

UN Preparing Revised Korean Truce Proposal

By OLEN CLEMENTS TOKYO (AP)—Ailed headquarters today worked on a revised Korean truce plan to be presented to the Reds next week at Panmunjom, possibly on a "now or never" basis.

Authoritative sources who insisted on anonymity said the plan contained some phases of the Indian plan approved by the United Nations Assembly last December. The Assembly agreed that a political conference should settle the fate of 48,500 North Korean and Chinese prisoners who refused to return to their homelands.

These sources said new ideas have been gained by the U. N. Command in long-range consultations with Allies on the deadlocked prisoner exchange issue, main stumbling block to a Korean truce.

They took an optimistic view of the talks, which resume Monday, without revealing what the U. N. proposal will be.

They hinted a time limit on the talks may be enforced with the Communists being told to act "now or never." This was emphasized by the statement a few days ago of a high source at U. N. Command headquarters.

"We are not going to let these things drag out. We are going to keep hitting at the stumbling blocks trying to iron them out."

The Red helping radio today quoted British Communist reporter Alan Winington as saying: "Amidst all speculations about what the Americans may, or may not do next Monday, it is well to state clearly what they cannot do. As far as the Korean and Chinese side is concerned, all propositions to hand the prisoners over to their enemies is utterly unacceptable.

Deweyville Covered By Water As Flood Roars On To Orange

By The Associated Press The surging Sabine River swept over the sawmill village of Deweyville early Thursday and sped toward the industrial center of Orange, threatening the worse flood in the city's history.

The Weather Bureau in Lake Charles warned that Orange could expect a flood crest by 6 a. m. Saturday that would be two feet higher than the severe flood of 1945.

In direct danger are 1,542 homes in the Riverside Addition, north of Highway 90. The predicted crest of 9 to 9.5 feet Saturday is about one foot higher than the levees.

In downtown Orange, south of Highway 90, a crest of 7 to 7.5 feet threatens to flood the entire business district unless temporary dikes can be thrown up.

About 2 a. m. Thursday the Sabine won its battle with weary workers attempting to hold the weakened levee protecting Deweyville, 12 miles north of Orange on the Texas-Louisiana border.

The latest forecast calls for a crest of 20 to 20.5 feet between midnight Thursday and 6 a. m. Friday.

ordinating preparations Thursday for the expected flood crest. Leaders worked with officials from the Orange Naval Station and Army Engineers.

About 35,000 sandbags were ready to build the temporary dikes in the business district and more would be brought in if necessary.

One of the largest industries threatened in Orange is the U. S. Steel plant on the river front. It employs about 1,500 workers, all working against time now to protect the plant and the city from the flood danger.

No injuries and no deaths were reported. And nobody grew panicky as the flood threat grew.

that he would not predict. Flood stage is four feet. The water at the Lake Charles river front was rising one-tenth of a foot an hour. Cook said the river would probably crest late today.

At Old Town Bay, a river gauge spot four miles north of Lake Charles, high waters surged to 14.85 feet, more than 10 feet above flood stage.

Deweyville's 800 dispersed quietly, some going to the school gym, a small island in the middle of the flood. All were thought safe.

The river was reported at a 19.42 foot level at 4 a. m. Gordon Baxter, of Port Arthur's radio KPAC said the river was at least five miles wide near Deweyville and still spreading.

With no rain in Texas over a 48-hour period, widely scattered thunderstorms were predicted for Southeast Texas late Thursday. They were not expected to be of high intensity.

Temperatures were generally in the 90s again Thursday but were locally cooler in the South Plains and Panhandle areas.

Senate Divided Over Sharp Cut In AF Goals

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration's explanation of its decision to cut the Air Force goal from 143 to 120 wings and slash its funds five billion dollars left a sharp division in Senate ranks today.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of an appropriations subcommittee considering the new defense budget, said he believes Secretary of Defense Wilson "has made a good case for the new program."

"After all, the 143-wing goal of the Truman administration was just a paper target that could not be hit," Ferguson said. "Secretary Wilson assures us he has more money now than will be spent in the next fiscal year."

Sen. Hill (D-Ala), also a member of the committee, disagreed sharply in a separate interview. He said: "Mr. Wilson certainly has not convinced me, nor apparently most other members of the committee. He will have to justify the five billion dollar cut in the Air Force before I'll ever vote for it."

Wilson has spent a good portion of the last two days before the Senate group, under questioning about the administration action in cutting the Air Force goal for mid-1955 from 143 wings to 120, each containing from 30 to 75 planes.

The revised Pentagon budget also calls for about five billion dollars less in new funds for the Air Force in the fiscal year starting July 1, President Eisenhower, in his radio address Tuesday night, said 60 cents of every defense dollar will still be going into Navy and Air Force air power.

Wilson told the senators yesterday that the 143-wing goal of the Truman administration had been slipping further from realization for more than three years and he added: "When we say 120 wings we mean 120."

RENE MAYER

French Cabinet Of Rene Mayer Collapses Today

PARIS (AP)—The French National Assembly today voted confidence today and his cabinet, the 18th since liberation, collapsed.

Mayer, in office since Jan. 7, had told the Assembly a short time before that he was to go to Bermuda for a Big Three conference June 17 with President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill.

The White House issued this statement by Eisenhower: "The governments of the United States, Great Britain and France have been in consultation with the view of holding an informal high-level meeting."

"We have agreed that such a meeting is desirable at a date convenient to all of us. A primary purpose will be further to develop common viewpoints with these friends on the many problems that must be solved cooperatively so that the cause of world peace may be advanced."

White House Press Secretary James Hagerty said there had been no definite decision as to where the session would be held, but that Churchill had suggested Bermuda.

Bermuda Probable Site For Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Mayer of France will meet soon to thresh out Allied problems and discuss a possible high-level meeting with the Russians on East-West tensions.

An agreement for the West's big three to confer was announced today here, in London, and in Paris. The place and date have not yet been fixed but Churchill has suggested Bermuda. This appears a green light to Eisenhower and Mayer.

A disposition in government quarters here was to stress that the Western Powers have many problems among themselves to warrant the meeting and to minimize talk in public about a possible Big Four session.

But Premier Mayer told the French National Assembly in Paris the approaching meeting would discuss the feasibility of a Big Four conference, meaning a meeting with the Russians.

Churchill long has been inclined to the view that a high-level meeting with the Russians might be productive of some betterment in the world situation.

The French Foreign Office said the meeting will start June 17. "Sen. Smith (R-NH), after a White House call, spoke of the Big Three session as possibly preliminary to a meeting with Premier Malenkov of Russia. He commented: "I am glad to see this. This has been my view all along. We want to have a common policy with our allies before we do any talking with Malenkov."

A State Department spokesman said he could "emphatically" state the agreement on a Big Three meeting "does not commit the United States, or so far as we know, the British or the French to any ultimate four-power meeting." This comment came from press officer Lincoln White.

On the contrary, and despite evidence of a different view on the part of Churchill, the Eisenhower government appears convinced this no time for a meeting with Malenkov because it is not yet clear whether Malenkov is in position truly to represent the Soviet nation abroad. Moreover, signs are lacking of any real changes in Russia's basic policies toward the rest of the world.

One purpose of the conference undoubtedly is to shore up faltering Allied unity which recently has been beset by various disruptive forces.

Eisenhower was represented as believing the meeting would go a long way toward dispelling misunderstandings, and would dramatically symbolize the extent to which France have common interests and common purposes.

Miss Bradley Funeral Set For Friday

Funeral service for Miss Emily Bradley, 57, member of a pioneer Big Springs family who died Wednesday in a Dallas hospital, will be held here Friday.

Rites have been set for 4 p. m. at the First Methodist Church, where Miss Bradley had been a member for many years.

Miss Bradley died at 9:05 a. m. Wednesday in Baylor Hospital in Dallas, following a lingering illness. She had gone to Dallas for treatment on May 6.

The body was to arrive here by rail this afternoon and then be in state at the Eberly-River Funeral home until time for the service. Miss Bradley had been an employee of Hemphill-Wells department store here since that firm established a store here, and prior to that she was employed by the Albert M. Fisher department store at the same location.

Hemphill-Wells store will be closed at 3:30 p. m. Friday for the remainder of the day out of respect for Miss Bradley.

Ike's Hand-Shakes Are Speedy Ones

WASHINGTON (AP)—The official Washington handshakes for large groups apparently have been clocked by the White House at 4.3 seconds.

President Eisenhower's calling list today schedules a hand-shaking with a group of business-paper editors beginning at 11:45 a. m. The list calls for Eisenhower to shake the White House at 11:55 a. m., for a private luncheon elsewhere.

If the President is punctual—and he usually is—that allows 10 minutes for the handshaking. There are 140 editors in the group. That means about 4.3 seconds apiece—if all goes as scheduled.

A strike in Canton, Ohio, has disrupted delivery of forgings, which liquor agents may close a tavern. It allows local option elections on legalizing the sale of beer for off-premise consumption only.

That had been advocated by many as a way of getting rid of undesirable honky-tonks. The statewide judicial redistricting bill was voted out of a Senate committee with many changes from the House version.

C-Lity Group Seeks Lake Road Paving

COLORADO CITY (AP)—A Colorado City Committee from the Chamber of Commerce left Wednesday to appear before the Highway Commission in Austin to urge the paving of seven miles to Lake Thomas near Snyder.

The seven-mile road would be the final link in Farm Road 3229, connecting Colorado City with the lake. Former State Senator Pat Bullock headed the group, which included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Craddock, Buzz Majors, Jeff Taylor, A. L. McSpadden, Willie Landau, Gus Chesney, and Frank Massad.

RECORD HEAT IS DUE TODAY

Big Springs were due to sizzle this afternoon in hottest weather since last August, with temperature of 105 degrees expected.

This would be the hottest May 21 of record, former maximum for this date having been 102 in 1927. The mercury already had climbed to 95 at noon.

The last 105-degree reading at the local Weather Bureau was on Aug. 31, 1952. Five days last August had temperatures of 105, the maximum for the year. Tonight's low is expected to be 72. Mercury Friday is due to reach 102 degrees.

Panel Delays Request For Webb Fund

A report from Washington on Wednesday indicated that a request for funds to obtain land for extension of runways at Webb AFB would be delayed.

According to the report a Senate Armed Services subcommittee has deferred action on the request pending negotiation for an extended lease on airport property.

The announcement said that the Air Force has a 10-year lease on the city airport. However, City Manager H. W. Whitney said this morning that the Air Force actually acquired a 20-year lease on the city's airport property, dating from 1951. The lease on file at the city hall asserts that it shall remain in force from year to year until June 30, 1971, unless it is terminated by the Air Force at an earlier date.

The Air Force has asked for authority to purchase 94 acres of land and to obtain a navigational easement on 184 more acres to extend runways and eliminate flight hazards. The cost was estimated at $29,500.

Panel Delays Request For Webb Fund

The subcommittee suggested that efforts be made to acquire a 25-year lease from the city before final action is taken on the request.

Threatened Senate Filibuster May Delay Legislature Action

AUSTIN (AP)—Senator William Moore of Bryan began an apparent filibuster in the Senate today, promising "extended remarks" on a bill dealing with feedstuffs.

Sen. Wayne Wagonseller said the talk was really against a conference committee report on toll roads, liable to come up soon.

Moore, Wagonseller and Sen. Kilmer Corbin of Lubbock staged a filibuster several weeks ago against toll roads.

A filibuster now would delay important legislation high on the calendar. Among key measures awaiting action in these closing hours was a revision of the election code, and a bill to deny unemployment compensation to Texas workers idled because of a strike in the same company in another state. All are highly controversial. Filibuster tactics now would be useful. The threat of a filibuster hung also over the Senate on a proposed district court realignment bill for seven politically torn South Texas counties.

Sen. William Shireman, threatened to talk long against that. The House completed action on another proposed amendment to allow military personnel to vote in Texas. The measure is ready for a vote of the people.

The House adopted a conference committee report, 132-0. The Senate adopted the report yesterday. The House agreed to Senate amendments on a liquor regulation bill by a 98-14 vote, sending it to the governor. It names 16 more reasons for Boff Burnett, county commissioner from Brownfield, is a lucky man. And James Dennis Justice, Negro porter at Lee Jenkins Tire Service, is an honest man.

Burnett was passing through Big Spring Wednesday, stopped at Jenkins' station for service, sat at a cafe, and went on his way. He lost his billfold while here.

Jenkins was clearing out the station rest room a little while afterwards, found the billfold, and turned it over to the manager. It contained $80 and various papers.

Mrs. Burnett called Sheriff Jess Slaughter from San Angelo to report the loss, and Slaughter was able to tell her it had been recovered. The billfold and all its contents will be returned to Burnett.

ROK Infantry Beats Back Red Attack In East

SEOUL (AP)—Counterattacking South Korean infantrymen today threw 150 to 200 Chinese Reds off an Eastern Front ridge after hours of close-quarter seesaw fighting.

The Chinese swarmed up the slopes and seized the western end of the 300-year-long ridge shortly before midnight.

Stubborn ROK soldiers clung to the eastern end. The Reds threw back two South Korean counterattacks. But ROK reinforcements were thrown into the battle before dawn and after six hours of fierce fighting the Reds called it quits, the Eighth Army said.

For hours after the Chinese pulled off the ridge sporadic rifle and machine-gun fire continued, but the Reds did not attack again.

Elsewhere along the 155-mile battlefield the Reds probed Allied lines and patrol skirmishes flared between the lines.

Cloudy skies limited aerial action to fighter-bomber strikes along the front and troop and supply area just behind the Red lines.

Allied Sabre jets stayed on the ground. The Fifth Air Force said fighter-bombers dropped explosives on 25 personnel shelters, 5 supply shelters, 3 caves, 5 mortar positions and 8 buildings.

Fourteen B29 Superforts bombed a 194-acre supply dump near the front line in the mountains in Western Korea. The Red force said the Superforts dropped 140 tons of explosives on 325 small buildings at Chonman.

J. H. McClary Succumbs Here

John Henry McClary, 57, died at 5 a. m. today in a local hospital from injuries he sustained while working last Friday.

Mr. McClary was a native of Collin County, and had moved to Big Spring in 1945 from O'Donnell. He suffered a head injury Friday while helping unload automobiles from a freight car.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Betty Lou Martin, of Midland; a brother, Floyd McClary, of Big Spring; three sisters, Mrs. L. E. Robertson of Joplin, Mo., Mrs. Leg Smith of Argyle, and Mrs. Lynn Tidwell of Roanoke. Two grandchildren also survive.

Funeral rites have been set for 3 p. m. Friday at the First Christian Church. The Rev. Clyde Nichols, pastor, will officiate.

Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park under direction of Nalley Funeral Home.

Palpitations will be C. Y. Clink-stales, Duval Wiley, R. T. Ivey, David Simms, Roy Tidwell, Felix Appleby, Cliff Wiley and D. A. Sellers.

Halleck Is Optimistic About Tax Extension

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican Leader Halleck of Indiana said today, he was "very optimistic" about chances for House approval of President Eisenhower's request to extend the excess profits tax on business.

