

Election City Officer Saturday

Officer Elected Will Determine Success Of Corporation

Tomorrow is City election day and a full ticket is on the ballot. One man for the mayoralty, three for marshal, one for city clerk and nine for alderman; five to be elected.

All votes will be cast at the court house. The polls will open at seven a. m. and close at seven p. m. Any qualified voter living within the corporate limits of the city is entitled to a vote.

In selecting your ticket remember that you are giving five men the legislative power of the city, and the laws or ordinances passed by them will shape the destiny of the city government. That you are choosing a chief executive to serve until the regular election in April next, and a peace officer to enforce the laws of the city, and to bring to the notice of the courts such violations as may appear. Upon the marshal depends the social status of the city.

Blank lines are left below each office upon which to write any name you may chose, if the man of your choice does not appear upon the ballot. If it is your pleasure to write in a name, be sure it is some one who will fill the office should he by chance be elected.

Remodeling M. E. Church Begins

S. S. Ramsey, contractor, began Thursday morning to remodel the Methodist church in west Tahoka.

The plans upon which the building will be remodeled calls for the present vestibule and belfry to be torn away and the north and east wings of the church to be thrown together by tearing away the inside walls and filling the church in. The roof will be remodeled to conform with modern church architecture. When completed the church will be square instead of el-shaped as a present. It is estimated that the remodeling will increase the seating capacity at least fifty per cent. When remodeled, repainted and repaired, the Methodists will be able to boast of an exceptionally roomy and well appearing building considering the population of the surrounding country.

Russell Ramsey left Wednesday in response to a wire, assigning him to the freight department of the Santa Fe at Slatoo.

J. N. Jones, the south side furniture man, has built a twenty-four by thirty addition to the rear of his furniture store to house a funeral conveyance and other undertaking supplies.

Two Tile On The Southwest Corner

H. M. Larkin of quality corner, this week informed the News that unless something unforeseen happened within the next two weeks he would begin preparation for a two story tile building on his present location.

The bulding he contemplates will be a two story structure 25 by 100 feet. The lower story will be occupied by his stock of merchandise. Large show windows in the front will add to its attractiveness, while a ladies rest room in the rear equipped with water closet, lavatory and lounges will add to the comfort of the building.

The plans he now has call for the second floor to be cut into office rooms, but he is in receipt of a bid from Dr. E. H. Iamon for the upper story for a sanitarium. In the event this deal is consummated, the plans will be altered to conform to the Doctors requirements.

Wilson Commences Building Activity

Wilson, Tex.—Aug. 5. This town will come into its own within the next twelve month.

Crops in this vicinity could not be wished any better. And the rains of the past week have banished any apprehension that might have been entertained on the score of inefficient rainfall mature crops. Greater yields per acre on more acres will be the summary of the coming harvest. Range conditions and stock are far above the average.

R. C. Forrester this week accepted plans for a seven room residence here upon which construction will begin in a few days.

Wm. Green owner of the Wilson county schpol land is here now and is lending his aid and contributing materially to the boosting of Wilson and vicinity.

The offer of $500 00 to any church that would organize and build here has been accepted by the Baptists, that denomination having the largest membership.

We understand that Mr. Green has placed the five hundred dollars to the credit of the church and that a building will be under construction by the time harvest commences.

Mr. Green has told the ladies of Wilson to choose a location on land owned by him for a cemetery and a park and he would deed them to the town. Not only would he do this, but he would assist them in fencing the plats, planting trees and otherwise making them beauty spots of the town.

G. W. Pilley will soon be the possessor of a handsome nine room residence in our city.

Petition $25,000 Road Bond Issue

This week there was circulated a petition to be presented to the regular session of commissioners' court Monday asking that an election be ordered to vote on the issuance of bonds in the amount of $25,000 to be used for the improvement of Lynn county roads.

The party circulating the petition made the statement that he had not been turned down by any one and he then had in the neighborhood of 75 signers.

Court House Bonds Carried

By Majority of 22 Votes--Won in 3 Boxes Lost in 4

Last Saturday, the question of the issuance of bonds by Lynn county not to exceed $60,000, for the purpose of erecting a court house and jail was submitted to the property tax paying voters of the county. The bonds carried by a majority of 22 votes, there being cast 154 for, and 132 against. The vote by precincts was as follows:

Tahoka	93 for, 23 against
O'Donnell	3 " 38 "
Wilson	17 " 18 "
New Home	3 " 27 "
Three Lakes	4 " 1 "
Draw	9 " 14 "
North Tahoka	25 " 11 "

While the opposition was strong and determined till the polls closed Saturday afternoon, everyone seems to be fairly well satisfied, and with true democratic spirit are willing for the majority to have their way.

