Goering Letter May Tell Plans For Suicide

NUERNBERG, Oct. 18. (AP)—Hermann Goering in a last burst of braggadocio wrote a letter telling just how he purposed to commit suicide under the noses of his guards, a high source reported today.

That informant said the letter, addressed to Col. B. C. Andrus, and two more found in his cell would be submitted, probably Monday, to the Allied Control Council in Berlin.

One of the letters, the source said, was addressed to the Reichsmarshal's widow, Emmy Goering, and the other was addressed to the German people, urging them to have courage.

Others besides Goering among the 19 doomed Nazi leaders had hoped to beat the gallows by suicide, a security official revealed. Capt. Samuel Binder said that from Jan. 1 until the execution day guards 19 times had found prohibited articles in the cells of the condemned.

The articles ranged from a single screw found in the cell of Baron Constantin von Neurath to a glass vial in the possession of Joachim von Ribbentrop.

Goering told his wife in her last visit to the prison that he no longer had any of the poison with which he had hoped to cheat justice, the widow declared today. She said she did not know whether he really had the poison at the time, or whether he was afraid to tell her of it for fear she would cry out in surprise.

Prison officials theorized that Goering probably slipped his poison vial into his mouth while seated on the toilet in a corner of his cell the night of the executions.

Talley Acquitted Of Bribery Charge

PARIS, Oct. 18. (AP)—Lee Talley, former Texarkana city alderman charged with accepting a bribe, was acquitted at 11:20 a. m. by a Lamar county jury here today.

The case went to the jury at 9:36 p. m. last night. During court proceedings yesterday a charge of consent to accept a bribe was dismissed against Albert McWilliams, another former Texarkana alderman.

The dismissal followed a motion by the prosecution, which asked such action in that there was insufficient evidence for a conviction. The charge grew out of a gross receipts tax proposed on Texarkana taxicabs.

McWilliams previously had been declared innocent on the first charge in the same matter when Judge A. S. Broadfoot of Sixth District Court gave an instructed verdict to the jury.

McWilliams still faces three charges connected with bribery involving a proposed Texarkana street extension.

FBI Probes 'Vote Fraud'

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 18. (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation turned its spotlight today on alleged vote fraud in the democratic primary election last August.

The FBI began its investigation following an independent one by the Kansas City Star which resulted in a series of stories containing charges of irregularities at the polls.

The newspaper disclosed that FBI agents had called for all the information it had obtained on the election last Aug. 6 in which Truman-backed Enos Axtell, a newcomer to politics here, won over Slaughter in the congressional district next door to the president's hometown of Independence, Mo.

FBI agents here, who said orders for the investigation came from the department of justice in Washington, also visited the election board here but its members remained silent on the purpose of the visit.

It was the second time in 10 years that an election here has been investigated by a branch of the government. In 1936, a federal investigation resulted in the trial of 259 persons, mostly ward workers, and the conviction of scores of them.

Even as the FBI turned its attention to the election, two investigators of the congressional committee on campaign expenditures, J. Raymond Hoy, Jr., and Arthur T. Allen, completed their investigation of the primary, but did not announce the results.

New Evidence Introduced In Thomas Trial

SWEETWATER, Oct. 18. (AP)—New evidence was injected into the Jim Thomas trial here today by Levi Duncan, Texas Ranger now stationed at Wellington, but who was at Lubbock at the time of the murder of Dr. and Mrs. Roy Hunt.

Thomas is charged with murder in connection with their deaths, and is on trial for the third time. Duncan identified a picture taken by Aubrey Fawver, Lubbock identification officer, of a car belonging to Red Craig, which Craig testified earlier he had loaned to Thomas in Amarillo on the Monday before the Hunts were murdered.

He testified the car had been returned Tuesday morning following the discovery of the Hunt's bodies.

The car was located in Amarillo nine days after the bodies were found. Further, Duncan identified two pieces of metal from a right rear fender of Craig's car. He also testified that car tracks in an alley north of the Hunt home corresponded to tracks that would have been made by Craig's car. He said that a rough, molded piece of concrete found in the alley showed a right rear wheel had backed into it.

Pieces of metal were introduced as evidence, and Duncan identified them as "sawed" from a right rear fender of the same car—"just in front of the rear wheel," Duncan said they showed scratches and indentations as if caused by a blow from a hard object.

On cross examination, Defense Attorney Farmer of Waco asked Duncan if he had given similar testimony before in previous trials at Plainview and Lamesa.

Duncan said he had. Farmer then read from transcripts of Duncan's previous testimony, and said Duncan had not mentioned the picture of the car, the concrete block, or pieces of metal.

Duncan said he had answered all questions asked him in earlier trials.

The Craig car came into the trial earlier when Red Craig and his former wife, Irene Hnulk, testified Thomas had borrowed it at the time of the murder.

Cropland Terraces Save Water, Soil, Weaver Points Out

Cropland terraces save water and conserve soil, according to M. Weaver, administrative officer of the Howard county Agricultural Conservation association.

Weaver points out that experiments prove that terraced lands yields more and retards water erosion, that properly constructed terraces slow water runoff and hold it on the land where it can be used by growing crops during the dry period of the year.

Recognizing the extensive need for terraces and the expense of their construction, the Federal Agricultural Conservation program pays practically one hundred percent of the cost of construction.