But Republican opponents of the measure disclosed a series of strategy moves aimed at defeating the proposal or at least amending it.

These were developments after a full day of backstage maneuvering yesterday on an issue that has developed into one of the sternest tests so far of Eisenhower's leadership with Congress.

At a conference with Halleck and House Speaker Joseph Martin (R-Mass.), Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee agreed to hold hearings June 1-10 on Eisenhower's request.

This request, sent formally to Congress yesterday after being outlined in the "President's radio talk Tuesday night, exhorts Congress to cut no taxes this year.

Eisenhower said he wants lower taxes as much as anybody but he said that would be inflationary.

He raked the Truman administration for leaving what he called "a critically unsound state of financial affairs," proposing this six point tax program: extend the excess profits tax six months past its June 30 expiration date; don't cut corporation income taxes 5 per cent, as scheduled on April 1; postpone the one-half per cent increase scheduled Jan. 1 in social security taxes; don't cut excise taxes on April 1, as scheduled; don't cut income taxes for individuals until Jan. 1, then allow a 10 per cent cut already scheduled; go easy on all tax matters until Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey details the administration's program "by the end of the year."

AFL President George Meany yesterday distributed a statement saying the big union's Executive Council opposes Eisenhower's call for postponement of the social security tax boost. The statement praised, however, the President's proposal to forego any tax cuts this year.

The House Ways and Means Committee's decision to hold hearings on Eisenhower's request was a victory for the administration. Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) has been adamant in insisting on tax cuts, and some Republicans had doubted whether Eisenhower's plan would ever be brought before the committee.

Further, the administration made inroads on what previously had been a solid lineup of all 15 committee Republicans as a large extension of the excess profits tax, now bringing an estimated 2 to 2 1/2 billion dollars a year.

Several who attended the conference said it was clear some Republican committee members have switched over and will support the President.

Estimates of just how many switched ranged from three to six and more. Republican leaders obviously counted on heavy support from the 10 Democrats on the committee to help put the proposal over.

The committee apparently holds the key. Leaders generally agreed the bill would clear the House and Senate floors. But all tax bills normally must start in the way and means group.

Rules Committee Chairman Leo Allen (R-Ill.) said he "wouldn't consider" various proposals to route an excess profits tax extension bill from his group to the floor, bypassing the Ways and Means Committee.

Democrats, who appeared to hold the balance of power between opposing Republican factions, were generally silent, although most Democrats were expected to vote for the proposal.

Opponents were by no means ready to bow down. One leading Republican said their strategy called for close questioning of the hearings, to try to show that the tax penalizes new, small or growing businesses.

On both sides, there was talk of various provisions to provide relief from the tax for hardship cases. Halleck would not rule out the prospect that relief provisions would be included in the bill.

GOP Loses Try To Slash Farm Conservation Funds In House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats hoped to make political capital today as the House started debate on a $1,965,581,570 bill to finance the Labor and Welfare Departments for the fiscal year starting July 1.

They figured they enhanced their 1954 election chances yesterday as they beat down a Republican drive to cut agriculture funds.

The labor-welfare bill is $132,481,281 below the amounts former President Truman requested last January for the two agencies, and Democrats were drafting amendments to restore some of the cuts imposed by the Appropriations Committee.

They weren't too optimistic about winning when the showdown voting comes, probably tomorrow, but want to get Republicans on the record against what some Democrats call "adequate financing" for the government's labor and health education and welfare programs.

Ignoring warnings from GOP Representatives Burdick (ND) and Jensen (Iowa) that they were "cutting their political throats," most Republicans lined up yesterday behind a losing drive to cut $5 million dollars from the 1954 farm conservation program.

Supporting the amendment to hold the 1954 program to the 140 million recommended by the Eisenhower administration were 152 Republicans and 44 Democrats. Against the amendment, and on the winning side, were 146 Democrats, 1 Independent and 34 Republicans.

Democrats kept noticeably quiet as Republicans battled back and forth over the conservation program before the House voted the 185 million recommended by the Appropriations Committee.

Long Warns Against Shooting Sling Shots

Juvenile Officers A. E. Long issued a warning to teen agers today that it is against the law to shoot sling shots in the city limits.

The warning followed an incident Wednesday in which two boys were reported shooting them behind Mead's Bakery on Gregg Street. Long talked to them and they said they did not know it was against the law.

Fishing Rod, Hubcap Among Stolen Items

A fishing rod and a hubcap were among the items reported stolen Wednesday.

John W. Strobaugh, 902 Douglas, told police a rod and reel were taken from the trunk of his car while parked on the Lamesa Highway in northern Big Spring. Mrs. S. Dorey, 507 Washington reported theft of a hubcap from a 1951 Cadillac.

Ex-Pole Pilot Happy Comrade Flees To West

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—Lt. Franciszek Jarecki, who last March fled Communist Poland in a MIG jet fighter, wants to become a United States citizen and fly with the U. S. Air Force.

And he is thrilled that fellow flier and friend Lt. Zdzislaw Jazwenski, yesterday duplicated from communism. Jazwenski crash landed a MIG at the Baltic island of Bornholm in Denmark.

Jarecki said last night he hopes Congress will allow him to stay in America.

The Polish officer is at Norton Air Force Base for interviews with Maj. Gen. Victor E. Bertrandias, deputy inspector general of the Air Force.

Agreement Reported On T-H Law Changes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican members of the Senate Labor Committee were said today to have agreed on Taft-Hartley law amendments which would all but grant the closed shop to the building trades unions.

The amendments, now being put into a formal committee draft for public distribution next week, were described by senators who declined to be quoted by name.

The changes in the law, some of them promised by President Eisenhower in campaign speeches last fall, were agreed to in a meeting of the Republican members of the committee.

Committee Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) is expected to announce them next Monday, making clear that no Republican member of the committee considers himself bound to the recommendations: "Changes, possibly substantial, can be expected before the full committee agrees on a comprehensive bill to amend the law. The changes reportedly agreed upon include:

June Draft Quota Is Way Down In Area

June quotas for Howard, Martin and Mitchell Counties is way down from May and other recent months. Only seven men from the three counties will be inducted in the armed forces during June, Local Selective Service Board No. 71 announced today. Induction date is June 4.

Pre-induction physical call also is lower in June with 15 registrants slated to take examinations on June 16.

May's draft quota for the local board is 18. The group will be inducted next Tuesday.

Waco Tornado Situation Seen As Test For A-Bomb Hit Area

(A tornado Monday, May 11, killed 114 persons, injured 300 and left downtown Waco a frightening scene of destruction. With the frantic toll into the debris for injured and dead over and the task of rebuilding ahead, a veteran Texas newspaperman tells how the horrible lesson learned in Waco may benefit you—if it should ever come again.)

By SAM WOOD
 Executive Editor, Waco News Tribune and Times Herald
 (Written for The Associated Press)

WACO (AP)—Waco's misfortune may ultimately be someone's salvation.

For the Waco tornado is the nearest thing to an atomic bomb disaster area nature has planted in the United States since the world became infested with atomic jitters.

And federal civil defense officials who are operating now in Waco recognize the local situation as a true test case of procedure for moving into an atomic bomb area.

Waco's tornado emergency action is the first-time federal civil defense under Public Law 875—the federal formula that would be used in an area hit by an atomic bomb.

Somewhere in the archives of every city there is supposed to be a disaster plan. There were a few hazy ones here.

But in a broad sense, Waco wrote its disaster rules amid falling bricks, in torrential rain, and in a state of almost hysterical confusion. We did emerge on top because of the tireless efforts of a small group of leaders who took

Justice Scores Discrepancies In Criminal Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Justice Jackson of the U. S. Supreme Court said today there is "a startling discrepancy between crimes committed and crimes punished" in this country.

He made the statement in accepting chairmanship of a special committee to direct an effort by the American Bar Association to improve administration of criminal justice.

"Our system of criminal justice must serve two ends—convict the guilty and protect the innocent," Jackson said, "and there is reason to believe our system is too often failing in one or the other of these respects."

"Twentieth century crime, in its most dangerous aspect, is urban, organized and financed. Our law enforcement methods are largely 18th century procedures developed under rural conditions to deal with individual, unorganized crimes."

"The lack of confidence in our criminal laws is widespread, and is shared by responsible elements of society, which rightly look to the legal profession to provide the technical competence for administering the system."

"Our performance in dramatic criminal cases often is not creditable, and the day-to-day routine work is even less so. No panaceas are probable; we must not yield to impatience for quick and sensation results, but the bar should lead in a thorough, impartial and workmanlike survey of the criminal processes in this country."

The study of criminal justice was authorized last February by the bar association's House of Delegates. Justice Jackson said a basic fact-finding study, to require perhaps three years, will be followed by the recommendation of specific remedies.

Auto Industry Layoffs Due To Supplier Tie-Ups

By F. GLENN ENGLE
 DETROIT (AP)—Layoffs engulfed or threatened 150,000 or more auto workers today as half a dozen major manufacturers reported their flow of parts choked off by supplier strikes.

Ford, Chrysler, Studebaker, Willys, Nash and International Harvester all figured in the mushrooming production cuts.

They attributed their moves to three supplier strikes: at Ford's Canton, O., forge plant; at Borg-Warner's Warner Gear Division plant at Manly, Ind.; and at the Budd Company car body stamping plant here.

This was the situation: Ford laid off an unannounced number of employees at its big Rouge plant in neighboring Dearborn yesterday and said that was the start of layoffs which will idle 85,000 employees across the nation within the next five days. The company said a month-long tieup of its key Canton plant had cut off its only source of forgings for cars and trucks.

Chrysler sent 27,000 employees home from its Chrysler, De Soto and Dodge assembly plants here yesterday. It said a jurisdictional dispute at the Budd plant had halted the inflow of car bodies. About 8,000 Budd workers were idle.

Studebaker, Willys, Nash and International Harvester all said the Warner Gear strike, also a month old, was hurting them.

Studebaker announced last night it was cutting from three-shift to one-shift operations next Monday because of a lack of transmissions normally supplied by Warner. Only cars with automatic transmissions will be assembled, the company said. It was uncertain, a spokesman said how many of Studebaker's 23,000 workers might be affected.

Willys halted all car production and completed the layoff of 8,500 workers yesterday for lack of transmissions. Another 3,000 employees in non-auto divisions were kept on the job.

Some 4,400 Nash workers at Milwaukee and Kenosha, Wis., plants have been idle since Monday because of the Warner strike.

International Harvester has laid off workers at Springfield, O., for the same reason.

The Warner plant has been closed since April 20 by a strike of CIO United Auto Workers members in a dispute over incentive pay.

The Budd strike, not authorized by the UAW, stems from a jurisdictional fight between millwrights and repairmen.

The Canton Ford strike, which also dates back to April 20, involves about 1,400 workers and centers around pay rates for various job classifications.

Of the 85,000 Ford workers facing layoffs, 55,000 are in the Detroit area and the others scattered from Massachusetts to California.

Senator Apologizes Since The Man Is Not A Gentleman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) apologized in the Senate yesterday for calling Sen. Bush (R-Conn.) a gentleman. Bush accepted, with a forgiving smile.

The two had been debating interest rates on government bonds. Gore suddenly realized he had repeatedly spoken of Bush as "the gentleman from Connecticut."

That's the way House members address each other. In the Senate, decorum calls for members to address each other as "the distinguished senator."

Apologizing, Gore noted this is his first Senate term after a long-term career in the House, and that he had lapsed inadvertently. He assured the Senate that while he does consider Bush a gentleman, he also regards him as a distinguished senator.

That made it all right.

ROK Air Arm Can't Replace UN Force

SEOUL (AP)—Lt. Gen. Glenn Barcus, Fifth Air Force commander, said today the South Korean Air Force is "continuously expanding but cannot replace the United Nations Air Force here in the foreseeable future."

Barcus told newsmen the improving ROK Air Force still has to master the technical difficulties of operating jet planes and radar networks.

He will return to the U. S. in a few days and Maj. Gen. Samuel Anderson will replace him.

Want to make a quick getaway?

THE nearest we can come to word-picturing for you how it feels to drive a 1953 Buick with Twin-Turbine Dynaflo* is this:

When you toe the gas treadle, you can get away like silken lightning in a silent hurry.

More specifically, you can sweep your speedometer needle from zero to a legal 30 mph in the time you normally take two breaths.

Equally important, you get this dazzling getaway with whisper quiet—and with one smooth, progressive build-up of velvety power.

The literal truth is—no other car in all the world can get away with the combined quickness, quiet and utter smoothness of a 1953 Buick with 191 Dynaflo.

It takes more than the advanced new engineering of this fully automatic transmission to produce such thrilling performance, of course.

It takes power, too.

And that's here in full measure—the highest horsepower and compression ratios, Series for Series, in Buick's fifty great years—with the world's most advanced V8 engine powering the SUPER and ROADMASTER.

There's a lot more you get in any 1953 Buick in generous and hard-to-match measure—room, comfort, ride steadiness, visibility—and, above all, value.

But these are things you must discover for yourself—as you must the greatest Buick performance in history.

Why not drop in on us real soon? We'll be happy to put you at the wheel of a new Buick and let our points prove themselves.

Oatls Freed After Ike Offered To Think About Easing Of Bans

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia, in freeing Associated Press Correspondent William N. Oatis, acted six weeks after President Eisenhower offered to consider easing trade and travel restrictions against the Czechs.

The White House last night released copies of messages exchanged between Eisenhower and new Czech President Antonin Zapotocky.

Eisenhower's message, dated March 30, told Zapotocky that if he would release Oatis the U. S. would be willing to negotiate lifting of sanctions imposed against Czechoslovakia when the new man was jailed 25 months ago.

Zapotocky's reply, dated May 15, informed Eisenhower that Oatis was being pardoned on that day and would not have to complete the rest of his 18-year sentence on conviction of spying.

U. S. Ambassador George Wadsworth and Czech Prime Minister

Stroky handled the exchange between the two chief executives.

The Czech government, through its controlled radio today called for the U. S. to terminate its economic restrictions against the country now that Oatis is free.

Radio Prague, heard in Vienna, broadcast the text of the notes to Czech listeners and quoted an editorial from the Czech Communist party organ, Rude Pravo, calling on Eisenhower to lift the sanctions.

In his public announcement of Oatis' freeing May 15, Zapotocky had said he acted on a direct appeal for mercy from Mrs. Oatis.

At that time the State Department said "there wasn't any deal" between the U. S. and Czechoslovakia to free the newsman.

The White House also said last night that a week before Oatis was released Secretary of State Dulles "made diplomatic representations" to the Czech government.

The announcement also said Mrs. Oatis personally visited Dulles March 7. It said Dulles told her then the U. S. government would do all in its power to get her husband free.

Mrs. Oatis said in New York she wrote Eisenhower and Dulles, after the new administration took office Jan. 20, because she wanted to preserve the continuity of her efforts to free her husband. For the same reason, she said, she visited Dulles.

Oatis, on his return to the U. S. Monday, declined to say whether he served the U. S. government in any capacity while he was Associated Press correspondent at Prague. He said he would stand on the record of his trial for the time being.

Last night, however, he issued a statement in New York in which he denied ever spying for the American Embassy while a newsman in Czechoslovakia.

