COLLEEN F. THOMAS ADDRESSSES VOTERS FRIDAY

Colleen F. Thomas, candidate for the United States Senate, delivered an address in the district court room in Tahoka before a large and appreciative audience last Friday afternoon. There were quite a few ladies in the audience.

Mr. W. Hickerson, a former pupil of Colleen F. Thomas, made the introductory address. County Attorney B. P. Maddox acted as chairman of the meeting and introduced the speaker of the afternoon.

In his opening remarks, Colleen F. Thomas stated that there was a difference between her competitors for the office and herself, stating that she was a plain citizen and had never sought office, while all of her opponents had been in the public eye. She stated she had been singled out as a target by the other candidates in the race.

"The United States is the richest country in the world," stated Mrs. Thomas, "but two-thirds of the wealth of the entire country is owned by two percent of the population. He said she was not a healthy condition for the American society."

She stated that the steel trust and coal miners had immediate legislation stated she believed in the income tax and inheritance tax also immediate relief from the present high rates; that the profits of the business are eaten up by the freight charges when shipped to market; and in some instances the goods would not pay the freight rates to the market.

The candidate informed the voters that if elected to the senate he would use all his power to bring about proper legislation along these lines. Mr. Thomas spoke at Slaton Friday night, and is covering the entire Panhandle territory in his campaign.

BOY BREAKS JAIL

We stated in these columns last week that three boys had been jailed here charged with alleged automobile stealing and horse theft. The youngest boy, which seems to be about 10 years of age, was carried to Lubbock for safekeeping, and the little boy was carried to Spur by his grandparents. It is stated that he appears before the grand jury the next term.

The other boy claimed to be about 12 years of age and was paroled from the State reformatory at Slaton. He was left in jail here, however, or other he managed to pick the lock on the cell door some time during the night Thursday and fled towards Meadow where he was captured by local officers the next day and brought back here.

Sheriff Johnson started with him to Gatesville Saturday morning.—County Herald.

.81 Inches Rainfall

Since our last issue more rain has fallen over this territory, amounting to .81 inches, making a total of near 3 inches since the precipitation began some two weeks ago.

Farmers in every community are busy tilling the soil and as a result the old town is somewhat quiet at the present time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Jones returned Wednesday from Tye, Texas, where Mr. Jones had been looking after his land holdings at that place. Mrs. Jones attended the Methodist Woman's District Meeting at Stamford while away. They would have returned home sooner, but Mr. Jones had the misfortune to sprain his foot and was unable to travel. He is improving, however, and is able to get about with the aid of crutches. They say they never saw so much water before and that the plains looked better than ever.

Miss Lucy Belle Swan expects to leave tonight for Eastland to participate in the graduation exercises of the Eastland High School, she being a graduate of that institution of learning the past term.

The site for the camp grounds was donated the local chamber by G. W. Small, district manager of the Higginbotham-Bartlett Co.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Montgomery were passengers on the northbound train Monday for Lubbock.

Trustee Election Saturday

Next Saturday, May 6th., an election will be held in Tahoka Independent School District, at which time four trustees are to be elected.

T. H. Pennington, a prosperous stockman-farmer, residing near Southland, spent yesterday in Tahoka. Messrs. Pennington and Whitaker are representing the Cudahy Packing Company, of Los Angeles, California, and Wichita, Kan., and Mr. Pennington was here settling up for a car of Lynn county hogs which were shipped out of O'Donnell Thursday of this week.

A. M. Treadway and T. G. Treadway and families moved to town this week from the Treadway community, and are occupying the property in east Tahoka, formerly occupied by S. B. Hatchett and family. We extend a hearty welcome to these estimable people to become citizens of our town.

HAPPIEST PEOPLE

The happiest people in the world are the people who enjoy their task. Farming is no exception. Not all of the farm work is hard. None of it is really hard if farmers like it. The hard part of any task is in the mind, rather than in the muscle. Work is hard when people do not like it or grow tired of it. How pleasant farm work is when we like it and feel that in doing it we are doing something worth while. The days and the hours glide swiftly under such conditions, and workers accomplish something noteworthy.—Farm and Ranch.

