Lynn County May Send Agricultural Exhibit To Dallas & Waco

Messrs. John L. Spurlin, of Waco representing the Texas Cotton Palace, at Waco, and Chester Crowell, of Stanton, representing the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, were in Tahoka Monday. These gentlemen were boosting the Cotton Palace at Waco this fall and also Western Texas. A mass meeting was called at the First National Bank and a good representation of the citizens of the town were present at which time the above gentlemen outlined the plans for securing an exhibit from this county at Waco. S. B. Hatchett made a short talk in behalf of the Lynn County citizens, stating the desire of those present was to obtain a good exhibit of farm products and send to the Dallas Fair and also to Waco, which fair dates follow those at Dallas. The majority of those present consented to help obtain this exhibit and help advertise our county, as well as the South Plains.

Let the farmers of Lynn county begin to think about the matter of sending an exhibit to both of these fairs, and when the time comes to gather in the samples of products, every farmer should aid in securing the very best of everything that has been raised in the county. Some interested person residing in the county should be appointed to accompany the exhibit and arrange an attractive booth. No better crops have ever been raised anywhere than right here in Lynn county this year and we should let the outside world know about it in other states and eastern Texas. It has been suggested by some of our progressive citizens that Lynn county have a county fair this fall. The News columns are open to anyone that may care to discuss this very important matter. The exhibits at the county fair would be sent to Dallas and Waco. Numerous prizes could be made up among the business men of the town for the best products shown here. There is nothing that would serve to boost our town and county more than having a county fair. Let's hear from our citizens on the subject and start the ball to rolling for a genuine Lynn County Fair.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Congressman Marvin Jones of Amarillo, and Director Smith of the geological survey, held a long conference today, at which time the Congressman urged that the survey be made at once to thoroughly investigate the possibilities for potash in Terry, Lynn and Gaines counties in the South Panhandle.

Director Smith promised to send M. R. Wheeler, an expert, to Texas at once to make an investigation.

Thousands of acres in these counties are covered with what is designated there as "salt lakes." The department of the interior has from time to time heard of the potash possibilities there and after Congressman Jones' visit it was said that a complete investigation will be made.

PRESIDENT ASKS STRINGENT LAWS TO CUT THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

CRIMINAL METHODS BEING PRACTISED

URGES CONGRESS TO REVIVE THE FOOD CONTROL ACT IN THE UNITED STATES.

PENALTY FOR PROFITEERING

When Wages Raised, He Says, Manufacturers Boost Prices Beyond
Wage Cost.

Washington.—President Wilson has proposed to congress the following definite program of legislation to cope with the high cost of living:

1. Extension of the Lever food control act to peace-time and broadening of its anti-hoarding provisions to cover foodstuffs, fuel, clothing and other indisputable necessities of life.
2. Enactment of a law regulating cold storage.
3. Federal licensing of all corporation engaged in interstate commerce, with specific regulations to prevent "unconscionable profits."
4. Passage of the bill now pending for control of security issues.
5. Provision of adequate funds for government agencies to enable them to give full publicity to retailers' costs and selling profits.
6. Definite provision for a penalty for profiteering.
7. Provision for marking on the package the price paid to the producer of all goods to be shipped in interstate commerce.

The president presented this concrete program before a joint session of congress Friday.

Denouncing some of the methods by which present high prices are produced as "illegal" and "criminal," the president assured congress and the country that swift prosecution and punishment will fall upon the guilty.

He indirectly appealed for early ratification of the peace treaty by pointing out that economic disturbances growing out of the war cannot be calmed until there is peace.

But whatever can be done to meet the immediate situation should be done, and done quickly, the president said.

He issued both a warning and appeal to the country's workers not to strike or resort to "violent contest" to settle the situation.

Text of President's Message.

Following is part of the text of President Wilson's message:

Gentlemen of the Congress: I have sought this opportunity to address you because it is clearly my duty to call your attention to the present cost of living and to urge upon you with all the persuasive force of which I am capable the legislative measures which would be the most effective in controlling it and bringing it down. The prices the people of this country are paying for everything that it is necessary for them to use in order to live are not justified by a shortage in supply, either present or prospective and in many cases artificially and deliberately created by vicious practices which ought immediately to be checked by law. They constitute a burden upon us which is the more unbearable because we know that it is willfully imposed by those who have the power and that it can be by vigorous public action be greatly lightened and made to square with the actual conditions of supply and demand. Some of the methods by which these prices are produced are already illegal, some of them criminal and those who employ them will be energetically proceeded against, but others have not yet been brought under the law, and should be dealt with at once by legislation.

I need not recite the particulars of this critical matter; the prices demanded and paid at the sources of supply, at the factory, in the food markets, at the shops, in the restaurants and in the village. They are familiar to you. They are the talk of every home circle and of every group of casual acquaintances even. It is a matter of familiar knowledge, also, that a process has set in which is likely, unless something is done, to push prices and rents and the whole cost of living higher and yet higher, in a vicious cycle to which there is no logical or natural end. With the increase in the prices of the necessities of life come demands for increases in wages—demands which are justified if there be no other means of enabling men to live. Upon the increase of wages there follows close an increase in the price of the products whose producers have been accorded the increase—not a proportionate increase, for the manufacturer does not content himself with that, but an increase considerably greater than the added wage cost, and for which the immediate remedy should be had from legislation and executive action. The free processes of supply and demand will not operate of themselves and no legislative or executive action can force them into full and natural operation until there is peace.

There is now neither peace nor war. All the world is waiting—with what unnerving fears and haunting doubts who can adequately say. Waiting to know when it shall have peace and what kind of peace it will be when it comes—a peace in which each nation shall make shift for itself as it can, or a peace buttressed and supported by the will and concert of the nations that have the purpose and the power to do and to enforce what is right.

Politically, economically, socially, the world is on the operating table, and it has not been possible to administer any anaesthetic. It is conscious. It even watches the capital operation, upon which it knows that its hope of healthful life depends. It can not think its business out or make plans or give intelligent and provident direction to its affairs while in such a state. Where there is no peace of mind there can be no energy in endeavor.

There can be no confidence in industry, no calculable basis for credits, no confident buying or systematic selling, no certain prospect of employment, no normal restoration of business, no hopeful attempt at reconstruction or the proper reassembling of the dislocated elements of enterprise until peace has been established and so far as may be, guaranteed.

