CHIVALRY'S NOT DEAD - When Ruth Ann Duckworth decided it was time to change tags on her car for the 1965 models, she picked high school's parking lot for the job, probably wondering if there wouldn't just happen to be a chivalrous young man around somewhere. There was. The gallant young man who took over the king-sized screwdriver (and the tags - putting - on job) is Dwayne Caldwell.

Merchants Planning Series Of Elaborate Monthly Sale Events For Spring, Summer

Muleshoe, merchants will complete plans for a breakfast planning stage for several days, a breakfast last Tuesday morning for an elaborate autumn sales promotions described as "the most outstanding concerted promotion events ever held in Muleshoe."

The program has been in the planning stage for several days, a breakfast last Tuesday morning kicking off the discussion series. At another meeting of a retailers' sub-committee headed by Harvey Bass, further plans were formed for the elaborate program.

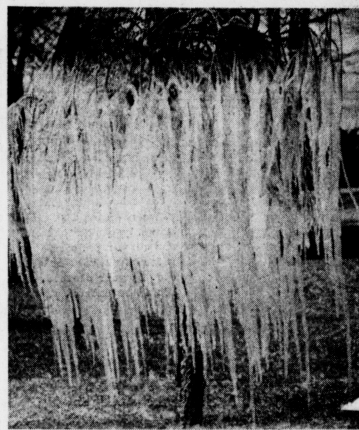

The meeting Tuesday morning at Paul's will be of the full retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce when the sub-committee will make its report of Thursday's session. Definite action will be taken at next Tuesday's breakfast.

Bass said the promotion series will run throughout the balance of the year with different kinds of sales each month designed to draw shoppers to Muleshoe "which has much to offer the buyers in the way of prices and merchandise."

First of the big events will be a "Twenty-two sale" Monday, Feb. 22 when the figures "22" will figure prominently in the Washington's birthday promotion. Practically all stores have indicated they will make special offers, marking items down to a ridiculously low level to attract buyers to Muleshoe.

For example, one dealer is planning to offer a used television set in working order, for only 22 cents. Other merchants have indicated they will present similar bargains.

A possible St. Patrick's Day sale also is among the proposals, YOU'D WEEP, TOO! - Everybody knows that a weeping willow doesn't actually weep - or does it? This one on the courthouse lawn wept copiously this past week when the sprinkler system was left on over night. The "tears" reached all the way to the street.

'Big' Hijacker Robs Little Man, Gets $150 Cash

A night - time trip back to his mobile home from an outdoor privy proved costly to 35-year - old Oscar Fore.

Fore, a small man who lives in a small mobile home on U. S. 84 east near the potato field, was returning to his trailer when a man - "a big, strong man", grabbed Fore from behind and demanded his money.

He got it, Fore says he had somewhere between $135 and $150 in his wallet which the "big man" relieved him of and then made a hasty retreat in the general direction of the railroad tracks.

Fore told sheriff's officers he was not hurt by his nighttime assailant but that he was unable to get even a glimpse of the big man.

Officers investigated but they found no trace of the hijacker.

Fore's small mobile home is located under some trees joining U. S. 84.

MAIF In Action - Part IV

Labor, Housing Key To Agriculture

Despite the fact that this is primarily an agricultural area, only 61 suggestions were made relative to agriculture at the Muleshoe Area Improvement Forum held last autumn. Perhaps this is due to the fact, it was pointed out, that agriculture already is well established and improvement policies are being carried on constantly.

However, as the co-ordinator of the program pointed out, it is important that a well-defined program of activities concerning agriculture and livestock be included in this new program of work. This came from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce which compiled all the suggestions and classified them into six general categories. This article, dealing with agriculture and livestock, is No. 1 in the series appearing in

Got A Buffalo To Sell?

Do you just happen to have a nice, young, juicy buffalo roaming around in your back yard?

If you do, the committee planning for the big July 3 barbecue would like to have it. Or, you can keep it until just before the banquet, if you prefer.

However, Harold King of King's Feed Lots has offered to do the job of getting the buffalo into prime condition just in case you are not familiar with what a young buffalo likes to eat. Seems King has boned up on such matters and knows how to fatten a buffalo, a lot get, incidentally, in these 20th century days.

To be specific, the committee is seeking a yearling buffalo. Seems they make the best buffalo barbecue. Older than that, and the buffalo tends to get leathery.

Fattening out the young buffalo - once he has been localized - will be no particular problem at King's where they feed some 14,000 cattle all the time. They are going to fatten up some beef also for the barbecue for those persons who prefer beef to buffalo.

Plans for the barbecue are still in the planning stage. About all that's set for sure is the date - Saturday, July 3.