He said, "the cause of my trouble" was that he got news tips from sources other than official Czech news outlets, then checked them with the U. S. Embassy in an effort to gain more information.

Such practice is routine in Western countries, he said, but under Czech law "can be construed... to be espionage."

His purpose in going to the U. S. Embassy, Oatis said, was to get information—not to give it. He added:

"But at no time did I act as an espionage agent of the embassy in the sense that this term is understood in Western countries within the range of my experience."

Educator Backs Public Schools' Religion Stand

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A prominent educator, smarting from religious criticism, told some 2,500 delegates at the annual convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers last night that public schools are not "godless" because they refuse to teach a definite religious creed.

William G. Carr, executive secretary of the National Education Association, from Washington, D. C., said those who want public schools to teach religion "assume that their own private system of religious belief is the one essential prerequisite to moral and ethical behavior."

He added the critics ignore the constitutional guarantee of freedom of religion.

Carr spoke at the closing session of a three-day convention, which drew delegates from all 48 states, Hawaii and the District of Columbia. He added:

"The current attacks on education, whether well founded or merely malicious, supply a further reason for both parents and teachers to clarify once more the distinction between teaching a religious creed and teaching the moral and spiritual values which are basic to all creeds."

Carr said the nation's public schools, in their legal framework, must advocate no religious creed.

He said, however, "the public school is also obligated to teach about religion as a valued part of our American heritage. It should make clear the important part which religious faiths have played... in giving direction and vitality to our American way of life."

Fishpole Can Gauge Water In Crude Tank

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
TULSA (AP)—A tattle-tale fishpole and a yammering rock-killer are dumb brand new tools of the oil industry.

The fishpole is a gauge telling the bottom of a storage tank of crude oil. Pipeline companies want to pay for only the oil, not any water which has settled out of the oil or collected inside the tank.

The fishpole gives a quick answer electrically. It has a wooden handle, a reel of measuring tape, and a little dial.

A six-inch long metal sinker hangs from the measuring tape. Its point is made of magnesium. The sinker is reeled out like a plumb bob into the tank.

Nothing happens while it's sinking through oil. As soon as it touches water, the magnesium point sets up a tiny electrical current, which registers on the dial of the fishpole. The operator then reads off how many feet and inches of tape measure have spun off the reel.

He keeps dropping the sinker until it touches the bottom of the tank. That cuts off the current, and he takes another tape measure reading to learn how many feet or inches of water the sinker passed through.

The gauge, shown at the International Petroleum Exposition, is made by the Hnl Engineering Co., under license from Phillips Petroleum.

It might also be adapted to tell less water he has in gasoline tanks, supply.

The new rock drill will persuade any huge boulder or shelf of rock to get out of the way for the laying of a pipeline.

It is a rig with "our drill points, all suspended by a crane from the side of a tractor. It works entirely on compressed air.

Air drives two motors which swing the drills outward from the tractor, or point them at angles downward. These motors, bellow like a thousand steel calves.

Air drives the hammering drills which poke four-inch holes five to six feet into the rock, four holes at a time. Dynamite is stuck into the holes, and the rock goes bye-bye.

Really a multiple jack-hammer, the drill is made by LeROI Company of Cleveland.

British Shipping Official Denies Carrying Reds

HONG KONG (AP)—An official of a British steamship company today denied accusations by a U. S. Senate investigations subcommittee that the firm had transported Communist troops.

F. H. Horman-Fisher, Hong Kong manager of the Wheelock Marden Company, said neither his company nor any other British shipping concern has carried Communist troops.

Horman-Fisher's statement was issued in reply to testimony before a subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), that two British-owned ships were used to transport Red troops along the Chinese coast. The committee was told these vessels later were hired to carry Mutual Security Administration goods.

Horman-Fisher said the Communists seized three Wheelock Marden ship sand are using them in China trade.

"They were confiscated when we tried to withdraw them from China in August, 1951," he said. "We have no control over them. They are the steamships Morins, Romanico and Miramar."

Horman-Fisher said another Wheelock Marden vessel, the Willa, had been reported in China trade, but is no longer the property of Wheelock Marden. He said some outdated ship registers still list these vessels as belonging to the firm.

Robert Kennedy, assistant counsel of the subcommittee, testified the Wheelock Marden vessel Charles Dickens had been hired to haul MSA goods.

Horman-Fisher said the ship hauled some chemical fertilizer to Formosa for MSA, but never called at a Red Chinese port and that the vessel later was sold.

Martin County Dads Would Pay Part Of Swim Pool Costs

STANTON (SC)—The Martin County Commissioners Court has announced through County Judge James McMorris that it will go as high as $10,000 to pay one-fourth of the cost of constructing and equipping a swimming pool here.

McMorris said this commitment is made with the understanding that other individuals and organizations will contribute the balance.

The action of the court came in answer to a petition filed with them and bearing the signatures of more than 400 residents of the county. The county judge said the court is not considering a bond issue to pay for a pool.

The movement for a pool was initiated several years ago by James E. Kelly, editor of the Stanton Reporter. He has carried on what was originally a one-man campaign, but which, during the last two or three years, has received other recruits.

Tentative plans call for the location of the proposed pool to be in the Stanton City Park.

"Jehosophat! Will the kid be okay?"

You might have witnessed this scene with your own eyes. And you, too, might have reacted in the same way—
"Jehosophat! Will the kid be okay?"

But even though you were right at the spot, chances are that you had to turn to a newspaper to get the whole story.

Then, for the first time, you'd learn that the child's leg was caught in a water pipe... that firemen cut the pipe first, and then removed it after greasing the child's leg. You'd know that the kid did come out okay.

Being on the spot is not much better than seeing a photograph of the action, or a headline about it, or hearing a brief announcement.

All of these can whet your appetite for news, but they cannot satisfy your hunger for the whole story.

That's what the newspaper is for. Newspapers bring news—pictures and sufficient words.

Rev. Coon To Speak At Commencement

STANTON (SC)—The Rev. E. B. Coon, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Stanton will be the speaker at the Courtney High School commencement Thursday evening. It has been announced by Supt. H. F. Collins, who will present the diplomas.

Among those participating in the program will be Nelwayne Montoy, Benny Welch; Rev. Jim Fielder, Savoy Hale, Ruby Gilmore, Sue Stroud and Marion Yell.

The exercises will be held at the Courtney School at 8 p.m.

World's Leading Jet Aces Now On Way Home

SEOUL (AP)—The world's leading jet aces, two Americans who destroyed 30 Red MIGs over Korea, started toward home today.

Capt. Joseph McConnell Jr., who got 16, the world's highest jet score, and Capt. Manuel Fernandez Jr., who destroyed 14, left Seoul after receiving high Korean military awards from President Syngman Rhee.

They are stopping over in Tokyo briefly to receive more medals. Then they'll go on to the United States, where Apple Valley, Calif., is planning a welcome for McConnell and Miami, Fla., is planning a celebration for Fernandez.

Both were retired from combat against their wishes.

"We prefer not to wear them out completely on this show," said Lt. Gen. Glenn O. Barrett, U. S. Fifth Air Force commander. Rhee pinned the Order of Military Merit Uchi on the Sabre jet pilots in ceremonies attended by Barcus and high Korean military and political leaders.

Asked by newsmen, McConnell disclosed why he named his pet Sabre jet "Beautiful Butch."

"My wife is pretty sharp and tough even though she weighs only about a hundred pounds," he said. "We call her Butch and of course she's beautiful."

Kyes Doubtful Reds Have More Bombers Than US

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia now has between 900 and 1,000 planes in operating units of its long-range bombing force, according to a new estimate of Soviet war power.

These are described as TU4 four-engine bombers, an improved version of the U. S. Air Force's B29. They represent only those aircraft in organized, ready-to-operate squadrons.

The 900-to-1,000 figure does not include bombers in production or in reserve.

The TU4s are considered capable of reaching virtually any large industrial city in the U. S. with atomic bombs.

The calculations of Soviet war making capabilities place the number of Red interceptor planes in operationally ready units at several thousand. Actually, these figures are fairly definite, but the exact numbers used in official estimates may not be disclosed.

In the past, there have been unofficial estimates that the total number of aircraft in the Red Air Force—of all types and ages—be about 40,000.

Secretary of Defense Wilson told a news conference last week the U. S. Air Force now has in excess of 20,000 planes, the Navy and Marine Corps about 9,000.

Yesterday, during an appearance before a Senate committee, Deputy Secretary of Defense Roger M. Kyes was asked about comparative air strength. A committee member commented that everyone knows Russia has more planes than the U. S.

"I don't subscribe to that," Kyes said.

This served to add to the confusion about what is known officially of Russian air power.

Wilson, in a committee appearance Tuesday, said it was difficult to determine the exact size of the Soviet air arm. The secretary said he thinks the U. S. has more long-range bombers than Russia.

King Appreciates Graham's Prayers

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Sheppard Abdulla King III sent another telegram to evangelist Billy Graham yesterday.

When King married Egyptian belly dancer Samia Gamal last year, evangelist Graham predicted the marriage wouldn't last six months.

At the end of six months King wired Graham: "We're still drinking champagne together."

While King was preparing to leave for Cairo to try to talk Samia out of seeking a divorce, he received this telegram from Graham.

"I sincerely regret to learn of the unhappiness in your married life. May I remind you most seriously that true happiness for any individual or marriage is to be found only through faith in Jesus Christ. I shall be praying for you."

King replied: "Appreciate so much your prayers for me in my current marital discord. Keep your fingers crossed. I'm Cairo-bound."

Thai Seeks Probe Of Laos Invasion

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Thailand has called for a U. N. investigation into the recent Communist-led Vietnamese invasion of the neighboring Indochinese kingdom of Laos. A Thai announcement termed the thrust to within 35 miles of Thailand's border a menace to all Southeast Asia.

The move was disclosed last night by Bangkok's ambassador to the United States, Pote Sarasin. Declaring the United States has promised its full support, he said his government's request would be presented formally to the U. N. Security Council next week.

A Bible Thought For Today —

One of the greatest philanthropists we ever knew was denounced as a wicked man solely because he became very wealthy. He lived simply and gave away millions. No one ever showed that he had gotten a dime unethically. Judge men by their fruitfulness. "Do men gather grapes of thorns or figs of thistles?" — Matt. 7:16.

Nation's Strength Comes First; It Has To Be Paid For In Taxes

The business of anticipating tax cuts has been, all along, more wishful thinking than actual analysis. Now we know it, after President Eisenhower's speech of Tuesday night. The President laid down a five-point tax program which delays any reduction of taxes. For the present, the delay is until next January 1—but actually, there is little way of knowing that any relief will come even then. The Republicans last summer may have asserted they could reduce the tax burden, but even then it was acknowledged that a balanced budget—and national security—should come first. Now that new leaders have had some months to delve into the complexities of the situation, they have come up with the same answer that anybody else would have, regardless of party politics. This answer is as President Eisenhower put it: We live in an age of danger and must be prepared for a long time to meet it. We can now be fairly well assured that the excess profits tax will be continued—perhaps indefinitely; that the corporate tax rate will be continued; that there will be no cut in excise taxes; that the proposed reduction in income taxes will not be advanced before the tentative date of next January 1. It means that the fiscal burden must still be carried, as unwelcome as this is to all Americans. But liberty must come first, the President said; and liberty—or its assurance—must be paid for. Like it or not, that's the way it is.

The British Haven't Helped The Advocates Of A Stronger NATO

General Matthew Ridgway, now head of NATO but in August to become chief of the Army staff and ex-officio member of the Joint Chiefs, had two strikes on him when he appeared before the House Foreign Affairs Committee this week to plead for the administration's full $5,800,000,000 foreign aid program. This, he said in sum, was needed to carry out present commitments, and even if appropriated and spent the problem of making NATO an effective bar to Communist aggression would not be solved. NATO is still deficient in some components, especially air, he said; and there is no sign that the Communist threat has lessened. One of the strikes on Ridgway was the inclination in Congress to cut foreign aid still further—some of the more violent opponents would simply whack it off entirely. The other strike was a blow to U. S. Allied unity delivered in Commons last week by Prime Minister Churchill, aided and abetted by his Labor Party opposite number, Clement Attlee. This set congressional teeth on edge, and gave impetus to those who want to reduce or cut out further aid. By an odd coincidence, Churchill rose again in Commons at almost the same moment—General Ridgway was pleading for NATO before the committee in Washington. This time Churchill was trying to undo some of the mischief his and Attlee's earlier speeches had done. He was telling Commons to cool off and simmer down, to remember that the U. S. "has borne nineteen-twentieths of the burden in blood and treasure" in Korea, and "I don't think it would be a good thing for us to appear to go on nagging." The British, he said, would "assert our full right to express our opinion," but Britain does not "claim overriding power." Unfortunately for the health of NATO in particular and Allied cooperation in general, his earlier speech had been mischievous in stiffening not only the Communist attitude at Panmunjom, but the do-or-die economists in Congress. His effort to smooth over these difficulties is proof that he recognizes the seriousness of his original blunder.

Washington Calling — Marquis Childs

Gas, Power Decisions Affect The Lives Of Many Americans

WASHINGTON — The decisions taken here in Washington may seem to the average citizen pretty remote from his daily life. But whether he knows it or not, they have a lot to do with what he has to spend and how he spends it. "Sometimes this is painfully evident as in the burden of federal taxation. But in other instances it is harder to see the connection. Take, for example, the price that all of us pay for gas with which to cook and heat our houses. Here the economic consequences of a decision highly flavored with politics are becoming apparent. More than 40 natural gas transmission companies have applied to the Federal Power Commission for rate increases that total more than $170,000,000 a year. This is the amount to be added to the consumer's annual gas bill in one way or another. Actually, $145,000,000 of the increase is already in effect even though the FPC has not reached any determination on the applications from companies serving virtually the whole country. FPC regulations permit the companies to put the increases into effect after five months regardless of whether a decision has been handed down. Then if the Commission finally decides the increase is too high, the company must make a refund to consumers who have paid the higher rate. The choice that the commission has in these rate cases is pretty narrow because of a basic decision taken three years ago. It goes back to the pressure exerted by the big oil and gas producers on the Truman Administration. Senator Robert Kerr (D-Okla.), a millionaire many times over, with important oil and gas interests, sponsored a bill to deny the Federal Power Commission the right to regulate the price of gas at the well head. The theory of regulation, of course, is that with a monopoly or near monopoly, such as in gas or electricity, a commission shall set a price allowing the company a fair profit and giving the consumer a fair price. The Kerr Natural Gas Bill had the backing of an aggressive lobby. The persuasive Kerr argued that the Federal government no more had the power to regulate the price of gas than to set the price for automobiles made in Detroit. Gas and oil, he insisted, were the wealth of the southwest and the people of that region should profit from them. The booming Senator did not point out, however, that most of the gas and oil companies are controlled in the east. Congress passed the Kerr bill. President Truman vetoed it with a message denouncing the economic inequities in it. But Truman had named one of his old friends, Mon Wallgren, former Governor of the State of Washington, to be Chairman of the Federal Power Commission. The Senate had previously refused to confirm Wallgren, a billiard champion and an amiable enemy of the President, to be chairman of the National Security Resources Board. It was not long before Chairman Wallgren joined with two other commissioners in the Phillips Petroleum case to hold that the Commission did not have authority over the price of natural gas at the well head. Thus the objective of the Kerr bill was achieved by way of the amiable Wallgren. The State of Wisconsin challenged the decision and the case is still pending before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here. The Wall Street Journal recently predicted sharp new increases in the price of gas in the field. It is now in many cases 8 to 10 cents a thousand cubic feet, as compared to two to five cents in 1940, and it is expected to go to 20 to 25 cents in a few years. When the price is upped to the transmission company carrying the gas in a pipeline, then this company must pass the increase on to the consumer. That is why the Power Commission has little choice in the rate cases. It is not merely the householder who is affected. A great deal of industry has converted in recent years to natural gas. Thus the increase will enter into the prices of many things. And, significantly, it comes as farm prices have been dropping. President Eisenhower named as the new Chairman of the Power Commission Jerome K. Kuykendall. He was formerly Public Service Commissioner in the State of Washington. Advocates of low cost public power in the northwest criticized the appointment, charging that Kuykendall was a "utilities man" who had approved increases for private companies while municipally-owned systems were lowering their rates. Chairman Kuykendall finds himself confronted with many important decisions. The St. Lawrence Power project is before the Commission. So is the Hell's Canyon project in Idaho. And these decisions are bound to touch the lives of many millions of Americans.

