The Lynxettes beat the Canadian Wildcats Thursday night to capture the Bi-District title and continue their quest for the gold. Although the Lynxettes didn't play as polished as they usually do, they managed to defeat the Wildcats 48-31.

Krista Kirkland led all scorers with 24 points and Londee Bradley came up with 10. Vonda Benson and Heather Murrell had 4 points apiece, followed by Michelle Cook with 2 and Joy Gafford with 1. Heather also had 10 key rebounds.

The Lynxettes will meet the winner of the Abernathy-Crosbyton game Tuesday night in Amarillo for the Area contest.

Don't let anyone stop you this year Lynxettes! Win Area!

It wasn't until the fourth quarter that the ninth-ranked Spearman girls shifted into gear Thursday night against Canadian, but then they moved into overdrive and cruised to a 48-31 Class 2A bi-district win.

The victory, before 750 fans at the Ringer Gym, put Spearman, 26-5, into an area playoff game against tonight's Abernathy-Crosbyton winner.

Spearman led 30-21 after three quarters, having shot just 11 of 32 from the floor. But in the final quarter the Lynxettes made eight of 13 floor shots to ice the game.

Two-time all-stater Krista Kirkland started a critical seven-point Spearman run in the fourth quarter to vault the Lynxettes into a 39-25 lead with 3:46 left.

With the score 32-25 and six minutes left, Kirkland made a steal and scored on a layup. She then scored on a lay-in and an outside shot for a 38-25 lead. Joy Gafford continued the run with a free throw.

Denise Cleveland made a pair of free throws to pull Canadian within 39-27 with 3:39 left. But by then the damage had been done.

"It just took us a long time to get untracked," said Spearman coach Jim Kirkland, whose team has won 21 of its last 22 games. "It just seemed that we were real tentative against the zone defense. We just weren't real crisp with what we were doing."

Krista Kirkland finished with a game-high 27 points, including 11 points in the final quarter in which she sank five of seven field-goal attempts.

"When you have one of those who can come to the top like that, that's what they're supposed to do," Canadian coach Jackie Burns said of Kirkland.

She had some offensive help from post Londee Bradley, who sank five of eight floor shots and finished with 10 points, along with five rebounds.

"Bradley was real sich yesterday (Wednesday) and was real sick tonight," Coach Kirkland said. "I admire her for how much gumption she showed tonight."

Heather Murrell greatly helped Spearman on the boards, grabbing a game-high 10 rebounds, including five on the offensive end.

Canadian, 20-7, was plagued by poor field-goal shooting. The Lady Cats finished the game at 10 of 34, and never made more than three field goals in any one quarter. They also missed a bunch of easy short shots in and near the lane.

"Lindy (Sparks) and Denise missed some early that were in close," Burns said. "We were down five at one time, and we missed three little ol' shots right there that would have tied it up or put us ahead. When you don't make those, you're not going to beat very many people."

"I thought our little ol' kids played about as well as they've played all year."

Spearman led 14-8 after the first quarter, and that lead stayed between five and 11 points until the Lynxettes took off on their fourth-quarter scoring spurt.

One important key for Spearman was its play on the Canadian posts, Cleveland and Sparks. Cleveland, hampered by early foul trouble, finished with six points, while Sparks had 13, including seven from the foul line. Sparks also had a team-high eight rebounds.

"I think our kids did a good job of getting around the post players and getting a lot of backside help," said Coach Kirkland, whose team beat Canadian for the third time this season. "They didn't hurt us as much tonight going over the top as they did in the previous two games. Evidently, we got some of that straightened out."

They just have a lot of trouble with us. I don't know what it is. I hope it's our good defense."

Guard Kim Bivins was Canadian's second-high scorer with eight points, and also hustled her way to seven rebounds.

The Commissioner's Court of Hansford County will consider ordering the County to be served by one Justice of the Peace by designating the entire county to be one Justice and Constable Precinct at its next regular meeting Feb. 27.

State's natural gas needs being met in cold snap

Railroad Commission Chairman Kent Hance and Commissioner John Sharp said Monday that natural gas requirements for essential human needs in Texas are being met and should continue to be met throughout the cold snap

51 students register for kindergarten

A total of 51 children have been registered to enter kindergarten for the 1989/90 school year at the Spearman Independent School District.

The children will be invited to attend the school for one day in the spring to familiarize themselves with the school grounds, and parents of the new students will be invited to a meeting with elementary principal, Eddie Gage.

