Burglars Try Gruver Bank; Hit High School and Show

Burglars apparently worked several hours Saturday night, but all they got was a small amount of money, some food and the prospects of a stiff federal sentence, if caught.

Saturday night burglars tried to open the vault of the Gruver State Bank, broke into the Holiday Drive-In Theater and the High School in Spearman.

Someone broke into the Gruver bank, ransacked the desks and tried to cut open the bank vault with a cutting torch, but failed.

Bank official Kenneth Irwin said the burglars did a lot of damage to the door, but they still had a long way to go before they got in the vault.

A large piece of the first sheet of steel was cut off the door, but the cutting torch had made little progress on the second piece of steel.

Part of the locking devices had been beaten and broken with a sledge hammer.

If the burglars had entered the vault, they were still a long way from money. All money is kept in a safe in the vault. It weighs between 16 and 18 thousand pounds, Irwin said.

The big damage they could have done inside the vault would be ruining the safety deposit boxes.

The burglars took between 40 and 50 dollars in bent and damaged coins from a drawer in the bank. They also went through the desks and drawers in the front of the bank.

Irwin said it was surprising that so little damage was done to the fixtures in the bank after the burglars failed to open the vault.

Irwin discovered the break-in about 4:30 Sunday afternoon when he went to the bank.

Hansford County Sheriff's officers and Federal Bureau of Investigation officers are working on the break-in.

Something must have frightened the burglars for they left their tanks of gas used in the cutting torch and other tools in the bank.

They entered the bank by forcing the lock on the back door.

Burglars also broke into the snack bar of the Holiday Drive-In Theater. All they took was some food from the ice box.

Persons entering the high school building had to break in twice. They entered in the hall in front of the auditorium, but could not get in to the rest of the building because of the grill across the hall.

They went back outside and broke another glass and entered the main part of the building. One door leading to the Superintendent's office was ruined when they pried it open. The burglars also pried a drawer out of the desk in Mrs. Ballenger's office. She said that is the first time she had locked her desk and she only did it then because some Interscholastic League records were in it.

Couple Killed In One-Car Accident

Funeral services for Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Slaughter of 504 S. Bernice, Spearman, were conducted at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in the First Methodist Church of Spearman with the Rev. Charles Gates, pastor, and the Rev. Waide Griffin of Sweetwater conducting the double services.

Houston School Head Speaks at Banquet

Dr. John McFarland, Superintendent of the Houston Public Schools, opened the 19th District of Texas Parent-Teachers Association meeting Monday night with a strong speech for cooperation between parents and schools.

A total of 178 delegates and visitors and three state board members attended the two-day convention held in the Spearman City Hall and High School.

Monday night at the opening banquet in the Junior High School Cafeteria Dr. McFarland told the near capacity crowd that we need more people who know what is going on in our schools.

He pointed out that too many people get their information about school from gossip and others get just part of the story. When persons have questions about the school they should go to the school administrators.

The head of the nation's fourth largest public school system, said the P-TA is a part of the school and the school is the focal point of the P-TA.

P-TA tries to build harmony between the teachers and the parents so both can work together for a common objective, the best possible education of the children.

Both schools and parents have responsibilities to each other.

The school has a responsibility to treat every child as an (Con't. on page 2.)

It must instill respect and honor for parents.

Mrs. Carey Snyder of Fort Worth and a State Vice President brought greetings from the Texas Congress of Parent-Teacher Associations.
In her brief remarks she stressed that parents and teachers work to prepare children for the future. She said children must learn they rise or fall on their own efforts.

lebration was completed successfully. Observers of many local parades said there has never been a parade with prettier floats, nor one better organized. Trophies and plaques were presented to a large number of individuals entering the competition.

Local Republicans Seek Vote of Conservatives

Local Republican leaders this week called on all conservatives to vote in the Republican Primary Saturday, May 2. Republican County Chairman S. B. Hale said by voting in the Republican Primary Texas conservatives will have an effective voice in choosing the strongest Republican for president, picking the man who is best able to beat Ralph Yarborough, protesting Lyndon Johnson's meddling in Texas politics and improving Texas government with a competitive two-party system. Hale said the liberals have control of the Democratic party and a conservative vote in that primary is a wasted vote. Presidential candidates listed on the Republican ballot are Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York, Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and Harold Stassen of Pennsylvania.

Republican Primary Set

The first Republican Presidential Primary in the state of Texas will be held on Saturday, May 2. The polls will be open from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m. Polling places will be the County Auditor's office in the Hansford County Court House and the Gruver High School.