The World Today — James Marlow

Rep. Reed's Fight To Rush Tax Cuts Appears To Have Lost Momentum

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was a nice fight while it lasted. Rep. Daniel Allen Reed, New York Republican, had his heart set on cutting taxes in 1953. He seemed so truly angry Monday, when he heard President Eisenhower wants no tax cuts this year, that he said: "When I fight, I fight." Yesterday, one day later, he yielded ground to the Eisenhower forces. And before many weeks are over the 77-year-old Reed, with 35 years in the House, may find himself "boxed in and beaten. He's boxed in a little now. Reed, oldest Republican in the House in continuous service, is chairman of one of the most powerful committees in Congress, the House Ways and Means Committee, which handles tax problems and writes bills to boost or cut taxes. When expenses began piling up after the outbreak of the Korean War in mid-1950 Congress slapped an excess profits tax on corporations and upped individual income taxes about 11 per cent. The excess profits tax was scheduled to die automatically next June 30 and the individual tax boost was due to end the same way Dec. 31, an arrangement giving some corporations a tax reduction six months before individuals got one. Reed decided to move up the reduction for individuals six months and let them get a tax cut the same day as corporations, June 30. His like-minded committee voted overwhelmingly for such action. The committee members were perhaps not mindful that all House members must face the voters again in 1954 and that giving individuals a break on the same day corporations got it might not be harmful on election day. Reed didn't pitch his desire for a tax cut on that plane. He said his Republican party had promised to reduce taxes in 1953 and that if this weren't done the people would have been "sold down the river." The vote in Reed's committee—made up of 15 Republicans and 10 Democrats—was 21 to 4. Twelve Republicans and nine Democrats were for cutting individual taxes and he'd find plenty of customers. Faith is powerful, but the too-prevalent trust in wonder drugs and magic pills is not faith, but blind and dangerous superstition. Remember when vitamin B was supposed to wipe out grey hair? Did it? Remember when DDT was supposed to rid us of summer insects? Well, a science teacher tells me they got a strain of tough mosquitoes so dependent on DDT they die if the stuff is taken away from them. Every new wonder drug, when properly tested, takes its place in the endless checkerboard battle against disease. But there is still no "fountain of youth" beyond proper living, and no drug will ever be more than an accessory to it in keeping healthy. All panaceas—medical, economic, or political—when blindly taken by a person or a civilization are more likely to kill than to cure. A basic ingredient in every medicine to would-be to lift his voice

Notebook — Hal Boyle

Faith Is Still All-Powerful, In Spite Of Wonder Drugs

NEW YORK (AP)—A wonder drug is something you take and then wonder why you still don't feel wonderful. The most widespread and dangerous disease today is probably "wonder drug addiction" of one kind or another. Everybody yearns for a new miracle-panacea in every field of human activity, health, agriculture, economics, politics, and matrimony. The ideal cure-all is a magic capsule that would cure the baby's mumps, balance the national budget, end wars, hike wages, lower prices, make a profit for industry, raise bumper farm crops, cause papa to come home at night, eradicate women's wrinkles, dissolve grandma's melancholy, whisper the name of the winning horse before every race. Nobody with common sense and a knowledge of human customs and experts or believes such a capsule will be invented. But if a fellow even claimed he had, all he'd need to do would be to lift his voice

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP
Born on this day in 1872 was W. Scott Heywood, who led an adventurous life which was climaxed by a fabulous career as a Texas wildcatter. The son of a college professor, Heywood left his native Cleveland, Ohio to tour with his brothers as a musical unit, then became cornet soloist with an Iowa band which played at the World's Fair. That proved too tame and he discarded the cornet to join in the Alaska gold rush. He found nothing valuable but the thrill of underground riches became an essential part of his makeup. First he found oil in California. The same brothers who had formed an orchestra with him joined him then as he came to Texas and plunged into wildcatting in the Spindletop area, where he was immediately successful. Their first well was the fantastic Spindletop No. 2 with a daily production of 148,000 barrels. The Heywood brothers were also active explorers in Louisiana, and the intrepid pioneer was the first man in the oil business to experiment with plugging back gas producers to develop oil wells. There was, practically no value to natural gas at the time. Eventually most of his holdings passed into the hands of the Gulf Oil Company.

Congress Is Not Policy Making Body, But Do Solons Know It?

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.
When President Eisenhower was elected President, the nation eagerly awaited and definitely expected government to return to normal. That meant separation of powers. Congress would legislate, the courts would interpret laws and the executive would set down policies and lead the government in its lawful functions. Instead, we're right back where we started when the voters repudiated the Fair Deal leadership of President Harry Truman. The Congress wrongly is determining policy. The legislators are distorting to the Chief Executive and the result appears to be a stalemate in passage of necessary legislation as well as complete neglect of creating a changed atmosphere. A perfectly good example of this merry-go-round is the fact that President Eisenhower abolished all controls amid the acclaim of lawmakers and proclaims the fact that free enterprise will be fully restored in the future as well. He does not want any controls, either, for should the situation ever arise where he needed that power, he'd ask for it. But he doubted such an occasion. So what happens? Congress immediately begins dilly-dallying and insists on stand-by controls for the President. Another instance is the State Department's situation. Here we find that the newly installed Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, widely cheered for his intentions of cleaning out the so-called Red-infested department, is now getting brickbats from senators who insist on cleaning the department themselves. Mind you, they won't legislate, but they will act as executives doing executive functions. Meantime, J. Foster spends half his time in committee rooms trying to explain when he ought to be acting. Perhaps this is the reason he's taking a tour abroad. Then we come to that economic wizard of the headlines, Rep. Reed of New York. He's darned if he's gonna put up with these high taxes much longer. "Gotta cut 'em," Rep. Reed hollers, and balance the budget. Reed insists, so back to the committee room come Ike's boys, including renowned bankers and economists. Can't do it, they say. Not now. Alas, though, Reed insists since he appears to be so much better informed though he's got nothing to do with the Budget Bureau. And so it goes. President Eisenhower has to put up with these nincompoops. All of them seem to be from within his own party. Reed bothers him on taxes. McCarthy, that Wisconsin moron, upsets security procedure, not to mention State Department routine in foreign policy and negotiations. And you might include Jenner and Velde. Capehart—Indiana senior senator, pesters the Chief Executive on economic matters. Stick Ferguson in Ohio, too. Even Sen. Taft of Ohio, majority leader, forced the chiefs of staff to be re-aligned so that military thoughts (as expounded by Adm. Radford, new JCS chairman) can be brought into line with political thinking. Now I wonder what happened to that other opposition, you know, a group of fellows called Democrats? And speaking of Democrats, I read where Harry Truman urged the nation to back Ike's foreign policies. Are you listening, Republicans? —FRED GREENE

If U. S. Bonds Have Funny Urges, Look About For Randy Burgess

Gelett Burgess, who wrote "I, never saw a Purple Cow, I never hope to see one; but I can tell you, anyhow, I'd rather see than be one," died before W. Randolph Burgess became a deputy in the U. S. Treasury in charge of debt management. So Gelett could not have been tipped off to Randolph's problems in the Treasury. Yet, apparently, he foresaw them. And Randolph gives him full credit. At the recent conference of the Association of Mutual Savings Banks in Washington, Randolph Burgess said that managing the nation's $267,000,000 debt made him think of the Gelett Burgess drawing of a "goop moving from bed to dresser in a room without a floor." The drawing was accompanied by a verse: I wish that my Room had a Floor; I don't see much care for a Door; But this walking around Without touching the ground Is getting to be quite a bore! Gelett Burgess went over big with the savings bankers. Naturally! They hold $7,200,000,000 of marketable U. S. bonds. And these haven't had a solid floor beneath them since the Treasury-Federal Reserve Board accord in March, 1951. Present prices show it. Long-term 2 1/4's are selling at a discount of 8 cents and more on the dollar. So savings banks have some paper losses. The floorlessness of U. S. bonds became clear for every one when the Treasury put out its recent issue of $1,000,000,000 3 1/4 per cent bonds. The Reserve Board made no effort to support the price. The bonds slipped below par. Even the Treasury was taken aback. But Burgess reassured savings bankers: "One just has to have confidence that some day we will find a floor." Burgess explained that the new issue had been carefully considered. "We had two alternatives. We could have followed the old course. We could have looked at the market and said, 'Interest rates are going up. The market is in bad shape. There is too much congestion. We ought to wait.' We could have gone to the banks and borrowed at short term. That would have pushed us further toward inflation. "Our other alternative was to see if we could borrow from investors outside the banks. We called in a committee of your association. We had a committee from the insurance companies, a committee from the American Bankers Association, a committee from the investment bankers. We talked with people that ran pension funds. After exploring the situation carefully, we decided that we could sell a billion dollars of long-term bonds—30-year bonds—at a 3 1/4 per cent rate. "Now we didn't make that rate. We didn't just pull it out of the air. That was the going market rate. I assure you we couldn't have sold a billion dollars of bonds at 3 per cent, even at a shorter maturity. The rate was fixed by supply and demand in the market and by the Federal Reserve money policies. "Too bad Gelett Burgess wasn't around to hear Randolph Burgess. He might have written: One's never quite sure of supply. One's even less sure of demand. But this you must never deny. The market has Randolph in hand. Such a verse would accept Randolph Burgess at his own modest evaluation. It would assume that his influence on the market is nil. Yet, when the Treasury put out its 3 1/4 per cent bond, the long-term 2 1/2's were selling above 93 1/2. A few weeks later they were down close to 91. Apparently, a great many persons said to themselves, "If Burgess puts a price of 3 1/4 per cent on government long-term credit, then we'll take the rate at its face value." Result: The market price of old bonds adjusted to the new bonds, not vice versa. In view of that performance, it seems fair to assume that the market isn't entirely independent of Burgess. That being the case, Gelett Burgess might have written: Hurrah for a market that's free—At the whim of demand every minute! Yet at new-issue time you'll agree Randy's hand is covertly in it. Or maybe this would be more in keeping: If you're puzzled by bond market surges, If quotations you'd like to foresee, Then your logical leader is Burgess, He officially wears the cowbell. Oh, yes! Randolph and Gelett are unrelated except in spirit!

Brazil Colonists

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Brazil's land and colonization service has signed an agreement with the World Council of Churches for settlement of 30 German families in the state of Rio de Janeiro. The immigrants will serve as the nucleus for an expected colony at Papucalia. Their passage will be paid by the Council, which also will give them help the first year, including the construction of homes.

Juicy Plants Helpful To Camels

It would seem that boys and girls are stored with questions about almost everything! Recently the subject of camels came up during a chat I had with a 10-year-old girl and a nine-year-old boy. In hardly three minutes, they asked these questions: "How many toes does a camel have? Do camels carry water in their humps? How large do they grow? What do they eat? How old do they get to be?" Each foot of a camel has two toes. The toes have nails, and it is proper to speak of a camel's foot rather than hoof. Such animals as donkeys and pigs have true hoofs, but not camels. In regard to the humps of camels, let me say again and again that the humps are storage places for FOOD. While the beasts are in an oasis, they are given plenty to eat, and the humps grow large. Afterward, while they are making desert trips, they are likely to have little food. Then their humps shrink in size. The shrinking takes place because the fat inside the humps is used up. There are three chambers in a camel's stomach, and one is called the "paunch." The paunch is lined with water pockets which hold a supply of water for a long Journey. A paunch can be used for storing from five to seven quarts of water. A large camel of the dromedary type may measure seven feet to the top of its single hump. I took a ride on the back of one of these beasts while in Egypt, and felt fairly "high up in the world." On desert trips, camels browse on almost any kind of plant which grows along their route. They eat thorny plants which most animals would let alone. When they find plenty of juicy plants, they may get along without drinking water for weeks at a stretch. With good fortune, a camel lives to an age of 35 or 40 years. Stories have been told of camels which lived far past the 40-year mark, but these probably are in error. Some camels have been known to keep their health through 25 years of hard labor as beasts of burden. For NATURE section of your scrapbook. Tomorrow: New Calendar Plan. Power To The Port Side

Perez, Third Baseman Wally Hanna, Outfielder Cliff Borrett, First Baseman George Murphy, Outfielder Joe Riney, Pitcher Ralph Atkinson, Outfielder Mandy Diaz and Second Baseman Jess Jacinto.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The next time Hack Miller of the Big Spring Broncs has a run-in with umpires and the cops are summoned, he might get off with a lighter sentence by pulling his "drunk" routine.

Hackberry Hack can act the part of an inebriated party better than any one I've ever seen, even those who have been draining the bottle.

Miller, incidentally, gets prominent mention in a long article on Cincinnati's Roy McMillan, written for this week's Sporting News by Stan Baumgartner.

Incidentally, Roy—who was born and raised in Benham, Texas—now makes Cincinnati his year-round home.

Homer Matney, who managed Vernon for a spell when the Dusters were in the Longhorn League, is now playing sandlot ball in Duncan, Okla.

BUDDY HILL WAS SON OF TECH GRIDER
Buddy Hill, the Lubbock High School football star who recently chose Texas Tech as the place to further his schooling, is the son of the late Volney Hill, who used to coach at Lamesa. Volney died in 1948.

The elder Hill played on Tech's first football team back in 1925.

Of the 21 past presidents of the Texas High School Coaches Association, only one is still an active high school mentor.

He is Gene McCollum, former head man at Midland and now Port Neches mentor. Gene served the 1947-48 term.

Two men who held the proxy's post, John Pearce of Corsicana and Weldon Chapman of Lubbock, are dead.

Rusty Russell, Ted Jefferies, Eck Curtis and Joe Coleman, who also served as chief executives of the association, are still coaching but have moved into college ranks.

