A QUICK READ OF THE NEWS

Wanted for stealing gnomes

Police in Huntsville, Ontario, didn't experience a repeat of last year, but they were on guard in case the gnome thieves had struck again.

Authorities in the town about 100 kilometers north of Barrie warned residents to lock up their garden gnomes over the Labor Day weekend.

Over the same holiday weekend in 1999, more than 100 of the diminutive lawn ornaments were found around the hydro plant of the town.

The garden goblins were stolen over the summer last year before turning up at the plant—probably as an end-of-summer joke, police said.

"It was a prank," Constable John Meaker said of last year's caper, where the gnomes were stationed all throughout the plant. "They sat them in hydro trucks to look like they were driving."

No suspects were found.

Although this year's thefts were dwarfed by those of last year, police did receive reports that two garden gnomes were stolen from residential properties in nearby Muskoka, sparking fears of copycat culprits.

Deer kills Samaritan

A 75-year-old Mapleton, Kan., woman was killed by a deer she raised from infancy.

Margaret Hershberger was killed by her 200-pound, six-point buck, Mojo, at her home.

Her husband, Richard, found his wife's body and locked the white-tailed deer in a nearby pen before calling Bourbon County Sheriff Harold Coleman.

"People have to understand that deer are wild animals," said Coleman, who killed the 8-year-old buck. "They get freaky. This is a horrible example of what can happen when you try to tame a wild animal."

Chamber asks to have itinerant vendors licensed

JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

The Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce is asking the city to come up with some type of licensing for itinerant vendors who bring their merchandise to town to sell.

Pam McCaul, chamber manager, said Friday that the chamber's concern is not about people who live here.

"The main thing about the chamber's position is that we don't want this to be unfair to anybody who lives here," McCaul said.

"It's mainly for outside vendors, in case they sell somebody something and there's a problem, we have somewhere to go to hold them accountable," she added.

She said it would be up to the city to decide whether groups such as the Girl Scouts would be required to get a permit, which could be free of charge, or just exempted entirely.

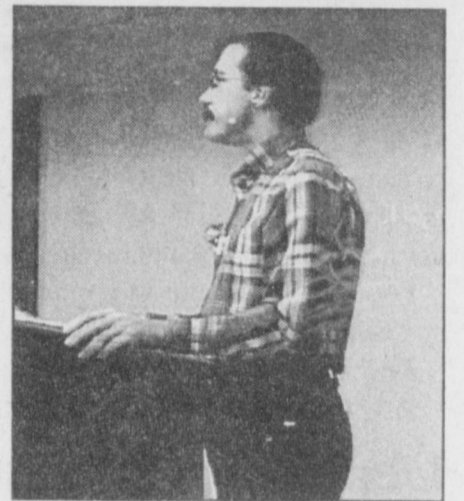

Chuck Smith echoed those sentiments when he approached the city council about the idea Sept. 19.

He said the proposal could even help the vendors in that some people might be more likely to buy if the vendor can show that there is compliance with some local process.

Kim Shafer pointed out that the vendors who pass through town do not pay local taxes and are responsible to no one, plus citizens have no recourse if there is a problem.

Robert Shafer said he respects the local ice cream vendor and the

Muleshoe blanks Tulia Hornets in lopsided 32-0 tilt

By KEVIN WILSON
Writer

If a 3-0 Muleshoe team wasn't enough indication to the Tulia Hornets that Friday wouldn't be their night, they only needed Darrell Lewis to remind them.

Lewis intercepted the first pass from Tulia's Tate Criswell and returned it 25 yards for a score, starting a 32-0 blowout for the Muleshoe Mules.

"Anytime on your first drive (that) you get started like that," Tulia head coach Eric Wilson said, "the ball is going to roll downhill from there."

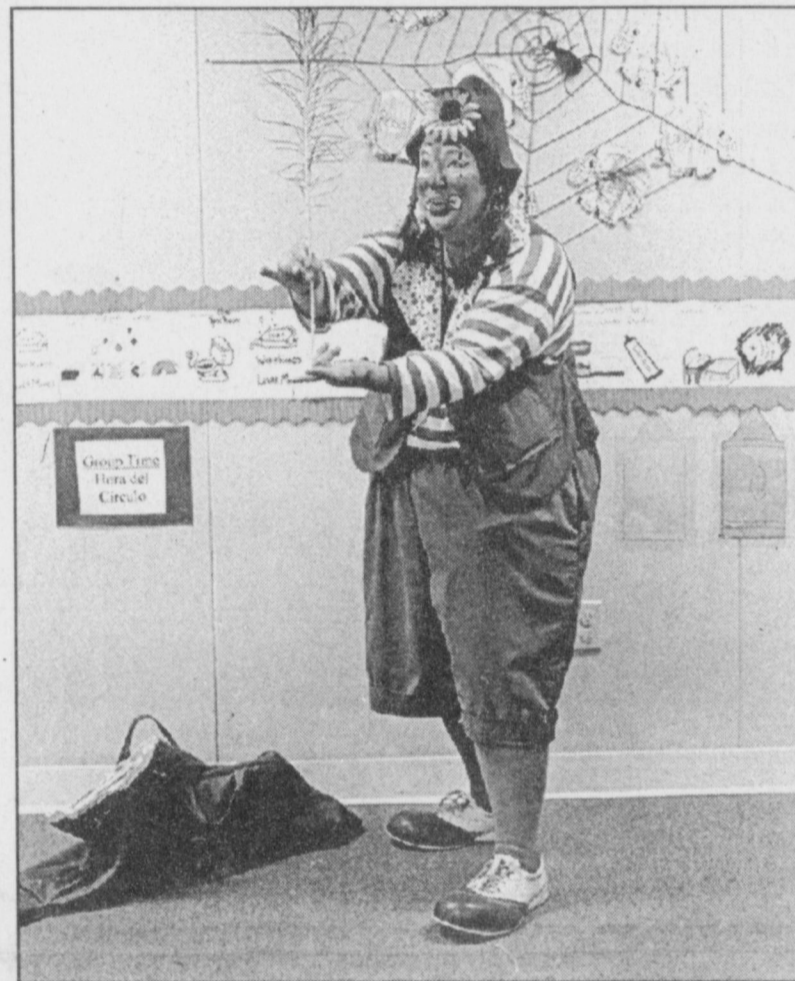

The Hornets, now 1-3 on the season, didn't have much luck after the opening coin toss went their way.

