NEW YORK, April 21. (P)-Speaking across the Atlantic to the annual luncheon of The Associated Press. Secretary Stimson described the London naval agreement today as a long step forward in world diplomacy. The treaty about to be signed, said the head of the American delegation to London, represented a practical application of the Kellogg anti-war pact, limiting at once the navies of the United States, Great Britain and Japan, and holding a promse of future agreement also as to the naval establishments of France and Italy. Mr. Stimson's address, listened to by the members of The Associated Press at their lunchcon sere, was broadcast also throughout the country by the National Broadcasting com-

"The work of the London conference," he said, "has really comprised two quite separate naval problems the problem of the relations between the navies of the United States, Great Britain and Japan, on the one hand, and the problem of the relations between the navies of Great Britain France and Italy on the other.

"These are quite distinct problems. The first of these has been solved.

"In the second of these proplems, valuable discussions have been had and the underlying questions upon which a final so lation must rest have been explored and clarified."
