V. J. Crouch Writes About Big State Fair

FAIR PARK, DALLAS TEXAS, Oct. 18th 1920.

Editor News:-
Yesterday was a record breaking in attendance at the Dallas State Fair. Over 200,000 people entered the gates and enjoyed the sights and mingled with the greatest crowd that ever promulgated the midway of the State. Special rates to all near-by points filled all the coaches of the coming trains to their fullest capacity and the Fair Park was a solid mass of jolly, good natured, happy, fun loving, specimens of humanity. The one galled farmer from the forks of the creek, hobnobbed with the millionaire and the country girl beside the painted cheek city belle as they merrily rode over the scenic rail-way and enjoyed the thrill of the "whip". "Going over the Falls" was a source of pleasure and amusement to the younger set. Your scribe threw down the mantle of age and imbedded with the sublime idea that led the heart of the poet, when indited the lines "Turn backwards Oh; time in thy flight, and take me a child again just for a night". We rode over the "Falls" with the boys and girls, and as they came down the great Cat-come and come away with a smile and a hearty laugh.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce gave a banquet to the county Exhibitors of West Texas Saturday evening at the Club in the city of Dallas. About 30 guests were entertained and enjoyed the hospitality of the Chamber of Commerce. Toasts were given, speeches were made and a jolly two hours were spent by the big hearted representatives of West Texas. The meeting of the West Texas exhibitors was arranged to take place today for the purpose of arranging plans to place on exhibit a regional display at the Lico Cotton Palace. Our county will participate and contribute one of our best specimens to exhibit.

We have met quite a number of former citizens of Tahoka and Lynn County, and a number of the folks have called at our booth. The Lynn County exhibit has been the center of attraction and many favorable comments have been passed on the superlatives of our products and arrangement of our booth. We regret the conditions that caused us to be short a few inches in the score card and thereby prevented us coming in ribbon class. We feel that our efforts has been a grand success in placing before the World wonderful resources, marvelous productions and great possibilities of the future. Lynn county citizens can well afford to be proud of our suitable position and rank among the West Texas counties. We have made a good showing and the homeseekers are longing to visit our section in person.

We could write columns about the wonderful display here, but space is so tight. We have a week more in which to pour into the inquiring public, in peculiar "West Texas parlance", the beauty grandeur and significance of the South Plains where gentle breezes waft the giving elixir, over undulating plains and bald faced Herons graze in luxuriant pastures, where the Rhode Island rooster proudly proclaims dawn of another Lynn county day, where happy homes, beautiful women and brave men live one long summer day.

Adios,
W. J. CROUCH
County Court convenes in Tahoka, Monday, Oct. 25th.

West Texas C. of C. Publicity Manager Here

W. Hamilton Wright, publicity manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, arrived in Tahoka yesterday morning by way of Lamesa. Mr. Wright is making a special trip to Lynn and Dawson counties with the view of obtaining first hand information and facts about the towns and country, and when gathered will be published as news matter in the leading daily papers over the state.

This form of publicity is only one of the many benefits being received by Lynn county from being a member of this body. Mr. Wright is an excellent writer and his article concerning this immediate vicinity will be read by thousands, and will no doubt be the means of locating many substantial families here. The News will reprint the article written by Mr. Wright as soon as same appears in the daily papers.

Midway News

Leslie Hooe has returned home after making an extended trip over some parts of Texas and Oklahoma.

There will be preaching at Midway, Friday night, Saturday and Sunday night. Bro. Curry will do the preaching. Every body come.

RED WING

Some Rain Monday

The greater portion of Lynn county was visited with a regular gully-washer rain during the early part of Monday morning. A heavy black cloud came up from the west, causing many inhabitants to make their way hurriedly to the storm house, which, by-the-way, is something very rare in the South Plains section of Texas. Keen lightning and loud thunder served to arouse the people from their peaceful slumber. The fall amounted to 2 inches according to the measurements of the local Government rain gauge. No damage of note was done to crops of any kind.

Paul Miller, of Dublin, was in the city this week transacting business.

G. R. King, of Abilene, spent the latter part of last week in Tahoka. Mr. King owns a farm east of town, and was here seeing about its rental for the coming year. He stated that he had decided to return here and occupy the place himself, if conditions remain suitable.

Messrs. and Mesdames Billy Sanders and J. V. Dyer visited with relatives in Slaton Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Heare, of Miami, are guests of their son, J. L. and wife.

Mrs. Turner Released From Custody Late Yesterday

Mrs. M. Turner, who has been confined in the Lynn county jail accused of the murder of her husband which occurred at the ranch home north of Tahoka on the 8th inst., was released from custody late yesterday, bond being secured by her attorneys.

Mrs. Estes Turner, a daughter-in-law, also accused as an accomplice in the shooting scrape was released on bond shortly after the murder of Turner.

T. J. McCormack, of Ranger, arrived Wednesday in his red flivver and will visit his parents a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. George Chapman, of Colorado, are visiting Mrs. Chapman's sister, Mrs. F. E. Redwine.

Mrs. W. T. Clinton and little son returned yesterday from Caldwell, where she visited her daughters, who are attending school at that place.

Married

Mr. W. D. Word, of Amarillo, and Miss Ora Street, of Dawson county, were married in Tahoka late yesterday afternoon, the ceremony being performed by County Judge C. H. Cain. The newlyweds will make their home on a ranch in Potter county.

BORN--to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse C. Eubanks, in Tahoka, Sunday, October 17th., a girl.

N. M. Bray is enjoying a visit from his father and mother, who reside in Chillicothe, Texas.

Rev. L. W. Williamson, Baptist Missionary, was a visitor in the city Sunday and Monday, coming here by way of Ragtown from his home in Slaton.

Messrs. Chester Connelly, Sherrod and McGonagill made a trip overland Saturday to Ralls and Crosbyton, where they delivered a bunch of Ford Cars.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. White returned the first of the week from an overland tour west into New Mexico and the North Plains of Texas. They came back by way of Ralls and Cone in Crosby county and visited their old friends and neighbors.

Came to Rescue

The committee on the guarantee list of the Redpath-Horner Chautauqua Forum, come out considerably in the hole during the recent series of entertainments by the company in Tahoka closing Sunday night.

Tuesday morning, S. E. Reid, circulated a petition asking the assistance of those who were not on the guarantee list to help out in the matter and within a short time a sum sufficient to cover the deficiency was made up from the following persons: J. C. May, Rube King, H. B. Howell, Thomas Bro., W. G. Torrance, Rev. W. C. Hinds, S. E. Reid, W. B. Slaton.

The committee is also under obligations to Mrs. H. M. Larkin and Messrs. W. M. Harris and Chester Connelly for making the trip to Slaton Sunday in order to bring the troop here for the Sunday performance. There is always to be found within our city persons who stand ready and willing to go to any amount of trouble and expense in order that citizens of our little city may have and enjoy the better things in the way of entertainment. It is a real joy to live among a class of people that reside in Lynn county on the great South Plains of Texas.

Boost for Tahoka.

New Garage, Blacksmith and Grist Mill for Tahoka

The News is glad to welcome J. D. Lundry, of Oran, Palo Pinto county, Texas, to our city. Mr. Lundry will open up a first-class garage, blacksmith shop and grist mill in the building just south of the Larkin House. Modern machinery will be installed and we feel sure the new firm will receive a liberal patronage at the hands of the people of Lynn county.

Mr. Lundry will place an announcement in this paper regarding the opening of the business in the near future.

Gilbert--Bohannon

What came as a complete surprise to the many friends of the contracting parties, was the announcement the early part of the week that Mr. Charles Gilbert and Miss Pauline Bohannon, two popular young people residing in the Lynn neighborhood, were secretly married on Sunday, September 12th inst., the Rev. W. C. Hinds pastor of the local Methodist church, officiating.

Mr. Gilbert is a prosperous farmer in the Lynn community and possesses all the traits of young manhood that goes to make him one among the substantial citizens of the county.

Miss Bohannon is the charming and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Bohannon, and is a favorite among the younger set of that part of the county in which she resides.

The News joins a host of friends and acquaintances in wishing these young people all the happiness possible as they journey through life.

After a short trip on a visit with relatives of Mr. Gilbert in Amarillo the couple will be at home to their friends at Lynn.

Stice--McDonald

Miss Joyce Stice and A. McDonald were married Sunday morning at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. W. C. Hinds officiating. The News join their many friends in wishing them a long, happy, prosperous journey through life. They will visit relatives of Mr. McDonald in Clay county a few weeks.

Mesdames J. H. Henderson and A. A. Suits, of Lockney are the guests of Mrs. S. B. Goodrich.

Mrs. G. A. Napier spent the week end with her sister in Lamesa.

Mrs. S. S. Ramsey went to O'Donnell Saturday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Raymond Weathers.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cain returned Thursday of last week from Iredell, Bosque county, Texas, where they were called to the bedside of Judge Cain's father, G. L. Cain. They arrived there about a week before his death, but he was never conscious after reaching his bedside. The News joins the many friends of Judge Cain in offering words of sympathy in his bereavement.