Tahoka again went down in defeat when Paul Miller took his fleet of ball tossers to the town of O'Donnell Wednesday afternoon, where they went up against "Shorty", Wright's strong line-up for a full nine inning rally. The score board showed O'Donnell the winner by the close score of 9 to 8.

WORK PROGRESSING NICELY ON ROSS HOME—LUBBOCK

Work is progressing nicely, or was up to the time of the rain Tuesday, on the cottage being built near Lubbock, at Rev. Ross' place which the people of the Lubbock district have so kindly provided for him. This will be a neat cottage, nicely finished, and comfortable when completed, and we understand it will be completed within a very short time now. It will take quite a sum of money to yet pay for the material and work in full and if anyone wishes to contribute to this worthy cause, it will be greatly appreciated.—Lubbock Avalanche.

Big Rabbit Drive

About thirty of the progressive farmers of the Draw community, staged two rabbit drives recently, one on May 1, and one on May 4th. In the two drives 275 Jack rabbits were killed.

Killing these rabbits at this time will stop a large increase and will save the country many dollars in crops which they would otherwise had destroyed.

We must not fail to mention the able assistance of W. M. Thompson in both these drives, who joined in with his gun and his pack of grey hounds. The dogs caught 27 rabbits and Bill slew 23 with his gun, which was "high score."

This hunt furnished a good deal of amusement, as it was considered unsportsmanlike to shoot a rabbit without giving him a run for his life.

Could not other parts of Lynn county adopt this method of disposing of the jack rabbit pest, when its too wet to work in the fields.

The new arrangement will give the firm a new supply room and new office quarters. The front of the enclosed area will be of glass and will be sealed overhead.

We wish to advise the public that we have opened a new and complete abstract plant in the City of Tahoka, Lynn County, Texas, and are prepared to give the best of service in this line of work—abstracting, conveyancing, curing defective titles, etc.

Due to the fact that there has been no competition in the abstract business in Lynn County for the last three years the people have been charged extortionate fees. Hereafter the people of Lynn county have been charged $1.00 per page, or fraction thereof, for their abstracts.

We are prepared to give prompt and active service and wish to advise that we have decided to make abstracts at the above mentioned fee. We have made it possible for you to save approximately 50% on all abstract work, and will appreciate your business.

Now Mr. Public, please allow us the privilege to ask you just one little question. Do you think the fee for abstract work would have been reduced had there been no competition as it has been for the past three years?

Why not build that fire station in Tahoka? The present quarters for the fire truck are entirely inadequate for this purpose. Let's get busy and erect a modern fire station a handy place about town.

Tahoka should set a day and have a general cleanup of the town. The News failed to mention the National Cleanup Week, which was set for this week. It is not too late yet, so lets have that Spring cleanup of the city.

Every member of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce should make their plans to attend the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention at Plainview, Monday and Tuesday, May 22nd and 23rd. Tahoka should send a large delegation. It will be a good advertisement for the town and county. It is hoped that the other towns in the county will make a strong effort to send a representative crowd. It is reported that the O'Donnell Chamber will go in a body.

Our Busted Uncle

Newspaper publishers will pay Uncle Sam about 35 million dollars this year for carrying their papers through the postoffice and he doesn't take them until he has the cash in hand. Yet our busted Uncle sends us a notice almost every week announcing an examination to be held to fill places in the government and postoffice department saying that has no money to pay for the advertising and to please run it, etc., etc. As all editors are in business for their health they are glad to accommodate Uncle Sam.—Ex.

MAILED A POST CARD

Last Monday afternoon as number twenty-two was pulling out of the union depot a lady wearing silk neckerchief and enough silk around her neck to strangle her, came rushing around the depot and asked excitedly if that was the eastbound train. Agent C. O. Johnson, thinking the lady about to get left, and the passenger department to lose some of its revenue, commenced to give violent stop signals, until he attracted the attention of the crew, who stopped the train and backed up to the station. The lady deposited a post card in the mail car and turned back to town without even acknowledging the courtesy extended by Mr. Johnson.—Canadian Record.

Owing to the fact that the editor has a broken hand news matter in the Herald will be a little short for next week or two. We ask the readers to please be patient with us thru this period. We are glad to announce that our typographical friend Albert Curry, of Tahoka, has come back to Brownfield to help us out, and therefore this means that the job department of the Herald will keep running as under normal conditions and if you have any work of this kind bring it in.—Terry County Herald.

