Burch Has Best Design In Derby

Spearman Soapbox Derby racer Ronnie Burch had the best designed and built car in the Amarillo Soapbox Derby Sunday, but he found a flaw that he hopes to correct before next year.

Burch was awarded the trophy for the best designed and built car in the derby. He was competing against approximately 125 other cars.

Burch's Excel Special featured a low slung design that is covered with body filler and rubbed to a slick finish and then painted several times and rubbed to a glazed finish.

The flaw the young builder said he found is that his shoulders stick out too far and make a air drag. When the race is decided by inches, a builder wants as little wind resistance as possible.

"I am going to have to widen the front a little and raise it so I can get lower in it," Burch said.

Even with his shoulder sticking out too far, Burch managed to win six races before getting beay by just inches.

That last losing race was an exciting one, according to the 12 year old driver.

"About half way down the hill, the wind caught me and my front wheels started to wobble. I was having a hard time keeping it straight." Then after crossing the finish line Burch found out his brakes were not working. He did not wreck. He drove the wobbling car to a stop. These cars are going about 30 miles per hour when they cross the finish line.

The steering and brakes work on wire cables and during the previous six races, the cables had stretched enough to be faulty.

One other Spearman racer survived the first round eliminations. Mike Larson, driving his Western Auto Special won three races before going out of competition.

The other two cars were Ricky Butler in the Owens Sales Special and Tim Fisher driving his Cut Rate Grocery Special.

Jaycees Cut Celebration

Spearman's annual celebration is going to take on a new format if the Jaycees continue to be responsible for the entire show, Jaycee officials said this week.

Last week the club voted to continue the annual Miss Hansford County Beauty Pageant and to build to the musical hootenanny that was started this year. The rest of the events in the celebration will be dropped or carried on by some other group.

Club officials said a committee of the organization has been studying the past celebrations event by event and found that most of the other Jaycee events have not been drawing the crowds they should for the amount of work and money involved.

Jaycee events to be dropped include the parade, rodeo, barbecue and Saturday night

Teen Town Meeting and Feed Friday

All parents and teen-agers wishing to cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce in organizing and helping sponsor a teen-town are asked to attend a watermelon feed at the Swimming Pool Park at 8 p. M., Friday.

Chamber manager Don Floyd said several parents have expressed interest in reviving the teen-town, so this will be an opportunity for all who are willing to help get the program started.

Floyd emphasized that it will take a large number of parents who are willing to serve as workers in the teen-town to make the program a success.

Building Slow In First Six Months

Building permits were down in the first half of 1964 as compared to a year ago with May being the big month for permits.

New residential construction in the first half of the year totaled $188,490. The big month for house building permits was May when $62,000 in permits were issued.

Total business and industrial construction for the first half of the year totaled $215,000. May was again the big month for this kind of building. A total of $150,000 was issued that month. It was all in one permit, the Senior Citizens Home.

January was the second best month for residential construction with $60,000 being started that month. There were $14,000 in business construction that month, also.

February has only two residential permits totaling $18,640.

March was even slower with one residential permit of $8,750.

April was a little better with two permits being issued for a total of $29,800.

After the big month in May, June slowed down with only $19,300 in residential permits, but commercial was up. Two industrial permits totaled $49,000. One of these was $22,000 for a microwave tower for General Telephone.

Board Hires Music Teacher

A new public school music teacher and high school choir director was hired Tuesday night by the Spearman School Board. The resignation of an elementary teacher was also accepted by the board.

Lewis Tilford of Anadarko, Okla., was hired as the vocal music instructor. He is a graduate of Oklahoma State University and has taught at Anadarko three years.

Last year his choirs won the state championship in Oklahoma and all of his related groups earned Number One, or superior ratings.

Supt. James Bramlett said Tilford was highly recommended by his superintendent at Anadarko and also the head of the music department at OSU.

Bramlett said the instructor has been teaching a program similar to the Spearman program at Anadarko.

The new teacher is married and the couple has a one year old child.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Wilbur Hull. She has been teaching a section of the second grade.

3 Accidents; None Hurt

City police officers have investigated three accidents during the past week. No one was injured in the three wrecks.

A electric powerline pole and a fence was wrecked in the latest mishap. Officers discovered a stationwagon owned by Glen Mackie had left the Highway 15 at Strawn Farm and Ranch Supply, broke off a powerline pole and gone through a wood fence around the Strawn plant nursery.

