

Health Chief Hopeful For Vaccine Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Surgeon General Leonard Scheele said today "we are coming close to the time when we will have some answers" to the big questions about the polio vaccination program.

Scheele issued a statement at the luncheon recess of a meeting of government scientists and advisers on the future of the vaccination program.

Among those attending the sessions were Dr. Jonas Salk, chief developer of the vaccine, and Basil O'Connor, president of the National Paralysis.

O'Connor yesterday publicly asked that the government make a full report immediately of its study of vaccine produced by Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif.

The vaccination program was halted for a new check on safety standards when a number of cases of polio developed among children who had received the Cutter product.

The number of cases has now reached 60. In addition, there have been 28 cases among children who received vaccine made by four other manufacturers.

Scheele said: "During the period since the first incidence of polio among children who had received Salk vaccine, the mass immunization program has necessarily slowed almost to a halt."

"Very little new vaccine has been approved for release other than that released, as we have probed into the manufacturing and testing processes, seeking the answer to what if anything might have gone wrong and at the same time discussing present testing and production standards to determine their adequacy."

"We are coming close to the time when we will have some answers. The epidemiological picture is becoming clear, the tests on all lots of Cutter vaccine are almost completed, a complete reappraisal of each plant has been made, and a vast amount of extremely relevant data has been collected and is now being interpreted."

A Health Service spokesman said Scheele's statement was one that "sets the stage for a series of fairly rapid statements" on the vaccine situation to come out within the next few days, including at least one more today.

Scheele said the Public Health Service is "working at top speed in an effort to find answers to the problem posed" by the occurrence of the polio cases among children who had received Cutter vaccine.

NOTHING LIKE IT IN FRANCE

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Three French visitors got to talking about food.

Why, they asked, is the salad dressing served in American restaurants labeled French dressing?

"There's nothing like it in France," they said.

Pierre Compe, Jean Bolant and Benjamin Liebsman plan to return to Paris in a few days and savor some real French dressing.

Senate Okay Seen For Pay Hike Veto

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate appeared likely today to rebuff half a million postal workers and give a victory to President Eisenhower by sustaining his veto of a postal pay raise.

The post office workers may still get a pay boost somewhat smaller than the one averaging over 3 1/2 percent which the President vetoed.

Should the Senate override the veto, the House would still have to come through with the same two-thirds majority. A Senate vote to sustain the veto would make it unnecessary for the House to act.

Three hours of debate were allotted before the showdown, expected late in the afternoon.

Democratic leaders expected practically all their 49 members to be on hand and ready to vote to override. One member who has been absent throughout the session recuperating from an operation, Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.), returned to the capital yesterday.

However, even if all 49 Democrats voted for the bill, it would be necessary to get 15 of the 47 Republicans to pass it over the President's objections, assuming a full attendance.

Republican leaders said they were certain far fewer than 15 GOP senators would desert the President, and they expected to pick up two or three Democratic votes.

GOP senators, it was learned, were being told they should vote to sustain the veto if they want Eisenhower to seek a second term.

One Republican who asked not to be named put it this way: "We think the President is looking to this vote as one of the biggest tests of unity and loyalty in the party this session."

"If he doesn't get the kind of support on this that he feels he's entitled to, he may decide it's not worth running next year."

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.), floor manager for the administration on the issue, said he would have ready another bill to provide an average 3 1/2 percent raise, that is somewhat higher than the 2 1/2 percent figure Eisenhower previously set as his limit.

Carlson's measure would make the raise retroactive to March 1, the same date as in the vetoed bill. It would fix a 6 percent minimum on the salary boosts, the same as in the administration's previous 7 1/2 percent bill.

The vetoed measure would have given everybody at least a 1 percent raise. The over-all cost of this measure, about 170 million dollars a year, amounts to 8.8 percent of payroll. Of this, 8.6 percent is in higher pay, the rest in increased travel allowances and benefits for substitute employees.

The President said the bill he disapproved would cost too much and create new inequities without correcting old ones.

MALE KNEES 'Distracting'

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—An Oklahoma City High School principal has ruled that "Bermuda shorts" are not appropriate classroom attire for young men.

Three or four students, including a football player, reported to classes yesterday in the walking shorts. One wore a bright orange and yellow combination.

With final examinations coming up, Breithaupt said he felt the bare knees might be a distracting influence.

Sheppard Aide Takes Floor In Appeal Battle

CLEVELAND (AP)—Arthur W. Petersilge, third man on the three-man defense team of convicted wife slayer Samuel H. Sheppard, took the floor again today in an appeals court hearing.

Petersilge, following two other defense lawyers in the first day of the hearing yesterday, still was presenting his arguments when the session closed in the afternoon.

Over the prosecution's objection, the court decided to convene 15 minutes, earlier today so that Petersilge could finish. Judge Julius Kovachy, head of the three-judge court, said he believed the state could conclude its arguments today.

The defense wants the court to upset the jury verdict that the Bay Village oosteph was guilty of second-degree murder in the strangling death of his wife Marilyn last July 4. The defense contends there were errors in the trial and that evidence did not justify the verdict.

Petersilge advanced a new theory yesterday—that the "real killer" of Marilyn Sheppard made his getaway wearing two T-shirts. During Sheppard's trial, "the state emphasized the fact that a T-shirt he was wearing on the eve of the slaying never was found."

Petersilge suggested that the killer may have put on Sheppard's T-shirt over his own to cover blood spots.

"The state's argument is that he (Sheppard) is guilty unless he can give satisfactory explanations of certain things like what happened to his T-shirt," Petersilge contended. "If the state can't establish them, it has no legal right to place the burden of proof on Sank."

CAL Wants Austin Added To Air Route

Continental Air Lines has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board for authority to add Austin to its route from El Paso to San Antonio.

The route includes Midland-Odessa and San Angelo in this area. The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce is urging that Big Spring also be added to the route.

Continental officials here had no information on the request this morning. Big Spring was on the old Continental route to South Texas but service was suspended in 1949 when CAL shut down its terminal here.

Jencks Aides Ask Reversal Of Conviction

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A New Mexico labor leader today asked the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals to reverse a lower court's ruling which convicted him of falsifying a non-Communist affidavit.

Attorneys for Clinton E. Jencks told the court in their briefs their client did not receive what could be called a "trial in the accepted sense" in federal court at El Paso.

They said he was given no notice of what he had to meet and the issues were never defined for the jury.

Jencks was sentenced to five years in prison after a jury found him guilty of violating the false statement statute by filing with the National Labor Relations Board a false affidavit. The affidavit stated Jencks was a non-Communist union officer.

Two men identified as FBI informers, Harvey Matzow and the Rev. J. W. Ford, were principal witnesses at the first trial.

Matzow identified Jencks as a Communist but in the motion for a retrial, Matzow changed his mind and told the court he had lied. This turnaround testimony drew a contempt sentence for Matzow.

Jencks' attorneys said they were denied the right to cross-examine Matzow and Ford on their prior written declarations.

Jencks is a former officer of Local 890, International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

More Water For Lake J. B. Thomas

The Bull Creek diversion channel was running like a young river Monday evening, bearing several thousand acre feet of flood water into Lake J. B. Thomas. This view of the channel is looking south from the bridge spanning the deep cut. To the north water was backed up against the diversion dam, and running about seven feet deep through the cut.

Elevation of the lake at 11 a.m. Tuesday was 2,243.64, an increase of slightly more than four feet since Sunday. This meant around 113,000 acre feet of water were in Lake Thomas, up by 20,000 acre feet in two days. This is better than 55 percent of capacity and puts the water level within 14 feet of the service spillway.

Beer Re-Zoning Hearing Is Today

Re-zoning of the city for the sale of beer on Fourth Street and Lamesa Drive was to have been discussed at this evening's meeting of the City Commission.

The hearing was set at the last meeting of the commission when a petition was presented for opening Lamesa Drive for beer sales between Northwest Fourth and Northwest Twelfth, a dry sector.

The subject of beer sales of Fourth Street was also brought up at the last meeting. Third Street, a portion of Highway 80, is now a beer zone, but Fourth Street from the downtown area east and west is not.

Liquor Control Board officials and Police Chief E. W. York were invited to tonight's session, a city manager H. W. Whitney said he would have a map outlining the present beer zone of the city.

GOP Calls Rally On Ike Road Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republicans rallied today in a desperate effort to stave off Senate passage of a Democratic alternative to President Eisenhower's highway building program.

Chairman Millikin of Colorado called all Republican senators into a conference to discuss a move to shelve the Democratic bill brought before the Senate by Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.).

The fact that the Republicans were summoned to talk about a move to send the Gore bill back to the Public Works Committee indicated many of them felt they had little chance of gaining approval at this time for the President's program.

Gore won committee approval for a proposed $17,941,000,000 outlay of federal and state funds for building highways in the next five years. Senate debate on this measure began Friday.

Sen. Martin (R-Pa.) yesterday formally offered as a substitute the administration's plan for spending $3 billion in a 10-year federal-state road program. A key—and controversial—feature of this plan is a proposed 21-billion-dollar bond issue to help finance the federal share of work on a 40,000-mile interstate highways system.

Senators Gore (D-Ga.) and Byrd (D-Wa.) predicted defeat for the administration measure. Gore told newsmen he will support the Gore proposal, from which he forced elimination yesterday of a billboard provision he claimed would invade states' rights.