To make terraced fields completely successful, the US Department of Agriculture also assists farmers in establishing and maintaining other good conservation measures. These include strip cropping, cover crops and contour tillage.

In 1945, approximately 4,635 acres of land underwent terracing. A total of 1,053,844 feet of terraces were built. Since January 1, 1939, 190 feet of terraces have already been completed and contractors are still busy with additional work of that nature. The completed terraces paid for at the rate of 1-1/2 cents per foot will bring to the farmer or contractor $14,837.85 in actual money for construction and unlimited yields.

Weaver and members of the county AAA committee are recommending this practice as a means of holding moisture and keeping the land from washing away. Farmers may still terrace under the 1946 program by contacting the county AAA office.

Ritz Inaugurating Special Pictures For Young Folk

A series of feature pictures suitable for children will be inaugurated this week by the Ritz theatre, and will be continued regularly on Saturday mornings. Show time will be 9:45 a.m., with a complete show running from 10 o'clock, the management announced.

First offering will be "Two Thoroughbreds." Other features to be offered on subsequent weeks will include such well known classics as "Five Little Peppers," "Young Tom Edison," "Huckleberry Finn," "Alice in Wonderland," "Rebecca Of Sunnybrook Farm," "Young Buffalo Bill," and others.

Most of these pictures were feature offerings of the past, but a whole generation of children has reached school age since these pictures were produced. The Ritz is joining others in the film industry in making available to children many of the ageless juvenile stories that are always popular.

Heavy Run Seen Of Mexican Cattle

EL PASO, Oct. 18. (AP) — El Paso customs brokers are seeking railroad stock cars to handle the anticipated heavy cattle shipments from Mexico, following the lifting of the ban on Mexican cattle as of 12:01 a.m. today.

Agriculture Department officials in Washington have indicated that northbound movement of thousands of beef animals will be limited only by the lack of transportation facilities available to shippers and buyers.

Suspension of the ban apparently caught most Mexican ranchers by surprise, since no cattle were reported in Juarez pens last night. Shipments are not expected to begin arriving there in large numbers until Monday.

Cattle loaded here will be shipped to California for feeding.

Firemen Entertain ABClub Friday At Luncheon Meet

Things were popping all over Friday when the Big Spring firemen entertained the American Business club at its weekly luncheon program in the fire station.

Fire Marshal F. W. Bettle, after listing the alarming rate of increase in fire losses in the United States and in Big Spring for the past six years, turned the program over to Fire Chief H. V. Crocker.

Crocker and his crew of firemen performed several demonstrations of how to put out grease, gasoline and other fires, punctuating the shows with explosions of giant cannon crackers.

He pointed out that carelessness in smoking, children plus matches and gasoline were the three biggest causes of fires in that order cited this year's statistics from gasoline fires locally — four deaths and several severe injuries.

Among the common causes of fire destruction and injuries in the home, he said, is wrong handling of grease fires. He showed how only baking soda will extinguish such a fire and cautioned that the container of flaming grease should never be picked up.

Loy House, president, presided at the meeting and made the announcement that the Sul Ross-Texas Lutheran football game here last Friday night had been a financial success.

Announcement was also made of a stag party for members Thursday night at 7:30 in Room 4 of the Settles Hotel.

Ray King, Pete Peters, Herb Feather, Leatrice Ross and Leo Cathey were guests.

FATHER OF BIG SPRING RESIDENT

Not Old At 95, Dallas Man Says As He Falls From A Pear Tree

T. M. McCollister, Dallas, father of W. L. McCollister of Big Spring, thinks that an old man should be asked: "When does a man get old?"

At 95, he told Kenneth Foree, feature writer for the Dallas Morning News, that "You'll have to ask somebody that's old."

Foree wrote a sparkling story about Mr. McCollister in the Thursday issue of the News, telling of his penchant for activity, particularly climbing.

Recently, when someone wanted a bushel of pears, Mr. McCollister hauled a 14-foot ladder from the side of his garage. When his middle-aged niece, Lela Gale, wanted to know what he planned to do,

Mr. McCollister spoke positively. "Why, I'm gonna pick some pears."

And pick he did, climbing up the ladder and then farther in the branches to reach some particularly fine specimens. But one of his legs went to sleep, and when he started to descend, the member gave away and he fell eight or 10 feet to the ground.

Miss Gale ran to him, asking if the fall hurt him.

"Nope. Just when it stopped," he said, arising and climbing back on the ladder to finish his job.

That night at the weekly domino game, when son Ira and his wife came over, Miss Lela told on him. They wanted to know when on earth a man ought to quit picking pears.

"Well, 'bout 110," he said.

Two days later, he developed a soreness. Miss Lela kept pestering him until finally he quit climbing the pear trees and consented to let a doctor look him over. He had two fractured ribs.

But that didn't stop him. He rests a little more, but then he gets up and does a lot of walking. Currently he is chaffing because he is delayed in hand plowing a 35-35 garden.

Mr. McCollister was born in 1851, 45 miles west of Atlanta, Ga. The earliest work he recalls — and work is what he likes to recall — was when he was 10, during the first year of the Civil War. Next year his father went away to war and the 11-year old boy, a sickly uncle and feeble grandpa were left to struggle for a living. He did all the plowing with a good mule and a rabbit mule until the Yanks came and took the good one. Then he went right on raising a living for six people with the little rabbit mule.