Officers investigating the accident said Mackie's car was traveling north on Highway 15 when it hit the pole on the west side of the highway.

The front end of the stationwagon was heavily damaged.

Friday a car driven by Lisa Carol Curry hit a car owned by James Loyd Hamilton. The damage was light. The accident happened at 421 S. Hazelwood.

Another accident this week involved cars driven by Mrs. Nell White and E.J. Callaway Sr. This accident happened in front of Callaway Lumber Co.

County Agent's Report

The wheat fertilizer demonstration plot on Troy Sloan's farm 6 miles southwest of Spearman was harvested about two weeks ago.

This fertilizer demonstration was to see if additional nitrogen would show an economic increase in yield on moderately heavy grazed wheat in first year irrigated land. Seventy pounds of actual nitrogen was applied prior to planting in September. The wheat was grazed until the snow fell in February. On March 14 ammonia nitrate fertilizer was applied at two different rates on three acres. Sixty six pounds of actual nitrogen was applied on one plot and 33 pounds on another plot. The check plot was between these two plots. The yield results were as follows:

Check plot of 70# N, -45 bu.; 33# N, added or 103# N, -47 bu.; 66# N, added or 136 # N, -51 bu.

Test conducted at the Bushland Experiment Station in 1959 showed that the highest grain yields were obtained with the addition of 120 pounds of Nitrogen per acre on grazed wheat. This was comparing nitrogen rates of 0, 40, 80 and 120 pounds. Grazing tended to reduce grain yields more where lower rates or no nitrogen were used. This indicates that when wheat is adequately fertilized, not only is more forage of a higher protein content produced, but also the grain yields are not seriously reduced by the grazing practice. Results did show that the average reduction in yield from grazing from March 1 to 15 was 5 bushel.

IRRIGATING GRAIN SORGHUM

We are going into the grain sorghum season now and many of you will be watering heavily before too long. You might be interested in knowing how much water this crop used per day during the growing season and wheat stage of growth in the critical period. Below is a chart which explains this.

1. Planting to 7 leaf stage about 30 days uses .1" per day.
2. 30 days to 70 days-this includes the boot and bloom stage. Water used gradually increases from .1" to .35" per day in critical stage which is the boot and bloom stage.
3. From bloom to maturity the water used decreases from

Stupidity

It is amazing the way mass hysteria and agitation can produce acts of ignorance and stupidity. The summit of this has been reached this summer with the sending of young, inexperienced youths into strife torn Mississippi to further agitate an explosive situation.

The first group of these students was hardly in the state before three disappeared and are now possibly dead. Were these college students trying to protect their country, trying to elevate the Negro from ignorance, and a poor way of life? No! They were sacrificed in a political power play by men wanting more power.

These students are not being asked to go to Mississippi to teach the Negro how to improve himself with education, work, and better morals. These students are to show the Negro how to register and how to vote.

The Negro race needs help. It needs all the help it can get.

It needs it in the South, the North, the East and the West. If the race is ever to be more than a drag on this country it must have help. But, the help the Negro is being offered now will do nothing but leave him hated more by those who hate him; frustrated more because he cannot enjoy the supposedly new freedoms he is supposed to have.

Overnight a man who can barely read and write cannot become a highly skilled trained or educated worker. A man with no money cannot eat in a fine cafe, be he black or white. Children with only rags to wear cannot and will not attend school. Unwed parents who sleep in a different bed every night do not raise stable families.

These conditions are fact in a large segment of our Negro population, as well as white. They are conditions that cannot be allowed to continue in a rich nation such as this. However, no one law, army of federal marshalls, "bleeding hearts" nor braying politicians can change these conditions in a week, a year or a decade.

It is going to take years of patient teaching among blacks and whites. It is going to take dedicated teachers and men of God both in and out of professional pulpits to lead both races out of this lower level of human understanding.

Yes! This nation needs missionaries to the Negroes and to the whites. But they must be mature men and women who can draw on a background of experience to work with these people. They must be people who can turn the other cheek, who are dedicated and who realize the full danger they face from both sides. Not fuzzy-faced youths who do more harm than good.

Let the World Council of Churches send trained men and women into the field to preach and teach the Christian love that every man should have for his brother instead of giving its money to groups who use it in foolish attempts that are nothing more than agitation and politics. Let the university and college instructors who lead the students into civil rights agitation, go into the troubled areas and teach, so that an enlightened people will become an orderly people. Let the professional civil rights worker go into the areas and teach the responsibilities that go with equal rights.