Among improvements will be a completely new screen, a new concessions stand, tile rest rooms, new carpet and complete reconditioning of all equipment to bring quality of the productions up to top notch, Neyland said,

Said the report from WTC: "Agriculture and livestock production provide your highest source of income and your biggest business community... dependent on your economy."

The report also said, "good leadership from the rural areas was represented in your agricultural session, and the cards filled in at this session will provide names of leadership that could be a part of your agricultural committee."

Ten general program objectives were brought out in the category of agriculture and livestock. Twenty-three persons suggested that MAIF "work for improved agribusiness relationship, and 12 suggested close work with agricultural leaders, to assure adequate farm labor - housing and service facilities needed to accommodate migratory and bracero labor. These two suggestions lead all other suggestions in this category.

The report said "much discussion in the agriculture session for need of support from the business community to work for extension of existing legislation that provides bracero labor. This should have immediate attention."

Nine persons suggested that a "study be made for additional farm - to - market roads of all facilities affecting the Muleshoe trade area included."

A farmers' market was suggested, with the recommendation from six persons that a study be made "to determine providing facilities for marketing of locally produced crops. Feasibility of marketing asso-that an annual award be given to "outstanding farm family based on soil and water conservation practices to be presented at the annual chamber membership banquet."

Additional cash crops were suggested by three persons with a soil's study to determine the adaptability of new crops.

Another item under the heading of agriculture and livestock included two suggestions to "seek improvement and expansion of existing rural telephone program."

A constant study was also recommended to "determine new underground water conservation and irrigation water supplies and reserves."

A suggestion also was made

Hordes of visitors proved Thomas Jefferson's undoing. The steward at Monticello, his estate near Charlottesville, Virginia, groaned: "I have often sent a wagon-load of hay up to the stable and the next morning there would not be enough to make a bird's nest. I have killed a fine beef and it would all be eaten in a day or two." After Jefferson's death, his daughter had to sell Monticello to pay his debts.

Christian Science Club To Host Tea Wednesday

"God is a spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth." This reference from the Gospel of John sets the theme of the Bible lesson titled "Spirit" to be read at Christian Science services Sunday.

Have you had trouble lately with food sticking on that old cast iron skillet or griddle. Perhaps it needs to be re-seasoned. Toss on a cast iron skillet or griddle first scour it with fine steel wool; scrub, rinse, and dry well. Brush the griddle's baking surface with several coats of unaltered fat or salad oil. Heat it slowly atop the stove or in the oven for two or three hours; renew the fat or oil coating at 20 minute intervals. After the griddle has cooled, scrub it in hot soap or detergent suds then rinse and wipe it dry.

TRIAL — WATCHING

What has become of the ancient and honorable pastime of trial - watching? In old England, where it was known as "attendance at court," people of all classes indulged but today, except at a few well - publicized spectacles, there is often no audience at all.

True, we watch plenty of make - believe trials. On TV, in movies, at the theater, the trial scene is the cornerstone of countless dramatic thrillers.

But the real courtroom adds something vital. That grim young man on the witness stand is no actor earning his weekly wage. He is really afraid he may be found guilty of burglary and sent to jail for three years. That aging widow, seeking damages for the death of her husband, really needs the money to give her children a respectable upbringing.

Perhaps you feel that trial - watching is a form of idle curiosity. Surely it shows curiosity. But is such curiosity idle? The law itself doesn't think so. The silent spectator, there only to watch, is not just tolerated but welcomed. In the eyes of the law, he serves two useful purposes:

1) He helps justice. His show of interest tends to put all of the participants on their mettle. The dictatorial judge, the apathetic juror, the dishonest witness — all may fear that they might, somehow, run afoul of that anonymous observer in the back of the courtroom.

2) He helps himself. He learns at first hand how democracy meets the acid test: the way it treats an individual. The things he finds wrong can make him a more constructive citizen. The things he finds right can breathe fresh meaning into the slogans of freedom.

Access to the courtroom may be limited in a few special circumstances. For example, if the testimony is sordid, children may be barred to protect their morals. Troublemakers may be kept out to preserve decorum. Crowding may be forbidden as a matter of public safety.

As a rule however, the courtroom doors are wide open. No one will take your name or ask your business. You can walk in or out at any time.

Jail 'Customers' Plectiful - Only Two Cells Vacant

Bailey county's jail, official capacity 12, is well inhabited these days, a check of jail records Saturday revealed. The jail has only two "vacancies."

The record showed six are being held on charges of forgery, and two of that number have been in the county jail for some time, facing charges on alleged crimes which took place last year. Three of those being held were arrested this week after an attempted passing of a forged check failed.

