and I'm afraid something happened to them. She weighed about 10 pounds, is short of stature and of fair complexion. Her hair is dark. The boys names are Sonny and Bobby Ray, 3 and 2 years old. The boys are fair and light looking. It is very important that she be found."

"Your truly, B. W. Westmoreland, 1212 1285, Kilgus, Texas."

And that is what she is doing. When George, Jr., took off his mother is with him."

Gems of Peril

by HAZEL ROSS HAILEY

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Rich old MRS. JUPITER is robbed and murdered during an engagement party she is giving for her secretary, MARY HARKNESS. Mary's scapegrace brother, EDDIE, is supposed to have been in the house at the murder hour.

DIRK RPYTHER, blue-blooded young lawyer, Mary's fiancé, advises her to keep silent about having arranged to meet Eddie secretly, until he can locate the boy, Eddie has disappeared.

DIRK RPYTHER, blue-blooded from telling BOWEN, police reporter for the Star, about Eddie's supposed visit. Dirk telephones that he has found Eddie and will take her to see him that afternoon.

Dirk oversleeps and Bowen drives Mary to the rendezvous. Eddie is run down by a car as he crosses the street to meet Mary. Delirious in the hospital, he rambles about a fly. He dies. Weeks of police investigation come to nothing and finally INSPECTOR KANE tells Mary the case is closed.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHATTERING MARY
Cold fury such as she had never dreamed she could feel possessed Mary. At Inspector Kane's indifferent words. Within a few minutes of each other, her hands had struck down the two persons she loved best on earth, except her sweetheart. She had thought of the jewels of justice as grinning slowly but surely toward the capture of that man. While he lived, how could anyone expect of play in his heart, rest content?

"Everything that could be done has been done," Kane said. "If the jewels ever turn up or if we find the car, we'll have positive evidence. Nothing to do but wait."

Mary suffered a feeling of vast disillusionment concerning the processes of justice and that great institution known as "the police." She had believed in the Law as she had believed in God and in Inspector Kane as his prophet. And here he was, helpless like any other mortal.

She did not realize it but in that moment was born the great scheme that was later to take possession of her. The idea of seeking personal vengeance of her brother's murderer, who she was sure, came later in all its details. But the genesis of it was right there, in the chilling discovery that in deep extremity the only one to be depended upon is one's self.

Perhaps Kane felt her criticism for his atrophy gave way to grievance.

"Police work is not so simple as some people think, Miss Harkness," he told her. "It's hard enough as best, and when people put stumbling blocks in our way—well, if you'd been frank with us about your brother coming to the house that night, we could have had the story out of him at once—and the case settled. It's too late now. We can do nothing but let the matter drop."

Slowly the implication of his words came home to the girl.

"What do you mean by that?" she asked. "You mean you think Eddie came in and killed Kane?"

"Kane looked at her keenly.

"I mean only what is self-evident from the facts in the case," he said. "He had a restless movement of dismissal. 'I don't think we'll get anywhere thrashing this out any further,' Miss Harkness. You come in and see me again any time you like. If I have anything to report, I'll be glad to tell you."

Mary said "Well, what do you think?"

"Well, what do you think?" he burst out. "What are the facts? He held up two massive fingers and ticked them off, one at a time. "You're brother had opportunity and he had motive. What about it? Or shall he never get such a thing before in his life? How do you know he didn't? What do you know about him, anyway? Before she could answer, he added with an air of wisdom: "Nobody on earth knows more about a man than his brother."

"I guess you're right," Mary said. "I don't think that Eddie killed Mrs. Jupiter. Mary was whispering under her breath. "She said she'd fight for self-control, and through a long time she shoves down in her lap."

If the truth be told, she would make a good girl, and this man was a good man. She was a good girl. While she struggled to stop the tears that streamed out and ran down the sides of her face, Kane went on "thinking his case."