Our national life has no doubt been less radically disturbed and dismembered than the national life of other peoples whom the war more directly affected, with all its terrible ravaging and destructive force, but it has been, nevertheless, profoundly affected and disarranged and our industries, our credits, our produce capacity, our economic processes are inextricably interwoven with those of those nations and peoples—most intimately of all with the nations and peoples upon whom the chief burden and confusion of the war fell and who are now most dependent upon the co-operative action of the world.

We are just now shipping more goods out of our ports to foreign markets than we ever shipped before—not foodstuffs merely, but stuffs and materials of every sort; but this is no index of what our foreign sales will continue to be or of the effect the volume of our exports will have on supplies and prices. It is yet impossible to predict how far or how long foreign purchasers will be able to find the money or the credit to pay for or sustain such purchases on such a scale; how soon or to what extent foreign manufacturers can resume their former production, foreign farmers get their accustomed crops from their own fields, foreign mines resume their former output; foreign merchants set up again their old machinery of trade with the ends of the earth. All these things must remain uncertain until peace is established and the nations of the world have concerted the methods by which normal life and industry are to be restored. All that we shall do in the meantime to restrain profiteering and put the life of our people upon a tolerable footing will be makeshift and provisional.

I believe, too, that the more extreme leaders of organized labor will presently yield to a sober second thought, and like the great mass of their associates, think and act like true Americans. They will see that strikes undertaken at this critical time are certain to make matters worse, not better—worse for them and for everybody else. The worst thing, the most fatal thing, that can be done is to stop or interrupt production or to interfere with the distribution of goods by the railways and the shipping of the country.

Threats and undue insistence upon a single class make settlement impossible. I believe, as I have hitherto had occasion to say to the congress, that the industry and life of our people and of the world will suffer irreparable damage if employers and workmen are to go on in a perpetual contest, as antagonists. They must, on one plane, or another, be effectively associated.

Have we not steadiness and self-possession and business sense enough to work out that result? Undoubtedly we have and we shall work it out. In the meantime—now and in the days of readjustment and recuperation that are ahead of us—let us resort more and more to frank and intimate counsel and make ourselves a great and triumphant nation by making ourselves a united force in the life of the world. It will not then have looked to us for leadership in vain.

Would Change Method of Taxation for Revenue for State Purposes.

Austin, Texas.—The state Farmers' institute has adopted a resolution urging the passage of a law providing for the collection of all taxes for maintenance of state expenditures from income, corporation and intangible property and that the several counties assess and collect such taxes only from real and personal property within their borders as may be sufficient for the needs of each individual county, "thus enabling all citizens to render their property at commensurate value."

Talking of Raising Price of Sugar.

Havana.—That the price of Cuban sugar for the 1919-1920 crop will be higher than the present figure established by the United States equalization board seems inevitable from the present trend of events in Cuba. One of the possibilities of the near future seems to be that there will be some method of controlling the sale of sugar, either by a combination of planters and mill owners who will appoint a special committee authorized to handle the selling end, or through government control to be brought about through direct legislation by congress.

England Labor Situation Threatening.

Decrease in Exports is Expected.

Washington.—Irrespective of the claims that a complete embargo against the shipment of foodstuffs to Europe would force down the current prices of all commodities in the United States, American financiers have anticipated for weeks a sharp decline in the volume of exports, due to the rate of exchange being in favor of the United States, the shipping country, and against the European buyer.

For Worth.—Refused their wage increase to $1 per hour, one hundred iron structural workers went on strike in Port Worth. The steel work on one 29-story building and on several smaller ones was stopped. The workers have been receiving $7 per day; they ask $8.

Ganado, Tex.—A seven-year-old boy, the son of a Bohemian farmer named Bartek, was stabbed to death by his 13-year-old brother Wednesday, while the boys were playing with a pocket knife. The little fellow was struck directly over the heart and died at most instantly.

Houston, Tex.—An increase in salaries for school teachers, policemen, firemen and a few other employees of the city, who, according to their representatives, are being underpaid, was asked of Mayor A. E. Amerman and the city council by a large committee of policemen and firemen.

El Paso, Tex.—Governor Andres Ortiz of the state of Chihuahua has offered a reward of $25,000 gold for the capture, dead or alive, of Francisco Villa, according to a Mexico merchant, who arrived here today from Chihuahua City. He said the offer appeared in a Chihuahua City news paper.

Dallas, Tex.—The city government decided that no saving would be made for the people of Dallas by purchasing army food supplies for sale by the federal government at San Antonio. The price which the city would be able to sell the food was no cheaper and, in some cases, higher than charged by Dallas wholesalers.

Cameron.—Information was received here by the Cameron Commercial Club that a government cotton classer had been assigned for Cameron. A general meeting of the cotton raisers of Milam County has been called for August 16. The Cameron Commercial Club formulated plans by which the classer was secured.

Temple.—The present grain rush on the Santa Fe Railway is taxing the capacities of motive and man power to the limit with no indications of a letup. The grain continues to pour into shipping centers in a golden flood, and the incessant cry is for more cars. There was never such a grain crop moved here in the history of the railway.

Cameron, Tex.—In a double killing Frank Pfarrdrescher and Wilbur Luce are dead as a result of twelve shots being exchanged between the two men on the public square near the courthouse door. The men were brothers-in-law. Both are prominent here and leave families. Pfarrdrescher used a thirty-two automatic and Luce a forty-five Colt. Luce received four bullets in the right side and Pfarrdrescher one bullet in the left breast.

MUCH NECK WEAR

Women seem to have become much addicted to wearing neckpieces of many kinds. A little journey through shops and departments that carry neckwear reveals such a world of it and such a variety of it that there must be a great demand for all kinds of neckwear. Many of the pieces are intended to replace summer furs. These include scarfs made of plushes, ostrich boas, ostrich capes and capes of marabout feathers or marabout finished with ostrich fringe. This ostrich fringe, which appears like marabout in black, white and natural color, is used in borders and bands in scarfs of gold and silver tissue.

Some of the new plushes used for scarfs do not attempt a close imitation of fur but suggest the most popular summer furs, as ermine and broadtail and moleskin. Besides these there are some handsome satin scarfs and capes trimmed with narrow bands of real fur, shown with hats to match like the smart affair that is shown at the right of the two figures above. Rich silk tassels and silk embroidered motifs put this in a class with the handsomest furs.