THERE'S GOOD AND BAD SIDE TO IT
More than a few sideline observers at the Big Spring High School Exes football game last week (and there were more on the sidelines and in the stands) expressed disappointment over the Longhorns' showing.

The Steers won, 13-0, but did not show the hustle and the know-how they had throughout the spring drills.

There's this to consider, tho'.

A large number of the boys who played with the Exes were regulars on last fall's team.

They had the size to cope with the 1953 club. Most of them were in fairly good physical trim.

They had a psychological edge, too, in that they're now of college age and were playing against a number of hands, who were not considered regulars last season.

And, this could be the most important thing, they knew the Steers' plays by heart, something the opposition will not have knowledge of next fall, it is hoped.

I saw many favorable things occur, which gives promise of paying off for the Steers this fall.

I was disappointed in the failure of some of the gridders to block. They must learn to protect the ball carrier, if they are to improve upon their 1952 record.

Steers Will Play In NCAA Tourney

WACO (AP)—The University of Texas will represent the Southwest Conference in a playoff with Arizona for a NCAA baseball tournament spot although the conference members themselves thought there should have been a playoff between Texas and Southern Methodist to begin with.

Not heading a poll of the conference that recommended that the two teams that tied for the championship stage a playoff, the District 6 selection committee last night picked Texas over Southern Methodist and then sent Texas against Arizona, champion of the Border Conference, to determine which will go to the NCAA tournament at Omaha in June.

Pete Jones, Baylor baseball coach and chairman of the selection committee, said Texas was picked over Southern Methodist on the basis of Texas' two victories over SMU out of the three regular season games.

The conference recommendation was not binding on the selection committee, composed of Jones, Del Morgan, Rice, and Beau Bell, Texas A&M.

Details of the Texas-Arizona series have not yet been decided.

Jones said the Southwest Conference had set a precedent by selecting Arkansas to represent the circuit in the 1948 Cotton Bowl football game. That year, Arkansas and Rice tied for the football championship, but Arkansas beat Rice in regular season play. He added that four years ago, Baylor and Arkansas tied for the basketball title but Baylor was selected to play in the NCAA tournament because it had beaten Arkansas twice in regular season play.

"The records of the teams were not an issue," Jones said. "Either would make a fine representative in the playoffs."

Borger Flattened By Pace Setters

By The Associated Press
Lubbock kept winning them as they came to them, blasting out a 16-8 victory over Borger Wednesday night to stay atop the West Texas-New Mexico League.

It was 19 hits and eight Borger errors that sent the Hubbers off and running.

The Clovis Pioneers kept within half a game of Lubbock by dropping Abilene, 17-2. This was the fifth straight win for Clovis and they made it an easy win, rapping out 18 hits as Bob Mitchell held Abilene to five hits.

Albuquerque fell all over four Plateview pitchers for 13 hits, winning over the Ponies, 14-3.

In a three-hour-plus game of stamina and steadfastness the Pampa club outdid Amarillo, 20-17. The two teams had the extra high total of 11 doubles and seven home runs.

FIVE HOME RUNS

Broncs Routed By 14-3 Count

The Roswell Rockets ganged up on four Big Spring hurlers to put the Broncs to rout, 14-3, in the second game of their three-game set here Wednesday night.

This time, two former members of the local club, Manager Pat Stasey and Al Costa, did most of the damage.

Stasey bashed two home runs, a triple and a single in four official trips. He droyed in five runs.

Costa stroked two home runs, one with the bases loaded. He accounted for six rallies.

Bob Murphy, Roswell third sacker, also crashed out a four-runner. His came with the sacks deserted.

Rolandq Bacardi, meanwhile, was pitching a superlative game for Roswell. He stopped the Steeds with six hits and had only one bad inning—the sixth. The Cayuses got all their runs then.

Stasey sent the visitors away to an early lead when he popped a ball over the left field wall with Wayne Crawford up front.

Crawford had reached base on a scratch single.

Stasey sent the guests farther ahead in the third with a solo homer.

Roswell picked up four more runs on five hits, including Costa's two-run homer, in the fifth.

George Murphy accounted for the first two Big Spring tallies with a triple into right field, then came home on an infield out.

That seemed to make the Rockets mad. They used a walk, a fielder's choice, a hit and a misplay to get another run in the seventh, got another in the eighth on Bob Murphy's homer and then saved the best for the last. They sent ten men to the plate in the ninth, when they got five runs.

Jess Jacinto was the only Bronco to get more than one hit. He had a double and a single.

DIAMOND DUST—Ossie Alvarez, Roswell second baseman, almost snared George Murphy's line drive which went for three bases in the sixth. Every Roswell player hit safely at least once

Boston Red Sox Feasting On West Clubs' Hurling

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

If the Boston Red Sox can figure out some way to beat the other Eastern teams they will be a real pennant threat in the American League. They've got the Western clubs solved for sure.

The Sox finished up a professional baseball season standing at 11-1 in the West in sensational fashion yesterday. With two out in the 14th inning—the season's longest game—Del Wilbur blasted his third pinch-hit home run of the year to give them a 3-2 triumph over the St. Louis Browns.

Wilbur's blow off Don Larsen propelled Boston all the way from fourth place to second in the standings, three games behind the pace-setting New York Yankees.

The Red Sox have the best inter-sectional record in either league. They burned up the West early this month on a 6-2 road trip and then won six more and lost only two when the Western teams came in to visit Fenway Park.

Against the Eastern clubs, however, the Sox have won just five while losing eight. They have a chance to correct this immediately since Philadelphia comes to Boston for a three-game series starting today. Then the Sox take the road in the East.

The Eastern American League clubs as a whole were downright inhospitable to their Western visitors during the inter-sectional series and all four of them ended with victories. The Athletics defeated Chicago, 2-1. Washington whipped Cleveland, 8-3, and New York trimmed Detroit, 9-8. All in all the Eastern teams won 20 and lost 11 during the West-East meetings which began May 12.

In the National League the Western teams, playing at home, managed to gain the upper hand, but only by a margin of 16 games to 13. In yesterday's finales Cincinnati thumped the league-leading Philadelphia Phillies, 14-5. Milwaukee bowed for the second straight day to Brooklyn, 7-2. Chicago took a 16-6 lacing from the New York Giants and St. Louis won an 11-6 slugfest from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Yesterday's action provided a little of everything, from the 14-inning duel in Boston to the 31-run explosion in Chicago and St. Louis.

The Giants collected 21 hits, a season's record, good for 39 bases, in smothering the Cubs. Monte Irvin, Al Dark and Davey Williams homered for New York and the attack also included three doubles and three triples. The victory was the fourth in a row for the improving Giants.

Curt Simmons, the Phillies' ace left-hander who retired 27 Milwaukee players in order after Bill Brunson singled Saturday night, couldn't last four innings against the Cincinnati Redlegs. He gave up seven hits and seven runs before heading for cover in the fourth. The Redlegs pulled out of the cellar and into seventh place with their triumph, which included home runs by Ted Kluszewski, Andy Seminick, Bobby Adams and Bob Borkowski. Pittsburgh fell to last place by losing to the Cardinals, who pounded out 17 hits. Red Schoendienst drove home six of the Cardinal tallies with a perfect night at bat. His four hits included a home run, two doubles and a single.

Brooklyn stole six bases in handling Milwaukee its first series loss at home. The crowd of 23,450 who watched the track meet in misery swelled the Braves' home attendance to 392,667 for 35 home dates, 21,389 more than the club drew all last season in Boston.

NOW LOOK BOYS!

There's a stopping place for everything and we've reached it NOW. If you want to buy a car at rock bottom, NOW is the time. LATER is too late. Things are NOW on the upswing. DON'T miss opportunity's KNOCK. It happens just ONCE.

1952 BUICK Special Riviera. The reddest red and the blackest black you ever saw. If you're looking for color and class. LOOK no further. Here it is.

1951 NASH Rambler station wagon. Lots of room in a little car. Lots of service for short dough. Gas mileage a plenty.

1950 BUICK Super Riviera 4-door sedan. NONE better. NOTHING gone from this one. BUT a lot of the original PRICE. She's ready.

1951 HUDSON Commodore W. Surely there's someone who wants a nice car at about 1/3 of the NEW PRICE. The first owner took the depreciation, YOU take the gravy.

2-1950 BUICK Special sedanettes. One black, one white. BOYS here's a pair. Take your CHOICE. BOTH will do the JOB.

1949 FORD Tudor sedan. A good town and country car. If you're in town, you'll wish you were in the COUNTRY and VISA VERSA.

1951 DODGE 1/2-ton pickup. OK now fellas, we're ready to sell. We've all hauled our trash away and have no further need for it.

1951 MERCURY 6 passenger coupe. Radio, heater and overdrive. A little canary yellow job. Clean and ready to go. Priced for quick sale.

You used to drive with one arm, Henry...

BUT HENRY HAS BOTH HANDS BUSY NOW... trying to keep the old bus on the road because his wheels are out-of-line. Misaligned wheels cause "road weave," forcing the driver to "fight" the steering wheel. Out-of-line wheels eat up rubber, too, because the tires are literally dragged sideways down the road. It isn't only annoying—it's expensive.

Come in today and let us align your wheels with our precision John Bean Wheel Alignment System. Savings in tire wear alone will more than pay for the job.

Doctor Charges 'Chiseling' On Hospitalization

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Dr. Paul B. Magnuson said last night that too much "chiseling" on hospitalization insurance, backed by physicians, is overloading the nation's hospitals. In an interview prior to a speech to the St. Louis Medical Society, Dr. Magnuson said, "There are a lot of people in hospitals who shouldn't be there, who should be treated in their homes." The Chicago doctor was chairman of the Commission on the Health Needs of the Nation during the Truman administration. He said too often a person tells his physician he has hospitalization insurance so treatment may be administered in the hospital. The physician agrees, he said, because "it's easier for him to treat a lot of people in the hospital than in their homes." "This not only overloads the hospitals, but it runs up the costs of hospitalization insurance for other people."

As a remedy Dr. Magnuson advocated hospitalization insurance which he likened to $50 deductible automobile insurance, under which the car owner pays the first $50 of any damage to his machine. The physician said he would not set a dollar limit, but would require the patient to pay the first full week of his hospital bill before his insurance would go into effect. "That would cut out the chiseling," he said. Dr. Magnuson's commission completed its work and submitted a report last December calling for a voluntary prepaid medical plan under sponsorship of the government.

"A lot of doctors are against it," he said, "just because they think Truman had something to do with it. President Truman never interfered in any way."

Ike Telecast To Give A Report On Regime

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will report on his administration in a program telecast nationally from 8:30 p. m. to 9 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, Wednesday. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty used the word "program" in announcing the telecast yesterday and hinted that others besides the President will take part. It will be Eisenhower's first live telecast from the White House. The four major TV networks will carry the program. Simultaneous radio broadcasts will be carried by the American Broadcasting Company, another from 9:30 or 9:35 p. m. to 10 p. m., EST.

53 Kids Get Ready Today For National Spelling Bee

By ED CREAGH
WASHINGTON (AP)—Thirty-seven girls and 16 boys—53 kids with butterflies in their stomachs—line up today for the 28th annual National Spelling Bee. By nightfall one of them will have triumphed over the other 52, and over the maddening peculiarities of English words, to emerge as national champion. Today's contestants, most of whom have been sightseeing around the capital since Monday, were winnowed from local, state and sectional contests involving some five million youngsters, almost all seventh and eighth grade pupils. Last year the youthful spellers

FBI Denies Blame On Horton Check-Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Mildred McAfee Horton says she plans a private investigation in an effort to learn to her own satisfaction why her appointment as U. S. delegate to the United Nations Economic and Social Commission did not go through. Mrs. Horton, wartime commander of the WAVES and former president of Wellesley College, stated her plan to newsmen yesterday as she arrived by plane from a lecture at Cleveland. "I am very unhappy about the whole thing," she said, "and do not want any fuss made. . . . I want privately to follow this up and find out what it is all about. I don't know, I may never get the information."

Although Mrs. Horton had been named to the U. N. commission her place was taken by James Wadsworth, alternate U. S. delegate to the U. N., when the commission met May 4. The State Department and the

Ike Had Fling At Hot Rodding 20 Years Ago

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower had a fling at hot-rod racing some 20 years ago, but gave it up when thieves swiped his gadgets. He told the story himself last night in a special television broadcast piped exclusively to a Ford Motor Company executives' meeting in Dearborn, Mich. The White House made public his remarks. The President recalled he bought a Model T Ford about 1920 and, "knowing about these things, I thought," as a recent graduate of the "Frank Coops" motor school, souped it up, with a Bosch magneto, a Bosch ignition system and a Strom carburetor. "I really had a Ford," the President said, but not for long. As the car stood out one night, he continued, thieves stole the carburetor and ignition system. He said he hoped the Ford executives wouldn't make it amiss that the prowlers didn't steal the Ford itself, and added he went right back to regular Ford equipment. In more serious vein, he congratulated the company on its 50th anniversary, saying: "You have done more than just bring more things to more people at lower cost. You have contributed so much to the position of the United States in the world, the position of strength and of leadership."

Wiley Wants Solons To Go Home In July, Stay Until January

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) says Congress should "go home about the middle of July and stay home until January." "I've said it," Eisenhower was elected by the greatest majority ever given a candidate for President," Wiley said in a statement yesterday. "I am willing to trust him with the reins of government for six months."

Tito Declares Relations With Moscow 'Same'

By ALEX SINGLETON
BATAJNICA, Yugoslavia (AP)—President Marshal Tito angrily declared today that relations between his anti-Moscow Communist government and the Soviet bloc nations have not improved. Earlier this week, dispatches from Western newsmen in Moscow reported a growing tendency toward more normal diplomatic exchanges between the Kremlin and Yugoslavia. Their relations have been at a bitter minimum since Tito's regime was ousted from the Cominform nearly five years ago for "nationalistic deviations" from the Soviet line. Speaking to a crowd of several thousand persons gathered at Yugoslavia's big military air base here to celebrate the 11th anniversary of the nation's Air Force, Tito declared, "Rumors have been circulated that we are dealing in secrecy with Russia."

"Angrily waving a clenched fist, he cried: "From this place I say to you that relations between us and the USSR and countries under its influence have not improved. "On the frontier still, their rifles are shooting our guards. Their press is slandering us. If the USSR has softened its propaganda, that is not enough for our country to change its attitude and fall into the arms of those who have so badly harmed us. "Any charges must be demonstrated by deeds, not words."

Nehru, Dulles To Confer Again

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and Prime Minister Nehru emerged smiling today from their second conference on Asian and world problems and the beaming Indian government chief told newsmen, "We will meet again tomorrow." The hour and 45 minute conference followed a lengthy private chat between the two men last night at which authoritative sources said the Korean peace deadlock was the No. 1 topic. After the conference this morning, Nehru told newsmen: "Certainly we discussed Korea. But we were able to talk about a great many things this morning—I would say that Korea was roughly one-tenth of what we covered." Shortly after the secretary of state arrived here yesterday with U. S. Foreign Aid Director Harold Stassen, Indian Finance Minister C. D. Deyshukh and members of the Indian Planning Commission presented a request for more than one billion dollars in U. S. aid during the next three years to carry out the nation's five-year economic plan.