Thumping his desk vigorously, Gore told the Senate a section to permit the government to acquire advertising rights on 500-foot-wide strips on each side of interstate highways involved "federal control of things that ought to remain in the hands of the states."

Police Seeking Kidnaping Duo

RATON, N. M. (AP)—Police of four states today hunted two men who reportedly kidnaped drivers of two cars and forced them to drive northward at gunpoint.

One of the victims, Tim Abeysa, Santa Fe car salesman, was released 19 miles south of Raton, on U.S. 85 after he had driven the pair from Espanola until his car ran out of gas.

Abeysa told Sheriff J. W. Jossey the men immediately hitched another ride and forced the driver of the car to head north. The second car bore Oklahoma plates.

Police in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Colorado set up road blocks in an attempt to catch the pair.

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas House of Representatives refused a proposed tax on sorority and fraternity memberships yesterday, and gave tentative approval to a bill that would double tuition at state colleges and universities.

It was estimated that the measure would raise more than a million dollars a year from about 550,000 students.

The tuition increase bill, an item in Gov. Shiver's program of recommended legislation, was approved 83-55 after lengthy debate. Final passage and Senate consideration are still ahead.

AT SAFETY MEETING Emergency Use Of Streets Discussed

Drivers should pull their automobiles to the nearest curb to allow passage of emergency vehicles, it was emphasized this morning in a safety meeting at the Chamber of Commerce.

On the city's two one-way streets, cars can pull to either side, it was pointed out. This will leave the middle portion of the street open for the emergency vehicles.

Drivers will know when the emergency vehicles are coming because of their flashing red lights and sirens and also because in some instances the traffic signal lights are stopped on red.

The safety meeting was called by the Citizens Traffic Commission and was attended largely by drivers of emergency vehicles, such as ambulances, police and sheriff's cars, fire trucks, and Webb AFB vehicles.

Those present indicated that the emergency vehicles are used only when real emergencies occur. Consequently they need and should have the right-of-way, it was explained.

Police Chief E. W. York stated that drivers of emergency vehicles should drive in such a way as to endanger their own or others lives.

All the representatives agreed that the emergency vehicle drivers have a responsibility for safety. Such vehicles should be under control at all times, it was pointed out.

Fire trucks will go against the traffic on the one-way streets when making runs, it was announced. This is because all traffic signal lights are stopped on red and automobile drivers know the trucks are coming. The large red trucks can be seen easier than most emergency vehicles, it was explained, and they are driven cautiously.

It was suggested at the meeting that convoys from Webb, which are usually in two hours, should be right-hand lanes. Certain Webb emergency vehicles must be accorded the same privileges as other vehicles, however, the representatives agreed.

The wrecker is ordinarily not considered an emergency vehicle, though the consensus was that at times they are needed in a hurry and should be equipped with sirens and flashing red light.

People congregating at the scene of accidents cause untold trouble for emergency vehicle drivers, it was explained, and Police Chief E. W. York said that it is against the law to park within one block of a mishap.

Following emergency vehicles is also illegal, Chief York said.

Those attending the meeting were York, Chief H. Y. Crocker, Sheriff Jess Slaughter, Col. Nayler, R. R. Black, Pete Hancock, Raymond River, E. J. Mann, Joe Bunch, Capt. L. C. Fickland, Lt. W. B. Stuart, and Lt. Robert Hall.

Stanton Cleanup Campaign Slated

STANTON—Thursday is the big day of Stanton's concerted cleanup campaign this week.

While committees are promoting a general cleanup, plans are being made for pickup of the trash on Thursday and hauling it away. Automobile agencies are cooperating by donating use of trucks to haul the accumulated trash. Business houses will close at 3:30 p.m. so that many employees may serve as volunteer workers on the pickup.

Various community agencies are joining hands in the citywide effort. Boy Scouts are going to cut weeds and rake them on a number of vacant lots. A committee headed by Clifton Clark will make a "citywide" fire hazard inspection, tagging hazards and enlisting cooperation of property owners in correcting them.

Dr. Bill Lively will head the committee seeking to point out and institute corrective action on health hazards. Here potential fly and mosquito breeding places will be prime targets.

Mrs. F. O. Rhodes is the head of the Chamber of Commerce committee which has been planning the campaign for a month. Working with her are Bob Davenport, Bill Williams, O. J. Jenkins and Mrs. Bill Lively. Serving as zone chairmen are Mrs. W. A. Kaderli, Mrs. Glenn Gates, Mrs. Clark Hamilton, Mrs. Charles Powell, Mrs. Ronnie Gilbreath, Mrs. Clement Standifer, and Mrs. Curtis Hancock.

Judge Suspends Sentence In Party Line Phone Case

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP)—Following a leniency plea from the district attorney, a judge today gave a suspended sentence to Mrs. Mary L. Kayes for her refusal to carry a party telephone line for a fire report.

She could have received a maximum sentence of a year in jail and a $500 fine under a new law governing such circumstances.

County Judge John R. Schwartz said he was motivated by various considerations, including the fact she finally did alert the operator after first refusing to give up the party line for a grass fire report by Fire Warden Donald Townsend.

Also, the judge said, he believed that a barn which caught fire would have been destroyed anyhow.

And, he told Mrs. Kayes: "I believe you've learned your lesson."

AF Enlists To Leave Immediately

Men enlisting in the Air Force will leave Big Spring the same day that they sign up, according to Sgt. Cecil Deakins, local recruiter. No lay-overs or waiting periods are required for enlistment, he said.

There are still a few openings in this month's quota for enlistments, the recruiter continued, and interested young men can get more information by contacting Deakins in the basement of the post office on Tuesdays. He is in Big Spring only on that day.

Attorney

Who's To Pay? All Point The Other Way

AUSTIN — Everybody starts pointing the other way when you start talking about who's going to pick up the tab for the record-breaking state spending the next two years.

Right now all the big interests are pointing toward the two-cent hike in gasoline taxes. The state must have $58 million in new money to pay the bills which will pile up under the giant appropriation program which is anticipated.

Lobbyists for the various natural resources interests point to the heavy tax load their industries are already carrying. The powerful beer lobby repeatedly beat down in the House any direct increases on beer. A proposed levy on department stores and hotels a'd motels died a-borning.

Only one organization, the Texas Farm Bureau, is putting up a fight on the two-cent gasoline increase which Governor Shivers and Highway Commissioner E. H. Thornton have asked again and again.

But several other factors are working against the two-cent hike, bolstering the prediction that "it'll never pass the House."

First, there are a group of House members who are strongly anti-Shivers and would fight the two-cent hike because he has asked for it so strongly. Many of these last week were complaining that "Shivers is trying to starve us out" as they worked on without pay with a tax measure still hanging fire.

Second force opposing the two-cent levy is the faction which opposes any added taxation, feeling that economy in government could keep new taxes off the rolls. The State Highway Department has been campaigning for years for more funds. Since one-fourth of the gasoline tax goes to schools, a two-cent increase would relieve the state's general fund of around $15 to $18 million it would have to provide for the schools.

The two-cents has been suggested by an offer to give cities and counties a quarter of a cent to provide rights-of-way. The County Judges and Commissioners Association and the Texas League of Municipalities suddenly swung in line.

A third force working against the two-cent levy is the 1956 elections. Many members are wondering just what the reaction will be to a two-cent gasoline tax hike (that'll make a total of 6 cents state taxes on each gallon of gasoline plus the federal taxes). Another "sales tax" a penny on cigarettes, seems assured.

On the others side of the battle are many forces which are working just as hard for the two-cent increase. Lobbyists for the big interests which might otherwise be called on to pay the bills argue that a gasoline tax is fair because it is paid by all auto users.

The calendar is working in favor of the two-cent hike. It's getting hot and sticky in Austin. Members of the Legislature are working their third week without pay. The Legislature wants to go home.

Another vital factor is the Governor's influence. Will he—or can he—put on full steam for a two-cent gasoline increase is a point that's being debated.

action could be taken. Late last week Sen. Hardeman got enough of the committee together to get the bill out. Monday he pushed it through the Senate by a voice vote with only two senators. Parkhouse of Dallas and Fly of Victoria, registering opposing votes.

Parkhouse made repeated efforts to strip the bill by amendments, but all failed. He said one of his Dallas constituents, William Blakeley, owned the Bass Ranch which would have to pay $600 extra in taxes under the bill "but could get no benefit from a water system it would provide. The Bass is the largest ranch in the county, 185,000 acres."

Answering Parkhouse's argument that his Dallas man could not benefit from the Big Lake water system, Hardeman replied that the ranch has 200 employees and that all the children of those would attend school in Big Lake (there's a single school system for the county) and would thereby benefit. "It must be a part of the community regardless of where he lives," Hardeman said.

Missing Airman Returns To Base
FORT WORTH (AP)—An airman who fled Carswell Air Force Base last month after a gun battle with guards surrendered yesterday.

A.I.C. Richard V. Beading, 27, was charged with absence without leave and put in the stockade. Beading called the Star-Telegram and asked for an escort when he surrendered, because, he said, he had heard guards had been given orders to shoot him. A reporter drove him through the gate without incident.

The airman blamed his troubles on the Air Force not giving him a proper assignment. He said he served as a Navy "frogman" in the Pacific during World War II.

'Conelrad' Test Set Wednesday

"Conelrad" emergency defense alert will be observed by 100 radio stations here Wednesday. It has been announced by Andy Jones, engineer for KBST.

Time of the alert is not known as yet, but it is expected to last about a minute and a half. Both KTXC and KBST will be off the air during the time.