Gage is asking parents of students whose name does not appear on this list but will attend Spearman Public School Kindergarten next September, to call his office at 659-2563.

The following students have been pre-registered for kindergarten: Daniel Baker, Tanner Beedy, Monica Behney, Nicholas Benton, Amanda Bowman, Erin Boxwell, John Brock, Travis Brown, Jacob Burch, Erin Butts;

presently gripping the state.

Hance said, "Gas consumption has increased tremendously -- by as much as 400 to 600 percent for gas suppliers throughout the state of Texas -- but the Railroad Commission is getting full cooperation from gas and electric utilities as well as suppliers and producers in addressing the problem."

Commissioner Sharp said "The natural gas industry in the state of Texas is functioning superbly in meeting natural gas requirements. Our Voluntary Natural Gas Allocation Committee is anticipating no human needs curtailments of natural gas."

"Those who have said that the first cold weather would cause gas shortages are being proven wrong again," Sharp said.

Chairman Hance said there had been some curtailments, but they were electrical users who had other means of fuel to switch to, or were non-essential industrial users. Hance said one example of the bitterness of the cold snap is that recently Lone Star Gas Co. of Dallas was supplying .4 billion cubic feet of gas to all users, but by a few days later their customers -- excluding electric utilities -- were consuming 2.4 billion cubic feet per day.

Hance pointed out that was a 600 percent increase, proving the severity of the cold weather that has generated record low temperatures throughout the state. The Commission chairman complimented the industry for working together through the Voluntary Allocation Committee to make sure all essential human needs would be met.

Commissioner Sharp said the industry's performance proves the reliability of natural gas as a fuel. "Today, in the most severe Texas weather and the harshest economic conditions for the gas industry, natural gas, just as in the winter of 1983, is proving itself a reliable fuel," he said.

Chairman Hance summed up the situation by saying "we are proud that everyone in the oil and gas industry is pulling together to make sure that people realize that we can meet the needs with the gas capacity and deliverability that we presently have. It appears that we will be in good shape, but we will continue to monitor the situation on an hourly basis."

Weeding out the records

Winter is a good time to reassess your financial habits because a year has just ended. Like most people, your financial papers and records could probably stand a little overhauling.

But, before you begin a reorganizing, consider what you really need and what you can prune out. Most of us save more paperwork than necessary and it just takes up a lot of space.

Start by setting out boxes and files to hold three types of records: those you can toss, those you need to keep six or more years, and those you need to keep for the rest of your life.

Things you can toss - If you don't need the record for tax purposes or if you are sure it can easily be replaced, don't save it.

Receipts for small daily purchases do not have to be saved, especially if they have no tax consequences. But keep receipts for expensive items to settle insurance claims in the case of loss, theft or damage.

It isn't necessary to keep monthly mutual fund and brokerage statements once a comprehensive year-end statement is issued. However, you should save trade confirmations and dividend-reinvestment statements. This information is needed to determine your cost basis when you sell a security. Without it, you may overpay taxes when you sell the security.

You can safely discard most business receipts for less than $25 and your credit card bills after your bank returns the cancelled check verifying that you paid the bill. However, if you need your credit card statement for analyzing itemized deductions at tax time, keep those statements with your tax records.

Records to keep six or more years - Plan to keep tax records for as long as they are important for any Internal Revenue law. Keep records that support an item of income or a deduction appearing on a return until the statute of limitations for the return runs out. Usually this is three years from the date the return was due or filed, or two years from the date the tax was paid, whichever date is later.

Sometimes you may have to keep tax records for a longer period, such as in property transactions, when the basis for the new or replacement property depends on the old property's basis. Keep those records for as long as they are important in figuring your property's basis.

Records to keep forever - These records include birth and death certificates, list of financial assets, medical records, powers of attorney, trust agreements, will and W-2 statements. Also keep divorce decrees and custody agreements, military papers, naturalization papers and prenuptial agreements.

Getting a handle on your paper trail will take a little time and effort, but will be worth it. Once you've accomplished the task, you will be able to find every paper you need.

I did learn one thing! The firemen are men of steel. They operate fast and efficiently in an emergency and are even polite to people in their way.

Reporter meets men of steel

by Joanne Eaton
Arriving at the fire station, I was very surprised to see fire trucks pulling out, with lights flashing. I had been assigned to take pictures of 3-year-old preschoolers on their visit to see a fire truck.