Both ostrich and marabout make beautiful capes in the style of that shown at the right of the picture. Nearly all of these are in the natural taupe color of the feathers, but in ostrich capes and boas there is often a mixture of white and natural hues.

Ruffs made of malines in very full platts and ruffs made of loops of wide satin ribbon are among old acquaintances that find themselves returned to favor, now that everything in neckwear proves to be of interest. They are not at all difficult to make, the platts or loops are simply stitched on to a band that lies about the neck, and they fasten with ties of narrow satin ribbon.

Small chokers and other small neckpieces in furs appear to have displaced larger neckpieces and capes for summer wear and narrow scarfs of satin, finished at the ends with fringe, prove themselves a chic novelty on women who know how to wear them well.

A Bodice of Ribbon.
The bodice made entirely of ribbon is a feature of midsummer dance frocks—combined with skirts of either net, both silk and cotton; organdy, voile, lace and georgette.

'ALL DAY' DRESSES

One-piece dresses, to be worn in place of suits in and out of doors, received a great boost during the war. When tailors became scarce and the work of making dress clothes went into the hands of streetmakers in Paris, the one-piece "all-day" dress began to replace suits. With the approval of Paris upon it, this style of street dress made great headway in America and appears to have established itself. The all-day dress, as it is called, appears, together with new suits, in the early snowings of fall styles, sometimes having much the appearance of a suit and sometimes wholly different from one. These two types are shown together in the picture above.

These dresses are made up in the same quiet colors and of the same materials as suits, although colors cover a wider range than are usually presented in suits, and there is more latitude in the matter of decorations.

The dress at the left of the picture simulates a suit so closely that it is misleading. It will interest the girl who must soon be outfitted for college, because it is a youthful model that will see her through the fall without a wrap and prove comfortable in cold weather with the aid of a coat.

It has the appearance of a suit with skirt and short box coat belted in. The coat turns out to be only a bodice with fronts lengthened below the row belt and disappearing at the waist under a seam in the skirt. It has a satin vest, prettily embroidered with a few very large bone buttons emphasizing its novel features. They are set on the side seams in which the bodice fronts lose themselves and on the lapels into which the collar disappears. Wool velour is an ideal material for a dress of this kind.

The girl who aspires to look slender should consider the long, narrow and simple composition of the dress at the right. The picture portrays it so much fidelity that there is no need that needs to be said about it. It has a deriskirt of silk, with border of white, has the effect of a separate skirt. The all-day dress is, above all else, convenient to put on, and this is merely the lower part of a costume that supports the dress. Any of the familiar and reliable wool suit materials serve to make these dresses.

CHAPTER XXII.

The Crew Decides.

Except that many of the men remained armed there was no suggestion of violence. But for the gleaming carabine trained on the main hatch, and the small group of gunners clustered about it, the scene was peaceable enough, resembling the deck of some merchant ship. LeVere stood motionless at the poop rail, staring down and his attitude and expression of face aroused within me a doubt of the man, a determination to put him to the test. Evidently he had held aloof and refrained from taking even the slightest part in our activities. The men themselves were mostly forward, grouped together and still excitedly discussing the situation.

"Stand by to reef topsails," I shouted. "We're all one watch now. Go at it lively, lads, and when the job is over we'll eat, and decide together what's our next move. Two of you will be enough to guard the hatch and one of you go into the cabin and relieve the girl there. Keep your eyes open. I'll be down presently. Aloft with you and see how quick a job you can make of it."

Watkins led the way up the main-mast ratlines, and Cole was first into the fore shrouds, the others following eagerly. I watched them lay out on the yards and was heartened to hear the fellows sing as they worked, the canvas melting away as if by magic. I climbed the ladder to where LeVere stood on the poop, but carefully ignored his presence, my gaze on the scene aloft. Twice I gave orders, changing the steering direction slightly, and commanding the lower sails reefed. The mulatto scowling, joined me at the rail.

"What's all this about?" he asked. "That's no storm cloud yonder." "There is always danger in fog," I answered coldly, "and besides there is no use carrying on until we know where we are bound. My purpose is to keep the men busy, and then talk the situation over with them. Have you any criticism of this plan, Senior LeVere?"

He hesitated, but his eyes were narrowed, and ugly. "You'll do as you please, but you told me we sailed for Porto Grande. Was that a lie?"

"Not necessarily," and I smiled grimly. "Although I should not have hesitated to tell one under the circumstances. I mean to leave that decision to the men themselves. It is their lives that are in danger."

"That scum! half of them are English and French. All they want is to get away; they will never go back to Porto Grande without you make them."

"How make them?" "By false observations; there is no navigator forward. It is a trick easy enough to play with a little nerve. I would never have taken part in this mutiny if I had supposed you meant to play into the hands of the men."

"It is very little part you took Senior LeVere, judging from what I saw. You seemed quite content to stand aft here and look on. However you are in it just as deeply as I am, and are going to play the game out with me to the end. Do you understand that?"

"What you mean, senior—play it out?" "Go on with the rest of us; take your chance with the men and do your duty. I am captain here. The first sign of treachery on your part will send you below with those others. I don't trust you, and all I want is an excuse to put you out of the way—so be careful what you do."

I turned and walked away from him toward the forward rail. The men were still aloft but coming in from off the yards. Below me in the door of the companion, stood Dorothy, her eyes peering curiously about the deserted deck. She glanced up and saw me.

"May I come up there?" she asked. "Certainly; let me help you. Stand here beside me, and you can see all that is being done. That's all, lads; breakfast is ready; lay down all except the lookout."

We watched while they streamed down the ratlines and gathered forward of the galley, squatting in groups on the deck. To all appearances the fellows had not a care in the world, or any thought of the stirring scenes just passed through. The girl's hand touched my sleeve, and I turned and looked into her face.

"Have you considered Captain Sanchez?" she asked. "Why no," in surprise, "he is helpless below, badly wounded."