The alert is to be nation-wide to give the armed forces an opportunity to test its effectiveness. During a "Conelrad" alert, all radio stations other than those designated as a Conelrad center must go off the air.

In an actual alert, people are instructed to tune in to the Conelrad stations when their own stations go off the air. Jones explained, Midland, being the control Conelrad station in this area, will notify KBST by telephone tomorrow at the time of alert. KBST will immediately cut its broadcasting operations. KTXC, which monitors KBST, will also go off the air.

The nearest Conelrad station to Big Spring is Midland. Only those stations on 1240 or 640 frequencies are designated to carry the emergency messages.

Gov. Shivers Signs Bill For Traffic Regulation

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Shivers has signed into law a bill allowing the State Department of Public Safety to regulate automobile headlight beams, turn signals and safety glass.

The measure was inspired by a newly-developed headlight beam that will provide illumination 80 feet farther along the road. The light will be available in July.

Under the previous statute, the Legislature had established such a rigid set of standards governing automobile parts that such recent inventions as the new light would not fit within its regulations, said Rep. Gustin Garrett of Raymondville, author of the bill.

Other bills signed by the governor yesterday included: HB 85, exempting from taxation all buildings and lands belonging to the American Legion, American Veterans of World War II, Veterans of Foreign Wars, D.A.V., Jewish War Veterans and Catholic War Veterans, and any other non-profit organizations.

HB 85, prescribing that the terms of all district courts, including criminal district courts, shall be continuous.

HB 253, amending the insurance code to include employees of cities or village employes in group insurance.

She's Graceful

Kathy Marlowe, now being seen in Allied Artists' "Wichita," talks to Lydia Lane about the importance of grace and carriage. Kathy demonstrates a poor posture (left) and a good one.

Grace In Carriage And Posture Is Emphasized

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Kathy Marlowe was such an outstanding pretty child that she was modeling when she was eleven and now she teaches modeling to teen-agers when she is not working in a picture. "I enjoy doing this," Kathy told me as we drove to visit the soldiers at the veterans hospital. They had asked to meet Kathy after seeing her in "Wichita," which she made recently for Allied Artists. "It's very rewarding to watch the girls develop poise and confidence which will help them in their careers, and especially in meeting competition." "Are most of the girls in your class eager to be professional models?" I asked. "No," Kathy replied. "Some of them want to, but most of them come merely for self-improvement. I wanted to know the most common corrections the average teenager needed. "The tall girls are inclined to slump and girls with large bosoms are inclined to be self-conscious about them. Mostly it's carriage and grace that needs working on," she said. "One of the easiest ways to test the ease with which a girl or woman handles her body," Kathy declared, "is to watch her get in and out of a chair. Think deep many times a day we do this and how much it means to be able to perform this simple act gracefully. "I don't believe you should back up to a chair like some of the model schools teach. That's too studied, but it is necessary to have limber knees so that you can lower your thighs into a chair instead of leading with your posterior and going with a thud. "Getting up is just as important. Don't push yourself out of the chair but be able to rise slowly with balance. It will be easier if your heels are close to the chair with one foot slightly in front of the other. "And as for sitting, I teach the girls to cross their feet at the ankles, or to cross their legs low, but never to sit with their feet far apart, pigeon-toed or stiffly together. Kathy went on to explain the importance of limbering exercises. "One exercise which helps to give you fluid knees is taken from Ballet training. Stand with one foot in front of the other, your toes lowering your weight so that it settles on the back leg. Pointing your front foot, rise again and slowly lower your weight so that it is on the front foot. Do this rhythmically to a one-two count. On the count of one, bend knees and point foot and front leg straight; on the count of two, bend knees, stretching your leg in the backward direction. This may seem difficult at first but after a few times it will come easily and naturally and it is effective in preventing stiff knees and allows you to move with the grace of a dancer."

Air Force Officials Called For Briefing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee has summoned top Air Force officials for what Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) said today will be a "thorough briefing" Thursday on U.S.-Russian air power.

Russell said Secretary of the Air Force Talbott and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, the chief of staff, will testify behind closed doors on assertions the Soviets may have gained superiority in some fields.

Russell said in an interview it will be up to a subcommittee headed by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) to decide whether to expand later an investigation of the subject.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo.), a former Air Force secretary, has contended the Russians may be ahead of this country in the production of jet bombers and intercontinental guided missiles.

He told the Senate yesterday there had been "efforts to suppress discussion of the subject," and continued: "Evidence continues to pile up that Communist air power is moving up to us in offensive striking power and is moving ahead of us in the fields of defensive power, production and technology."

Commenting on a similar previous speech by Symington, President Eisenhower told his news conference last week that "to say that we have lost in a twinkling all of this great technical development and technical excellence as well as numbers in our total aircraft is just not true."

Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), an Armed Services Committee member, said he just can't believe the Russians have made the advances with which they are credited in some quarters.

He said that at a closed meeting over which he presided recently, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, NATO commander, "gave us reassuring testimony" that this country was keeping well ahead of the Russians in air developments.

Backing this up, Russell said Gruenther had testified "we were pulling away from the Russians." Gruenther's testimony was given before the Pentagon said 10 days ago the Soviets had flown formations of new, long-range jet bombers over Moscow.

"Something must have happened in the meantime," Russell said.

Presbyterians Okay Women As Ministers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Should women be ordained as preachers? "Yes," says the 167th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America. Its approval yesterday by a standing vote of about 3 or 4 to 1 now goes to the church's 256 Presbyteries or local groups. A majority must vote approval.

During lively floor debate, the Rev. Victor G. Dawes, of Framingham, Mass., declared: "Too often when women have felt themselves called to be bishops, it has resulted in cults and heresies. Witness Mary Baker Eddy in Boston and Almeta Semple McPherson here in Los Angeles."

The Rev. LeRoy Patrick, Pittsburgh, replied: "We sin against women when we say that cults and heresies are associated peculiarly with them. The Christian faith has been history's most potent force in elevating women. I, for one, do not fear their ordination."

A committee report urging their ordination said the Bible teaches "in Christ Jesus there is neither male nor female" and commented: "There is no theological ground for denying ordination to women simply because they are women."

In another action yesterday, the delegates approved by a voice vote a resolution critical of what they termed a Roman Catholic "trend to exalt the figure of the Virgin Mother."

The glory of Christ's headship in his church is both tarnished and challenged by the new status accorded to the Virgin. . . . the statement said. Prepared by the Presbyterians Permanent Commission on Interchurch Relations, it was adopted without debate. Late today the 905 lay and ministerial delegates take up the report of the Standing Committee on Social Education and Action. A preliminary report, from which the committee devised the report to be disclosed today, called for the launching of a racial "Operation Desegregation" in the church.

Heavy Rainstorms Batter Louisiana

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Heavy rainstorms and a small tornado battered north Louisiana yesterday. Trees in a 40-foot path were uprooted and streets in a half-dozen communities were flooded.

No injuries were reported. Water ran two feet deep in the downtown business section of Plain Dealing, about 30 miles north of Shreveport.

Maxwell Attends Beach, Pool Meet

W. O. Maxwell Jr., manager of the municipal park swimming pool, attended a meeting of the Texas Beach and Pool Association in Midland today.

The meeting was sponsored by the Midland-Ector-Howard County Health Unit and was designed to clarify swimming pool operations. Water safety, water treatment, maintenance, and sanitation were on the agenda.

Big Spring's pool will be opened for the summer season at 1 p.m. Saturday. It will be open from 1 to 9 p.m. daily, and prices of admission are 25 cents for children and 35 cents for adults.

One Part Of British Vote Is Referendum On H-Bomb

GRAVESEND, England (AP)—In this corner of England near the mouth of the Thames Thursday's election will be, in effect, a referendum on the hydrogen bomb.

Election posters depict the mushroom clouds of atomic explosions. There are pictures of devastated Hiroshima, of piles of corpses.

There is no provision for a referendum on any subject in the election. But the vote will amount to that here because of the burning conviction of one candidate, Sir Richard Acland.

For 7½ years Acland represented this district as a Laborite in the House of Commons. His last majority was a healthy 6,000. Then his party approved manufacture of nuclear weapons.

His opposition was so violent he resigned from the party, resigned from Parliament and decided to fight as an independent for reelection. Independents usually have a rough time in British voting. But it could be different here because of Acland's wide acquaintance and his record as a vote-getter.

"It will be the first time, as far as I know, that common people will have a chance to pass judgment on this hideous weapon," Acland says. "Parliament and military strategists have given us this thing, but now people will have a voice."

Both Conservative and Labor parties entered official candidates against Acland. With two men of Labor background in the campaign, the Conservatives may take the district.

"But the bomb is more important than party politics," the 48-year-old baronet said, "and the people are on my side."

Acland's contention is that Britain does not need nuclear weapons, and that to have them is to invite annihilation.

News While It's News

People in the Big Spring area are receiving better news service than ever before—news on the day it's news—no "pre-date" editions—through 6 special motor routes maintained by The Herald. In the small communities, in the oil camps, on the farms, they're finding in The Herald a newspaper that publishes news of interest to them. West Texas oil, West Texas farming and ranching, West Texas sports, West Texas women's activities, West Texas happenings. That's the reason more and more people on these routes and in this area are saying "Leave us The Herald."