Children's Abductor Has Mother Complex

NEW YORK (AP)—The future of two small children—victims of a weird, four-day abduction by a frustrated mother complex—remained in question today. Welfare authorities said the tots would not be returned at once to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Bradford of Washington, D. C. They were whisked away from the Bradfords' one-room apartment last Friday night by the dancer, Mrs. Barbara Lee Grimm, 24, after she was left alone with them during a beer party. Mrs. Grimm, facing both state and federal kidnapping charges, claimed she pitted the children because of the parents' drinking and quarreling and the cramped, unkempt quarters. Police said she had a "mother complex—a yearning for children, and had lost two of her own in miscarriages. She was picked up here after four days of a nomadic existence, during which half a dozen families befriended her. Both children, Clifton Jr., 2, and Diane, 1, appeared to have weathered the experience unhurt. New York welfare officials urged an inquiry into the parents' fitness to care for the children. And in Washington, Mrs. Robin Miller, head of the District of Columbia child welfare division, said: "We'll hold them (the children) until a full investigation is made of the Bradford family situation." New York authorities are still caring for the children here. Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said his information showed "shocking, haphazard marital conditions" in the Bradford home. Noting that Bradford took Mrs. Grimm home after meeting her drinking beer and left her with the children while he and his wife went out again, Hogan said: "It was a pretty callous act—leaving two children with a stranger."

In Washington, the children's mother declared: "I take just as good care-of my kids as anybody else."

She insisted the children got plenty of food. As for any overcrowding in the apartment, she said: "It was just one room, but it was big. You have to take what you can get when you have children."

Bradford, a Virginia farmer recently turned Washington mechanic, came here to identify the children, and was put under $50 bail as a material witness. The bail was posted by his brother Jesse, a Seat Pleasant, Md., contractor. Mrs. Grimm, held under $5,000 bail on a state kidnapping charge for a hearing May 27, also was accused in a federal warrant under the Lindbergh kidnap law.

Peron Taking Over Horse-Race System

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Juan Peron's government is taking over Argentina's horse-racing, the million-dollar-a-week betting system and the recently burned-out Jockey Club that runs the tracks. A government bill to nationalize the racing setup, put before the Peronista-dominated Congress yesterday, said the Finance Ministry would run things for the benefit of charitable and social welfare projects, into which the late Evita Peron funneled vast government funds.

Siamese Twins Die 33 Hours After Birth

INVERNESS, N. S. (AP)—The Siamese twin boys born here Tuesday died last night about 23 hours after birth. Hospital officials said the death of the babies, whose breast bones were joined, was due to the fact the 19-year-old mother, Mrs. Max Wyrwas, was in a toxic condition before their birth. She was reported in good condition last night. The babies earlier yesterday had appeared in good health.

New Application Forms Used By Census Bureau

A revised application form for use of persons seeking to establish proof of age or citizenship through personal Census records is now available at the Census Bureau's district office in Fort Worth, Texas, according to District Supervisor James M. Hamilton, Room 2134, 300 W. Vickery St.

The revised form is designed to encourage applicants to use the censuses of 1880, 1900 and 1920, if possible, when requesting searches of the voluminous census records. Officials point out that information from these censuses can be furnished more rapidly because the records for these years have been card indexed. Because of the comprehensive index, information can be provided in most instances if the applicant furnishes only his name, the name of the city or county and State in which he was living and the name of the head of the household in which he was residing. Searches of the card index of these censuses can be conducted five times faster than by the conventional method of looking through the original records.

Persons needing information from the censuses of 1910, 1930, 1940 and 1950—if residing in a city at the time these censuses were taken—should furnish the house number, name of the street, city, county and State, and the name of the parent or head of the household with whom living. If residing in a small town, they should give all available information as to cross-streets, road names, name of township in which residence was located and any other available pertinent data. Rural residents are asked to furnish the rural route number and also the distance and direction of the residence from the nearest town.

Summer School Opens June 1

The summer session at Big Spring High School will begin on June 1, Principal Roy Worley has announced.

A summer term of eight weeks has been mapped, and students now are being pre-registered.

Although definite class schedules have not yet been mapped, each class will meet for two hours each day and class periods will be from 8 a. m. to noon each day.

Based on pre-registration to date, there will be demands for history, government, mathematics and English during the summer term. The definite class schedules will be based on demands of students who plan to attend the summer term.

The summer session will close on July 24.

Worley, the Senior High principal, will serve as principal for the summer school. Faculty members, who have already been approved by the school board, include Keith Odum, English; Tommie Hill, mathematics; and Harry Lee Plumley, social sciences and English.

She Went A-Foggin'

R. V. Foresyth, superintendent of the city street department, fires up the new insecticide fogging machine recently purchased by the city. The machine has only one moving part and operates on the pulse-jet principle utilized by the Germans in the World War II "buzz bomb." Nozzle throws out a dense cloud of smoke loaded with insecticide. City and health officials expect it to be much more effective than equipment previously used for this purpose. The "fogger" and barrel of insecticide are mounted on the rear of a tractor which trails the cloud of insect killer down streets and alleys.

Local Doctor Gets Patent For New Type Of Office Machinery

By CLIFTON LAWHORNE
 Dr. Vincent E. Friedewald, specialist in internal medicine at Malone & Hogan Clinic-Hospital, realized the reward of a 10-year struggle this week.

He received word that a patent has been granted on his "card selecting mechanism"—a machine on which he has been working since 1943.

The machine, according to Dr. Friedewald, works on the same principles as electrical business machines now on the market.

"The main thing different about this one is that I have it claims on it in the patent office," he said. The patent was issued on May 12.

Although Dr. Friedewald knew the patent was to have been issued, he did not know it definitely had been until approached by a reporter from The Herald.

The machine is to sort out facts," Dr. Friedewald said. "It doesn't do any printing or use any paper. It simply selects cards, stored in the machine."

Several large companies have contacted the doctor trying to buy his patent rights.

Dr. Friedewald explained that the machine can be used in practically any type business for a ready-reference system. He particularly thinks it will help personnel problems.

As an example, he stated that a modern factory could maintain an individual card on each employe. Each card would be complete with qualifications, background, education, experience, description and any other information desired.

When the personnel manager wanted to place an employe in a position requiring particular qualifications, it would be a simple matter with Dr. Friedewald's machine. Keys could be pushed on these particular qualifications, and all cards containing them would be ejected from the machine.

For instance, Dr. Friedewald stated if the manager pushed keys labeled "engineer," "petroleum degree," "middle age" and "woman," that all cards with those four qualifications would be ejected. Then the manager could call all the middle-aged women petroleum engineers to his office for conferences concerning the position.

"The machine cuts down on effort and saves a good deal of time," he said. "It has all kinds of possibilities." Dr. Friedewald stated that it may even have value in the field of medicine.

Dr. Friedewald started working on the machine while in the Navy in 1943. He had an idea that an electric selecting machine would aid in medical work and inquired into the possibilities of buying one of those then on the market.

Finding that the machines were reheted and not sold and that the rent was too high for an average physician to own, he decided to make his own. And he did.

After getting out of the service and coming to Big Spring in 1945, he contacted patent attorneys in Dallas. Twenty engineer drawings later (costing about $50 each), the attorneys were ready to present it to the patent office. That was in 1946.

Since that time the patent office has sent reports to Dr. Friedewald approximately every nine months. He expects final word on issuance of patent any day from his attorneys.

"You'd be surprised at all the work required to get a patent," Dr. Friedewald said. "Everything has to be perfect on paper, and consequently legal work is heavy. It isn't a matter of minutes; it takes years."

Describing his machine, Dr. Friedewald said it is "simple, fool-proof, and permanent." Various keys to be punched are on top and the card file is in back, he said.

Dr. Friedewald's background is anything but mechanical. He was graduated from the St. Louis University Medical School in 1937, interned at the St. Louis City Hospital, and took three years special training there in internal medicine.

From 1940 to 1943 he taught at the St. Louis University Medical School. Then he entered the Navy. He came to Big Spring in 1945 and has been here since. He is a native of St. Louis.

Dr. Friedewald is a Diplomat of the American Board of Internal Medicine.

Many Texas Areas Still Needing Rain

AUSTIN (AP)—Widespread rains last week didn't satisfy many Texas farmers.

In the east, they anxiously waited to get back to field work and watched soil reach the saturation point. Rainfall elsewhere was like one drop in a dry bucket.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, in its May 12-18 summary, reported delay in cotton planting in northern and eastern areas. Some replanting was necessary.

A few spots in Northwest Texas benefited, but rain there was too little and too late to save much wheat. Earlier West Central Texas was expected to see combining as soon as fields dry.

The rain did little good in vegetable fields, and the outlook was still gloomy there. About the only crops helped were lettuce, Rio Grande Valley late tomatoes, Coastal Bend late cucumbers and Fallurris watermelons.

East Texas tomatoes suffered. Panhandle summer potatoes were still recovering well from early May freeze damage.

Cattle were gaining rapidly in the eastern third of the state, due to plentiful range and pasture feed. Light rains boosted grass on the rolling plains. Many fatteners are putting out concentrated feed in some critically dry west, north-west and Valley areas.

Discharges Noted

AMARILLO (AP)—Discharge notices, effective June 29, have been received by 57 employes of the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation in Region 5. Regional Director H. E. Robbins said yesterday that the cut-back includes 25 persons in the Amarillo regional office.

Midland Rodeo Set For June 3 To 7

MIDLAND — The greatest array of novelty and specialty acts ever presented in a West Texas Rodeo has been contracted for the 19th annual World Championship Inc., announced.

The Hendricks family, direct from Hollywood will be the headliner act of the big area attraction. Members of the famous family will be seen in the comedy role of hillbillies, with two white mules and a Ford of ancient vintage, and as trick and fancy riders in two of the most thrilling and exciting acts ever presented in the rodeo arena.

Byron Hendricks also will be seen nightly in a special act with "Hero" the movie dog, who has been taught to attack an intruder in a realistic appearing manner—without harm to the man. Another act with not one but two bull-fighting clowns will be seen at each performance of the Midland Rodeo. The clowns, George Mills of Telford, S. D., and Billy Keen of Sandpoint, Idaho, will use a new Bull Machine, a barrel on wheels, as added entertainment in the thrilling Brahma bull riding event. It is one of the most daring acts ever seen at any rodeo—and completely new in this section of West Texas.

Flynt said other novelty specialty acts will be presented in the arena each night of the big show. He said rodeo officials this year have gone all out in attempting to provide the best entertainment possible in addition to the usual rough, tough and thrilling rodeo events. Rodeo performances are scheduled at 8 p.m. June 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 at Fair Park on East Highway 80, with the most outstanding pa-

Fraternity Billed For Decorations

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Kappa Sigma fraternity today got the bill for flowers at its last dance—about $1,000 and suspension of social privileges for eight months. The bill was high because the floral decorations came, without authorization, from the gardens of nearly two dozen homes.

Unexpected Help Thrust On Voter

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mrs. Evelyn Rice, 30, drew the curtain on a voting machine and was all set to cast her ballot in the primary election Tuesday. Suddenly, she said, a hand reached under the curtain and began pulling levers she had not intended to pull. Asst. Dist. Atty. Leon Katz said the hand belonged to Charles Travis, 41, who was arrested on a charge of illegal assistance in a polling booth. Travis was held in $500 bail for the grand jury.

YOU'LL TASTE THE BEST IN REAL COFFEE GOODNESS... the difference is QUALITY!

Midland Rodeo Act

Skill and daring combined with precision timing by Byron Hendricks as he rides Roman style through intricate maneuvers. A jump through a hoop; a leap into the air landing backwards on the backs of the running horses, and a daring jump over the hurdles feature the heralded specialty act, which will be seen at each performance of the 19th Annual Championship Midland Rodeo, June 3-7.

IN TIDELANDS FIGHT

States Must Be Diligent, Wise To Protect Hard-Won Victory

By PRICE DANIEL, U. S. Senator from Texas (Fourth of a Series) WASHINGTON—When President Eisenhower signed S. J. Res. 13—this bill restoring the submerged lands to Texas and all other States—the States won a great victory, but the war will not end.

To keep the gains which have been won by our six-year effort, the States must exercise great wisdom and diligence in discharging the responsibilities which this victory brings. The sound leasing policies, built up through the years, must be maintained, and strengthened consistently. The prudent conservation policies, in which the States have always pioneered, must be enforced vigorously and administered without compromise.

Furthermore, in the dedication and use of revenue derived from their lands, the States must be prompt and generous to anticipate and meet the needs of our schools, to which the lands are dedicated. The States must not—through lethargy or blindness—ignore the legitimate needs of their people and force the people to turn to Washington for assistance. In the era before the philosophy of centralization gained dominance, the States were far ahead of the Federal Government in pioneering reform and progress. Most of our great social gains originated, in fact, among the States and were borrowed later as ideas of Federal authorities.

Only by exercising their rights, and meeting their responsibilities in good faith, can the States preserve the victory which has been won and avert the day when this fight must be made all over again.

The philosophy which fattered the effort to seize the submerged lands is, presently, in eclipse. The people are aware of the abuses which grow from over-centralization of governmental powers. Actually, many people tend to see only the headline evidence of such abuses: corruption, influence-peddling, arbitrary exercise of Executive power. They overlook the fundamental threats which exist in issues obscured by legalities and technicalities.

In the submerged lands controversy, the greatest obstacle which Texas faced was the fact that many persons in other States thought the question of ownership was strictly "an issue for lawyers." They did not look beyond the legal aspects. Only by carrying the fight on, by having a full debate in the Senate, did we finally succeed in attracting the attention that the issue deserved.

There is one further lesson involved, too. From the beginning of the submerged lands fight, many well-meaning individuals urged us to abandon the fight. The Truman Administration repeatedly offered attractive compromises, especially when the seizure became politically dangerous.

At almost any given time, we could have secured a settlement merely by giving up part of our interest in the submerged lands. Had we done so, the result would have been that we would have admitted and established the validity of the new Federal "paramount rights" doctrine. Future Congresses could easily have changed the law and permitted seizure again except for the permanent legislation now enacted.

By standing together, by refusing to compromise, Texas has now won—along with her 47 sister States—a great and enduring victory. It should be an example and inspiration for the future. In the contest over the powers of government, the people can win if they stick faithfully to their principles. The power of government can be returned to the people if they will continue to resist over-centralization and properly exercise the responsibilities which go hand in hand with their rights of local self-government.

Sharpshooter Picks Off Brace Of Guards

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A green-masked, sharpshooting gunman picked off two guards patrolling the high wall of a state prison in downtown Stockholm today, killing one with a bullet through the heart and critically wounding the second.

Police announced they had arrested a 40-year-old former guard at the prison whose application for re-employment had been turned down recently. They said the man had been seen running with a rifle nearby shortly after the shooting.

The gunman fired six shots at the two guards, making their regular rounds along the high wall surrounding Langholmen state prison. The prison is located on a small peninsula in the heart of Stockholm.