Thus hard work had become a life-long habit with him. Until five years ago when he retired from his grocery business he worked like a Trojan. Now, said Foree, he's getting a little lazy — doesn't get up until 6 a.m. He also reads without the aid of glasses. Mr. McCollister doesn't have any recipe for longevity, except perhaps moderation — and, of course, "hard work."

Recently, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McCollister went to Dallas to help him celebrate his 95th birthday on Oct. 6. He managed to make it over to the home of another son, T. L. McCollister, where J. C. McCollister, Dallas, and Mrs. Glenn King, Shamrock, his daughter, gathered. They found him just a mite "poorly" after his experience, but then a man 95 years of age is entitled to an off day now and then after falling out of trees.

Prices dropped swiftly despite fair mill buying on the scale-down.

The market's action continued to be influenced by fear of decontrol developments, will prove deflationary on prices. Selling pressure was accentuated by the fact this is the peak hedging period for the new crop.

Many Problems Yet To Be Faced

While the time when a lake brimming with water is far removed at best, the five cities cooperating in the Colorado River Municipal Water Association may soon be confronted with some vital decisions.

By allocating water rights on the Colorado river above Colorado City for municipal use in Snyder, Colorado City, Big Spring, Midland and Odessa, the state board of water engineers has cleared an important point. The way is now open for the creation of a water improvement and control district on a temporary basis, subject to confirmation by the member cities.

Between the establishment of a district, which would be undertaken upon the approval of a petition signed by 50 persons scattered among the various cities, and the actual confirmation at the polls, a lot of facts will need to be made clear to the people.

For one thing, the people in the five cities will want to have the benefit of as much engineering data as possible to assure themselves of feasibility of the water supply proposal. They will want to know what the reasonable expectations are for sufficiency of supply, of the margin of reserve for drought years, of the potability of water, of how it may be distributed. They will want to have the benefit of consideration on facts relating to location of the dam on the proposed site above Colorado City and the location urged by the Upper Colorado River Authority some 15 miles above Robert Lee. They will want to know about the financial end, about the probability of revenue bonds to finance the project, how this will react in regular fiscal affairs of the various cities. Preliminary data indicates that the project has such merit that these questions may be answered to the satisfaction of the public. Perhaps more complete data will strengthen the preliminary picture.

Some of the more vexing problems, however, may come in working out ultimate plans for operation of the district. Basically, it is conceived that the district would acquire, through lease, the present water production facilities of the various cities. Just on what basis, the officials and people of the cooperating cities will want to know. They also will want to know the approximate cost per thousand gallons laid down at city gates. They will want to know the plans of operation, of a reserve system to handle peak loads.

Yes, there will be important questions and upon the answer will depend important decisions. It will be natural for each municipality to look to its own interest, but there should be a recognition that compromises may be necessary to reach a sound, equitable plan. For instance, cities which feel they have a fair supply may be obliged to accept the possibility of sharing part of that in periods of emergency. On the other hand, those who have developed their supplies at less cost may be obliged to accept the fact that others who found the water solution more expensive will draw heavier lease payments for their facilities.

It will be wise to recognize these problems and to thresh them out as completely as possible in advance of the day of election for confirmation. If the facts warrant it, and there is good reason at this time to hope that they will, the people will reach the right decision. The cooperative spirit manifested to date is evidence that they want to work together to attack a big and vital problem.

DON'T GIVE THE COURT A BLACK EYE

Broadway—Jack O'Brian.

Chorines Covering Up

NEW YORK — As an observer interested clinically in such matters, may I point out that the trend in chorus girls' costumes is directly away from nudgy? For a long time I had been watching these gals take a slow trend back to full feminine costume without realizing what was going on. Now the thought surprises me.

This trend back to full dress among the Broadway chorus kids took a decade in the doing. When I first started paying attention to the young ladies in the dancing choirs in the early thirties, there were practically no costumes in the way of a thorough lesson in biology, distasteful to most eyes. One night club even advertised that a certain girl had the world's champion torso, only more-so. You get the idea.

IN THE old days of the Paramount Grill when 'Ozzie Nelson was playing for the Yales and the Harvards who parked their Stutz Bearcats and doffed their raccoons, the big attraction was the nudily on view two flights below the street, in the same subcellular location now turned to jangling millions for Billy Rose—the Diamond Horseshoe. The Paradise and the Hollywood Restaurant were another brace of stops on the strip parade, and the entire length of Broadway was more or less devoted to Minsky diversion at slightly higher prices than the burlesque theaters.

Marian Martin was the ranking nude before the municipal daddies decided it was not morally ericket for ladies thus engaged to go waiting about night club floors clothed in a smile and a heavy application of powder. Sally Rand had her fans, literally and figuratively. But all this nakedness took to heel when a view in the various luxurious one-flight-ups and plush basements of Broadway are so thoroughly dressed as a rule that I would not be surprised to see them wearing turtle-neck sweaters and bathrobe, full-length trousers and a suit of fashionable armor.

At the Copacabana, the new show has the gals in hoop skirts and loads of petticoats. Even gals are similarly hidden. Billy Rose still maintains a dash of nudily at his Diamond Horseshoe, but not in the tradition of the previous tenant of his premises: the gals there wear more than you will see on any beach outside of France.