THE PAYOFF TO ADVERTISERS

This daily delivery, right to area homes, is "money in the bank" for the merchant who uses Herald advertising. No other medium, of any kind, anywhere, can reach the same people who are looking for better values, who want a good place to shop, and who turn to The Herald for their shopping guide. This is real benefit to Big Spring merchants who have a sales story to tell to the people in this area. The rural daily delivery is, of course, in addition to the 50 city route carriers who put the Herald every day, right at the door of nearly 6,000 Big Spring homes.

THE BIG SPRING HERALD

"Nothing Sells Like Newspapers"

Nationalists Urge Big 4 Drop Meeting

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists' official Central Daily News today urged the Western Powers to call off the projected Big Four top-level conference. It said the conference is mainly a Soviet trap for the West. The official Nationalist newspaper, the Chung Hwa Daily News, took the same tack, urging the West to be on guard against a sudden Soviet military attack. The Nationalist Interior Ministry's news agency, Taitao, said more than three divisions of Chinese Communist troops, possibly transferred from North Korea, had arrived in the coastal areas of Fukien province, the past week. Fukien is directly across the Formosa Strait from this Nationalist island. The Defense Ministry said it had no such information. Taitao, in claiming underground contacts, portrayed the reinforcements as part of a buildup in which the Reds have been rushing work on airfields within reach of Formosa. The Taipei city government banned construction of new houses in the downtown areas due to overcrowding and to reduce concentrations of people in possible air raids.

Eastern States Due Moisture

Rain was the outlook today for wide areas in the eastern half of the country, bringing relief from warm and humid weather. Warm, moist air from the Gulf of Mexico covered much of the nation east of the Mississippi River yesterday and temperatures were in the 80s in most places. Rain fell in a north-south belt over Wisconsin, Iowa and southward to Louisiana. The heaviest 24-hour fall was 4.45 inches at Shreveport, La. The fall at Butler, Mo., measured nearly 3 inches in six hours. Rain also was reported in Montana and Pennsylvania. Early morning temperatures ranged from 96 at Laredo, Tex., to 29 at Mullen Pass, Idaho.

This Vote Didn't Take Much Time

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Members of the Utah Public Service Commission may have been slightly startled by a request yesterday. But they didn't show it. They went right ahead and granted it, posthaste. The request, by the Wendover Light and Power Co., was for permission to reduce its rates by more than 15 per cent. Commission Secretary Frank A. Yeaman said the firm's application was "completely voluntary."

There doesn't seem to be any end to the number of irrigation wells being drilled on the South Plains. In Martin County several well drilling contractors are still busy with their big rigs, despite the lateness of the season. H. H. Doshier of Stanton says he hasn't had a breathing spell since last September. If he gets a dry hole on one test, the land owner immediately has him try another part of the farm. He put down 16 dry holes for one farmer before finally finding him a good well. A lot of caged hen projects are going in around Loop and Seagraves in Gaines County. Sunday morning at Loop, which is a small village, 35 miles northwest of Lamesa, I counted five big laying houses under construction. The projects are being financed by the banks and a feed company. One resident says they were told to forget everything they had ever learned about chickens and to follow instructions to the letter in order to make money with hens. The company has a poultry expert who will tell them how to manage their flocks. This may sound strange to a farmer who grew up where a rooster was used in place of an alarm clock, but it is sound advice, according to Tommy Whitley and Dub Coates, two of the most successful Howard County producers. Neither had any experience with chickens, yet both are making a good profit.

Diary Figures In Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP)—A diary in Arabic script, much of it scrawled on scraps of paper, promised to figure today in a Senate search for irregularities in clothing buying for the armed forces. The Senate investigations subcommittee called Leon M. Levy, a clothing manufacturer, to tell at a public hearing about the diary which it says is in his handwriting. Levy is treasurer and a founder of Bonita Originals, Inc., of New York City, whose contract to produce a million garrison caps for the Army is under the subcommittee's scrutiny. An immigrant from Syria, Levy has lived in the United States for about 40 years. He has been termed a cooperative witness.

Farmer Charged In Aliens' Entry

DEL RIO, (SC)—Charges of violating the federal statute having to do with smuggling aliens into this country have been filed with U. S. Commissioner James E. Riggs in El Paso against John Waters, Anton farmer, according to Elms Rainbolt, "acting" chief inspector for the Border Patrol in the Del Rio sector. Waters was arrested with seven aliens last Thursday five miles north of Del Rio, Rainbolt said he is accused of having arranged for the aliens to enter this country and be picked up by Waters at a pre-designated point north of Del Rio. Waters was released on his own recognizance. The seven aliens remain in custody. Maximum penalty on conviction would be two years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine with each of the aliens representing a separate offense.

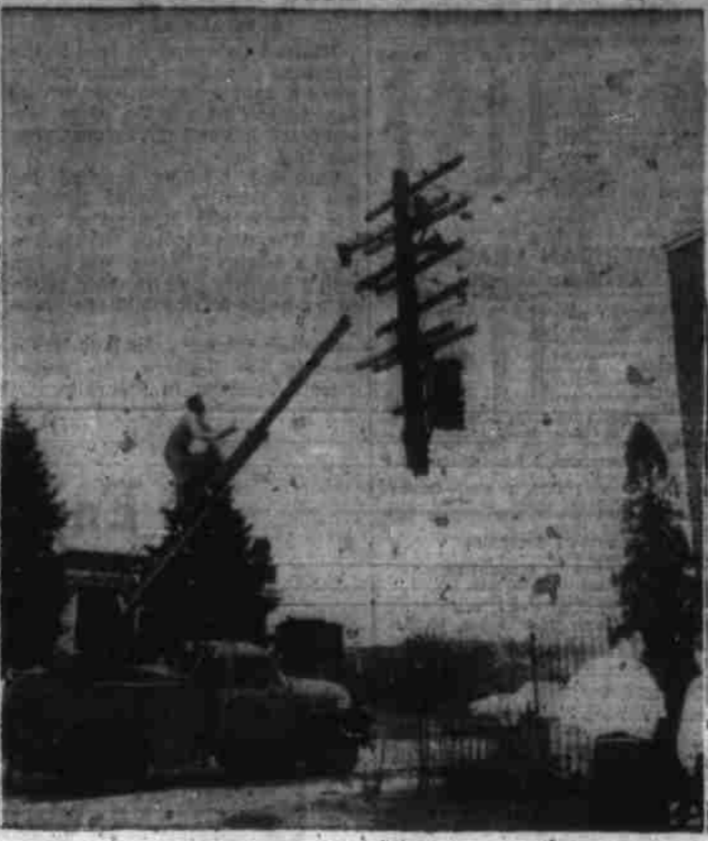

Tour Planned Mexican Cotton Leader To Speak At U. S. Group's Meet

HILLSBORO (AP)—Alfonso Pacheco, president of the Mexican Cotton Assn., will be a speaker at the June 24 session of the American Cotton Congress, Burrin C. Jackson, general chairman of the U. S. organization said today. Pacheco, Jackson said, will be the principal speaker at an evening session of the congress planned in Matamoros, Mexico, following a tour of the highly productive cotton area adjacent to Matamoros and the Mexican side of the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Jackson, in announcing Pacheco's part in the 1955 American Cotton Congress, emphasized the international aspects of this year's congress. "Cotton today is a world crop and we cannot overemphasize the role it plays in the international economy and in international politics," the Hillsboro cotton leader said. "Mexican cotton, as all American growers, buyers and merchandisers must learn, has been increasing in production—and importance—by leaps and bounds. It is because of the growing importance of Mexican cotton and the great productivity of the Lower Rio Grande Valley—both on the American and Mexican sides of the river—that the 1955 American Cotton Congress is meeting in Harlingen and Matamoros in June," he continued. Delegates to the congress, he added, besides attending an evening session in Matamoros as Pacheco's guests, will also tour the rich Mexican cotton producing area adjacent to Matamoros and the Rio Grande Valley. "We can't learn too much about Mexican cotton," Jackson said. "It's importance just cannot be overstressed." Jackson said that besides the Mexican cotton picture, that this year's congress and statements made there by leaders in government and industry will "have a terrific impact on the international cotton situation." He pointed to the appearance of Lamar Fleming Jr., chairman of the board of Anderson Clayton & Co., world's largest cotton firm, on the program for the evening of Friday, June 2. The title of Fleming's address, he said, will be "The World Cotton Situation." "No cotton merchant in the world knows more about that all

Up In The Air Without A Pole
 Electric utility wires and a transformer are suspended without visible means of support at a Philadelphia street intersection after an out-of-control automobile came along and sheared out a section of the pole. The car, operated by a 56-year-old man, continued on down the street. He was uninjured.

Senate Committee Dumps Tax Problem

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Senate will have to seek its own answer to the state's tax problem in floor debate. The Senate State Affairs Committee passed the book yesterday, conceding inability to reach accord on how to raise $6 million dollars in new money needed to cover the 1 1/2-billion-dollar, two-year general appropriation bill, the committee sent to the floor a measure that would yield about 30 million dollars in general revenue. Vote on sending the House-passed tax measure to the Senate floor instead of seeking further solution was 12-8. Before voting the bill out, the committee struck out House-approved provisions which would have placed new levies on trade stamps and tobacco other than cigarettes. It also eliminated the House proviso that the production tax on natural gas be frozen at 8 per cent. The deletion would let the rate drop to 7 per cent next year and the sharply revised House bill to the Senate floor even though he estimated it would be short "about 25 million dollars" of taking care of the pending appropriation for essential state services. Sen. A. M. Alkin Jr., Paris, agreed. Sen. Otis Lock, Lufkin, sponsoring the measure as an administrator leader, told a reporter it probably would be "late in the week" before the bill could reach debate. Film Set At Gay Hill
 The motion picture, "Sergeant York," will be presented at the Gay Hill School at 8 p. m. today. Sponsor of the showing is Boy Scout Troop No. 49 of Gay Hill.

