Hansfordites say "NIMBY" to ANR Pipeline Co!

It was a record meeting for Hansford Co. citizens, when they met at the courtroom in Spearman Friday morning. and the crowd was so big the meeting had to be moved to the school house. And, the entire meeting can be summed up in one word! "NIMBY!" which means, Not In My Back Yard! A roused group of citizens from the area, especilly from Oslo, Gruver and near the Michigan Wisconsin plant were on hand to verbally fight the PCB proposed for Hansford County.

Citizens asked every concievable question about the PCB plant, and for the most part the meeting was to let the pipeline officials know that the people of Hansford County do not want the dump. In fact, it was learned that we have had the dump all of these years, here in our own back yard. But, the company proposes to dump another 800 truck loads of waste material in the Hansford yard, in the next 4 years. This is a total of 200 trucks per year. The PCB material will be hauled in by trucks, which are lined and used only for hauling PCB material.

Some of the people who live near the plant in the Northern part of the county were so very upset, they could hardly talk about the "very idea of dumping waste from 16 sites in Hansford County!"

PCB is used in electrical transformers in the U. S. It is an oily substance, also is very waxy in substance. The PCB solution being dumped at the Hansford Plant is drained from the Compressors at the plant when they are slowed down. The drains are located under the compressors, and piped to the 40 acre dump site. Southwest of Northern Hansford plant.

The proposed dump site for the 800 loads of PCB will be in a 2 1/2 acre clay line pit with plastic (2 lavers) and perforated pipe in the bottom of the pit to catch any of the PCB that might leak through the plastic, if ever it does.

There were so many questions asked at the meeting, it was almost impossible to get them all. But, here are a few: David Long, of Guymon, stated that the original land was sold to the Pipeline Copmpany to be used as a water disposal system.

Mr. Stedje of the Oslo Community wanted to know who issued the permit in 1951? The permit was not registered with the Rail Road Commission according toe Mr. Stedje. The permit is Numbered POO2101, according to Stedje.

Also. Stedje wanted to know what had been buried in the N.W. corner of the present 40 acre dump site. Officials stated that this was a part of the test section, where they had dug a trench to test the soil for the Other questions asked officials was will ANR be the only user of the site? And they stated that they would.

Why not put pits at each location of the 16 sites along the pipeline that have PCB?

And the company replied that it was because of economics that they wanted to put the one pit in Hansford County hwere they could maintain it. Many at the meeting asked if the animals in the area could be contaminated by the PCB's? And the pipeline officials stated that they were 99.9999 sure that nothing like this could happen.

Mrs. Johnson of Oslo asked what would happen to the PCB in a 70 mile per hour wind, if one of trucks turned over and the toxic material was lost on the highway?

What would an carth quake do to the pit?
What effect would this PCB pit have on the land values in the area?
Does the PCB in this area cause cancer?

This was the biggest town-hall meeting in the history of Hansford County, and possibly by far the most important. Officials and the public will have much more to say about this important subject in the near future. But, the meeting can - "NIMBY!"

MRS. RASOR ASKS WHY?

Mr. Dave Long from Guymon--Why?

Hansford Citizens asked why us...Put your PCB dumps where the PCB's are!

ANR PIPELINE COMPANY

BACKGROUND

SUMMARY SHEET PROPOSED PCB MONOFILL HANSFORD COUNTY, TEXAS

ANR Pipeline Company transports natural gas from Texas/Oklahoma and Louisiana/Gulf of Mexico through two pipelines to the upper Midwest. During the 1960's and early 1970's, small quantities of a lubricant called Pydraul AC were used at about 30 compressor stations along the two lines. Pydraul AC contained about 57% polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs). Purchase records indicate that about 2½ to 5 gallons per year were used at each station until about 1973 when inventories were depleted.

Investigations undertaken by ANR at its stations have shown that small quantities of Pydraul AC have bypassed equipment seals and entered drainlines. The lubricant made its way through the drainlines to onsite lagoons, where it was deposited in the bottom sediments.

ANR has voluntarily tested its stations to determine the extent and concentrations of PCBs in the environment at each station. Although not legally required to do so. ANR has embarked on a program to clean up the PCBs at the affected stations. To date, 14 of the 30 stations have had the PCB-bearing sediment excavated and disposed of at commercial landfills. Generally, these 14 stations had relatively small volumes of sediment; the amount excavated thus far is but 15% of the projected total amount.