After Lewis scored, the Mules ran the two-point conversion with T-Bird Cox. Without even a drive to show for it, the Mules were up 8-0.

Tulia couldn't move on the Mule defense for much of the first quarter.

With 2:46 left in the first, Jeff Shelburne caught an 11-yard touchdown pass from Lincoln Riley. Another two-point conversion by

Bike-a-thon for St. Jude's planned

JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

Becky McDaniel of Muleshoe will serve as coordinator of an Oct. 7 bike-a-thon to benefit St. Jude Children's Hospital of Memphis, Tenn.

The event is scheduled for 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. in front of the high school cafeteria.

The public can help raise funds by participating in or attending the fund-raiser. Donations are welcome, and the money raised will go to help St. Jude fight catastrophic childhood diseases.

"Our goal in holding this event is to help the children of the world who are stricken with diseases like cancer, AIDS and sickle-cell anemia," McDaniel said.

"St. Jude Children's Research Hospital is a world leader in the fight against these diseases, and they have made great progress, but only because of the help of people like the citizens of Muleshoe," she added.

St. Jude was founded by the late entertainer Danny Thomas. The hospital is an international

Field's next court appearance set

JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

The next court appearance for Muleshoe CPA Terry Field has been scheduled for the Oct. 11 docket call in 287th District Court.

Field was indicted by a grand jury Sept. 6 on two counts of misapplication of fiduciary property and one count of falsifying a government document. He waived arraignment on the charges.

Specifically, the charges against Field stem from allegations that he:

- Failed to forward $2,681.50 in insurance premiums to Charter County Insurance Co. and converted the money to his own use;
- Failed to forward $3,980 in insurance premiums to Heartland Lloyds Insurance Co. and also converted that money to his own use; and
- Made a proof-of-insurance card "with knowledge of its falsity" and with the intent to defraud a client.

All the allegations involve different clients.

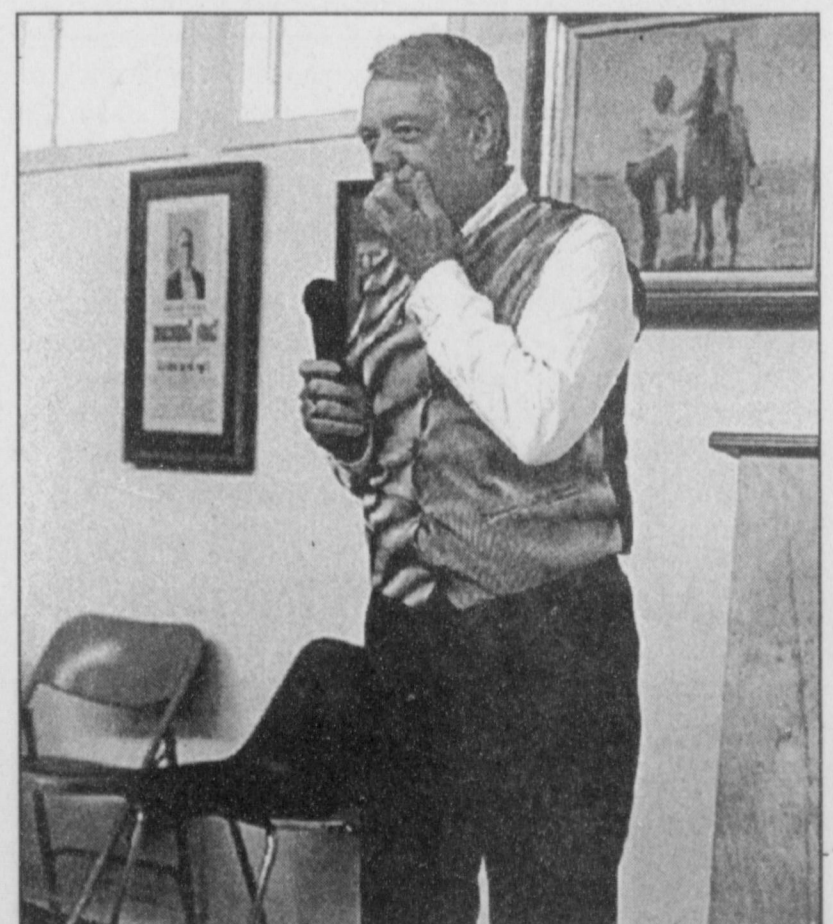

Field was arrested July 11 after a five-month investigation by the Texas Rangers and the Muleshoe Police Department.

The investigation began after one of Field's clients was involved in an accident and had proof of insurance, but the insurance company had no record of it.

Others indicted by the grand jury in September, and the charges against them, are:

- Earthman Kirven — subsequent DWI, Aug. 4. Prior convictions were misdemeanor DWIs in Lamb County in August 1994 and in Clovis Municipal Court on April 17;
- John Max Moore — subsequent DWI, Aug. 1. Prior convictions are a felony on May 14, 1996, in Lubbock County District Court and a misdemeanor on Aug. 15, 1990;
- Michael Ray Baca — subsequent DWI, Aug. 26. Prior convictions are a felonies on Sept. 11, 1995, and on April 26, 1994, both in Bailey County District Court;
- Ricky Dean Zogg — forgery involving a $450 check; and
- David Shawn Sant — aggravated assault with a vehicle.

