

Airport Annexation Hearing Set

There will be a special called meeting of the Spearman City Council at 7:30 p.m., Monday night for the purpose of conducting a public hearing on annexing the territory to be the new municipal airport and to discuss reducing the per square foot commercial lease rental rate at the new airport when it becomes operational.

The annexation action—in the form of ordinance number 464—is, at this point, a matter of form required by both the FAA and the Texas Aeronautic Commission (TAC) to complete compliance for certain grants pertaining to creation of the airport.

This requisite brings leaders involved in the creation of the new and safer airport for the city, face to face with another requisite: that annexations in Texas be preceded by a statutory period of time by a public hearing.

This time period led to another complication not fully understood, possibly, by those unfamiliar with the mechanical dictatorship of getting a newspaper into print.

When it was discovered the next REPORTER publication date would not fulfill the required advance publication notice, it was suggested by a member of the REPORTER staff that an alternate periodical be used to comply rather than delay the hearing which would demand sudden change in the private schedules of a number of committee people involved—as well as council members.

This was done in good accord but it was felt by the city administration and the newspaper that an explanation might forestall any rumors of a rift.

While the public hearing on annexation, Monday night, has been styled as a routine action demanded by the agencies concerned with helping the city of Spearman create this new facility. It can serve as a sounding board from which to gain answers to any yet unanswered questions from that segment of the population that has not been avidly following the airport progress from the very beginning.

Also on the agenda of this meeting will be the matter of considering the reduction of the annual commercial lease rental rate at the airport from seven-and-one-half cents per square foot to five cents per square foot.

This is a matter of consideration of the reduction. The city council has not as yet committed itself to institute it but it did agree at the last regular session to review the matter.

The public hearing will be the first matter on the agenda, Monday night.

The discussion, if any, will involve some 212.92 acres of land located eight miles of the present boundary of the city of Spearman.

Following the public discussion and the introduction of the ordinance, that instrument will also carry the effective date of the annexation.

Such a move is necessary—among several reasons—because Texas is one of those states without zoning powers and certain other regulatory powers vested in county government. Annexation gives the city such jurisdiction and regulation over the facility.

10 Most Wanted Men

Spearman's Ten Most Wanted Men were revealed at the Meet the Director Party in the old Beedy Furniture Store building in the Plains Shopping Center on Monday night. All of them are on Wanted posters with their pictures. People are asked to vote on whom they think is the one most wanted. For every penny put in the jar that accompanies the wanted poster, that man gets one vote. The winner is the one with the most money in his jar. The winner will probably get a trip to the Hansford County Jail or some other such exotic place. The ten most wanted men are:

Larcenous Lloyd Buzzard whose poster and jar may be found in the Buzzard Farms Office in the Pittman-Shield-knight building. Ol' Lloyd's been hangin around these here parts near on to 40 years or so. About two months ago he was on this here plane carryin a load of Cuban refugees. Now, this here plane was ski-jacked and when it was found, the only thing missin was the Cubans and Lloyd. We can't be sure he had anything to do with this, but there sure has been a lot of work done around his place lately.

We need to get a case on this scoundrel, but that takes money, so we would like you to put your coins in his jar so we can find Lloyd. It helps the "Fruitcake Review Too", showing February 12 and 13 at the high school auditorium.

For land fraud Slim Mack McCormack, alias: Chubby Grady. Here's an old boy that's the meanest ever. Slick conned the widow Scott out of a prime piece of land that had a whole bunch of oil under it.

It seems like he convinced the widow, after all that wasn't anything but dirty water. Now all that poor lady has is $3.00 in change, a stray cat and a half a case of prune juice.

If he hadn't been kicked out of the Boy Scouts this would never have happened.

He's still running around here somewhere and we need to catch him. If you'll put your change in his jar at McCormack's Scratch Pad, it'll help us hunt down this dastardly character and help the "Fruitcake Review Too", showing February 12 and 13 at the high school auditorium.

For horse stealing Bothersome Billy Miller, alias: Worrisome Willie. Ol' Bothersome is one boy you don't want to fool with. On the night of November 20, he was caught stealin' Chalmers Porter's ol' plow horse. (It don't matter none that Chalmers was a gonna shoot the old nag the next day.)