Rev. Madison Dean Preached in Tahoka Sunday

Rev. Madison Dean, Baptist minister of Palestine, Texas, filled the pulpit at the local church Sunday morning. Rev. Dean is the guest of his sister, Mrs. J. C. Roberts, residing near Lubbock, and filled an appointment here at the request of the members of the Baptist denomination with the view of calling him for pastor. The minister was accompanied by his brother-in-law, J. C. Roberts. Rev. Roberts will preach here again Sunday morning and evening and the church going public is extended a cordial invitation to come out and hear his discourses.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Sanders and children returned the latter part of last week from San Marcus, Texas where they spent the past several months. Mr. Sanders stated that they will now make their permanent home in Lynn county.

LYNN COUNTY WINS PRIZE AT TEXAS STATE FAIR

TELEGRAM

DALLAS, October 16th., 8:30 A.M.

Tahoka Chamber of Commerce:-
Lynn County wins $150.00 prize; beats Lubbock and Dawson; fifteenth in State.

(Signed) S. B. HATCHETT.

The above telegram was received by the secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce early Saturday and the glad news was quickly circulated over Tahoka and surrounding communities. The fact that Lynn outpointed both Lubbock and Dawson counties is proof sufficient that the display of agricultural products sent to the Texas State Fair was well worth the trouble and expense gone to in securing the above results. Lubbock county was 20th in State and Dawson 18th., while Lynn took 15th., and a $150.00 prize.

Much credit is due W. J. Crouch, under whose skillful eye and artistic arrangement made the Lynn County booth compare favorably with some of the more thickly populated counties in Texas. Mr. Crouch stated upon his return here that had Lynn county complied with the rules and regulations requiring a certain amount of various products, we would have easily won a blue ribbon. Locate in Lynn.

Local Gins Reduce Price of Ginning

At a meeting of farmers and gin men in Tahoka, Tuesday morning for the purpose of requesting the managers of the three gins of the city to reduce the price of ginning a bale of cotton. It was quickly decided to reduce the price from 50c to 40c per hundred on the bale. According to a statement by one of the gin men, it will now cost the farmer something like $8.00 to have a bale of cotton ginned, the where heretofore it has averaged around $10.00. Owing to the drop in the prices of cotton and seed, it was deemed advisable to make this reduction.

Jake Leedy, proprietor of the Leedy Meat Market, has added to the beauty of his display window, mention of which was made in last week's issue, by placing therein a goodly amount of lunch goods, arranged in the most artistic style. Mr. Leedy carries extra advertising space in this issue calling your attention to this line of goods.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Thomas and son, R. C. Jr., of Denison, are guests of J. N. Thomas and family.

Vinson--Cozby

Omer Vinson and Miss Della Cozby were married last Sunday, Oct. 3rd., at Plainview, the Methodist Pastor at that place officiating. The wedding was a surprise even to the near relatives of the contracting parties, and the father and mother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cozby, were the only ones present at the ceremony, they having been called to Plainview by the expectant bride, but not knowing they were going to a wedding until they got there.

The bridegroom is a son of Rev. J. H. Vinson and wife of this place. The happy couple will make their home at Post City. We extend unto them wishes for a long and happy life. — SILVERTON STAR

Notice to Farmers

The Farmers Union, of Lynn County, now have a man stationed at ware house in Tahoka to take care of your business. Cooperate with us.

FARMERS UNION, of Lynn County.

Attorney, B. P. Maddox, returned the latter part of the past week from a professional trip to Wheeler county.

Tahoka first; elsewhere last.

Lubbock Merchants to Launch Gigantic Sale

In this issue of the News, will be found a full page advertisement of six Lubbock dry goods firms, who will launch the most gigantic sale ever known in this section in the way of price cutting. These progressive firms believe in the use of printers ink and are buying space in every paper over the South Plains. They are:- A. B. Conley, K. Carter, The Leader, L. F. Hunt, The Man's Quality Shop and Jones Bros. News readers are asked to look over the advertisement and see just what they are going to do in cutting prices in all wares. The big sale begins Saturday morning, October 23rd, at 7 A. M.

O'Donnell

We received a heavy shower and some hail here Monday.

The singing class went to New Home Sunday to all day singing and all report an excellent time and plenty to eat.

Ovid Luallen, of Tahoka, is with the Fuller Gin Company here this week.

W. J. Wyatt received a message Sunday stating that his daughter, Mrs. Nelson, of Lamesa, was very ill. We all wish Mrs. Nelson a hasty recovery.

Mrs. Chapman, of Colorado, was visiting her sister, Mrs. Bert Bailey, this week.

Messrs. Claude Tomleson and Roy Miles and families were Lamesa visitors Friday.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. J. B. Miles is improving so fast. Mr. Therman Wells and family accompanied by Lois and Charley Wells attended the funeral services of Leslie White, Friday.

Messrs. Clark and Doc Beach were Slaton visitors Sunday.

Rev. G. W. Shearer, of Lubbock, filled the pulpit here Wednesday night.

A number of people from here attended the Chautauqua at Tahoka last week.

A party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Deuroe Randall Saturday night in honor of Miss Bess Belbo who will leave soon for Lamesa to attend school. There was a large crowd present and everyone had a nice time. We are very glad to have Mrs. Raymond Weathers with us again.

Trade at home.

105,683,108 PEOPLE IN UNITED STATES

INCREASE OF 13,710,842, OR 14.9 PER CENT, WITHIN LAST TEN YEARS

FARM STATISTICS ALSO GIVEN

Total of 6,459,998 for Entire Country. While Texas Has 435,666. Oklahoma 191,791.

Washington.—In the announcement of the population of continental United States as 105,683,108, a gain of 13,710,842, or 14.9 per cent, Texas holds fifth place in the rank of states, the same as ten years ago. The states leading Texas are in order named—New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio, which has been their position for twenty years. New York, with more than 10,000,000, and Nevada with 77,407, are the largest and the smallest states in point of population. Oklahoma, which ranked twenty-third ten years ago, now ranks twenty-fifth.

The number of farms in the United States, according to a bulletin just issued, is 6,459,998, an increase of 98,469, or 1.5 per cent. A farm for census purpose is all the land directly farmed by one person, either by his own labor or that of his family and hired help. The greatest number of farms is recorded for Texas, which is 435,666, a gain of 17,972, or 4.3 per cent compared with ten years ago and an increase of 93,476 compared with 1900.

Oklahoma's farms number 191,791, an increase of 8 per cent, compared with a 76 per cent for the previous ten years. Other southwestern states: Arkansas 32,602, increase of 8 per cent; Louisiana 135,455, increase of 12 per cent; New Mexico 29,841, a loss of 16 per cent.

Lamar leads Texas counties in the number of farms, being 6,831. Other large farming counties and the number of their farms are as follows:

Anderson 4,400, Bastrop 3,325, Brazos 3,023, Caldwell 3,364, Cass 5,355, Cherokee 5,650, Collin 6,001, Dallas 5,379, Denton 4,200, Ellis 5,774, Falls 5,194, Fannin 6,338, Galveston 723, Grayson 5,569, Harrison 5,789, Hunt 5,135, McLennan 5,709, Navarro 6,293, Red River 5,832, Resk 5,059, Tarrant 3,336 and Van Zandt 5,148.

Galveston county shows a reduction in the number of farms compared with the figures for the last thirty years. In 1900 its number of farms was 832, ten years ago 947 and this year 723.

Harris county shows an increase of 1,987 in 1900, 2,543 ten years ago and 2,827 this year.

VAN ZANDT AGAIN HEADS CONFEDERATE VETERANS

Houston, Texas.—General K. M. Van Zandt of Fort Worth was unanimously re-elected by acclamation and without opposition, commander in chief of the United States Confederate Veterans at the meeting Thursday afternoon, despite his expressions to the effect that he did not care to continue in the office.

Following his election General Van Zandt appointed general A. B. Booth of New Orleans, adjutant general and chief of staff.

Among the resolutions adopted was one thanking governor Robertson of Oklahoma for his message to the association. Another asked the federal government to return the cotton tax alleged to have been illegally collected immediately following the close of the war. Still another provided that in the future there shall be one sponsor, three maids of honor, one matron of honor and one chaperon from the association and from each corps, division and brigade. This eliminates camps and companies from sending official ladies to the reunions. The respective heads will designate the official ladies. It was further stipulated that the official ladies must be lineal descendants of confederate veterans.

One resolution adopted committed the association to small pensions for old negroes who served with the confederate army. The states are asked to make these allowances for faithful negroes.

REDS ARE CRUSHED IN SOUTHERN RUSSIA

Constantinople.—The bolshevik regime in South Russia appears, from reports reaching here, to have suffered heavily from the blows inflicted upon it by the forces of generals Wrangel and Makno Kharkov and Rostov.

Russian observers of the situation express expectations that Odessa will fall into the hands of the insurgents and that Kiev will likewise fall.

East and West Texas Highway. Rockdale, Texas.—H. C. Meyer, chairman of the recently organized east and west Texas highway association, has called a meeting to be held in Rockdale, Tuesday Oct. 19.

Galveston Wheat Exports. Galveston, Texas.—Wheat exports from the port of Galveston during the month of September reached a total of 7,759,355.26 bushels, compared with 2,042,743 bushels for the same month last year.