Anyone who has paid his poll tax is eligible to vote in the Republican primary; those whose poll tax receipts are stamped "Unpaid" may vote for federal offices, but not state or county offices.

A vote in the Republican primary will not commit the voter one way or the other in the general election coming up in November.

Day By Day

One of the prettiest and most charming persons I've met is Miss Jeannie Amacker, Miss Texas, who was here last Friday for part of the celebration.

Jeannie was one of the guests of honor at a luncheon Friday with Jaycee wives and other guests. She arrived in Spearman, direct from her flight to Amarillo, in one of our gusty windstorms and while she looked a tiny bit windblown, she still was quite fresh and pretty and her personality literally sparkled.

Jeannie has followed a most demanding schedule and if she has left as favorable an impression everywhere as she did here, Texas can certainly be proud of her.

I personally think Zack Fisher did an excellent job as chairman of this year's celebration. Everything was well-planned and even the weather was perfect Saturday for the parade, barbecue and rodeo.

I don't imagine Zack would take credit for the good weather, but I did hear someone say it happened because we started everything out on the right note with the religious gathering Wednesday night. Maybe that's right.

The Jaycees did a good job in staging the celebration again this year. Considering the club only has about 30 members and about 20 who are really active, the celebration is a giant size undertaking.

If you like authentic Mexican food, you'll probably enjoy attending the Sacred Heart Altar Society's dinner Sunday from 5 until 8 p. m. at the Home Demonstration Clubroom. All the cooking will be done by the Spanish women of the Parish so it should be very good.

During the past week or ten days we have had a number of important people in our midst. One of these was Dr. John McFarland, Superintendent of the Houston schools, the fourth largest system in the nation. Dr. McFarland was here for the annual 19th District P-TA Conference.

Speaking at the banquet Monday evening, Dr. McFarland had these things to say about cooperation between teachers and parents. The teacher's responsibility to the parent includes (1) treating every child as an individual realizing that each child has a gift worth developing (2) recognizing the child's limitations as well as his potential and (3) instilling respect and honor for the parents. The parent's responsibilities to the school includes (1) supporting the school and teachers giving the child the feeling that the parent believes in the teacher (2) getting the child to school on time with plenty of sleep and a good breakfast, and (3) making an atmosphere at home where the child has an opportunity to experience the best parts of the wholesome side of living.

The Spearman P-TA did an excellent job in hosting the conference for the first time. A lot of hard work and planning went into the meeting which, by the way, was also a big undertaking for a small group.

DISTRICT 4-H CONTEST

The District 4-H Elimination Contest for 1964 will be held on the West Texas State University campus, Saturday, April 25, 1964. There will be a general assembly for all contestants and leaders promptly at 9:30 a. m. in the auditorium of the Administration Building.

There will be 17 4-H teams or individuals from Hansford County participating at this district contest. Six of these will be senior while 11 will be junior. Only senior winners will be eligible to go to the state 4-H roundup at College Station in June.

Hansford County will have teams entered in the following contests: Forestry, Farm and Ranch Management, Civil Defense, Clothing, Educational Activity, Safety, Electric, Public Speaking, Share-the-fun, Foods and Nutrition, Vegetable preparation and use, Favorite Foods. It is estimated approximately 55 4-H members, parents, leaders and agents from Hansford County will attend this contest Saturday. The results will be given next week.

COTTON

Cotton farmers will be wanting to plant cotton soon but the soil temperature should be an average of 60 degrees for 10 days before you plant. This temperature will give the plant a good start.

USE OF HERBICIDES

Pre-emergence herbicides have consistently reduced hoeing and can be profitably used on fields where hoeing costs usually exceed $3.00 per acre. Several chemicals are available which have proved to provide effective weed control. This is based on research by Dr. Allen Wiese, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Agronomist located at the USDA Field Station, Bushland, Texas.

Pre-emergence herbicides must be applied immediately after planting, before a rain, because germinating seedlings are killed after absorbing the chemical through roots or stems. If herbicides are applied after a rain, emerging weeds will grow normally, not contacting herbicides on the soil surface. When rainfall does not leach herbicides into the soil within 2 weeks after application, effectiveness may be partially destroyed by exposure to sun and other weather elements. Weather records indicate 1/2-inch of rain will occur in 2 weeks to activate pre-emergence herbicides 2 years out of 3.

In order to minimize cost, pre-emergence herbicides should be applied to 10-inch bands over the cotton rows. On 40-inch rows this treatment requires 1/2 as much herbicide as a broadcast application. Effectiveness of pre-emergence herbicides can be greatly increased by sprinkler irrigation immediately after application. Soil incorporation with mechanical devices improves the effectiveness of certain herbicides.