Worrisome Willie escaped from Jail by actin' like he was agonna take the deputy's picture and now we can't find Willie anywhere.

We gotta fine him 'cause the deputy ordered two 8 x 10 glossies and if he don't get 'em he's threaten to take it out of ol' Willie's hide.

We just can't let these things happen in our fine community. We gotta find this awful person and bring him to justice and this takes money. Put your dollars and dimes in the jar at the Spearman Reporter, so we can bring him to justice. It helps the "Fruitcake Review Too", showing February 12 and 13 at the high school auditorium.

For mail fraud Blackhearted Blackburn, alias: Chunky the Cheat. This here feller is a real bad actor. 'Bout six months ago Verlan Winegarner ordered a mail order bride from Chunky's ad in the Spearman Reporter. Blackhearted promised a lady that would make Miss Lillie Langtree hide her head in shame.

Well, when this lady finally arrived, she turned out to be uglier than one of someone's mule. Now, Verlan can't get his money 'cause he can't find Chunky.

So, put your money in the jar at the Hansford County Court House, so we can hunt this criminal down and prosecute him proper like. It will help the "Fruitcake Review Too", showing February 12 and 13 at the high school auditorium.

For foolishness Gerald "The Itch" Heinrich. After last year's Fruitcake Review, we just gotta do somethin'.

Gerald Heinrich has developed what some people call itchy feet. He wants to be a star dancer! He's gone and invested all their life's savings at some new fangled dance school somewhere way up north.

We gotta bring him back home, 'cause his wife says she's tired of having to listed to him tap dance over the phone every night.

This all takes money so put your coins in the jar at Excell Chevrolet-Oldsmobile-GMC and help the "Fruitcake Review Too", showing February 12 and 13 at the high school auditorium. (If you're lucky, you might get to see Gerald dance again.)

For illegal race track, Diamond Dick Elbert, alias: Double Dealing Dick. Diamond Dick is not really a bad sort of a person. He just has this little habit that no one can seem to break him of. He likes to soup-up the tractors that come in to his place of business for repair. He don't do it all the time but when he does it really causes trouble.

Ne too long ago, Lloyd McWhirter, too his tractor in for a tune-up and Double Dealing Dick decided to do one of his "realgood jobs" on the tractor. Well, Lloyd don't know what happened and when he tried to plow he south forty that tractor ran away with him and before he could get it shut down, he had run thru Ray Phelps' fence, field and barn; out the other side past Ray Phelps' place out onto the highway and got a ticket for speeding from the sheriff.

That was mroe excitement than ol' Lloyd could stand and he ain't topped shaking yet.

We gotta stop Diamond Dick and that akes some money to get a realgood case on him, so put your money in the jar at North Plains International, so we can stop him proper like. It helps the "Fruitcake Review Too", showing February 12 and 13 at the high school auditorium.

For Sense of Humor Sam Stoneface Wysong, alias: Happy. Sam was a grouch for so long he's forgotten how to smile. This was really gettin' to the people who had to work with him all the time, so they sent off for a "learn to Grin" correspondence course. Now all Wysong does is practice his lessons, and, frankly, we're all pretty tired of it.

We need to collect enough money to hunt down Stoneface and send him to some sad movies and take his correspondence course away from him so he can get back to normal. If there is any money left over, we will buy a rope and lynch the people who sent off for the course. So, please put your cash in the jar at the Chamber of Commerce or Gordon's Drug, so we can do a proper job of it. It will help the "Fruitcake Review Too", showing February 12 and 13 at the high school auditorium.

For cheating at cards Loose Sleeves Ed, alias: "Doubling Dealing Dear". Last week the usual gang was playin' a friendly game of seven card stud. There was Jurky Junior, Doc Sunday, Hansford County Fats, Virginia Slim, Curley Jones and the Reverend Black, when ol' Double Dealing Dear came in uninvited and insisted that the group play "go fish" with him. Now, that made everyone pretty mad, 'cause they've been playing seven card stud for years.

To make a long story short there was a terrible fight and Ed won, which meant they had to play "go fish" all night. The talk is that the group is going to break up.

Folks—we been workin' for years to get a group of thugs to form in our town to give it color and now Loose Sleeves is goin' to ruin it.