TEXAS' POPULATION GAINS 19.6 PER CENT

LARGEST INCREASE SHOWN IN SECTION CONTAINING THE BIG CITIES

Washington.—The gain of 19.6 per cent in the population growth of Texas during the last ten years, is somewhat disappointing to some of those who have been in touch with the state's progress in recent years. The total population as announced by the bureau of census is 4,661,027, a gain of 764,485. For the previous ten years the state grew 847,832, or 27.8 per cent.

Unofficial estimates of the Texas population this year gave it about 4,750,000, yet there is some disappointment that the figures did not go as high as 5,000,000. This was based upon the indicated growth of the six large centers in the state. Such growth, was offset by the decrease in the county populations.

Unless the state of Ohio shows a material decline in its census Texas will hold its rank as fifth state of the union.

The figures of New York, announced permit it to hold first place. Its increase of 13.9 per cent, or a total of more than a million and a quarter, was largely accounted for in the increase of greater New York or more than 800,000.

Pennsylvania, yet to be announced, it is thought will permit it to retain second place. The figures for Illinois, already announced, give it third place, and, as stated, unless Ohio shows a material reduction it will hold fourth place in the list of states, thus permitting Texas to remain fifth.

The question of new apportionments for members of congress will be dealt with as soon as the total population of the country is completed. There is considerable sentiment against increasing the present number of the house of representatives, which is 435. If this obtains, on the basis of the unofficial figures for the country of 105,000,000, the number of population required for each member of the house would be about 243,000, which would give Texas nineteen members of the house, in place of eighteen as at present.

EMERGENCY POLL TAX IS FOR 1919

Austin, Texas.—Comptroller Wigginton is flooded with telegraphic inquiries from tax collectors asking if poll tax receipts issued under the law enacted last Saturday should bear the 1919 or 1920 date.

Mr. Wigginton is answering that they are of the 1919 class and entitle holders to vote in elections between now and February 1, 1921.

Poll tax receipts of 1920 do not permit the holder to vote in elections prior to Feb. 1, 1921.

The 1920 poll taxes are those that are being regularly paid between Oct. 1, 1920, and Feb. 1, 1921, and entitle holders to vote after the latter date.

These being issued in emergency must be paid prior to Oct. 22, 1920, in order that holders may vote in the general election on Nov. 2, 1920.

Defective Planes Cost Many Lives

Washington.—The postoffice department has made an explanation of many deaths occurring among the mail pilots, most of whom were burned to death in all-metal planes. Experts of the department declare that these fires which proved fatal to the fliers and ruined the planes were the result principally of a defective gasoline feed system. There was no provision for ventilating the fuselage, the department declared, and no drain to carry off gasoline which leaked.

WARNING ISSUED; TWO GINS BURNED

Ginners Told to Stop Running Until Cotton Goes to 40c a Pound.

Stamford, Texas.—Following a warning that the gin would be burned unless it closed down till the price of cotton reached 40c, the Lueders plant was destroyed by fire Monday night, according to a telegram received here. This is the second gin in the county that has been destroyed by fire in the last three days, after warning had been issued by unknown persons that they "must cease operation until cotton reached 40c." The other gin was at Anson.

Citizens are much incensed and all gins in the county will be watched carefully to avoid further losses.

Rural Children Especially Invited.

Dallas.—Children of the rural districts of Texas will be sent special invitations to attend the State Fair on Children's Day, Friday, Oct. 15.

Veterans Assemble for Reunion.

Houston, Texas.—While no accurate check on the number of visitors can be kept it is thought by Mayor A. E. Amerman, general chairman of the reunion committee, that several thousand have already arrived in Houston to attend the confederate reunion which begins this week. General K. M. Van Zandt of Fort Worth commander in chief of the United Confederate Veterans, arrived here on a special train Monday afternoon, accompanied by his staff.

PRESIDENT APPEALS TO HIS COUNTRYMEN

DENOUNCES CHARGES THAT HE MAY BE LED INTO WAR BY ARTICLE 10

Washington.—President Wilson in his first campaign appealed made directly to the people, urged the endorsement of the league of nations issue at the election and declared "the whole world will wait for your verdict in November as it would wait for an intimation of what its future is to be."

The president characterized as "absolutely false" assertion that Art. 10 of the league covenant would make it possible for other nations to lead the United States into war. There was nothing in the covenant, he said, "which in the least interferes with or impairs the right of congress to declare war or not declare war, according to its own independent judgment, as our constitution provides."

"My fellow-countrymen" was the president's method of addressing his communication to the people. It contained no mention of presidential candidates by name, but was confined to a brief defense of Art. 10, and a criticism of those who he declared had "grossly misled" the people with regard to the treaty.

The president said that those who had spent their lives, as he had, "in familiarizing themselves with the history and traditions and policies of the nation must stand amazed at the gross ignorance and impudent audacity which has led them to attempt to invent an 'Americanism,' which has no foundation whatever in any of the authentic traditions of the government."

"The chief question that is put to you is, of course, this: Do you want your country's honor vindicated and the treaty of Versailles ratified? Do you in particular approve of the league of nations as organized and empowered in that treaty? And do you wish to see the United States play its responsible part in it?"

"Americanism as they conceive it reverses the whole process of the last few tragical years. It would substitute America for Prussia in the policy of isolation and defiant segregation."

"Why should we be afraid of responsibilities which we are qualified to sustain, and which the whole of our history has constituted a promise to the world we would sustain?"

"Those who do not care to tell you the truth about the league of nations tell you that Art. 10 of the covenant of the league would make it possible for other nations to lead us into war, whether we willed it by our own independent judgment or not. This is absolutely false. There is nothing in the covenant which in the least interferes with or impairs the right of congress to declare war or not declare war according to its own independent judgment, as our constitution provides."

"The whole world will wait for your verdict in November as it would wait for an intimation of what its future is to be."

OIL PRODUCTION SHOWS SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE

Total Yield for United States in August: 39,144,000 Barrels.

Washington.—Domestic production of crude oil, according to a statement issued by the United States geological survey, for the month of August continued to increase and amounted to 39,144,000 barrels, being an increase of 595,000 barrels compared with the production in June of this year.

Imports of petroleum during August amounted to more than 10,000,000 barrels, which is the largest quantity ever brought into the country in any one month, being more than 4,000,000 barrels greater than imports in July.

Condemn Stand on Cotton Loans.

Atlanta, Ga.—After adopting resolutions condemning the policy of Secretary of the Treasury Houston toward loans for holding cotton, and urging all farmers to hold their products for a "fair price," cotton men, bankers, merchants and others in mass meeting here appointed a committee of nine to take the matter up with heads of all farm organizations.

Germany Can Not Pay Debt

Berlin.—Speaking before the German national party at Hamburg, Karl von Helfferich declared it extremely improbable that the government's estimates of revenue for the year will be realized and added that there was still a deficit of 56,000,000,000 marks. "Our indebtedness," he said "is growing like an avalanche. Germany can not pay. No people can pay these billions."

Strike of Miners Ends.

Fort Worth, Texas.—The strike of bituminous coal miners in Texas has ended. Miners at Strawn, Thurber Bridgeport and Lyra voted to accept the offer of the operators of an increase of 25c per ton. Over 1,000 miners are affected by the vote. Members of the operators and miners' conference that was held here Saturday carried the proposition to the miners in the field. Another conference will be held here to work out some minor details.

REDUCTION IS SEEN IN NATIONAL DEBT

WAS $200,000,000 LESS ON SEPT 23 THAN IT WAS ON JUNE 30, 1920 RECORDS SHOW

Washington.—The amount of the national debt, in an announcement by secretary Houston of the treasury department, on Sept 23 was $24,101,110,911. This is a reduction of nearly $200,000,000 since June 30, the close of the government's fiscal year.

In this connection the foreign debt to the United States, or what the foreign governments owe us as a result of war operations, amounts to $9,450,551.61. The United States originally advanced to nations this amount plus $114,500,000, which has been repaid. During the war period the world, save the United States, was on the verge of going broke. The United States was one of the few nations that had cash on hand, and plenty of it, and was willing to spend it to advance the fortunes of humanity.

The heaviest borrower was Great Britain, to which government we advanced $4,277,000,000. They have repaid $80,181,641. France got $2,987,477,800, and has repaid about $32,000,000. Belgium received $349,214,467, and has paid back but $10,000. Serbia is down for $26,780,465, of which $605,226 has been returned, while Roumania has returned to the United States treasury $1,794,180 of the $25,000,000 she received. Cuba got $10,000,000, and still owes $9,500,000. Italy down for $1,631,338,986, Russia for $187,729,750, Czechoslovakia for $60,524,641. Greece for $10,000,000 and Liberia for $26,000, still owe those amounts. A very large percentage of the money was expended by the government; in this country and remained at home, so to speak.

Practically all of the money was loaned at 5 per cent.

CAN NOT LET RUSSIA JOIN GERMAN UNION

Allies to Enforce Treaty Regardless of Result of Plebiscite.

Paris.—"Important measures" are to be taken to enforce the terms of the treaties with Germany and Austria and prevent a union between those nations, should the proposed Austrian plebiscite decide in favor of the project, according to the foreign office. (The Austrian national assembly on Oct. 1 adopted unanimously a motion calling on the government to carry out within six weeks a plebiscite on the union of Austria and Germany.)