The producers of night club floor shows go to most expensive extremes to cover up the chorines. The well-paid needle workers whipping up glamorous duds for the night club gals go more and more toward the Victorian mood and covering, which I'm informed is a general trend in ladies' stuff. Well, in case you hadn't, now you know what's nude.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—Drew Pearson

US May Follow French Inflation

(ED. NOTE — Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to his brother in Paris.)

Washington
October 18, 1946

Dear Kid,

Well, we are in for some interesting times in this country. A meat-mad America has been threatening to tear Harry Truman limb-from-limb politically unless its appetite for red meat was met, and poor Harry has finally surrendered. I felt sorry for him. But I feel sorer over what may be ahead for all of us. We may be ready to follow the French road to inflation.

Something has been happening in this country — something that doesn't jibe with our usual good sense and patriotism. Several weeks ago this normally sane nation suddenly went mad over meat, and it has stayed mad ever since. I have been trying to figure out the reason.

Actually we ate more meat during the war than before; 140 pounds per person per year, which was 12 pounds more than we ate annually before the war started. And as I look back on it, we never used to be a nation of such passionate meat-eaters.

Remember when we were kids? We never had more than three or four times a week. Mother said it was too expensive and that vegetables were just as good, anyway. Remember what a big event it was when, once a week, we had round-steak ground?

"Chicken In Every Pot"

At that time chicken was an even greater delicacy. We always had it on Sundays, and I guess most every family did, for when Herbert Hoover wanted to promise the American people the super-duper of food, he told 'em they'd get "A Chicken In Every Pot," if they elected him president. It got him elected all right, but now that Harry Truman has given us a chicken in every pot, and sometimes Turkey to boot, we're not satisfied. Now it's to hell with chicken and Truman. We've got to have a beefsteak in every refrigerator.

Sitting over there in Paris you will hardly believe some of these things. And if you came back on a quick trip you would hardly recognize some of your fellow Americans. They simply went berserk over meat.

I took a quick trip through the middle west last week, and that was all they were talking about — meat. Our dangerous problems with Russia, the hopes of the peace conference, the relative merits of political candidates all were forgotten in the rage over meat.

Of course, part of this was purposely whipped up by the Republicans AAA strategy they'll live to regret. Republican candidates drove loudspeakers up to lines outside butcher shops and made the most of it. It got so bad that fine, able congressmen like Mike Monroney of Oklahoma were in danger of defeat.

But in addition to the politics involved, I am afraid that patriotism and unselfishness and the things that have made this country great, have slid into a terrific backwash.

It began, as it usually begins, near the top. And it filtered down, as it always does, to the people below. When folks see their leaders in Congress put a hand out, they wonder why they shouldn't put a hand out, too. And the last session of Congress saw the greatest greed-grab I have ever witnessed since the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act was written under Herbert Hoover. That act helped to wreck Hoover. And the same selfish prejudices, the same sectional interests the same public-be-damned attitude of the last Congress have already wrecked Truman—whether he was to blame or not.

Congressional Greed-Bag

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, Rep., and automobile dealer, introduced an OPA amendment lifting the profit for automobile dealers. Senator Butler, Rep., of Nebraska, a big cattleman worked for decontrolling meat. Senator Murdock, Dem., of Utah, land of the beet sugar, tacked on an amendment favoring the beet-sugar growers. Senator Hoey, Dem., of North Carolina, which grows tobacco, took the price ceiling off tobacco.

Senator Radcliffe, Dem., of Maryland, where they go in for poultry, introduced an amendment boosting the poultry industry. Senator Ed Moore, Rep., the oil man from Oklahoma, made sure that price ceilings were taken off oil.

Congressman Ed Gossett, Dem., of Texas, inserted a decontrol amendment for the National Association of Manufacturers; Congressman Jesse Wolcott, Rep., of Michigan, sometimes called the "General Motors spokesman" in Congress, introduced the cost-plus-profit amendment; Congressman Fred Hartley, Rep., of New Jersey, did everything possible to help the National Retail Dry Goods Association, while millionaire Senator

Taft of Ohio inserted the assured-profit amendment by which business was guaranteed the same lush, Bonanza profits of the early war years.

Meanwhile Congressman Gillespie of Colorado, Rep., who shamelessly battled OPA, did not seem to think it wrong that his company, Bluhill Foods, violated OPA price ceilings to the tune of $15,000; while Senators Thomas of Oklahoma and Bankhead of Alabama had the gall to make speeches against OPA curbs on cotton speculation while they themselves were personally speculating in cotton.

Patriotism Goes Into Doldrums

That is how our great lawmakers were coveting with the public trust in the summer of 1946, one year after fifteen million men had ended their fight for a principle which they thought sacred and a country which they thought was governed by unselfish congressmen.

However, Congress usually reflects the sentiment of pressure groups back home, and we can't blame Congress for everything. In fact, if the American people have gone meat-mad and money-crazy, it's probably nobody's fault but our own.

We have developed a great machine age. We have turned out rockets, atomic bombs, and world-girdling airplanes. There isn't anything we haven't specialized on — except the science of living with our fellow men. We preach the good-neighbor policy with Latin America, and we send movie stars to foreign countries to tell them how great we are. But if we don't practice good neighborliness at home, I sometimes wonder how we can expect to preach it abroad.