MRS. GRADY DULING
... a pie recipe with a history

Chess Pie Recipe Has Hundred Year History

Mrs. Grady Duling's recipe for chess pie is a recipe with a history. It's safe to say it came to Texas long before any of us. More than 100 years ago, before the days of the railroad, it was brought down the Mississippi River to New Orleans and by boat to Texas. Finally, it was brought by wagon to Washington-on-the-Brazos, once the seat of Texas government and the place where the Texas Declaration of Independence was signed.

Mrs. Duling got the recipe from her aunt, who had learned it from a friend in Milam County. Farther back than that, Mrs. Duling doesn't know the details.

"I take cooking by spells," Mrs. Duling admits. "But although it's convenient for the Dulings to eat out (they live at the Crawford Hotel), Mrs. Duling has many favorite recipes and enjoys cooking. Maybe her cute kitchen, seven stories above the street, has something to do with that.

She belongs to the 1946 Hyperion Club and the First Methodist Church, and she likes to play bridge. Both she and husband, who manages the hotel, belong to the Hotel Greeters Association.

Their membership in the Association resulted in a hurried but thrilling trip to Mexico City two years ago, where they were delegates to the Hotel Greeters convention there.

The chess pie recipe is very rich, Mrs. Duling says, and is usually cut very small servings. It is especially good, with coffee, she adds.

CHESS PIE
Ingredients:
2 cups sugar
4 eggs
1/2 cup melted butter (measured after it is melted)
1 cup rich milk
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon vanilla
Pinch of salt

Method:
Separate eggs and beat yolks. Combine the salt, cornstarch and sugar. Cream the eggs and sugar together well. Melt the butter and add it, then add the milk and vanilla. Beat the egg whites and fold them in to the custard. Put the custard in a pie pan on top of crust. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes, then at 300 degrees until the pie is done. It usually takes nearly an hour.

Use Gelatine For Exciting New Desserts

When things are too familiar, you're bound to take them for granted occasionally. But you're missing a lot of good eating if you don't explore the possibilities of quick-mix packaged gelatin as a basis for exciting new desserts, made with very little fuss and bother.

Glorified with the cream, that whips itself as it comes from the can, these desserts are enough to make a French chef take lessons from you!

One simple variation in gelatin desserts is to use fruit juices as the liquid instead of water. Ever gelatin using canned unsweetened pineapple juice as the liquid? Delicious served with fresh strawberries, and topped with thickly self-whipping cream.

And there's a delectable molded salad which can double as dessert which includes cottage cheese for a rare flavor combination. Simply prepare one package flavored gelatin as directed, and let stand until semi-firm. Whip until frothy. Add 1-cup well drained canned crushed pineapple, 1 cup cottage cheese, and 1 1/2 cups of cream that comes whipped from a can. Mix, pour into molds, chill until firm. So easy it can't be this good—but it is!

Puddings Will Fill Summer Milk Quota

With hotter days approaching, mother soon is going to be fighting the annual battle of getting the children to drink milk when they would much rather have soft drinks. To maintain their proper milk consumption even during summer months, quiting plenty in the cooking is an easy way out. The simplest way to serve them their milk quota is in tasty puddings. The whole family will benefit from the added protein and your reputation as a cook will soar. Made in molds, combined with fresh or canned fruits, topped with whipped cream, the variations are many and the results mighty pleasant to eat.

For instance, tapioca has been a fairly popular cream style pudding for years, but if you mold it in a pretty shape and top with sliced strawberries, it will be a real spring treat.

CREAM TAPIOCA MOLD

- 1 egg white
- 2 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon gelatin
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 egg yolk
- 2 cups milk
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- Fresh strawberries, sliced and sweetened

Beat egg white until foamy throughout; add 2 tablespoons sugar. 1 tablespoon at a time, and continue beating with rotary beater until mixture will stand in soft peaks. Set aside.

Combine gelatin and water, mixing well. Set aside. Mix egg yolk with about 1/4 cup of the milk in saucepan. Add 2 or 3 tablespoons sugar, salt, quick-cooking tapioca, and remaining milk. Place over medium heat. Cook until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly. This takes 5 to 8 minutes.

Pour small amounts of hot tapioca mixture gradually on beaten egg white, blending well. Then quickly add the remaining mixture, stirring constantly. (The hotter the tapioca and the faster it is blended in, the thicker and fluffier the pudding will be.) Add gelatin mixture and vanilla. Blend well. Cool 20 minutes, stir, and turn into 1-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve with sweetened sliced strawberries. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

BAKED INDIAN PUDDING

- 1/2 cup yellow corn meal
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ginger
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 2 1/2 cups milk
- 1/2 cup strong coffee, cold
- 1/2 cup molasses
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- Combine corn meal, salt and spices. Scald 2 cups milk and add, slowly, stirring constantly. Add molasses and baking soda, mixing thoroughly. Add remaining cold milk and coffee; stir well. Cook over hot water, stirring occasionally, until slightly thickened (about 15 minutes.) Pour into greased baking dish. Dot butter or margarine over surface. Set in pan of warm water. Bake in slow oven, (300 degrees F.) 2 hours and 10 minutes. Serve warm, with coffee ice cream. Makes six servings.

Cook Beef In Wine

Make a beef stew the California way—the less expensive cuts of beef will be simply elegant when marinated in burgundy or claret wine for a few hours before cooking. Cook the beef slowly in the marinade until almost tender. Add vegetables, seasonings, a little water if necessary, and cook until beef and vegetables are tender. Never have you tasted a stew equal to this.

Vanilla Wafers

- 1 1/2 cups vanilla wafer crumbs (about 1/2 pounds)
 - 1 cup finely cut dates
 - 1/2 pound cut marshmallows
 - 1 cup nut meats, broken
 - 1/2 cup top milk
 - Whipped cream
- Reserve half a cup crumbs. Combine remaining ingredients, mixing well. Place on waxed paper and shape into a roll about three inches in diameter. Roll onto another piece of waxed paper covered with remaining crumbs and coat all sides with crumbs. Chill overnight. Slice to serve. Top with whipped cream sweetened slightly if desired. Makes eight servings.

Sliced Apples Add Flavor To Sausage

There's nothing better than sausage and apples. This combination is at its best when arranged sandwich fashion with a slice of apple between the sausage patties. Another variation on the theme is the use of part beef and part sausage with whole wheat shreds to bind the mixture.

SAUSAGE AND APPLE STACKS

- 1 1/2 cups whole wheat shreds
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1/2 pound ground raw beef
- 1/2 pound bulk pork sausage
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons minced onions
- 2 medium apples
- Combine whole wheat shreds, milk and egg; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Add meats, seasonings and onions; mix thoroughly. Divide mixture into twelve equal portions and form thin patties.

For Birthday Cake

A tiny merry-go-round placed on top of a birthday cake will delight the children. Candles are placed around the edge of the merry-go-round, which runs by its own candle power.

Malted Milk Gives Rice Pudding a New Flavor

Malted milk gives rice pudding a new flavor that makes it more exciting. Just a important is the difference it makes in cost, for the use of malted milk means you need less sugar and less milk than ordinary rice pudding requires.

MALTED MILK RICE PUDDING

- 1/2 cup rice
- 2 cups milk
- 2 cups boiling water
- 1/2 cup malted milk
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Wash rice and combine with following six ingredients in top of double boiler. Cover and cook over boiling water for about two hours or until most of the liquid is absorbed and the pudding is rather creamy in texture. Stir occasionally. Add vanilla extract. Turn into a one-quart serving dish while still hot. Dot top with butter or margarine. Mix sugar and cinnamon together; sprinkle over top of pudding. Let stand in warm place until sugar melts. Serve while slightly warm, plain or with cream or milk.

Fruit In Muscatel

Here's a delicious quick trick with lovely, golden muscatel wine. Drain canned cling peach halves and pineapple chunks. Place a peach half cup side up in a stemmed sherbet glass and fill with 2 or 4 pineapple chunks. Chill thoroughly. Just before serving, pour room-temperature muscatel over all. The dessert looks pretty and tastes superb.

Mexican Mulligan

To one can of Gebhardt's Spiced Chili Beans, add two tablespoons of pickle relish, 4 Tbsp. catsup and one cup of any leftover meat, diced. Heat thoroughly and serve.

Quick Chili Gumbo

For dinner in a hurry, add a cup of quick-cooking rice to a can of Gebhardt's Chili Con Carne. Heat at bubbling temperature for 10 minutes. Serve with crackers, sliced cheese and crisp dill pickles.

Franks Are Handy For Quick Meals

Now that spring has rounded that mythical corner, you'll be looking for quick meal ideas to give you more free time. One handy helper is frankfurters. Here are some suggestions for using franks in speedy meals.

Franks in main dishes: Add franks cut in chunks in baked beans or Spanish rice. Slice franks and add to scalloped corn or potatoes or to macaroni, and cheese; bake as usual.

Franks in salads: Add sliced frankfurters to either hot or cold potato salad, macaroni or rice salad, or a tossed green salad.

Franks in sauces: Heat franks—sliced, cut in chunks or left whole—in mustard, sour cream or barbecue sauce; serve on cooked noodles or rice.

Franks in sandwiches: Heat franks in water or brown in a little hot fat. Serve in buns and top with pickle relish, cole slaw, barbecue sauce or a mustard-onion sauce (chopped onions mixed with prepared mustard.)

Shrimp Is Adaptable For Buffet Supper, Family Meal

During the warm days ahead shrimp can be adapted to buffet dinners, porch suppers and family meals.

Before you do anything with shrimp it must be properly boiled. Whether you boil and then peel or peel before boiling is a matter of preference. The only difference will be the amount of salt used. For recipe purposes, 1 1/2 pounds raw shrimp yield about 1/2 pound of cooked peeled and cleaned shrimp.

To boil before peeling, wash shrimp. Place in quart of boiling water containing 1/4 cup salt, cover and return to boiling point. Simmer 5 minutes. Drain; peel; remove sand veins. Wash and chill. Makes 1/2 pound cooked shrimp.

Only a small expenditure of time and trouble goes into making Shrimp Louisiana, but this recipe makes it a dish fit for a spring party. A suggested menu might be shrimp Louisiana, buttered asparagus spears, salad greens with French dressing, garlic-buttered French bread, raspberry tapioca pudding, tea or coffee.

SHRIMP LOUISIANA
4 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup coarsely chopped onion
1-3 cups packaged pre-cooked rice
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup green pepper strips (1/2 inch)
2 cups shrimp, cooked and peeled
2 cups water
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley

Melt butter in chafing dish over direct heat. Add onion and cook until lightly browned. Add rice, salt and pepper strips. Saute 3 to 5 minutes, or until browned, stirring frequently. Add shrimp and water. Simmer 5 minutes. Now place the pan over hot water jacket, cover and let set 5 minutes, or until rice has absorbed water. Add parsley. Blend, serve at once with Worcestershire sauce. Makes four servings.

Shrimp Louisiana may be cooked in a skillet or sautepan and then turned into the chafing dish to keep warm until ready to serve.

Another shrimp dish with plenty of eye appeal is shrimp creole. This dish has a variety of long flavors and is best served surrounded by fluffy white rice.

SHRIMP CREOLE
1 pound shrimp, fresh or frozen
1 small onion, minced
1 green pepper, chopped
1 No. 2 1/2 can solid-pack tomatoes
1/2 teaspoon oregano (optional)
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Few grains garlic salt
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons water
Clean and de-vein shrimp, but do not cook. Saute onion and pepper in oil. Add tomatoes, oregano, pepper and garlic salt. Bring to a boil and simmer gently for about half an hour. Mix together cornstarch and water, stir into sauce. Add shrimp and cook about 45 minutes, or until hot and thickened. Serve on a bed of hot fluffy rice. Makes four servings.

2 cups water
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley

Melt butter in chafing dish over direct heat. Add onion and cook until lightly browned. Add rice, salt and pepper strips. Saute 3 to 5 minutes, or until browned, stirring frequently. Add shrimp and water. Simmer 5 minutes. Now place the pan over hot water jacket, cover and let set 5 minutes, or until rice has absorbed water. Add parsley. Blend, serve at once with Worcestershire sauce. Makes four servings.

Shrimp Louisiana may be cooked in a skillet or sautepan and then turned into the chafing dish to keep warm until ready to serve.

Another shrimp dish with plenty of eye appeal is shrimp creole. This dish has a variety of long flavors and is best served surrounded by fluffy white rice.

SHRIMP CREOLE
1 pound shrimp, fresh or frozen
1 small onion, minced
1 green pepper, chopped
1 No. 2 1/2 can solid-pack tomatoes
1/2 teaspoon oregano (optional)
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Few grains garlic salt
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons water
Clean and de-vein shrimp, but do not cook. Saute onion and pepper in oil. Add tomatoes, oregano, pepper and garlic salt. Bring to a boil and simmer gently for about half an hour. Mix together cornstarch and water, stir into sauce. Add shrimp and cook about 45 minutes, or until hot and thickened. Serve on a bed of hot fluffy rice. Makes four servings.

Cook Beef In Wine

Make a beef stew the California way—the less expensive cuts of beef will be simply elegant when marinated in burgundy or claret wine for a few hours before cooking. Cook the beef slowly in the marinade until almost tender. Add vegetables, seasonings, a little water if necessary, and cook until beef and vegetables are tender. Never have you tasted a stew equal to this.

Rhubarb Dish Like Upside-Down Cake

This is really an upside-down cake served warm and right side up—the pastry topping made with ready to eat bran.

RHUBARB PAN DOWDY
4 cups diced fresh rhubarb
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon butter or margarine
1/4 cup ready-to-eat bran
1/4 cup milk
1 1/4 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1-3 cup shortening

Arrange rhubarb in baking pan; sprinkle with sugar and dot with butter. Soak bran in milk. Sift dry ingredients together. Cut in shortening until mixture is like coarse cornmeal. Add soaked bran, stirring only until flour disappears. Drop by large spoonfuls onto rhubarb and spread lightly to cover rhubarb or roll dough on floured board to fit the dish and place on top of rhubarb. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30 to 40 minutes.

Yield: 8 servings (8x10 inch pan).

To Get Honorary Degrees

Wayland College will confer honorary degrees on five outstanding Baptist leaders at the Commencement exercises May 25, according to President J. W. Marshall. These are: (top, left to right) Rev. Orady Wilson, associate evangelist with Billy Graham, Charlotte, N. C.; William Hall Preston, associate Southern Baptist Student Work, Nashville, Tenn.; Rev. L. D. Ball, pastor of First Baptist Church, Lamesa; (bottom) Rev. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Pampa; Rev. J. H. Wright, pastor of First Baptist Church, Levelland. Mr. Preston will receive the honorary Doctor of Laws degree, while the other four will receive the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree.

Jones Boosted For V-P Post In Junior Bar

Guilford L. Jones, Big Spring attorney, has been nominated for vice-presidency in the Texas Junior Bar Association.

GUILFORD L. JONES

Jones was nominated recently by the executive committee of that organization. Such nomination is usually tantamount to election. The election will be held at the State Bar Association Convention in Fort Worth next July 4.

The Big Spring attorney will represent the 19th Congressional District as a vice president of the junior bar group. He will succeed Paul New, a Lubbock attorney.