The next commissioners court will canvas the returns, and the wheels will be set turning towards the accomplishment of the structure as contemplated by the court. The plans, we understand, have not yet been decided upon, but the favorite building seems to be a two story structure with a basement, with the jail, vaults and toilets in the basement.

It is the intencion of the commissioners to equip the building with water closets, and build a septic tank large enough to take care of sewerage. The intencion in equipping the building in this manner is to remove all unsightly and obnoxious buildings from around the business district.

The people of the county and the town hardly realized before the election what the building of a court house would mean to the county at large and the county seat in particular.

Start Water Line To School Bldg.

Work was commenced the first of the week on the ditching for the water line from the Shook wells in North Tahoka to the public school in the south part of town. Mr. Shook closed a contract some time ago to furnish the school with water for five years.

The pipe line will connect with the pipes that furnish the court yard on the west side of the square, thence due west, just north of the Carter Bros., store, one block to Petty street, thence southe to the corner of the school yard.

We have not yet learned what disposition will be made of the two wells on the yard. One of the wells is salty and unfit for drinking purposes, but would do very well for irrigation.

Thomas Brothers this week installed a hydrant on the curb in front of their store to supply motorists with water. This is a much needed improvement and will be appreciated by the steadily increasing tourist traffic.

What the New Court House Means to County and City

To the county, the new fire proof building and vaults will mean a preclusion of a loss of the records by fire. Too, the records will be better safeguarded against other agents of destruction. It means a jail that will be sufficient for the county needs for years to come, secured at a less figure than could have been possible had they waited a few years, or had they built it alone. It means a permanent court house of a design and structure that will intrinsically enhance the value of all property and continue to do so by encouraging immigration to this county.

To the town of Tahoka, the court house means equally as much or more. The permanency as the county seat is chief. It will encourage the building of other permanent buildings of fireproof material. One of our merchants, who by the way, will probably commence a two story tile building in the next month, made the statement, that before the court house was half completed, there would be fifty thousand dollars worth of brick buildings under construction in Tahoka. A few days before the election, one of our real estate men received a letter from a prospector to the effect that if the election carried, he was in the market for a fifty foot front on the south side of the square to erect a two story fireproof building.

In fact the carrying of the court house and jail bonds will mean the crystalization of one of the biggest periods of development Lynn county has ever experienced.

Band Boys Give Open Air Concert

Last evening according to announcement the band boys gave their concert in the court house yard. Quite a crowd of citizens gathered to hear the boys play and on the whole expressed themselves as well pleased with the progress the boys had made in their playing. Several agreed to the assertion that while the boys hardly had Susa backed off the map, their playing compared very favorably with other bands in this section.

The boys appreciated the patronage accorded them and especially are they indebted to Mrs. Hall Robinson, Misses Frankie and Orilla Turner, Eva Halmark and Evra Coughran for the very efficient assistance.

A subscription list was started to build a permanent band stand in the court yard.

If you haven't tried the South American Drink, El Mati, served at the Parkhurst fountain, well you have one more pleasant surprise in store for you. 46 h

On The Business of Banking

The farmers of this nation to come into their own must study business. We must, as a class, understand the fundamental principles that underlie every industry, its functions to society and its relation to agriculture for there can be no intelligent co-operation without understanding. Mr. F. A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank of New York, when asked "What is a Bank" said in part:

"The first and most familiar function of a bank is that of gathering up the idle money of a community, small sums and large, and thus forming a pool or reservoir upon which responsible persons may draw as they have temporary use for money. It is evident that this makes large sums in the aggregate available for the employment of labor and the development of the community. But much more is accomplished than the use of the money actually deposited in the banks, for by the use of drafts, checks and bank notes the efficiency of money is multiplied several times over. A very large business, for example one of the great beef packers, may use very little actual money; on one side of its bank account will be entered the checks and drafts it is daily receiving from everywhere in payment for meats, while on the other side will be entered the checks it draws in payment for cattle, etc., its only use of money being for small payments, to labor and otherwise.