Curry helped the News man out recently while we took in the press association in Amarillo. He is engaged in farming this year on his fathers place south of town, but he is always ready to help the newspaper man out of tight when necessary.

DANCE IS GREATER SEX EXCITER THAN DRUG, SAYS DOCTOR

Spokane, Washington, April 7.—"Jazz, Music, scanty dress, suggestive dancing and other foibles of the flapper and her masculine counter part formed the discussion among educators of the Pacific Northwest in attendance here today at the annual convention of the International and Empire Teachers Association.

Speakers were unanimous in condemning them as the cause for many of the evils which they said existed today among the younger generation.

"There is no drug in existence that furnishes the sex stimulus that dancing does," Dr. C. P. Cary, former State Supt. of Public Instruction of Wisconsin, told the teachers. "The dress of the girls is greatly conducive to this, many of them having practically nothing on but their gowns, shoes and stockings."

"Flappers," Dr. Cary defined is

"girls of the wealthy class who were idle, who dress in extremes, smoke cigarettes, who are out all night and who sleep all day.

"But girls who are really not to be criticised," he declared. There indiscretions are mainly the result of conditions and they have too little will power to overcome them."

Mary McKee, instructor in physical education in Washington State College, added a denunciation of modern dancing.

"The jazz as danced today by many persons, including young and old, is lewed to the psychological limit," she declared. "In many cases it leads to worse things." Modern dances she defined as "the maximum of motion in the maximum of space."

Restraints of jazz orchestras and promoters was urged by Miss McKee.

Were Beethoven alive he would thank heaven for his decease, she declared.

Why Not Build Now!

The price of building material is in line with the price of the commodities you sell. If you are a farmer see how the price of a two hundred pound hog will compare in purchasing lumber with a two hundred pound hog in 1918, when the price of everything was up.

Don't contemplate Building.—Just build!—Never before was the time better for the builder. Our fine materials priced within the reach of all, makes building costs mighty low, and really for fine building and economical building, our materials cannot be beaten. Figure with us.

LYNN ITEMS

Well it looks very much like rain this morning.

Mrs. Bruce Watson has a young visitor at her home, arriving Saturday night. Don't know whether it is a boy or a girl. Her husband died last September in a hospital at Lubbock.

J. I. Bartley, Ceborn Bartley and Uncle Jim Eastridge went to Wilson Saturday night to a box supper. They said J. I. made a big speech.

The pie supper at Lynn was a big success.

The Nazarene people are preparing to build church house near Lynn school house.

C. D. Dameron has traded for a Ford car so he can ride his big boy in it.

The young people and a few old ones had a singing at Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Bussell's Sunday night. All report a nice time. Everybody seemed to enjoy themselves. They did so nice and sung so well that the preacher said they might come again. Everybody out this way is fixing to plant cotton.

Mrs. Buck Williams is reported no better and at this writing she is very low.

The Methodist people are putting in a cotton crop to finish paying out people are putting out a crop to build them a church.

The Baptist are left alone without a church. Why not put us in cotton cropper and be up with the rest of them, or will we just sit down and not try to do anything?

Mr. and Mrs. Carson with Mr. Bill Bartley and W. P. Bussell, made a flying trip to Slaton Monday, in the interest of the church. They got about $50.00 in all at Slaton. They reported about $600.00 collected so far for the church. They expect to start building right away.

Well, at last the Lord did smile on us with about 13 hours rain. Everybody has got a long smile on his face and have a good word for ev- to all of us, but we are so forgetful of Him.

Mr. Ceborn Bartley has bought him a pair of mules. We suppose he means to farm some this year.

Well, I will ring off.

Lynn County ABSTRACT CO.

We meet competition regardless of price; as to service, will let the past speak for itself. It is true that the public have been charged extortionate prices for the past 3 years for their abstract work.

Please stop and see what prices were being charged when we had what was known as the West Texas and Lynn County Abstract firms operating in our County. When these plants were purchased by B. H. Robinson they were operated under the name of the Lynn County Abstract Co., with the same fees that were charged, when both plants were being operated.