Both Art. 8 of the Versailles treaty and Art. 88 of the St. Germain treaty provide that Austria's "independence shall be inalienable, except with the consent of the council of the league of nations," and Germany is obligated to respect Austria's boundaries as defined in the peace treaty. There has been no suggestion, it is pointed out, that the league of nations would approve a union of Austria and Germany.

Art. 88 of the St. Germain treaty also says: "Austria obligates herself to abstain, unless with the consent of the council of the league, from any act tending to compromise her independence directly or indirectly," and particularly "by participation in the affairs of another power."

THE AMERICAN PARTY CANDIDATES NOT BARRED

Judge Graves Decides Candidates Entitled to Place on Ticket.

Austin, Texas.—American party nominees for public office in Texas will be allowed positions on the official ballot in November elections, according to a decision rendered by Judge Ireland Graves in the twenty-sixth district court of Travis county.

Maintaining that the American party did not legally constitute a political organization, A. T. Morris of Bastrop county sought permanently to enjoin secretary of state C. D. Mims from certifying the party's nominees on the ballot.

The application was filed last week, at which time Judge Graves granted a temporary injunction and set the case for hearing Monday. When Judge Graves' decision was made known, attorneys for the appellant filed notice of appeal.

Chicago, Ill.—The United States circuit court of appeals handed down a decision upholding the conviction of William D. Hayward and ninety-three I. W. W., who were found guilty and sentenced to Leavenworth for obstructing the draft law during the war. Two counts were thrown out by the appellate court, but in all others the decision of the lower court was affirmed. Defendants have been taken into custody and sent to Leavenworth.

MILK AND MEAT AS RIVALS PROVED TRUE TO

Rising Prices May Yet Force People to Turn to the Fluid to Sustain Life.

Fair Autoist Had Said Back Promptly, with HA Even More.

As the price of meat soars upward, many people are forced to be part-time vegetarians. Thus the old question, "Is meat essential to human well-being?" arises again. The committee on food and nutrition of the National Research Council has issued an interesting report on the relative value of meat and milk.

Eighteen per cent of the protein and energy of grain used in feeding a cow goes into the milk, and is therefore recovered for human consumption; whereas only 3 1/2 per cent is recovered in beef. As for the mineral elements in hay and grain, not much is stored in the tissues, but a great amount goes into milk.

ANDREW BOWERS.

Stuart Webster, mining engineer, boards a train in Death Valley, California, on his way back to civilization after cleaning up a job. But he looks like a hobo. He meets a distressed lady, who makes the offering man. He wonders what he is and also why she does not take advantage of his opportunity. But he just has to find out that she is Dolores Riey. Denver he is offered a $5,000-a-month job by a capitalist friend, Ed. Jerome. He receives a letter from his own particular Billy Geary, asking him to finance a gold-mining proposition in Central America and go with him on the profits. He starts for Sobrante, Jerome is with John to the desert. They find the distressed lady on her way to the same train. John lifts his hat, but gets the cut direct from the girl, who does not recognize him. John tells Jerome the whole story. Jerome secretly sees the girl, offers her $50,000. She tells John to take his job inside ninety days. The girl accepts a scene now shifts to Buenaventura, Sobrante, where Geary, on a ship, is eating his heart out for a cablegram from his mother. He has existed for months on credit extended by other Jenks, keeper of a hotel in San Francisco. Dolores cables her mother (Mother Jenks) that she is on her way to visit her. Other Jenks has been educating Dolores, who is the daughter of a former President Riey. She is posed and executed by President Sarrus. Mother Jenks doesn't want Dolores to find out she is no longer respectable. So Billy meets a steamer and tries to turn the girl back. But Dolores lands and tells Mother Jenks as "Mother." She promptly falls in love with Dolores. Webster in New Orleans secures a stateroom on La Estrella by buying a ticket for a mythical valet. In New Orleans Webster saves a young man from assassination. At the steamer he finds the mythical valet is a reality.

re released Pucker-eye, made his way through the crowd to his room, as a reward in, saw that his baggage was gone, and walked around on the starboard side to join in the general fare of all on board to the crowd on the shore end of the gangplank. Pucker-eye and Pop-eye still waited, down the unfortunate Pucker-eye was weeping with pain and futile rage and huddled Webster, but Webster noticed that the girl's attention was not on his huddled but upon each passenger that stepped on the ship, of which there were several hundred of late arrivals. As a passenger approached, Pop-eye nudged him with more than casual inking the girl. Webster smiled. "Looking for that huddled they heard me talking about," he heard. "Pop-eye, you're a fine, fine lad. I thought you had the huddled of the two. You're not going to huddle until you've had a chance to size the reinforcements at my command, are you?" He lit a cigar and leaned over the rail as the steamer, gathering speed, swept down river. "Good-by, you golden fizz and Ken gumbo," he called, as the city faded and the low, wooded shores of the city came into view. When he had finished his cigar he stepped overboard, watched it disappear astern, and then stepped in and closed the door a culine voice said very pleasantly: "How do you do?" Mr. Webster looked up and beheld a young man, arrayed in a very fancy of light blue silk pajamas, seated at his ease in the upper berth. John Stuart Webster stared at the stranger for several seconds and concluded he was invading the sanctity of his stateroom. "Excuse me," he said. "I guess I'm in the right church the wrong pew," and he stepped and looked for the number on the door. To his surprise it was No. 34, after all, so he stepped back into stateroom and favored the stranger with another scrutiny. "Does appear to me, my friend," said presently, "that I detect something strangely familiar about your pajamas." Webster. I found them in your case." "I'll be silent of perhaps half a minute." "I don't dislike to appear inquisitive," Webster began, "but the fact is, neighbor, I'm curious to know where you got that book. I observe you are reading Samuel Butler's 'Way of All Flesh,' and that the book is slightly damaged. Recently I purchased such a book in—"

suitcase has proved to be a repository of treasures." John Stuart Webster's neck came out of his collar with the suddenness of a turtle snapping at a fly; he drew himself up beside the top berth until his face was on a level with his unbidden guest's, upon whom he bent a look of mingled emotions. "Who the devil are you?" he demanded. "I regret I have no card, but even if I had it would be no kindness to inflict upon an American gentleman the cognomen my parents honored me with, for it is long and many-jointed, like a peanut, and embodies the names of all the saints in the calendar. Moreover, just at present I am traveling under an alias. I am known as Mr. Andrew Bowers." "And your occupation?" Webster managed to articulate. "Valet de chambre to that prince of gentlemen, Mr. John S. Webster," the other replied with a mischievous gleam in his dark eyes. Mr. Webster sat down limply on the settee. He was undecided whether to roar with laughter or shriek with rage; while he struggled for a decision Andrew Bowers blew smoke rings at the ceiling. "Haven't I seen you before?" Webster queried presently. "I wouldn't be surprised. I drove you down to the steamer in a taxi half an hour ago. You will recall that the taxi driver carried your luggage aboard." Webster gazed around the stateroom. "Where have you hidden your livery?" he demanded. "I wrapped it in a newspaper; then, seeking a moment when the deck outside was deserted, I stepped forth in my—I beg your pardon, your—pajamas and tossed it overboard." "But apparently you did not bring aboard with you a suit of clothes to take the place of your livery?" "Quite true—lamentably so, Mr. Webster. Perhaps you will accept my desperate need as an excuse for borrowing your pajamas. I notice you have another suit of them. Fortunate man!" Andrew Bowers was a man of perhaps thirty years, five feet ten inches tall, and apparently in excellent health. He might have weighed a hundred and seventy pounds and he was undeniably handsome. While Webster was wondering whether his companion was merely a high-class tramp or an absconding bank cashier, a knock sounded on the stateroom door. He opened it and the purser stood in the entrance. "Ticket, please?" he announced. Webster surrendered both tickets, receiving in turn two seat checks for the dining saloon, and the purser passed on to the next cabin. Andrew Bowers smiled a small, pleasant smile, but said nothing, and presently John Stuart Webster broke the silence. "Well," he ordered, "sing the song or tell the story." "I noticed you surrendered my ticket to the purser," the young man answered irreverently, "and I am glad of that. I take it as prima facie evidence that you have made up your mind to accept my company." "You're too infernally cool and cocksure, my friend," Webster warned him testily. "I pride myself on a sense of humor and I dearly love a joke until it's carried too far, but be advised in time, young man, and don't try to play horse with me. My acceptance or non-acceptance of you is a subject for future discussion, since at present we have some fiduciary matters before us. You owe me fifty dollars for your ticket, Andrew Bowers, and in view of the fact that I never saw you before today, suppose we start the voyage by squaring the account." Andrew Bowers sat up in the berth and let his legs drape over the side. "Mr. Webster," he began seriously, "if, prior to the arrival of the purser to collect the tickets, you had handed my ticket to me, say, 'Here is your ticket, Mr. Bowers. Be kind enough to reimburse me to the extent of fifty dollars,' I should have been compelled to admit them, as I do now, that I haven't fifty dollars. Fortunately for me, however, you surrendered the ticket to the purser before acquainting yourself with the state of my fortunes; the voyage has commenced and whether you like it or not, my dear sir, I am your guest from now until we reach San Buenaventura. Rather an interesting situation, don't you think?" John Stuart Webster was of Scotch ancestry. He had a hereditary regard for baubles. He was a business man. Prodigal spender though he was and generous to a fault, the fact remained that he always made it a point to get value received, and he was prodigal with his own money; he preferred that the privilege of prodigality with the Websterian funds should remain an inalienable prerogative of the sole surviving member of the Webster family.