"Not so badly as you suppose," she said swiftly. "He is able to be up and about his stateroom. I heard him moving, and I believe the steward has told him what has occurred on board, and endeavored to bear a message from him to those men amidships. I held my pistol to his head and locked him in the pantry. He is there now, with the door closed on him, and I could tell it have been? Not so, the steward looked such a is safe enough to leave him undisturbed at present. The first thing I need to do is to satisfy those men. I'll attend to that now, and then see to the proper securing of Sanchez. Remain here with LeVere while I go forward, and watch that he does not attempt to go below."

The fellows had not finished mess, but I felt the danger of further delay, and talked to them as they sat on deck, explaining briefly the entire situation, and the causes leading up to the mutiny. I dealt with the matter in plain terms, making no apparent effort to influence them, yet forcibly compelling each individual to realize what would be the result of our capture. They listened earnestly, asking an occasional question, and passing comments back and forth freely among themselves.

I sent Watkins to the cabin for a roll of charts, and spreading these out, endeavored as well as I could, to make clear our probable position and the nearest point of land. When I had completed the explanation, and stood before them awaiting decision, it was Haines who acted as their spokesman. "This yere is Cape Howarth?" he asked, a grimy thumb on the point indicated. "An' yer say it's 'bout a hundred and fifty miles west?"

"Yes, about that?" "An' thar's no settlement?" "Some colonists fifty miles north is all."

"That's 'bout right." He turned to the others. "Say mates, this is how I figure. We can't go on no long cruise with all those bloody rats in the hold. They're bound ter find some way out if we give 'em time 'nough. Fer as I'm concerned, I'm fer dividin' up what we've got, and ter hell with piratin'. What 'er yer say, mates? Shall we run the ol' hooker ashore, an' leave her thar, while we tramp the coast? We're just a shipwrecked crew. What say yer?"

There was a chorus of approval sufficient in volume to satisfy me, and I accepted this as a decision. "All right, lads," I said briefly. "In my judgment your choice is a wise LeVere?"

He hesitated, but his eyes were narrowed, and ugly. "You'll do as you please, but you told me we sailed for Porto Grande. Was that a lie?"

"Not necessarily," and I smiled grimly. "Although I should not have hesitated to tell one under the circumstances. I mean to leave that decision to the men themselves. It is their lives that are in danger."

"How make them?" "By false observations; there is no navigator forward. It is a trick easy enough to play with a little nerve. I would never have taken part in this mutiny if I had supposed you meant to play into the hands of the men."

"May I come up there?" she asked. "Certainly; let me help you. Stand here beside me, and you can see all that is being done. That's all, lads; breakfast is ready; lay down all except the lookout."

We watched while they streamed down the ratlines and gathered forward of the galley, squatting in groups on the deck. To all appearances the fellows had not a care in the world, or any thought of the stirring scenes just passed through. The girl's hand touched my sleeve, and I turned and looked into her face.

"Have you considered Captain Sanchez?" she asked. "Why no," in surprise, "he is helpless below, badly wounded."

"Not so badly as you suppose," she said swiftly. "He is able to be up and about his stateroom. I heard him moving, and I believe the steward has told him what has occurred on board, and endeavored to bear a message from him to those men amidships. I held my pistol to his head and locked him in the pantry. He is there now, with the door closed on him, and I could tell it have been? Not so, the steward looked such a deed. Then there was but one to suspect—Sanchez!

I flung open the pantry door, but one glance inside told me that Gun-sauls had vanished. On the deck lay the strands of rope with which he had been secured—they had been severed with a sharp knife, the ends discolored with blood stains. I held these out to Watkins.

"Cut since the murder," I said, "and by the same knife. What do you make of it, Tom?"

"Well, sir, the thing he'd most likely fer wud be ter release them lads amidships. My idea is, sir, he thought he'd have time ter git the bulkhead door open, before anybody cum below—he an' the steward, who'd know whar the tools was. That was the scheme, only we busted in too quick. That's whar they both are—skulkin' back in their saec'ows."

He fitted the smoking lantern back onto the shelf to have his hands free for action, and drew a cutlass out of the arm rack, running one leatherly thumb along the blade to test its sharpness. His eyes sought mine questioningly.

"Probably your guess is the right one," I said soberly. "We'll give it a trial."

Murder had been committed for a purpose—it was the first step in an effort to retake the ship. If we were to retain our advantage there was no time to be lost; we were pitted now against Silva Sanchez, and he was a leader not to be despised or temporized with; no cowardly, brainless fool.

The passage leading forward was wide enough to permit of our advancing together and for a few steps the light dribbled in past us, quite sufficient for guidance. I had been down this tunnel once before, and knew the bulkhead was not far away, but the few steps necessary plunged us into profound darkness, through which we advanced cautiously with outstretched hands. No slightest sound warned of danger and I was already convinced in my own mind that the refugees were not hiding there, when it happened. Within an instant we were fighting for our lives, fronted not by two men, but by a score, who flung themselves cursing upon us. Their very numbers and the narrowness of the passage was our only salvation. At first our resistance was blind enough, guided only by the senses of touch and sound. We could see nothing of our antagonists, although their fierce rush hurled us backward. I fired into the mass, and a Watkins slashed madly with his cutlass, both managing in some way to keep our feet. Hands gripped for us, a bedlam of oaths splitting the air; yet, even in that moment of pandemonium, I was quick to realize the fellows were weaponless, seeking only to reach and crush us with bare hands. The same discovery must have come to the mind of the sailor, for he yelled it out defiantly, every stroke of his blade drawing blood. I joined him, striking with the butt of the pistol. We killed and wounded, the curses of hate changed into sharp cries of agony, but those behind pressed the advance forward, and we were inevitably swept back into the light of the cabin lamp.

Then I saw faces, hideous in the glare, demoniacal in their expression of hatred—a mass of them, unrecognizable, largely of a wild, half-Indian type, with here and there a bearded white. Nor were they all bare-handed; in many a grip flashed a knife, and directly fronting me, with a meat cleaver uplifted to strike, Sanchez yelled his orders. Ignoring all others I leaped straight at him, crying to Watkins as I sprang.