We need to get up a posse to run him out of town, but that costs money. That's why we need you to put your change in the jar at the Bunkhouse. It helps the "Fruitcake Review Too", showing February 12 and 13 at the high school auditorium.

For Villainly Painless Earl Novak, alias: Boris Dudley-Do Wrong. This fierce fiend has done so many things in this country that we just gotta do somethin' about him.

The local sheriff is gettin' sorta tired of untyen Sweet Nell from the rail road tracks that he's threaten to charge the county extra every time he's gotta go out there and rescue the poor innocent girl. Last time ol' Earl was seen he was skulking around acting dumb and obnoxious.

Please put your pennies or dollars in the jar at the Dentist's office 'cause it costs money to hunt down and prosecute anyone as vile and mean as Painless. It helps the "Fruitcake Revue Too", showing February 12 and 13 at the high school auditorium.

For jumping bail Smooth Talking Jim, Alias: "Scotch" McLain. Jim's been picked up for various and assorted crimes against Spearman, ever since he was a kid. Last time he was picked up he was promising Mires & Dawson Bail Bond that he'd show up for trial and we haven't seen him since.

You have to watch McLain 'cause he is sure a dangerous character. You can't recognize him as soon as he says something—'cause he's got a line of gab that would stop a runaway stampee of Texas Longhorns. It costs money to prosecute these fellows and make Spearman's streets a safe place for women and children.

So drop your pennies in the jar at A-1 and support the "Fruitcake Review Too", showing February 12 and 13 at the high school auditorium.

Pictures Returned

The pictures used in the Hansford County History Book may be picked up at the Stationmaster's House Museum, 30 S. Townsend, on Wednesday, January 28, from 1 until 5 p.m. or on Tuesday, February 3, from 1 until 4 p.m.

Antique Shop Opening

Mrs. Ray Ralston (Coreata) will have her Antique Shop open Monday, February 2. She invites everyone to come any time during the day beginning at 9 a.m.

The shop stocked with country primitive furniture and accessories, is located at the Ralston home, Northeast of Gruver. Located in the valley on the banks of Farwell Creek, the lovely home is one of the oldest in the area. The late Henry Ralston homesteaded here in a dug-out. Later, the family built a large kitchen above ground which is still used by Ray and Coreata. The site is a perfect location for an Antique Shop which has long been a dream for Coreata. For years she has bought and sold antiques and has become an authority on the country primitives, furnishing her home throughout in this style. She laughingly says "when my home became so crowded I had no more room for antiques, I moved my car and put the over-flow in the garage." So she turned the garage into a shop. The couple has just returned from a buying trip to Ohio and Illinois and she has a very unique collection for buyers. Coreata is a very talented artist and many of her painted pieces are for sale in her shop along with other Folk art objects. Lovers of the golden oak era will also be pleased with

Camp experience changes lives of troubled youths

For some of the boys, it's the first time they've ever had enough food to chase away the hunger pangs.

For many, it's the first time they've gotten off a city street, held a fishing rod, or gazed at stars framed by forest foliage.

And all of the underprivileged youth who attend the R.M. Pyles Boys Camp in California, which is sponsored by the men and women of the oil industry, emerge from the High Sierras with new perspectives.

"Nobody is underprivileged while they're at that camp," explains Tom Benton, a senior project engineer at Aminoil USA, Inc. The oil production lease now operated by Aminoil is where the idea for the camp germinated decades ago.

The camp was founded in 1948 by the late R.M. Pyles. Pyles was a production superintendent at Aminoil's predecessor company, Signal Oil and Gas Company.

Pyles' dream was to build a camp in the Sequoia National Forest which boys from needy families and broken homes in California could attend free. He recruited volunteers from the lease to help him build the camp.

Since that time, the efforts of Aminoil employees and their counterparts in dozens of other oil companies have enabled more than 13,000 boys to attend one of the camp's two-week summer sessions.

While at the camp, the boys fish, learn how to use bows and arrows, ride horses, camp out, handle chores, and talk about their lives while sitting under the stars. Counselors, who are former campers themselves, try to instill a sense of responsibility, determination and fellowship.

Eddie Calderon, another Aminoil employee who has devoted time and labor to the camp for decades, helps select boys to attend the camp. He also attends annual spring work parties to paint, repair, and ready the camp for reopening.