800 Ex-POW's Fail To Ask Compensation

More than 800 former American prisoners of war in Korea have failed to file claims with the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission for compensation under Public Law 615, on Aug. 21, 1954. Commissioner Pearl Carter Pace said the deadline for filing such claims in most cases is Aug. 21, 1955 and that the Commission hopes that no eligible claimant be denied because of failure to file on time. In cases of death of the former prisoner of war, claims may be filed by the surviving widow, husband, children or parents. Payment is authorized to be made at the rate of $2.50 per day for each day of imprisonment. Any member of the United States Armed Forces presently held as prisoners of war as a result of the Korean hostilities will be eligible to file their claims within one year after returning to American control. Survivors of prisoners of war who have not returned to the jurisdiction of the Armed Forces of the United States may file not later than one year from the date the Department of Defense makes a determination that the prisoner of war has actually died or is presumed dead. Persons in this case desiring more information should contact E. L. Farnin, Box 123, or telephone No. 4-2396, Big Spring.

Giles' Troubles Growing; 5 New Indictments Lodged

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Bascom Giles, father of Texas' 100-million-dollar veterans land program, today faced five new indictments growing out of his administration. They allege theft by fraud involving $33,000. Only yesterday, Giles' trial in a bribery charge involving $30,000 in a Bexar County veterans land deal was postponed in San Antonio. He faces a third group of indictments, charging conspiracy to commit theft of $53,500 in a Dimmitt County deal. The new charges involve a block land deal in Kinney County. In block deals, a promoter buys a large tract of land, breaks it up into small tracts, signs up veterans to buy it, then receives from the state the total amount of money the veterans have agreed to pay. Indicted along with Giles yesterday was B. F. Sheffield, Brady land promoter. In addition, Sheffield was indicted on two charges of forgery and uttering (passing) a forged document in the same land deal. Giles, 54, refused last Jan. 3 to take office although re-elected to his 10th term. Veterans land investigations were under way then. Under Texas' land program, veterans can buy acreage with low

 HALIFAX, N. S. (AP)—Forest fires crackled today at the edge of the main residential district of the Atlantic coast community of Liverpool. Another major blaze raged in the Tantallon area, 15 miles west of Halifax. Fire fighters said damp air which moved in yesterday had helped bring off other blazes in Nova Scotia under control.

Giants And Yankees Both Making Bids

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

It's the rump end of May and most folks are getting serious about picking a spot to spend the summer. So are the New York Giants and the New York Yankees. Both of them have first place in mind. The Yankees have come up with a six-game winning streak for a down payment on the No. 1 spot in the American League. And right now, that's the best offer anybody's made. It's all come about in the past seven days. New York has overhauled a 2½-game Cleveland lead in that time while the Indians were fumbling along losing three of five.

Longhorn League Awards

The Fraternal Order of Eagles of Midland will give the two trophies above to the team and the individual showing the greatest sportsmanship in the Longhorn League this season. The larger one, a 34-inch cup, goes to the team chosen for the laurel. The smaller one is an individual cup, to be presented to the Midland player determined to be the most sportsmanlike. The awards are to be displayed at Steer Park in the near future by the local F.O.E.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart.

SPORTS DIIALOGUE:
BILL FRANK, Longhorn League umpire:
"Tony York (Odessa manager) should be an umpire. You can hear him all over the ball park."

PETE REISER, manager of the Thomasville, Ga., baseball team:
"It's tough for lose, but it isn't new. I learned what it is to lose when I was playing. I never liked it, but I learned it. The toughest thing about being a manager, though, hurts worse than losing. It's when you have to call a boy in and tell him he isn't good enough to make the team and that you've got to release him. I was released a time or two in my day, and I know what it's like to be on the other end. But I'll tell you honestly, no release I ever got hurt as much as the release I've had to make. It tears your heart out."

ART GUÉPE, Vanderbilt football coach, when questioned about the new offense his team was going to employ:
"We'll use the confused-T, with coaches in motion."

JOHNNY JOHNSON, Big Spring High School basketball coach:
"I intend to play more defense than we did last year and will use the boys who can play defense. A boy who surprised me in the scrimmages last week was Bill Blum. Made 18 points, you know, and showed a lot of promise."

PEE WEE REESE, shortstop of the Brooklyn Dodgers:
"Duke Snider can do a lot of things. I'll tell you one thing, he comes off that bench swinging. He's ready to take that cut at any pitch he feels he can hit."

PAUL RICHARDS, manager of the Baltimore Orioles:
"Al Kaline (of Detroit) won't fall far short of Joe DiMaggio. Kaline can do more things well than most any other player in the American League today."

A DETROIT FAN, sending in a suggestion that Kaline be nicknamed "Salty":
"After all, salt means alkaline."

SUFFOLK SUPERIOR COURT JUDGE THOMAS H. DOWD, after ruling against a lady who had sued the Boston Red Sox for injuries she said she had suffered when struck by a foul ball in 1951:
"The lady could go up there today and be perfectly safe. They can't even hit a foul ball."

LT. ROGER GRASSL, jet flier at Webb Air Base:
"The main thing I miss in being away from Wisconsin is not getting to see the (Milwaukee) Braves play."

KEN LOEFFLER, new basketball coach at Texas A&M, explaining why he developed good defensive clubs at Yale:
"I had to. We never did get the ball."

BIRDIE TEBBETTS, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, commenting on a recent losing streak of his club:
"I'm amused at the way everyone is protecting me. My mother writes me and sends clippings of the home-town papers, with all the baseball items thoughtfully clipped out. My wife had something troubling her but waited to phone me until after we'd won our first game—a long wait, I might add. Friends tenderly refuse to discuss baseball with me. The only ones who haven't shown me the slightest consideration are my three daughters. They're too young to know what line of work I'm in."

Five Teams Are Qualified To Compete In Playoffs

By The Associated Press
Five teams are in the state schoolboy baseball tournament and the other three may be determined Tuesday. The tournament will have a new champion regardless of who else wins its way. Austin Travis was eliminated Monday night in the bid to determine which goes to the tournament. North Side beat Adamson 4-0 Monday night to square the series. Port Arthur and Baytown, tied in their series clash Tuesday while Corpus Christi Ray plays McAllen and can advance to the tournament with a victory. Ray already holds a decision over McAllen.

In the National, the Giants haven't tried on the lead for size yet, but they've won six of seven over the past week. That's chopped three games off Brooklyn's nine-game lead. The Brooks have been playing no better than 400 ball—and they haven't been able to widen their bulge in 10 days.

Cleveland ran afoul of Detroit's Tigers, a bunch of reluctant fourth-placers, and Chicago had its troubles with the Yanks and seventh-place Kansas City. After taking two from Chicago, New York completed its move from third place by swatting Baltimore in four games.

In the National, the Giants fattened up on the slumping Pittsburgh Pirates, who have lost 11 straight, and Milwaukee, suffering from a pitching slump and Ed Mathews' appendectomy. The Cubs got their licks in against Philadelphia and Milwaukee. St. Louis barely kept the pace, losing three of four at Cincinnati after winning five straight.

Just a year ago—over the same day 19-23 week—it was Cleveland that won six straight to grab the AL lead from Chicago. And in the National, Milwaukee zoomed from sixth to a first place tie with Brooklyn by winning eight of nine.

The schedule favors continued success for the Yanks at present. The New Yorkers, still at home, have four games ahead against fifth-place Washington, then shift for three at Baltimore and two at Washington.

The Yanks get started against Washington tonight while Chicago plays at Cleveland. Detroit's at Kansas City and the Boston Red Sox, with Ted Williams still not ready for competition, are at Baltimore.

In the National, New York's at Philadelphia with the Phils' 10-23 record the only thing that's keeping Pittsburgh out of the cellar. The Cubs, who never have lost more than 11, are home to Brooklyn. St. Louis is at Chicago and Cincinnati at Milwaukee.

Mallett Leads SW In Hitting

DALLAS (AP)—Jerry Mallett, Baylor's sophomore star who made the all-conference team, led the Southwest Conference in batting during the baseball season just closed.

Figures from the conference office show that Mallett hit .388 to top the regulars. He had 19 hits in 49 times at bat.

Second was Fred Abton of Texas A&M with .368 and third was Jim Mayfield of Texas Christian with .362.

Joe Hardgrove of Texas A&M topped the pitchers with a 4-9 record, but the hurler winning the most games was Tommy Bowers of Southern Methodist, who had an 8-3 record. Bowers was the strikeout leader with 81.

Tommy Snow of Texas was the leading individual. He topped in three batting departments. He led in total bases with 41, runs batted in with 19 and doubles with six. Jerry Dykeman of Baylor was the leader in runs with 17, Abton in hits with 25, Bob White of Texas Christian in triples with three and Mallett in home runs with six.

Texas A&M led in club batting with 291 and Texas in club fielding with 964.

Corpus Leads By 8 Games

By The Associated Press
This Big State League race is getting serious for seven ball clubs. It's a very pleasant diversion for the eighth—Corpus Christi's Clippers—who are now leading the field by a whopping eight games.