"Back lad; dash out that light; I'll hold these devils here a minute!" "I did—God knows now! It was like no fighting ever I had done before, a mad, furious melee, amid which I lost all consciousness of action, all guidance of thought, struggling as a wild brute, with all the reckless strength of insanity. It is a dim, vague recollection; I am sure I felled Sanchez with one blow of my pistol butt; in some way that deadly cleaver came into my hands and I trod on his body, swinging the sharp blade with all my might into those scowling faces. They gave sullenly backward; they had to, yelping and snarling like a pack of wolves, hacking at me with their short knives. I was cut again and again. I stood on quivering flesh, crazed with blood, and seeking only to kill. I saw faces crushed in, arms severed, the sudden spurting of blood from ghastly wounds. Onths mingled with cries of agony and shouts of hate. Then in an instant the light was dashed out and all was darkness.

Mends Granite Ware. The government suggests we economize on kitchen utensils. To mend a hole in granite ware work a piece of putty until perfectly soft, then take a piece of the putty large enough to cover the hole and put one piece on either side of the metal, pressing together inside and out, smoothing down the edges. Place the vessel in a slow oven and bake until the putty is a deep brown. For containing water the vessel will be as good as new.

ASKS END OF PRIVATE RAILROAD OWNERSHIP

ORGANIZED LABOR IN LATEST DEMANDS, WANTS PROFIT SYSTEM CHANGED.

Washington.—Organized labor has come out with the unequivocal, formal demand that private capital be retired from the railroads.

A tripartite control composed of the public, the operating management and the employees, is demanded instead.

Addressed to the American public and signed by the engineers, the firemen, the conductors and the American Federation of Labor, a formal statement was issued announcing this proposal, which will be carried before congress.

"It marks," says the statement, "the steps by which organized labor passes from demands for wage increases to demands that the system of profits in industry be overhauled."

Washington.—The threat of a general railroad strike continues to spread throughout the country despite the efforts of the organized labor heads to hold the men in check until authoritative and official strike votes can be taken.

Shopmen everywhere are throwing down their tools in premature strike, it was reported, were threatening national industry, because without them the railroads' equipment can not be kept in usable order at the most necessary of all times—crop-moving season.

Reports coming in say unless railroad equipment can be kept in running order mills, mines and factories will be threatened with closing. It was reported that there are more than 200,000 cars now out of commission.

Washington.—President Wilson has notified Director General Hines that he was authorized to take up the demands of railroad shop employees for higher wages and decide them on their merits.

The president said that the letter sent him by Senator Cummins, chairman of the committee on interstate commerce, "had set me free to deal as I think best with the difficult question of the wages of certain classes of the railroad employees, but added:

"The chief obstacle to a decision has been created by the men themselves. They have gone out on a strike and rejected the authority of their officers at the very moment when they are waiting action in regard to their interests."

The president's decision was announced from the White House in the form of a letter sent by him to Mr. Hines. The president said that "until the employees return to work and again recognize the authority of their own officers, the whole matter must be at a standstill."

HUNGARY NOW RULED BY ARCHDUKE JOSEPH

Social Cabinet Ousted by Chief of Police and New Cabinet is Formed.

Budapest.—Archduke Joseph, who has taken over control of the Hungarian government has been invested temporarily with supreme powers in the government.

General Schnitzer-Wolkenbers, the chief of police; Dr. Fritz, former secretary of the police department, and M. Szellery, former departmental chief of the war ministry, went to the ministry building where the cabinet was in session. The deputation called on ministers to resign, and after a short conference the cabinet decided to comply with the demand.

Authority was delegated by the entente mission to Archduke Joseph, who appointed Stephen Fredrich, former chief of a department in the ministry, to be premier.

The foreign ministry was transferred to General Tanezos and the war ministry to General Schnitzer-Wolkenbers.

Headquarters at Coblenz. Coblenz—Coblenz will become the headquarters of the American forces in Europe when American grand headquarters in Paris are closed about August 20, it became known when General Pershing arrived here on his final tour of the battlefields. Antwerp will be the base port for the American contingent that is to remain on the Rhine indefinitely. General Pershing said he intended to sail from Brest about September 1.

Complete Amnesty for Foreigners. Copenhagen.—Complete amnesty for political offenses during the soviet regime has been ordered by Peter Agoston, minister of foreign affairs in the new Hungarian cabinet.

Bill to Deport Aliens Passed. Washington.—The house has finally passed a bill to deport undesirable aliens after hearing to be given by the secretary of labor, also the interned alien enemies.

Troops Disperse Rioters. Liverpool.—Riotous crowds have been driven from the streets here by troops charging with fixed bayonets. The rioters filled the streets during the night.

Hungarian Forces Occupy Budapest. Budapest.—Budapest has been occupied by Rumanian troops who advanced from the river Theiss in spite of representations made by Lieut. Col. Romanell, the Italian representative of the allies at Vienna.

TERMS OF ARMISTICE VIOLATED BY ROUMANIA

Invaders Demand Reduction of Hungarian Army and Half of Railway Supplies.

Paris.—Misu of the Roumanian peace delegation has been summoned before the supreme council, which gave him a communication for his government, saying that the Roumanian ultimatum to Hungary cannot be recognized by the peace conference, and calling upon the Roumanians to live up to the armistice terms.

Misu said that the Roumanians were taking back supplies which the German field marshal, Von Mackensen, took from them, but his explanation did not alter the decision of the supreme council, which was unanimous.

While the French hitherto apparently regarded Roumanian occupation of Budapest favorably, it is now evident that they have changed their position since seeing the Roumanian ultimatum and are now heartily in accord with the American and British position, which the Italians have been supporting consistently.

Army Surplus Food for Sale.

Washington.—More than half of the $132,137,700 worth of surplus food stocks held by the war department July 19, is immediately available for sale, according to a statement issued by the department. In addition to the canned goods and bacon previously announced as ready for sale, the list includes $16,500,000 worth of frozen fresh beef, $2,073,000 worth of fresh pork, $1,136,000 in frozen fresh poultry, and $1,478,000 in granulated sugar, which since has been sold to the sugar equalization board.

To Make Army Training Compulsory.

Washington.—Maintenance of one field army with a war strength of 1,250,000 men is proposed in a bill establishing a permanent military policy which has been sent to congress by Secretary Baker. The active force of this army would be 510,000 regulars while the remainder would be young men who had taken a tree-months military training course, which would be compulsory for all 19 year old youths.

Action Against Profiteers Planned.

Washington.—Steps toward reducing the high cost of living are expected this week. While all government departments are working toward the end of alleviating unrest by restoring a normal level of prices, interest centers in the meeting of the conference called by Attorney General Palmer to consider the best method of procedure, especially with respect to profiteering.