WHAT ARE PCBs?

- They range from light oils to heavy waxy substances.
- They were discovered over 100 years ago.
- They were produced from 1929 to 1977.
- They were used primarily because of their fire-retardant
- They have been used in the manufacture of common products such as plastics, adhesives, newsprint, caulking compounds and paint.
- The electrical industry still uses an estimated 750 million pounds in this country.

> ANR Pipeline Company PCB Monofill E.G. Hill Compressor Station Hansford County, Texas

O: Where will this monofill be located? A: It will be located in the central portion of an existing 40-acre evaporation pond at the E.G. Hill Compressor Station. This location places it well within the ANR property boundaries in Hansford County.

Q: Is it safe? A: Yes. In its filing with the Environmental Protection Agency, ANR has pointed out that the monofil will be entirely enclosed. It will be constructed with a one-foot thick, highly impermeable clay base covered with an 80-mil-thick (about one sixteenth of an inch) high density polyethylene liner, which provides an impervious barrier.

The walls of the vault will also be lined with the polyethelene sheet. When the vault is filled with the PCB-bearing material, the top will be covered with the liner and topsoil will be spread over it. The soil will then be seeded. ANR personnel employed at the compressor station will constantly monitor the vault.

Expert consultants hired by ANR have made a thorough study of the subsoil and location of underground aquafers and have determined that there is no liklihood the PCBs will ever migrate downward 225 feet to the water supplies.

Q: Does ANR have any plans to turn this into a commercial toxic waste disposal site? A: Absolutely not. This monofill will be used strictly bny ANR for storage of PCB-bearing soil.

Q: Will your monofill be insured? A: Yes. We anticipate no problems obtaining sufficient insurance coverage and, of course, will post any bonds required by local, state or federal agencies.

Q: How will the material be delivered to the monofill? A: By truck. The beds of the trucks will be lined with polyethelene and covered. Trucks will be arriving at the site infrequently and over a lengthy period of time so that there will be no noticable increase in traffic on county roads.

ANR Pipeline Company has proposed to the Dallas regional office of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) that the Company be allowed to build a solid waste disposal facility at it E.G. Hill natural gas compressor station in Hansford County. Texas.

The facility will serve as a permanent above-ground vault for PCB contaminated soil and sediment found at some of its facilities in midwestern and southern states, including the E.G. Hill

Even though PCB's are not classified as hazardous material by the EPA, the Company-as part of a voluntary clean-up program -has been excavating the contaminated soil and sending that material to licensed, commercial landfills for disposal. However, this voluntary effort has been severely hampered by periodic shut-downs of the these landfills by regulatory agencies. These shutdowns, plus the high cost of using these facilities and concern for future enviromental liability, has prompted ANR Pipeline to seek an alter native means of disposal.

Based on extensive studies by Dames & Moore, a nationally known environmental consulting firm retained by ANR Pipeline, conditions at E.G. Hill are very favorable for construction of such a facility. These conditions include: low population density, dry climate, low soil permeability, lack of soil moisture, extreme depth (225 feet) of the water table and the non-migration tendency of PCBs found at the site, i.e., PCB deposits at E.G. Hill have migrated only a few inches--if at all--in the past 25 years, according to Dames & Moore testing.

ANR Pipeline proposes to design, build and operate the facility in accordance with all applicable state and federal regulations. The proposed design calls for an average sidewall thickness of 23 feet and a total area of up to 2.5 acres. The vault's base would consist of a synthetic liner placed over an impermeable compacted clay base. Average above-ground height of the vault would be 11 feet.

Active operation (filling) of the vault will be completed in threefour years and only solid, dry materials will be deposited. An environmental monitoring program will be instituted to ensure the vault's effectiveness, neverthe-

Baker & Taylor hold Christmas Party

Baker & Taylor Drilling Company employees enjoyed their Christmas Party at Cattleman's Supper Club on the evening of Friday December 13 at 7:30 p.m. Steak dinners and homemade candies were enjoyed by all. After the meal a Christmas story was told. "Twas the night before Christmas" as the story started out and everybody had a turn of adding a few verses of their version of the story. Needless to say Santa and Rudoulph had many different stops and adventures before they wished "and to all a good night." Next New Year resolutions were made by each person to their spouse or friend. We will have to wait until later in 1986 to see if these really go into effect! Guests Jim Myers and Wife Becky entertained by guitar and singing Christmas songs.