AROUND MULESHOE

Ronek is new fire chief

Richard Ronek has been appointed chief of the Muleshoe Fire Department, according to City Manager Rick Hanna.

Ronek replaces Donald Harrison, who resigned Sept. 15.

The new chief is well-known among the ranks of local firefighters, having served as deputy chief for a considerable time.

PTA schedules fall festival

The Muleshoe PTA has scheduled its annual fall festival for 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Oct. 28 at the Bailey County Coliseum.

The usual good food and prizes will be featured.

Sophomores plan pre-game dinner

The sophomore class of Muleshoe High School will sponsor a pre-game meal from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. Oct. 6 before the Mules' homecoming football game against Seminole.

Food will be served in the high school cafeteria. Deliveries will be available by calling 272-7305.

The menu will include spaghetti, bread, salad and brownies.

Advance tickets will be $4 for adults and $3.50 for children

Depression screenings available

Anyone who has ever experienced feelings of hopelessness, guilt or worthlessness should realize that those feelings may be more than just the blues, and that they are not alone.

National Depression Screening Day is Oct. 5 — part of Mental Health Awareness Week — and Covenant Health Systems will be offering free screenings in Lubbock.

The service will be available from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. at Covenant Plaza, 22nd Street and Nashville Avenue, on the first floor of the partial hospitalization area. No appointment is required for a screening, and referrals will be made as necessary. These screenings will be anonymous, and will include a test and an interview regarding the test results.

Signs of depression include persistent sad, anxious or empty moods; feelings of hopelessness or pessimism; feelings of guilt, worthlessness or helplessness; decreased energy or a feeling of fatigue; loss of interest in ordinary activities; inability to sleep (or oversleeping); restlessness, irritability.

ages 12 and under. Tickets at the door will be $5 and $3.50.

Tickets are available from any sophomore or from class sponsors — Kimberley Beard, Lola Pylant, Hellen Adrian or Phil Phyllaier.

Christmas Bazaar booths available

Applications are being accepted for booth space at the 22nd annual Christmas Bazaar sponsored by the Moonlight Extension Education Club.

The applications will be accepted until Dec. 4. Requests may be sent to Linda Huckaby, 902 W. Eighth St., Muleshoe 79347.

This year's bazaar will be a one-day event, scheduled for Dec. 9 at the Bailey County Coliseum.

Watson band selling magazines

The Watson Junior High School band is selling magazine subscriptions and other items to raise money for its various activities of the year.

The magazines, as well as various CDs, cassettes and books, are being sold at competitive prices with 40 percent of the proceeds going to the band.

Sales continue through Oct. 3.

More information is available from any band member or from Becky Jones at 272-7312 regarding new or renewal magazine subscriptions or any of the music and books offered.

Cox made it a 16-0 score.

The second quarter didn't change see any change in Tulia's fortunes. With three minutes gone in the second, Ramirez scored on a 21-yard run. Cox's third two-point conversion made it 24-0.

Tulia had a chance to chip away at the lead with less than a minute left in the half and the ball on its own 48. However, Criswell's final pass of the first half was intercepted by Riley in the end zone. Criswell finished the first half with three completions for 38 yards, but two interceptions as well.

The third quarter provided few highlights, as neither team could get beyond the 50-yard line.

Tulia started the fourth with the ball, but a sack ended any chance of a drive.

After the teams traded off unsuccessful drives, the Mules took time off the clock. A 10-play, 66-yard drive ended with a 25-yard touchdown run by quarterback Travis Tunnell.

The two-point conversion was again successful, but Cox threw the ball this time. He found Joey Tucker in the back of the end zone to end the scoring at 32-0.

"It's something we practice every week," Mule head coach David Wood said. "We want other teams to know that we'll run it."

Wilson said he also was impressed with the way Muleshoe went for the two-point conversion, despite having a solid kicking game with D.J. Dominguez.

"If they feel like they have an advantage, they're going to run it," Wilson said. "Special teams are a huge key, and you can tell they work on it."

It's also obvious the Mules have worked on defense. They held Robert Finch to 20 yards on six carries. As a team, Tulia got only 65 yards on the ground.

The passing game was defended just as well, with Tulia getting only 57 yards.

In addition to stellar defense, Tulia had to face nearly 400 yards of total offense from Muleshoe. Ramirez led the rushing attack with 119 yards on 18 carries. Tunnell had 49 yards and Riley had 59 from the quarterback position.

Ramirez led in the receiving department as well, catching two balls for 44 yards. Riley completed six of 17 passes for 101 yards on the evening.

Tulia returns to action Thursday when it hosts Dimmitt in a non-district game.

Muleshoe also has a non-district game, its homecoming matchup against Seminole. Muleshoe has never beaten Seminole, and Wood wants his team to be ready for the challenge.

"We've got to stay focused," Wood said. "(Homecoming) is a fun week, but the bottom line is we've got a game Friday night that we have to be ready for."

local produce salesman — "they're our neighbors and friends."

Councilman Juan Chavez said that many people selling goods over the Internet are not paying sales taxes, either, and he does not want to see the chamber's proposal used as "a way to get the little guy." He suggested that Bailey County residents be exempt from any fees that might be involved.

Mayor Victor Leal pointed out that sales taxes are not going to come back to Muleshoe anyway if the vendors are from some other town, but he said he agrees "there should be some accountability."

"I think it can be addressed where the people we're concerned about don't get run over," Leal added.

City Attorney Terry Langenegger said everything that the speakers requested is subject to city regulation, and it would be "up to the council how far they want to go."

Just a story of a girl and her horse. . . . Disabled women needed for study

Pam and Joe had a long-term relationship.

She was a backyard horse person with a demanding day job, and he was a sorrel gelding that heard her innermost thoughts.