As to who operated them it is hardly worth while to mention.

The Lynn County Abstract Company is the oldest and only complete abstract Company in the County, having been doing business here for the past 17 years.

As to the qualifications, as abstractor's will refer you to any business firm or bank in the county, and our work and service speaks for itself. The price which has been charged is the customary price all over the West. IS YOUR HEALTH GRADUALLY SLIPPING?

Interesting Experience of a Texas Lady Who Declares That if More Women Knew About Cardui They Would Be Spared Much Sickness and Worry.

Navasota, Texas.—Mrs. W. M. Peden, of this place, relates the following interesting account of how she recovered her strength, having realized that she was actually losing her health:

"Health is the greatest thing in the world, and when you feel that gradually slipping away from you, you certainly sit up and take notice. That is what I did some time ago when I found myself in a very nervous, run-down condition of health. I was so tired and felt so lifeless I could hardly go at all.

"I was just no account for work. I would get a bucket of water and would feel so weak I would have to set it down before I felt like I could lift it to the shelf. In this condition, of course, to do even my housework was a task almost impossible to accomplish.

"I was . . . nervous and easily upset.

I couldn't rest well at night and was . . . just lifeless.

"I heard of Cardui and after reading I decided I had some female trouble that was pulling me down. I sent for Cardui and began it . . .

"In a very short while after I began the Cardui Home Treatment I saw an improvement and it wasn't long until I was all right—good appetite, splendid rest, and much stronger so that I easily did my house work.

"Later I took a bottle of Cardui as a tonic. I can recommend Cardui and gladly do so, for if more women knew, it would save a great deal of worry and sickness."

The enthusiastic praise of thousands of other women who have found Cardui helpful should convince you that it is worth trying. All druggists sell it. L 72

TWENTY-INCH CAR TRAVELS MILE IN 22 SECONDS AT PABLO BEACH

Here's a modern speed buggy, but 20 inches at the widest part of the body, that has covered a mile in the phenomenal time of 22 3/5 seconds. This was done at Pablo beach course, Fla., by Sig Haugdahl, noted speed driver, who is preparing for further assaults on Father Time at the Daytona beach course. The speedwagon is a specially constructed machine, developing 250 horsepower, with a motor that was intended for use in a government hydroplane. Haugdahl claims he can travel 175 miles an hour in his car.

MAKING SPRINGS RIDE VERY EASY

Most of Them Are Either Too Stiff or Too Soft and Either Is Uncomfortable.

LUBRICATION OFTEN BLAMED

Indiscriminate Advice May Be Worse Than Useless as No Two Sets Are Alike—Intelligent Attention Is Big Need.

Automobiles may be divided into two classes, those with springs that are too stiff and those that are too soft. Either can be very uncomfortable. "Here and there, of course, there is a car with springs that really spring without springing the occupants of the car against the top," writes an expert.

Automobile instruction books, car experts and all the wisecracks of the fraternity advise one to lubricate the springs regularly. If the springs need it, that is very good advice, but it sometimes happens that the lubrication is the very last thing that the springs need. If you could work a little rust or gummed oil between the spring leaves and thus retard the spring action, it might be endurable. Of course, this is when the springs are too soft and spring too much. Indiscriminate advice as to the care of springs may be worse than useless. No two sets of springs require the same medicine. Therefore, before following anyone's advice to lubricate the springs it were well to discover whether they need it.

Soft Springs Yield Easily.
 Soft springs, so flexible that they yield easily to road unevenness, are inclined to compress too readily when they drop into a hole or hit a bump. They fly back into normal position, sag down again and after a while cease vibrate. Meanwhile you are bouncing around like a rubber ball. Now to oil such a spring merely intensifies all this. You do not need the exercise acquired by the oiling process. You will get all you need riding in the car without it. Such a spring needs friction between the leaves rather than lubrication. Friction slows the motion of the spring and steadies the car.

Now, almost every one will tell you that friction between the leaves makes the car ride hard. Probably the first time you heard anyone say this and thought your car was not particularly easy you oiled the springs and went from the frying pan into the fire.