It is extremely important to obtain a cotton stand after application of pre-emergence herbicides. Consequently, the best planting techniques and equipment available should be utilized. Research at the South Plains Research and Extension Center at Lubbock shows that planting flat or with a plateau profile planter will result in a better cotton emergence than other methods of planting. Most consistent cotton stands are obtained if planting is delayed until average maximum soil temperature at 8-inches is 60 degrees for 10 days prior to planting. If rain crusts soil, rotary hoe lightly to aid cotton emergence. After cotton emergence, proceed with normal cultural operations or applications of post-emergence oils or herbicides.

If suitable stand is not obtained, replanting may be done in the middles or in the same row. Weed control obtained with pre-emergence treatment can be maintained if replanting is done in the same row with knife or double disk openers. If cotton fails after pre-emergence treatment with herbicides other than Herban, do not replant to sorghum. Wheat can be planted in the fall.

Application rates of pre-emergence may vary with coarse (loamy sands) medium (sandy loam and silt loams), and fine (silty clay loam) textured soils. Suggested retail price for 10-inch band applications of pre-emergence herbicides varies from about $0.75 to $6.00 per acre, depending on soil type and herbicide used.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kirk recently attended a Equity meeting at Enid.

Population Increase Makes Water Vital

We Americans now use more than 300 billion gallons of water each day--about one-third of the average daily streamflow in the United States, exclusive of Alaska and Hawaii. Our water requirements are expected to double by 1980, to triple by the year 2000.

As population increases and industrial demands grow, water problems--which exist in some form in every part of the United States--are becoming more acute. And the challenges posed by these problems must be met.

The problem we face in the United States is to make the best possible use of the "manageable" water supply available to us. If the total quantity of rain and snow that falls on the United States in an average year were spread evenly over the country, it would stand 30 inches deep. But of that 30 inches, 20 inches return to the atmosphere. Our "manageable" supply consists of the 9 inches that drains from the land or seeps into the ground.

From this supply, we now withdraw about 3 inches of water--of which, after use, one inch returns to the atmosphere and 2 inches return to the stream network. Of that 3 inches we use from the supply available, we obtain about 80 percent from lakes and streams and the other 20 percent from wells. Clearly, if we are to provide for the needs of the future, we must find ways to increase our ability to take larger amounts from the 9-inch total potentially available.

Obviously, national averages such as cited above are misleading. As we of the Texas Panhandle know only too well, some areas of the country receive more precipitation than others. The problems, thus, differ from one area to another. In one part of the United States, the main problem may be supply. In another, distribution of an abundant available supply may be the difficulty crying for a solution. Other major problems are variability in the amount of the supply, chemical and sediment control, pollution control, and floods.

In some areas, particularly in the Western United States, a combination of these problems heightens the challenge.

In some areas, as most Westerners would quickly recognize, the total problem could consist of these factors: short supply, variability in the supply, distribution of the water available and control of chemical and sediment deposits.

To meet the demands of the future, Federal, State, and private water resource development programs concentrate on five specific kinds of activity; regulating streamflow through the construction of surface reservoirs and through watershed management; more adequate pollution abatement programs; making better use of underground storage; eliminating wasteful practices to make more efficient use of the supply; increasing the natural water yield by desalting, weather modification, and other artificial means.

Increasing demands placed upon our limited water supplies have brought about conflicts in planning between the Federal and State agencies involved in water development activities and a competition for funds.

The primary need at the present time is for some better means of orderly planning, coordinated effort, and a sensible division of responsibilities. The development of a water program for Texas, which is shifting from a dominantly rural economy to a dominantly urban and industrial economy, involves water for humans, cities, industry, agriculture, the control of floods, generation of hydro-electric power, providing for navigation needs, providing water-oriented recreation opportunities.

In the planning of proper development of such a program, and in carrying it out, coordination and cooperation are absolutely essential between the Federal, State, local and private agencies and groups concerned with finding proper solutions.

Conflict over water resource development is a luxury the United States cannot afford.

Buick has a great transmission.

An automobile transmission, we grant you, isn't the most soul-stirring subject on earth. Nothing to look at either.

But if you'd like for your next new car to give you a better break on performance and gasoline mileage, something happened last week to be your guide.

The Los Angeles to New York Mobil Economy Run proved one thing for sure. There's quite a difference in the transmissions of new cars.

Three out of four for Buick

The long-time champion in the transmission league—Buick—walked off with the 1964 economy pennant. No other single make of car won as many events as Buick. Four entries, three winners.