"I think you're too cool, young man," Webster retorted. "Just a trifle too cocksure. Up to the present moment you have proffered no evidence why you should not be adjudged a cad, and I do not like cads and must decline to permit one to occupy the same stateroom at my expense. You are clever and amusing and I laughed at you but at the same time my sense of humor is not so great as to cause me to overlook your impudence and laugh with you. Now, if you have anything to say, say it quickly, because you're going to go away from here—in a hurry." "I plead guilty to the indictment, Mr. Webster, and submit as an excuse the fact that desperate circumstances require desperate measures. I am not begging my way, neither am I beating it, for the reason that both forms of travel are repugnant to me. I am merely taking advantage of certain fortuitous circumstances to force you, an entire stranger, to extend to me a credit of fifty dollars until we reach San Buenaventura, when you will be promptly reimbursed." "It is not my habit," Webster retorted stiffly, "to extend credit to strangers who demand it." "I do not demand it, sir. I beg it of you, and because I cannot afford to be refused I took care to arrange matters so that you would not be likely to refuse my request. Really, I do not mean to be cocksure and impudent, but before you throw me out I'd like to let you in on a secret about yourself." "Well?" "You're not going to throw me out." "Why not?" "Because you can't." "That's fighting talk. Now, just to prove to you the depth of error in which you flounder, young man, I am about to throw you out." And he grasped Andrew Bowers in the grip of a grizzly bear and whisked him out of the top berth. "Wait one second," his helpless victim cried. "I have something to say before you go any further." "Say it," Webster ordered. "Your tongue is the only part of you that I cannot control." "When you throw me out on deck," Andrew Bowers queried, "do your pajamas go with me? Does the hair go with the hide?" "They cost me sixteen dollars in Salt Lake City, but—good lord, yes. I can't throw you out mother naked; d—n it, I can't throw you out at all." "Didn't I tell you so? Be a good fellow and turn me loose." "Certainly—for the time being. You'll stay locked in this stateroom while I have a talk with the captain. He'll probably dig up a shirt, a pair of dungarees and some old shoes for you and set you ashore before we get out of the river. If he doesn't do that he'll keep you aboard and you'll shovel coal for your passage." "But I'm Andrew Bowers and the purser has collected my first-class ticket!" "What of it? I shall declare—and with truth—that you are not Andrew Bowers, that you are not my valet, and that I did not buy the ticket for you. I dare you to face the captain in my pajamas and prove you aren't a stowaway." "You would win on that point," the baffling guest admitted, "but it is a point you will not raise. Why? Because I have another trump up my kimono." He climbed back into the upper berth and from that vantage point gazed down benevolently upon John Stuart Webster. "I'm disappointed in you," he continued sadly. "I thought you'd show a little normal human curiosity about me—and you haven't. You do not ask questions or I could explain, while I cannot volunteer information without seeming to seek your pity, and that of course would be repugnant to me. I am hoping you will accept my word of honor that you shall be reimbursed two hours after you land in San Buenaventura." "New music to your song, my friend, but the same old words," Webster retorted, and stepped to the stateroom door. "You're doomed to shovel coal or go ashore." "Listen, if I go ashore, your responsibility for my life ceases, Mr. Webster, but if the chief engineer happens to be short one coal-passer and the captain sends me down to the stoke-hole, your responsibility for my death begins, for I'll be put ashore publicly at San Buenaventura and two hours later I'll be facing a firing squad in the cemetery at the Cathedral de la Vera Cruz." "Gosh," John Stuart Webster murmured dazedly, "I'm afraid I can't take a chance like that for fifty dollars. I'm whipped to a frazzle. Any time I'm sitting in back of a royal flush and the other fellow bluffs me out of the pot, I always buy the wine. When it arrives we shall drink to our better acquaintance. Pending its arrival, please be advised that you are welcome to my pajamas, my cigarettes, my book and my stateroom. You are my guest and you owe me nothing, except, perhaps, your confidence, although I do not insist upon that point. Where I come from every man kills his own snakes." And he held up his hand for Andrew Bowers to shake. "Mr. Webster," the latter declared feelingly, "I am not a lord of language, so I cannot find words to thank you. I agree with you that you are entitled to my confidence. My name is—"

"Tut, tut, my boy. Your name is Andrew Bowers, and that identifies you sufficiently for the time being. When I suggested that I was entitled to a measure of your confidence, I meant on a few minor points only—points on which my curiosity has been abnormally aroused." "Very well, my friend. Fire away." "Are you an American citizen?" "No, I am a citizen of Sobrante." "You had no money to pay for your passage to San Buenaventura so you schemed to make me pay your way. Hence I take it that your presence in the capital of your native country is a matter of extreme importance and that the clerk in the ticket office of the Caribbean Mail line is a friend of yours." "Quite true. He knew my need." "You were under surveillance and could not leave New Orleans for San Buenaventura unless you left secretly. When I purchased both berths in this stateroom and the ticket clerk knew I held a first-class ticket for a valet that was not, he decided to saw off on me a valet that was. Disguised in the livery of a chauffeur and carrying hand baggage you hoped to get aboard without being detected by your enemies who watched the gangplank." Andrew Bowers nodded. "Do you think you succeeded?" Webster continued. "I do not know, Mr. Webster. I hope so. If I did not—well, the instant this steamer drops anchor in the roadstead at San Buenaventura, she will be boarded and searched by the military police. I will be discovered and—" He shrugged. "Lawn party in the cemetery eh?" Webster suggested. Andrew Bowers reached under his pillow and produced two heavy automatic pistols and a leather box containing five clips of cartridges. These he exhibited in silence and then thrust them back under the pillow. "I see, Andrew. In case you're cornered, eh? Well, I think I would prefer to die fighting myself." "I'm not worried, Mr. Webster. Somehow, I think I ran the gangster safely." "But why did you throw your livery overboard?" "It was of no further use to me." "But you'll have to have some clothes in which to go ashore, you amazing man." "Not at all. The steamer will arrive in the harbor of San Buenaventura late in the afternoon—too late to be given pratique that day. After dark I shall drop overboard and endeavor to swim ashore, and in view of that plain clothes would only prove an embarrassment. I shall land in my own country naked and penniless, but once ashore I shall quickly find shelter. I'll have to risk the sharks, of course." "Man-eaters?" "The bay is swarming with them." "You're breaking my heart," Webster declared sympathetically. "I suppose you're going to feign illness throughout the voyage." "Not the kind of illness that will interfere with my appetite. I have prescribed for myself a mild attack of inflammatory rheumatism, as an excuse for remaining in bed and having my meals brought to me. This service, of course, will necessitate some slight expense in the way of tips, but I am hoping you will see your way clear to taking care of that for your guest." Silently Webster handed Andrew Bowers ten dollars in silver. "That ought to hold you," he declared. "For the rest, you're up to some political skullduggery in Sobrante, and what it is and what's your real name are two subjects in which I am not interested. Let it be understood that you are my valet, Andrew Bowers. That's all I know about you and that's all I care to know about you. In fact, the less I know about you the less will I have to explain in the event of your sudden demise." "Fair enough," quoth Andrew Bowers. "You're a man after my own heart. I thank you." CHAPTER IX. Prior to leaving New Orleans, Webster had cabled Billy Geary that he was taking passage on La Estrella and stating the approximate date of his arrival at San Buenaventura—which information descended upon that young man with something of the charm of a gentle rainfall over a hitherto arid district. He had been seeing Dolores Riey at least once a day ever since her return to Sobrante. He was quick, therefore, to seize upon Webster's cablegram as an excuse to call upon Dolores and explain the mystery surrounding his friend's nonappearance. "Well, Dolores," he began, in his excitement calling her by her first name for the first time, "I've heard from Jack Webster."