However, this complaint is not as general as that where the springs, utterly neglected and rusted together, have lost a large part of their resiliency, so that the car rides like a farm wagon. In such a case lubricating the spring leaves is the greatest aid to comfort. A quarter's worth of graphite grease and a liberal quantity of elbow grease works wonders for a stiff spring.

Intelligent Attention Needed.

Springs really do need a great deal of attention, if it be intelligent attention. They should be taken apart at least twice a year and cleaned and lubricated well. There may be obtained lubrication inserts to go between the leaves of the springs, which usually last for the life of the car. If the springs have been well designed they will not need extra attachments to make the car ride easily, but a seven-passenger car will not ride as easily with two persons as with its normal load. The point where the springs are attached to the body and the suspension point on the axle or frame need frequent inspection and lubrication regularly at the points indicated in the car instruction book. Spring shackles will wear quickly unless lubricated, rendering a breakdown much more likely.

LACK OF OIL RUINS STARTER

Lack of Lubrication May Cause Bearings to Become Dry, Overheat and Finally Seize.

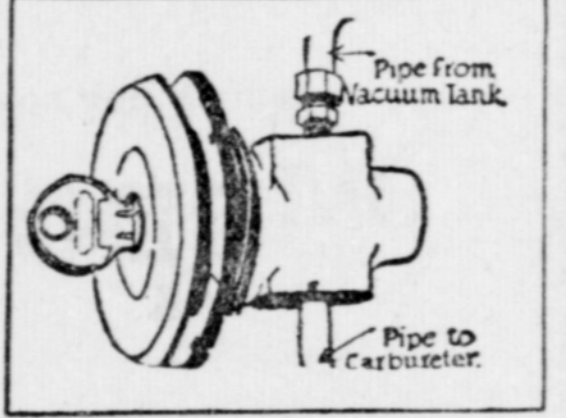

A starting motor in good condition will respond instantly whenever it is desired to crank the engine, and will continue efficiently the cranking operation as long as it receives current from the battery. Lack of attention, however, especially in regard to lubrication, may cause bearings of the starter to become dry, overheat and finally seize. This trouble may not be noticeable during a previous use, but on attempting to again crank the engine the starter refuses to revolve. No amount of pressure on the switch button will move the starter armature until the bearing has been cooled and properly lubricated. These bearings require but little oil, but should receive a definite amount regularly.

PLAN FOR LOCKING NEW CAR

By Removing Distributor Arm of Ignition System Owner Can Prevent Robbery.

Many modern cars are fitted with a battery ignition system in which the distributor arm is removable. By removing this arm the car owner makes it possible to steal his vehicle only by towing it away or by fitting another distributor arm. The arm may be removed simply by unclipping the distribution cover to which wires are attached. It usually happens that there is only one way in which this arm will fit, so that there need be no worry about replacement.

GASOLINE FEED LOCK

A new kind of safety device against theft is this lock attached to the gasoline line, so that it can stop the passage of fuel from the vacuum tank to the carburetor. It is installed on the instrument board or under it.

RISES IN DEFENSE OF FLIRT

According to English Author, Fickleness Is Simply Natural Desire to Be Liked by All.

"I like being adored," she said, "even though I dislike the person who adores me."
 "You can express that more simply by saying, 'I'm a flirt,'" said Phillip. "But it's such an ugly word. Besides, everyone likes being adored; everyone is a flirt in that sense. It's only the people who never are adored who call it flirting. They would like to be adored, but as they can't, they call the rest of us rude names. But it's no use going about trying to be adored because nobody has the least idea as to how to set about it. It's not the least use being kind and honest and amiable, for that only makes you mildly popular, while the most disagreeable people get worshiped. And it isn't any good being beautiful. I dare say beauty hurries people up, because there is obviously something rather attractive about it, but it's not a bit of good by itself. Perhaps brains have got something to do with it, or is there a sixth sense which directs it all?"—From "Lovers and Friends," by F. F. Benson.

Callers' Comment on Matter of Time Somewhat Embarrassing to All Parties Concerned.