More Than Half of Fund Subscribed.

Because of the extremely low salaries paid teachers, all school boards are having great difficulty in securing teachers for the coming term. Other lines of work are more attractive, and even some of the teachers who had been employed, find that with the increasing cost of living, they cannot get by on the salary promised and have given notice that they will not teach.

Harvesting of the maize crop in Scurry has begun, and it is said to be very fine. Scurry county was among the West Texas counties that have been hard hit by dr weather and this big crop will be a great relief to the people of that section.

CALLED HER FAMILY TO HER BEDSIDE

Six Years Ago, Thinking She Might Die, Says Texas Lady, But She Is a Well, Strong Woman and Praises Cardui For Her Recovery.

Royse City, Tex.—Mrs. Mary Kilman, of this place, says: "After the birth of my little girl...my side commenced to hurt me. I had to go back to bed. We called the doctor. He treated me...but I got no better. I got worse and worse until the misery was unbearable...I was in bed for three months and suffered such agony that I was just drawn up in a knot... I told my husband if he would get me a bottle of Cardui I would try it... I commenced taking it, however, that evening I called my family about me... for I knew I could not last many days unless I had a change for the better. That was six years ago and I am still here and am a well, strong woman, and I owe my life to Cardui. I had only taken half the bottle when I began to feel better. The misery in my side got less... I continued right on taking the Cardui until I had taken three bottles and I did not need any more for I was well and never felt better in my life... I have never had any trouble from that day to this."

Do you suffer from headache, backache, pains in sides, or other discomforts, each month? Or do you feel weak, nervous and fagged-out? If so, give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a trial. J. T.

BAILEY OUTLINES HIS NEW PARTY PLATFORM

Covington, Hill Co., Texas, July 31.—Opposing the League of Nations, challenging the Democracy of Woodrow Wilson, demanding "more liberty and less taxes," promulgating the declaration of principles of the People's Democratic party of Texas, and inviting every "real Democrat," regardless of past differences, to join him at the Fort Worth convention August 14, in returning Texas Democracy to its ancient doctrines, former United States Senator J. W. Bailey spoke to over 5,000 people today at the picnic given each year by John A. Stevens of Covington in honor of Mr. Bailey. Men who have been prominent in Texas politics were present from many parts of the State. Former Governor James E. Ferguson sat on one of the front seats while Mr. Bailey spoke. Previously they had met and exchanged pleasant greetings, at the home of Mr. Stevens, where Mr. Ferguson read the principles of "real Democracy," which Mr. Bailey submitted to his audience and which he will present at the Fort Worth convention. He asked every "real Democrat" to read these principles in the newspapers and, at Fort Worth, to offer such suggestions as he may desire. Mr. Bailey leaned upon a cane during part of his two and a half hour talk, and once sat upon the table for a few minutes to relieve the strain upon his ankle, which he broke several months ago. He was given earnest and responsive attention and a demonstrative reception.

Principles Proposed.
The principles proposed by Mr. Bailey for the People's Democratic party, which are shown hereafter in full, may be synopsised thus:

1. Opposition to the initiative and referendum and to the adoption of a constitutional amendment except by a vote of the people.
  2. Opposition to the enactment of unconstitutional legislation under the pretext that it is designed for constitutional purposes.
  3. State rights.
  4. Opposition to Federal woman's suffrage as an infringement of State rights.
  5. Denunciation of the "growing tendency to regulate everything by law" and insistence upon more personal liberty.
  6. Opposition to the growing extravagance of government—Federal, State, municipal.
  7. Opposition to Government ownership or operation of railroads.
  8. Opposition both to monopoly and to Socialism and a declaration of the rights of personal property.
  9. Insistence upon the right of free speech, including criticism of the administration of the Government.
- "I am not a candidate for any office," said Mr. Bailey, as he read and discussed this platform. "I hope never to be a candidate again, and I never, voluntarily, will be a candidate for office again. But I am ready to support any man who supports these principles, and without regard to any past differences that vexed the political affairs of this State."

ONE MONTH'S PREMIUM RE-INSTATES INSURANCE

The Bureau of War Risk Insurance of our government has made a rule of late, that reinstatement can be made by the former owners of War Risk Insurance, by paying only one month's premium in advance. We herewith reproduce part of their policy in this matter.

"In every case where reinstatement, in whole, or in part, of lapsed or cancelled insurance is desired, the insured shall file with the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, a signed application therefor, and make tender of the premium for one month (the grace period) on the amount of the insurance to be reinstated, and also of the amount of at least one month's premium on the reinstated insurance. In cases where the insured desires to convert his lapsed term insurance, he shall make tender of the premium for one month (the grace period) on the amount of term insurance to be reinstated and converted, and also of the first premium on the converted insurance."

OIL REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN STRUCK NEAR BIG SPRING

Much excitement has been created in the Big Spring country here of late over the apparent existence of oil in that country, which has been brought more forcibly to the eyes of the public, through a number of large oil companies which have leased holdings and are drilling wells. Oil in paying quantities is thought will be found. From a letter of a gentleman in Big Spring this week we reproduce part, showing the prospects of oil findings in that country:

"The oil business is getting good. They have struck oil in the Brunson well. I don't think there is any doubt about it. Several men here went down to the well yesterday and one man brought back a bottle of the oil and water. They struck it right under rock, and as they had not cased off the water which was above the rock, it got mixed. They sent a car to San Angelo this afternoon to get implements, needed to do the work, so that it may be ten days before they really know what they struck. They made this strike, exactly where the geologist said they should find something, about 750 feet."

The Brunson well is located about 21 miles southwest of the town of Big Spring, and about fifteen miles northwest of Garden City. It is one of the first wells to have been started in that country, and is owned by the Texas Producers Oil Co.

SCHOOL LANDS TO BE SOLD ON SEPTEMBER 1

Austin, Texas, Aug. 12.—Two new and distinct features surround the sale of school land to come on the market Sept. 1, when a total of 585,000 acres will be open to the public for purchase by bid. For the first time, under the act of the regular session, the State will not require actual settlement and, under the act of the recent special session, the purchaser of the land will be entitled to one-sixteenth of the oil and gas which may be developed on the land. Under previous laws the State required three years' residence on the land and the owner had no interest in the mineral where it was sold under the 10c per acre act. The latest statute gives the State one-sixteenth and the owner of the land one-sixteenth, the permittee retaining the remainder.