The Junior Bar Association is a section of the State Bar Association. Attorneys 35 years old and under are eligible for membership in the junior bar as well as the state bar. The junior bar functions as a part of the state bar and also has some independent functions of its own.

the Big Spring-Webb Air Force Base chapter of the Reserve Officers Association, announces that a meeting of the local ROA will be held at Webb's Officers Dining Hall Thursday, 7:30 p.m.

STENOS
Stenographers with a GS-3 rating are in demand at Webb according to Bud Farrow, Civilian Personnel Officer. Interested persons should apply at the Civilian Personnel Office located in Building T-48.

SPORTS
Webb's Dusters opened Armed Forces Day festivities on a winning note over the week end by nudging Cook Appliance of Big Spring, 5-4, in an exhibition softball game. Webb also defeated Vincent last week by a score of 20-2.

Pilot Training's Tryhards clinched the Wednesday Bowling League championship last week as the long pin campaign drew to a close. The Tryhards won 88 1/2 games while losing 51 1/2 for a .632 percentage. Supply trailed in second place, five games off the pace with 83 1/2 wins to 56 1/2 setbacks.

Motor Vehicle and Field Maintenance advanced to a first place tie in the Squadron Softball League with eight wins and one loss each. Air Base Headquarters, last week's pace-setter, dropped into third place as it absorbed its second loss of the season in 12 games.

The first base golf tournament of the season will be staged at Municipal golf course May 28-29. A 36-hole medal play tourney, the six low men will make up Webb's base golf team for Air Force links meets.

HCJC Session Opens June 2

Registration for the first six-weeks summer term at Howard County Junior College will be held Tuesday, June 2. Classes will begin the following day.

B.M. Keese, dean-registrar, stated that present plans call for 15 day classes and 10 night classes. The schedule is tentative, however, and other classes will be added if the demand rises.

There usually has to be 10 people in a class before it can be offered. Keese said.

Courses planned include English literature, algebra, trigonometry, typing, accounting, economics, federal government, physics, leathercraft, office machines, shorthand, and industrial education.

Day classes will be offered from 7 a. m. to 11:25 a. m. Night classes—to be held Monday, Wednesday and Thursday—are to be from 7 to 9 p. m.

Air Force personnel can attend the classes under a program known as "Operation Bootstrap." One class per Air Force student is the limit. Airmen can register at the Education Office of the base.

Registration for civilians will be in the administration office of HCJC. The six-weeks term ends on July 13.

Texas Onion Crops Due To Be 'Loser'

DALLAS (AP)—Texas onion men stand to do a lot of crying over their product this year, one of the state's largest growers says.

George Coon of Garland said yesterday the 1953 onion crop would be "the biggest money loser in history." He laid the blame to recent rains which threaten to swell Bermuda onions to "jumbo" size.

BLOOD DRIVE
Four hundred pints is Webb's quota in the Red Cross blood drive which will be held on base next Wednesday and Thursday, May 27-28.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be stationed at Ward 3 of the base hospital for donations on both days. Times are from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Capt. Karl Klingner, project officer for the drive, said that Webb personnel have a goal of 200 pints per day. Scheduling of donors will be at squadron level.

NEW CADETS
Class '53-5, consisting of 45 student officers, 40 American aviation cadets and 36 MDAP students arrived at Webb this week to continue training in single engine aircraft.

"KISS ME KATE"
"Kiss Me Kate," a big splash on the Broadway stage, will be the basis for a more realistic splash at Webb Air Force Base.

Direct from New York City with an all star cast of singers, dancers and comedians, "Kiss Me Kate" will be presented at Big Spring's Municipal Auditorium through the sponsorship of Webb AFB.

The date is Thursday, June 4, and curtain time is 8:30 p. m.

Profits from the show will start a swimming pool fund at Webb.

Virginia Kirchner, new base representative for the National Red Cross, has assumed her duties at the RC office on base.

A native of Kansas, Mo., Miss Kirchner is a veteran in the Red Cross field. She spent three years in the Pacific, touring Hawaii, the Philippines and Japan during World War II.

EDUCATION
A twelfth course was added to the "Operation Bootstrap" summer school schedule as registration opened last week at Webb's Education Office. The new course on the summer agenda is welding.

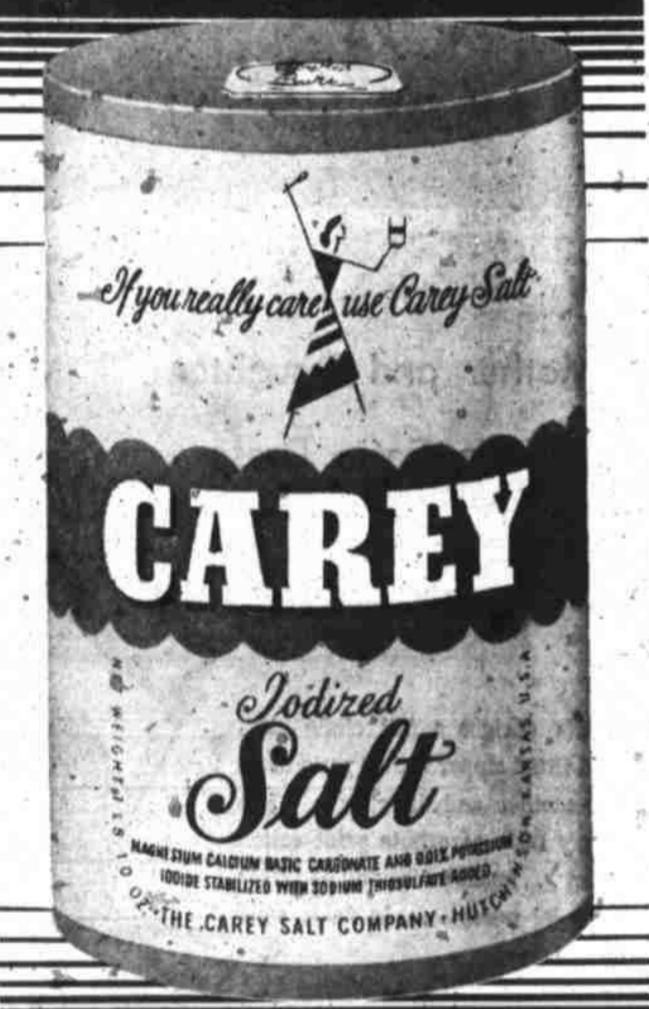

The summer session will be held at Howard County Junior College from June 2 through July 15.

IKE REJECTS HORSE OFFER
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has reluctantly turned down an offer of a Texas-raised quarter horse.

He said he would like to have the horse for one of his grandchildren but that he has no place to care for the animal now.

The offer was made by the American Quarter Horse Association at Amarillo through Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa.

Charges Army Bans Paper For GI's Over Sex Stories
FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—An American woman publisher said today that the U. S. Army has banned her weekly newspaper, for American troops because of its stories about Christine Jorgensen, Pat Ward and the like.
Mrs. Marion von Rospach of San Francisco said a letter from the Army's European headquarters had ordered her to stop printing and distributing her Overseas Weekly to the GIs because its "stories of sex and prostitution" had "raised a storm of protest from commanders in the field and others concerned with the moral welfare of military and dependent personnel."
The 27-year-old woman said an Army colonel to whom she complained told her: "You know what you have done—stories like Christine Jorgensen and Pat Ward—." A spokesman at the Army's Heidelberg headquarters refused to comment on the matter today. "Any comment the Army has to make is in the letter written to the Overseas Weekly," he said.

Mrs. von Rospach is the wife of Cecil von Rospach, information officer at the U. S. consulate here. She started her paper in 1950, and it now has a circulation of about 40,000.
The paper is printed on the press of the unofficial Army newspaper, Stars and Stripes and is distributed on Stars and Stripes newsstands in all military posts. Mrs. von Rospach said she had never had "one single dime" of help from the Army and had paid Stars and Stripes $100,000 for the printing last year.
Stars and Stripes printed only relatively brief U. S. news agency accounts of Christine Jorgensen, the former GI who underwent sex operations and treatments in Denmark, and Pat Ward, key "call girl" witness in the Mickey Jekel vice case in New York.

Chase Field May Be Reactivated By Navy
CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Reactivation of Chase Field near Beeville is scheduled before July 1954, the Navy says.
Reactivation of the former primary flight training center depends on getting money by Congress, the Navy said yesterday.
Chase would become a naval auxiliary air station under the Naval Air Advanced Training Command headquartered at Corpus Christi.
Congress has been asked for $2,500,000.
About 1,500 would be stationed at Beeville.

Funds Are Sought
WASHINGTON (AP)—Texans asked a Senate appropriations subcommittee yesterday to approve money to continue work on the Trinity Floodways in Dallas and Fort Worth and on the Garza-Little Elm Dam near Dallas.

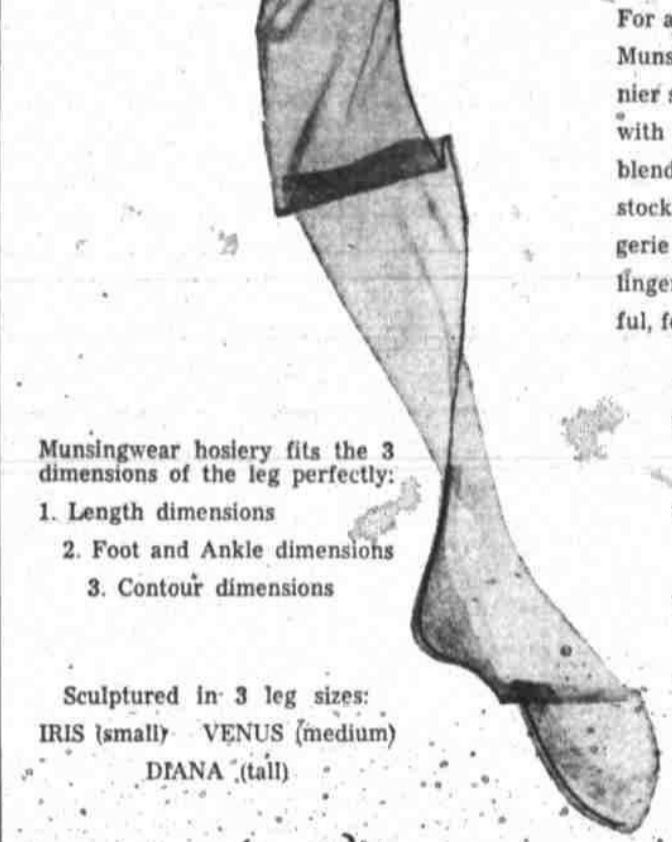

Riding THE GRUB LINE
With Franklin Reynolds

In the June issue of Progressive Farmer, Jess Blair, Howard County free lance writer on agricultural and other subjects, describes the tank construction on the Howard-Borden county line.
T. R. (Blackie) Morris, engineer with the SCS (whose picture is printed with the article) is given credit for the design of the conical tank, shaped much like a huge funnel. The Wilsons have more than a dozen tanks on their ranch, some of them nearing 40 feet in depth with diameters of more than 200 feet.
These tanks were described in the Herald at the time of construction and are now attracting the interest of ranchers and stock farmers throughout the South and the Southwest. Associated with Morris in the engineering work was Lefty Bethell, also an SCS specialist.

Dr. Tyrus R. Timm, one of the nation's outstanding agricultural economists, has been appointed to head the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology at Texas A&M where he has been extension economist in farm management since 1938, and where since 1947 he has served as professor of agricultural economics and extension economist in the Department of Agricultural and Sociology.
A native of Hallettsville, Texas, Tim received his B.S. degree in marketing and finance at A&M in 1934 and his M.S. in agricultural economics in 1938. He also received the M.S. degree in public administration at Harvard University in 1947 and the Ph. D. there in public administration in 1949.

pounds of seed to the acre. He considers this planting a double-advantage project—he will use it both for conservation and for rotation grazing.
J. H. Humphreys, livestock farmer, six miles northwest of Colorado City and along the Colorado River has planted two kinds of grasses this spring. He has about 50 acres of sandy land that he plans to get back into grass and 20 to 30 acres of mixed land that he is going to put back into grazing.
He has planted five acres of King Ranch Bluestem on mixed sandy land with his cotton planter. He made this planting in 40-inch rows on a clean firm seed bed at the rate of five pounds of seed to the acre. He also planted 10 acres of Sand Bluestem in three-foot rows with the same cotton planter. This was seeded at the rate of three and one-half pounds to the acre in a weed litter. Both these plantings will be used as seed-increase plots at first and then later in rotation grazing with other pastures.

Specialists from the Lamesa office of the Soil Conservation Service recently accompanied Joe Cannon Jr., an inspector over the C. C. Cannon Ranch, 12 miles east of Lamesa, and also made a trip over his ranch with J. M. Caldwell, west of Munger. The purpose of both trips was to make a study of range vegetation.

They found some of the better grasses were dead, the per cent being highest on the ranges that had been most heavily grazed. Annual weeds and grasses had made some early growth but were also dead. Perennial grasses with some protection were making some growth in spite of the continued dry weather.

Following the inspection it was concluded that ranges with the most cover are going to show the most response when the rains do come because of them there will be more penetration.

Engineers from the Lamesa SCS office have made soil borings for a pond site on the Cackie Furley Farm northeast of Harmony. These borings were to determine the type of subsoil as to its permeability for holding water and to make recommendations on this site for a stock pond.

These specialists have also run boundaries for establishing a level border irrigation system on the Dennis Nix Farm, two miles north of Pumpkin Center. These borders will be planted to Sudan this year. The Dawson County SCS boys have also been working with John Banta in writing a conservation plan for the 80-acre farm of Joe Haney located three miles north of town on the Woody road. John plans to plant approximately 25 to 30 acres of alfalfa-grass mixture on his home place this fall.
Banta says he wants to get back into "hog raising" and to get away from cotton farming.

Texas' greatest annual Quarter Horse sale, that of the W. T. Waggoner Estate's Three D's Stock Farm, will be held earlier this year, on June 22, and will be at the farm instead of in Fort Worth.
The farm is located near Arlington and about midway between Dallas and Fort Worth. The sale will feature the get and service of Poco Bueno and Pretty Buck.

Any correspondence concerning the event should be addressed to: Three D's Stock Farm, 814 W. T. Waggoner Building, Fort Worth, 2, Texas.

County's Housing Statistics Cited

The 1950 Census of Housing enumerated 8,243 dwelling units in Howard County, Texas, according to final figures announced by District Supervisor James M. Hamilton of the Bureau of the Census.

Of the 8,243 dwelling units counted in 1950, 4,568 were occupied at the time of the census. Of the occupied dwelling units, 3,728 of 49.3 per cent were occupied by owners. Of the total dwelling units in the county, 77.1 per cent were single-dwelling unit detached structures; 33.2 per cent were in structures built in 1940 or later; and 64.4 per cent had hot running water, private flush toilet and were not dilapidated as measured by structural conditions and plumbing facilities.

The median value of one-dwelling unit nonfarm structures occupied by owners, was $5,085. The median monthly contract rent paid by nonfarm renters was $39.33.