"What's the news, Bill?" Dolores inquired. From the first day of their acquaintance she had been growing increasingly fond of Geary; for nearly a week she had been desirous of calling him Bill, which is a comfortable name and, to Dolores' way of thinking, a peculiarly appropriate cognomen for such a distinctly American young man. At mention of the beloved word she glanced down at her pleasantly. "Thank you," he said. "I'm glad you got around to it finally. Those that love me always call me Bill." "You called me Dolores." "I move we make it unanimous. I'm a foe to formality." "Second the motion, Bill. So am I—when I care to be—and in our case your formality is spelling our comradeship. And now, with reference to the extraordinary Senator Webster—" "Why, the poor old horse has been down with ptomaine poisoning. They carried him off the train at St. Louis and stood him on his head and pumped him out, and just did manage to cancel his order for a new tombstone. He says he's feeling regularly again and has booked passage on La Estrella, so we can look for him on the next steamer arriving." "Oh, the poor fellow!" Dolores murmured—so fervently that Billy was on the point of hurling his heart at her feet on the instant. The thousand dollars Webster had cabled Billy "to a road-stake" had been dwindling rapidly under the stimulus of one contagious opportunity to spend the same in a quarter where it was calculated to bring the most joy. Mr. Geary was absolutely bogged in the quagmire of his first love affair, but until his mining concession should amply justify an avowal of his passion, an instinctive sense of the eternal fitness of things reminded Billy of the old proverb that a closed mouth catches no flies. And in the meantime (such is the optimism of youth) he decided there was no need for worry, for when a girl calls a fellow Bill, when she tells him he's a scout and doesn't care a whoop for any society except his—caramba! it's great! A wireless from Webster warned Billy of the former's imminent arrival. Just before sunset Billy and Dolores, riding along the Malecon, sighted a blur of smoke far out to sea—a blur that grew and grew until they could make out the graceful white hull of La Estrella, before the swift tropic night descended and the lights of the great vessel shimmered across the harbor. "Too late to clear quarantine tonight," Billy mourned, as he and Dolores rode back to her hotel. "All the same, I'm going to borrow the launch of my good friend Leber and his protégé Don Juan Cafetero, and go out to the steamer tonight. I can leave to a little way from the steamer and welcome the old rascal, anyhow." Fortunately, good little Leber consented to Billy's request, and Don Juan Cafetero was sober enough to turn the engine over and run the launch. From the deck of the steamer Webster, smoking his post-prandial cigar, caught sight of the launch's red and green sidelights chugging through the inky blackness; as the little craft slid up to within a cable's length of the steamer and hove to, something told Webster that Billy Geary would soon be paging him. He edged over to the rail. "That you, Bill?" he shouted. "Hey! Jack, old pal!" Billy's delighted voice answered him. "I knew you'd come, Billy boy." "I knew you'd know it, Johnny. Can't come aboard, you know, until the ship clears, but I can lie off here and say hello. How is your internal mechanism?" "Grand. However, your query reminds me I haven't taken the medicine the doctor warned me to take after meals for a couple of weeks. Wait a minute, Bill, until I go to my stateroom and do my duty to my stomach." For ten minutes Billy and Don Juan Cafetero bobbed about in the launch; then a stentorian voice shouted from the steamer. "Hey, you! In the launch, there. Not so close. Back off." Don Juan kicked the launch back fifty feet. "That will do!" the voice called again. "Hello!" Billy soliloquized. "That's Jack Webster's voice. Wonder what he's up to. I thought he acted strangely—preferring medicine to me the minute I hailed him!"

SHOULD ENFORCE SIDEWALK ORDINANCE

An ordinance was recently passed by the City, prohibiting the obstructing of sidewalks in Tahoka, by placing goods boxes and other junk on the walks. This ordinance is being violated every day in the week. It is practically impossible for one to proceed down the street without angling around some obstacle. Why have a law that is not enforced? Lets clear off the walks from in front of all business houses and give the town a better appearance to strangers within our gates. It is likely that someone will stumble over a bunch of junk one of these days and enter suit for injuries received. Clear off the sidewalks.

The News received a shipment of type this week and expects to continue to give the people of Lynn County the same good service it has heretofore given. We will also soon receive a larger newspaper press than we now have, which will enable us to issue the paper more promptly and with less amount of labor. The paper has received a nice patronage during the past few months and it is the intention of the management to install a sufficient amount of modern machinery to take care of the needs of the county in the printing line.

Editor Smith, of the Lamesa reporter, is now learning the mysteries of operating a linotype machine. From the tone of his article, directly under a cut of the machine in his periodical, we judge our brother to the south has had a change to improve his curse vocabulary since the installment of this wonderful piece of mechanism. Luck to you Smith, we expect to go through the same paths of trouble before many months have come and gone.

The potash prospects in Lynn county are coming to the front with each day that goes by. Rumors are afloat that a big factory will be established here and give employment to hundreds of men. The News is wide awake to the situation and will in time give out some real good information along this line.

Why not have a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and render the service for which it is intended? Its members are a live wire set of business and professional men and great things could be accomplished with a get-together meeting now and then. Boost the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce.

CAUGHT BY JUICY BIG WORDS

"Si-mul-ta-ne-ously" Had More Effect on Yacht Waiter Than Fat Tip Would Have.

The caterer who fed the reporters three times a day on the destroyer Goldsborough at the cup races had a staff of negro waiters, one of whom had a weakness for words, strange words, remarks the New York Evening Sun. Reporters warned to seek him out and win his favor by bringing him "whoppers."

"Unctuous" must be that waiter's name. For unctuous he was as he brought the breakfast milk—"cream," he called it optimistically.

"Yoh kin have all de cream, yo wants, ge'men," he said, and some mistook the quality of his soul and offered him money. Naturally he took it. And he boomed a thunderous thanks that called the attention of all diners and compelled them likewise to offer him money.

But the waiting soul of Unctuous really flowered only when he heard a gigantic word. Solemnly one reporter came in and standing ceremoniously with a hand on the back of his chair before sitting down looked straight at Unctuous and as one intoning a formal greeting slowly gave vent to the single word, "simultaneously."

"Si-mul-ta-ne-ously," repeated Unctuous, catching it perfectly and separating each syllable with reversed pomp. "Si-mul-ta-ne-ously," he kept murmuring as he bustled exclusively about the man who had brought him the new word gem.

Notice of Road Bond Election

The State of Texas,

County of Lynn.

To the residence property tax paying voters of Lynn County, Texas:

TAKE NOTICE, that an election will be held on the 2nd day of November, A. D. 1920, within Lynn County, Texas, to determine if said County shall issue bonds and if a tax shall be levied in payment thereof, in obedience to an election ordered, entered by the Commissioner's Court on the 13th day of September, 1920 which is as follows:

"On this, the 13th. day of September A. D. 1920, the Commissioners Court of Lynn County, Texas, convened in regular session, at the regular meeting place, thereof in the court house at Tahoka, Texas, all members of the court to-wit:

C. H. Cain, County Judge,
J. I. Bartley, Commissioner of Precinct No. 1,

H. W. Callaway, Commissioner of Precinct No. 2,

C. H. Doak, Commissioner of Precinct No. 3,

E. G. George, Commissioner of Precinct No. 4.

being present, came on to be considered the petition of W. B. Slaton and 67 other persons, praying that bonds be issued by said Lynn County in the sum of sixty-thousand ($60,000.00) dollars, bearing five and one-half per cent rate of interest, maturing at such times as may be fixed by the Commissioners Court, serially or otherwise, not to exceed thirty years from the date thereof for the purpose of constructing, maintaining and operating macadamized-graveled or paved roads and turnpikes, or in aid thereof, and whether or not a tax shall be levied upon the property of said County, subject to taxation, for the purpose of paying the interest on said bonds and to provide a sinking fund for the redemption thereof at maturity; and,

It appearing to the court that said petition is signed by more than fifty of the resident property tax-paying voters of said Lynn County; and,

It further appearing that the amount of bonds to be issued will not exceed one-fourth of the assessed valuation of the real property of said Lynn County;

It is therefore considered and ordered by the court that an election be held in said County on the 2nd day of Nov. A. D. 1920, which is not less than thirty days from the date of this order, to determine whether or not the bonds of said County shall be issued in the amount of sixty thousand ($60,000.00) dollars, bearing five and one-half per cent rate of interest, and maturing at such times as may be fixed by the Commissioners Court, serially or otherwise, not to exceed thirty years from the date thereof; and whether or not a tax shall be levied upon the property of said County, subject to taxation, for the purpose of paying the interest on said bonds and to provide a sinking fund for the redemption thereof at maturity.

The said election shall be held under the provisions of Article 627 to 641, inclusive, of Chapter 2, Title 18, Revised Statutes, 1911, as amended by Section 1, Chapter 203, Acts 1917, Regular Session.

All persons who are legally qualified voters of this State and of this County, and who are resident property tax-payers in this County, shall be entitled to vote in said election, and all voters desiring to support the proposition to issue the bonds shall have written or printed on their ballots the words:

"For the issuance of bonds and the levy of the tax in payment thereof." And those opposed shall have written or printed on their ballots the words: "Against the issuance of the bonds and the levy of the tax in payment thereof."

The polling places and presiding officers of said election shall be respectively as follows:

At the courthouse of Lynn County, Texas, in Election Precinct No. 1 with G. W. Small, Jr., as Presiding Officer.

At the public school building in Wilson, Texas, in Election Precinct No. 2, with T. B. Cobb as Presiding officer.

At the Three Lakes School house in Election Precinct No. 3, with J. W.

Edwards as Presiding Officer.

At the New Home school house in election Precinct No. 4, with J. W. White as Presiding Officer.

At the Draw schoolhouse in Election Precinct No. 5, with I. H. Parks as Presiding officer.

At the Williams Hotel in Election Precinct No. 6, with P. H. Northcross as Presiding Officer.

At the O'Donnell school house in Election Precinct No. 7, with H. T. Gooch, as Presiding Officer.

At the Grassland school House in Election Precinct No. 8, with J. F. Armstrong as Presiding officer.

At the Gordon school house in Election Precinct No. 9, with G. W. Ely as Presiding officer.