A red truck left as I parked my car. Now another truck was getting ready to pull out. I ran over to ask the driver, Galen Coates, if there was a fire and where the little kids were. He told me the location of the fire, assuring me there really was one, but he knew nothing about any little kids. "There were little kids here yesterday," he told me.

Buddy Hopper was pulling out in a white semi water truck. "Buddy, wait, where are the little kids?" Buddy looked at me with concern, "I don't know anything about any little kids," he replied.

I ran to the phone to call my office. "Marlene, there's a fire in progress. There are firemen everywhere, but there are no little kids."

Marlene became quite excited, "Well hurry! Take some pictures!"
I had completely forgotten the camera in my hand. "But, Marlene, I can't. You don't understand! My back is against this wall. There are men and trucks everywhere. And, I can't find the kids."

After hanging up the telephone, I set my camera bag on the floor and ran around to where Butch

Noble was pulling out in a yellow fire truck. Why not take a picture! I got Butch in focus and quickly snapped the camera. Then I noticed that water was running all over the floor from somewhere, plus Butch was backing the fire-truck at an unusual angle. Oh, no, my camera bag with my good personal camera in it was right in his path!

I ran around the truck, retrieved my bag, and dialed my office again. "Marlene, I still can't find the kids. Are you sure I'm supposed to be at the fire station or is a truck parked someplace else?" She assured me I was at the right place. "Well, I'll drive over to preschool to see if we misunderstood."

I arrived at preschool - walked in - no teacher, no kids. What a frustrating ordeal! I was really becoming concerned now since one of these mysteriously missing little ones was my grandson. I found the pre-school teacher, Donna Trantham's, phone and for the third time called the office. "Marlene, are you sure we have the right day?"

I headed back to the fire station. Just as I got to the corner, Donna and eight little people came out of the YMCA, which is next door to the fire station, where they had taken refuge during all the hustle and bustle at the station, I hadn't been smart enough to think of this. I joined them on the rest of their walk to the station.

Eldon Myrick calmly greeted us at the door dressed in all his fire fighting finery. He explained fire prevention, the 911 emergency number, and gave each little person a fire hat, while this reporter collapsed in a chair, gasped for air, and considered the need for resuscitation. Eldon then had one of the firemen pull a truck outside, lined the little people up for me, and helped me focus the camera.
My assignment was over! One frazzled reporter headed back to the news office with several fire-

EDITOR'S NOTE:
The fire Thursday morning was a compressor fire that the Spearman Volunteer Fire Department was called to respond to. The fire was located about six-miles east of town. A call from the police informed the SVFD that the fire was under control before the department reached the location.

I want to let everyone know how much I appreciated their concern over my surgery. I want to say thanks for all the good food that was brought to us. Also the visits, calls and cards, which I appreciate. Most of all, that meant so much to me, was the many prayers that were prayed for me.

Among the Neighbors

By Helen Fisher

Friends and neighbors of J.R. Stump will be pleased to learn that he was able to return to his home on Tuesday. He had undergone serious surgery, relating to a blood clot, and was in St. Anthony's hospital for eight days. He has been promoted from a wheel chair to a walker and is expecting to get back to his tractors one of these days.

The most stimulating therapy for him and for Frances is the presence of their grandson, Mike Ladd is assisting with his care. Mike recently received his degree from Tulane University at New Orleans. J.R. and Frances, and the entire family, are so pleased that they can be back home and so grateful for all the concern shown by friends. They express their deepest appreciation to each person.

The Thursday Amarillo paper carried an obituary of A.L. Prustman, 74, of Amarillo. Among his survivors were two sisters - Wynona Stewart of Union City, Okla. and Ruth McNabb of Portales, and a brother, Vance Prustman, of Albuquerque, N. Mex. All three, as well as A.L., lived in Spearman for many years and some still have relatives here.

The monthly Bingo Party was held at Hansford Manor on Thursday afternoon. The residents enjoy this and find it most stimulating. They are very grateful for the time and effort of three members of the Auxiliary who provide this recreation for them. They are Rosalie Butt, Virginia Head and Mary Fern Terry. Mrs. Eva Boyd of Gruver often assists them.

A landmark that many have used as a guide on highway #281 is no more. The 65-foot windmill tower at the J.B. Buchanan place, no longer in use, had become a hazard in high winds. It is not known just when the well was drilled and the lower part of the tower built, but it was many, many years ago.