We had been spending the evening with acquaintances with whom we had but little in common. In consequence, the time seemed to drag interminably, and when my wife asked me the time I glanced thankfully at my watch.
 The hands indicated 9:30. I looked again, shook it and held it up to my ear.
 "Funny," I muttered, "the darn thing seems to have stopped. According to this it's only 9:30."
 The hostess laughed a little as she referred to her watch. "That's exactly the time I have, too, and that's the time the clock over there on the piano says. I guess, maybe"—she didn't finish, but merely laughed.

Since then when she asks the time, I tell it without any comment. It's less embarrassing.—Baltimore American.

NOTED PRELATES IN LONDON

Leo XIII and Pius XI Said to Have Been Familiar With the British Metropolis.

The new pope, Pius XI, visited London as well as Oxford in early life, in the latter place especially the great Bodleian library naturally attracting such a great scholar. He was himself librarian of the great Vatican library, and known everywhere as a booklover. It was said that the late Pope Leo XIII knew his way about London better than a great many natives, as he had spent much time there before being raised to the papacy, exploring the slums and other problems in the metropolis.
 Pope Leo XIII was the only one of that exalted rank who ever sat in the British house of commons and in the distinguished strangers' gallery, at that. He also is said to have enjoyed the hospitality of Lord Palmerston under that distinguished statesman's own roof. That was, of course, before his exaltation to the papacy.

GETTING DIVORCED

SYNOPSIS.—In a preface Mary Marie explains her apparent "double personality" and just why she is a case—current and a contradiction. She also tells her reasons for writing the diary—later to be a novel. The diary is commenced at Andersonville. Mary begins with Nurse Sarah's account of her (Mary's) birth, which seemingly interested her father, who is a famous astronomer, less than a new star which was discovered the same night. Her name is a compromise, her father insisting on Abigail Jane. The child quickly learned that her name was in some way different from those of her small friends, and was puzzled thereat. Nurse Sarah tells her of her mother's arrival at Andersonville as a bride and how astonished they all were at the sight of the dainty eighteen-year-old girl whom the sedate professor had chosen for a wife. Nurse Sarah makes it plain why the household seemed a strange one to the child and how her father and mother drifted apart through misunderstanding, each too proud to in any way attempt to smooth over the situation.

I didn't even think of asking Father of course. I never ask Father anything. Nurse says I did ask him once why he didn't love me like other people loved their little girls. But I was very little then, and I don't remember it at all. But Nurse said Father didn't like it very well, and maybe I did remember that part, without really knowing it. Anyhow, I never think of asking Father questions.

I asked the doctor first. I thought maybe 'twas some kind of a disease, and if he knew it was coming, he could give them some sort of a medicine to keep it away—like being vaccinated so's not to have smallpox, you know. And I told him so.

He gave a funny little laugh, that somehow didn't sound like a laugh at all. Then he grew very, very sober, and said:

"I'm sorry, little girl, but I'm afraid I haven't got any medicine that will prevent a divorce. If I did have, I'd be sure to give you some, but I'm afraid I can't. I'm thinking—I'd be busy answering my calls."

Then it is a disease? I cried. Did I can remember just how frightened I felt. "But isn't there any doctor anywhere that can stop it?" He shook his head and gave that queer little laugh again.

I'm afraid not," he sighed. "As it's being a disease—there are people that call it a disease, and there are others who call it a cure; and there are still others who say it's a remedy worse than the disease it tries to cure. But, there, you baby! What can I say? Come, come, my dear, forget it. It's nothing you should bother your little head over now. Wait till you're older."

I'm older, indeed! How I hate to have folks talk to me like that! and they do—they do it all the time. As if I was a child now, when I'm almost standing there where the brook and river meet!

But that was just the kind of talk I got, everywhere, nearly every time. I asked any one what a divorce was, and some laughed, and some sighed. Some looked real worried 'cause I'd asked it, and one got mad. (That was the doctormaker. I found out afterward that she'd had a divorce already, so probably she thought I asked the question on purpose to plague her.) But nobody would answer me—really answer me sensibly, so I'd know what it meant; and most everybody said, "I can't say, child," or "You shouldn't talk of such things," or "Wait, my dear, till you're older"; and all that.