His greatest satisfaction, however, comes from the campers themselves. "There are a lot of kids from big or broken homes who are really trying to succeed. The camp opens their eyes to the better things in life, and shows them some wholesome ways to spend their time."

The camp follows up on the boys after the summer session, bringing them together for a Christmas dinner with oilmen, assisting their homes, and corresponding with them.

"Working for this camp is one activity where you can really see the benefits of what you're doing," says Benton. "Many of these boys get turned around after a bad start."

Statistics compiled by the camp's administrators indicate that the number of former campers who later get into trouble with juvenile authorities is significantly lower than the national average.

engages primarily in domestic exploration and production, crude oil and petroleum product marketing, natural gas liquids operations, and geothermal steam development.

forms. Accrual reports are made within the limits of the policy and the insurance adjusts itself automatically according to the inventory changes. The adjustment is made as the amount of risk increases or decreases without direct action on the part of the policyholder.

Builders can get similar protection. As they construct a building, its value increases on a daily basis. By filing monthly reports and using the automatic builder's risk form, they can get daily coverage. If there is a loss between two reports, protection is provided according to the value of the day of the loss.

AUTOMATIC COVERAGE

Usually when insurance is written, the value of whatever is covered stays more or less the same, except for changes over a long period of time. However, sometimes that value changes continuously, possibly even on a daily basis. For example, a company owning a string of chain stores would be confronted with inventory changes. Different stores would have varying amounts of items at various times. Naturally, they want and need continuous insurance.

The chain store firm gets what is known as automatic coverage written with reporting

1981 Campaign Letters

Children will explore the problems facing children and their families for Save the Children's fourth annual letter-writing campaign sponsored in honor of Save the Children Day.

Save the Children, the international child-assistance agency, is inviting children from across the country to voice their opinions in letters to the President of the United States of America. The letters will be presented, along with oral testimony from children, at a special hearing with government leaders in Washington, D.C., on Save the Children Day, May 1st.

Children participating in this national campaign are being asked to write on the theme: Dear President Reagan: "This is the biggest problem facing families today, and here's what should be done about it..." The letters are to be mailed to Save the Children Day '81, Westport, CT so that the leading concerns can be tallied and summarized into the 1981 Children's Agenda for Action.

This is the fourth consecutive year Save the Children has invited children to join a national letter-writing campaign as part of the Save the Children Day observance. Last year, more than 20,000 letters from children in almost every state were presented to the U.S. Senate Subcommittee on Child and Human Development during a special hearing for children.

Save the Children conducts programs assisting impoverished children in 25 countries around the world including the United States. It is anticipated that governors of every state will declare May 1st. Save the Children Day and call up on children to make this a special day to help other children.

For an activities booklet describing this national letter-writing campaign and other Save the Children Day activities, write National Coordinator for Save the Children Day, Save the Children, Dept. P, Westport, CT 06880 or call toll free (800) 243-5075.

Texas Department of Health Robert Bernstein, M.D., Commissioner

The evidence delineating the health risks from smoking continues to grow, while those deriving economic benefit from tobacco still refuse to acknowledge the warnings medical authorities have given for years.

Fortunately, the percentage of smokers in America is slowly dropping. Unfortunately, the decrease does not include some of the younger smokers. About a third of U.S. adults smoke, and there has been a recent drop in the number of teenagers who smoke, with one exception. Smoking continues to increase among 17 and 18 year-old girls.

This increase is especially worrisome since smoking presents increased risks for pregnant women. Couple these risks with an increase in teenage pregnancies and the problem is compounded.

"The carbon monoxide in cigarette smoke not only gets into the mother's blood, but travels across the placenta to limit the amount of oxygen available to the developing fetus," says Dr. Walter Peter, Director, Division of Maternal and Child Health, Texas Department of Health.

"For this reason," says Dr. Peter, "pregnant women should refrain from smoking if at all possible."

Smoking during pregnancy is associated with low birth weight babies, shortened gestations, and more frequent spontaneous abortions.

For the first time in our history, there are more girls smoking than teenage boys. And there are now 100,000 smokers in the United States below the age of thirteen.