Having cared for our bodily comforts with well-stocked refrigerators and air-conditioning, and having developed the deadliest weapons in the world, it looks to me as if we would have to begin working at the science of being our brothers' keeper. If we don't, there may not be much of a civilization left for us to live in.

Please excuse this kill-joy letter. I hope this prediction will be 82 percent wrong.

Your — at the moment very pessimistic — brother

Drew

hga82pessimist.

P.S. I am planning to run for Congress on the platform pledge of a side of beef in every deep-freezer and two deep-freezers in every garage.

The Nation Today—James Marlow

Competitive System Goes On Trial

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Here we go on the great adventure.

Pretty soon now the government will have taken off wage controls and most of its price controls.

Then at last we'll be back in that free economy—that free enterprise—which businessmen have called for since the war ended.

And right there the great adventure begins.

These next five or ten or twenty years may be the most important in the history of the United States.

They may, in fact, decide whether free enterprise is to continue to be the way of life in this country.

For if after a decade or two of prosperous free enterprise we crash into depression—because free enterprise failed to keep us out of depression—what then?

The possibility of Socialism or Fascism in this country seems remote now, perhaps absurd.

But no one at this minute — when America seems to be entering upon a rich and successful era — can see how much liberty the people might be willing to yield if they become jobless, hungry and hopeless in depression.

We have been raised on the tradition that free enterprise, by free men, has made this country great and will continue to keep it that way.

We had such free enterprise before the war. Then the war came and, up until now, the government told business what prices it could charge and labor what wages it could get. Now this is ending.

So we start out again upon free enterprise but in a world where Socialism—the opposite of free enterprise—is far stronger than it was before the war, and more widespread.

(Socialism is government ownership of the essential means of production and distribution of goods, like coal mines, aviation, railroads.)

Russian Communism—which is Socialism in extreme form because it is a dictatorship with government ownership of practically everything—is far more powerful than in 1939.

But Socialism has spread to England, that original home of free enterprise, although in much milder form than in Russia. In England, the government has assumed ownership of the Bank of England, communications, and civil aviation. And it will take over the coal mines next year.

So the people of the whole world, including this country, Russia and England, will be watching to see how these opposite ways of living work out: free enterprise here, Socialism in England, Communism in Russia.

Free enterprise can give a death blow here in the immediate future—and in the long run, too—if business, hungry for profits, selfishly thinks of its own interests only; and if labor makes wage demands which business can't meet. Behind it all, of course, is this: Will free enterprise work well enough to keep our factories producing, our workers working, and our people generally with enough in their pockets to keep on buying?

Hal Boyle's Notebook

Ranks In British Society

By ED CREEGH (For Hal Boyle)

LONDON. (AP)—"What," asked the visiting American, "is this English title business all about?"

"How do you tell a baron from a viscount and why do you? What does the honorable mean in front of somebody's name? Does that mean you and I are honorable?"

"It's very simple," said the old settler, who had been in England for almost two whole weeks. "It's largely a matter of who belongs on what rung of the social ladder—who goes in to dinner first. After the Royal family, you have the dukes, the marquesses, the—"

"Stop right there," said the tourist. "Who started all this?"

"Oh, it stems from the middle ages, but Henry the Eighth had it put into law about 400 years ago. He had so many in-laws that he needed to know what was what.

"Anyhow, it's all down on paper. The king's nephew, even if he should be a flop-sared school-boy, would rank above the Archbishop of Canterbury and his Grace the Archbishop ranks the Prime Minister, although the Prime Minister appoints the Archbishop.

"Yes, as you say—very simple," said the visiting American, wiping his forehead. "Now these titles, Viscount and Baron and the like, pass from father to son, don't they?"

"For the most part yes—to the eldest son. But a duke's younger sons rank the eldest sons of a viscount or an earl, and a master in lunacy."

"A what?"

"A master in lunacy can look down, if he likes, on the eldest sons of the younger sons of peers. You don't have to take my word for it. It's all down in the statute books."

There was a long pause while the visitor drained his glass. "I suppose," he said weakly, "all this applies to women, too?"

"Oh my, yes. Even more so, maybe. The Queen's maids of honor are many cuts higher than, for instance, the wives of the eldest sons of the youngest sons of peers."

"You're not kidding me, are you?"

"Not at all, take a duke's daughter, now."

"Would she have me?"

"I doubt it. But if she did, she would rank higher on the social scale than if she had married a baron."

"Well of course," said the newcomer, "I knew I was a pretty important fellow in my own congressional district, but—say, did I understand you correctly?"

"You did. Suppose the Lady Susan Smythe, daughter of the Duke Dovetail, married you, a commoner. She would take your name but keep her title. She'd be the Lady Susan Doakes. Now, suppose her sister married Baron Billingsgate, she would become Lady—or Baroness—Billingsgate, but your wife would go in to dinner ahead of her. All clear?"

"Perfectly," said the American, shuddering. "By the way, what are they having for dinner? Kippers? May I escort you, or should you escort me? Or better yet, would you call up one of those masters of lunacy you were talking about? Maybe he'd better escort both of us."

Since 1900 there have been about 22,000,000 fires in the United States.