The adult who will not take the risks and make the sacrifices himself, but instead incites youths to sacrifice themselves is nothing more than a gutless agitator who is not seeking to help the black nor the white man.

Jenny Lynn Massad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Massad, had a role in the play "Belvedere" presented by the Palo Duro Players at West Texas State University last weekend.

Coincidences

STRANGE COINCIDENCES link the assassinations of Presidents Abraham Lincoln and John F. Kennedy. The startling parallels include:

1. Lincoln was elected in 1860 and Kennedy was elected in 1960.
2. Both were slain on a Friday and in the presence of their wives.
3. Their successors, both named Johnson, were Southerners, Democrats, and had previously served in the U.S. Senate.
4. Andrew Johnson was born in 1808--Lyndon B. Johnson in 1908.
5. John Wilkes Booth was born in 1839--Lee Harvey Oswald in 1939.
6. Both Booth and Oswald were slain before trial could be held.
7. Booth and Oswald were both Southerners favoring unpopular ideas.
8. Both Presidents' wives lost children through death while residing in the White House.
9. Lincoln's secretary, whose name was Kennedy, advised him not to go to the theater the night he was killed.

DON'T MISS

If you play to win, you need everything going for you. Like winning the big profit on this year's crop is going to depend on your young plants having the nitrogen they need to deliver their maximum yield. A side dress of Shamrock's Nitromite is a smart way to guarantee that nitrogen. It's 82.2% nitrogen in the form that's ready to go to work. It costs such a small part of the extra yield and extra profit you just can't afford not to use it. Call us or come by today... time is running out.

The Fourth of July is more than firecrackers, picnics and a one-day vacation from work. It is a day to fly proudly the flag of our country and to be thankful for the freedoms for which it stands. WALKING IN THE TRUTH
Johnny! You march right out of this house! You've been walking in the mud!

Maybe each of us has heard something like this before---right? Or maybe it went like this: "Who's been tramping all over the rug with his wet feet? Johnny, did you walk out in the rain without your boots again?"

There are a lot of things that young people walk in. But have you ever heard of someone walking in the Truth? At least this is something that won't mark up Mom's clean floor.

In the Bible "walking in the truth" means walking according to God's will. It means living with the knowledge that Jesus is our Savior and loving as Jesus loved.

Many people walk in lies. They follow the great liar, the devil. The big lie they walk in is that they do whatever they want. They think they're good enough for God and don't have to keep His commandments or believe in a Savior.

Walking in lies may be fun for a moment--until we are caught. Your friends may find walking in the mud, too, is fun while they're doing it. But when mud is brought in the house, the results aren't pleasant.

At times walking in the truth seems more exciting than staying on the sidewalk. But when we follow paths of Truth, we are following Jesus.

Savior, I long to walk closer to Thee;

Led by Thy guiding hand, ever to be Constantly near Thy side, quickened and purified,

Living for Him who died freely for me.

2 John 4 "I rejoiced greatly to find some of your children following the truth, just as we have been commanded by the Father."

Do you walk in the Truth? Seek the Holy Spirit's help and stay out of the mud of sinful ways.

Day By Day

In this, another important election year, I find myself once again wishing I knew more about the politics of the land.

There seems to be no end to the newspaper and magazine articles about politics and politicians, but many of these are outright contradictions of one another. Most of them leave me wondering what really is the truth.

If you enjoy reading historical facts pertaining to politics, I think you will enjoy the "Huntley-Brinkley Convention and Election Almanac" presented by the Gulf Oil Corporation and the local Alton's Gulf Service Station.

This little 15-page booklet was designed to give television viewers a look at the nature of coverage, past and present, and the fascinating antecedents of the political events themselves. It is filled with interesting notes about our presidents, national elections and the outcomes of political conventions dating back to the first ones in 1832.

The summer months are always filled with weddings, showers and parties for brides. We are glad to publish accounts of these happy occasions and will appreciate help from the persons concerned in getting all the facts down correctly.

If you have a social event to report and have not been contacted, The Plainsman will sincerely appreciate a call at 2266 or 2466. Also, as a help to brides, we'll soon have another information blank ready for the description of the wedding. It will be available at our office in another week or so.

Thank goodness for interested relatives who send me little clippings and items for this column every now and then.

The following is from a Los Angeles newspaper and I'm certainly glad to know the true story of the $100 Waldorf-Astoria cake. It's been making the rounds, with numerous changes, for years now.