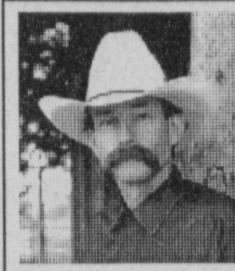

She had returned from the doctor's office, still woozy with sedative. She and her husband walked out into the sunset backyard to enjoy their Colorado Front Range mountain view.

They immediately noticed ol' Joe at the far backside of the big pasture. Things did not look right.

"Go check him, hon," Pam asked Hubby, a little worried about her sorrel friend. Hubby soon printed back shouting, "Get the wire cutters and call the vet!"

Pam frantically called the vet. The numbers and buttons were weaving kaleidoscopically in her still foggy conscience.

"You've got to come, Dr. Jim! It's Joe! He's been hung in the wire . . . bleeding . . . don't know . . . please hurry!"

BAXTER BLACK

ON THE EDGE OF COMMON SENSE

Hubby extricated Joe and led him down to the lot. She held the flashlight for Doc when he arrived. It turned out the wound was not serious. Doc bandaged him and administered antibiotics.

"He's acting funny," Pam kept saying. "He's antsy and he's got white circles around his eyes."

They led Joe into the barn and stalled him. He snorted and circled.

"Look at his feet!" she exclaimed. "He's pulled his shoes off in the wire!" She ran in the house and called her farrier.

"Can't it wait until morning?" he asked.

At the dawn shoeing, Joe had settled down somewhat, but he fought the shoer and hadn't eaten any of the apples Pam had left for him.

Over the next three days, they got the pasture fence repaired and changed Joe's bandage, but Pam continued to worry that he was not his old self yet.

Thursday night, Pam answered a knock on her door. It was a large man who introduced himself as their back-pasture neighbor.

"I'm missin' a horse," he said. "Have ya seen one?"

"Only mine," Pam said. "He's down in the barn recuperating."

"Could I have a look?" the neighbor asked.

Pam bristled. "You think I don't know my own horse!" she said. "I've had him over 10 years, he eats apples out of my hand, he's part of the family!"

"Does he have a brand?" asked the neighbor.

"Of course not! I'd never do that! Come look for yourself," she said with indignant assurance.

An hour later, as she watched the neighbor drive off with trailer in tow, hauling his bandaged, vetted, newly shod (for the first time, she had learned) sorrel mare, many unanswered questions became clear.

Particularly the horse at the far side of the pasture, on the backside of the fence, that had been whinnying plaintively ever since "Joe" had been injured.

Pam is still trying to spread the blame around to Hubby, to Doc, and to the horse shoer, but she knows the truth . . . and so does Joe.

Christians Stand by Mercy, Not by Merit

In a society where so many folks are more than willing to fall for anything, standing for something can be difficult—but it's an easy way to be misunderstood. I hope most folks won't misunderstand what I wrote in a recent column. As you read this one, I just wrote that one—it's still sitting on my desk—so I don't know if it was/will be misunderstood or not. I hope it's written pass-barely begun to reach for it? I genuinely want to point toward righteous living without any hint of self-righteousness.

I want to hold up the very best and highest God offers without falling to sinful pride, the very root of that which is lowest in us all.

—To enlarge on the example I mentioned earlier, I'm not at all ashamed of talking about love and quoting the words of the author who wrote that a man who sleeps with a woman he does not truly love "is a weakling incapable of mastering his own urges" and that "illicit lovers" often "loathe each other after their lust" is spent. Those things are true, and our society needs to hear more of that sort of truth and not less. But if I ever imply that, with regard to this or any other sin, I've never been tempted and would not fall, well, that's going way too far.

Our sad and poverty-stricken though wealthy society needs to hear such truth from the lips of people who, loving God, genuinely love people, and who know that, if they are to stand themselves it will not be by themselves but completely by God's mercy, that they need his grace every bit as much as the wretch they are tempted to label as the lowest of the low, and that, as far as our own merit is concerned, the best of us stands shoulder to shoulder with the worst and in deep need of God's grace.

How do I communicate God's truth, which does not bend or change, in a loving way that points to the God who is always willing to extend his mercy toward anyone who truly wants it?

ably well enough that it might not be, but I suppose I'll find out.

I was writing about the difference between genuine love and mere lust, about the difference between that which lasts and endures for years and overcomes all sorts of hardships, and that which outlasts not even the night and which invariably causes more problems than it overcomes. Our society pays a heavy price for that sort of pseudo-love, and we need to spend some serious time talking about the real thing since so few of the loudest people in our society are acquainted with it.

But I face some challenges just about every time I step into the pulpit or pick up a pen. How do you point out that which is God's highest and best will for his people without implying that you've in any way (and certainly not by your own power) done more than

LOCATED 3 MILES EAST OF FARWELL ON US 84

We would like to give you a first hand opportunity to see the changes and expansion of the gin plant.

We cordially invite you to our SECOND ANNUAL OPEN HOUSE

Tues., October 3
9:00 am to 1:00 pm
Coffee, Donuts and Soft Drinks will be served.