Nazi Hangings End Incredible Story

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

If America's gangsters had moved on Washington in the '20s, taken over the government and then raised their sights to cover the whole world, their story would hardly have been more incredible than the chapter in history written by the men who died today in Nuernberg.

For all the mad doctors of fiction who practice fiendish experiments on helpless patients for all of the despoils of history who made death the only arbiter of their disputes, for all the superstition-crazed who have sought to propitiate their gods with human sacrifices, for all the crimes into which men have been led by their avarice, these men of Nazidom provided a match.

When Robert Ingersoll stood before the tomb of Napoleon he "thought of all the widows and orphans he had made, of the tears that had been shed for his glory." These Nazis who this morning swung on the Nuernberg gibbet and Hermann Goering, who poisoned himself, conspired with a man who they hoped would be a new and greater Napoleon, but who flopped even as a Genghis Khan. They elicited plenty of tears, but no glory. They were at the end what they were at the beginning—gallows-bait. Even Goering, a suicide, wound up on a stretcher beneath the gallows on which his colleagues died.

Legal purists probably will argue for years over whether these men should have been hanged. There are those who say, citing legal precedents which they consider solid, that these men were convicted of acts which were not illegal when committed, that you must create your law before it can be broken. They will admit that aggression by Germany was a violation of international law and by the state, but say that the states is not the sum total of the individuals chosen to administer it—that the state is a corporation embodying the aspirations of millions of stockholders, and that no international law had made its managers personally responsible.

Others uphold the Nuernberg verdicts as conforming to the growth of all law. They say that in certain circumstances the community itself has the right to decide when aggravated acts have reached the point of criminality, and a precedent established.

There is a field of Anglo-Saxon law known as "equity," covering litigation over situations that are not themselves covered by law. In this field courts decide the disputes on the basis of generally accepted standards of right and wrong.

The international court at Nuernberg, in effect, applied the rules of equity. The result makes the Nazi leaders valuable for the first time—as warnings to future rulers that the world has hardened its heart against aggressors.

The Daily Herald's football team failed to improve upon its season's record as a unit in picking the week's winners but Wacil McNair forged to the front of the quartet by clicking 25 times in 36 tries for a .695 average. ## Massive Enemy Seeking First Win Of Year

Loaded for bruin, the Big Spring high school football Steers ankle out on the Brownfield commons around 7:30 o'clock this evening where they try to draw a fine bead on Harold Crites' aroused Cubs of recent affairs' Amarillo' fame.

The story of how the District 1AA power fell heir to this nickname is apocryphal and certainly misleading, if any credence can be invested in the spine-tingling stories which come winging in periodically from the north. Those couriers of maidings insist the Cubs are massive enough to go bear hunting with a switch.

No reason admitted. Bruins have stitched together a five game losing skein and in those five outings they've been dealt as many horse-collars by good, bad and mediocre opposition. Nobody blasted them with a kind word until last week when they suddenly hit the turf running against the mighty Amarillo Sandies and stopped that august band of warriors in their tracks.

The Sandies shook one man loose for a touchdown and were lucky to escape with a 7-0 victory. Still and all, as much prestige and lustre as they might have taken on in the argument, it is an inescapable fact that the Cubs have yet to score this season and there's no reason to lead the Longhorn faithful to believe they're on the right track now.

Our Town's Kilkenny's have done all right by themselves to date. There perhaps are better lines somewhere in this broad land but Johnny Dibrell has yet need make no excuses for his forwards. The Longhorn stalwarts have shown improvement with every outing and will no doubt continue to pick up a trick here and there.

Brownfield's line, anchored by two Goliath tackles, averages something like 170 pounds from forward to wing. The toughies of the forward wall are the Price brothers, Jerrall and Donald. Don carries about 205 pounds, outweighing his kinsman by some ten pounds, and on both it looks good.

A 166-pounder by the name of Jerry, Worsham engineers what has been passing for a Brownfield offensive. Scouts conveyed the report that he is no shrinking violet, but has, as a matter of fact, done most of his wandering behind the line of scrimmage to date.

Longhorn mentors may rely more than ever on Gerald Harris to fill the bill. Big Gee has been handling the swinehead past week on all-sorts of running plays. Observers who have double-ended the Cubs in action say it is useless to bang away at the Brownfield forward wall. Nonetheless, the Steer swifly will try it as well as pull stakes on the end-rounds, the reverses, etc.

That does not mean that Horace Rankin or Bobo Hardy will go along only for the ride. Far from it. Each will have his chance to show his talents in assorted ways, as was the case last week when the Bovines uncoupled Lamesa with a last half uprising.

Following the expedition, Dibrell brings his youngsters home to start preparation for the North Side (Fort Worth) Steers, who have been just as potent defensively as have the Brownfield opposition all semester.

Sports Roundup Army Reserves Rank With Best, Research Shows

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr. NEW YORK, Oct. 18. (AP) — Earl Blak still is moaning about the shortage of reserves on his Army football team and he insists the regulars will have to play most of the game against Columbia tomorrow. . . . Maybe he's right, but let's take a look at some of those "untried" plebes who are listed as third and fourth stringers. . . . Tackles Bert Aton and Bennie Davis attended Georgia Tech before coming to West Point and Russ Dohelstein, whose brother plays for the pro Giants, was well liked at Tennessee; sub center Bill Yeoman, came from the Texas Aggies, who'd like to have him back; so did guard Milton Rout, a second-year army man. . . . In the backfield there's Charlie Gabriel, whose coach at Catwaba College raised an awful fuss when he heard Charlie was headed for West Point. Another is Rudy Cosentino, a small-scale Doc Blanchard who was fairly faithful during his freshman year at Syracuse and who was highly regarded there. . . . Chances are that these guys won't even get into a major game this season, so the boys ahead of them must be better than fair.