Corpus Christi whammed Waco 10-4 with more home runs Monday night to fatten its lead as second-place Port Arthur lost its third game in the last four starts.

Keith Little, Joe Christian and Ed Charles knocked the ball over the fence to lead Corpus Christi's 10-hit attack. It was the fifth homer in two nights for Little, the second for Christian and the third for Charles. Bill Tossheit had Waco eating out of his hand with a 6-hitter.

Texas City won its third straight game by shelling Port Arthur 6-4 as Len Vanderhy and Ed Kneuper hit homers that produced four runs in the seventh. Fred Smith got the hurling decision although he had to be rescued by Al Diez in the ninth.

Tyler improved its third-place position with a 6-3 victory over Galveston. Moe Santomauro hit two homers, Mike Dooley parked one and Ted Browning slammed two triples in moving Tyler over Galveston.

Harlingen blasted 15 hits to lash Austin 9-6 and push into fourth place ahead of Galveston. The Capitols came from behind in the fifth for victory. Jeb Tate clouted a homer for Harlingen.

Deep In Speed

The current University of Texas combine, which has been clocked in world record time, around two turns, runs in this order, bottom to top: Dean Smith, Alvin Friedman, Jerry Prewitt and Bobby Whilden. Smith is the defending 100-yard dash champion. The University of Texas holds 440-yard relay records at most of the nation's major meets. (AP Photo).

Texans Furnish News At Omaha

Texans furnished the big news as the annual 35 day race meet opened at Ak-Sar-Ben Park, Omaha, Nebraska, according to Sunbeam Morrison, who recently returned from there. Johnny Ray Dillard and Equichall, eight-year-old race mare owned by J. T. Dillard was the object of the pre-race issue of the Omaha World Herald.

Pictured was the Texas trainer and horse that won Omaha's biggest stake of last year. The paper used the picture and story in both morning and evening editions.

Dr. T. M. Johnson of Del Rio, quickly grabbed two-year-old honors when his home-bred colt, Kevin D, annexed the first two-year-old race of the meet Friday. The colt, a full brother to Hiram Jr., breezed the four-furlong distance in track record-breaking time of 47 1-5 seconds to take a second off the old record established in 1938.

Hiram Jr. will be remembered by Big Spring fans as the winner of the 1950 Big Spring Futurity and has annexed some bigger stakes to bring his earnings above the $50,000 mark. He will compete in the better allowance and handicaps during the Omaha meet.

Carl Craig, Texas rancher also got off to a good start, according to Morrison. Shipping his horses from California, where they had only a mediocre rating, the Texan personally took over the handling of his string for the Omaha meet.

In the first two days, he has registered two wins and had two seconds from five starts.

Dillard shipped to Omaha just prior to the meet with Equichall and the two-year-old Anizami, last of six Kentucky bred purchases at the Keeneland sale by Dillard and Claude Kelley of Jayton.

The partnership had sold three of the youngsters and at the Hot Springs meet received good offers for an additional two which were bartered there. An over supply of two-year-olds had prompted Dillard to pare his string to one.

Both Equichall and Anizami showed little signs of a 30-day let

Solon Sees Russ Effort To Split U. S., Britain Over Formosa Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) forecast today a Russian effort at the prospective top-level Big Four conference to split the United States and Britain over Formosa.

Smith, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview he believes the Soviets "will throw the Formosa matter into the conference to try to split us away from Britain."

British leaders generally have advocated a settlement under which the Chinese Nationalist-held island of Formosa would be placed under a United Nations trusteeship.

This government has taken no firm position on the eventual status of Formosa, but has a treaty with Chiang Kai-shek pledging to help defend it from any attack by the Chinese Reds.

Britain has been cool also toward Chiang's claims to the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu. The Eisenhower administration has declined to say whether it would help to defend them.

Except for some shelling of these islands, the situation in the Formosa Strait has been relatively calm in recent weeks, with Peiping soft-pedaling her pledges to conquer Formosa.

Some American officials attribute this calm to a possible refusal by Russia to back up Red China States.

They said a shift to softer tactics by Red China and Russia is evidence that both have their hands full at home with lagging farm and factory programs.

About the same time, Russia was agreeing to independence for Austria in Europe, Chinese Premier Chou En-lai was proposing direct talks with the United States to settle Far East tension, particularly around Formosa.

Officials assessing these developments said there was evidence that Moscow had notified Peiping it could not count on Russian support if a shooting war developed over Formosa. They speculated Russia suggested Red China shift to a softer attitude without giving up any of its claims.

Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. put out a feeler yesterday in an attempt to draw out the Red Chinese. In a speech at Los Angeles, he said the Red Premier's "conciliatory attitude" is encouraging, and added he welcomed Chou's statement that the Communists are willing to seek "liberation" of Formosa "by peaceful means, as far as possible."

"Perhaps the Chinese Communists were merely playing a propaganda game," Hoover said. "But we intend to find out. In doing so, we shall not, of course, depart from the path of fidelity and honor toward our ally, the Republic of China."

Sen. Smith said he does not believe that at the proposed talks among President Eisenhower and the Premiers of Britain, France and Russia there can be any "bargaining" over Formosa or any other issue.

Child Safety Drive Aimed At Ending Ice Box Hazards

Big Spring residents are urged to join a nation-wide campaign to eliminate the "abandoned refrigerator hazard" which has led to the suffocation of several children across the country.

The safety committee of the Chamber of Commerce is heading up the campaign here. The idea is to make discarded refrigerators harmless, says George Oldham, chairman of the committee.

This can be done by removing the refrigerator door, securely fastening the door facing the front against a wall, destroying the airtightness by boring holes in the sides, and removing gaskets from the door.

Committee members point out that May through September have proven to be the critical months for refrigerator tragedies. Four children already have been suffocated this year.

Average age of victims is five years, and the committee believes that children of that age cannot be expected to recognize hazards and act with caution. Consequently the problem must be solved by adults, it is explained.

First College Atomic Plant Is Dedicated

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—The world's first atomic reactor at a university was dedicated Monday with a plea for more and better public education on atomic matters.

Dr. Willard F. Libby, member of the Atomic Energy Commission, said in dedicating the big reactor that the nation has a critical shortage "of adequately trained scientists and engineers."

"Our supremacy in advanced military technology is threatened and the shortages are actually greatest in those specialties most important to national defense," he said.

"The research reactor is on the campus of North Carolina State College here, a division of the University of North Carolina. It is to be used in training of engineers."

In his prepared address, Libby said that because the reactor was financed by private money, "it ends a government monopoly in a very important field." He added that other educational institutions are planning similar reactors and training.

Libby said he was particularly happy to see such a training program on a college campus because he is convinced "an inadequate job of instruction" in both public schools and colleges has contributed to the falloff in training of atomic scientists.

Part of the blame for this poor instruction, he said, has been "inadequate salaries" for teachers, who have gone into other fields to earn more money.

Brickbats Fly As Effort Made To Liven Up British Elections

LONDON (AP)—A barrage of political brickbats filled the British air today as backers of the two major parties tried to liven up the last 48 hours of a dull election campaign.

The Conservative Daily Sketch discovered a "conspiracy within the Socialist party which will rock the nation." In the event of a Labor victory at the polls Thursday, it said, more than half the Socialist candidates are ready to dump placid, old Clement Attlee as party leader and supplant him with left-wing firebrand Aneurin Bevan.

That would make the Welshman prime minister—a prospect calculated to chill the marrow of every staunch Conservative. Bevan once called the Tories "vermin."

On the Socialist side, the Laborite Daily Herald declared that the forthcoming Big Four peace talks are "going sour" in advance and can be saved only by electing a Socialist government.

The Herald said the Russians already are preparing world opinion for a failure of the parley because they think the West called for it just to help Sir Anthony Eden and his Conservatives win the election.

In line with that argument, Moscow radio said last night that Washington is confident a Conservative victory in Britain will give the United States "a trustworthy partner in conducting an aggressive policy in Europe."

"This prompts one to give serious thought to the motives of the Conservative leaders in speaking at election time to their desire for negotiations," the broadcast said. "Will not all this talk of negotiation merely be followed by the scuttling of negotiations and attempts to blame the U.S.S.R. for this?"

Despite the 11th-hour outbursts, apathy hung over the campaign like a London pea soup fog. But the Conservatives, overwhelming favorites in the betting, had uneasy visions of Tory complacency sparking a Labor upset like Harry S. Truman's 1948 victory over Thomas E. Dewey.

Sir Winston Churchill, the party's grand old man, warned a campaign rally last night: "So far I have taken part in 15 general elections but I have never seen one more calm and quiet than this one. Do not be lulled into a false sense of security. Apathy, complacency, idleness, the chatter of indifference may often be faults. On Thursday, they will be crimes."

Public opinion polls indicated the Conservatives might be returned to power with a landslide majority of more than 100 seats. They controlled the last House of Commons with a margin of only 19 seats.

Peace Petition Seeks Ban On Atomic Warfare

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — A Communist-style peace petition campaign will reach a climax during the U.N.'s 10th anniversary meeting in San Francisco June 20-28. The signature drive aims at a ban on atomic warfare.

Members of some U.N. delegations said today Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov might try to use the petitions as evidence of support for the repeated Russian demands for such a ban. Molotov announced Friday night that he would attend the San Francisco meeting.

