"They only do a few things, but they do them real well," is the way the Spearman coa-ches described the Shamrock Irish football team.

The Fighting Irish will be here Friday night to try and upset the homecoming cele-bration of the Spearman Lynx and exes.

Colie Huffman has transformed the so-so Irishmen of past years into a finely drilled football team that has lost only to Dalhart 19-6 since dropping the opener to Mc-Lean 6-0. The Irish whipped Stinnett 35-7 two weeks ago, but the Rattlers were without the services of two of their starters .

Man Coming To Discuss Creek Dam

An official for the district office of the Bureau of Recla-mation in Amarillo will be here Nov. 2 to discuss the Palo Duro Creek dam with the Chamber of Commerce Water Resources Committee. Jim Burks and Johnnie Lee, chairmen of the committee, said R.C. Lord, assistant dir-ector of the Amarillo office, will be here for a luncheon meeting. An official for the district ector of the Amarillo office, will be here for a luncheon meeting. Lord will be bringing all the materials the office has on the proposed dam on the Palo Duro. This material includes every-thing from the feasibility re-port to the projected rate of evaporation of water stored be-hind the dam. The Chamber of Commerce is now working to get the dam included in the Texas Water Conservation plan, it appears this will be accomplished and when it is done, the chances of getting the dam constructed will improve immensely. Federal water officials have indicated recently that water conservation has reached the point that area with water con-servation possibilities will not be left undeveloped. If local governments do not conserve the water, the Federal govern-ment is going to take control of the projects. Grandmother had quite a pantry, which she kept well stocked. It was a rare occasion when she did not have several weeks' supply of food on hand. How many of us bother to maintain a sizable reserve of food supplies today? Not too many, 1'm afraid.

many, 1tm afraid. Each person should keep enough food on hand for at least 14 days. This recommen-dation is not based solely upon possibilities of war emergencies or natural disasters which could occur at any time.

Another excellent reason for keeping a well-stocked pantry is an economic one. Although is an economic one. Although the original investment could run into several dollars, such a food stockpile be quite a bud-get stretcher. Everyone right now is becom-ing quite concerned about the high food prices, so here are a few wise pointers to help you keep down your spending for food. food

1. Make a shopping list and use it as a guide. Money can be easily wasted on impulse pur-

money spent for "extras" (im-pulse purchases). Next week, I will go into more detail on Better Use of Your Food Dollar, to help you save money on your food pur-chases chases. Now, on to quite a different subject, but a timely one---The fall and winter season is the time to check and decide whether replacement plants are needed in the home landscaping. Maybe a rose bush has died or failed to live up to expecta-tions, or there is a gap in the shrub border where a new plant is needed. Or do you have ade-quate shade in your outdoor living area? Make a list of your landscape needs and be ready to take advantage of the selections offered to early buyers by nursery and garden centers. The natural inclination, is to put off garden work until late spring when everything is green-ing up and the spring flowers are in bloom. Then suddenly comes the urge to plant trees and shrubs and a rush to the numery or garden center for nursery or garden center for plants only to find picked-over stock remaining. Balled and burlapped plants and those grown in containers can be transplanted any time and those grown in containers can be transplanted any time of the year. Many of the de-ciduous plants, those that lose their leaves each fall, can be more easily handled or trans-planted in a bare root condi-tion. For best results, however, bare root plants should be set out in the late fall and winter from mid-November through February in most areas of Tex-as, Planting during this period gives ample time foor good root development before spring growth begins. With proper care, bare root plants can be set out as late as March and A pril. Their suc-cess, however, is dependent upon condition of the nursery stock used and the care they receive for six months after planting. locally, as they are cheaper at this time.