Later some very funny gag gifts were exchanged. Before the evening ended everyone joined in singing Deck the Halls, Jingle Bells, and We Wish You A Merry Christmas. And from everyone at Baker & Taylor Drilling Company we do Wish you and Yours a Very Merry Christmas!

Present were: Billy Close and guest Wanda Homer of Amarillo; Cheryl Gibson; Eddie Martin; Frank Salgado; Roy & Charlene Bulls: Charlie and Claudine Laxton; Ed & Sarah Garner; Jack and Pat Hamilton: P.Terry & Sherry Moore; Robbin & Lisa Keetch; Max & Carolyn Taylor; James & Jo Brown; Chester & Susie Slaten; Harvey & LaRue Whitefield; Harold & Joyce Frost; Joe & Elodia Bravo; Kenney & Francis Loftin; Stan & Ronda Witten.

Beware of Holiday Food Poisoning

Holiday meals are leisurely affairs, with family and friends sitting around eating, visiting and enjoying themselves. At the same time, the food is "sitting" around with them -- left on the table or even put in the oven to "stay warm for supper." That's one reason why food poisoning is common during the holiday season, says Texas A&M

You can survive that party

No need to declare a diet moratorium just because you're going to lots of holiday parties. Here are some smart strategies for facing food without over eating from Weight Watchers Area Director Joyce Aron Nimetz.

-Don't go to a party revenously hungry. Fortify yourself with a half cup of low-fat yogurt or a fruit snack before you leave home. -Appraise the entire buffet table to decide what you're going to eat in advance of your attack.

-Pass up hors d'oeuvres that are buttered, breaded, fried or covered with sauces. Concentrate on crudites, fruit, shrimp and a small piece of hard cheese.

-If you want to be sure of your nibbles, bring along a hostess gift of low-calorie dip for the crudites. -Take up a postion away from the hors d'oeuvres trays and loeded coffee table.

-At family feasts, try to fill your own plate, so you can control kinds of foods-foods that are readily available at your grocery store. For the meeting nearest you, call toll free 1-800-692-4329.

portion size. If someone else does the serving, praise everything lavishly, but eat only what you estimate is a normal portion and leave the rest.

-When you're finished eating, hold your coffee cup in both hands to keep from picking up your fork.

-Develop an allergy to help you say no ("Thank you so much. It looks perfectly delicious, but I'm allergic to chocolate!")

-Bring fresh, out-of-season fruit (a ripe pineapple, perhaps) to family gatherings--a welcome contribution and something to eat besides heavy holiday fare. --Don't skip meals--even on party days. You'll just make youself nervous, edgy and hungry and feel like stuffing when you finally get to the food. Eat three wellbalanced meals every day. Plan low-calorie snacks to take the edge off hunger and give you energy when you're exhausted. -Stay away from alcohol? Ask for a Virgin Mary (spiced-up tomato juice minus the vodka) or a fruit spritzer (fruit juice in a glass of club soda).

-Before and after a meal, keep yourself occupied with a glass of calorie-free soda with a slice of lime.

-Get through parties one a time. If you binge, treat it as a small. unimportant error and go right back to you diet.

Bells

Bells have announced the glad tidings of Christ's birth for hundreds of years. A bell was considered a perceptive, living thing in Medieval times.

In fact, the bell received a special dedication in a ceremony much like a baptism and if not properly dedicated it was felt it lost the power to call believers to prayer or the power to drive away storms. Folding bells of red and green tissue paper for decorating the ings and happy memories. Welcoming someone new to your family's Christmas needs the endorsement of everyone in your home. if it's too hectic of a time at your house, you might like to try it at other times during the

The family members can have a "thinking session" to think of persons who might be lonely this Christmas. There may be "forgotten" friends and relatives, or you may wish to ask a nursing home if there are residents there with no one to share Christmas. Or you might like to contact your local churches who will probably be very happy to put you in touch with some known lonely ones.

State and county social services can often supply you with names. Foreign students may be visiting colleges and universities near you. You never know -- your Christmas new acquaintance may become your very best year-round friend.