If there were but one bank in a community and everybody paid all bills by drawing checks on that bank, and everyone receiving a check immediately deposited it in the bank, the amount of money in the bank evidently would not change at all and the entire business of the community would be settled on the books of the bank. And the situation is but slightly changed when there are several banks, for they daily exchange among themselves all the checks they receive on each other, which practically offset themselves, although the small balances are paid in cash. This is called 'clearing' and in every large city there is a 'Clearing House' where representatives of the banks meet daily to settle their accounts with each other.

A bank is constantly receiving from its customers, particularly those that are shipping products to other localities, drafts and checks drawn on banks in other cities, which it usually sends for deposit to a few correspondent banks in the central cities with which it maintains permanent accounts. In this way these scattered credits are consolidated and the bank draws upon these accounts in supplying customers with the means of making payments away from home. As each local community sells and buys about the same amount abroad in the course of a year, these payments largely offset each other. It is evident that the banks are very intimately related to the trade and industry of a country. The banker is a dealer in credit much more than a dealer in money, and of course his own credit must be above question. He exchanges his credit for the credits acquired by his customers, and lends credit for their accommodation, but he must conduct the business with such judgment that he can always meet his own obligations with cash on demand. This is the essential thing about bank credit, that it shall always be the same as cash."

Entered as second-class matter, July

 Texas, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

The brains of the nation, at the request of Secretary Daniels, have been gathered together as an advisory board in the study of national defense. The army and navy heads are asking for more men, more guns and larger supplies of ammunition; and other munitions of war, both defensive and offensive.

One of our exchanges cites these facts as a cause for uneasiness, and asks "is this country in danger of an invasion by a foreign foe?" And concludes with the statement "yet one can not suppress the thought that beneath the surface calm a volcano lies ready to burst."

We see no cause for alarm in these preparations, in fact the sooner they are commenced the more secure the people of the nation should feel. In these unsettled times when a nation knows not who is friend or foe, and the battle lust is rampant across the ocean, national preparedness is only national preservation.

There are columns devoted to the sinking of a few ships belonging to Americans by the Germans, and many newspapers openly hint war, or retaliatory measures, but few and far between are the censures printed against Great Britain for sinking last years cotton crop, and preparing to repeat the operation. Apparently the situation has simmered down to where our Uncle Samuel must secure John Bull's permission before we can ship cotton to any foreign customer, be he neutral or belligerent. It seems as tho Britannia really rules the wave and the American Eagle dare not scream.

In all probability there will not be a railroad built thru the western territory within the next year. The people in that section want and would appreciate better transportation facilities.

Motor truck transportation has proven successful wherever tried in this country. The roads between Tahoka and the Mexico line are in good shape as dirt roads go. In all probability they will be improved this summer too. Tahoka is the nearest railroad point to the state line, the character of the country traversed considered.

Here is an opportunity some hustling auto owner will not overlook for long. We would be pleased to see a Tahoka man be first in the field.

Lamesa has a cornet band that has been organized a couple of weeks and is progressing fast.

Slaton has reorganized her band and employed an instructor. They are whipping up on their playing.

The report comes from Lubbock that the brass band in that city is practicing more regular, and renewed interest is being manifested.

The Post City band is also putting in a few hard blows.

Boys you are doing tolerably well, but we need more pep and you know why.

A man in Arkansas was cleared by a coroner's jury when he killed a man he found in his home late at night with his wife. This is the way it is done in the South.

The home is protected even against the weakness of the wife, for there are reasons why this is so. The sacredness of the home should be held inviolate, and the man who will not hold it so has no rights to plead in the extenuation of his act. Of course the woman is not justified, but even her willingness to do that which is not right does not lessen the crime of the man.—Cleburne Enterprise.

"For dust thou art and unto dust shalt thou return."

Out of the myriad millions that have lived on this earth only two according to sacred or profane history have ever escaped death. Sometime, somewhere, each and every one must be laid away. Since time in memorial it has been the custom to honor our dead, especially at the laying away. For this purpose magnificent tombs have been built, science has searched for and discovered ways of keeping the form intact. But, in new countries like our own, we are prone to neglect the care of the spot where our loved ones are laid to rest. Grass and weeds grow up in rank profusion, burrowing varmints are allowed to desecrate the precincts of the dead, and such flowers as are planted are allowed to die from lack of attention. Tahoka's cemetery is in this condition. Situated as it is on a good elevation, with a deep rich soil suitable for the growth of trees and flowers, our cemetery should be a spot beautiful. It is time we gave this matter some attention and labour.