Buffs To Host Mertzon At 8

FORSAN, Oct. 18. — A former Forsan high school football coach says this South Howard county community a visit today and makes no secret of the fact that he has designs on escaping with a win over the Forsan Buffs after plebs' antics have been exchanged.

He is Cagle Hunt, whose Mertzon Hornets clash with Frank Honeycutt's Bisons in an 8 o'clock test. The Hornets, winless in three starts thus far, are the decided underdogs in the nocturnal debate but Hunt expects his charges to make it interesting for the Buffs before the outcome is decided.

Honeycutt will start a sextet built around Bobby Wash, Charles Lunt and Elton Prater against the visitors. That trio has paced the Buffs to wins over Knott (61-0), Sterling City (19-18), Courtney (20-12) and Harrold (37-0).

LOCAL LINKSMEN INVITED TO PLAY LAMESA COURSE

A Big Spring golf team will be recruited by Shirley Robbins of the country club for a trip to Lamesa Sunday, Oct. 27, at which time the new grass greens at the Lamesa country club get christened.

Robbins said Thursday anyone who could swing a club had been invited to tour the Lamesa course on the appointed day. Big Spring will be one of several towns represented in the Dawson county metropolis at the time.

The hosts are cooking up a barbecue to see that the guests get an old fashioned reception.

FROGS MAKE A LONG HOP

CHICAGO, Oct. 18. (AP) — Two little frogs made a long hop from their home in Holland to the Lincoln Park zoo.

The European grass frogs, or Rana temporaria, were sent by air by J. Timstra, a member of the Terrarium Society of the Hague, Holland. Zoo officials said they are rather common in Europe but a rarity in the United States.

BAYLOR BEES SWAMP NAs WACO, Oct. 18. (AP) — Baylor University's B team, paced by Bob Griffin, freshman back from Houston, defeated the Dallas Naval Air Station eleven, 51-0, here last night.

Griffin returned both the opening and second half kickoffs 90 yards for touchdowns and took a pass for another score.

LAMAR EDGES PARIS

PARIS, Oct. 18. (AP) — Scoring a touchdown on a 20-yard pass with only three minutes remaining in the game, the Lamar-Junior College Cardinals defeated the Paris College Dragons, 6-0, here last night.

The Lamar score was set up by a Dragon fumble.

MICHIGAN FACES WILDCATS Army-Lion Tilt Standout Of Heavy Grid Schedule

NEW YORK, Oct. 18. (AP) — Now that baseball has finally decided to give up for the year, college football moves front and center today to launch a week-end program in which the major unbeaten teams can begin thinking their own ranks by the simple expedient of knocking off each other.

Four of the ten top teams in the nation hook up tomorrow in two of the day's better games and three others will be meeting undefeated opponents. Two of the remaining three will be risking perfect records against clubs that are capable of producing upsets.

Army, back at its old stand atop the national rankings after making Michigan its fourth victim of the season and the 22nd in an unbroken string, takes on an invading Columbia team that has won its first three starts to gain the 11th spot in the countrywide ratings.

Alabama, ranked seventh this week, moves in against Tennessee, the No. 9 team, for a bout that may settle the Southeastern Conference championship. Both are all-victorious and should have smoothly sailing "after" tomorrow, with the winner almost certain to get a major bowl bid.

Michigan, ranked fifth despite its setback by Army, entertains an unbeaten Northwestern team, currently No. 17, in the Midwest's top attraction. The big nine title might well be hanging on the outcome of this struggle.

Texas, winner of its first four tilts and the present No. 3 club, will be challenged in its first Southwest Conference test by an invading Arkansas outfit that is unbeaten in four starts although defeated by Oklahoma A&M.

Pennsylvania, rated sixth, will be invaded by Virginia, unbeaten in three outings but tied by Virginia Tech.

UCLA, the all-victorious No. 5 team, visits California, which bounced St. Mary's out of the unbeaten class a week ago, and Georgia, ranked eighth, catches an Oklahoma A&M team moving in to start a comeback.

Georgia Tech will be at Louisiana State, Auburn at Tulane and Vanderbilt at Kentucky for other Southeastern Conference struggles. Elsewhere in the South it will be San Francisco and Mississippi, Richmond at Duke, North Carolina State at Wake Forest, William and Mary at Washington and Lee, Davidson at VMI and Furman at the Citadel.

Southern Methodist goes to Rice and Texas Christian to Texas A&M for additional Southwest Conference games and Baylor invades Texas Tech.

Bearkats Play Billies Today

GARDEN CITY, Oct. 18. — Gordon Griggs' Garden City football Bearkats are heavily favored to defeat the Knott Hill Billies in a District Ten six-man game here Friday afternoon.

The Kats have won two of three games to date while the Billies were badly mauled in all three of its outings.