The huge crane being used on the new school building and owned and operated by the Parsley Roofing Company manipulated the lowering. Roger Buchanan, (probably wishing for a swig of monkey blood) scaled the tower to attach the mill section.

Hansford Hospital admittances since Monday are: Gloria Knox, Rudy Saldivar, Mary Hutton, Clyde Soapes, Jr., Ed Garner, Donald Ladd, Will Douglas, Joe Garcia III, Norma Holland, Larry Don Dunn, Bill Russell, Robert Cantu, Cecil Kirk, Julianne Ortega, Neil Cummings, Freeman Barkley, and Juan Zamora.

Conference on child care scheduled in Lubbock

Persons who operate child care facilities or keep children in their homes can sharpen their skills and gain new ideas to help them in their day-to-day tasks by attending a conference March 11 in Lubbock. The program will begin at 8:30 a.m. and end at 4 p.m. at the educational building of the Broadway Church of Christ, 1924 Broadway, Lubbock. Course completion will provide participants six contact hours toward state required training.

"In Hansford County, some 40 percent of our families rely on child care providers each week," said County Extension Agent, Karen Babitzke. "These providers play an important part in the growth and development of our children." The training conference is being presented by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service with the assistance of several other state and community agencies. It will stimulate professional growth and provide an exchange of ideas and technical information to help child care providers.

Information and advance registration is available at the County Extension office. For more information: Call 659-2030 or 733-2901.

Agriculture Dept wavers over Hightower's plan

With the U.S. Department of Agriculture waffling on rejection or acceptance of Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower's plan to sell "hormone-free" beef to the European community, Texas farmers and ranchers still lose in the end, according to the president of the Texas Farm Bureau.

"The situation has become extremely confused," said S.M. True, a cotton, grain, and cattle producer from Plainview, and president of the state's largest farm organization. "It appears the folks in Washington, D.C., both at the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the U.S. Trade Representative's office, can't seem to get their act together."

Regardless of how federal officials resolve the issue, True believes producers will fail to profit from the situation, for several reasons. First, he said, if the EEC can make demands on the specifics of the types of commodities it will accept, then that raises the opportunity for any country to do the same.

"To start erecting certain types of trade barriers that either we will or will not be able to comply with, that means the whole format on our trading posture has changed," True said. "And that's a very significant problem as we seek to increase our export markets for farm commodities."

Second, even if an agreement is worked out with the EEC, it's unlikely farmers and ranchers will have a true market, he said.

"If we lose the opportunity to use these natural growth promoters, then we'll lose from $20 to $80 a head in lost efficiency," he said. "Again, another tool is being challenged here in agriculture."

True said producers are worried that consumer activists in this country will follow the EEC's lead and make the same type of demands for American beef even though research does not support their claims. The result could spill the issue over into the general population, when based on scientific evidence, there is really no issue at all.

"Thanks to deliberate misinformation and confusion consumers are obviously concerned, and they should not be," True said. "They should not be afraid because our food and food supply is safe."

"Commissioner Hightower has sworn to serve as an advocate for Texas farmers and ranchers. If what he's doing is serving as an advocate for farmers and ranchers, I'd certainly hate to see what he would do if he were opposing us."

DPS to give entrance examinations

The Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) has announced that beginning on March 1, 1989, they will be giving entrance examinations and physical agility tests every Monday and Wednesday, year round instead of only during a short period just before an announced recruit school, according to Major V.J. Cawthon, Regional Commander for this area.

Major Cawthon said, "Even though a date for a recruit school has not been determined, we will begin testing all year long. This change in testing periods, will allow the applicant to take the test, more so, at his convenience and will allow the D.P.S. ample time to conduct the background investigations and hold the interview boards."

Testing will begin at 8:00 a.m. each Monday and Wednesday, except days that fall on state holidays. The tests will take most of the day to complete. Tests will be given at the Amarillo, Wichita Falls and Lubbock Department of Public Safety Offices. The application must be completed and all basic requirement must be met prior to taking the entrance exams. Employment qualifications and application forms may be picked up at the above mentioned offices or by contacting your local Department of Public Safety Trooper.

Major Cawthon stated, "The D.P.S. is actively recruiting qualified minorities and females. For an exciting and rewarding career in law enforcement, come by and see us."

The Texas Department of Public Safety is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer. Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97 percent five year survival rate and a 90 percent 10 year survival rate. (The cost is only $55.00) A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.