The winning Special carried the new Super Turbine 300 automatic transmission; the LeSabre was equipped with the Super Turbine 400 (both optional at extra cost). They're the latest in a long line of Buick transmissions well known for their smoothness and absence of "shift feel". The Super Turbine is a refined and improved torque converter type to help you safely pass cars and trucks as well as gas stations.

You'll hear a lot about it in the next couple of years as this modern kind of transmission is adopted by more and more car builders.

What about engines?

Of course, an efficient transmission gets more efficient when teamed up with a lean, agile engine. The winning Buick power plants were our new V-6 and V-8. The 300 cubic inch V-8 in the winning Buick Special (the lowest priced of all Buicks) and the Buick LeSabre (the lowest priced big Buick) is like a well-conditioned fighter. All muscle, no fat. Weighs in at far less than other V-8's of similar punch. It took every other V-8 in the Economy Run.

Your type of driving—regular gas The Run was through cities and towns, across super highways, in traffic, out of traffic. This was not race track driving or proving ground driving. This was your kind of driving—even though you can't expect to get as good mileage as these expert drivers in their finely tuned production cars. The distance was 3,243 miles, about what most families log in four months. All three Buicks used regular gas. So the Economy Run is not just a cross country tour for the Mobil people and a few car buffs. It's a reliable test of a car's power team and what it's able to squeeze out of its fuel.

We don't expect everybody to rush out this week-end to buy a new Buick just because we won a few economy trophies. There are so many other good reasons for leaning to Buick that economy usually gets second billing. There's styling, naturally. An unusually great ride. Extraordinary engineering and workmanship. And very young performance. Small wonder Buick sales are running at 11.5% over last year.

But it's nice to get economy as a plus in a Buick. Beyond the dollars saved on gasoline, there's a certain pride in knowing you have a car that's built to get the most out of every tank of gasoline.

Dishes love automatic electric dishwashing, too...

They get cleaner and there's less breakage

Doing dishes the old fashioned way by hand is hard on dishes—and homemakers. And, since automatic electric dishwashing costs only pennies a day, there's no reason to deny yourself this modern convenience. Using water too hot for hands, an electric dishwasher actually gets dishes cleaner, then dries them sparkling bright. Tests show there's less breakage with automatic washing than with handwashing. And, of course, less kitchen drudgery. See your dealer soon about an automatic electric dishwasher, built-in or portable.

ALL THE FAMILY LOVES AN AUTOMATIC ELECTRIC DISHWASHER — SO DO DISHES!

Hi-Level chair cars, featuring every seat at dome height, go into daily service on the San Francisco Chief in May, the Santa Fe Railway has announced. Extremely popular on the road's El Capitan since 1956, Hi-Level cars stand 15 feet above the rails, with passengers at a vantage point more than 4 feet higher than standard cars. They feature 72 reclining, stretch-out seats, large picture windows, and a quiet, smooth ride. Lower levels are used for baggage storage and lounge facilities, with a central stairway providing access to the passenger level. The service improvement was made possible by an $8 million investment in new passenger equipment.

Couple Improving From Serious Wreck Injuries

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Sparks of Spearman are improving in Guymon Memorial Hospital from injuries received in a one-car accident one and one-half miles east of Texhoma, Okla.

Relatives said Wednesday the couple are improving, but no one is allowed in to see them. Relatives who stayed at the hospital Tuesday night said the couple had a "good night and are improving."

The Sparks were in the car with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Slaughter when it went out of control on a sharp turn and turned over.

Mr. and Mrs. Slaughter were killed instantly in the accident.

W. E. Sparks received a ruptured intestine, bruised kidney and multiple bruises. Mrs. Sparks received broken limbs, and one foot was almost severed at the ankle.

Relatives report that doctors have been able to save the foot and Mrs. Sparks is able to move the toes on the foot.

Card of Thanks

The family of Edith B. Des-saint wishes to express their appreciation and gratitude to all who in any way were associated with her. Their thoughtfulness, understanding and kind deeds helped to make her residency in Spearman the happiest years of her life.

Also, we wish to express our appreciation for the many expressions of sympathy and love as was revealed in the many cards, flowers, memorials and the preparation and serving of the food.

MRS. NOLLNER HOME
FROM ROCHESTER

Mrs. Bobby Nollner returned Monday from Rochester, Minn., where she has been with her father, Marvin Chambers, who underwent surgery at Mayo's Clinic.

Mrs. Nollner said the surgeons had removed her father's other leg and he was showing some improvement.

Mrs. Chambers is in Rochester with her husband.