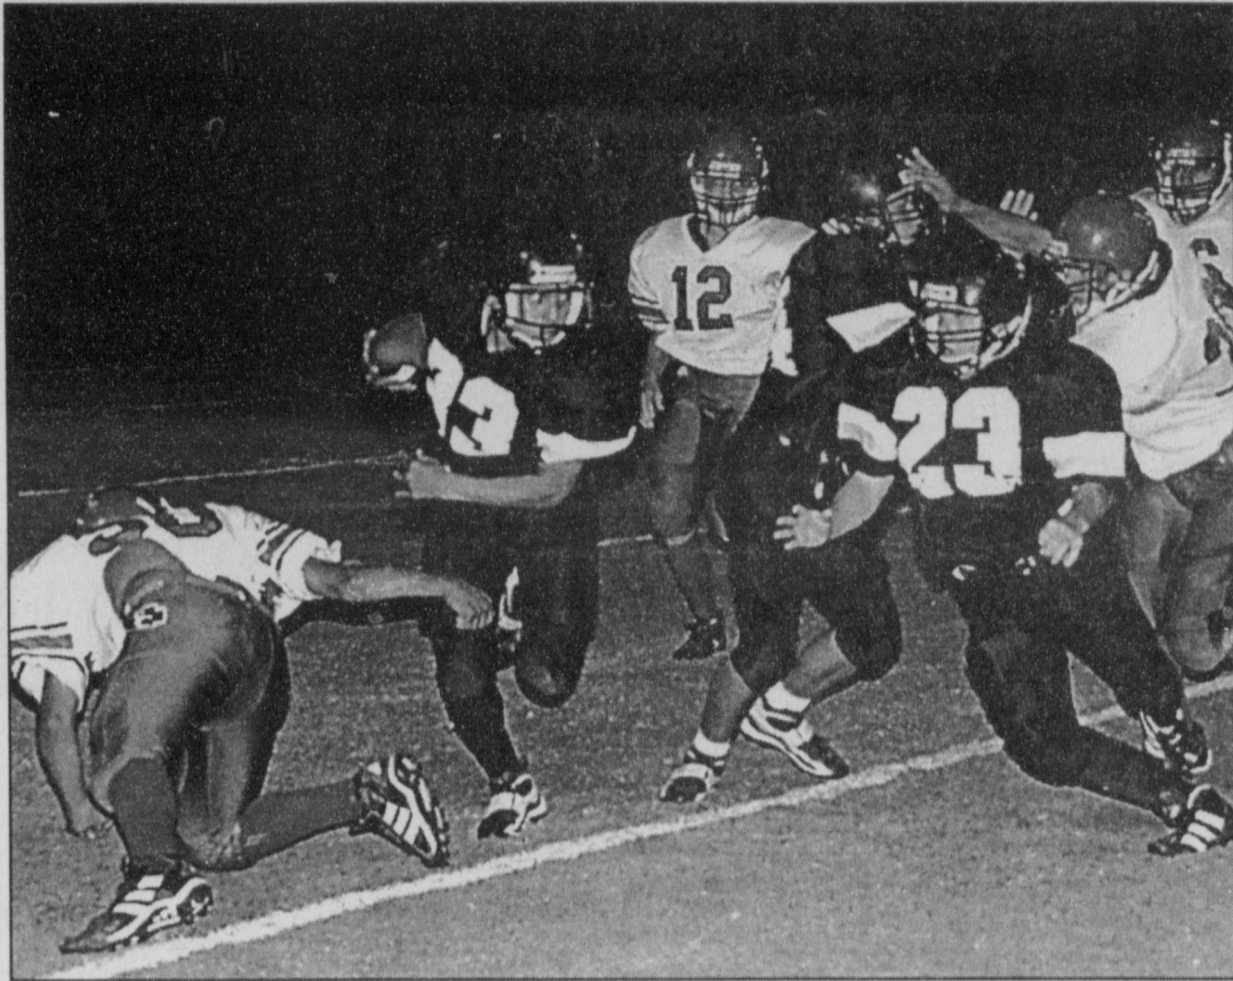

- INCREASED OVERHEAD CLEANING TO 2-13 FOOT CLEANING SYSTEMS. • ADDED 2 MORE "170 GIN STANDS" FOR A TOTAL OF 4
Results: "double capacity of last season, shorter time to get cotton ginned"
- THE LATEST MOISTURE RESTORATION SYSTEM developed at Parmer Co. Cotton Growers. Results: adds moisture weight to the bale. Example: 4% weight increase=20 pounds
- "PROCESS WATCH" allows us to test these fiber qualities. Color, Trash and Micronaire as the cotton is being ginned. Results: maximizes your return on cotton.

• MODULE TARPS AND MARKING PAINT FURNISHED. Results: dryer cotton, less exposure due to weather approved non-contaminating paint.

• COOPERATIVE GIN. Results: All margins, both LOCAL and REGIONAL (on cotton seed, marketing, compress) are returned to participating patrons based on their participation.

You can too!
WE LOOK FORWARD TO SEEING YOU OCT. 3

Flores, Cowart team up

Junior varsity Mule A.J. Flores (No. 33) makes a good gain against Friona with coverage from teammate Joel Cowart (No. 23). The Mules won the Sept. 21 contest 29-14, with Flores amassing 327 yards and four touchdowns and Cowart being the leading tackler with five solos and three assists.

Freshman Mules extend record 3-0 on season

JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

The freshman Mules extended their record to 3-0 with a Sept. 21 victory over the Friona freshmen.

With the 22-14 home win, the freshmen have outscored their opponents by 80-28.

They were scheduled to play at Tulia on Sept. 28.

Against Friona, Brian King led the scoring with two touchdowns and a pair of two-point conversions.

Friona scored first, recovering a second-quarter fumble in the end zone, but the extra-point try failed.

Before the end of the quarter, King had scored on a 63-yard scamper. The extra points left Muleshoe ahead at halftime, 8-6.

In the third quarter, King repeated his performance with a 40-yard run to put the Mules in front 16-6.

The fourth quarter saw Friona score a safety after the ball was snapped over the punter's head.

Daniel Campolla then came back for Muleshoe to score on a 40-yard interception return. That put the score at 22-8.

The Mules were unable to make the extra points that time.

Friona rounded out the scoring with another touchdown.

Muleshoe 36, Slaton 6

The freshmen swamped Slaton on Sept. 14, with Brian King contributing two touchdowns in that game also.

after a first-quarter touchdown (42 yards) by King, with two-point conversion by Layne Sheets, and an eight-yard second-quarter touchdown by Fernando Toscano.