Well, I Asked Mr. Jones if You Could Buy Divorces, and if He Had Them for Sale.

the way, just the same, I notice," spoke up somebody with a chuckle. "Divorce is a coward's retreat from the battle of life." Captain Harris said this. He spoke slow and decided. Captain Harris is old and rich, and not married. He's the hotel's star boarder, and what he says, goes, most always. But it didn't do him. I can remember just how old Mr. Carlton snapped out the next.

"Speak from your own experience, Tom Harris, an' I'm thinkin' you ain't fit for judge. I tell you divorce is what three-fourths of the husbands an' wives in the world wish was waitin' for 'em at home this very night. But it ain't there." I knew, of course, he was thinking of his wife. She's some cross, I guess, and has two warts on her nose.

fun in having it yourself. Besides, they were very unkind and disagreeable, and bragged a lot about their divorces. They said mine was tame, and had no sort of snap to it, when they found Mother didn't have a lover waiting in the next town, or Father hadn't run off with his stenographer, or nobody had shot anybody, or anything.

That made me mad, and I let them see it, good and plain. I told them our divorce was perfectly all right and genteel and respectable; that Nurse Sarah said it was. Ours was going to be incompatible, for one thing, which meant that you got on each other's nerves, and just naturally didn't care for each other any more. But they only laughed, and said even more disagreeable things, so that I didn't want to go to school any longer, and I told Mother so, and the reason, too, of course.

But, dear me, I wished right off that I hadn't. I supposed she was going to be superb and haughty and disdainful, and say things that would put those girls where they belonged. But, my stars! How could I know that she was going to burst into such a storm of sobs and clasp me to her bosom, and get my face all wet and cry out: "Oh, my baby, my baby—to think I have subjected you to this, my baby, my baby!"

And I couldn't say a thing to comfort her, or make her stop, even when I told her over and over again that I wasn't a baby. I was almost a young lady; and I wasn't being subjected to anything bad. I liked it—only I didn't like to have those girls brag so, when our divorce was away ahead of theirs, anyway.

But she only cried more and more, and held me tighter and tighter, rocking back and forth in her chair. She took me out of school, though, and had a lady come to teach me all by myself, so I didn't have to hear those girls brag any more, anyway. That was better. But she wasn't any happier herself, I could see that.

There were lots of other ladies there—beautiful ladies—only she didn't seem to like them any better than I did the girls. I wondered if maybe they bragged, too, and I asked her; but she only began to cry again, and moan, "What have I done, what have I done?"—and I had to try all over again to comfort her. But I couldn't.

She got so she just stayed in her room lots and lots. I tried to make her put on her pretty clothes, and do as the other ladies did, and go out and walk and sit on the big piazzas, and dance, and eat at the pretty little tables. She did, some, when we first came, and took me, and I just loved it. They were such beautiful ladies, with their bright eyes, and their red cheeks and jolly ways; and their dresses were so perfectly lovely, all silks and satins and sparkly spangles, and diamonds and rubies and emeralds, and silk stockings, and little bits of gold and silver slippers.

And once I saw two of them smoking. They had the cutest little cigarrettes (Mother said they were) in gold holders, and I knew then that I was seeing life—real life; not the stupid kind you get back in a country town like Andersonville. And I said so to Mother; and I was going to ask her if Boston was like that. But I didn't get the chance. She jumped up so quick I thought something had hurt her, and cried, "Good Heavens, baby!" (How I hate to be called "baby!") Then she just threw some money on to the table to pay the bill and hurried me away.

It was after that she began to stay in her room so much, and not take me anywhere except for walks at the other end of the town where it was all quiet and stupid, and no music or lights or anything. And though I teased and teased to go back to the pretty, jolly places, she wouldn't ever take me; not once.

Then by and by, one day we met a little black-haired woman with white cheeks and very big sad eyes. These weren't any spangly dresses and gold slippers about her, I can tell you! She was crying on a bench in the park, and Mother told me to stay back and watch the swans while she went up and spoke to her. (Why do old folks always make us watch swans or read books or look into store windows or run and play all the time? Don't they suppose we understand perfectly well what it means—that they're going to say something they don't want us to hear?) Well, Mother and the lady on the bench talked and talked ever so long, and then Mother called me up, and the lady cried a little over me, and said, "Now, perhaps, if I'd had a little girl like that—" Then she stopped and cried some more.