The manner of holding said election shall be governed by the general laws of the State of Texas, regulating general elections, when not in conflict with the provisions of the statutes hereinabove referred to.

Notice of said election shall be given by publication of a copy of this order in the Lynn County News, a newspaper published in Lynn county, Texas, for four successive weeks before the date of said election and, in addition, there-to, there shall be posted other copies of this order at three public places in Lynn County, Texas, one of which shall be at the courthouse door, for three weeks prior to said election.

The County Judge is hereby directed to cause said notices to be published and posted, as hereinabove directed, and further orders are reserved until the returns of said election are made by the duly authorized election officers, and received by this court.

Given under my hand, with the seal of the Commissioners Court affixed, this 18th day of September, A. D. 1920.

C. H. CAIN,
County Judge.

Beverages with Meals.

Drs. R. J. Miller, O. Berzeim, M. E. Rehuss and P. B. Hawk of Philadelphia, have been testing the effect of water, tea, coffee and coco on the digestion of meals of mixed foods. They report to the American Journal of Physiology (Baltimore) that one liter of cold water, tea, either hot or cold, or hot coffee drunk with a meal does not delay the passage of the food from the stomach, but the addition of sugar to the coffee does slightly delay the process. Coco markedly delays it. Coffee, tea and water seem also to stimulate gastric secretion, but coco delays it, and coffee with sugar and cream has less effect.

Jerusalem Cobblers Worrying.
Jerusalem's large army of cobblers, who have been enjoying an undreamed of prosperity because the terrible condition of the streets has kept them busy repairing shoes, are beginning to worry over lean days ahead. With the British administration and the Zionist commission engaged in improving the streets of the Holy city the cobblers see future days of little to do compared to the golden harvest they are now reaping, according to the Palestine Weekly, a new English newspaper published in Jerusalem. With plans under way for the establishment of shoe factories capable of a large daily output, which will bring shoe prices down to a low level, combined with the smoothness the streets are now acquiring, the present opulent cobblers have reason to worry over the future, the Weekly chuckles.

MEN ASCEND FROM WORMS?

Samoa Tradition as to the Origin of Humanity is One of the Most Curious.

As a term of ridicule, human beings have often been called "worms," and in this connection the inhabitants of Samoa have a strange superstition regarding our origin. A very peculiar occurrence takes place in Samoa once a year for a period of 48 hours. Toward the end of October, a dense mass of sea worms appears on the surface of the water surrounding Samoa. These worms, which are of various lengths, are great delicacies of the Samoans! Known as "Palolo," they are sought for with enthusiasm by every native man, woman and child, and as they only stay on the surface of the water for a short time, in favored parts, these worms want watching for! It is in connection with these weird worms that the Samoans' superstition arose. The story is that Tangaloa, the chief god of the Samoans, sent his daughter, Turi, down to earth to search for a home. In all the waste of water there was only a bare rock, and she went and told her father of the shortage of dwelling accommodation. He thereupon gave her a wild vine to plant on the rock which she had found, and it flourished for a time, then died. Turi was vexed to think the vine would not thrive, but her father ordered her to dig it up. This she did, and discovered that all the withered leaves had turned to worms, and that, in some strange manner, these worms afterward became men and women. And thus the Samoans say, men were created!

BOOKS ONE'S BEST FRIENDS

Assertion Made That In the Imagination of Great Writers Complete Happiness Is Found.

When once the love of books has come into a man's life he can never be lonely, he can never be bored, he can never lose his interest in life, he can never be quite unhappy. Books are the friends that never fail, and the men and women that only live in books are the best and the most real friends of all.

If I were to set down the names of the 20 friends who mean most to me, I should find that more than one-half of them lived in the novels of Dickens and Thackeray, Dumas and Daudet, Wells and Hardy and Meredith.

The happy life is not spent altogether in the world of streets and shops and offices. A large part of it must be lived in the world of imagination. And living with the imagination of great writers we, too, learn to dream, and the happiest homes in the world are the castles in the air that we build for ourselves. They are, indeed, the only homes the foundations of which are unshakable rocks.—Sidney Dark, in John O'London's Weekly.

Iron and Steel Work in India.

India has already laid the basis of a steel industry in the establishment of two important and successful iron and steel works; namely, the Bengal Iron and Steel works at Kulti, which turns out 100,000 tons of pig iron per month, and the Tata Iron and Steel works at Sakchi, about 155 miles from Calcutta, which has a monthly production of about 20,000 tons. Most of this pig iron is converted into steel, which is largely used locally in the production of rails and the smaller structural shapes, but even with the additional furnaces now under construction, which in the case of the Tata works will more than triple its previous capacity, not more than a fraction of India's needs of iron and steel will be supplied from these two works.

The Milky Way to Health

What is a milk campaign? Just ask someone from Boston, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Spokane, Seattle or Kansas City—or in fact from any of the 34 cities that have completed campaigns during the past 18 months. These citizens will tell you what a milk campaign can do for health improvement, and it is obvious that when a movement spreads as rapidly as the milk campaign has, there is something to it.

The milk campaign has brought results. That is why it is popular. It is the chief answer and remedy, all in one, to the question, "What's wrong with our children's diet?"—or our own diet, for that matter.

Too Much Undernourishment. American citizens, who have always been noted for their progressiveness, will be surprised to learn that right in their own country there is a large per cent of undernourishment among children. Figures from many parts of the country prove this, according to the milk-utilization specialists of the United States department of agriculture, who are co-operating in the milk campaigns. In our greatest city, New York, for instance, it was found that the percentage of undernourished children had increased from 5 per cent in 1914 to 21 per cent in 1917-18, and that this increase had accompanied a decrease of 25 per cent in milk consumption.

Figures from country districts tell the same story. In one Missouri county, it was found on weighing and measuring 400 school children, that 50 per cent were 10 per cent and more underweight for their height and age.

Investigations showed that this condition was not confined to any one class—rich, poor and middle class, all being represented. Apparently, then, it is not lack of money which has brought about this condition, but rather lack of information.

As a means of combating this growing tendency toward undernourishment, the idea was developed of designating a period as milk weeks, and concentrating all available forces to the task of bringing before the people of a community the food value and healthful qualities of milk. This was the origin of the milk campaign.

How the Campaign is Started. A milk campaign is a highly-organized educational drive in a city or in a rural district. When it has been found by the citizens that a campaign is needed, the first step is to call on the state college of agriculture for co-operation. If the conditions warrant the campaign, the co-operation of the dairy division, United States department of agriculture is requested by the extension department of the college of agriculture. The college generally furnishes a corps of trained lecturers, and the dairy division lends assistance in planning the campaign, and contributes literature, exhibits, and some personal assistance if desired.

Neither the college of agriculture nor the federal dairy division will cooperate in a campaign until it has been found that the people of the locality really want it and are willing to work for it, that the supply of milk is clean and wholesome, and that the price of milk is right and will not be raised by the dealers, due to increased demand.

Effective Campaigns at Small Cost. What does a milk campaign cost? Figures from campaigns already completed show that the cost varies from $85 to $8,000, depending largely upon the size of the area and the amount of advertising used. The cost of a campaign, however, is no indication of the results. Some of the least expensive campaigns have been the most effective. The campaign in Davenport, Ia., which brought unusually good results, was put on for the small sum of $65. Funds are contributed locally for the work.

Organization in carrying out such a campaign, especially in the larger cities, is of the utmost importance. Long before the starting of the active work, the committees in charge of various activities, such as publicity, finances, transportation, etc., are chosen, and the entire plan of the campaign is mapped out. The co-operation of the various local organizations is secured, such as board of health, newspapers, milk dealers, schools, churches, chamber of commerce, etc.; and each one is made to feel that it has an active part in the work of the campaign.

When the opening day has arrived, everything is in readiness, and every cog in the wheels of this great machine moves smoothly. Press notices and advertisements appear in the local papers. Posters on the food value of milk and displays in the store windows greet the eye at every turn. The demonstrators and lecturers hurry from point to point to meet their numerous engagements, spreading the gospel of milk and good health in factories, stores, schools, clubs, theaters, churches, and the meetings of labor unions and various other organizations.

Schools an Important Factor. Of all these methods of spreading the message of milk, none has proved more effective than work in the schools. In fact, records show that there is a sharp line of demarcation between the results obtained with and without school co-operation. They vary from 10 to 30 per cent increase in consumption in cities where the schools take a part in the work, down to only 1 to 3 per cent where they do not.

Through the schools the children are reached directly. They learn from the women extension workers that milk will nourish their bodies and help them grow. Contests in designing milk posters and in writing milk essays also stimulate interest in the subject.

Children in city schools, and especially those of foreign extraction, know very little about milk. Many have never seen a cow, and when asked where milk comes from, answer, "From the store." One little girl thought a cow was four inches high.

Other children, however, seem to know more about it. One little girl said, "Milk makes one strong, healthy, and wise"; while another child vouchsafed the information that "the four glasses of milk in a bottle made him just four times better than he already was."

Bringing the Cow to School. A novel method of urging the use of milk was tried out in a New Jersey city with success. Just as school was letting out a cow was brought up in a truck and milked in the street. At one school 600 children gathered around to see her milked. "Such excitement, you would have thought a circus was in town," wrote one of the extension workers. It took two policemen and five workers to restrain the excited crowd. One cow, of course, could not furnish enough milk for such a crowd, but an additional supply was brought up in trucks, and eventually everyone got a drink of real milk.