The social life of a community goes far to make it a desirable place to live. The social life of a community goes further to perpetuate the homes of that community. The normal boy and girl will demand a certain amount of recreation and amusement. Furnish them the right kind and in generous quantities, and they will remain contented. Neglect the amusement and recreation of the young people and they will furnish it themselves or else someone else will who has not their welfare at heart.

The public dance hall is an institution born of the neglect of parents for the recreation and amusement of their children. Some one else provides what they have failed to provide. And the trouble is, the some one else has provided for commercial gain, what the parent should have provided for the child's welfare.

Joe Hirsch
 On Bankers Helping the Farmers

It is a great thing to make two bales of cotton grow where one grew before, but a much greater achievement to make a bale of cotton worth twice what it was before. It is a great thing for a banker to lend money on property he never loaned on before, but a still greater achievement to lend a dollar at one-half the rate of interest and make a greater net profit than he did before. The Texas Bankers, in co-operating with the Farmers' Union, are bringing about these happy results.

When the State of Texas established a warehouse commission it gave the marketing side of agriculture the based success of the law upon co-operation the legislature paid a tribute to the intelligence and patriotism of the farmers, bankers and business interests.

Mr. Joe Hirsch, president of the Texas Bankers' Association, when asked to define the position of the Texas Bankers on cotton warehousing and financing, said in part:

"As a result of the vigorous cotton warehouse campaign now being undertaken, the Texas Bankers' Association, backed up by the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, will endeavor to market the Texas cotton crop gradually and to obtain for the farmers of Texas a reasonable price above the cost of production.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas is urging the bankers to assist in financing the Texas cotton crop and is offering to rediscount, for its members, notes secured by cotton warehouse receipts, giving preference to cotton stored in bonded warehouses. With this powerful backing for the first time in the financial history of the state, Texas bankers are prepared to finance our cotton crop, but the success or failure of this movement depends entirely upon the construction of adequate warehouse facilities, upon the willingness of farmers to store their cotton and upon the co-operation of country merchants and bankers agreeing to extend credit facilities upon cotton when warehoused.

A cotton warehouse can be constructed at a cost of not exceeding $1.00 to $1.25 per bale capacity. Plans for warehouses, prepared for the Texas Bankers' Association, may be obtained by writing Nathan Adams, Chairman Texas Bankers' Warehouse Committee, Dallas. It is suggested that communities build warehouses in units of 1000 bales each, situated not less than 100 feet from each other. This takes a low fire rate. Call a meeting of your local merchants and bankers. Procure a guarantee of enough money to build your warehouse. Apply for your charter and start work immediately.

The Texas Bankers' Association is composed of seven units, or groups, comprising seven sections of the state. A group chairman is actively in charge of the work in his own district. A banker chairman has been appointed in every county who reports direct to the group chairman. The campaign has been conducted vigorously and applications for charters are pouring into the State Warehouse Department daily and it is hoped that, as a result of the campaign now being waged, the warehouse capacity of the State will be largely increased."

Money Cost of Preventable Diseases

III. TYPHOID.

[Third of series prepared for the Lynn County News by Dr. A. C. Ellis, Director, Extension Department, University of Texas.]

Typhoid fever costs the country $350,000,000 a year. The city of Pittsburg alone has been shown by careful investigations to have lost $3,142,000 from typhoid in one year. The discovery that typhoid is produced by a special germ, which is usually got from the water or milk supply or from flies, has made it possible to control this expensive disease. As soon as all citizens have good sanitary training, this $350,000,000 expense for typhoid can be eliminated. It has been shown that in the numerous cities in which the water supply alone has been made sanitary, typhoid has been reduced on the average of 71 per cent. This disease is estimated to be 85 per cent preventable by modern sanitation. The new typhoid vaccine now affords practically perfect immunity and will soon eradicate this dreadful and expensive disease. In 1911, the first year of the use of vaccine in the army, 65 per cent of the typhoid fever cases disappeared; in 1912, 68 per cent of the small remaining fraction disappeared; and during 1913 there were only two cases reported in the entire army of 80,000 troops. One of these was contracted before the man was immunized. The other reported in China and the case is in doubt.

In a similar manner the diphtheria antitoxin treatment has reduced the death rate from diphtheria from 55 per cent to 19 per cent. This disease has also been shown to be 70 per cent preventable by the use of modern scientific methods of sanitation.