Big Harry Calverly is expected to give the Billies plenty of trouble. Calverly is one of the leading scorers of the district and an outstanding candidate for all-district honors.

Coahoma Battle May Decide '46 Six-Man Champ

COAHOMA, Oct. 19. — A big crowd is expected to be on hand for the Coahoma-Water Valley six-man football game here this afternoon, upon which may hinge the 1946 championship of District Ten.

J. Z. Thompson's Bulldogs are the defending champions of the eight-club circuit but their record has been marred by a tie with the Sterling City Eagles. However, they've some good fast since then and succeeded in handing out one-sided lickings to Mertzon and Courtney.

The Wildcats have been just as impressive, turning back Garden City, Mertzon and Knott.

Chief threat of the Valley sextet is Gene Cope, a fleet footed back who is one of the leading scorers in the league.

The Bulldogs will counter with a twin threat in Wayne DeVaney and Dennis Turner, stars of last year's pennant winning club.

Jimmy Doollittle was the first man to fly across the American continent in one day.

Dick Dunkel's College Football Ratings

For week ending October 20

Explanation: The Dunkel rating system presents a factual, unbiased picture of the relative strength of teams as measured by the Dunkel correlation method. It does not answer the question, "How well has each team performed relative to the strength of its opposition to date?" The teams get their own ratings by the average scoring margin they accumulate above or below the average of their opponents. For example, a 50.0 team rated 20.0 means that the team's performance is 20.0 points higher than a 50.0 team. In this manner, past performances of any two teams can be compared regardless of location. The ratings have been continuous since 1923.

ROOSTER WORTH CROWING ABOUT PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 18. (AP)—Butchers in some cities may be selling steaks at $1 a pound, but a white leghorn rooster sold at auction here carried a higher price tag to crow about.

J. Turner Mills of McNabb, Ill., paid $105 for the purebred rooster, which weighed about five pounds, at an auction sponsored by the Illinois Poultry Improvement Association.

Mills isn't planning to eat the rooster, which will be used for breeding purposes.

Board Expected To Answer Dobie's Blast

AUSTIN, Oct. 18. (AP)—The University Board of Regents, which meets here today and tomorrow, is expected to take notice of English Professor J. Frank Dobie's latest blast at the university administration.

The current issue of "The Texas Spectator" is carrying an article by Dobie which is critical of the board of regents and the university's president, Dr. T. S. Painter. Dobie charged Painter with trying to "enforce" tranquility "among the hired hands of the university" and charged the board of regents with "starving out" the "strong-minded and free-spirited" members of the faculty.

Dobie, a professor of English, is presently on leave of absence. The regents will also consider dockets for the medical, dental and mines branches in addition to those for the main university, including the dockets for scholarships and fellowships, acceptance of grants and gifts, adoption of an operating budget for the Austin magnesium plant which the university soon is to acquire on a lease basis, and reports of land finance, building, and executive committees.

Million Dollar Cattle Run At Stock Yards

FORT WORTH, Oct. 18. (AP)—Receipts at the Fort Worth stockyards yesterday, totaling 18,759 animals, have been estimated at a value of $1,000,000 for one of the greatest cattle runs ever experienced at the local yards.
W. L. Pier, general manager of the stockyards, said the $1,000,000 total compares with a daily average of only $400,000 receipts last year.
Yesterday's receipts totaled 8,477 cattle and 7,282 calves, brought to the yards in 1,616 trucks.
At San Antonio, receipts totaled 1,800, an all-time Thursday record for cattle. Calves numbered 2,300 and hogs 500.
Houston received 700 cattle and 2,000 calves.
Abilene reported approximately 1,200 tons of beef, worth some $200,000, having been sold there yesterday, with a record run of approximately 4,000 cattle.

WAA Continues Plan To Dispose Of Pipelines

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (AP)—Despite a bitter inter-agency policy conflict, the War Assets Administration will go ahead with its own plan for disposing of the $145,800,000 "Big Inch" and "Little Inch" pipe lines from Texas to the East Coast.
A ranking official who disclosed this privately today also told a reporter that WAA's original plan to have a "special advisory council" representing interested government agencies pass on the sale had collapsed.
Now bids for the giant petroleum lines simply will be reviewed by WAA's own recently organized real property disposal board. And the award will be made subject only to Justice Department anti-trust clearance.
The basic behind the scenes controversy is whether the lines are to be restored to service as petroleum carriers or converted to use as natural gas lines.
Rushed to completion in the early days of the war, when German submarines threatened to shut off the vital flow of petroleum from Texas and Gulf fields, the Big Inch line transported 260,700,000 barrels of crude oil by war's end, while the smaller line moved approximately 107,000,000 barrels.
Now tankers, in which the major oil companies have a considerable investment, are free to move without interference, and many oil men believe that the lines should be used only for natural gas.
The WAA recently appointed the inter-agency committee to review the 16 bids it had received for purchase of the lines. These included some proposals to use them for petroleum and others for conversion to a natural gas system.

More than 200 executives and employees of the newspapers and its radio affiliates attended the ceremonies.
The building will be located just across Houston Street from the Dallas Union Terminal. It is being started under a hardship permit from the Civilian Production Administration.
While News officials made no estimate of the cost of the building, permit has been given only to start the basement and first floor to house new presses valued at $1,200,000.