Some of the counties in which there is vacant land are in the proximity of the oil district, there being 90 acres in Eastland, 540 in Wilbarger, 1,280 in Zapata, 160 in Red River, 640 in El Paso, 11 in Comanche and 13,000 in Culberson. The largest amounts are in Brewster County with 264,960 acres, Hudspeth 60,000 acres, Pecos 140,800 acres and Reeves 53,000 acres.

All of the land in the new list has a mineral classification, the Land Commissioner making that wholesale reservation in the name of the school fund, playing on the safe side. It is classified as "mineral and grazing" or "mineral and agricultural." The word "mineral" precedes in every case. Except the very small isolated tracts the land is sold on forty years' time, one-fortieth down and no settlement. The small detached tracts are sold for cash only.

List of Acreage.

A complete list of the counties and the acreage coming on the market on Sept. 1 are shown below. The acreage is divided into tracts of varying size in the counties having comparatively small amounts.

The list follows:

Andrews County 280 acres, Angelina 410, Armstrong 330, Bell 740, Bexar 38, Brewster 264,960, Briscoe 264, Brooks 9, Burnet 553, Cameron 640, Castro 149, Cochran 1,200, Coke 1,260, Coryell 320, Comanche 11, Cottle 320, Crane 3,379, Culberson 13,000, Dallam 400, Dawson 400, Dimmitt 287, Donley 432, Duval 160, Eastland 90, El Paso 640, Erath 14, Gray 35, Hale 252, Hall 164, Hamilton 12, Hardin 258, Hays 615, Howard 1,000, Hudspeth 60,000, Hutchinson 640, Irion 181, Jack 291, Jasper 27, Jeff Davis 4,200, Jefferson 302, Kinney 276, Lamb 471, Leon 160, Loving 2,200, Marion 27, Martin 640, Midland 160, Newton 214, Oldham 160, Pecos 140,800, Real 240, Red River 160, Reeves 53,000, Roberts 387, San Jacinto 14, Sherman 291, Starr 770, Sterling 1,473, Smith 92, Sutton 390, Taylor 320, Terrell 8,200, Travis 801, Trinity 32, Tyler 80, Upton 640, Uvalde 740, Valverde 1,920, Ward 3,400, Webb 1,020, Wilbarger 540, Winkler 4,500, Yoakum 160, Young 32 and Zapata 1,280.

FRENCH TO EXACT ALL TONNAGE LOST IN WAR

Paris, Aug. 12.—The peace committee of the Chamber of Deputies which by a vote of 34 to 1 yesterday recommended to the Chamber that the German peace treaty be ratified before balloting, listened to Georges Leygues, Minister of Marine. The Minister said that the effort of the Government tended toward the recovery of entire tonnage lost by the French during the war, and also the tonnage which the Government had been unable to construct in the same period.

Unfortunately, M. Leygues said, part of the guarantee disappeared at Scapa Flow, but the sinking of the German fleet was a violation of the armistice and thus involved the responsibility of Germany, which might be called upon to answer with what ships remained or by the delivery of naval material.

After recalling the magnificent role played by the French Navy during the war, and especially in the Mediterranean, the Minister said France could not rival England or the United States, but must have a fleet assuring her naval positions.

The committee unanimously recognized that the peace treaty meant the disappearance of the German fleet. Former Premier Viviani, who presided called upon the commission to vote on the treaty. Deputy Louis Marin, who later voted against acceptance of the treaty, proposed four motions against it. One was rejected, the others postponed for discussion and the vote taken.

The report of Former Premier Louis Barthou will be read next Tuesday.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK MARKET FOR MONDAY

Kansas City Stock Yards, Aug. 4.—An embargo on some railroads on livestock and perishable goods which went into effect this morning owing to strikes in the mechanical departments of railroads had an unsettling influence in the livestock market today. Fat cattle sold readily at strong prices, but thin cattle which depended on railroads for an outlet were lower. Hogs and sheep opened steady and closed lower.

Today's Receipts.

Receipts today were 18000 cattle, 10,000 hogs and 5000 sheep, or 3000 fewer sheep and 2000 more hogs than a week ago, and 12,000 fewer cattle and about the same number of hogs and sheep as a year ago.

Beef Cattle.

With receipts of fat cattle moderate, and indications that receipts later in the week would be small unless railroads were able to operate trade was active at strong prices. Several loads of good native steers sold at $17.50 to $18.25, and Kansas and Oklahoma steers brought $9.50 to $15.00. Five carloads of Texas steers in the quarantine division that averaged 1024 pounds brought $12.40. California steers brought $12.40. About 50 carloads of Oregon steers sold at $11 to $12.75. Butcher cattle were steady. Local killers bought the bulk of the supply. Cows sold mostly at $7 to $9, and heifers at $8.50 to $10 with fed heifers up to $15.25. Veal calves were strong to 25 cents higher at $8 to $15.25.

Stockers and Feeders.

Demand for stockers and feeders was dull at lower prices. A large number of country buyers were here but the fear that railroad labor troubles would prevent shipping made them hold back. The general market will uncover a large demand as soon as transportation difficulties are settled.

Hogs.

Trade in hogs opened early at steady prices but a sharp decline developed as soon as shippers decided railroad conditions were too uncertain for them to buy. Late prices were 30 to 40 cents under last Friday. The top price was $23.15 and the bulk of the sales $22.25 to $22.90 showed the widest range for some time past.

Horses and Mules.

Receipts of horses and mules showed a liberal increase in the past few days with general demand active. All classes of work horses, southerners, and mules brought firm prices. Some common green mules sold lower.

Charles M. Pipkin.

Market Correspondent.

Former Speaker of the House has warned the members of the House that if steps are not taken soon to curb food profiteering, that serious trouble will result. Mr. Clark says that the penitentiary is the place for those fellows who rob the people of their butter and bread, and Mr. Clark is no doubt right about it.

FIFTEEN CARS GOVERNMENT SUGAR GO TO TEXAS

Austin, Texas, Aug. 6.—The Louisiana sugar committee, headquarters at New Orleans, has advised Governor Hobby that the Government, through the United States Equalization Board, has placed in its hands for distribution fifteen cars of standard fine granulated sugar, approximately 1,500 barrels, price $8.82 per one hundred pounds f. o. b. New Orleans.