Most children like milk, anyway, and when milk is supplied to them in the schools they rarely leave a single drop in the bottle, especially if they can drink it through a straw. Parents often raise the objection, when advised to give their children more milk, that their boys or girls will not drink it. When the boys and girls come from school, however, and tell their parent that they want milk, they get it.

Undernourished Children Gain on Milk. When a campaign is closed the work is followed up with milk-feeding demonstrations in schools. In all cases on record the feeding of milk has resulted in substantial gains in weight, rate of growth, and mental alertness. The results of the feeding demonstrations following the Massachusetts campaign, for instance, give some idea of what is being accomplished. In Hampden county 48 undernourished children were given a quart of milk daily for six weeks. These children made an average gain of 1 pound and 13.7 ounces, while the normal gain for the same period, would have been only 11 ounces.

Eight of these children made phenomenal gains of more than five times what normally they would be expected to make. One of these was a lad who had never had milk except occasionally on Sundays. He was delighted with his gain of 64 ounces in six weeks.

Of course the results of milk campaigns in different cities and rural districts have varied greatly, but where a complete campaign has been put on, the increase in consumption of milk has been found to be from 10 to 30 per cent. Other dairy products, too, such as butter, cottage cheese and buttermilk, have come in for substantial gains. In Detroit, for instance, a 35 per cent surplus of milk which occurred during the spring season of heavy production, was eliminated. The use of whole milk increased 10 per cent, butter 15 per cent, cottage cheese 3 per cent. For one firm alone, the weekly sales of butter were increased 20,000 pounds, and of milk 50,000 quarts. Topeka, Kan., reports that the sales of butter jumped 30 per cent, and of milk 25 per cent.

And it rolled over, but got up and charged him. All he recollected seeing was two big ears and a trunk; and the whole of his life passed before his mind in a second. But the animal suddenly swerved toward a native, and a shot at 20 yards brought it down. Where the railroads from the coast to Nairobi passed through the big game preserve, wild animals roamed about the track in freedom. While he was riding on the cowcatcher of the engine a rhinoceros charged the train and nearly derailed it.

Thousands of Women

Owe Their Health To
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound — overshadowed indeed is the success of this great medicine. Compared to it, all other medicines for women's ills seem to be experiments. Why is it so successful? Simply because of its sterling worth. For over forty years it has had no equal. Women for generations have depended upon it with confidence. Thousands of Their Letters are on our files, which prove these statements to be facts, not mere boasts.

Here Are Two Sample Letters:

Mother and Daughter Helped.
Middleburg, Pa.—"I am glad to state that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me much good when I was 35 years old. I was run down with female trouble and was not able to do anything, could not walk for a year and could not work. I had treatment from a physician but did not gain. I read in the papers and books about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. The first few bottles gave me relief and I kept on using it until I got better and was able to do my work. The Vegetable Compound also regulated my daughter when she was 15 years old. I can recommend Vegetable Compound as the best medicine I have ever used."—Mrs. W. YERGER, R. 3, Box 21, Middleburg, Pa.

Fall River, Mass.—"Years ago I gave birth to a girl and after she was born I did not pick up well. I doctored two months and my condition remained the same. One day of your little books was in my door and my husband suggested that I try a bottle of E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I started it immediately and I felt better and could better after the first bottle. I continued taking it for a time. Last year I gave birth to a baby boy and had a much better time as I took the Vegetable Compound for four months. My baby came. On getting up I no pains like I had before, no dizziness, and in two weeks about as well as ever."—THOMAS WILKINSON, 503 Cambridge Street, Fall River, Mass.

Embroidery Lavishly Used

NOTHING escapes the craze for embroidery. Clothes for indoors and outdoors, for the house or street, morning to evening—wraps, hats, blouses, gowns—all are more or less touched up and toned up with this form of embellishment. Naturally designers investigate every corner of the world for inspirations, and all periods. They draw upon Japan, China, Egypt, Persia, and other sources for the superb patterns and motifs they need and for knowledge of their use of color. They appropriate and adapt to suit themselves. The supply of ideas has been plentiful, it seems. The variety of embroideries, based upon these borrowed designs, is inexhaustible.

Here in the picture is a dinner dress of a rich material, made richer by superb embroidery. It is a velvet dress with silk used in the scroll and floral figures that cover it from top to bottom. It has a round neck and its short sleeves are an afterglow of

One of these, as pictured, discloses this dainty and beautiful fabric in a figured design partly veiled with the plain material. Plain georgette forms wide panels at the back and front and is extended into sash ends that tie at the sides, terminating in fancy bead ornaments on small silk cord. The elbow sleeves are lengthened by shaped flounces of the plain crepe, and there are tiny buttons set close together as a finish down the front.

Now that little sparkling rhinestones are twinkling on the horizon of winter fashions, we are sure to find them on blouses for evening wear, along with crystal beads, on georgette in vivid colors.

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 17
JESUS BEGINS HIS GALILEAN MINISTRY.

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 4:12-25.
GOLDEN TEXT—Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.—Matt. 4:17.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Mark 1:16-20; Luke 5:1-11.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Chooses Helpers.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Teaching and Healing.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Call of the First Disciples.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus enters upon his mission.

I. The King His Own Herald (vv. 12-17).

1. The reason for (v. 12). The news of the imprisonment of John the Baptist caused Jesus to forsake Judea and go into Galilee. The fate of John he accepted as foreshadowing his own. Because of this, he withdrew from the metropolis and went to the remote regions where his work would attract less attention. When the people wilfully reject the truth and attempt to do violence to the messenger, he should turn from them unless specially directed otherwise.

2. To whom the proclamation is made (vv. 13-16). The people in Capernaum. This was done in fulfillment of a prophecy in Isaiah 9:1, 2. These people did not enjoy such privileges as those around Jerusalem. This was one of the darkest and most corrupt of the provinces, and now it is getting the light first. This foreshadowed the present age when the grace of God would reach out to the Gentiles. But this is just like the Lord. He did not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance. It should be our business, like the Master, to go to the most benighted souls with the message of light and life.

3. His message (v. 17). "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." This is the same kingdom which John the Baptist and the Old Testament prophets proclaimed. It means the Messianic earth rule of Jesus Christ. This is not our message, for ours is the gospel of the finished work of Christ. We should call upon men to repent and believe the gospel of Christ's death for their sins and resurrection for justification. The time is coming when heralds will again announce the coming of the kingdom, and the King himself will come forth from the heavens to establish his mediatorial kingdom. For this we pray when we intelligently say, "Thy kingdom come."

II. The King Summons Servants to His side (vv. 8-22).

1. His command of authority (v. 19). He did not use arguments, but issued the mandate. The King's voice is autocratic. To command is the King's prerogative, not to argue or entreat.

2. The station of the servants called (vv. 18, 21). They were men of lowly birth—fishermen. God chooses the foolish things of this world to put to shame the mighty, that no flesh might boast before him (1 Cor. 1:26).

3. They were called to definite service (v. 19). "I will make you fishers of men." He had previously called them to be disciples (John 1:35-42). He now called them to service. This call, then, was not the gospel call to sinners, which is always "Believe on me," but the call to service, of those who had already heeded the call to discipleship. The qualities which made them good fishermen—patience, bravery to face the storm and the night, the perseverance which tolled all night though no fish were caught, would make them good fishers of men.

4. Their prompt obedience (vv. 20, 22). They gave up their business and homes, not even inquiring where their salary was to come from. They put their trust in him who called, believing that he was able to supply their needs.

III. The King's Triumphant Progress (vv. 23-25).

He went the whole rounds of Galilee teaching the Scriptures, preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of diseases. He did a threefold work:

1. Teaching the Scriptures in the synagogues (v. 23). The revelation of God needed to be explained. This is what he was doing at Nazareth (Luke 4:16-22).

2. Preaching the glad tidings of the kingdom (v. 23). The King who was present and was heralding his own mission was ready to establish his kingdom if they would have been willing to receive him.

3. Healing all manner of diseases (v. 23). There was no form of disease which he could not cure.

Learn the Lesson.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have benefited, to those who are in need of it. A prominent druggist says "Take for example, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

Don't forget Best Flour $6.25 per hundred.

Don't be misled by OUT-OF-TOWN SALES for often the prices asked in some of the larger towns could be reduced 33 1-3 per cent and then be above price asked by your local merchant. We have been asked why we did not have a ten per cent sale and the reason is simply that we cannot sell a great many articles of merchandise at even COST to us alone a ten per cent profit. We would be glad to get a ten per cent profit on every article we have in stock. The fact is some of the Dry Goods we are selling are more than ten per cent below what they cost US.

It is a good time PEOPLE to test your loyalty to your HOME town and its interests. MERCHANTS in your town do not help to bear your local burdens, such as building your public buildings, paying taxes into your Public Treasury, helping to swell the fund that goes to the support of that town and as against your own. Let us be LOYAL to HOME TOWNS and INTERESTS for your OWN MERCHANTS will be glad to MEET any price you can get elsewhere.