Charged in that case are Leliana Marie Romero, Jessie P. Romero and Modesto Jaramilla. They are charged with attempting to pass a forged $75 check on E. H. Childs, a Bailey county farmer.

All three were arrested shortly after 18-year-old Modesto Jaramilla attempted to cash the check at Muleshoe State Bank.

Also held in jail are two persons who face revocation of probation, one for aggravated assault and one on a worthless check charge.

Indians speak more than 800 languages and dialects, the National Geographic says. These range from the Hindi of millions to Assamese tongues used by as few as half a dozen people.

Held in connection with the Independence Day weekend also will be the annual fireworks display, and a special feature this year July 3 will be the big barbecue when buffalo and beef will be barbecued for a gigantic feed.

Several other sales events are being planned. August will include a "back-to-school" promotion, it was explained. "We hope all retailers in Muleshoe will be present Tuesday morning at 8:45 when the plans will be formulated for the sales events of the year," Bass summed up. "We have a lot to offer the folk in the Muleshoe area - good stores, good prices and good merchandise. We want to let as many people as possible know about these things."

July's promotions probably will take place July 1, 2 and 3, although details have not been worked out for that phase of the sales events. Of course included will be the old-timers' celebration, the talent show and the unveiling of the life-sized statue of a mule. Sales events probably to be held on July 1 and 2, likely will be called "Mule Daze."

Senator Tower To Introduce Bill To Extend Income Tax-Paying Time

Sen. John Tower has introduced in the Senate a measure allowing additional time for the payment of 1964 income taxes due because of under-withholding.

The bill provides that an individual may elect to pay 1964 taxes, if those taxes are due as a result of under-withholding during 1964, in quarterly payments over a period of up to 12 months.

The schedule of payments would be as follows:

(1) If the amount due does not exceed $100, payment could be made "not later than three months after the last day prescribed by the Internal Revenue Code . . . for payment of such individual's income tax for his taxable year beginning in 1964."

(2) If the amount due is between $100 and $500, it may be paid in two equal installments.

"payable not later than three months and six months, respectively" of that date.

(3) If the amount due exceeds $500, it could be paid in our equal quarterly installments over a 12-month period.

In introducing the measure, Senator Tower pointed out that the change in withholding rates of the 1964 revenue act resulted in undue hardships for many taxpayers.

"The withholding rate under the Revenue Act of 1964 is 14 percent, as opposed to the old rate of 18 percent. The Revenue Act provided for a two-stage reduction in individual rates, the first to take effect in January 1964, and the second in January 1965. In the House-passed version (1963) of the bill there was provided a like two-stage reduction in withholding, 15 percent the first year, and 14 percent the following year.

"Since the Revenue Act did not pass in 1963, the 18 percent withholding rate continued in effect until March of 1964 and the final version of the bill provided for an immediate transition to the 14 percent withholding rate. The effect of an 18 percent withholding tax for two months of 1964 and a 14 percent rate for 10 months, although making for an average rate of 14.7 percent for the year, has resulted for many in a withholding rate reduction in excess of the tax reduction given by the bill. This underwithholding for many in all but two months of 1964 resulted in the expenditure by the taxpayer of many millions of dollars, thus giving the economy is so-called "boost."

"I am not critical in general of the International Revenue's efforts to make these many taxpayers aware of the plight they will be in once April 15 of this year rolls around. However, I do wish the IRS had done more, and I am sure many more will share this wish when the extent of under-withholding becomes known.

"I am quite sure every taxpayer heard about the tax cut. I am equally sure very few taxpayers heard anything about the under-withholding certainty. The taxpayers' pay envelope was fatter, or so he thought. Solely as a result of the tax cut he had heard so much about, most of the money was spent, as was expected. What was not known by the taxpayer was the fact he was spending money he would have to repay later.

"I frankly don't feel we can blame the taxpayer for this plight. True, I've always thought it would be a good idea if more taxpayers were more aware of their federal government's expenditures, more aware of wages withheld for taxes. I still think this is a good idea, but I would never propose to do it in such a way that would be unfair to the taxpayer, and I think this is what we have done in the Revenue Act of 1964," Senator Tower

Fight is Shaping Up On Connally's Plan To Re-Group State Colleges

By VERN SANFORD

Texas Press Association AUSTIN — Education still rates top priority in the State capital. But it was viewed in a new light after Gov. John Connally revealed his program to the State Legislature.

Connally took the suggestions of his Committee on Education Beyond the High School that a strong coordinating board be created to administer State colleges and universities. He announced his plan to put public junior colleges under that board and then told the Legislators the State should assume full financing of instructional costs of junior college academic programs.