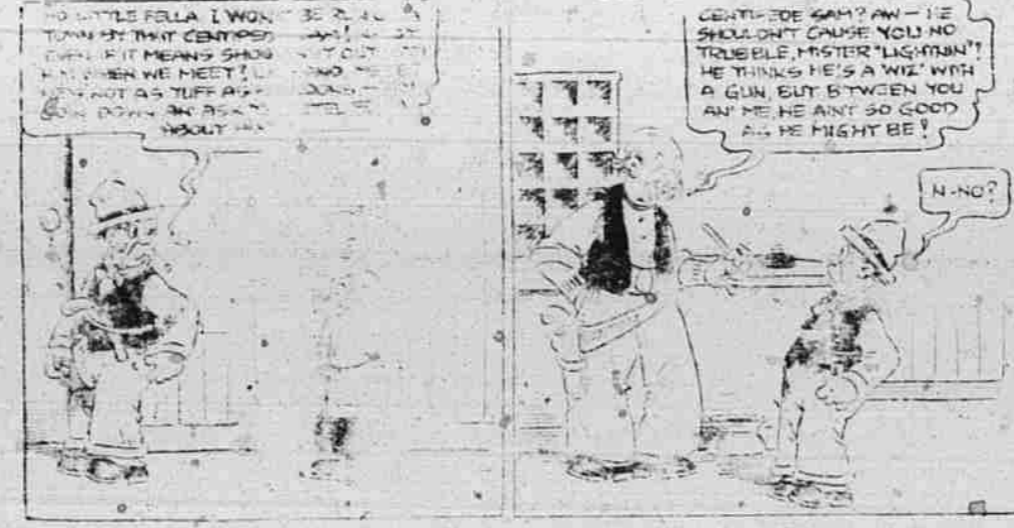

"Eddie had to get his hands on the money and do it in a hurry. We know that much. I had these boys in those rooms. I had these boys in an elevator boy in an office building. He was the only one who was in the way of following the traces. He tried to place bets for citizens in the building. Eddie made a little pin and was feeling rich, so he went down to the tracks and started playing the sport. He must have lost quite a bit of money for Eddie. But it wasn't long before he was back. He got bad of the long end of a 15-9-1 shirt, and couldn't pay off."

"It must have surprised him some when the chap, whoever he was, demanded his money. That's the trouble with a kid like that playing for big stakes. When he loses, he "Evidently the chap Eddie picked up with was a hard cookie, maybe he needed the money in a hurry to meet obligations of his own. Maybe he was just sore and wanted to give the kid a lesson. Anyway, he put it up to the kid to come thru.

Hall tore off 6 yards at left tackle but Viles kicked on the next play and Swatzy returned to his own 15 yard line. Richbourg went out of bounds for no gain and then picked up 9 yards on two running plays. Morgan kicked to Hall who returned to the Big Spring 43 yard line.

more profit in 1932 than his total 29 and 30 losses.

The ancient rumor among girls that a pipe smoker was a safe man to marry must have been revived during this year. For pipe smokers have been actually increasing in the last 18 months. And the story of one reason why its typical.

Formerly the carrying of a briar pipe bowl meant much waste briar-wood. So scientists hit on the bright idea of first grinding up a fine powder all the briarwood, good and bad. Then they mixed briar powder with certain secret "binders" and pressed the mixture into molds. After staining and polishing they had a burn-proof briar pipe.

The idea more or less got out of hand for production has so increased that today wholesalers can buy really guaranteed briar pipe for as low as 12c.

Smoking tobacco manufacturers sit-by and say "sit-um."

Reduced prices on cigars are held responsible for lowering recent cigarette consumption at least 20 per cent.

Manufacturers are not worried. Millions of recent new women smokers will soon take up the pipe.

Reports from all over the country reveal wholesale and retail sales figures showing a decline in resolutions requesting "prominent" cigar manufacturers to restore the former margin of profit on cigars.

The leading tobacco company contends that many wholesalers and large retailers acted too aggressively in pushing private brand cigars. So a "3 for 10c" price on a well known 5c cigar resulted, followed by others. Now the small retailer is caught in the pinch and asks for more profit in the increased sales.

It is in the cards that the present price situation will be allowed to continue until at least after the holidays.

Ranch Of 96 Sections Sold

Half-Million Approximate Figure In Midland Transaction

MIDLAND—Sale of approximately 96 sections of land near Midland for a consideration of almost half a million dollars was consummated late Wednesday. It was reported, the Midland Farms company selling to J. F. Mabee of Tulsa the NA ranch.

The land lies in Andrews and Martin county and is approximately 15 miles north of Midland for a consideration of almost half a million dollars was consummated late Wednesday.

The NA ranch was leased for grazing purposes for a number of years by Rowdy Love of Sierra Blanca. He sold the lease to the Schaubert Cattle company about ten years ago.

Mabee and Pyle, operating ranches on several hundred sections in the Midland area, purchased the lease a few months ago and the firm will continue to handle the ranching under Mabee's supervision.

Proctor, Mabee and Pyle joined last fall when they joined and actively bought calves in this section, operating a number of large holdings.