5. Save by purchasing larger amounts of food when you can use them or store them properly. Take advantage of special sales, but don't buy something your family can't or won't eat.
6. Read newspaper ads for good buys and specials.
If you want to spend less money, you will need to give more time to planning and usually more time and energy to buying and preparing food.
When you buy more carefully, you must acquire knowledge and make careful comparisonsthis requires time and energy.
By planning your shopping carefully, considerable savings in time spent on trips, savings in

WOMAN OF THE YEAR - Mrs. Claude Jackson (left) receives a prize for being Hansford County Home Demonstration Wo-man of the Year from Council President Mrs. Flavil Ayers. Mrs. Jackson is a member of the Spearman Home Demonstra-tion Club, which she joined over 25 years ago.

The other day I was pleased to receive a page from the Crystal City (Texas) Sentinel, every word of which was devoted to an interview and a sort-of life story of my 96-year-old grandmother who died last August. I thought I knew my own grandmother fairly well, but most of the incidents in the story were new to me. In these days when well-equipped hospitals staffed by expert medical personnel are so common, I appreciated this paragraph from that story. "In her late thirties, Mrs. Davis suffered a stroke which paralized one side of her body. By sheer will-power and grim determination she regained partial use of her limbs and later gave birth to two more children. However, she had to give in and use a doctor in the delivery of these two babies, something she'd never done before. The first 12 were born with the assistance of a Granny. "Never thought that was any place for a man,' was her comment when I asked her about using a doctor." doctor doctor." It's hard for me to realize just what an ordeal washday used to be every week. "The washing for this large family was done with homemade lye soap on a rub-board and a battling block. The men's dirty overalls were wet and rubbed thor-oughly with lye soap, then spread on a large block of wood where they were beaten with a wooden paddle, thus the name, battling block. Following this, they were scrubbed on a scrub-board. Although there's a washing machine in the home today, Mrs. Davis continued to wash her wearing ap-paren on a rub-board with her own homemade lye soap until her final illness." her final illness."

My grandmother evidentally had some pretty vivid ideas of the cause of today's sharp rise in juvenile delinquincy. She blamed a lack of discipline in the home by both parents. "A child needs to know who the boss is, and I don't mean them either." She added, "People just aren't as happy as they used to be. They want too much and they get too much. They need to stay at home more."

Producers Association Seeks Program Changes

"The 1967 Feed Grain Pro-gram provisions as announced by Secretary of Agriculture, Orville Freeman, this past week will not maintain farm income to grain scraburg producers", according to Elbert Harp, President of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

Harp said that this conclusion was reached and confirmed by the executive commit-tee of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association in special session immediately after the session immediately after the program announcement. Within 24 hours after the program was announced, Harp along with GSPA Executive Vice President, Bill Nelson, were enroute to Washington for conferences with adminis-trative and Congressional lead-ers to point out this failure of the program and to seek corthe program and to seek corrective measures which would restore the producers income while bringing the requested formerly diverted acres back into production. Analysis indicates that the farmer who has been comply-ing with the program at the 20% diversion level may actually have an income in-crease but the fallacy is that this is not the farmer that is being asked to bring acreage back into production--this will come from the farmer who has been diverting voluntarily a portion of his farm from 50 to 20%. In most instances with normal production costs, a net farm income loss will be ex-perienced. USDA in their pro-jections were found to be using a grain sorghum cost of production figure of 70$ per 100.

GSPA's proposal for restor-ing the income loss is (1) ing the income loss is (1) spread the 53¢ per 100 price support payment over the en-tire acreage planted on the farm instead of only 50% as announced by USDA, or (2) increase the price support loan level from the announced $1.61 to a level high enough to make up for diversion payto make up for diversion pay-

Nelson and Harp returned from Washington over the weekend for conferences with other area farm leaders and to assembly additional infor-mation before returning to Washington Monday night, October 24, for additional ses-sions with administration pro-man and policy officials gram and policy officials. In summarizing progress of the conferences underway Harp indicated that "We have been very successful in get-ting the attention and time of everyone we have attempted to work with to hear and analyze the situation, but we have had no encouragement to indicate that program changes may be in order." He hastened to add, "Nor have we had any refusal to do so either."