One of the most persistent stories about food is that of a woman who had a piece of chocolate cake at the Waldorf-Astoria, enjoyed it, asked for the recipe and got it together with a bill from the chef for $50 or $100 or whatever sum the teller feels is sufficiently impressive.

"The story had long intrigued me, and when I met George Blanc, former executive chef at the Waldorf, I asked him about it. He replied that there was no such incident during his tenure at the hotel.

"My curiosity aroused, a letter to the hotel elicited the following reply from Edward M. Seay, director of public relations.

"The story concerning a special Waldorf-Astoria cake, the recipe for which was said to have been sold to a Waldorf patron, is completely false. It is just one of those mythical anecdote which start about any institution and usually gather momentum at the ladies' bridge club.

"It's still a good story, too bad it isn't true. Not only does the amount purportedly paid for the recipe vary, but I've seen the "Waldorf Astoria $100 Cake" label applied to three entirely different chocolate cake recipes, one of which is more properly identified as "Texas Red Earth Cake."

"Here is one of the "original" Waldorf Astoria $100 Cake recipes. It makes a good chocolate cake with an interesting icing.

WALDORF ASTORIA CAKE

1/4 pound butter
2 cups sugar
2 eggs
4 squares bitter chocolate
2 cups cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups milk
1 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream together the butter and sugar. Add eggs and cooled melted chocolate. Add baking powder and salt to sifted cake flour and add this alternately with the milk to the creamed mixture. Add chopped nuts and vanilla. Grease and flour an angel food tube pan and bake one hour at 350 degrees.

ICING

1 1/2 squares chocolate, melted
1/4 cup butter
pinch of salt
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon vanilla
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar
1 cup chopped nuts

Cream melted chocolate, butter and salt together. When chocolate is cool, add beaten egg. Then add remaining ingredients, except nuts, mixing thoroughly. Stir in nuts.

If desired, the cake can be baked in two nine-inch layers (as I do) in a 350 degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes. The frosting is fairly soft; be sure cake is entirely cool before putting on the frosting. If you are not overly partial to nuts, they can be left out of either the batter or the frosting.

MRS. WAYNE COX

Morgan - Cox Vows Are Read in Sunray Church

Miss Brenda Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Royse Morgan of Sunray, became the bride of Wayne Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Cox of Spearman in a ceremony held at the First Baptist Church of Sunray recently.

Miss Brenda Amos and Miss Joyce Matthews sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Always". They were accompanied by Miss Judy Matthews, who also played a nuptial prelude and the traditional processional and recessional.

Officiating at the ceremony was the Rev. M.G. Upton, pastor, who read the ceremony before an archway entwined with emerald foliage and white stephanotis. White baskets of pink stock flanked the archway.

Miss Chanda Miller of Sunray, maid of honor, wore a dress of pink linen with long tapered sleeves. Her corsage was white feathered carnations.

Keith Meddock of Beaver, Okla. was best man. Johnny Paul Morgan and Reuben Morgan of Sunray, cousins of the bride, served as ushers.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, chose a ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta, styled with a sweetheart neckline and accented by sleeves that tapered to bridal points over her hands.

Her shoulder length veil fell from a crown of single white rose encircled by seed pearls.

She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried out the something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue, and wore a penny in her shoe.

The bride carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations atop a white satin bound Bible edged in white lace, with the corsage held in place by a cascade of white satin streamers, accentuated by love knots. She selected peau de soie shoes to complete her ensemble.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Morgan chose aqua shantung, with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Cox wore a navy blue dress with red accessories. Her corsage was white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception followed in Fellowship Hall.

The bride's table was centered by the traditional tiered cake, with a crystal punch bowl and an arrangement of pink roses completing the setting.

Refreshments of punch, cake, nuts and mints were served by Misses Brenda Amos, Judy Matthews and Joyce Matthews, who alternated at the table. Presiding at the guest book was Miss Patricia Morgan

Homemaking Notes

By Linda Webb

With our Independence Day so near at hand, I thought that this week I should give a few lines to our Star-Spangled Banner. Many families own flags which they proudly display on many special days during the year.

What many of you may not know, is that it is respectful and legal to launder "Old Glory" whenever it becomes soiled. Of course, the flag should never be displayed so it is needlessly exposed to dirt. If it does become soiled with dust and grime that float through the air, you should launder it carefully so you can keep a clean bright flag flying.

of Dumas, cousin of the bride.