In the second half, the Mules pushed the score to 22-0 (20-yard touchdown by Joseph Gonzales and two-point conversion by Toscano) before Slaton managed to get on the board.

The fourth quarter was all Mules, with King scoring again on a 25-yard run, Ryan Marricle adding two, and Josue Sigala scoring on another 25-yard run. King was the game's leading

OBITUARY

MAE CALVERT

Graveside services were held Saturday at Muleshoe Memorial Park for Mae Calvert, 96, of Farwell. Curtis Shelburne officiated.

Ellis Funeral Home handled arrangements.

Mrs. Calvert was born Feb. 1904, in Arkansas. She died Sept. 29 in the Farwell Convalescent Center.

She married Delmer Leon Calvert in Matador, Texas, in 1924. He died April 30, 1990.

She was a homemaker and a member of the United Methodist Church. She lived in Muleshoe from 1968 until eight years ago, when she moved to Farwell.

She is survived by a daughter-in-law, Neva Calvert of Muleshoe; a sister, Mildred Rubish of Lancaster, Calif.; three grandchildren, Judy Davenport of Muleshoe and Larry Calvert and Scott Calvert, both of Lubbock; and two great-grandchildren, Damon Davenport and Misty Davenport, both of Muleshoe.

She also was preceded in death by a son, Johnie Calvert, on Feb. 3, 1997; a sister, Ruby Burns, and a brother, Paul Haymes.

The family suggests memorials to 16th and D Church of Christ (P.O. Box 402, Muleshoe).

Dillman honors students

Repeat champion

Sid Felán is the Muleshoe Country Club's club champion for 2000 — a repeat of the title he won in 1999. The deciding tournament is held each year for members of the country club, and the winner's name is engraved on a plaque displayed in the pro shop.

REUNION

The family of the late Verge and Ruby Lane gathered Sept. 2-3 at Wagon, Wheel Ranch in Snyder for the Lane Millennium Reunion.

Local people attending were Jack and Anna B. Lane of Maple and Michelle Standard, Creston and Tiffany, of Stegall.

Guests arrived Friday night through Sunday. Activities included visiting, eating, swimming and games.

A creative craft auction was held Sunday after pictures were taken with everyone wearing their reunion T-shirts.

Attending from Lubbock were Lonzo and Ardyce Pierce, Pat and JoAnn Stephenson and Kymie, Dennis and Nancy Reeves and Kelsee, Keith and Alisha Stephenson, Payton, Brooke and Ashlynn, Jimmy and Linda Lane and Victoria, Charley and Lana Timmons, Michael and Brenda Busbea and Cristiana and Jonathan Bennett.

Also attending were Cynthia Bennett of Levelland; Melissa Hartley of Roy, N.M.; Joe Ann Lane, Link and Jamie Lane, Ashleigh, Bobbie and Josh; Shawn and Tonya Batchelor, Kristen and Brandon; Brenda Timmons and Leah of Uvalde; Tammy Fischer, Matthew, Libby and David of Littlefield; David and Betty Terrell of Royce City, Texas; Amy Green and Jeff Odom of Levelland; Phil Puckett of Garland; and Boone Wagner of Amarillo.

Treatments help soothe arthritic knees

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

HOUSTON — Arthritic knees are a constant concern for million of Americans, causing discomfort or, in many cases, limiting movement.

According to Dr. John Cianca, an assistant professor of physical medicine and rehabilitation at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, several lubrication solutions are now available and have been successfully used to treat osteoarthritis, or arthritis of the knee.

"The normal joint is surrounded by a fluid that acts as a lubricant and shock absorber," Cianca said. "Manufactured forms of this substance can be injected into the knee as a substitute. They don't cure osteoarthritis, but they have been shown to reduce pain in the knee." Currently, two treatments are available — Synvisc and Hylagan.

Osteoarthritis is a chronic, progressive disease of the joint that involves the breakdown of cartilage. As the smooth cartilage becomes pitted and frayed, it becomes less elastic and is susceptible to overuse and injury. In addition, the fluid surrounding the joint may lose its ability to cushion and lubricate.

In more severe cases, large areas of the cartilage wear away completely and bones scrape against each other. Cartilage breakdown may cause the joint to lose its shape, with the bone thickening and forming spurs.

Pieces of bone or cartilage also may float in the joint, leading to further damage and pain.

When first diagnosed with osteoarthritis, patients might try physical therapy and exercise, weight control if necessary or non-prescription pain relievers.

A second option might be prescription pain relievers and injections into the joint to stop inflammation or to provide pain relief. The final option would be knee replacement or arthroscopic surgery.

The Synvisc treatment consists of three injections, given one week apart over a three-week period. It reportedly has a high success rate, with many patients seeing results in 6 to 8 weeks.

In most cases, side effects are minimal, although some patients experience temporary discomfort and swelling.

Keeping an Eye on Texas

Six-Man Football — A Texas Tradition

For small town high schools with less than 94 students, Friday nights in the Fall mean one thing — Texas Six Man Football. It's fast, exciting and high-scoring. It's played on a smaller field (80 yards long and 40 yards wide), the goal posts are narrower and the game may end at halftime or later after a team leads by 45 points.

El bienestar de Texas

Fútbol americano de seis jugadores — una tradición de Texas

Para las escuelas secundarias con menos de 94 estudiantes que se localizan en ciudades pequeñas, las noches de los viernes durante el otoño significan una sola cosa — Fútbol Americano de Seis Jugadores. Es rápido, emocionante y de marcadores abultados. Se juega en un campo más pequeño (80 yardas de largo y 40 yardas de ancho), el espacio entre los postes para goles de campo es más estrecho y el juego puede terminar en el medio tiempo o más tarde en caso de que uno de los equipos se encuentre arriba por 45 puntos.