Getting a pregnant woman to refrain from smoking is protecting, in one sense, the youngest of nonsmokers, her unborn child. But even older children in homes where both parents smoke incur twice as many colds and respiratory ailments as children in homes where no one smokes.

Increasing attention to smoking in public places is another expansion of nonsmokers' rights. More

Lynxettes Rip Coyotes Apart

The Lynxettes traveled to Higgins this past Tuesday, January 27, to play against the Higgins Coyotes. The fans in Higgins figured that although the Coyotes were small, very small in fact, but very, very quick. The Lynxettes hadn't faced the Higgins Coyotes, so this first quarter would be a "How do you do, I'm a Lynxette" kind of quarter.

The first few minutes of the 1st quarter was indeed a "glad to know you" quarter for the Lynxettes as well as for the Coyotes. The Lynxettes got the tip-off, as everyone expected, but just as Kenda was driving, a Coyote stole the ball and drove down the court made the two points and was fouled. She had 1 freethrow to finish the 3 point play. The Higgins Coyote made it, and just like that (snap), the Coyotes were ahead 3-0. Don't count the Lynxettes out, they are the kind of team that can handle any team—even Higgins.

The Higgins Coyotes' fans thought this would be a real game, and right after that sigh of relief, the Lynxettes took control and scored 7 unanswered points. So at the end of 1 quarter of play, the Lynxettes had a 17-5 lead. Well, it looked like the Lynxettes were in command of another game, but instead of Kenda getting a hot hand, it was Margaret Reed. Margaret was putting the ball in when she would get fouled and make some points. The 2nd quarter was more like what the Higgins Coyote fans had seen before—their girls having a good offensive quarter—this would be the only time the Higgins would get into the double figures in a quarter! The Lynxettes and Margaret had another brilliant offensive quarter. When the 2nd quarter was over—the Lady Lynx had brought their 12 point margin to 16, and outscored the Higgins Coyotes 18-14 to the 35-19 point lead into half-time.

There had been lots of fouls and the Lynxettes were also having a night at the freethrow line making 9 of 12 freethrows given to them, while the Coyotes made 7 of 15 freethrows given to them. How small were the Higgins Coyotes? Let's put it this way—if you had ever played against your brother or sister who was 3 feet while you were 5 or 6 feet then you'd know. But on the other hand, if you were an only child then I'd have to see if you could imagine this one—supposing Kareem Abdul-Jabbar (7ft. 4) played one-on-one against some one at 5 feet tall, well, Kareem would have so much trouble trying to stop his momentum and run right into his opponent. Or suppose that a 6 ft. 9 person, in this case a girl, was trying to steal the ball from a 4 ft. 9 opponent—the 6 ft. 9 girl would be fouling more than the 4 ft. 9, but if the 4 ft. 9 girl was trying to steal or rebound the ball then she would be fouling more than the other one. That's how the first half was—6 ft. 9 fouls 4 ft. 9 and vice-versa. The 2nd half would have everyone—from both teams—fouling the opponent.

Coach Newton put all his girls in and everyone put points on the board and just played a tremendous game. While Mary Ann Martin, Tammi Maize, and Margaret were putting points on the board, Lea Ann Gibner, Bonnie McCloy, Susan Davis, Kamala Ford Mary McIntyre, Kenda Burke, and Nancy Wilson would steal the ball, assist their teammates and put the ball up and score sometimes also. The 3rd quarter was all Lynxettes, again. When the 3rd quarter ended—the Lynxettes had outscored the Higgins Coyotes 16-4. The DEFENSE was just doing a TERRIFIC job, while the OFFENSE did a SPECTACULAR job—team work!

The score at the end of 3 was the Lynxettes 51, the Coyotes 23—a 28 point lead—very demanding. The Lynxettes didn't get haunted by the 2nd half—or they hadn't these past few games. It seems like Coach Newton and the Lynxettes have got everything under control—no more "Dr. Lynxette and Ms. Hyde" for Coach Newton's girls! The 4th quarter was the best offensive show, the Lady Lynx put on all night. This time Tammi Maize, a Senior, was putting up the ball and as if magnetized, the ball went in! Margaret Reed had already fouled out and Nancy and Kenda had 4 fouls a piece. Bonnie McCloy was the only Lynxette without a score, and she tried DESPERATELY to get 2 points. Bonnie got fouled 3 times and so she had 1 and 1. She missed all 3 and the ballgame was almost over. Could Bonnie get a basket? There were 3 seconds left, Bonnie had the ball, she shot and missed, but she got the rebound and she shot again and made it! Bonnie had gotten her 2 points—these were hard earned! The buzzer rang to end the game and the Lynxettes had won convincingly over the Higgins Coyotes by the score of 73-32—a 41 point difference!