A single rose in a bud vase was used on the guest book table.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Troy Blackburn and daughters of Springlake; Mr. and Mrs. C.U. Mannen and Morgan of Delhi, Okla.; Mrs. George Morgan and Patricia of Dumas; Mrs. Bill Page and Sandra of Dumas; Mr. and Mrs. Keith Maddock of Beaver, Okla.; Phyllis Cook and James Roy Patterson of Spearman; Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Cox of Spearman and John Cox, who is stationed in the Air Force in Michigan.

The bride selected a two-piece dress of pink arnel for the wedding trip. Her corsage was lifted from the bridal bouquet. Her accessories were white.

The couple is at home in Spearman at 113 West Second Street. He is employed at Ideal Food Store and she is employed at Boyd's Beauty Salon.

Fortunately, most flags are made of washable fabrics, such as cotton sheeting, cotton bunting, wool, nylon, or a nylon-and-wool blend called "nylanin".

First, pre-treat soiled edges and spots by scrubbing lightly with a soft brush dipped into thick soap or detergent suds. If it is labeled as machine-washable, follow printed directions. Otherwise, squeeze the entire flag through warm water and abundant suds in a deep tub or bathtub. Never twist, wring, or rub the fabric against itself. Rinse well, using cool water at the end, and extract excess moisture. Next, hang the flag on the clothes line as correctly as for display.

When it is almost dry, press the flag lightly on the wrong side with a moderately hot iron, using straight strokes parallel to the stripes. If the stars are appliqued, pad the board with a towel under the blue field. Fold the flag loosely and store it, as required by official Government regulations, where it can't be easily torn, soiled, or damaged.

Many families will be cooking outdoors over this holiday weekend. There are many specials and features on quick-cooking cuts of meats as well as those designed especially for the outdoor grill.

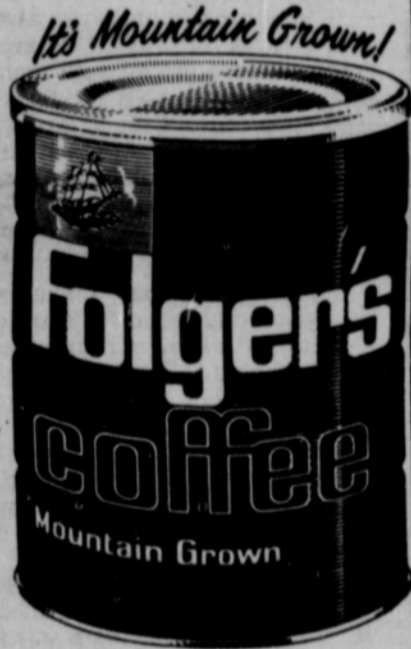

Beef and chicken are still competing strongly for your meat dollars, so you'll see features on these for weeks to come.

Since supplies are large and competition is keen, even tender steaks are featured at lower-than-last-year's prices. Take advantage of this beef bonanza while it lasts. The demand will go up as more people want steaks for grilling.

And a warm weather hint: soap and water make a right smart pair for helping you keep cool when the temperature soars. Bathing two or three times a day, if you can find the time, helps you cool off and relax more than you might realize.

"It is written that man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God."
Dueteronomy 8:3

Even in this modern world today, bread alone is not enough. A man may achieve fame and great wealth, only to discover something still "missing" in his search for happiness. Whatever his means, the man lives by the words of God is richest of all.

LAMENT
 I started in business in 1924.
 In 1928 Wall Street financiers pulled a bear raid and wiped me out.
 In 1933 I laid off all my workers and cut my prices so I could be in the Depression, too.
 In 1938 my employees went on a sit-down strike. They have been sitting down every since.
 In 1941 I was urged to greater production to save human freedoms from the dictators. It was shipped to the Russians.
 In 1943 I was carried out of my office and thrown in the street by the U.S. Army.
 In 1945 I was prosecuted by the Government for selling above the OPA prices.
 In 1946 I was prosecuted by the Government for selling below Fair Trade prices.
 In 1950 my men were reactivated and shipped to Korea to save America.
 In 1962, 30,000 U.S. Army troops occupied my town and 300 U.S. marshalls tear gassed my establishment. A colored gentleman wanted to use the white washroom.
 In 1963 my new five million dollar building was torn down and the vacant lot sold for five thousand dollars for urban renewal.
 The only reason I'm staying in business in 1964 TO SEE WHAT UNDER HEAVEN IS GOING TO HAPPEN NEXT--