Margarita Posadas, Miguel Mata marry

Margarita Posadas and Miguel Mata were married Sept. 2 at Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in Muleshoe. The Rev. Joseph Augustine performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfonso Posadas and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Luis Mata, all of Muleshoe.

The church was decorated with candle-lit bench markers and large spiraled candelabra. Large floral arrangements of white daisies and gladiolus framed each side of the altar. The markers, candelabra, floral arrangements and unity candle were adorned with navy and silver ribbons.

Serving as maid of honor was Maria Santos Almanza of Lubbock. Bridesmaids were Barbara Ramirez of Sierra Blanca, Texas, Sally Guzmán of Muleshoe, Erika Villanueva of Midland and Jody Fierro of Van Horn, Texas.

Serving as flower girls were Miranda Crow, a niece of the groom from Amarillo, Stephanie Mata, a niece of the groom from Weslaco, Texas, and Marissa and Alyssa Guerra, nieces of the bride, from Lubbock.

Serving as ringbearer was Daniel Mata, the groom's nephew from Weslaco.

The groom's father served

Mr. and Mrs. Miguel Mata

as best man. Groomsmen were Victor Acosta of Lamesa, Refugio Gallo of Midland, Dino Galindo of Temecula, Calif., and Joseph Mata, a nephew of the groom from Muleshoe.

Ushers were Joseph Mata, a nephew of the groom, and Moisés García, a nephew of the bride, both from Muleshoe.

Guests were registered by Stacey Mata, the groom's niece.

Lectors for the service were Melissa Mata, a niece of the groom from Muleshoe, and Elvia Ariola of Fort Worth.

Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. José Almanza of Muleshoe, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Mata (the groom's brother and sister-in-law) of San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Luis Mata (another brother and sister-in-law of the groom) of Muleshoe and Mr. and Mrs. Rosendo Morales (the bride's sister and brother-in-law) of Houston.

The bride's gown was an A-line design with detailing on the scoop neckline, featuring Venice lace and a short, aproned cathedral train.

Her waist-length veil was adorned with a beaded crown, and her bouquet of white daisies, white roses and baby's breath was detailed with white ribbon.

The maid of honor wore a White A-line satin gown.

The groom, best man and groomsmen all wore black tuxedos.

In keeping with tradition, the bride's "something new" was her wedding gown and a single-strand pearl necklace. Something old and something borrowed was a blue sapphire ring from bridesmaid Barbara Ramirez. Something blue was a garter.

The bride and groom are graduates of Muleshoe High School. She obtained a bachelor of science degree from Angelo State University and is a lab technician at Midland Memorial Hospital.

He served four years in the U.S. Marine Corps and is attending Midland College.

After a wedding trip to San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Mexico, the couple will live in Midland.

HERITAGE FOUNDATION

The Muleshoe Heritage Foundation's annual membership meeting was held Sept. 26 at the Muleshoe Depot.

The president, Jim Allison, acted as master of ceremonies. The invocation was given by Dan Throckmorton.

The president asked Magann Rennels, a longtime friend of Tumbleweed Smith and his wife, to introduce the entertainer. She told how for years Smith and his wife, Susan, have brought the one-man show, "Sound of Texas," to audiences all over the United States and several foreign countries.

Smith's program is also broadcast weekly over 40 radio stations. He has traveled all over Texas interviewing unique Texans, and the audience roared with laughter during these presentation.

Allison then welcomed guests and gave a special tribute to the Student-Community Action Club for the support these high school students give to the center.

He then introduced Jean Allison, who has sponsored the student group since its organization in 1983. She spoke briefly about how the club was organized as an outgrowth of a small group of senior students met with townspeople in 1982 to save the Muleshoe depot.

She commended these young people for the many activities they are involved in, as well as serving as honorary members of the Heritage Foundation board.

Jean Allison introduced Chris Mardis, her co-sponsor with the group for the past four years.

Tommie Hernández, president of the club, discussed some of the club's activities, saying that the club honors someone from the community or school each month as citizen of the month.

Club members support the Muleshoe Food Pantry by bringing canned goods to each meeting and collecting from the community during the Christmas celebration at the Heritage Center.

The club members meet to decorate the old-fashioned Christmas tree and the Janes ranch house before the annual open house at the center.

The club assists at the Heritage Foundation's annual Tour de Muleshoe by manning one of the rest stops. Hernández then presented Jim Allison a check for $1,670 for repairs at the center. Most of the money was made at the club's annual bake-auction over Channel 6 on 17 through the courtesy of the owners.

Jim Allison then introduced the center hostess, Peggie Bruton, and commended her for keeping things going at the center as well as conducting tours for visitors.

He noted some of the past year's improvements at the center and reported that the Heritage Foundation recently purchased the property directly in front of the center in order to gain highway frontage.

He praised Vivian White and the other Thrift Shop volunteers, noting how valuable their contribution is because money made from the shop is used for daily expenses at the center.

These volunteers are Ladene Spears, LaNell Stancell, Mary Jo and Harold Burge, Shirley White, Irene Dilts, Olive Cox, Peggy Bates and Joline Franklin.

Chuck Smith reported on anticipated projects such as a shed for some of the old farm equipment donated to the center.

White paid tribute to the businesses and individuals who contributed to the Tour de Muleshoe and presented each a certificate.

Rita Hawkins, chairman of the nomination committee, presented the names of R.D. "Tub" Angeley and Larry Lewis as new board members to replace the resigned Jim Allison and Carolyn Johnson.

They were elected, and Hawkins recommended that Larry Nickels, Jack Hicks and Charles Flowers be re-elected for three-year terms as directors. This motion also passed.

The president offered his appreciation to all who have served in many different ways at the center and thanked guests for attending.

Throckmorton gave the benediction.

After the membership meeting, the foundation board met to elect new officers. Board members thanked Allison for his service as president and then elected Wells Hall as president, Chuck Smith as vice president, Walter Marie Boness as secretary, Kristy Price as treasurer and Jean Allison as publicity chairman.