W. N. Pyle of Midland, with Haag & Stubbeman as attorneys, represented Mabee. The purchase, it was reported, the Midland Farms company was represented by C. L. Parker of Toronto, Canada, one of the trustees, with Ed Whitaker of El Paso as attorney.

Chauffeur's License Exemption Bill Not To Be Signed By Sterling

AUSTIN, (AP)—Governor Sterling indicated Friday he would not sign the bill passed by the fourth special session of the legislature designed to exempt farmer and stock raisers operating their own trucks in carrying products to the market from chauffeur's license requirements.

The governor vetoed a similar bill passed by the third special session. Governor Sterling said he disapproved the bill but favored a state drivers license law applying to passenger and commercial vehicles. He said his attitude was influenced by a recent accident in which he sustained minor injuries.

$10,000 Damages Agreed To In Suit Of Local Family

SWEETWATER—Damages of $10,000 were awarded Hugh Dubbyerly et al, in district court here when attorneys in the case agreed on a settlement in connection with an automobile accident a year ago which was fatal to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Dubbyerly of Big Spring.

The A. G. Winn, executor, co-defendant and Ben E. Keith Co., the latest operators of the Abilene Fruit & Vegetable Co., were defendants in the suit. Their bonding companies made immediate settlement and two checks for $5,000 each were delivered through the court to the plaintiff shortly after the agreement was reached.

The case set for trial Tuesday, was settled when attorneys met at 2 o'clock Monday to receive pleadings in the case. The suit originally sought approximately $33,000 alleged damages.

After the conference of attorneys, Hugh Dubbyerly was called here from Big Spring. He arrived at 5 o'clock Monday and the settlement was finally agreed to at 7 o'clock.

Under the judgment, Hugh Dubbyerly was to receive $3,000 from which $2,000 attorneys' fees were to be taken; $2,000 was awarded Mary Gene Dubbyerly and $5,000 to Janie Bess Dubbyerly.

Mr. and Mrs. Dubbyerly were killed and Janie Bess was injured in a highway crash east of here in which the trucks of the two defendant companies figured.

Mr. Dubbyerly was Howard county district clerk at the time of his death and his son, Hugh Dubbyerly has succeeded him in office.

The settlement agreed to Monday came exactly one year after the fatal accident which occurred on Nov. 24, 1931.

the chest, could not lie. Six others received emergency treatment for serious wounds.

Police were set on the trail of the Filipino slasher when a voice shrieked over the telephone that a terrible fight was going on in the district. That call was followed immediately by more than a dozen more.

Every available patrolman was ordered to the scene but it was Patrolman Gordon Jensen, who was off duty, who first checked the knife-wielder. Jensen was driving home from a football game when he saw the maddened Filipino lunging and slashing at I. Katakura, 35.

As Katakura fell wounded Jensen leaped from his car, tackled the Filipino and attempted to halt his death march. The Filipino's dripping blade slashed at the officer, the latter dodged and the knife slipped through his coat sleeve with-out touching his flesh.

Jensen closed in again, gripping the knife arm of the killer, attempting to wrest the blade away as they lunged and struggled across the street.

A police car dashed up, and Patrolman William Reynolds and Charles Seavers jumped out, not daring to shoot because their fellow patrolman was fighting with the killer. Leaping into the fray, they overpowered the Filipino and bound and manacled him.

"He had more than human strength," Jensen said later. Police found the blades of the Filipino's knives were seven inches in length, both razor sharp.

Terrified witnesses and victims recounted later how Marcelino had trotted in and about among the pedestrians on the sidewalks, slashing viciously, but apparently with perfect accuracy. He aimed deliberately at the spot over their hearts, and those slain were found to have been killed that way.

The first slaying, however, had apparently taken place at the Midway hotel.

On their flight to escape, several of the wounded were cut and slashed on the shoulders. Among them were Hans Shogren, 50, wounded in the shoulder; Harry Stalworth, 48, a negro, also stabbed there; and Tjitta Maca, 36, a Japanese.

The most vivid description of the killer's assault came from Christelo Bayaca, who saw his uncle Pito Gaulto, killed in his room in the Midway hotel.

"I was sitting in my room with my uncle, when Marcelino came in. They had been quarreling this morning—about what I don't know. My uncle said Marcelino had just got out of jail at Tacoma this morning.

"Marcelino said nothing. Not a word. But he had a funny look. 'All of a sudden he pulled out his knife and he stabbed my uncle. I saw my uncle lying on the floor. His blood gushing from his heart.'