Happiness at Christmastime means

rear-Round Christmas Tree

Need to add an evergreen tree to your landscape? Have your nurseryman save a balled-and-burlapped evergreen to be delivered near Christmas. After the tree arrives, let the ball soak up some water in a tub; later remove the burlap and let the access water drain. Then wrap the ball in a sheet of plastic and tie securely. The foliage can be sprayed with an antidesiccant which you can buy at garden centers. This solution will also be good for cut trees. It dries in a thin, transparent film allowing carbon dioxide and oxygen passage to continue yet it helps prevent the drying of needles.

The tree may be placed indoors a couple of days before Christmas but it's advised not to keep it inside more than a week. After the holidays plant it in a hole you've previously dug and mulch it to keep it from freezing.

Trimmed Tree Cake

Bake one 13" x 9" cake; cool. Cut and arrange the cake as shown. Mark the sloping sides into 4 equal parts; cut in about 1" at each mark and out diagonally to meet the second mark for the tree branches. Use these pieces for the trunk, as shown. Spreadicing between these pieces to hold them together.

One special frosting is made from 4 cups of a non-dairy whipped topping to which you've added green food coloring and ½ teaspoon peppermint extract. Swirl the icing on. Trim the tree cake with colorful can-

Hospital bond issue carries 328-120

Hansford County voters said yes to a bond issue to improve the Hansford Hospital and add some 45 beds to the Manor. The bond issue carried almost 3 to 1, with every precinct in the county voting for the big issue.

In Spearman voters voted 230 For and 85 against;

In Guver voters voted 65 for, and 24

Morse voted 22 for and only 2 against;

Oslo voted ll for and 9 against!

It was an overwhelming vote of confidence in the Manor. the Hospital and actually a vote of confidence for the entire Hospital and Manor operation. The two and one-half million dollar bond issue went without a hitch.

Voters approved the 45 bed addition to the Manor; a new laundry facility will be constructed, as the hospital is now spending some $36,000 per year hiring this done; a new dining room facility will be constructed; 8 new suites will be built at the Manor; 16 private beds and 16 semi-private beds will be added to the Hansford Manor. There will be many other fine improvements at the Hospital and Manor and the entire Panhandle area is proud of Hansford County voting for this important part of our county! Congratulations to everyone that voted in this election.

Ownbey pageant finalist

Miss Liz Ownbey, age 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Ownbey, Vinita, has been selected to be a finalist in the 1986 Miss Oklahoma National Teen-Ager Pageant to be held at Oklahoma City University. May 23,24,25, 1986. The Oklahoma National Teen-Ager Pageant is the Official State Finals to the Miss National Teen-Ager Pageant to be held in August, 1986.

There will be contestants from all over the state competing for the title of Miss Oklahoma National Teen-Ager. Aimee Everett of Oklahoma City, the reigning 1985 Oklahoma National Teen-Ager, will crown the Oklahoma Queen. Aimee represented Oklahoma when she competed with 51 other state queens at the National Pageant, which was syndicated for television.

The 1986 winner of the Oklahoma National Teen-Ager Pageant will receive a $1,000 cash scholarship, a full-four year tuition scholarship to Oklahoma City University, worth over $15,000, a full-tuition modeling scholarship to Barbizon of Oklahoma City, other prizes, and an all-expense paid trip to compete in the nationally syndicated Miss National Teen-Ager Pageant. At the National Pageant, she will be competing for over $75,000 in cash, scholarships, and prizes.

Oklahoma City University will also be awarding over $40,000 in full thition scholarships to the following pageant award winners: Winner, First and Second Runners-Up, Congeniality, Hospitality, Citizenship. Essay, and Talent Winners.

Liz Ownbey

Each contestant accepted will be equested to participate in the Volunteer Community Service Program of the National Teen-Ager Pageant. This program teaches teenagers to share and to participate in shoool and civic activities.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic achievement-leadership, poise-personality and appearance. There is no swim suit competition. Talent may be presented at the op-tion of the participant or an oral essay on the subject of "What's Right About America"

Miss Ownbey's hobbies include, basketball, cheerleading, swimming and tennis.

Her grandparents are Jenna V. Ownbey, Bodil Stackhouse and Craig Hutchison, Spearman and great grandmother, Ora Lee Blackburn, also of Spearman.
