BY PHEBE K. WARNER

How many churches are there in your town? What are they for? Who uses them? Who supports them? What do they cost? How many lodge halls are there in your town? Who uses them? What are they for and what do they cost? How many schools are there in your town? What is their mission and what do they cost? How many business houses? Why does a town have business houses? How many homes are there in your town? What is the function of each home? How many nice, clean, convenient, well equipped, empty places stand dark and idle in your town every night in the year? Where do the boys in your town spend their evenings? Where do the young men and young women who are employed in your town, but do not have a home there, spend their evenings?

Suppose you knew that the day your son or your daughter was sixteen years old that your life and the protection of your home would slip away from them and they would be left in this world alone? What would be your greatest anxiety? Well, it won't make so very much difference whether you and your home slips away from child or not. The separation is coming anyway, and they are gradually going to slip away from you and their home. The world in some form is calling every normal child away from home. Away from the protection of their childhood. And who of us would have it different? Who would want his child to remain a helpless child all of its days?

If your boy has a spark of ambition in his nature something is going to call him away from home before many years. Some school, some job, some business, some profession, something will call him away. And if he is ever to become a useful citizen for his country you must say "goodbye," and let him go. And when this parting comes there will be many roads for him to travel alone. There will be the road to school and the road to work. And there will be the road to the church and the road back home once in a while. But most of the roads he will travel by day. But there is another road that every natural human being is sure to travel. It is the road to rest, recreation and pleasure. And because of the fullness of the day and the duties of life this road to rest and recreation is usually traveled at night—in the darkness. But even the night and the darkness would not be so bad or so dangerous if our boys and girls only knew where they were going down this road to recreation. They would find the place if it were there. But it is not there. It is not anywhere. When they start to church they know when they get there because they see the lighted church and they know it is their church home. When they start to school they know which way to go because they know which way the school house is. When they go to work they aim for a certain place where their work is waiting for them. And when they want to go HOME, be ever so humble, they know where to find home. It is just this long lane to rest and recreation and pleasure that has no end, no aim, no lighted home with joy and cheer within for lonely boys and girls away from home and tired men and women who want to forget the worries of the day for a few hours in a friendly game with friends.

Does it not seem a little strange that in a town where we have so many good private homes for our families and so many beautiful churches for our different religious homes and so many schools for the children's educational homes and so many lodge halls and club rooms for men's social homes and so many business houses for our business homes that so few, so VERY few of our towns have a community home where everybody can meet at different times in their own social home? We believe the boys and girls and the youth and even old age could be trained to go to a community home for most of their rest and recreation just the same as we are all trained to go to our own church on Sunday morning to Sunday school. How many of you ever make a mistake and go to the wrong church or Sunday school? And what harm would it be if you did get into some other good church some day? But you never do by accident. If you go to some other church beside your home church there is usually a reason for it. It is a habit. We go to our own church as we call it because we feel more at home there. And our boys and girls would soon learn to feel more at home in a clean, pretty, well furnished community home than they do out on the streets and out in automobiles and out away from home many miles seeking something they could not find at home, i. e. a good place to have a good time.

The social road that leads to recreation and pleasure winds through the labyrinths of every human heart and life. It is beset by the most human temptations. It is seldom ever traveled alone. It is the most dangerous road in life. It is the road where men and women, boys and girls seek the company of one-another. It is the road that is universally traveled in the night because the day is too full of duties to think of recreation and pleasure. It is the road where most of the world meets its fate of happiness or misery. Yet with all its temptations, there is seldom a guide post or a light house to be found on this road. Youth wanders up and down the trail stopping here and there and anywhere seeking companionship and friends and pleasure. If there were just one social home in every town where the people young and old could meet and have a good time how many happy hours it would mean to your community. But how many of our towns have one home that belongs to all the people? But every county has a court house and a jail built by the people into which our boy or our girl will be dragged before the public for punishment should they make a miss step along this dark and unguarded road. A well directed community home would do more to cure vice and crime in our towns than all the court houses and jails in the country, and their effect on the community would be more wholesome and happy.

NEWS PUBLISHED LAST WEEK UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Last Friday morning about three o'clock, a bearing was burned out at the light plant and put the system out of commission until Saturday afternoon. Friday being our publication day, it placed us in rather a critical condition. We had printed four pages of the edition Thursday evening, but how we were going to print the remaining two pages was a problem which required a great deal of thinking and planning. After putting all heads together, it was decided to have the blacksmith make us a handle and grind them out by the "Armstrong" method. This we soon found to be harder to put in operation than we had thought. We soon sent out the distress call for help, and twenty-two persons from various portions of the down-town district responded, for which they have our heartfelt thanks. The old saying is, "A Friend in Need, is a Friend Indeed," was surely found to apply to this particular case.

We herewith publish the list of helpers in issuing last Friday's edition: Misses Bill Davidson and Francis Johnson, Mesdames Gladys Stokes and Myrtle Penney, Messrs. Ray W. Allen, Frank Walton, Marshal Stewart, Jack Wells, Ross Ketter, J. E. Ketter, Jr., Bonnie King, Clyde Bennett, Casey Jones, Raymond Weathers, Ollie Sears, Happy Smith, Fontaine Wyatt, George Hart, C. T. Johnson, A. B. Smith, Raymond Givens and Hansford Tunnell. Again, we say, THANKS!

A small boy, when told by his Sunday school teacher that he would leave his body behind when he died, said in alarm, "I don't understand that."

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clayton, who have been connected with the firm of Small and Clayton, moved to their farm near Lamesa Wednesday. We regret very much to lose these good people from our midst, but we are advised they were compelled to make the change because of Mrs. Clayton's health.

City Marshal, A. M. Sullivan, returned Friday of last week from Snyder. He reported some excitement in that community over the striking of oil near Snyder, and the buying and selling of leases was lively.

Editor and Mrs. W. Donald, of Slaton, motored down Sunday for a short visit with the News editor. Mr. Donald is issuing a creditable newspaper at Slaton and has the best equipped printing plant in a town of this size to be found in the State of Texas. The business men of Slaton appreciate his efforts by patronizing the Slatonite liberally, both in the advertising columns and job printing.