We saw this lady real often after that. She was nice and pretty and sweet, and I liked her; but she was always awfully sad, and I don't believe it was half so good for Mother to be with her as it would have been for her to be with those jolly, laughing ladies that were always having such good times. But I couldn't make Mother see it that way at all. There are times when it seems as if mother just couldn't see things the way I do. Honestly, it seems sometimes almost as if she was the cross-current and contradiction instead of me. It does.

Well, as I said before, I didn't like it very well out there, and I don't believe Mother did, either. But it's all over now, and we're back home packing up to go to Boston.

"Do old folks honestly think they are fooling us all the time, I wonder?"

Novel Frocks for Matrons; Spring Hats for Girls

IT IS time for the matron to choose her afternoon frocks for summer, and she faces this fact with a light heart. Years of experience have taught her that in afternoon dress she shines at her best—and there is no end of beautiful things to choose from. It is spring and the desire comes for lovely colors and sheer fabrics, made up with a cleverness or an elaboration that belongs to the summer time of life.

Many such handsome models as these are among those that combine millinery informed and critical person—the flapper—finds much to approve of. The first hats to be considered always are the fine pressed shapes with their collars or sashes of ribbon. They look much simpler than they are, these finer-grained hats for childhood, of rulan, leghorn and other braids. One of them with round crown and drooping brim is shown in the group pictured here.

HANDSOME MODEL FOR MATRON

that one pictured here await the sure demand for conservative and dignified frocks that embody some of the season's novel style points. This one will please the women who find the low waist line, or the chemise dress, unbecoming—and no style is good style when it does not become its wearer. So it pins its faith to the normal waist line, but takes advantage of fashion's last word in other respects with four long panels of georgette, longer than the skirt of crepe de chine, which they veil. Each panel is decorated with moire ribbon, arranged in pencil, or cartridge belt plaits, set in groups of three at intervals, and threaded through slashes in the georgette. The bodice of crepe de chine is bloused over the girdle of georgette, and has the ribbon decoration at the front. Very becoming long sleeves of georgette offer another enticing background for the same decoration, and it reaches its climax in a large rosette that finishes the girdle. In those fascinating millinery gardens, where lovely things for grown-ups have always blossomed out in spring, little ladies this season find that their headwear, too, has been much considered. They are delighted with the millinery show, and even that

YOU CAN'T TRUST CALOMEL AT ALL

It's Quicksilver, Salivates, Causes Rheumatism and Bone Decay.

The next dose of calomel you take may salivate you. It may shock your liver or start bone necrosis. Calomel is dangerous. It is mercury, quicksilver. It crashes into your blue like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wild-cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.—Advertisement.

Ever Thus.

Husband and wife were at it, hammer and tongs. "The trouble is," said he in exasperation, "that you will spend all my money on unnecessary clothes simply to look fashionable." "You men are so inconsistent!" she answered. "You ought to know that unnecessary clothes are most fashionable at the moment."

MOTHER!

Your Child's Bowels Need "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on the bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup. Advertisement.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition. Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so. And hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. INSTANTLY KILLED WHEN HORSE FALLS WITH HIM

Last Friday our community was shocked when the report came in that Mr. S. F. Shipp had been killed in an accident out in the McCarty neighborhood. Mr. Shipp and Geo. Shumake were rounding up a bunch of horses. Mr. Shipp started out to circle around the bunch. He was riding at a brisk gait when his horse stepped into a dog hole, which caused the animal to fall with great violence, breaking the saddle girths, and throwing saddle and rider for some distance with such force that Mr. Shipp's neck was broken and his face and head badly bruised. When the accident happened the horse and rider were out of Mr. Shumake's sight. Soon the riderless horse was seen and the unfortunate man's body was found cold in death. The body was brought to town and prepared for burial at the Oquinn Undertaking establishment. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Braswell at First Baptist church Saturday at 2:30 p. m., after which the body was laid to rest in Lamesa Cemetery. Lamesa Camp W. O. W. having charge of the burial. S. F. Shipp was born July 2, 1874. He joined the Baptist church in 1912, and was known as consistent Christian and a good citizen. He is survived by his wife and eight children, to whom we extend our heartfelt sympathy.—Dawson County Journal.