Marcelino whirled, with a dazed expression on his face, and appeared to have gone mad at the sight of the blood, Bayaca said.

"He came at me, where I was

LABORATORY TESTS CHECK EFFICACY OF KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN

Show Why This Delicious Cereal Overcomes Common Constipation

There are scientific reasons for the success of ALL-BRAN in preventing and relieving common constipation. Laboratory investigations show that it supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines; and vitamin B to promote appetite, and help tone the intestinal tract.

These two important food-elements aid regular habits, and help do away with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy, so often the result of constipation.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is mild in action—much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using pills and drugs—so often habit-forming? Just eat two tablespoonsful of Kellogg's daily—enough for most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Besides, ALL-BRAN brings your body twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. Equally tasty as a cereal, or as a cooking recipe on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SPORTS ON PARADE

Big Springs, all-senior lineup, with graduating gridsters getting the call from end to end, closed out their scholastic careers in true storybook fashion. Thanksgiving

For two quarters the Steers, in spite of their determination to make a blaze of glory exit, could gain nothing better than an even break against the Wolves. Nothing seemed to check, running plays were halted, passes battered down at intercepted, and several of the veterans were going to make their last game their last.

The third quarter, however, was a different story. Three times the boys marched down the field to score. Richbourg tore off gain after gain, and the Wolves that were provided for the first back might have—oh, well, we've sworn to quit thinking about Sweetwater in San Angelo. It was interference that was interference. Morgan, Smith, Harris, Martin, Schwarzenbach, the Colorado ends, backs, and tackles were not just bunched but carried off the feet completely. Every member of the Bears roster played the greatest games of their careers in that fifteen minutes when the Cardinals were swept ruthlessly aside.

One of the features of the game was the play of King Sanders. He played in the first half of the game and under the pressure of the crowd in the second half he was not included in the starting lineup despite the fact that it was his last game. He now goes in line in the second quarter and there he remained until the middle of the fourth period. He spent the remainder of the game as the individual star of the game.

The Red Hall all-starlet hubbub was definitely exploded during the holiday clash. Hall gained a total of 23 yards from scrimmage as compared with 478 for Heavy Richbourg. The Colorado speedster returned Big Springs' punting for a net gain of 9 yards, while Schwarzenbach missed a scrimmage total of 129. Burr's quarterback, is easily the most valuable man in the Colorado backfield. He outplayed Hall, was easily a better defensive player, and engineered the passing attack that gave the Wolves their fourth win.

Elis Stagner, ratty Colorado captain, played a marvellous game in the first half against the Wolves, but his wing was circled most often in the third and fourth quarters. At that Stagner put up a brilliant exhibition, and probably settled the all-district question that is in the air.

Who is the better guard—Clifton Smith or Fred Martin? One is undoubtedly entitled to all-district laurels, perhaps both. Smith has been the more consistent and is probably a tighter better than his running mate at dropping out of his position and leading interference on end runs. Martin, on the other hand, is more spectacular, is a better tacker, and in addition backs up to protect the territory just back of the line of scrimmage on pass formations.

The 17 to 7 victory closed the curtain upon Steer Stadium for the season. The Bears ended the year in third place in District 3 standing. They have won three games and lost two. They have scored a total of 90 points against their opponents' 46.

In non-conference games they have fared even better. In five contests they have won three, tied one, and lost one, and have scored 95 points to their opponents' 31.

*Considering that the material available at the opening of the practice season was very poor and that from three to six members of the squad have been out with injuries all through the season the Bears' record cannot help but be commensurate with it. Coaches L. L. Brown and Zarfornone credit to the splendid spirit of the players themselves. The Steers this year have assumed the reputation of being a fighting club. At Amarillo they were described as the greatest team to ever go against the Steers. They play against Sweetwater, and the boys are going to no member tribute can be paid to any eleven than to say that they had it in them to fight through defeat.

'Coyote' Proves To Be Red Wolf; Hunters In Chase

C. T. Watson, Dr. W. B. Hardy and Paige Benbow went duck hunting Thanksgiving morning, fifteen miles west of town. On their return in an automobile the party jumped five coyotes, and took out across the prairie in pursuit. Dr. Hardy was holding onto the car from the running board as his gun in the air. He aimed at the coyotes while the car was running. It later developed that the animal was not a coyote, but a Texas red wolf, very rare in this section. Mr. Benbow is having the hide tanned, and will have a run made of it.