Mrs. C. H. Cain left Monday for Traverse City, Michigan, to visit her parents. She will be gone nearly a month. Mr. Cain accompanied her as far as Slaton.

Machine Fixer Alleges Graft

D. W. Parr of Cincinnati, was in Tahoka the past week repairing sewing machines. Mr. Parr was one of the 25,000 employees thrown out of work when the Cincinnati sewing machine company closed down on account of the present war. He said he drifted south, and went to work in the Texas house of Sears & Roebuck, rebuilding machines. He said the work was ill paid and the graft so big that he decided to get out and go from house to house to do the work. To a News reporter he stated that the company above referred to would pay a dollar for an old second hand sewing machine head. He and other men would burn the paint off of them with a blow torch and scrub them up with sand paper, which operation took about twenty minutes. Another hour to repair them and a few minutes to restencil them, and the old head was set in a new casing prepared for Sears & Roebuck and palmed off to the customers for bran new machines at from $12.50 to $25. He stated that he could fix six machines a day, and received $1.85 per diem for his work.

From the Amarillo Daily News of August 4th.

The roughest discrimination practiced by Great Britain against the United States is shown in its Order-in-Council closing neutral ports to American trade and granting uninterrupted entry to those ports to its own export trade. In this method of hamstringing American commerce in the interest of the supremacy of its own, we have an example of at least one of the lovable traits which have contributed so much to the unenviable notoriety of the "mother" country which has always adhered to the maxim that might makes right.

It is interesting to conjecture precisely what would happen to a nation other than Great Britain which should even attempt a like unjustifiable and unprovoked attack upon the commerce of this country.

And now Great Britain informs the United States that she will not listen to our protest against the Orders-in-Council but will continue, at her pleasure, to blockade any neutral port she may deem necessary and that if we don't like it, we can register a kick and it may sometime be settled by international arbitration.

For some unaccountable reason it appears that this and some other nations appear to feel perfectly contented—even honored—in being kicked into the ditch so long as a British boot performs that amiable service.

Exhibit at University Shows Multiplicity of Uses of Cotton

University Station, July 31st.—Cotton contains more cellulose than any other plant, the percentage of this material being about 95. From cellulose is manufactured as shown by an exhibit installed in the University of Texas for inspection by farmers attending the Farmers Institute, writing paper, blotting, wrapping paper, in fact, paper of all grades. Cellulose is also turned into gun cotton and many different smokeless powders and explosives. It is put into a solution treated with camphor and ether, and put on the market as celloidum and used for medical purposes and also in the manufacture of various photographic supplies. Celluloid is made from it, which, in turn, is manufactured into dozens of different articles including motion picture films, which, by the way, are made non-inflammable by a special treatment. From gun cotton and castor oil used with paper and cloth, artificial leather is produced. From cellulose is made artificial silk by a process closely resembling the process which the silk worm uses in making real silk. Imitation horse hair is also made from cellulose and due to the fact that the fibre is spun out to an indefinite length it is much more easily manufactured into horse hair products than the short genuine horse hair. Metal threads are also produced from cellulose, the technical name for which is bayco yarn, and which possesses a desirable quality of never fading. Artificial straw for embroidery purposes is also manufactured. The residue from the manufacture of paper is turned into a paper varn, which, in turn, is manufactured into cloth which can be washed and handled as other goods.

Summer Clayton went to Dallas Monday on business. He returned the latter part of the week.

Miss Noba Stroud came in on the Monday evening train from San Marcus where she had been attending the Summer Normal. Miss Stroud had the unique experience of being in Temple the night a mob of indignant citizens and others burned a negro at the stake for the alleged murder of the three Grimes children.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

On Proper Marketing of Cotton

cotton, said in part:

"We should not only build warehouses, but we should encourage the farmers to put their cotton in them. This must be done by the bankers and business men of the state and it is up to them to get busy. Every business man in Texas knows that it is wrong to force cotton to sell in September and that it is wrong to cause it to be thrown on the market at any time in amounts larger than the market demands, yet this thing has been going on in this country ever since cotton has been a factor in the crops of the South. Cotton is the very backbone of this country. When the cotton crop is off and the price had the whole state suffers. When cotton is thrown on the market in a lump the price is forced down and Texas is hurt just as badly as though the price were down owing to bad staple of an off year crop. But business men have overlooked this important factor in the handling of the cotton crop.