The board meets on the second Monday night of each month.

Other board members are White, Throckmorton, Hawkins, Rennels, Spears and Sharon Grant and Keith Hawkins.

50th Wedding Anniversary Celebrated

Luis Mata and Aurora Lopez were married in Miliken, Colorado on September 2, 1950.

The Matas celebrated their 50th Anniversary on Saturday, September 2, 2000 at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church with Father Joseph Augustine commemorating the celebration. A reception followed at the Catholic Fellowship Hall. In honor of his parents, son Miguel Mata married Margarita Posadas on this same day. The two couples celebrated their joyous occasions together.

"The Choice 2000"

In October 2000, Frontline opens its 19th season with "The Choice 2000," a two-hour special focusing on election issues.

As Americans prepare for the first presidential election of the 21st century, Frontline offers a dual biography of George W. Bush and Al Gore, the two men who are competing to become the next president. The documentary goes beyond the political rhetoric to explore how the candidates and their values have been shaped by family background, history, victory, and defeat.

At first glance, the similarities between presidential candidates Bush and Gore are striking. Both eldest sons, Bush and Gore both bear the name of their famous fathers — one a war hero and US president, the other a longtime US senator. Both attended Ivy League colleges, served in the military, and reaped the benefits of their fathers' political success. Despite these well-known similarities, striking differences abound between the candidates. These differences, played out against the American story of the last 50 years, form the core of "The Choice 2000."

"The Choice 2000" on Frontline airs Monday, October 2nd at 9:00 p.m. It repeats Tuesday, October 17th at 12:00 midnight.

Building Big

How does a dam withstand the crush of millions of gallons of water? Or a suspension bridge the forces of wind and endless traffic?

The answer lies in the science of monumental engineering — and who better to explain it than David Macaulay, author-illustrator of The Way Things Work. Macaulay hosts Building Big, a five-part miniseries on megastructures: bridges, domes, skyscrapers, dams, and tunnels.

Some of the engineering challenges Macaulay explores are the stone arch bridges of the Roman Empire; Japan's giant all-steel Akashi-Kaikyo suspension bridge—the longest in the world; the 1,476 foot twin Petronas Towers in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia—the tallest structures in the world; and the Aswan High Dam on the Nile—holding back a lake the size of England.

Building Big will be broadcast Tuesdays at 9:00 p.m. beginning October 3rd. The program repeats Saturdays at 11:00 p.m. beginning October 7th on KENW-TV.

Publishing heir ordered to pay $1 million in back child support

AUSTIN — A Mexican publishing official must pay $1 million in delinquent child support, according to a Bexar County judge's order.

José Antonio O'Farrill Avila, a Mexican citizen and heir to a publishing and printing fortune, paid $291,650 immediately to Luisa González, the mother of his daughter, and put another $702,050 in a trust account for monthly dispersals of $6,300.

O'Farrill was indicted and arrested last December at his home near Vail, Colo., on a related criminal non-support charge.

In 1996 a judge ordered him to pay $1 million in delinquent support, but he failed to comply.

O'Farrill, who is married and the father of four other children, is vice president of his father's publishing company and the author of a weekly column in the family's Mexico

City daily newspaper.

The large collection is just part of the state's new aggressive child-support collection system. Texas Attorney General John Cornyn said his office collected $1 billion in child support payments in state fiscal year 2000, the highest amount ever.

To help improve collection efforts, the Legislature approved funds for 114 staff members in four regional call centers located in Dallas/Fort Worth (972-339-3100), Houston (713-243-7100), Austin (512-514-7000), and San Antonio (210-841-8450).

Two districts to be audited

Texas Comptroller Carole Keeton Rylander will audit two of the state's largest school districts after they received poor performance ratings.

The comptroller will conduct Texas School Performance Reviews of both the Dallas and Fort Worth school districts, which rank No. 2 and No. 4, respectively, in enrollment size.

The Dallas Independent School District board of trustees approved a resolution last week calling for the audit and committed up to $200,000 to help pay for the review, which the state estimates will cost $800,000. The district has 28 low-performing schools, the highest number in the state.

Fort Worth ISD had six schools or alternative programs rated low-performing last school year. No schools in that district received a low-performing rating in 1998-99. The Fort Worth review is estimated to cost $500,000.

In 1991, the Texas Legislature gave the comptroller the authority to review school district budgets and operations to determine their effectiveness and efficiency. Since its inception the Texas School Performance Review has audited 45 districts serving more than 1 million students and has recommended $485 million in cost savings.

TNRCC to defend plan

Texas Natural Resource Conservation officials will be in court next month defending the first of six lawsuits filed against the agency's clean-air plan for the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex.

Air Transport Association of America filed a lawsuit seeking to prevent the TNRCC from requiring emissions reductions from ground-support equipment at airports. The trial is scheduled to begin Oct. 27 in Austin.

The TNRCC rules require either a 90 percent reduction in nitrogen oxide emissions from — or electrification of — runway services, such as baggage handling machines, in four Metroplex airports, Dallas-Fort Worth International, Love Field, Meacham Field and Alliance.

The association says it falls under Federal Aviation Administration rules and is not subject to state or local regulations. TNRCC contends that while it may lack jurisdiction over aircraft, the state does have the right to regulate ground activity at airports.

Other highlights

Rylander has invited government officials from throughout the state to Austin to learn more about the future of government in the Internet Age at her "Survive and Thrive in an Electronic Government World" summit Oct. 5-6 at the Austin Convention Center.

Texas Department of Health officials last week continued to search for a man and a boy who came in contact with a rabid bat Sept. 2 at the Prime Outlet Mall in San Marcos. Witnesses said the bat landed on the boy's neck and the man swatted it away. An animal control officer caught the bat and it tested positive for rabies.