The Equalization Board suggests that this sugar be placed at points where it is most needed for fruit preserving purposes. The Louisiana sugar committee advised Governor Hobby that it had decided to distribute the fifteen cars, allowing one car to each of the fifteen States in the Louisiana territory, and request is made that Governor Hobby designate the city or town in Texas which is most in need of the sugar and instruct the Mayor of such city or town that the committee will ship him the car for distribution upon the Governor's suggestion and his confirmation with sight draft bill of lading attached.

Governor Hobby has not yet made a designation. He would first like to hear from cities or towns which may be interested.

Tonight! Take Dodson's Liver Tone!
Better Than Calomel For Liver
 Calomel sickens! If bilious, constipated and headachy read my guarantee.

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work!

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver, which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your bile, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful tonight, and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning, I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.—Adv.

If bothered with that form of kidney trouble which causes too frequent or excessive passage of urine, don't expect relief from medicines that are intended for common kidney complaint. These remedies generally are intended to increase kidney action.

Liquid Shu Make should always be used where the kidneys are over active during the day or at night. It is not a cure for all forms of kidney trouble, but is intended for over-activity of the kidneys of both children and adults alike, especially for children bothered with kidney action at night.
 Ask any druggist for Liquid Shu Make or enclose sixty cents to the Shumake Remedy Company, Fort Worth, Texas, for a bottle by return mail.—Adv.

LESSON FOR AUGUST 17

CHRISTIAN MISSIONS.

LESSON TEXTS—Acts 1:8; 13:1; 14:23.
 GOLDEN TEXT—Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature.—Mark 16:15.

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Matthew 24:14; Luke 24:45-48; Acts 13:12-20.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Helping everybody to know Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The whole world needs Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—Taking the Gospel to the whole world.

SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—Christian missions; aims and results.

I. The Obligation of Missions (Mark 16:15).

God saves men for a purpose. That purpose is to be laborers together with him in the salvation of others. Christ's parting message, yea, his final commission to the disciples was, "Go, preach the Gospel to every creature." This obligation still rests upon the church. Since the command is to preach the Gospel to every creature, this obligation will obtain as long as there is one unreached soul.

II. The Power of Missions (Acts 1:8).

This power is the supernatural inducement of the Holy Spirit. Missionary endeavor without the Holy Spirit is doomed to failure. Power to witness for Christ is the purpose of the gift of the Spirit. Success will crown the efforts of those who go forth under the leadership and power of the Holy Spirit. The Spirit was not given primarily to make Christians happy, but to make them strong to carry the Gospel to the heathen. However, those who go forth in this blessed service in the Spirit's power are truly happy.

III. The Scope of Missionary Endeavor (Acts 1:8).

The disciples were to begin their witnessing where they were when the Holy Spirit fell upon them—Jerusalem. But they were to go out from there to the "utmost parts of the earth." This is the program for every disciple of Christ. Begin witnessing where Christ saves you, and then go to your neighbors next to you, and on to the remotest bounds of the earth. There is no such thing as "home missions," except that you begin at home.

IV. The First Foreign Missionaries (13:1-14; 28).

1. Who they were (13:2). Barnabas and Saul were selected—the very best two men in the church. The evangelization of the world is a task of such tremendous importance that it challenges the church to offer her best men and women. Since an institution is judged by its representatives, it becomes the church to put her most capable men to the front.

2. By whom sent (13:2, 4). The Holy Spirit chose these men and sent them forth to their work. The church at Antioch seemed to have deliberately planned this missionary enterprise. It was after prayer and fasting that the Spirit ordered the church to send forth these missionaries. It should be the business of the church to constantly seek the mind of God relative to sending forth laborers into the Lord's vineyard. The Spirit calls and sends men forth, but he does this through the church.

3. Some experiences of the first foreign missionaries:

(1) Withstood by Elymas the sorcerer (13:6-12). Elymas moved by the devil, sought to turn the mind of Sergius Paulus from the faith, thus barring the Gospel as it enters upon its widest mission of salvation. The most villainous act which one can commit is to turn a soul from the Gospel. (2) Worshiped as gods (14:8-18). (a) The occasion (vv. 8-10). God accompanied the testimony of these missionaries by his mighty power. He wrought a miracle through Paul. At his call the inveterate cripple—one who had never walked—leaped up and walked. The cure was instant. (b) The method (vv. 11-13). They called Barnabas, Jupiter, and Paul, Mercury, because he was the chief speaker. They declared that the gods had come down in the likeness of men, and they brought oxen and garlands to offer sacrifice. (c) Their efforts foiled (vv. 14-18). 1. The missionaries rent their clothes and ran in among the people, saying they were not divine but beings of like passions with themselves. 2. They urged the people to turn to God. 3. Paul stoned (vv. 19-22). Stirred up by wicked Jews from Antioch and Iconium, the rabble who a moment ago were worshiping are filled with satanic hate. Doubtless Paul remembered Stephen's experience. God raised him up and he went forth to discharge his duties as a missionary. Such men of courage are needed today.

Without Loyalty to Christ.
 A Christianity without loyalty to the Christ, as its motive and inspiration, may be likened to—well, may we say, our solar system minus the sun.

An Inward Beauty.
 There is an inward beauty, life, and loveliness in divine truth, which cannot be known but when it is digested into life and practice.—John Smith.

Take heed of the first stumble, for it is ominous; and at best there is a good step lost.—Benjamin Whichcote.

Lift off Corns!
 Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezone costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin caluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!

In after years a courtship may be converted into a battleship.

Bad Sickness
 Acid-Stomach

If people only realized the health-destroying power of an acid-stomach—of the many kinds of sickness and misery it causes—they would guard against it as carefully as they do against a deadly plague. You know in an instant the first symptoms of acid-stomach: bloating, sour, uneasy stomach; belching; food repeating; heartburn, etc. Whenever your stomach feels this way you should lose no time in putting it to rights. If you don't, serious consequences are almost sure to follow, such as intestinal fermentation, autointoxication, impairment of the entire nervous system, headache, biliousness, cirrhosis of the liver, sometimes even catarrh of the stomach and intestinal ulcers and cancer.