The petitions were launched in the United States by the American Peace Crusade of New York City, which is on the U.S. attorney general's list of organizations he considers subversive.

The Communist World Peace Council, meanwhile, has postponed its world assembly in Helsinki, Finland, for a month, to June 22-29. U.N. sources noted the assembly thus would overlap the San Francisco ceremonies and could provide Molotov with echoes from the Finnish capital.

The peace council's governing bureau started the petition campaign with a communique Jan. 19 demanding "destruction of all stocks of atomic weapons whenever they may be, and the immediate stopping of their manufacture."

The Communist press claims that more than 400 million people have signed this in China, other millions in European Communist countries and tens of thousands in Austria, France, Italy, Syria and elsewhere. Statistic-minded observers question the figures.

Nurse, 70, Stays On Job

CHICAGO (AP) — Mrs. Mathilda Mass is 70 and must retire on pension, the state law says. But she'll continue her 30-year nursing career at Chicago State Hospital on an unsalaried basis, with permission of Dr. Otto L. Bettag, state welfare director.

Why? "It has been more than a job," said the 90-pound woman. "It has been my life."

Now supervising nurse on the 3-11 p.m. shift, she started work at the hospital the day after graduation in 1925.

Stomach Didn't Want To Give Up

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Ten-year-old Eddie Kozlowski, Dearborn's pogo stick jumping champion, is retiring without defending his title.

Eddie bobbed up and down 4,013 times on his pogo stick in setting a local record. But when he stopped he found his stomach continued to go up and down.

For two days he couldn't eat anything but ice cream. From now on, his mother said, Eddie will work in more useful ways—such as household chores.

Anastasia Puts In Guilty Plea On Tax Charge

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — Notorious Albert Anastasia, reputed head of the old Brooklyn Murder, Inc., mob, pleaded guilty today to income tax evasion.

He admitted before U. S. Dist. Judge Thomas Madden that he had withheld $11,743 from the government in 1947-48.

Ten days ago Anastasia went before Madden and asked that his trial be held outside New Jersey. Madden rejected his plea, but he agreed to shift the trial from Newark to Camden and had set it to start May 31.

Anastasia sought the new trial site on grounds that recent newspaper stories had linked him to the disappearance of a New Jersey couple in Florida—he claimed this was false—but contended it would tend to prejudice a New Jersey jury against him.

A scheduled witness at the new trial disappeared in Florida earlier this month under mysterious circumstances that led authorities in Miami to believe he may have been murdered.

The man was Charles Ferri, 68, of Fort Lee, a plumbing and heating contractor, who had testified at Anastasia's first trial. He and his wife are missing from their blood-spattered home in suburban Miami.

Ferri was the second witness in the case to disappear under mysterious circumstances.

The other was Benedicto Macri of New York, onetime associate of Anastasia, whose bloodstained car was found abandoned in Harrison one year ago to the day the Ferris disappeared. No trace of him has been found.

Russians 'Admit' They Were Wrong

EDITOR'S NOTE—A few years ago American planes were shot down for trespassing in Yugoslav territory. These planes belonged to the United States. The planes were shot down by the Russians. Now the Russians are trying to win him back. The background of this story—and the details of it—will be related in this article and two others to follow. The writer has studied the situation both in Moscow and Belgrade.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

"Bloodthirsty dog of a Fascist Gestapo Breed!"
"Traitor! Murderer! Impertinent!"
"Contemptible degenerate!"

These were epithets the Russians used to describe Tito of Yugoslavia between 1945 and Stalin's death five years later.

Now the Russians admit they were wrong. As President Tito observes his 63rd birthday tomorrow, the Soviet leadership is ready to humble itself with a visit to Tito's lair to beg forgiveness.

What caused this turnabout? What motivates the Belgrade pilgrimages of three of the Soviet Union's most powerful men?

So far as the outside world can guess, the maverick Communist ruler of 17 million Yugoslavs has told the collective dictators of a land of 210 millions: "Come see me if you want to talk."

The stakes are high to inspire such humility in N. S. Khrushchev, Nikolai Bulganin and A. I. Mikoyan.

Yugoslavia is a dictatorship with a coldly efficient secret police. For the best observers it is difficult to pin anything down in such a country. Yet it is doubtful there's a Belgrade secret Moscow does not know. The Kremlin can measure the political and economic strains in Yugoslavia.

The West has supplied Yugoslavia over a billion dollars in aid since World War II, with most of the money coming from the United States. American diplomats and military observers are on a tough spot in Belgrade. They know much depends on their success. A highly placed observer told me: "Tito is a reasonable gamble. We cannot go beyond that at the present time."

Would Tito ever go back completely to the Cominform fold? I asked this question recently of many qualified persons, including Yugoslavs.

"What worries you Americans?" a highly placed Yugoslav countered. "Is it that you think we stand for world revolution? You can say this: The Yugoslav government does not believe in world revolution."

This was an odd statement for a Yugoslav Communist. It denies Lenin, and the Yugoslav party claims to be more Leninist than its Soviet counterpart. It states constantly it is based on Marxism-Leninism, a theory involving ultimate triumph of world communism.

Others, including some non-Communist Yugoslavs, say the Yugoslav party would rejoin the Cominform under some firm conditions. These would include: absolute equality of partnership, collaboration in a struggle against world capitalism, but with the right reserved to criticize the Soviet party, and an independent intelligence service for Yugoslavia. The Yugoslavs.

Couldn't Bear Sight Of Him

GRAND MARAIS, Minn. (U.P.)—Truman Engersol, a newcomer to this North Woods country, today nursed a foot injury inflicted by an angered bear that pursued him high into a lofty tree.

The 22-year-old flying service employe was on his way to a trout stream yesterday when he came upon the animal and sought refuge in a poplar he estimated was from 40 to 60 feet high. The bear, after treeing her three cubs some distance away, four times climbed Engersol's tree.

First she grabbed Engersol's right boot with her teeth, leaving a foot cut that required six stitches. On the second ascent, the black bear got Engersol's other boot. On the third trip, she got a smack across the nose when Engersol wielded a branch. After her fourth climb, the animal simply gave Engersol a wary look over, then climbed down, gathered her cubs together and ambled away.

Without taking time to retrieve his fishing tackle, Engersol dashed a quarter mile to his car and drove to Grand Marais to have his foot treated.

Engersol, who moved here from Minneapolis only a week ago, said he would return to the woods for his fishing equipment. But he emphasized he would carry a rifle.

Engersol said he was in the tree about an hour.

"It seemed like all afternoon, though," he added.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Sea robins are able to walk on the ocean bottom.

It seems strange to think of fish walking along the bottom of the sea, but certain fish do that, at least in a sense of the word "walk." The fish known as sea robins have fins which serve as legs of a sort. These fins are behind and below the head.

Baby sea robins are so small at the time of hatching that 18 of them, end to end, would cover only one inch. When they grow to full size, they often reach a length of 12 inches.

Sea robins usually stay away from very deep ocean water. Most of those on the western side of the Atlantic are found within those range of the North American coast, from Nova Scotia down to South Carolina.

Oysters, worms and small fish make up the chief food of sea robins. They hunt for victims while moving slowly along the bottom. If you ask whether any fish can get out of water and walk on land, the reply is "yes." A few kinds of fish can live an hour, or even several hours, while moving about on land.

Biennies sometimes walk or skip from one pool to another on a beach. In some places the high tide leaves small ponds in the sand when the main mass of water goes back to the ocean.

Biennies are tiny fish. When full grown, they usually measure from one inch to five inches in length. Besides employing a pair of fins for moving, a bienny flips its tail against a stone or other object, and in that way is able to make a long skip.

Walking perch (sometimes called climbing perch) live in southeastern Asia, also in lakes and ponds of the East Indies and Philippines. They can climb steep banks, and are able to cross fields. If they move in damp grass, they may live 24 hours while outside of water.

Tomorrow: Fish Which Turn Flips.

Don't Bridle Exploration

Only one member, Claude L. Draper, of the Federal Power Commission, has turned up to speak out against the Fulbright (D-Act) bill to deprive FPC of authority to fix the price at which producers of natural gas must sell to interstate pipelines.

But the biggest fact ignored by consuming cities is that federal price-fixing on gas flowing into interstate commerce would tend to create shortages in natural gas and thus eventually result in still higher prices to consumers by the simple fact of federal control.

Prose More Poetic Than Some Poetry

There are times when poetry and prose seem to overlap. But it is usually a one-way proposition. Many authors have seemed to gain a sense of poetry in their prose, but prose in poetry is practically prohibited due to the nature of poetry as an art.

The best example of this "overlapping" I happen to have a copy of, is the following essay written by Col. Bob Ingersoll back in the 1890's. You might remember that he was a prominent iconoclast of his age. The piece is titled "Emperor or Peasant."

"A little while ago, I stood by the grave of old Napoleon—a magnificent tomb of gilt and gold, fit almost for a dead deity—and gazed upon the sarcophagus of rare and nameless marble, where rest at last the ashes of that restless man, I leaned over the balustrade and thought about the career of the greatest soldier of the modern world."