We must build warehouses all over Texas this summer and when the crop is baled it can be stored in good fire and storm proof structures, making a receipt for a bale of cotton as good collateral as the best bank note in the Federal Reserve Bank.

The bankers of Texas can finance the Texas cotton crop and I believe they will demonstrate this fact this Fall. We have the money to carry the farmers over. The thing is that the farmer and the banker must get together. It is a mistake to wait until the cotton is picked and then start to bring about conditions for its financing.

The planter must learn that it is his interest to take proper care of his cotton and that this care can be had only through warehousing. The warehouse receipts will mean ready cash. Look what was done last Fall and the start was a late one. The price of cotton was raised in spite of the influences to hold it down. I do not contend that cotton should bring an abnormal price, but I do believe that it should bring a price that will give the farmer a good return on his investment. This can be done by feeding it to the market as the mills call for it."

W. D. Lewis

On Mission of the Farmers' Union

W. D. Lewis, president of the Texas Farmers' Union, whose tenure of office expires by limitation in August, has issued the following farewell statement to the Texas farmers:

"The Farmers' Union stands before the public of Texas today proud as a King; glorying in its achievements and boasting of its possibilities of rendering a service to the men who follow the plow. The Union sounds the bugle call of organization, summoning every yeoman to rally around its colors. In business it stands for education and co-operation; in the home it stands for Sally and the babies; in government it stands for constructive statesmanship. At the moment it directs the attention of the farmers to warehousing and financing the present cotton crop. Fellow farmers arise and salute King Cotton, a sovereign in whose reign the prosperity of this State is involved and a ruler whose scepter turns the fleecy fibre into gold. A King at whose loom nature weaves, and an imperial potentate at whose shrine millions kneel and sing his praise. Strike for your home, your family and your country by joining the Union and becoming a part of the great economic force that is uplifting this state and nation. The Farmers' Union is the plowmen's hope. Without organization he can neither help himself nor be helped by others, and through organization he is all powerful.

When the Texas Farmers' Union holds its annual convention in Houston, August 3rd, every farmer in Texas should pause and bow his head in honor of the men gathered there to render a patriotic and unselfish service to agriculture. This organization, born in the cotton fields of Texas, has grown until, geographically, it covers almost the whole of the United States, and economically, it deals with every question in which the welfare of the men who bare their backs to the summer sun are involved. It has battled for a better marketing system, rural credits, cheap money, diversification, scientific production, agricultural legislation and has carried on its work of education and co-operation in season and out.

The Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of Texas brings the question of organization squarely before every farmer in this state.

The farmers of the nation contribute more and get less from government than any other class of business. They have better securities and pay a higher rate of interest than any other line of industry. They market more products and have less to say in fixing the price than any other business, and they have had more political buncombe, and less constructive legislation, than any other class of people. The farmers can only acquire such influence in business, in government and economics as will enable them to share equitably the fruits of their labor through organization, and every farmer on Texas soil who desires to help himself and his fellow plowmen, should rally around the Union."

Tahoka Needs Rent Houses

The crying need of Tahoka today is rent houses. And the demand will increase as the school term approaches.

Three families arrived in Tahoka the first of the week from East Texas on their way to laud they owned in Gains county. Their intentions were to stop in Tahoka for the benefit of our school. Being unable to secure a rent house they were forced to move on. A merchant told us the other day, that in one day there were five families stopped in one wagon yard in the town who wanted houses to rent.

We can never have as large a school as is possible in Tahoka until the demand for rent houses is supplied. People from the country who want to come to come to town for the benefit of the school, had rather rent than build. If they can not secure a house and are forced to send their children to school and let them board, instead of sending them to finish their high school course here, they send them to

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Patron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side. The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

The only place in the United States where four states' corner is a remote desert section sixty-five miles south of here. There a large cobblestone monument marks the common corner of Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and Utah. A rancher, whose ranch house is near the intersection, receives his mail at Riverside, Utah; ships his cattle from Dolores, Colorado; attends church at Jewett, N. M. and pays most of his taxes at St. Johns, Arizona. He votes in Utah, because it chances that his bedroom is just over the line in that state. The windmill of his ranch is in New Mexico, but the watering trough is in Arizona. To feed his hogs this rancher must go to Utah, while a trip to Colorado is necessary every time he has occasion to visit his chicken yard.—Ex.