Real surprise in Connally's approach to higher education came in his proposal that all existing college and university boards of regents be abolished and the higher education institutions be regrouped into three systems.

Even this idea held an added surprise, since Connally recommended establishment of an agricultural and technical university in San Antonio, to serve all of South Texas.

Under the three system approach, there would be a University of Texas System composed of the University of Texas in Austin, Texas Western College, Arlington State College, North Texas State University, University of Houston, Texas Southern University and all medical and dental units.

Texas State University System would consist of A&M University, Texas Technological College, Prairie View A&M College, Tarleton State College, Lamar State College of Technology, Texas A&I College, and the proposed San Antonio University.

A State Senior College System would include Midwestern University, Pan American College, East Texas State College, Sam Houston State Teachers' College, Southwest Texas State College, West Texas State University, Stephen F. Austin State College, Sul Ross College and Angelo State College.

TIPS...

FROM THE OFFICE OF HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENTS

LAUNDRY EQUIPMENT

By Jean Martin
 Co. Home Dem. Agent
 The most modern - saving location for the home washer and dryer is at right angles to each other.

Studies have shown that the best location is to have the washer on the left and the dryer on the right, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture housing specialists.

Allow a work space three feet deep and four feet wide in front of the washer. Allow one foot between the appliances. It's easier to do the laundry if there is enough room to work easily.

Other considerations in locating the laundry might be:
 1. On the main floor, to save climbing stairs.
 2. With a view of the play yard if you want to supervise the children while you work.
 3. Near the kitchen if you want to the laundry while you prepare meals or clean up.
 4. Near the bedroom and bathroom area if you prefer, to do the laundry and mending along with housework in the sleeping area.
 5. For economy in installation, it should be located near the kitchen and bath.
 6. For satisfactory washes, it must be near the water heater. Space and equipment for doing the laundry - related chores are most important. It takes more than a washer and a dryer - no matter how automatic they are. Each of the steps in doing the laundry needs to be considered when planning the laundry area.

WHEN YOU SEW -

SEW IN WASHABILITY
 Be Sure "Findings" Are As

Suds - Safe as the Fabric
 Co. Home Demonstration Agent
 Easy washability is a main attraction of fabrics made from synthetic fibers, so be sure to "sew in" washability when you make a garment from one of these fabrics. See to it that the thread, linings, bindings, fasteners, and shoulder pads are as suds - safe as the fabric itself. Also choose washable trimmings, or else make them detachable.

WASHABLE THREAD: Textured nylon thread is recommended for sewing synthetics. It is equally suitable for silks and woollens as well as for washable, stretch, and knit fabrics. It is advisable to test stitching before you start, and to back-stitch seams and darts. Make sure that thread and yarn used for embroidery and other decorative purposes are fast - color.

WASHABLE LININGS AND INTERFACINGS: Interfacing materials which are thoroughly washable, crease resistant, and hold their shape come in different weights to be used for practically any type of fabric, back or stiffening - purposes. Crisp nylon net may be used for very light stiffening. Nylon or taffeta makes very satisfactory washable linings.

Noise can rub us up sleep, make us tense and jumpy and decrease our general efficiency. A continued exposure to noise may make us more susceptible to accidents by cutting down our ability to discern sirens or shouted warnings.

What's to be done about our noisy society? Many industrialists have already taken steps to sound - proof work areas in noisy factories and issue ear plugs or earmuffs to workers. The rest of us who are plagued by the day-to-day noises of a busy world and family can do something, too.

If you plan to build or buy a home soon, check with the contractor; he'll be able to offer suggestions to cut down on noisiness in your home.

If you are already settled in your home, remember the noise problem if you make any additions or changes.

One simple step costs nothing and can be used in almost every home to combat the noise problem. Set aside a room or an area as a "quiet place." Study your house or apartment to see which part of it can most easily be cut off from the majority of noise. Put your TV, stereo and other noise-makers in the opposite end of the house.

Such a quiet place won't completely solve the ever-growing problem of noise, but it will go far toward cutting down on family tension and giving the ears in your family a rest.

Who would ever think noise could be a health hazard?

Health experts definitely think that excessive noise can be a detriment to health.

We can no longer confine this problem to industry, factories and airports; homes are noisier today.

Bigger and noisier appliances are being crammed into homes. We have more extensive heating and cooling systems, more TV and hi-fi sets, more of just about everything that adds to the general supply of everyday noise. And if these marvels aren't enough, our children fill in playing "shoot 'em up" or the latest pop record.

Modern home design with its spaciousness and smooth, hard surfaces is no help. Popular decorating materials such as glass, stone, brick, paneling and vinyl floor covering reflect sound waves instead of absorbing them.