"I saw him walking up on the banks of the Seine, contemplating suicide. I saw him at Toulon—I saw him putting down the mob in the streets of Paris—I saw him at the head of the army in Italy—I saw him crossing the bridge of Lodi with the tri-color in his hand—I saw him in Egypt in the shadows of the pyramids—I saw him conquer the Alps and mingle the eagles of France with the eagles of the crags. I saw him at Marengo—at Ulm and Austerlitz—I saw him in Russia, where the infantry of the snow and the cavalry of the wild blast scattered his legions like winter's withered leaves—I saw him at Leipzig in defeat and disaster—driven by a million bayonets back upon Paris—clutched like a wild beast—banished to Elba. I saw him escape and retake an empire by the force of his genius. I saw him upon the frightful field at Waterloo, where Chance and Fate combined to wreck the fortunes of their former king. And I saw him at St. Helena, with his hands crossed behind him, gazing upon the sad and solemn sea.

"I thought of the orphan and widow he had made—of the tears that had been shed for his glory, and of the only woman who ever loved him, pushed from his heart by the cold hand of ambition. And I said I would rather have been a French peasant and worn wooden shoes. I would rather have lived in a hut with a vine growing over the door, and the grapes growing purple in the kisses of the autumn sun. I would rather have been that poor peasant with my loving wife by my side, knitting as the day died out of the sky—with my children upon my knees and their arms about me—I would rather have been that man and gone down to the tongueless silence of the dreamless dust, than to have been that imperial impersonation of force and murder, known as 'Napoleon the Great!'"

I believe this essay will compare with any sentiment expressed in the English language. That it is American in origin is another argument for the source of modern-day classics in the English language. —GLENN COATES

Well-Fed Folk Don't Rock The Boat

WASHINGTON — One lesson in these elections were not swept clear from recent political campaigns and elections in this country and Britain: when people have food and jobs they are not much in the mood for rocking the boat.

But by 1951, when the Conservatives won, Britain was getting back on its economic feet. Employment was increasing. And as voters got money in their pockets again they apparently felt less urge for social revolution, even though peaceful.

The Conservatives, however, won control of Commons in 1951 by only 19 seats. There was no basic difference between Conservatives and Laborites then on foreign affairs, nor is there now.

What Is Magic Of Manhattan?

NEW YORK — What is the magic of Manhattan? Critics have been predicting for some time that the flight to the suburbs would eventually turn this heart island of New York City into a ghost town on the Hudson—the world's largest pigeon roost. Some people, perhaps, rather hoped this would happen.

But what has really happened? No grass is growing in Wall Street yet. In the last 19 years some 21 million square feet of office space has been built or planned in the midtown area. Luxurious new apartment buildings are still springing up like dandelions. The U. N. has lifted a towering new home of glass-enclosed hope for the future.

Commenting on this spectacular postwar growth, a real estate dealer the other day said, rather wondrously, there seems to be "some magic in Manhattan that defies logic."

In the depths of the depression of the 1930s the Democrats, under the banner of Franklin D. Roosevelt and his New Deal, promised sweeping remedies, won by big majorities. After the war, with the country moving into peak prosperity, the voters apparently felt no need for sharp changes.

The election returns showed how the gap between Democrats and Republicans had narrowed. The Republicans won Congress in 1945. The Democrats won in 1948 and 1950 and lost in 1952. The margins

Tories Do The Best Campaigning In England

LONDON—On the theme of "You never had it so good," translated into somewhat more urbane terms, the Conservative party led by Prime Minister Anthony Eden is asking to be returned to power and the general belief is that they are a shoo-in.

exploiting the pocketbook issue of higher prices. Two former Laborite Cabinet members, Dr. Edith Summerskill, Minister of Food, and Harold Wilson, head of the Board of Trade put on an effective television program comparing food prices in 1951 and today. Butter then cost 35 cents per pound and today it's 50 cents, cheese was 18 and now it's 24, bacon went from 45 to 52.

You can even see some resemblance between Conservative and Republican personalities in London and Washington. Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler, whose private interests are interwoven with the country's top industry and finance, has skillfully managed the government's fiscal policy. His opposite number in Washington is Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, and they share a desire to break through debt and tax-ridden economies to give greater opportunity to private incentive and profit.

Divided between the followers of the fiery Welshman, Aneurin Bevan, and the regular under-mid-mannered Clement Attlee, the Labor party has not provided an effective opposition, however. It has appeared divided and confused, reacting with deep emotionism to the terrible threat the hydrogen bomb represents to the very existence of this small island but offering little in the way of sober advice.

In almost every department, and this is what really sets the Tories and the Republicans apart, the Conservatives have run away with Labor's social welfare program. In his campaign speeches, Churchill whose Toryism, boasts of the number of schools and houses his government built during the past 3 1/2 years. In the previous election the Conservatives claimed they would build 300,000 housing units per year, and the Laborites derided this claim. Nearly 1,000,000 units have been built under the direction of Harold Macmillan, who went from Housing Minister to be Foreign Secretary.

As in elections everywhere, such serious matters are obscured by the loud simplifications of the politicians. Almost no one talks about the high sales tax—called a purchase tax here—which contributes greatly to the cost of living. And, curiously enough, few Laborites point out that Britain, unlike America, has no capital-gains tax, so that the wealthy who deal in stocks and bonds come off with clear profit. This and the agricultural subsidy enable the thinning ranks of the upper class to give at least a fair imitation of the old assured upper-class existence. Having adjusted themselves to the way of the welfare state, they mean to try to preserve all that is left of what Labor angrily denounces as "pride, self and privilege."

Scott's Tall In The Movie Saddle

HOLLYWOOD — Randolph Scott cleaned out another town this week. He brought the outlaws to justice and convicted the local citizens they had to take a stand against lawlessness. This time he's "Marshal of Medicine Bend."

What's more, he shows no signs of quitting. Randolph Scott is the perfect Western hero. He is tall and lean, with a leather-faced handsomeness and an ability to command respect with his tight-mouthed orders.

Military Manner

FT. CARSON, Colo. — Draftees and enlisted men sent here for their basic Army training are learning by doing. The old system of lectures and demonstrations by instructors in combat tactics has been abandoned in favor of actual practice of military techniques. Unit commanders and squad leaders are mostly combat veterans of World War II and the Korean War.

Major emphasis is placed on the M-1 rifle, basic infantry weapon. Other weapons include light machineguns, automatic rifles, carbines and rocket launchers. Trainees also are taught bayonet fighting, night firing, first aid, guard duty, camouflage, basic indoctrination, mines and booby traps, signal communications, inspections, gas mask drill, field sanitation and intelligence.

Feelings Hurt

ORANGEFIELD, Tex. — C. F. Floyd wasn't hurt in a gas line explosion. Just embarrassed. It blew his pants off.

Actress May Have To Stay In Hospital

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Pier Angeli, an expectant mother, probably will be hospitalized another two days.

A physician said the wife of singer Vic Damone was admitted Saturday because of premature labor pains. The doctor said the pains have quieted and chances "look very good" for successful birth of the baby she expects, in three months.

Miss Angeli suffered a broken pelvis and an eye injury last Feb. 25 during an airplane ride to Palm Springs. The plane hit an air pocket and dashed her against the cabin wall.

Advice For People Buying Video Sets

BY WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—People are still buying television sets at close to a record pace, and if you're in the market here's some good advice:

Deal only with a reputable firm, have any promises put into writing, and read carefully what you sign so you'll know exactly what you're entitled to receive.

An outdoor antenna is best if you have a place for it, and is virtually a necessity if you should get a color set.

If you don't intend to buy in

Social Security Revision Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Further revision of social security laws to help women and disabled workers is under study in the House Ways and Means Committee.

House Democratic leaders said yesterday they hope to put the legislation before the House for action next month.

They hope to eliminate the present 65-year age limit for women who would qualify at age 60 or 62—and for disabled workers, who would become eligible for benefits when they became disabled.

Congress last year provided a general increase for all recipients of social security benefits, but Rep. Mills (D-Ark.) said the law "left much to be desired."

Arch Of Constantine Gets Shakes From Modern Traffic

ROME (AP)—Rome's ancient Arch of Constantine has been put in splints to cure a modern malady—too much traffic vibration.

Located alongside the Colosseum, it is one of the best preserved and oldest triumphal arches in the world. But vibration from heavy traffic has shaken loose huge blocks of granite.

Rome's Department of Arts and Monuments said restoration was urgent or the fourth century relic might be damaged irreparably. Work crews were rushed there from similar repair jobs at the Pantheon and Colosseum.

Pipe scaffolding was erected around the arch and workmen began boring holes and binding the loosened blocks of granite together with yard-long brass bolts. To preserve the original appearance, the holes are cemented and plugged with bits of granite from ruins of the same period.

The arch was erected to commemorate Emperor Constantine's defeat of Maxentius in the Battle of Milvian Bridge in 312 A.D.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bob Hope, who concludes a five-year TV contract with NBC tomorrow night, said today he is negotiating with the network for another deal.

U.S. Advisory Group Aids ROKs To Self-Sufficiency

SEOUL (AP)—A U. S. military advisory group is being formed here to make South Korea's armed forces self-sufficient for defense purposes and provide for eventual withdrawal of U. S. forces from Korea.

It still is in the provisional stage, said a responsible source, and its aims are far off.

Commander of the new unit—Provisional Military Advisory and Assistance Group Korea (Provmag-K)—is Lt. Gen. Claude B. Ferenbaugh, deputy 8th Army commander, who led the 7th Division in the bitter Korean fighting of 1951.

The 7th is one of two understrength U. S. divisions still serving in the Korean forward areas. The other is the 24th. Both are carrying many Korean servicemen for training purposes.

Provmag-K will have advisers from the U. S. Army, Navy and Air Force, with the Marines represented by the Navy adviser.