The leading scorer for the Lynxettes was Tammi Maize with 16 big points, she was followed by Mary Ann Martin with 12 points; Kamala Ford had a good night with 10 points; Kenda Burke had 9 points; Margaret Reed had 8 points; Lea Ann Gibner and Mary McIntyre had 6 points a piece while Nancy Wilson, Susan Davis and BONNIE McCLOY had 2 points a piece to end the Lynxettes scoring. All the Lady Lynx scored!! I'll bet Coach Newton was proud of his Lynxettes, especially Bonnie, for trying so hard and trying to get everyone in the act—which they did!!

The next game for the Lynxettes will be tonight—January 30, Friday—against the Perryton Rangerettes. The game will be played at Lynx Varsity Gym and will be played at 6:00 p.m.—because the Jr. Varsity Lynx and Lynxettes will not play, 'cause they are participating in the Perryton Freshman and JV Tournament. This game is going to be a GREAT game for 2 reasons—1. The Lynxettes KNOW that the Perryton Rangerettes are strong opponents and if they beat the Lynxettes, they could be the District Champs—2. If the Lady Lynx do lose then they won't have a perfect District Record. The Lynxettes will host the 1981 District 1-AAA Tourney—meaning that all the District Teams will compete and this will determine which team will be the District Champs for the 1981 season. If one team is 0-6, and if they win 1st Place in the Tourney, then they will represent or be the District 1981 Champs! With this in mind, some folks think—what's the use of winning! Well, that's not a good attitude. The Lynxettes are not a team to think like that, all they are doing is taking one game at a time and playing each game with the same strategy—WIN THEM ALL!! Go on out and see the Lynxettes hand-it-to-the Perryton Rangerettes. Then on Tuesday, February 3, the Lynxettes will travel to Miami to play against the Miami Indian girls. These two teams have played before and Miami won, but the Lynxettes will try to even out the series. The game will begin at 6:30 or whenever the Jr. Varsity Lynxettes finish "scalping" the Miami JV Indian girls!!

Neatness Counts

Remember in when teachers used to say, "neatness counts." It certainly is true about Federal income tax returns.

Granted the Internal Revenue Service won't send you a larger refund because they like your handwriting. However, it is true that a neat, accurate, carefully prepared return can be processed faster, a resulting refund issued sooner, and all with fewer surprises for the taxpayer.

On the other hand, something as easily avoided as an incorrect or illegible social security number can take weeks to get straightened out. An addition or subtraction error will not cause a long delay but could inconvenience the taxpayer if he or she were counting on having a particular size tax refund or bill.

The Internal Revenue Service offers a two-pronged approach to avoiding time and money consuming errors. First of all, be fully prepared before you start filling out your return. Start as soon as possible—and before you begin, check the following items:

- Do you have necessary records and forms easily accessible?
- If a calculator is available, do you have it handy?
- Do you have plenty of time? (Rushing leads to errors.)
- Have you received a Wage and Tax Statement (W-2 Form) from each employer you worked for during the past year?

- Do you anticipate any questions or problems? Are you puzzled about any particular law changes? If so, first check instructions. If the problem persists you can order any of 90 free IRS publications using the handy order blank in your tax package or you can call IRS toll-free. The number is listed in your local telephone directory. And before you send it, do this final check:
- Are all W-2 forms attached?
- Are all supporting schedules attached to your Form 1040?
- Is the arithmetic correct?
- If you rounded off numbers, did you round consistently?
- Did you use the correct tax table, and did you follow the line across to the correct figure?
- Did you answer the Census Bureau questions completely?
- Is the return signed and dated (by both spouses, if a joint return)?
- Did you use the peel-off label, and, if so, is the information correct?
- Is there a stamp on the pre-addressed, coded envelope?
- Did you make a copy of the return for your own records? And last but not least
- Aren't you glad you are finished?!
